DISSOLUTION PLAN OF TOBACCO TRUST FILED WITH COURT

Extension of Sixty Days and Modification of Scheme Asked.

Fate of Old Concerns Is Set Forth in the Petition.

Agreements With Foreign Companies to Be Terminated.

New York, Oct. 16.—The American Tobacco company's plan of reorganization was filed today with the clerks of the United States circuit court.

In addition to outlining the previously published plan of disintegration, the corporation and its subsidiaries pray for an extension of sixty days for perfecting the reorganization, ask for modification of the plan, or other relief.

A schedule purporting to show the control of the reorganized companies was submitted with the petition. Under the head of "Relative ownership of the voting stock held by twenty-nine individual defendants in the aggregate—both from what they now own and what they will receive from the carry-

DRY FARMING CONGRESS MEETS

Sixth International Gathering Is Held at Colorado Springs.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Oct. 16.—The sixth international dry farming congress, probably the greatest agricultural congress ever held, opened today for a five days' session here. The session today was devoted to routine business of the convention. Delegates and other visitors from many parts of the world are here attending the convention, and during the five days speeches on hundreds of topics of interest to farmers and others will be delivered by experts from many sections of the globe.

Among the officers of the international organization here are Prof. J. H. Worst of Fargo, N. D., president; Prof. E. H. Webster of Manhattan, Kan., American vice president; C. R. Root of Denver, chairman of the executive committee; Dr. Theodore Kryshtoqovich, Russian agricultural commissioner and vice president of the organization.

The morning was given over to the reception of delegates. An interesting feature of the week will be the participation of women in the deliberations.

BANK ROBBERS PUT UP FIGHT

Dynamite Vault and Escape With Loot at Clarksville, Va.

Clarksville, Va., Oct. 16.—Burglars dynamited the vault of the Planters' bank here early today, and after a fusillade of shots escaped with what is believed to be a large amount of money. J. C. Clements, who slept in a room above the bank, was awakened by the explosion and exchanged shots with the robbers.

POLICE HELP HIM FIRE THE COOK

Chicago Physician Has to Get Help to Eject Woman.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Two policemen were today called to assist Dr. Edwin J. Kuh, a well-known South Side physician, in ejecting Clara Kippe, a cook, from his home after he had discharged her. Dr. Kuh discharged his cook yesterday and paid her the wages due, but she refused to leave the house, declaring she would not go until she was ready.

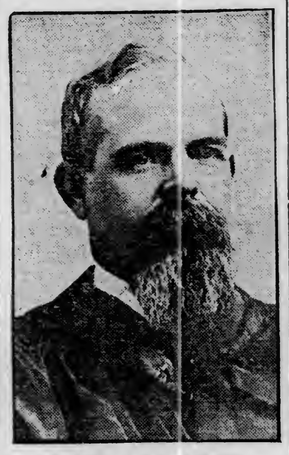

CHURCHILL TO BE THE SECRETARY FOR IRELAND.

London, Oct 16.—The Chronicle says there are persistent rumors in political circles that Winston Spencer Churchill, the home secretary, will succeed Augustin Birrell as chief secretary for Ireland. Mr. Birrell's health, it is understood, will not permit him to stand the strain of home rule fight next year.

N. E. A. WILL HOLD NEXT MEETING IN ST. PAUL.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 16.—The next annual meeting of the National Educational association will be held in St. Paul, July 6 to 12 inclusive. This was announced here today by Prof. J. W. Greenwood of the executive committee of that organization.

SEEKS GOVERNORSHIP OF SOUTH CAROLINA

JUDGE IRA B. JONES.

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 16.—Chief Justice Ira B. Jones will be a candidate for governor of South Carolina at the next election. He resigned from the bench recently so that he might run against Governor Cole Blease next year. Meantime all sorts of trouble are cooking up for Governor Blease. In January, when the legislature meets, he is to be charged with misfeasance and malfeasance in office and an effort will be made to impeach him.

WILL QUIZ TOM MORRIS

Stephenson Investigators Call Lieutenant Governor to Testify.

Hyzer Denies Railroad Men Worked to Help Senator.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 16.—Every member of the Wisconsin legislature who supported charges that United States Senator Isaac Stephenson secured his election through bribery and corruption, will be asked to produce evidence before the present investigation by the United States senate committee.

This was made evident today when the committee swore in as witnesses S. M. Marsh, Thomas Morris, now lieutenant governor, and Paul O. Husting, who, as state senators, in an official report sustained the charges against Senator Stephenson. They are to testify later.

It was these state senators who split from the assembly members of a joint investigating committee. The assembly members reported there was no basis for the Stephenson charges, al-

WESTERN LAND SHOW OPENED

Dozen Governors Speak at Meeting Held in Omaha, Neb.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 16.—Addresses by the governors of a dozen Western states were included on the program of the Western land show, which opened its second annual session here today. A hundred thousand square feet of floor space in the Coliseum is devoted to exhibits of land products and methods of production in the states of the West. The program will extend over two weeks.

EXPELLED FROM CATHOLIC ORDER

Dr. Scharff Accused of Offering to Deliver Votes to Politicians.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Dr. E. L. Scharff, once a member of the faculty of the Catholic university, it is announced officially, has been expelled from the Knights of Columbus on the charge that he contracted to deliver Catholic votes to congressmen and politicians. Dr. Scharff was attacked in congress during the last session by Representative Ben Johnson of Kentucky, a Catholic and a Knight of Columbus.

REBELLION IN CHINA GROWS

Members of National Assembly Take Part in Events.

Demand Immediate Meeting and Change in Ministry.

Pekin, China, Oct. 16.—Members of the national assembly, which was organized a year ago as the nucleus of a Chinese parliament, and which is to begin its second session here Oct. 22, have taken a hand in the revolutionary situation. About half of the 200 members of the assembly are now in Pekin. Sixty of them gathered privately yesterday and drew up a series of resolutions addressed to the throne.

The resolutions demand that in the interests of peace the provisional assembly of Cze-Chuen be permitted to assemble immediately and that the president and vice president of that body be released from prison to take part in the sessions. The resolutions further call for a dismissal of Sheng-Husuan-Huai, the imperial minister of posts and communications, as soon as possible. Sheng negotiated the loans for the nationalization of the railways and has been a leading advocate of the anti-provincial policy which is regarded as largely responsible for the present uprising.

Riots at Banks.

Heavy runs on the banks here continued today, and there were riotous scenes in front of several of the institutions, the policemen on duty being forced repeatedly to club back the crowds and protect the bank officials. Government bank notes are no longer passing at par, the best quotation today being at a discount of 20 per cent.

The Russo-Chinese bank in the legation quarter was the target for a prolonged run today. Foreign bank notes are being refused as currency outside of the legation quarter.

Official sources all declared today that they were receiving no news from

EXPERTS REPORT "NO SUGAR TRUST"

Say High Prices Are Due to European Monopoly.

New York, Oct. 16.—Government accountants for a sub-committee of the committee of the house of representatives appointed to investigate the "sugar trust' today will submit a report, according to the Times this morning, stating that they have found nothing in the operations of the American Sugar Refining company, the National Sugar Refining company, the Federal Sugar Refining company and the Warner Sugar Refining company indicating the existence of a "trust."

They will report, it is stated, that the sugar refining companies investigated control only 42 per cent of the sugar supply of the United States. The recent increase in the price of sugar is laid at the door of a European monopoly.

ROW OVER GAME ENDS IN MURDER

Man Hit With Baseball Bat Dies of His Injuries.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—A quarrel over an amateur baseball game resulted in the death of Thomas Lynch, 28 years old, a clerk, today. He played ball with some friends yesterday and later was struck on the head with a baseball bat during a dispute over the game in a saloon. He died today in a hospital from a fractured skull.

Thomas Stokes, Gerald O'Neil and Thomas Hogan are under arrest in connection with the affair, and another man is being sought by the police.

EX-CASHIER IN A HOTEL

Woman, Whose Husband Is Suing Funk, Is Identified.

Harvester Man Denies He Ever Even Talked With Her.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Much interest was taken today in the disclosure that Mrs. John C. Henning, whose affections Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester company, is charged with having alienated from her husband, is a former assistant to the cashier of the Dutch and German rooms in the Congress hotel here. Henning himself was for several years employed as a checker in the same hotel. Recently he has worked as a street car conductor.

Mrs. Henning is described as a striking looking young woman of a pronounced brunette type. Before her marriage her name was Miss Josephine O'Reilly.

Blames Lorimer's Friends.

Mr. Funk denies positively that he ever knew her, or ever spoke to a woman cashier at the Congress hotel. He continues to attribute the alienation suit to the testimony he gave in connection with the investigation of the election of United States Senator Lorimer.

"In proof that the suit is a plot engineered by Lorimer's friends, knowledge that the suit was to be filed was had by Lorimer's friends on Friday, the day before it was filed," said Mr. Funk. "I have known for some time that I was to be pictured as a homewrecker and a man of the lowest type. In view of the fact that I knew what kind of a crew I was up against and was forewarned of their plans, I guess that I will be able to get along."

Are in Alabama.

Henning and his wife were reported to be in Mobile, Ala., today by detectives employed by Mr. Funk. Counsel for Mr. Funk declared that efforts would be made to have the suit against him called for trial in the near future.

James H. Marble, attorney for the United States senate investigation committee inquiring into the case of Senator Lorimer, and Edgar A. Bancroft, attorney for Mr. Funk, held several conferences today, the details of which wer not made public.

GET SHIELDS TO CHICAGO

Lorimer Investigators Will Examine Superior Man.

Blair Is Recalled and Asked About His Finances.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—After being sought in vain by the committee that made the first senatorial investigation of Senator Lorimer's election, Robert J. Shields, the Superior, Wis., man, is here to testify before the Lorimer committee.

William C. Blair, a member of the Illinois legislature that elected Senator Lorimer, after remaining in the custody of a friend sworn in as a deputy sergeant-at-arms since Saturday, was ready this morning to resume his testimony before the Dillingham committee. He is the first one of the intimate friends of Representative Tippit, who was the leader of one Democratic faction in the legislature, to be called before the committee.

Showed Big Roll.

One of the witnesses previously heard has stated that Blair exhibited a large amount of money after a visit to Olney, where, it is thought, he met Mr. Tippit. The latter is to be called before the committee to explain some of the details of the supposed visit.

Attorneys Marble and Healy, counsel for the committee, have not announced the names of the witnesses to be called. Among the men in attendance at the sessions are State Senator John Broderick, who, State Senator Holstlaw testified, paid him for voting for Lorimer, and Representative Robert Wilson.

Former Representative William C. Blair of Mount Vernon was recalled to the stand as the first witness of the day.

Asked About Finances.

Attorney Healy examined the witness regarding his professional accounts

RODGERS FLYING OVER OKLAHOMA

Trouble With Engine Forces Him to Stop at Muskogee.

Vinita, Okla., Oct. 16.—Aviator C. P. Rodgers resumed his cross-country flight at 7:40 this morning after resting here over Sunday, with 1,673 miles of his journey from New York to his credit. He followed the tracks of Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway, expecting to reach Fort Worth, Texas, 319 miles away, before dark. He planned to make his first stop at McAlester, Okla., 127 miles south.

Reached Muskogee.

Muskogee, Okla., Oct. 16.—Aviator C. P. Rodgers, on his sea-to-sea flight, reached Muskogee at 9:07 this morning. His motor was missing badly, and he was obliged to alight. He expects to resume his flight within thirty minutes. He made the distance of 65 miles from Vinita in 76 minutes.

Shibe Park, Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—Philadelphia today won the second game of the world championship baseball series from New York by a score of 3 to 1. It was Baker's beautiful home run in the sixth inning that did the work. The score up to that time was 1 to 1, but after Collins had got to second base on a two-bagger, Baker came up with his home run and gave the Athletics a safe margin that never was changed.

Marquard, pitching his first game in such surroundings, was wild at first, and though he steadied later was not able to win his game. He was replaced by Crandall in the eighth.

First inning—New York—Devore, New York's first batter, struck out on four pitched balls. Doyle drove a high fly, Lord caught it. Snodgrass was given his base on balls. Murray drove a line fly to Collins. No runs.

Philadelphia: Lord singled to right and went to second on Murray's fumble. Lord got third on Oldring's sacrifice, Marquard to Merkle. Lord scored on wild pitch. Crandall began warming up for Giants. Collins beat out an infield hit. Marquard was visibly nervous. Baker struck out. Murphy was the third out on a fly to Devore. One run.

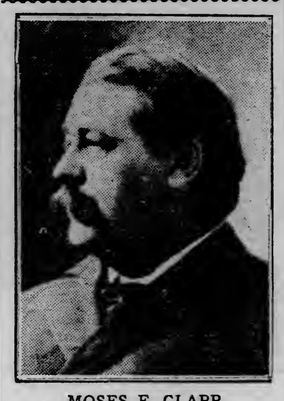

Second inning—New York—Merkle was retired, Barry to Davis. Herzog drove a double to center, Oldring misjudging the ball. Fletcher was thrown out, Collins to Davis. Herzog went to third and scored a moment later on Meyer's single to left. Marquard struck out. One run.

Philadelphia: Capt. Davis was retired, Doyle to Merkle. Barry drove a hard fly to left which Devore got under but muffed, Barry taking second. Thomas lifted a fly to Devore. Plank was out, Meyers to Merkle, on a slow grounder towards first. No runs.

Third inning—New York—Devore struck out, the second time during the game. Doyle flew out to Lord. Snodgrass singled to right after two

CHIEF SPEAKER AT LA FOLLETTE MEETING

MOSES E. CLAPP,
Junior Senator From Minnesota.

WILL BOOM LA FOLLETTE

National Republican Progressive League Opens Sessions in Chicago.

Letter From Roosevelt Says He Must Not Be Looked to By Delegates.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—The first day's session of the National Republican Progressive league opened this morning. The preliminary organization and appointments of committees are to be taken up first, and then Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota will address the meeting.

Senator Clapp's address, it is expected, will develop the first step of a carefully planned program to indorse the candidacy for president of Senator La Follette. Friends of Senator La Follette are prepared to hasten action on the question.

At the opening of the session no antagonism had developed, and but one factor seemed to stand in the way of perfect harmony. The views held by James R. Garfield, former secretary of interior, and who, it is said, is attending the conference as the personal representative of Theodore Roosevelt, were not known.

How About Garfield?

A rumor gained circulation that Mr. Garfield would oppose the indorse-

BEAT AND ROB CHICAGO MAN

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Not satisfied with taking his purse containing $10, robbers today beat George Nelson, 40 years old, into insensibility, stripped him of his hat, coat, vest and shoes, and fled leaving their victim lying on the sidewalk.

Nelson was found unconscious an hour later by a policeman. When revived he said he was held up by three men as he was on his way home from work.

GIRL ON TRIAL FOR MAN'S DEATH

Eunice Murphy and Four Others Accused at Valentine, Neb.

Valentine, Neb., Oct. 16.—The trial of Eunice Murphy and her brother, Kenneth, Harry Heath, George and Alma Weed for the murder of Charles Sellers June 17 began here today. The case against Miss Murphy will be prosecuted first.

The four men took Sellers from the home of a rancher and hanged him to a telephone pole. They claim he had threatened to kill the prisoners if Eunice did not consent to marry him. The state contends that the crime was committed in order that the girl might secure the insurance which she believed Sellers had left her.

Guardman Is Air Pilot.

Garden City, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Capt. George W. McKay of the national guard qualified at the aviation field here Sunday as an air pilot of the Aeroclub of America. He is said to be the first officer of a national guard to acquire the art of flying.

NATIONAL PRISON CONGRESS MEETS

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 16.—A meeting of the National Wardens' association, beginning with the annual address of President Joseph F. Scott, superintendent of prisons of the state of New York, inaugurated today's session of the National Prison congress, which convened here Saturday.

Following Mr. Scott's address the program was devoted to the reading and discussion of papers, including one by Supt. A. H. Leslie of the Allegheny county workhouse, Pittsburg, Pa., on "Prison Construction," and one on "Prison Recreation," by J. K. Codding, warden of the Kansas state penitentiary at Lansing.

The afternoon program was devoted to the National Chaplains' association and opened with the annual address of the president, Rev. Charles M. Miller, chaplain of the Western penitentiary of Pennsylvania.

"The Passion for Service," was the subject of an address by Rev. E. B. Crawford of Omaha. Rev. William J. Butt, chaplain emeritus of the Massachusetts' reformatory, spoke on "Putting Religion Where It Should Be."

FIVE ESCAPED MEN CAUGHT

Canadian Mounted Police Help Round Up North Dakota Fugitives.

Bottineau, N. D., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Five of the eight men who broke jail here have been recaptured and additional charges will be made against them. Local authorities, assisted by the Canadian mounted police, captured them, the three alleged highwaymen being caught at Napinka, Man., while the two grand larceny men were caught at Whitewater, Man.

NEW CANADIAN NORTHERN BRIDGE IS RAPIDLY NEARING COMPLETION

NEW CANADIAN NORTHERN BRIDGE.

The new Canadian Northern bridge at Forty-ninth avenue west is rapidly nearing completion and with the extra crew of men placed on the work this morning, it is expected to be finished within four days. Work was commenced on the bridge about a month ago and with the taking of the old bridge away and putting the new one in while the street cars were making their regular schedule, a record has been made, say the men at the head of the work. One half of the bridge was built first, allowing the street cars to use the other half of the old culvert, which was taken down after the new half was finished.

A large number of team owners in that section of the city claimed at first that the planking was not being laid right and that horses would be unable to walk across the bridge on a wet day. W. M. Hauser, contractor for the Canadian Northern, had the planking laid crosswise on the other half of the bridge and between the street car tracks.

The bridge is about 400 feet long and nearly 50 feet wide, and is made entirely of wood. The feature of the work is the rapidity with which it was done. Both sides of the bridge will be opened for traffic by Friday of this week, according to the present plans.

REV. J. G. LEITCH HAS RESIGNED

West Duluth Pastor Accepts Call to Iowa Church.

Rev. John G. Leitch, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street, will leave the local church, Nov. 1, according to his announcement yesterday morning. He stated that he had received and accepted a call to the Central Presbyterian church of Nevada, Iowa, and that he would begin his work there the first of November.

Rev. Mr. Leitch came to the local church three years ago from Princeton university, this being his first charge. He said yesterday that the new church would give him a larger field for his work. He will preach his farewell sermon to the local congregation on Sunday, Oct. 29.

The church has not taken any action as yet regarding another pastor but it is probable that a meeting will be held in a few days when a call will be sent out. J. P. Wier, William Towner, John Galbraithe and A. P. Johnson are the elders of the church.

TO GIVE CONCERT AT THE LYCEUM

Normanna Male Chorus Will Be Assisted By Superior Singers.

The Normanna chorus will give a concert at the Lyceum on the evening of Nov. 12. The Nordon chorus of Superior will assist the local organization during the evening. The proceeds or the concert will be used in defraying the expenses of the club in its trip to Norway in 1912.

There will be sixty-five voices in the entire chorus including the Superior organization, making it the largest Duluth has heard for a number of years. The club recently celebrated its twentieth anniversary. It is affiliated with the Norwegian Singers of America.

WEST DULUTH TEAM WINS

Irving Industrial Eleven Easily Defeats Nelson Dewey Boys.

The West Duluth Industrial high school defeated the Nelson Dewey team aSturday by the score of 24 to 5. The game was a one-sided one, Dewey's only score coming at the beginning of the first quarter. After the first touchdown the ball was in the Superior's team territory, all of the time.

The local team worked well throughout and easily showed its ability to meet larger and better teams. The forward pass worked satisfactorily and the general team work showed very good coaching and practice on the part of the team. A return game will be played a week from Saturday in Duluth. The local team lined up as follows: Dykens, le; Brayden, lt; Usenski, lg; McCormick, c; Ehr, rg; Saylor rt; Little, re; Anderson, qb; Brooks lh; Simpson, rh, and Fond, fb. The officials were R. D. Gould umpire, and James Gordon, referee.

BURGLAR IS INTERRUPTED

A thief was partly successful last evening in attempting to burglarize the home of Fred A. Wilson, 420 North Fifty-second avenue west. The burglar got a small amount of money but failed to obtain a box containing $50, owing to the sudden return of Mr. Wilson from the front part of the house. The thief had entered through a window in the kitchen and was about to enter another room when Mr. Wilson appeared.

A good description was obtained of the man and the police believe that they will be able to capture him. A silver dollar and a 10-cent piece were all the money taken. A burglar entered the home of James Greaves, 412 North Fifty-second avenue west, two weeks ago and the police believe that the robbery yesterday was the work of the same man.

New Pastor Here.

Rev. C. W. Emery, new pastor for the Merritt Memorial M. E. church, Forty-sixth avenue west and Halifax street, arrived in the city Saturday with his family from Deer River, Minn. He preached his first sermon yesterday morning and addressed the congregation of the Smithville Harvey Webb Memorial church yesterday afternoon.

Teachers Will Entertain.

The Irving school teachers will be hostesses to the West Duluth branch of the W. C. T. U. at its meeting Thursday afternoon. The meeting will be called at 3 o'clock in the school assembly room. "Co-operation of Parents and Teachers" will be the subject for discussion for the afternoon. Mrs. H. H. Phelps will be the leader. The hostesses are Miss L. Laumann, Miss L. Marcus, Mrs. Rose Gooselin and Mrs. W. H. Sweet.

Surprise Party.

Friends of Mrs. Louis Fisher gave a surprise party in her honor Saturday evening at her home in Smithville. Dancing, music and games were the features of the evening. Those present were: R. Bruhn, Charles Cameron, Bill Hopkins, Isaac Thorin, Charles Pallet, Gust Widell, George Reindl, H. H. Murphy, Jerry Lockhart, Jr., Jerry Lockhart, Sr., Jack Lockhart, Mr. Sampson, James Lockhart; Mesdames James Lockhart, J. Lockhart, Sr., J. Lockhart, Jr., H. H. Murphy, Reindl, J. Berger, Alta Wills, L. Tischer; Misses Pearl Moultiss, Florence Wills, Margaret McAlindon and Miss Sullivan.

A collection is being made in West Duluth for the family of Frank Reitzloff, who had both feet but off while boarding a train the other day at Proctor. He has a wife and seven children who are now without any means of support.

S. J. Rigney of Freeport, Ill., is now working in H. W. Lanners' law office at West Duluth. He will be here permanently and will assist Mr. Lanners in his work.

Mrs. Robert Grager of New Duluth has returned after spending the past three weeks with relatives at Chippewa Falls and Eau Claire, Wis.

The M. W. A. of New Duluth will give a basket social in the Maccabee hall Saturday evening. Several prizes will be awarded.

Mrs. C. A. Stack, 416 North Fifty-third avenue west, will spend the week with friends in Minneapolis. She will return Friday.

Rev. E. F. Sidil will return today from Hibbing, where he conducted the services yesterday.

Rev. C. T. Blaker of Little Falls, Minn., will leave today after spending the past few days in West Duluth. He preached at both services yesterday at the West Duluth Baptist church. He was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Allen, 608 North Fifty-seventh avenue west, while in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Havorn formerly of Smithville, moved to West Duluth last week, where they will reside in the future.

Mrs. Fred Blake and son Jack, of Hibbing, left Saturday for their home after spending the past week with Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Dash, New Duluth.

The Thompson brothers, New Duluth, have been called to Hixon, Wis., where they will attend the funeral of their mother who died Saturday.

Mrs. E. D. Abbott, 5609 Grand avenue, entertained Mrs. Anna Freeman and Bert Freeman of Minneapolis, during their stay here last week.

Mrs. L. B. Root of Clara, Mich., is visiting her sister and friends at New Duluth. She will make West Duluth her home after the visit.

The Fairmont Park Improvement committee will meet in a few days to hear the report of the chairman regarding the acquisition of the property. The committee will also outline its plan of action for the future.

The Curlers club committee will meet in a few days to decide on the necessary improvements for the rink.

The Irving-Tiger Juniors defeated the White Hopes yesterday by the score of 25 to 2 on the Fifty-second avenue grounds. The West Duluth boys easily outplayed the "Hopes" at every stage of the game.

Mrs. W. H. Merriman and daughter, Fern, and Mrs. Mabel E. Wood and daughter, Janet, will leave tomorrow for their home in Butte, Mont., after spending the past week as guests of Mrs. E. D. Abbott, 5609 Grand avenue.

The Irving Juniors have organized a football team and are looking for games with other school teams of the city. They defeated the Whittiers, Saturday by the score of 30 to 5.

KEEP AFTER MR. NELSON

McNamara's Attorneys Renew Attack on Proposed Juror.

Taft's Visit to City Draws Crowd From the Court-room.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 16.—Continuation of the examination of talesmen in the trial of James B. McNamara, indicted for numerous fatalities resulting from the explosion a year ago in the Times building here, was planned to follow the announcment today by Judge Walter Bordwell of his ruling as to the eligibility of Z. T. Nelson to act as a juror.

Eleven other talesmen, locked in a room adjacent to the court chamber, and thirty-one veniremen awaited the judge's ruling as a definite step forward in the trial.

"I only intend to speak about a half hour," declared Joseph Scott, the attorney selected to conclude the argument today for the defense against Nelson, immediately following which the court had announced that it would give its ruling.

Believes Nelson Disqualified.

"I regard the getting of a fair jury as the fundamental feature of this trial," added Mr. Scott. "Folks have read a great deal in the newspapers and magazines about this case, but I think we can find twelve men who can waive that information in lieu of evidence. As far as Nelson is concerned, however, he has admitted that it would take strong evidence to change his views, and that obviously disqualifies him."

Extensive quizzing of the other talesmen, particularly as to their affiliations or connections at any time with labor unions or strikes admittedly is intended by the attorneys for the defense.

"There is no denying that labor unions and their methods will be discussed in this trial, because the prosecution charges that the Times was blown up as a result of labor troubles. We should know whether any of the talesmen have fixed notions on the subject," said Lecompte Davis.

Wide Scope to Questions.

With this idea in mind, the questions of the defense will include a wide scope. Inquiry will be made to determine not only if talesmen, but if members of their families as well, have encountered at any time labor friction whether as employers or employed. Effort will be made to learn also if any of the talesmen ever have studied labor questions either in the magazines or newspapers.

It now is estimated that at least a month will elapse before a jury can be selected. Even then the trial is expected to go forward slowly, as delays are predicted in the arrival here of witnesses from various parts of the country.

The time during which the talesmen are being examined is being used by both the defense and prosecution in bolstering up their cases. The state already has made use of the opportunity afforded by the prisoner's daily appearance in court to bring to the chamber some of its future witnesses to identify James B. McNamara

Taft Counter Attraction.

Few people were in the court room today, owing to the street parade in which President Taft participated. It was reported early today that probably no afternoon session would be held, as Judge Walter Bordwell is one of the city's committee designated to welcome President Taft, much of the ceremony incident to the president's visit being scheduled for the afternoon.

From his window today in the cell of the county jail, John J. McNamara, secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, awaiting trial after his brother, James B., could see the crowd on the line of march arranged for President Taft. The route not only passed the Los Angeles Times building, which the brothers are alleged to have caused to be destroyed, but it approached the new Hall of Records where the case is being tried.

John Has Been Reading.

"What have you been doing?" John J., was asked today.

"Reading," he answered.

"And what?"

"Books, magazines and papers. I've written many letters, too."

Counsel for the McNamara brothers have forbidden them to discuss the case, and though they have many visitors, the latter usually are accompanied by some one from the office of Mr. Darrow, chief counsel for the defense.

Estimates as to the total cost of the trial furnished a frequent topic of conversation.

That it will cost a total of more than $500,000 was the statement of Mr. Darrow today. His approximation was received with interest in view of the fact that he has been counsel in similar big cases extending over a long period.

Heavy Burden on County.

A large share of this amount will be borne by the county. It has been found necessary to swear in many deputies to assist in the conduct of the trial, and their salaries average not less than $300 a month. The cost of keeping the jury alone will be at least $1,500 a month, most of which is for meals.

Sheriff Hammel already has sworn a barber as a deputy sheriff to care for the tonsorial needs, not only of the talesmen now under examination but for the future jurymen. The deputy sheriff-barber has moved a chair into the room on the eighth floor of the Hall of Records, where the talesmen at present are confined.

Indications were that with the eligibility of Nelson disposed of, the attorneys would proceed with a brief examination of another talesman today and then an adjournment would be taken until tomorrow.

How the Law Reads.

The section of the penal code held forth by the defense as covering Nelson's case, declares that actual bias may be charged "for the existence of a state of mind on the part of the juror in reference to either of the parties which will prevent him from acting with entire impartiality and without prejudice to the substantial rights of either party," while the prosecution will continue to contend that another section expressly says that no person shall be disqualified as a juror by reason of having formed or expressed an opinion upon the matter or course to be submitted to such juror, founded upon public rumor, statements in public journals or common notoriety, provided it appear to the court upon his declaration under oath or otherwise that he can and will, notwithstanding such an opinion, act impartially and fairly upon matter to be submitted to him."

MICHIGAN MAN IS ACCUSED OF EXTORTION.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 16. — The Lansing police have under arrest Emory E. Knox, who, the officers allege, has confessed to an attempt to extort $2,000 from R. E. Olds, the head of an automobile manufacturing company of this city. Knox is said to have sent two Black Hand letters to Mr. Olds threatening to destroy his life and property unless he placed the money at a place in this city by a certain hour Saturday afternoon.

A package was deposited at the designated spot and Knox was arrested shortly after he had taken it from its hiding place. The police say Knox admitted having written the letters to Mr. Olds, giving as an excuse that he has been out of work for six weeks.

J. M. Gidding & Co.

"Gidding Corner"—Superior St. at First Ave. W.

THE standard that we have set for ourselves, as a dependable store, is a store that specializes in good quality, and nothing but good quality—with prices as low as the quality standard will permit. Added to this, styles must be absolute in correctness, and abundant in assortment.

¶ This is the policy that has founded Gidding prestige in this and other cities of the country; it's the policy that has promoted the growth of the Gidding organization, and makes women feel more sure of a garment that bears the Gidding label, than of any other garment.

Suits Norfolk, Plain Tailored and Fancy.

¶ The correct styles of New York and Paris are Perfectly interpreted in this vast assemblage. There are beautiful cloth and Velvet Suits in exclusive French-cut effects, braid trimmed, sailor collar and other fancy styles. Prices $45 to $95.

Especially worthy of mention are the fashionable Corduroy Suits, in nobby Norfolk models. We urge comparison on these, for we are confident that the town affords nothing equal in suits of this type. Price $49.50.

New Shipments of Custom-Tailored Suits at $32.50, $35, $39.50, $42.50 and $45.

¶ Just from the hand of our Best Tailors comes a new shipment of the smartest kind of plain, well-tailored suits, in Zibelines, Fine and Wale Serges, Whip-cords, Cheviots and Men's Wear fabrics.

Also Exceptionally Good Values in Popular Priced Suits at $22.50 to $29.50.

Coats In Most Fashionable Models.

¶ POLO COATS are receiving the attention of fashionable women from East to West. The demand has been so great that manufacturers can't supply the demand. Gidding buyers, being Constantly on the ground, have snatched the Best, and we are prepared with the Greatest line of Fine Polo Coats to be found in the Northwest. Prices $22.50 to $75.

Also full Lines of Swagger Mannish Tailored Street Coats, fine Broadcloths, Plush Coats and Handsome Velvets. Prices $25 to $95.

Furs of Sure Quality

¶ The first and most important step in the choosing of Furs is to select a store heralded for its Quality Reputation. Our supremacy in this respect is so manifest that public confidence in matters pertaining to women's wear is well centered here. And Furs, above everything else, must measure a high quality standard before being admitted to our stocks. Hence the Gidding clientele is always assured of being offered correct styles, combined with highest quality skins. Our showing is extensive and inclusive in Costly and Popular Priced Furs.

¶ Popular Priced Furs Share Advantages with the higher-class Furs, both in range of selection and in quality and make; each piece being the Best its price can possibly afford. Fur Sets, $15 to $350. Fur Coats at $69.50 and up.

Latest Importations in French Underwear

MAY CHANGE ORDINANCES

Council Committee Will Meet to Discuss Proposed Amendments.

Lodging House Ordinance Will Be Taken Up for Discussion.

The council committee on ordinances and resolutions is scheduled to hold a meeting at the council chambers of the city hall at 4 o'clock this afternoon on the proposed lodging house ordinance.

It was introduced last spring after The Herald had pictured the actual conditions in the downtown sections of the city. A public hearing was held and at that time several changes and modifications were suggested.

To give those interested an opportunity to put them in writing, the hearing was adjourned until a later date, subject to the call of the chairman. It is expected that the ordinance will be up within the next few weeks for final passage, but in different shape from the original, which was considered too stringent to be put into operation at once.

The transient merchant ordinance is also due to come up. It was voted down last Monday, but it is stated that there will be a motion to reconsider this evening. If that is not done the ordinance will be brought before the council by being introduced again.

The council will receive contracts which have been awarded by the board of public works for sewers and a concrete culvert and from the health commissioner for the improvement of the third floor of the contagious disease hospital at Fourteenth avenue west and Third street. It is expected that all of them will be approved.

The ordinance amending the building ordinance to enable the Holland hotel to build an addition of four stories will be brought up for consideration. It was laid over a week at the last meeting.

Several of the departments are short of funds and the aldermen will this evening likely authorize the issuance of certificates of indebtedness to carry them over the balance of the year.

WANTS VEHICLE LAW CHANGED

State Senator Johnson Says Farmers Will Oppose It.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—In response to an inquiry from State Senator Victor L. Johnson of Chisago county, Attorney General Simpson will render an opinion on the validity of the automobile law passed at the last session of the legislature, which requires rear lights to be exhibited on every vehicle that uses the public highways at night. Senator Johnson told Mr. Simpson this morning that he feared if the law was enforced precisely as it appears on the statute books, he would have to leave the country.

"When the farmers of Minnesota find that it will be necessary for them to display a rear light on their wagons and buggies when driving at night," Senator Johnson said, "they will rise in their wrath. So far they have paid little attention to it, because the law does not go into effect until Jan. 1."

RAILROADS

HILL ALREADY OWNS NORTH AND SOUTH LINE.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 16.—When Chairman James J. Hill of the board of directors of the Great Northern railway was asked as to the truth of a report that he would have a through line from Galveston, Tex., via Denver to the Pacific coast as soon as two connecting links, now said to be building, are finished, he answered that he has a through line now. He would say no more and did not explain whether he meant that the new line was practically completed or referred to the more roundabout way.

SOON FINISH EXTENSION FROM PINGREE TO WILTON

Wilton, N. D., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—In about three weeks the construction of the Pingree to Wilton extension of the Northern Pacific railway will be completed. The crews are now working westward from Regan and are going ahead at a remarkably rapid pace. Grading crews have arrived here and are doing extensive terminal work, making preparations for the construction of several buildings and the laying of extensive industrial trackage.

THIRTY-TWO YEARS A RAILROAD DIRECTOR.

James J. Hill, Saturday began his thirty-second consecutive year as a director of the Great Northern and the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba railroads. At the meeting of the stockholders Saturday, Mr. Hill, Louis W. Hill and Frederick Weyerhauser were re-elected directors. Mr. Hill became director of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba railroad in 1879 and organized the Great Northern railroad out of it in 1890.

BIG ABBATOIR FOR WINNIPEG.

It has been learned here t..at after two years' negotiation, the Canadian Pacific and the Grand Trunk Pacific railroads have agreed on the purchase of 215 acres in St. Boniface, across the river from Winnipeg, on which they will proceed to erect stock yards, abbatoirs and cold storage warehouses at a cost of about $5,000,000. The Manitoba government will aid the railroads in the project to the extent of $250,000.

Will Ignore Strikers.

Winnipeg, Oct. 16.—That the Grand Trunk Pacific railway has no intentions of negotiating further with its striking machinists and boilermakers is made evident by the insertion of large advertisements in daily papers by the company, calling for machinists to fill the places of the strikers, and by the company's continuing to ignore all requests of the men to appoint another member of the conciliation board.

VOTING MACHINE ON EXHIBITION

Agent Will Try to Interest Council in Its Adoption.

The Empire Voting Machine company has one of its machines on exhibition at the office of the city clerk, with a man present to explain all of its features.

It is claimed that the machines will pay for themselves in a comparatively short time in the savings which they will effect over the old paper ballot system. The machines automatically record the number of votes cast for each candidate, so that those who carry each precinct can be ascertained at almost a glance.

The company will make a proposition to the city to purchase machines for use in Duluth. The operation of the machine is simple, consisting only of shoving a letter to one side, pressing the buttons opposite the names of candidates for whom the voter wishes to vote, and recording the vote by putting the lever back to its original position. A long ballot can be voted in a comparatively short time.

J. S. Fillmore of Minneapolis, who is in the city with the machine, states that he is anxious to show the local aldermen how the machine operates and that he is satisfied that after they have seen it and understand it, they will realize that it is an excellent proposition.

PRIZES STIMULATE CULTURE OF CORN

North Dakota This Year Will Produce 10,000,000 Bushels.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—There may be 10,000 contestants for the prizes offered by the First National Bank of Fargo last spring, which put up $1,000 to stimulate corn growing in the state. Director Randlett of the North Dakota corn show will have charge of the awards and from the way enteries are coming in he estimates the large total mentioned. As a result of the action of the bank and the co-operation of many other bankers of the state on local prizes, more and better corn has been grown in the state this year than ever before and it is estimated the crop will be over 10,000,000 bushels.

Just as it pays a man to be seen associated with the successful, so it pays a store to have its announcements appear in the company of the prosperous.

HIGH IDEAL FOR THE RACE

Rabbi Lefkovits Says Zionist Movement Has Religious Significance.

Doubts Practical Value to Jewish People of America, However.

Rabbi M. Lefkovits is of the opinion that the movement to renationalize the Jewish race and to restore Palestine, is one that lacks practical value to American Jews. He adds, however, that it is one that has a deep religious significance to the Jewish people and has furnished a high ideal for them.

"There are many Jews in this country who consider the United States their home," said Rabbi Lefkovits today. "These people do not take a deep interest in the movement to restore Palestine. I may say that a very small per cent of the Jewish people are interested in the movement. To the Jewish people in the United States it has but little significance and is of not real practical meaning.

"To the Russian Jews and to some of the Jews in the Eastern countries the movement will appeal very strongly. In Russia and other countries of the East the Jew has no home. The idea of restoring Palestine and re-establishing the nationality of the once strong race in the country famous in the scriptures and history, is one that has a practical appeal, which in the end may accomplish much.

"But here the conditions are quite different and I do not believe that the movement will ever gain very much headway. The nationalization movement is about fourteen years old. A meeting is held every year, or every two years, varying, and most of the meetings have been held in Switzerland. One of the meetings was held in London. The Zionist movement has attracted attention all over the world and has done much to call attention to the Jewish race, especially the condition of the Jewish people in Russia. It has already done much to create an ideal in the minds of many people of the Jewish nationality, and in this matter and in the ideal of the Jewish religion has served a fine purpose.

"But as to its growth here in the United States there are doubts in my mind. It will make little progress among the Jewish people born in this country, in my opinion, and for that reason a very small per cent of the Jewish people over here are interested in it."

MANY SMALLPOX CASES IN CITY

The Greater Number Said to Be in West Duluth.

The health department is busy at West Duluth on smallpox cases.

Three were discovered about two weeks ago and several have broken out in the last week. Every effort is being made to check its spread by fumigating all places where those affected have been and by ascertaining which of the children have been vaccinated. Those who have not been treated will probably have to be before they will be allowed to attend school. The department states that there is no occasion for any great fear, but that every precaution should be taken to aid the authorities in handling the situation.

ALEXANDRIA MEN IN DRAINAGE CORPORATION.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The National Drainage company of Alexandria, Minn., incorporated today for $100,000. The incorporators are W. M. Sherwood, H. A. Leroy, Tollef Jacobson and Andrew Jacobson, all of Alexandria. The company proposes operating in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

the rebel zone owing to the severance of the telegraph wires out of Hu-Peh and Ze-Cheuen provinces.

Rebels Capture Warship.

A published report today says the rebels at Hankow have captured one of the Chinese warships anchored off that city.

Delayed advices from the south are that the imperial troops which retreated from Wu Chang and Hankow are mobilizing at Chumatien, 100 miles north of Hankow on the railroad.

Three members of the American legation here have been given permission to accompany the imperial army in its campaign against the rebels, and they left today with Gen. Yin Tchang. They are the only foreign attaches with the army. They are Lieut. Col. William D. Beach of Fort Santiago, Manila, Capt. James H. Reeves, the military attache of the legation, and Willys R. Peck, assistant Chinese secretary, who will act as interpreter for the party.

The government has decided to permit the foreign diplomats to exchange dispatches with their representatives in the provinces, where a rigid censorship has been decreed.

Japanese Are Blamed.

A considerable stir has been caused here by persistent reports that Japanese officials knew of the plans for revolt in the central provinces long in advance and even encouraged and participated in the movement. The reports have been denied by Minister Ijuiine.

The foreign banks have been indirectly sounded regarding the possibility of arranging a government loan of $2,500,000.

Dispatches from Hankow say that the revolutionaries have organized a Red Cross society and invited the cooperation of the American Episcopal mission. This invitation was accepted provisionally.

Revolt Well Financed.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 16.—With $2,000,000 in its treasury and an equal amount subject to call, 35,000 troops in the field and 130,000 reserves in the United States and Canada and with a constitution adopted and administrative officers chosen, the proposed Chung Hwa republic is declared to be making a determined effort to overthrow the Manchu dynasty and establish itself supreme in China.

Details of the formation of the tentative republic were revealed here by Sun Fo, son of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, who is to be president if the revolution now in progress is successful. The 100,000 and more revolutionary Chinese in the United States and Canada feel that it is but a matter of days until the Manchu dynasty will succumb.

Cable advices received by the revolutionists here indicate that the provinces of Hunan, Honan, Hu Peh, Kiang-Su, Ngan-Wsi and Sze-Chuen have fallen and that Quong-Tong, the province in which Canton is situated, is about to be captured by the rebels. With the fall of Canton, it was predicted by Sun Fo, 4,000 Chinese, including many wealthy merchants and officials of the new republic, immediately will leave for China. Twenty thousand troops are marching from Pekin to meet the revolutionary forces and an engagement is expected soon in Hunan province.

Floods Help Rebels.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 16.—News was brought by the steamer Empress of Japan that thousands are dying of starvation in Kiang Su along the Yangste Kiang, following the floods, and the situation was expected to augment greatly the spread of the rebellion.

The whole country was under water, the Yangste Kiang having risen to such an extent that it virtually was bounded by the hills some distance from the banks. Corpses were floating everywhere and famine-stricken refugees were dying daily from the disease.

In places the Yangste Kiang was thirty-five miles broad and floating bodies, upon which starving dogs were feeding, were seen in numbers. Officers of one of the river gunboats tell of seeing a number of mutilated corpses in uniform, indicating the fate of some imperial soldiers at the hands of the starving peasantry.

Raise Money in Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Announcement is made by the Young China society that at a midnight meeting which was addressed by Dr. Sun Yat Sen, prospective president of the republic which the revolutionary Chinese hope to establish, a large sum of money was pledged by local Chinese business men to help carry on the revolution. Dr. Sun, however, had nothing to say. Following the meeting he disappeared and a search of Chinatown failed to reveal his hiding place. The leader was to have been the chief speaker at a meeting Sunday afternoon, but did not attend. Members of the Young China society said that they did not know how long Dr. Sun would remain in Chicago.

Funds From New York.

New York, Oct. 16.—A mass meeting of Chinese was held here yesterday at the headquarters of the Young China association, to aid the revolt. It was called in response to a general order sent out by Dr. Sun Yat Sen that simultaneous meetings be held throughout the country. The meeting here was secret.

"We have raised a large amount of money," said Chu Sew Gunn, the treasurer, "and our reports show that everything is in fine shape for speedy victory."

Wisconsin W. R. C. Election.

New Richmond, Wis., Oct. 16.—Sixty delegates attended the convention of District No. 20, Woman's Relief Corps. There were two state officers in attendance, Mrs. Etta Conde of Menomonie, inspector, and Mrs. B. Reed of Ellsworth, department senior vice president. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Malers, River Falls; senior vice president, Mrs. Nellie Winter, New Richmond; junior vice president, Miss Blanding, St. Croix Falls. The 1912 convention will be held in River Falls.

SCALDED BY HOT COFFEE

Fred Gordon Crippled By Peculiar Accident While Hunting.

Companions Carry Him Seven Miles Through the Woods.

Fred Gordon was the victim of a peculiar accident early yesterday morning, his feet being so badly burned by spilled coffee that his two companions had to carry him seven miles to the car tracks.

Starting at 3:30 yesterday morning Gordon, accompanied by Clarence Franklin and Martin Olson, walked to the head waters of the Lester river to hunt partridges. Reaching the hunting grounds the boys built a fire and cooked a pail of coffee for their breakfast.

Gordon's feet were wet tramping through the woods and he had taken off his shoes to dry them at the fire. When the coffee had been cooked he did not replace his shoes and lifted the pail from over the fire while still in his stockinged feet. Intending to serve it, he started to fill Franklin's cup. But the hot pail slipped in his fingers and the scalding coffee spilled over his feet. He was painfully burned and unable to walk.

The two boys with him helped him back to the end of the Woodland car line, seven miles away. Carrying him between them part of the way, lugging him on their backs alternately for short distances, they managed to get him into the city, completely exhausted by their unusually strenuous efforts. Placing Gordon on a street car they took him to his home at Fourth avenue west and Fifth street, where a physician was called to dress his burns. He will be laid up for some time.

and books, and asked Blair to forward these accounts for the year 1909 to the committee.

Blair was then interrogated in connection with the ball game episode at Centralia, Ill., in August, 1909, when it was charged he exhibited eleven $100 bills in addition to other money.

"Did you go from Mount Vernon to Centralia?" he was asked.

"Yes."

"Would you swear you spent the night before the Centralia ball game at your home in Mount Vernon?"

"I am not certain."

Several members of the committee, including Senators Kenyon, Lea and Jones, questioned the witness closely regarding the source of the money which he exhibited at the ball game.

Meeting With Tippitt.

"When was the last time you met Representative Thomas Tippitt, after the legislature adjourned and before the ball game at Centralia?" the witness was asked.

"Why did you make the last trip to Olney before the ball game?"

"I went there to pay some debts."

"Did you register at the hotel?"

"Yes."

"Did you see Mr. Tippitt?"

"I don't think so."

"Did you try to see him?"

"Yes; I went to his office but he wasn't there."

"Did you borrow any money from him at this time?"

"No, I didn't."

Gave Lie to Tanner.

"Your friend, Mr. Tanner, testified that you told him at the ball game you had just returned from Olney," said Senator Jones, "where you said you had got the $100 bills from a client."

"That is not true. I never told Tanner anything of that kind," replied Blair.

ment of any presidential candidate at this time. Mr. Gaveld refused to discuss the course he will follow.

The Cook county progressives will give a luncheon to the visiting delegates in the afternoon. Charles E. Merriam will preside and Senator Clapp and Congressman Lenroot of Wisconsin will be the speakers.

Another business session will be held following the luncheon. Morning and afternoon sessions also will be held tomorrow.

Hugh T. Halbert, president of the Roosevelt club of St. Paul, who was an early arrival, declared that Theodore Roosevelt would not be a candidate for the Republican nomination for president.

Has Letter From Roosevelt.

"I received a letter from Mr. Roosevelt a few days ago in which he spoke of the conference of Progressive Republicans to be held in Chicago, and he said: 'No one must be for me,' said Mr. Halbert.

"That means that Mr. Roosevelt will not be a candidate under any circumstances, in my opinion. All the Roosevelt men in the Northwest will be for La Follette."

Gifford Pinchot is in Alaska and cannot attend the conference.

James R. Garfield of Ohio, who is said to have come directly from a conference with Theodore Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, attended the opening session, but declined to discuss presidential candidates.

"I am here to listen to what others have to say about the Progressive movement," said Mr. Garfield.

Two Hundred Present.

The opening session of today's conference was called to order shortly after 10 o'clock by Prof. Charles E. Merriam of the University of Chicago, and a few minutes later George S. Record of New Jersey was chosen chairman. Two hundred Progressive Republicans, representing twenty-five states, were present.

Delegation From Minnesota.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 16.—Minnesota's Progressive Republican delegation, headed by Senator Moses E. Clapp, left last night for Chicago, where they say he will fight to the last ditch any movement looking to a delay in the announcement of Senator La Follette's candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination at the Chicago conference of the National Republican Progressive league.

North and South Dakota Progressives were represented in the delegation. M. N. Hatcher and B. C. Baker of Fargo, and R. C. Richards of Huron, S. D., joined the Twin City Progressives here. Mr. Richards is at the head of the Progressive movement in South Dakota.

Others who will attend the conference are Hugh T. Halbert, J. O. Sylvester, W. G. McMurchy, C. H. Richter, St. Paul; George S. Loftus, James A. Monahan, W. I. Nolan, James Peterson, S. P. Jones, W. A. Frisbie, Minneapolis; Judge F. T. Wilson, Stillwater; Thomas Frazier, Rochester; Congressman Sydney Anderson, Lanesboro, and Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh, Little Falls.

Seek Threatening Negro.

Neche, N. D., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged with making threats to kill and to burn the home of a farmer near the city, a negro named Smith is being hunted in the timber east of this place. A deputy sheriff and several others are engaged in the search. Smith was employed by A. Bourgeois and following a quarrel in which the negro was discharged, he made threats of death against the farmer and also threatened to burn his residence.

The Selection of a Base Burner

The Superb Universal

A steel range for hard coal, soft coal or wood that is positively without an equal.

The Constant Universal

IMPERIAL UNIVERSAL

This illustration shows the back plate of the Imperial Universal removed, showing the capacity and construction of heat flues.

A Base Burner is an article that is bought but seldom during a lifetime, and upon it depends the comfort, health and happiness of every member in the family; therefore the intending purchasers before making a final choice should be thoroughly convinced and satisfied that they are getting absolutely the best base burner made.

The Most Essential Points that determine the value of a base burner are its heating capacity, economy of fuel, beauty of design, perfect fitting and durability. The base burner that does not embody all these features is an expensive and unsatisfactory stove at any price.

When You Burn a given amount of coal it generates a certain amount of heat, regardless of what stove the coal is burned in, but the question of heating capacity and fuel economy of a stove depends entirely on what becomes of the heat thus generated.

The Principle of all hard coal base burners is to radiate the heat into the room by means of its heat flues and hot air circulating flues, and that is the point of vast difference in base burners—the stove that has the most direct radiating surface and hot air circulating capacity is the most powerful heater and the most economical in the use of fuel and the cheapest stove to buy, as the base burner that does not radiate the largest possible percentage of heat generated from the fuel will in a very short time waste enough coal to pay for the best base burner made.

THE IMPERIAL UNIVERSAL has more direct radiating surface, more hot air circulating capacity than any other base burner made, and we positively guarantee it to heat more space with less fuel than any other Base Burner.

IMPERIAL UNIVERSAL

This illustration shows the beauty of design and the generous proportions of the Imperial Universal Base Burner.

Chief Witnesses.

The three state senators who are to testify are looked upon, with State Senator J. J. Blaine, as being the chief anti-Stephenson witnesses. Blaine, who was responsible for the investigation, admitted he had no evidence to support his charges.

L. E. Dresser testified today that he spent $2,500 given him out of the $107,793 Stephenson campaign fund. He used it, he declared, to pay campaign expenses while he was a member of the state board of control.

Railroad Man Called.

E. M. Hyzer, general counsel for the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, was called to testify in regard to charges that he and another employe of the railroad had given their services to defeat legislative candidates who were opposed to Senator Stephenson in their campaign of 1908. Mr. Hyzer declared there was no ground for the charge and the railroad had never interested itself in the campaign.

Fate of Old Companies.

The fate of the old companies doing business under the wing of the trust, the petition states, will be as follows:

The Conley Tin Foil company will be divided into two companies having no interest whatsoever the one in the other, and neither in a dominant position in respect to tin foil business.

The licorice business, now done and controlled by McAndrews & Forbes, will be divided into two independent companies.

The American Stogie company will be dissolved and its business disintegrated.

The American Cigar company will be disintegrated and it will have no dominant position in any branch of the cigar business.

The business of the American Snuff company will be divided among three companies, each independent of the other.

All Control Surrendered.

As for domination of the new concerns by the American Tobacco company, the petition says that under the plan the trust will have surrendered all interest in and control over the tinfoil, licorice and snuff industries; will have severed all relations with the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company, the Porto Rican American Tobacco company, the British-American Tobacco company, Ltd., and the Imperial Tobacco company, Ltd., and the United Cigar stores company.

All covenants with the British concerns named, forbidding them to extend their business into America, and all agreements not to engage in the tobacco business made by the other vendors and others here, will be terminated, leaving them free to engage in competition.

Harvey, N. D., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Driving at a rapid rate and striking a deep ditch, Mrs. C. H. Blanding was thrown from her automobile but escaped with only a broken ankle. The car was uninjured. Mrs. Blanding was attempting to avoid a big stone in the road when the accident occurred.

CENTRAL AFTER GAME WITH MINNEAPOLIS TEAM.

Negotiations are on for a game between Duluth Central high school football team and West High of Minneapolis, said to be one of the strongest high school elevens in Minneapolis.

North High is disputing the claims of the West High rooters, and as the local school faculty committee has also sent a communication to the North high school team, it is hoped that a game will be played next Saturday at Athletic park with one of these two teams.

As yet no answer has been received from the communication of Central schools, and should a contest for Saturday be scheduled, it is safe to say that one of the biggest crowds of the entire season will be on hand.

SEVEN KILLED ON MISSOURI PACIFIC.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 16.—Reports from the hospital at Fort Crook, where the most seriously injured in yesterday's wreck on the Missouri Pacific railroad at this point are being cared for, were that all were doing well. No further fatalities as a result of the wreck are expected. The death list still stands at seven, as follows:

F. W. PETRING, merchant, Nebraska City.

O. W. KEELER, passenger brakeman, Atchison, Kan.

MRS. FRED W. ROWTTMANN, Nebraska City.

WISTERIA ROWTTMANN, 8 years old, daughter of Mrs. Rowttmann.

SUPERIOR MAN IS KILLED AT GRAND FORKS.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Neri, supposedly of Superior, Wis., died in this city Sunday from injuries received when he was thrown from the third story of a local hotel. Thorough investigation into the affair is being made by the local police, and the Polk county coroner also will probe the circumstances. The police have gained evidence tending to contradict Neri's story to the effect that he had been thrown from the window, indicating that he fell out.

Bond Tender Rejected.

Bottineau, N. D., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bottineau county is having a hard time disposing of bonds which it proposes to float for the purpose of paying its share of the extensive drainage work that is being done in the Mouse river basin, and in which Bottineau and McHenry county officials are acting jointly. A tender of bids for the issue was unsatisfactory and all of the bids were rejected, while a new call has been made for further offers for the issue.

BACHELOR "TAX" FOR WHITE PLAGUE SUFFERERS IN EFFECT

The bachelor tax proposed by Mrs. Florence Lee, visiting nurse of the anti-tuberculosis society, went into effect yesterday.

Under the plan each bachelor will contribute 50 cents a month towards the campaign which is being waged against the white plague, but the tax is entirely voluntary.

The proceeds will be used for providing necessaries for children and others who cannot afford to buy them. It is believed that at least $100 a month will be raised in this manner and it is hoped that it might be raised to $200 or $300 a month, as every cent of the money could be used to the best of advantage. The tax is payable either to E. A. Silberstein, treasurer of the committee, or to Mrs. Lee, whose office is at the city hall. The postal cards which are being sent out read as follows: "I, the undersigned, being a bachelor of sound mind, gladly agree to pay the tax levy (voluntary) of the Duluth Anti-tuberculosis committee for relief work among the tuberculosis children of Duluth. Levy 50 cents per month from Oct. 15, 1911."

IRON AND STEEL REVIEW

New York, Oct. 16.—Consumers of steel products evidently are attracted by the low prices prevailing for finished material and larger contracts are developing for spring delivery. Current business, however, is enough to keep only about 75 per cent of mill capacity active resulting from the irregularity in prices. There is a variation in bars, plates and shapes of from $1 to $2 per ton. The railroads and shipyards are in the market for heavier tonnages of plates and shapes.

Building and bridge contracts also are developing more satisfactory bids, and orders placed last week called for 20,000 tons. One order was 4,500 tons for the Cleveland Leader building and 4,700 tons for the Washington postoffice. Bids also went in on the Madison Square building requiring 22,000 tons. The steel contract for the Field museum, Chicago, 10,000, is still pending.

The principal feature of interest in the iron trade was the purchase of 58,000 tons of low grade pig metal by Eastern pipe works.

The principal contract for foundry iron in the West was 6,000 tons of basic iron for shipment to the St. Louis district, the business going to a Chicago furnace.

The Steel corporation's September business was 200,000 tons less than last August, unfilled orders in September decreased 84,000 tons, and increased in August 112,000. The October record is better.

GIVE HONOR TO GIBBONS

Prelates and Laymen of Catholic Church Meet at Baltimore.

Pope Pius and President Taft Praised By Speakers.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 16.—In the cathedral here, where fifty years ago he was ordained a priest, then successively consecrated a bishop, invested with the pallium of an archbishop, and twenty-five years after his ordination received the red beretta of a cardinal, James Cardinal Gibbons, archbishop of Baltimore, yesterday received homage from illustrious prelates and laymen from all parts of this country and foreign lands.

The ecclesiastical celebration of the cardinal's dual jubilee began in the morning with pontifical high mass, celebrated by the cardinal. Archbishop John G. Glennon of St. Louis delivered the sermon, which was an eloquent tribute to the head of the American church.

The music was chiefly Gregorian, although there were intervals of figured music, and orchestral instruments were employed in the choir, relieving the somber color of the harmonies.

Hundreds of Candles.

The decorations were confined to the sanctuary. The main altar was ablaze with hundreds of candles and radiant with thousands of Bermuda lilies. Over the altar were the arms of the church, with the dates of the jubilee, 1861, 1886 and 1911. Under them was the Latin motto, "Jubilamus Dei Salvatori Nostro"—"Let Us Rejoice Unto God, Our Savior."

In the procession, which for impressiveness probably never has been surpassed in this country, were nine of America's twelve archbishops and about thirty bishops. Included among the archbishops were Monsignor Diomede Falconi, the apostolic delegate, and Paul Bruchesi of Montreal. Among the bishops was Hugh Macherry of South Africa.

Toast to the Pope.

Following the mass, dinner was served to the visiting clergy at St. Mary's seminary. In response to a toast proposed for Pope Pius, Mgr. Falconio, the papal delegate, said that up to the time of the present pontiff's election, "society at large was distracted by a spirit of innovation and unwholesome liberty; that a vastly extended and most dangerous organization of modernistic ideas was undermining the most fundamental truths of the Christian religion, and that problems of the highest importance for the welfare of the church and of society, were awaiting a speedy solution."

"There was required, then," said the archbishop, "a man of apostolic zeal, a man coming from the ranks of the people, who fully understands their needs and to direct the movements of the democracy; a man of Christian courage and of stern determination, able to protect the rights of the church and religious liberty against irreligious atheism. And God provided the church with such a providential man in the person of Pius X, whose energetic action in the administration of the church has been so beneficial to religion."

Ireland Praised Taft.

In response to a toast to the president of the United States, Archbishop John Ireland of St. Paul said, President Taft had not discriminated against Catholics, and that while he had given them no more than their due, they were grateful to him.

The cardinal, rising at the end of the dinner, said the prejudices which formerly existed against Catholicism in this country, almost were exterminated. He charged the bishops and archbishops around him with the command to garner the end of another fifty years 100,000,000 souls for the Catholic church in this country.

Archbishop Falconio presided at the vespers in the cathedral last night, and the sermon was delivered by Archbishop James H. Blenk of New Orleans.

PLEASED WITH HARTLEY FARM

State Drainage Commission Members Loud in Praise of Improvements Made.

Officials of the state drainage commission and other state departments, on their tour of inspection of drainage ditches of the state, yesterday visited G. G. Hartley's farm at Island. Here they inspected Ditch No. 55, which has laterals twelve and one-half miles long, and was completed a short time ago, after being in process of construction for three years. The officials declared the project to be the most successful of its kind in the state. They were enthusiastic in their praises of the Hartley farm and all its accessories. George Ralph, chief engineer of the commission, said:

"Today's visit was the most satisfactory we have made on the trip. I consider that Mr. Hartley has done more to demonstrate to the people of this state the wonderful possibilities of development and reclamation of swamp land than all of the rest of the people in this vicinity put together. His work has been really marvelous, and when one considers the difficulties that he has had to overcome, he cannot be sufficiently praised.

"We visited the handsome barn of Mr. Hartley. It is 200 feet long and built entirely of concrete and steel, and is equipped with automatic individual watering troughs for 143 cows. The sanitary and hygienic conditions of the Hartley farm are shown by the exceptionally high standard of the cattle."

The party spent today inspecting ditches in the vicinity of McGregor. The officials making this inspection tour are: George Ralph, chief engineer of the commission; Samuel G. Iverson, state auditor; Archie Hayes, secretary to the governor; James A. Larsen, assistant secretary of state; John T. Stewart, dean of engineering and drainage expert of the agricultural extension of the university of Minnesota; W. H. Gammell, general manager Minnesota & International Railway; George Ryan, Great Northern railroad; George Welch, commissioner of immigration; Fred A. Little, Algona, Iowa.

At McGregor they had an appointment today to meet Julius Schmahl, secretary of state, and Judge Methaway.

"BIRD MAN" MAKES PRETTY FLIGHT UNDER UNFAVORABLE CONDITIONS

Aviator Thomas McGoey Thrills Immense Crowd at Athletic Park.

Air Was "Full of Holes" He Says After Alighting.

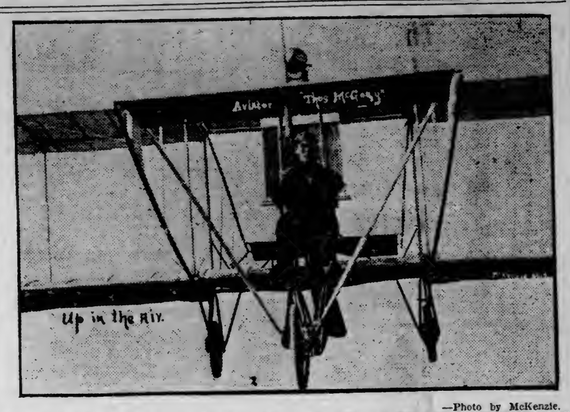

Under conditions far from favorable, Aviator Thomas McGoey, the birdman, thrilled thousands of open-mouthed people yesterday afternoon in and around Athletic park, by successfully making the first aeroplane flight ever attempted in the city. McGoey used a Curtiss biplane.

Despite the dark and threatening sky, the eager crowd of perhaps 15,000 people who held the aviator's course down to a narrow track, the treacherous air currents, which kept him continually on the alert, and other conditions which were anything but conducive to ascending and descending in a flying machine, Aviator McGoey made a flight, which for skill in aerial maneuvers and accuracy in descending, has seldom been surpassed.

Only aviators, perhaps, can understand just what condition the air was in yesterday, when McGoey shot into it. As he described it, it was "full of holes" and conflicting currents which made the aerial journey one beset with many dangers. The spectators saw none of these discomforts; the birdman only seemed to glide swiftly and smoothly along.

Even more sensational than his soaring in the air were his getaway and descent. Both showed to advantage the remarkable skill and undaunted nerve of the aviator.

McGoey jumped into his machine yesterday afternoon, knowing that he had to clear from a space smaller than he had ever attempted before, and in doing so he had but a small margin, despite the fact that a section of the fence of the ball park had been torn down. In his getaway he just barely skimmed over the heads of a portion of the bystanders, who, too astonished and too frightened to run, simply stood still and watched him, some dropping to the ground.

McGOEY JUST BEFORE HE LANDED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

When he struck the upper strata of air the machine had run along for about five blocks, and most of this way only a few feet above the ground. In the air he seemed to at once be able to elevate his machine with ease and was soon out of sight near the hills at West Duluth. At one time McGoey claimed that he was about 800 feet high. Descending within a few rods of the crowd, he passed over them, showing to advantage the working of the mechanism of the plane in the air. This was the occasion for a round of cheers from the sea of upturned faces. After a few circles he swooped down over the same course that he had risen, and as the plane struck the ground and bounded for several rods, the emergency brake cutting deep into the terra firma, the crowd held its breath, expecting every minute that the plane would smash itself and the rider against the grandstand. But it didn't. McGoey succeeded in stopping his air machine within a few feet of the grandstand. The crowd swarmed around him and the cheering was intense. It took a crowd of men to keep back the eager people and save the machine from being crushed. A second flight, which had been planned, was impossible, because of the disorder in the lines which reigned after the descent. Unable to get the people back in place again, the bird-man decided not to attempt a second trip in the air.

SKELETON OF DR. JACKOLA FOUND IN THE WOODS

Believed to Have Ended His Life While Mentally Deranged.

The skeleton of the body of Dr. John Jackola, the local physician who has been missing since June 23 last, was found in a thicket near Thirty-first avenue east and Seventh street, late yesterday afternoon by two boys who were hunting through the woods for partridges and rabbits.

Identification was made by papers and memoranda which were found in the clothing.

The body is in such shape that it is impossible to determine the cause of his death, only the bones remaining. No bullet hole was found. The prevalent belief is that the physician committed suicide by taking some poison, after which he lay down to die. His friends bear out this theory by stating that at the time he disappeared his mind was unbalanced, following his infatuation for Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont last spring and her refusal of his offers of marriage.

The skeleton was found by John Simonson and John Olson, who reside near Twenty-fifth avenue east and Seventh street. They had separated a short distance, intending to go through the woods. One passed on one side of the skeleton and one on the other, both catching sight of it at about the same time.

Find Papers.

Frightened by its gruesome appearance, they fled from the woods and told the father of the Simonson boy of their discovery. The police were notified and Dr. McCuen called. They hurried to the scene as quickly as possible. An examination disclosed the papers by which the dead doctor was identified. After the immediate neighborhood had been carefully gone over by the officials, the remains were removed to the undertaking rooms of Flood & Horgan.

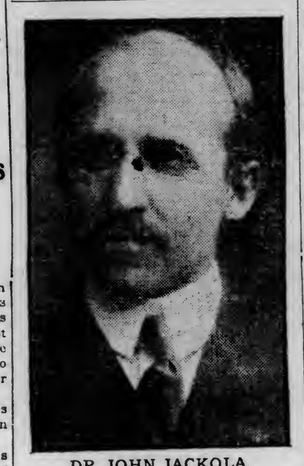

The late Dr. Jackola received a great deal of notoriety the first few months of this year because of his affair with Mrs. Belmont, the champion of the suffragist movement in New York. He composed verses and sonnets to her, sent her notes, and was seen in her company at different times. Becoming too ardent, it was reported that she had requested that he cease his attentions to her. But evidently being unable to restrain himself, his friends believe, because his mind was unbalanced, he continued as before. In a short time Mrs. Belmont caused the arrest of Dr. Jackola. He was arraigned in police court on a disorderly charge, but was released after being warned that he must not further annoy Mrs. Belmont.

Following this episode the doctor returned to his practice at Duluth. But it was noticed that he was not in a normal state of mind. He no longer mingled with his friends or at the clubs of which he was a member. He withdrew into a shell, as it were, dined at restaurants and was inclined to be mororose and uncommunicative.

Drops From Sight.

The last authentic information of his whereabouts came from a nurse who knew him well. That was the morning of June 23. She saw him walking in the eastern part of the city, but did not converse with him. From that moment he dropped completely from sight and his disappearance had been an unsolved mystery up to yesterday afternoon. Various stories were told. One was that he was running as a wild man in the woods, sometimes back of Lester park and sometimes back of New Duluth. Others claimed that he was in Finland. Some claimed that he was at different summer resorts. A local commission man claimed that he had seen the doctor a few days after his disappearance on board a train with two richly dressed women who were strangers to him. Since he was listed with the missing, a steady succession of stories has been told of him.

Dr. Jackola was born at Terymawa, Finland, in 1870. When 11 years old he was obliged to leave school and go to work. A few years later he came to this country, going to the Pacific coast. There he worked days and studied nights until he obtained a night position which enabled him to attend a day school. He graduated from the college at Astoria, Or., in 1897 and obtained a position as instructor in the high school at Everett, Wash. In 1899 he was appointed superintendent of schools, but after a year he went to the Rush Medical college, from which he graduated in 1904.

DR. JOHN JACKOLA.

Had Large Practice.

He settled in Houghton, Mich., where he built up a good practice. From there he came to Duluth, and was eminently successful. Dr. Jackola was recognized as one of the foremost physicians at the Head of the Lakes and had a very large practice. He left here about two years ago to take advanced courses in Germany under the leading specialists and it was on his return that he became involved with Mrs. Belmont, whom he met through his interest in the suffrage movement. He was looked upon here as a very brilliant but erratic man.

While in the city he attracted much attention as a writer, his articles being in demand by magazines and newspapers. He was a member of local clubs and of five medical societies.

The finding of the body of Dr. Jackola will straighten out the tangle relative to his estate, making it possible to settle it without the difficulties which arose before it was known that he was dead.

He has a brother at Ironwood, Mich., the only relative in this country. His mother, two sisters and a brother reside in the northern part of Finland.

LARGEST FUNERAL HELD IN ATHENS

Friends and Neighbors Attend Last Rites for O. D. Kinney.

The Athens, Pa., Evening News of Friday last, gives the following description of the funeral of Hon. O. D. Kinney, formerly of Duluth:

"Athens was grief-stricken today and everywhere was seen men, women and children leaving their avocations and standing with bowed heads as if to console their aching hearts from the burdens that overcame them. The funeral of Hon. Orrin D. Kinney took place at 1 o'clock and long before the hour arrived his palatial home and grounds were filled with the people from this valley and the surrounding villages of Sheshequin, Towanda, Athens and Waverly and other places, some of them coming from Elmira and Canton.

"As a benefactor Mr. Kinney was a grand exponent and he was so modest and quiet about it that he never sought publicity, but his benefactions were treasured in grateful hearts that stand out in noble outlines on his career. While he was struggling in the last hour he felt that life was only brilliant from the good he had done for his fellow man and almost his last words were, "How fortunate that this did not occur while I was on the sea," as indicating that he was happy in being surrounded by the loved friends and associates when his life was slowly going out. He then gave directions that his funeral should be simple, without any glitter of worldly show. He was a member of the Masons and the Grand Army and would have been entitled to a military burial. But such was not his taste and those having charge of the ceremonies have tried to follow out his wishes. All of these societies were present in their individual capacity and they each came with modest floral offerings to lay as a tribute on his casket. His casket rested on the table in his private office and the flowers were profuse, giving incense to the fragrance of his memory. Never before have we witnessed such a wealth of beauty and as we gazed upon his face we felt that it was but emblematic of his benevolent character that was blossoming as a fruition of his earthly longings.

"Rev. W. H. Sawtelle of Ulster conducted the services and his simple words were energized by the beatings of every heart in his presence. While the speaker rehearsed the grand benovolent deeds every one present had a responsive echo of remembrance that gave emphasis to the recital. Around him were members of the Mystic Shrine, comrades of heroic army service and learned men of the legal profession, all there to do the deceased a tribute. At the close of the service Mr. Robert Fish of Waverly sang "I'm a Pilgrim" and Horace H. Kinney filled in the refrain of the song with some impressive harmonies on the piano. The casket was then placed on the hearse and taken to Sheshequin and as the long train of vehicles passed through the town throngs stood lining the streets in homage of one who will always be remembered for the good he has done.

"The following were the pall bearers: Hon. J. K. Newell, Dr. T. B. Johnson, Benjamin T. Hale, G. M. Clark, Rodney A. Mercur and Edward Carter, Jr., of Towanda and George H. Stimson and C. H. Satterlee of Athens."

PRIMARIES APPROACHING

Citizens Invited to Air Neighborhood Improvement Problems.

With the approach of the primaries, Dec. 19, at which candidates for aldermen and the mayoralty will be selected, interest throughout the city is beginning to awaken in local issues with which the men elected will have to deal.

Every ward and neighborhood has interests and problems peculiarly its own.

Some of the more alert citizens are beginning to question the respective condidates on matters pertaining to the city's welfare, and more particularly to that of their separate wards. They want to know where they stand, and many of them have some good suggestions to make to them.

The Herald believes that these suggestions might be of much value to the other wards if they can be communicated through a common medium. For this purpose it invites those who know of improvements which ought to be made in their parts of the city to send them to The Herald as suggestions to the aldermen who are to be chosen. Those of merit will be published under a general heading. It will be in the nature of a public clearing house for ideas.

It may be that there is some plot of ground in the neighborhood which is highly desirable as a site for a playground where it is badly needed. Perchance the local authorities do not know of it, or the public generally. Or a bridge may need to be fixed up, or lights installed, or a street or avenue graded or repaired, or a storm or sanitary sewer built, or some little addition or elimination which will add greatly to the attractiveness of a park, or a sidewalk built, or one of a dozen other things which are necessary. Publicity for any or all of such needs can only be beneficial and tend towards an earlier accomplishment.

Perhaps some of the present aldermen are to be candidates for re-election. If their attention is called to such needs it is likely that they will take cognizance of them, whereas they might otherwise overlook them. Or it may be that they have committed some sins of omission rather than commission, and it might be well to ask them about it through The Herald's public clearing house for municipal suggestions. If information is wanted, The Herald will refer any signed letter to the proper official for a reply.

Again, there might be some most acceptable candidates who are good aldermanic timber now hiding their lights under a basket. The mentioning of their names and the reasons therefor might be the means of putting them into the council, the legislative body of the city. The position is highly important, and men or too high standing in the community cannot be selected to fill the post. Personalities and politics must be avoided.

SAYS BEET SUGAR WAR IS BUT BEGUN

C. C. Hamlin Makes Statement on Arbuckle's Declaration.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Oct. 16.—That the statement of John Arbuckle, New York coffee magnate, that he will go before congress next winter to fight for free sugar is the beginning of the first genuine battle between the beet sugar manufacturers and the cane sugar refiners, is the declaration of Clarence C. Hamlin, chairman of the executive committee of the United States beet sugar industry, in a statement made here.

Referring to Mr. Arbuckle, Mr. Spreckels and other sugar refining magnates, Mr. Hamlin says:

"The fact of the matter is that beet sugar is the only competitor which these gentlemen have, as from it they can exact no toll and every pound of beet sugar produced means one pound less for them to refine. Their purpose in seeking its destruction is therefore clear."

Mr. Hamlin stated that while the organization of the sugar market this year was bad from the consumer's point of view, it would have been "infinitely worse but for the 500,000 tons of beet sugar America produces."

Socialist Congressman Hopeful.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Victor Berger of Milwaukee, the lone Socialist in congress, believes that his party has a good chance to eventually carry the Third congressional district of North Dakota. In an interview given out here he declares that the prospects are hopeful for success within a few years. He bases his prophecy on conditions found by him on his tour through that district, and from which he had just returned, spending Sunday in Grand Forks.

FORMER DULUTHIAN EXPIRES IN CROOKSTON.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 16.—Carl Anderson fell dead in the Germania hotel as the result of heart failure Friday night. At 6:30 Anderson left his work at Viau's blacksmith shop, apparently in the best of health.

Anderson had only been in Crookston a short time, having come from Duluth just six weeks ago, and since that time he had been working at Viau's blacksmith shop. A brother in Duluth was notified. Anderson was about 50 years of age.

Flax Yield Near Roseau.

Roseau, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A big flax yield has been thrashed out by Erick Sjoberg near here. He got an average of twenty-two bushels to the acre off of new breaking on formerly willow brush land and muskeg. The first strip that had been seeded went over thirty bushels to the acre, but this was pastured land and somewhat richer than the rest.

DOG FIGHTS INFURIATED BULL, SAVING MASTER.

Malden Rock, Wis., Oct. 16.—At bay over the senseless body of its master, a dog belonging to G. T. Bunce, a farmer, fought off the attacks of an infuriated bull for over two hours when his barking and the bellows of the bull attracted the attention of neighbors who rescued Bunce. The farmer attempted to avoid the bull's rush by dodging into the barn, but fell and was tossed by the animal. Then the faithful dog came to the rescue.

First Catch Your Cold

Yes—catch it; catch up with it: overtake it. That's the way to prevent it's doing lasting damage—overtake it. Don't let the "slight cold" grow into the chronic discharge which befouls your breath, interferes with your digestion, and paves the way for all future ills—the widespread disease called Catarrh.

A wonderful preparation—Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly—is on the market which is invaluable in any one of the various stages between a "sniffle" and Chronic Catarrh. It arrests the trouble in the first place by acting immediately upon the germs that infest the mucous membrane. These germs, let alone, grow and multiply until they are a constant menace to health and life. They dig deep into the sensitive lining of the nose, mouth, ears and throat and pave the way for deafness and all throat afflictions. The simplest cold, neglected, may mean all this.

Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly, a soft, healing balm, has, nevertheless, powerful antiseptic properties which destroy the germ life and restore the tissues to healthy action.

Your physician will tell you that in nine cases out of ten, where used promptly, Kondon's Jelly, will render the doctor's services unnecessary.

In most cases of Hay-fever, Asthma, diseases of the throat and all catarrhal troubles, the relief is instantaneous and permanent. Procure a tube of Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly at your druggists today, 25 and 50 cents. Begin your cure at once. Send your name on a postal and a sample will be sent free. KID BANDIT FLASHES GUN

Goes to Police Station Later for Carrying Concealed Weapons.

"Gimme a lunch, and gimme it quick, or I'll chuck yuh ful o' lead," said Leo Gorman, 16 years old, to the man running the lunch wagon at Second avenue west and First street yesterday.

Suiting action to his threat Gorman is said to have drown a revolver from his pocket and loaded it in front of the wagon. Then it appears that he replaced it in a hip pocket.

When the boy had finished eating his lunch Patrolman Montgomery happened along. Gorman reached into his pocket to get the money with which to pay for the lunch and in doing so he raised his coat so as to expose the gun. The policeman saw it and marched him to headquarters after he had heard the story of the lunch wagon man. Leo was booked for carrying concealed weapons. But as he claims to be but 16 years of age, his case will probably come before the juvenile court.

The police say that Leo is a "tough kid." They state that he has been in trouble before and that he is now out on parole. If such is the case it is probable that he will be sent back to the reformatory.

SURE STATE WILL WIN RATE APPEAL

Elmquist Says the Railway Commissioners All Agreed.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Elmquist and Judge Ira Mills of the railroad and warehouse commission are back from Washington. According to Mr. Elmquist, all the railroad commissioners who attended the national convention of commissioners in Washington are of the opinion that Minnesota must and will win the rate cases which come up before the United States supreme court for argument Jan. 8.

"There was not a dissenting vote," Mr. Elmquist said. "Not a commissioner from any state in the Union, and there were about seventy-five present, but believes the supreme court will upset the Sanborn decision, and especially his holdings on the question of railroad valuations.

FALSE ARREST DRIVES ANTON ZNIDARSIC INSANE

Anton Znidarsic, who was one of the seven men who were placed under arrest some weeks ago in connection with the murder of William Brown at Net Lake, will be examined in probate court this afternoon as to his sanity.

The affair is said to have so preyed upon his mind that it has at last given away under the strain.

It is said that he runs when strangers approach him and that he is in constant fear of being rearrested in connection with the crime.

In the information filed in the local probate court the reason for his state of mind at the present time is given as false imprisonment.

With the seven men originally arrested in connection with the crime, Znidarsic, who is more commonly known by his associates as "Tony," spent but a short time in jail. For lack of evidence and newly discovered evidence which led officials to believe the seven originally arrested men had nothing to do with the crime, he was allowed his freedom.

Later Tom Fisher was arrested and he is said to have confessed to both Sheriff Meiming and County Attorney John H. Norton.

Znidarsic is 53 years old. He is said to have brooded over his arrest and when arrested he is said to have repeated constantly to himself and others "I did not do it."

A board of physicians will examine the man this afternoon. On all subjects he is said to be rational, but when talking of the murder he is said to become wild-eyed with fright.

WEST END

WILL WORK FOR PAVING FUND

West Enders Want Amendment Giving More "Time" on Assessments.

A joint movement will be begun by all the clubs of the West end for the creating of a permanent fund for paving and the improving of thoroughfares in every section of the city, and thus permit the cost of paving to be distributed over several years.

Several mass meetings will be held and after it has been thoroughly discussed, the charter commission will be asked to draw up an ordinance covering the desired change and it will then be put up to the voters of the city at an election.

County Commissioner Joseph Cummings and a number of prominent West end residents have had the matter under consideration for several months, and will take it up at the meeting of the various clubs to be held in the near future.

Some Plan Needed.

"The present condition of the unpaved streets is deplorable," said Mr. Cummings yesterday. "A plan must be worked out that will give the property owners time to pay for improvements. The city has now passed the stage of the boom period, and all properties have now a good solid value. The present charter provision makes property owners hesitate before parting with their money without seeing what they are going to get for it and they cannot very well be blamed."

By changing the present plan to one whereby the streets could be improved from a permanent fund, the property owners would have the opportunity of paying for the work in annual installments, and there would be less opposition when an improvement is suggested.

Under the present law it is impossible to improve a street without the property owners first raising cash equivalent to 80 per cent of the cost of the improvement. The money is usually in the hands of the city for several months before the work is started. This condition has been a detriment to the improvement of many streets as many of the citizens are not financially able to raise the money on immediate demand without first mortgaging their properties.

SEVENTH WARD IS TOO LARGE

Plan to Redistrict West End Suggested By Business Men.

West end business men are now advocating the redistricting of the Sixth and Seventh wards so that the voters will be more evenly divided.

The Seventh ward, they say, now has nearly twice as many voters as the Sixth, and it is proposed to add the first precinct of the former to the latter.

"By placing the dividing line between the Sixth and Seventh wards at Twenty-fourth or Twenty-fifth avenues the voting strength of the two wards would be about equalized," said Peter Olson, former alderman of the Sixth ward yesterday. "This would place the entire business section in the one ward and would please the majority of the merchants. The Seventh is now far too large."

The fourth and fifth precincts of the Sixth ward which at one time was one of the most populous sections of the city and cast nearly 500 votes, have dwindled down in the past year to less than 100 votes. Those precincts included Rice's Point which has since been occupied by railroad yards, docks and factories, thus reducing the vote in that section. Most of the voters have moved to the western end of the city considerably reducing the vote of the Sixth ward.

SODALITY TEAM IS WORKING HARD.

The Sodality team of St. Clement's church, Twenty-first avenue west and Third street, is gradually rounding into shape preparatory to the opening of the city indoor baseball league. The new suits arrived last week and the team has been practicing faithfully ever since under the management of Manager Padden. They will play their first game with one of the West end teams tomorrow evening. The team is practically the same as it was last year.

Ben Owens is catching, the pitching will be done by "Chubbie" Wade and "Dan" England; Ahern and Vondreshek at short are both holding their positions well; Miller at the first base, Kremer at second, and Ahern at third complete the infield; and the outfield consists of Schlitz, McMahon and Campbell.

TEMPERANCE MASS MEETING

A temperance mass meeting was held yesterday afternoon at the Swedish temple, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street. This is the first of a series planned for this fall and winter to be given under the auspices of the West end branch of the W. C. T. U. All the addresses were on the temperance question and several interesting talks were made.

Mrs. Edward Gustafson, president of the branch, presided at the meeting and the following responded with short talks:

Rev. J. H. Nervig, Zion Norwegian Lutheran church; Rev. L. W. Lindor, Bethel Baptist church of the East end, and Rev. Swaney Nelson, First Baptist church. Mrs. G. Nylander rendered a musical selection.

Entertains Friends.

Miss Florence Ryan, 2401 West Fifth street, entertained at her home Friday evening for a number of her friends. Sweet peas and nasturtiums were used in decorating. The prizes were won by Miss Elizabeth Devaney and George Beers. Those present were: the Misses Anna McDermott, Rose Worm, Gladys Dolsey, Elizabeth Devaney, Loretta Wright, Vera Lonbeg, Genevieve Alldridge, Agnes Cruikshank, Lily Monaghan, and Messrs. Ambrose Nolan, Leslie Granger, Al Palm, Clarence Heglund, Howard Kelly, Elmer Grotte, Edward Devaney, George Beers and William Quinn.

Rev. M. S. Rice Will Speak.

Rev. M. S. Rice of the First M. E. church, will speak this evening at the opening of the annual Swedish Mission bazar to be held this week at the church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. Congressman I. L. Lenroot will speak tomorrow evening, the event being called Swedish Day. The following program has been arranged for the week including the speakers for each evening.

Monday, Oct. 16, "American Day," Rev. M. S. Rice will speak on "Abraham Lincoln;" Tuesday, Oct. 17, "Swedish Day," Hon. I. L. Lenroot will speak on "Our Scandinavian Citizenship;" Wednesday, Oct. 18, "Young Men's Day," Rev. P. Wellander will speak on "Manly Men;" Thursday, Oct. 19, "Young Women's Day," Mrs. John J. Daniels will speak on "Winsome Christian Womanhood;" Friday, Oct. 20, Rev. J. H. Stenberg will speak on "The Developing Power of Christianity;" Saturday, "The Ladies' Aid Society Day," Mrs. Henry Nelson will speak on "A Mother's Hope."

EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN BEGINS.

The Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, will begin its evangelistic campaign this evening. The campaign will last the entire week. Rev. M. E. Fish, pastor of the church, will be assisted by Rev. W. E. Rinsinger of Waterville, Minn., who is the state Baptist Sunday school missionary and very well known in Duluth as a Sunday school expert. He is one of the most able speakers in the state both to children and adults.

The preliminaries to the regular church meetings which begin Thursday evening at the church, are a number of cottage prayer meetings that start this evening. The first two will be held this evening at 7:30 p. m. at the home of L. Gunther, 2905 West Third street, and Mrs. E. Horton, 322 Twenty-third avenue west. The regular church meetings will be held each evening at 7:30 p. m. beginning Thursday.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew of St. Peter's Episcopal church will hold a short business session in the guild roof this evening.

Charles Simonson, 2102 West Superior street, is visiting relatives at Mason, Wis.

Want Pink Cheeks-Red Lips?

Some unfortunate men and women are prone to wonder why some of their friends are blessed with an abundance of color—pink cheeks and red lips—while theirs are always colorless. The reason for this last named condition is—there is not enough red blood corpuscles in the blood—under a microscope the blood is thin and watery. The flesh is flabby, too. Well known physicians assert that the regular administration for several months, of three-grain hpyo-nuclane tablets will greatly improve the color, add to the weight, make the cheeks pink and the lips red, and in general be very beneficial. For self-administration, obtain from any of the best apothecary shops.

FEDERAL AID IS NECESSARY

Duluth-St. Vincent Road May Not Materialize Without Help From Government.

Unless the state highway commission gets government assistance it will be unable to built the proposed road from Duluth to Moorhead and St. Vincent. It goes through Indian territory in two places and the Minnesota forest preserve in another, and in two of them the construction of bridges is necessary.

Under the law the state pays half the cost of certain trunk lines and the county through which runs puts up the other half, making assessments against the property benefited. But the Indian lands or the state land cannot be taxed. The commission has taken the matter up with Congressman Miller and he has promised to take the matter up with the Indian commissioner and the forestry board.

CANDIDATES SELECTED

John Johnson Is Choice of Socialists for Office of Mayor.

At the city convention of local Socialists held yesterday at their hall, 406 East Superior street, John A. Johnson was the unanimous choice for mayor.

The convention adopted a platform for the campaign, and selected John A. Keyes as candidate for the office of municipal judge, and decided upon candidates for aldermen from several of the city wards.

John A. Johnson, the candidate selected for the office of mayor, is a traveling salesman. He ran for the office of comptroller a year ago.

A. E. Scofield, a marine engineer, will be a candidate for alderman in the Second; E. Hibbard, an electrician, in the Third; R. Ronge, an artist, who ran for mayor on the ticket two years ago, the Sixth; Ed. Blackwood, a plumber, the Seventh; and P. G. Phillips, the Eighth.

The resolutions and platform:

"The Public Ownership (Socialist) party, in convention assembled, reaffirms its allegiance to the cause of international Socialism, and in presenting to the citizenship of Duluth its municipal program for the support of the voters of Duluth, desire especially to point out that any measure of reform, no matter how sound, reasonable and logical it may appear, cannot eliminate the 'struggle for bread' so long as the 'wage system' is legally permitted to remain in 'status quo.'

"We hold that private ownership of land and every social means of production is the basic cause for all struggles between 'labor and capital,' is the cause for the existence of the 'unemployed problem' and for the perpetual occurrence and recurrence of 'panics.'

Labor Produces Wealth.

"We hold that labor produces all wealth. That capital is but one form of wealth and consequently the product of human labor.

"Labor, the creator of all wealth, has a moral right, and should be vested with the legal right, to the ownership of every utility that is collectively operated for the production of things that society collectively creates a demand for and becomes in its nature a social necessity.

"The 'class struggle' is a fact that perpetually stares human society in the face, and will continue to exist until every vestige of capitalism becomes extinct—harmony between capital and labor will be possible only when labor becomes the owner of capital; until that day comes, strikes, lockouts, scabbing and every other concommitant evil resultant from this class conflict will remain the rule and not the exception.

"In asking your support for our candidates we do so with the distinct understanding that every vote cast for our nominees represents the viewpoint of an intelligent man, who fully realizes that this vote has a two-fold meaning—first, a protest against capitalism; second, a vote for socialism.

We make no appeal for personal votes, although we are ever ready to pit the personality of our candidates against the personality of the candidates of all capitalistic parties. Our fight, however, is a fight for a principle, for the abolition of class rule and the substitution of capitalism by the co-operative commonwealth.

Lodging House.

"We advocate and stand pledged to establish a municipal lodging house for the shelter of the unfortunate homeless of this city, and to operate in conjunction therewith a municipal employment bureau.

"We advocate and stand pledged to establish a municipal hospital connected to which there shall be a free staff of physicians and nurses, whose duty it shall be to look after the sanitary welfare of all those whose economic conditions in life make it impossible for them to pay for such service otherwise, and connected with this hospital there shall also be free ambulance service.

"We advocate and stand pledged to have the public schools of this city opened during evenings for the discussion of all public questions by the citizenship, and also to arrange for a course of lectures, to be held from time to time for the education of the people, on questions of science, art, music, literature, economics, etc.

"We advocate the abolition of private contract labor on municipal work, and stand pledged to have all such work done directly by the municipality, and that the wage paid for all municipal work shall be the standard union scale—without rake-offs' to hangers on, as is in vogue to a great extent today.

Municipal Ice and Coal.

"We advocate and stand pledged to establish a municipal ice, coal and wood dock yard, for the sale at cost, adding only nominal cost of operation, and thereby enable the people of this city to get coal, wood and ice, without fear or suspicion that they are being robbed both in price and in weight.

"We advocate the establishment of free public baths in various sections of the city most convenient and accessible, for the benefit of the workers and their children whose limited means do not enable them to avail themselves of such necessary sanitary features otherwise.

"We advocate and stand pledged to establish more public parks, and also improve those now in existence and propose as an economical method in going about such improvement, the use of unemployed laborers who are forced to apply for lodging to the municipality. We do not believe that a self-respecting person seeks charity and, therefore, propose to furnish work at all times when possible to all those who are compelled by their necessities to apply for it."

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Forbes Stock company in "The Regeneration."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

"SPOOKS" AT THE LYCEUM

Dr. Eddy, Spirit Medium, Mystifies and Amuses Large Audience.

Dr. Eddy, spirit medium, entertained an audience which filled the Lyceum theater last night, with a most interesting seance.

His performance not only mystified the spectators but afforded considerable amusement as well. His exhibition was of a high class order and attracted the closest attention.

With his body, legs and arms tied and sealed to a chair, and with the hands of William Burns, one of the committee from the audience on his knees, he caused the transfer of William Burns' coat from his body to his own. Mr. Burns stated that he did not feel the slightest movement and that he did not know his coat was gone until he stepped from the cabinet. The front of the coat and the sleeves were then sewed and the coat was tossed over the top of the cabinet in a few seconds' time, with the sewing intact.

Another time, tightly lashed to a post, he transfered the watch of I. Grettum from the latter's pocket to his own and Mr. Grettum said that he did not know of it until told by the medium. He had hold of Dr. Eddy's hands and knees. He also produced two realistic "spooks," gave a slate reading and performed other 'stunts' given by mediums.

As a table mover Dr. Eddy is in a class by himself. The table which he and the committee moved around by resting their hands upon it was under such spiritual stress of power that it kept on going up in the air with one of the committeemen seated on it.

In fact it was a thoroughly mystified audience that left the theater last evening.

"RUBE" ACT IS HIT OF SHOW

"Country Fiddler and Village Maid" Feature All Comedy Bill.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McGreevy "came back" in more ways than one at the Orpheum last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. McGreavy were in Duluth last year on Orpheum time and proved a decided comedy hit. They were just as much of a hit last evening, and were probably the most popular feature on a first class, all comedy bill.

To class the act of the McGreevys as a "rube" act but poorly describes it. They call it "The Village Fiddler and the Country Maid." The eccentric old fiddler and the fat, placid country girl are seated outside a farm house, and simply gossip pleasantly for about fifteen minutes. The McGreevys don't stand up and shout their jokes at each other in fear lest the audience miss the point of one. They never get out of the easy conversational tone, but their material is good, and there is a laugh in almost every line of it. They end with some fiddling by the old man, while the girl plays a battered horn. The act took the house by storm last evening, and the upper gallery threatened the plaster with stamping when ordinary applause bring another encore.

Johnny and Emma Ray are the headliners this week. They have an amusing comedy sketch called "The Band Master,' in which Mr. Ray has the part of an Irish leader of a Hungarian band, and Mrs. Ray appears as the wife of a newly made millionaire who is trying to break into society by the way of musicales and receptions at which musical stars are paid to appear. Ray is indescribably funny, in a very broad way. There is nothing very subtle about the act. It is a slam bang form of comedy, but it seemed to catch last night's audience, and it proved one long laugh.

Grace Cameron is a clever young woman with a much better voice than the average vaudeville singer. She has six songs, with a different costume for each. "Help, Help, Help" and "Heaven Will Protect a Working Girl" were her most popular numbers. She has quite a decided personality and the ability to "put a song over," qualities which stamp her as one of the best "character song" singer the Orpheum has yet presented.

Paulinetti and Piquo appear down at the bottom of the bill, opening the show, but they have one of the most amusing acts on the program. They present a rather odd tumbling and acrobatic act for the first part of their turn, and the latter half of it consists of a burlesque strong man hand balancing act that tickles the risibilities. The act probably drew as much laughter and applause as any number on the bill outside of the McGreevys.

Gordon and Marx call themselves "The Real Germans." They have an English mutilating German comedy act that scores a big comedy hit. The finish of the act, in which the little short German gets the contents of the pitcher of beer carried by his taller companion, caught the fancy of the audience. "The Real Germans" got their full share of laughter and applause yesterday.

Gene Marcus and Fred Gartelle have a roller skating act that is out of the ordinary, and that provides a very good measure of comedy. It shows the attempts of a man and his colored servant to master the art of roller skating. Later they seem to acquire the "knack" very suddenly, after some bone breaking falls, and proceed to give a clever clog dance on the rollers.

The closing act on the bill, and the only act that is not meant solely for laughing purposes, is "Rousby's Scenic Review." This is an elaborate electrical and scenic spectacle, showing scenes in Greater London by night. It is a most interesting and entertaining novelty, and the effects obtained are remarkable. It proved a very effective climax to such an out and out comedy bill.

The pictures this week show some exciting motor boat races, and some thrilling automobile races. The bill will continue all week with a daily matinee.

CLASSY BILL AT THE EMPRESS

Musical Playlet Features Splendid Program at Newly Remodeled Theater.

With Nat Fields & Co. featuring a clever musical comedy act called "The Girl Behind the Counter," the new bill at the Empress theater which opened yesterday with three performances, is about as classy an offering in the vaudeville line as has been presented to Duluthians in some time.

"The Girl Behind the Counter" is perhaps the biggest offering of the kind ever attempted by the Sullivan-Considine people. About a dozen clever performers are required to put the piece across which they do, for yesterday's audiences insisted on many of the catchy numbers being repeated.

There are many pretty girls, clever men, witty lines, catchy music and the whole act is set off to good advantage by the aid of a special setting. The people are well costumed, too, and this adds greatly to the enjoyment of the act.

The musical playlet abounds in clever situations all of which go to make fun. Intermingled are lines that tickle and songs that delight the ear. Some of the most catchy are: "Won't You Say?" "The Band Box Girl' and "Bless Your Loving Little Heart." Miss Ida Von Tine as Ninette Valois of the millinery department scored a hit as the leader of the pony ballet and needless to say Nat Fields was popular.

The bill is opened this week by Anna Buckley and her wonderful dogs. The act is called "A Day in Dogville." This number is especially enjoyable for the children but there is at the same time plenty in it to delight an audience of older people. The dogs go through wonderful tricks and at times show remarkable intelligence.

"His Honor, the Mayor," otherwise a clever entertainer known in the vaudeville world as Harry Thomson, has a monologue that yesterday "got over" and made the three very large audiences that packed the theater call for several encores. Harry had the house rocking with laughter. He is a riot of fun and his stories kept the entire audience in an uproar.

Guy Rawson and Frances Clare have a refreshing little sketch called "Yesterday." The playlet is along more serious lines. It fits into the present bill most pleasantly for a long bill of nothing but comedy would cease to be entertaining. The playlet is interesting and entertaining throughout.

Newell and Niblo play saxophones. Their musical numbers were greatly enjoyed. They play mostly classical selections but the audiences yesterday applauded them as much as though they were of the more popular variety, which is unusual with a vaudeville audience.

Even the pictures this week seem to be more interesting than usual.

There will be three performances of the present bill daily, one each afternoon and two each evening during the remainder of the week.

"Regeneration."

The Gus A. Forbes Stock company will present "Regeneration" at the Lyceum this evening, the first time that the play has been presented in Duluth. The play is written from the book, "My Mamie Rose." When it is considered that the book was written by a man who could neither read nor write until after the time he was 30 years old, the wonder of it is more apparent. The story of "My Mamie Rose" is told with simple directness and sincerity that makes it rank in its way with the French autobiographies which have attracted so much attention recently.

"Regeneration" tells the story of a man of the slums who has lived all of his life on the New York Bowery. He is a typical denizen of the district, coarse, brutal, low in thought and act. Into his life comes the young teacher who in truth achieves a regeneration. The play presents vividly the scenes of life on the Bowery and it is a compelling and absorbing story.

The Forbes company promises an adequate production.

LEAVES WITH POTATOES FOR NEW YORK SHOW.

A. B. Hostetter is off to New York's land show with ten bushels of St. Louis county prize potatoes.

The spuds will be a part of the exhibits of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads. Part of the tubers will enter the competition for an individual prize.

The entries come from the Jean Duluth farm, where the record-breaking yield of 526 bushels to the acre is reported, and from farms near Alborn and Floodwood. Some of the potatoes are also grown at the county poor farm.

Mr. Hostetter, in charge, is superintendent of the agricultural department of the Duluth Commercial club.

IRRIGATION CONGRESS WILL MEET DEC. 5 TO 9.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—A call for the nineteenth annual national irrigation congress to be held here from Dec. 5 to 9 has been sent out. Delegates from each state, city and town in the United States have been invited to be present. The colleges, commercial bodies and engineering societies have been invited also to send representatives.

A session of the congress is to be set apart as governors' day and invitation have been sent to each governor and his staff. Several foreign representatives also are expected.

THE STEARNS-KNIGHT DEMONSTRATOR IS HERE

THE car and motor that has aroused more enthusiasm and received more favorable comment than anything previous in motor car history. Although new to America, this engine has been in use abroad for a number of years.

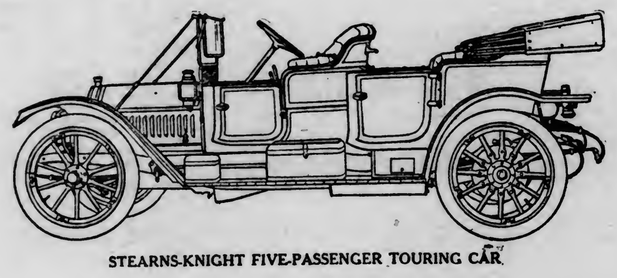

Power far greater than is possible in other engines of equal size is produced. All complications are done away with. The feel of the engine—the touch—the response—all furnish a new sensation to the motorist.

In this motor, action is not dependent on ordinary valves such as used in all other four-cylinder American cars. Cam shafts, springs, stems, timing gears and the attendant complications, trouble, noise and loss of power are eliminated. Instead, in each cylinder are two thin cylindrical shells of iron, called "sleeves," one inside the other, sliding smoothly up and down in a film of oil. These sleeves have ports in the sides and as they pass each other produce positive valve openings impossible to secure in any other way.

And in addition to a most perfect power plant and car, the Stearns-Knight is the most completely equipped car in America. This equipment includes:

We invite you to call at our salesrooms and ride in this car. A phone call makes an appointment for a demonstration.

RENATIONALIZE JEWISH RACE

Zionist Society Organized Here as Part of Wide-spread Movement.

At a gathering of Duluth Jews at the local synagogue, Third avenue east and Third street, yesterday afternoon, a provisional Zionist society was organized to assist in the movement that is now going on all over the world for the restoration of Palestine to the Hebrews and the renationalization of the race.

Rabbi I. Teplitz and A. Schulman of Chicago were the leading speakers. For some time prominent local Jews have been working among the people of their race to arouse enthusiasm for this project.

Another meeting will be held next Sunday evening, for the purpose of making the society permanent.

IRON ORE IN BRAINERD.

Rich Deposit Reported Struck in City Limits.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Duluth Diamond Drill company, operating for the Martin Exploration company, which has under lease mineral lands of Judge G. W. Holland, has drilled six holes on forty acres in the south end of the city and has uncovered big ore deposits. The iron ore runs from a merchantable grade to as high as 62 per cent in value. News of the strike has created excitement. Three other drills are working on this vein and good results are expected in other places on the south side. The ore was struck at about 150 feet depth and averages, in the holes sunk, over 100 feet in depth. The mine, when established, will be within a mile in a southeasterly direction from the postoffice.

RALLY DAY OBSERVED BY CLOQUET CHURCH.

Cloquet, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rally day was observed yesterday at the Methodist Sunday school with a program in the morning which was attended by a large crowd. The following program was rendered: Song, Sunday school; prayer, Rev. C. H. Blake; song, Mrs. Mitchell's and Miss Jolliffe's classes; recitation, "The Call of the Olden Knight," David Jolliffe; recitation, "Call of the Church," Lizzie Smith; song, Mrs. A. J. Taylor's class; recitation, "Be Strong," Blanche Peters; song, Mrs. Blinn's class; recitation, "Call of the Children," Ardath Preston, Paul Northrup, Fred Smith, Delia Lundell, paper, "The Boy and the Sunday School," George White; vocal solo, C. E. Blume; recitation, "The Call of the World," O. Skaggerberg; song, Sunday school; remarks, H. W. Mixsell; song, Mrs. Oleson's class; remarks, Albert Cox; song, Sunday school; benediction, Rev. C. H. Blake.

Geese Flying North.

Hillsboro, N. D., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peculiar flights are being made by geese according to local reports, for the birds which a month ago were flying south, are again going north. The northward flights of the migratory birds has resulted, it is declared, from the warm weather that has prevailed over this territory.

CLOQUET NIGHT SCHOOL PLANS ARE PERFECTED.

Cloquet, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Superintendent of Schools Peter Olesen, with the assistance of several of the high school faculty, will conduct a night school, to begin about Nov. 1. Tuesday and Thursday evenings will be given, and the lessons will cover twelve weeks, the tuition being placed low enough to barely cover expenses. The school is entirely independent of the board of education, and the expenses will be for heat, light, janitor services, teachers and books.

SUPPLIES ARRIVED FREE.

Relief Donations for Flood Sufferers Transported Gratis.

If anyone wants to help the flood sufferers at Black River Falls, Wis., the American Express company will carry supplies free of charge, according to George F. Kennedy, general agent of the company in this city.

Mr. Kennedy yesterday received instructions from the central office to accept any supplies addressed to one of the legitimate relief associations in charge of the distressed districts and to transport them on passenger train schedule, free of charge.

This is in accordance with the company's policy for several years.

Former Teacher Suicide.

Lake Forest, Ill., Oct. 16.—The body of a young woman found on the shore of Lake Michigan, Saturday, has been partly identified as that of Miss Elsie Baldwin, a former high school teacher of Chicago. A coroner's jury returned a verdict that she committed suicide by drowning. Miss Baldwin had been missing for four weeks.

AN OLD REMEDY FOR BLOOD POISON

For more than forty years S. S. S. has been curing Contagious Blood Poison in all its forms and stages, and is today, as it has always been, the safest as well as most reliable remedy for this disease. One reason why S. S. S. is so successful in curing Blood Poison is that it strengthens and builds up the stomach and digestive members while eradicating the poison from the blood. The greatest of all reasons however is because this medicine possesses just the proper ingredients, blended and compounded in such scientific proportion, as to make it the most perfect blood purifier ever placed upon the market. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, and in addition to its value as a remedy, is the one blood medicine which may be used without any bad effect, no matter how delicate the system. Not a particle of strong mineral or other harmful drug enters into its composition, and you can take it assured that it will cure you and at the same time build up your system. S. S. S. cures permanently and perfectly, removing every symptom of the trouble by nature's true way—removing the inward cause. Get S. S. S. at your drug store and then write for our Home Treatment book which is free and of great assistance to every sufferer of this disease.

A PENALTY FOR LIVING IN MINNESOTA.

Of course everybody knows, more or less vaguely, that the railroads increased the passenger rates July 1. Everybody who travels knows it by experience, and that's an inpressive way to learn of such a thing. Those who haven't traveled since July 1 know it also, but it hasn't come home to them with the same force.

And of course everybody knows that while the passenger rate in Minnesota is now 3 cents a mile, it is still 2½ cents a mile in North Dakota and 2 cents a mile in Wisconsin and Iowa.

Why it should be 3 cents a mile in Minnesota and less than that in every surrounding state is something that the state administration is going a long way to account for by its inaction in the face of this rank discrimination, and in the face of the fact that in a state which has been picked out for this demonstration of railroad power the taxes paid by railroads are much lower than that paid by any other class of property.

There are some who aren't bothered by the advance to 3 cents a mile. They are those who are able to buy mileage books, and they still travel at 2 cents a mile, as everybody did prior to July 1. This class being more influential than the common run of folks, the railroads have seen to it that they are deprived of any reason for dissatisfaction. What the ordinary single-tripper thinks apparently doesn't bother the railroads at all. He is inconspicuous and uninfluential—at least the railroads seem to think so, though his vote counts just as much as that of the man who can afford to buy mileage books.

Just to bring the situation home to those who haven't happened to travel since July 1, let's pick out a few instances of what it means, taking them haphazard from the railroad time tables. There is no use taking examples from the time tables of the Duluth & Iron Range and the Duluth, Missabe & Northern, because they are still letting people ride for 2 cents a mile.

From Shakopee to Mankato over the Northwestern it is fifty-eight miles. Before July 1 you could make it for $1.16; now it costs $1.74.

From Madelia to Worthington, also on the Northwestern, it is sixty-eight miles. You could travel the distance for $1.36 before July 1, and now it costs $2.04.

From Lake Crystal to Elmore, forty-four miles over the Northwestern, the old rate was 88 cents, the new rate is $1.32.

From Duluth to Aitkin, ninety-five miles over the Northern Pacific, the rate increased July 1 from $1.90 to $2.85.

From Annandale to Glenwood, forty-three miles over the Soo road, the rate jumped on July 1 from 86 cents to $1.29.

From Alexandria to Detroit, over the Soo line, the cost of traveling the seventy-four miles was $1.54 on the last day of June and $2.31 on the first day of July.

From Monticello to Alexandria, ninety-five miles over the Great Northern, the cost of travel was $1.90, and now it is $2.85.

From Duluth to Brainerd, 118 miles over the Northern Pacific, the cost was increased from $2.36 to $3.54.

And so it goes, all over the state. Meanwhile, to travel a distance in Iowa or Wisconsin similar to any of these trips the cost is still figured at the lower rate of 2 cents a mile. Where part of a journey is through another state, or where there is competition from a line running through another state, the rates are lower. For instance, though it is 150 miles from Duluth to St. Paul and the old rate was $3, the new rate is not $4.50, but $3.80; the difference being due to the competition of a line that runs partly through Wisconsin and is subject to the 2-cent rate for that distance.

Minnesota has made no show of fighting, in spite of the fact that its plain people are not only paying these discriminatory rates but are also paying a part of the railroad taxes. Naturally, when no fight is put up, the discrimination exists; and so does the unjust condition whereby the railroads shoulder off upon others a large part of their just burden of taxation.

AN INTERESTING CALIFORNIA EXPERIMENT.

One of the minor measures adopted by the people of California at the recent state election where the initiative, the referendum and the recall were approved is about as interesting and promising an improvement on legislative processes as has recently been proposed.

Under this amendment, which has been approved by the people and thus becomes a part of the state Constitution, legislative sessions in California will hereafter be divided.

First there will be a session of thirty days, during which all bills must be introduced. Then there will be an intermission of thirty days, during which the members of the legislature will go home and think over pending measures. They will also, presumably, sound the sentiment of their districts on the more important matters, and return to the capitol at the end of the recess prepared to act on the measures that are before them. During the remainder of the session no bills can be received except emergency measures admitted by a three-fourths vote of the branch of the legislature in which they are introduced.

This is an excellent reform which Minnesota would do well to adopt. In this state bills can be introduced at any time during the session except in the last twenty days, when they can be introduced only by consent of the governor—a purely formal matter since this consent is always forthcoming.

The result of this practice invariably is such a congestion of proposed legislation that well studied and intelligent action is all but impossible. During the first six weeks of the session the legislature does little but receive bills and refer them to committees. When the committees get down to work they must tackle a huge accumulation of bills, and more bills keep coming in almost up to the day of final adjournment. There are too many bills in the Minnesota legislature, and most of them come in too late to be given proper consideration.

The plan of limiting the number of bills each member may introduce has been suggested, but no practical way to work it out has been outlined. The Herald has frequently suggested a constitutional amendment providing that bills could be introduced only during the first thirty days of the session; and this seems to us a better assurance that important measures will have a fair chance of being properly considered.

The California plan provides this, and it also provides for a recess of thirty days after the bills are all in, so that the members of the legislature may have a chance to study pending measures and to talk them over with their constituents.

This looks like a sound idea, and unless some flaw in the logic of it is pointed out, Minnesota ought to adopt it.

Certainly there should be some change from the present method, which so congests the legislative machine that it cannot possibly do good work. In 2,000 measures, which is a conservative estimate of the average number of bills introduced during the sessions of the Minnesota legislature, there are probably a dozen of first importance, and maybe a hundred that really ought to be passed. But the tendency is, when these bills keep coming in during the entire session, to obscure the measures that really should be considered carefully, to crowd final action on half the pending measures into the last day or two of the session, and thus to prevent thoughtful and studied action based on ripened judgment.

BOSSES OR PEOPLE?

Says the Preston Times: "The Duluth Herald might as well save its breath. Bosses or no bosses, the congressman-at-large from this state must be nominated in the state convention. The law is specific and says: 'That candidates for representative or representatives to be elected at large in any state shall be nominated in the same manner as candidates for governor, unless otherwise provided by the laws of such state.'"

Very well; but the law of this state does provide otherwise. It, too, is specific, and it says:

> Section 181, Revised Laws of 1905—On Tuesday, seven weeks preceding any election, an election of party nominees, hereinafter designated as the "primary election," SHALL BE held in each election district for the selection of party candidates for ALL ELECTIVE OFFICES, except officers of towns, villages and cities of the fourth class, and state offices, and members of school, park and library boards in cities having less than 100,000 inhabitants.

Nothing could be plainer than that.

If there were a conflict between Federal laws regulating elections and state laws regulating elections there might be ground for dispute. But there is no conflict here. The Federal law provides what shall be done about nominating candidates for congressmen-at-large where there is no provision for it in the state law. But there is ample provision for it in the Minnesota law, and that provision is that the candidates shall be nominated by the people at the primaries, not by the bosses in the conventions.

THE LAKE-TC-GULF PROJECT.

The Lakes to the Gulf Deep Waterway association has adjourned after deciding to fight for a channel of fourteen feet or better from Chicago to New Orleans, and planning a descent upon Washington this winter to induce congress to provide for it.

Bettering waterways is always wise and always worth encouraging, providing the pending project can justify itself. Very likely the lake-to-gulf project can justify itself. It seems to have convinced many people, including Governor Eberhart of Minnesota.

But before the public indorses the plan it ought to require reassuring answers to such questions as these:

Where is the water coming from to fill this deep channel? The answer to this is that the water is coming from the Great Lakes.

What effect will this withdrawal of water from the Great Lakes have upon the connecting channels of the Great Lakes waterway, the most important fresh water route the world contains? The answer to this may be that it will decrease the depth of these channels, thus seriously crippling a waterway of proved value to help out one whose value is, as yet, problematical.

When there is as little traffic on the waterways already existing on the Mississippi and tributary waters, where is the traffic coming from to justify the proposed deep channels?

Perhaps these questions all can be answered satisfactorily. They are questions of serious moment, but they do not seem to have occurred to any of those participating in the recent meeting, not even to the governor of the state in which Duluth is situated; and Duluth depends largely for its development on the Great Lakes waterway, from which the people of all Minnesota benefit.

ABOLISHING THE TECHNICALITY.

The fact that criminals occasionally escape punishment because the courts free them on technicalities is not the deepest wrong in the practice. The most unjust thing about it is that usually those who escape thus are men with money enough to hire lawyers skillful at discovering technicalities, and to fight a criminal case until the prosecutors are tired out. It is by technicalities that justice often is delayed until it is defeated.

One interesting feature of the constitutional amendments that California adopted last week is one designed to free the criminal practice of the state from such abuses.

The amendment provides that hereafter no judgment shall be set aside or a new trial granted in a criminal case on account of improper direction of the jury or the admission or rejection of evidence, unless upon review of the whole case, including the evidence, the court shall be convinced that the error has resulted in a miscarriage of justice.

Under that provision there can be no freeing of a guilty man because an "i" was not dotted or a "t" was not crossed in his indictment. It is an important and a needed reform; and judges should not have waited for it to be made by constitutional amendment.

TAKING OVER THE EXPRESS BUSINESS.

The railroad commissioners acted wisely in refusing to indorse the suggestion of Railroad Commissioner Staples of Minnesota that the railroads be compelled to take over the express business. While it is true that the business of the express companies should have been done originally either by the postoffice or by the railroads, it is now too late, with the parcels post coming soon, for the railroads to take it over. The postoffice is going to do that.

Besides, there is no showing that the people would gain anything if the railroads did take over the express business. There are few express companies and many railroads; and it cannot cost less for 139 concerns to perform the service than for eight or nine to do it.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

SOME KIND WORDS FROM FORMER CITIZEN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I see you have placed me in your Duluth booster column. Well, sir, if I speak a kind word for Duluth it is because I believe it and because I love your city and its memories.

And while I live near the Western Alpines and wander over the great plains of Canada, I should be ungrateful should I forget the thousand kind considerations I received at the hands of Duluth citizens. I shall always be taking great interest in your assured prosperity.

I can see as clear as noonday the realization of the late Proctor Knott's great speech given in congress in 1871 in derision, where he says, "It lifts the shadowy veil of futurity and affords us a view of the golden prospects of Duluth far along the dim vistage of ages yet to come." When I see what has been accomplished in the last thirty-five years of my recollections, opening of your great harbor, the building of immense docks, the manufacturing of billions of feet of lumber, the erection of the aerial bridge, sky scrapers, school houses, churches, hospitals, factories, surely the senator was prophetic in his vision. But, sir, go to the iron and steel plant now being erected at New Duluth and try to comprehend its magnitude, and understand what those forty iron and cement fireproof buildings mean, to this city. It will mean tens of thousands of people added to your city. This is no "bright, joyous dream of sleeping innocence," but a fulfillment of a prophetic inspiration. Then will follow additional railroads such as the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific, bringing the wealth from the great plains as well as from the Orient. With a tariff wall abolished the man of the hoe will be employed, your farm lands will double in value; your merchants will prosper, and you will be following our western twenty-year plan for grading and paving your streets, and Duluth become the great cathedral city of the unsalted seas.

DEVELOPMENT OF PARK POINT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I believe since our friend Connors has evidenced the spirit that we have all been thinking but were afraid to speak of, we might push the good work along by expressing ourselves a little more freely. About the only way a person can get what he wants for himself is to help get it for his neighbor and I for one would like to do all I could to bring about our conditions on the Point to be in living competition with the rest of the city.

The Point has been discriminated against in the past in street car fares it having a more excessive rate than other more distant places in the city. I believe our city council should take up the matter of conservatism in behalf of the Point and develop this territory most contiguous to the heart of the city, into a beautiful residential section. As soon as the proper conveniences are afforded there will be no limit to the growth of this portion of the city.

The last five years has been a period of steady growth to the Point and we have more residents this winter than ever before.

Park Point has many nice features and I feel sure that its development will be made on its merits and remain permanent. Its location is an ideal spot for a summer resort. Our boat clubs, tennis courts and coming base ball park will provide plenty of amusement and should tend to make a nice place for a home.

Duluth will some time be a great city. Homeseekers are already becoming tired of riding on a street car for five or six miles when they can find a home in reasonable distance from the heart of the city such as is offered on the Point. Many homes were purchased here this season and the value of real estate is gradually working higher. The steady growth of this section of the city has turned the attentions of the residents toward its development and the earnest desire for this end is gradually stimulating the fighting blood of our best citizens until a political fight or any other kind of a fight will be but a small satisfaction to our greediness.

AN EARNEST WORKER.

Duluth, Oct. 14.

OPPONENT OF PARCELS POST HEARD FROM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your editorial of Thursday, in advocating a parcels' post for the United States, you mentioned that the government is discriminating against its own people by charging more for the carriage of local parcels within our own borders than to foreign countries. If this is so instead of adopting a parcels post system, why does not the government increase the foreign rate? But if you would say, the department could not stand the loss of this revenue, just look at the report of the auditor of the postoffice department to the postmaster general for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907, which shows the total receipts for third and fourth-class matter.

This including both foreign and domestic is $2,738,061.88. As 25 per cent would undoubtedly be a long estimate for the amount of foreign matter under this head, it will be seen that it would not result in any great loss to the department.

Moreover you mention England as a country where it has succeeded. But England practically controls her railroads, and she also does not have a system of rural free delivery. You state that the express system in Great Britain is unknown; but why did you not say that it always has been unknown, even before a parcels post was adopted? You quote from the Chicago Tribune, saying that the retailers of England use it to great advantage, but why is it that the business men of England have appealed to the postal authorities for either a modification or a repeal of the present parcels post system, giving as a reason that it has practically ruined the retail mercantile business of the country and that the answer of the postal authorities was, "Gentlemen, you have come too late!" Again the average haul for mail matter in England and Germany is forty-two miles, as compared with 442 in this country, and therefore it will be more expensive here.

And last but not least, England's parcels post is not run on a paying basis. The loss during the first eight months of the system was £35,000 or nearly $175,000, and in order to conceal this enormous deficit Postmaster General Fawcett thought it best to amalgamate the parcels post revenue with that of the general revenue of the department; so that using his words, "the expense on the parcels post account may be unavoidably mixed, and at the present time England has no idea of what it is costing her. In Germany also we are told it is proving a failure."

And so if we are to adopt it simply because foreign countries have it, by all means let it be defeated. Yours truly,

J. C.

When Bishop Was Stumped.

The Watchword: Bishop Goodman was one day addressing a Sunday school when he said in a most expressive way: "And now, children, let me tell you a very sad fact. In Africa there are 10,000,000 square miles of territory without a single Sunday school where little boys and girls can spend their Sundays. Now, what should we all try and save up our money and do?"

And the class, as one voice, replied in ecstatic union, "Go to Africa!"

STATE AND THE RAILROADS.

Minnesota a Laughing Stock.

Crookston Times: If the Duluth Herald does not succeed in getting an extra session of the legislature to deal with the railroads, it will not be The Herald's fault. That great paper has conducted a campaign that is a credit to the publication. It comes nearer to being a real mouthpiece of the people than any other paper in the state, or the Northwestern states. The masses want something done aside from donothing generalizing about what should be done. We know one thing for certain, and that is that the people of the Red River valley want action in return for the 1-cent a mile steal in railroad fares. Minnesota is the laughing stock of 2-cent fare states—a relic of the stage coach hold-up days—the people playing the part of the coach and the railroads playing the role of bandits.

And They Have the Say.

Albert Lea Standard: Comparing it with some others, that were perfectly awful, The Duluth Herald is willing to admit that the Minnesota legislature "isn't so bad after all," and is willing to risk it again in an effort to increase the railroad gross earnings tax. But the interests, including the railroads and their governor, are better satisfied as it is.

Poor Minnesota!

Albert Lea Tribune: The governors' committee, to which was entrusted the matter of framing the protest of the governors of the various states to the Sanborn decision in the Minnesota rate case, which is now before the United States court, has prepared its brief, and the same will be filed when the case is argued before the court. There is no case in the country which has attracted as much attention as has this case, and the Sanborn decision has increased that interest, for the reason that if it stands, it virtually robs the state of any control over the matter of intrastate business. It is a matter of great regret that Minnesota, the central figure in this contest, was not represented in the house of governors at the meeting when this case was up for discussion, and it was left for governors from other states to formulate the plans which should be followed, while Minnesota had no voice in this question of such great moment to all its people.

Will Have to Show the Public.

Hutchinson Leader: When the 2-cent fare bill was up in the legislature during the session of 1907, the railroad companies presented a proposition to that body through R. A. Wilkinson, L. L. Brown and Pierce Butler as their representatives, offering as a compromise measure to which they would submit without opposition, as to passenger rates, round trip tickets, 500-mile family mileage books good on road of issuance, 1,000-mile mileage books good on any road, all at 2 cents a mile flat. They also offered to continue all special and excursion rates as before. In fact, the proposition of the roads differed from the law as finally passed only in asking 3 cents a mile for one way tickets. Now they restore the 3-cent rate because a judge has decided that the 2-cent rate is "confiscatory" and we will pay 3 cents a mile for all travel in this state. In view of the fact that the roads were willing to submit to the 2-cent rate on everything but one way tickets and the evident large increase in travel under the 2-cent rate, they will have to be shown the evidence before they will believe for a minute that the latter rate is not profitable to the roads on a fair basis of figuring.

"Can He Be?" Isn't He?

Coleraine Optic: Governor Eberhart of Minnesota was not one of twenty-five who met in New Jersey and protested against the Sanborn rate decision in Minnesota, which made mockery of the state control of transportation. Eberhart is a great traveler, but was not at New Jersey to voice his sentiments against such outrages. The governor has not lifted his hand to remonstrate against this decision, nor to call an extra session of the legislature when public sentiment demands it. Can he be bound hands and feet by railroads and then gagged?

And No Word Yet From the Statehouse.

Le Sueur News: It is a strange law. If you have $40 in your pocket you can buy your railroad ticket for 2 cents a mile, but if you only have $39.90 it will cost you 3 cents a mile. In other words if you are rich you can ride on a railroad in Minnesota for 50 per cent less than the poor man rides. Queer condition.

He Has the Chance.

Moose Lake Star-Gazette: The Duluth Herald's campaign for an extra session of the legislature to raise the tax on railroads, meets with the approval of the state press. Now this is a move in the proper direction, but we haven't much faith in the governor ever calling it. The Herald has enough votes pledged to pass this measure. Now lets see what the governor is really made of.—Brainerd Journal Press.

Yes, we also say "Let us see what he is made of," whether or not he will stand up for the rights of the people.

Weeding Out the Hymn-Books.

New York Evening Post: Governor Wilson's protest, a few days ago, against the use of silly hymns, had a remarkable sequel last Sunday. The governor specifically objected to "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," which had just been sung in his presence, pointing out that its language was mushy and its sentiment vapid. But in the Baptist church at Tarrytown which Mr. Rockefeller attends, the pastor triumphantly refuted Governor Wilson. He did it by himself singing the hymn as a solo, and then asking the congregation to say whether they like it or not. "All in the church except one aged woman raised their hands" to signify that the hymn was very much to their mind. It is hard to get around such a canon of good taste fixed by popular vote. Mr. Rockefeller added his own high literary authority to the approval of the hymn, so that we cannot deny that those who like this sort of hymn will find this one exactly the sort of hymn they like. They will go on devoutly singing:

> Somewhere, somewhere,
> Beautiful isle of somewhere.
> Land of the true, where we live anew,
> Beautiful isle of somewhere.

We would not treat the matter flippantly, though the thing certainly invites ridicule. To many good people, no doubt, the subject appears sacred. They think of this "somewhere" hymn, and others like it, as somehow bound up with their religious faith. To them it represents the aspiration for immortality. The "Beautiful Isle" they vaguely suppose to mean Heaven, and symbolize that rest which remaineth for the people of God. Against that we have nothing to say; but would ask if the same pious idealism is not expressed with equal intensity, and with far greater dignity, in those hymns of the church which have come down the centuries, and are now richly freighted with precious associations. If worshipping congregations desire to lift their hearts in contemplation of the heavenly hope, what better can they do than use one of the hymns of Bernard? For example:

> Jerusalem the glorious,
> The glory of the elect,
> O, dear and future vision
> That eager hearts expect!

Or again:

> They stand, those halls of Zion,
> Conjubilant with song:
> And bright with many an angel,
> With many a martyr-throng.

The sentiment is far more inspiring, and its verbal expression infinitely more worthy, than in the case of the rubbishy modern improvisations which some attempt to substitute. When we have hymns of lofty words wedded to noble music, why should they be displaced by nonsensical compositions, with catchy tunes, simply on the plea of novelty?

Simple Enough.

Pittsburg Post: "I don't know how to make conversation when in society."

"It's simple enough. When you're with automobile people you talk automobile, and when you're with bridge people you talk bridge."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

•••Judge Ira Miller of Moorhead has dissolved the injunction to restrain the Duluth Street Railway company from surveying and building a line through certain East end acre property owned by W. E. Richardson and others. An appeal has been taken to the supreme court.

•••The Naddo land contest, involving title to West end lands, was knocked out yesterday by United States Judge Thomas. Naddo claimed that the conveyance by James Bardon to one Hubbard was a fraud on his rights and that all subsequent conveyances were null and void. The land had been sold under judgment and had also been sold for delinquent taxes and each time was bid in by Bardon. Naddo confessed that he knew of all the transactions for ten years and entered no word of complaint. His excuse was that he was too poor to employ an attorney. The court held that Naddo had acquiesced in all that was done by Bardon and is now barred because of his laches.

•••The Minneapolis owners of the Palisade silver mine in the Port Arthur district claim to have made a strike of ore running $218 to $280 a ton and value the mine at $11,000,000.

•••Judge Thomas has admitted John L. Norton of this city to practice in the United States courts.

•••The total lumber cut of mills at Duluth and other points in the Duluth lumber district, so called, including Tower, Connors Point, Cloquet and Carlton, will foot up this season at 269,000,000 feet. If to this be added the mills at Barnum and other nearby points on the St. Paul & Duluth road, the total will be about 315,000,000 feet, or 25,000,000 greater than ever before.

•••One of the pioneers of Duluth, John Gottlieb Bush, died yesterday, aged 80. He is best known as having built the first brewery in Duluth, which for many years stood on Brewery creek. He originally came from Detroit to Superior, where he resided for several years before a house was built on this side of the bay. He made considerable money but spent it all and was dependent on the county for the past two years. He leaves a son, August, who resides in Cass county, N. D., and a daughter, who is the wife of a Superior man.

•••Mark Nimonitch, the young Austrian who for a long time remained in a trance, has been committed to St. Peter hospital for insanity.

•••Mrs. H. C. Crawford and her father-in-law, W. H. Crawford, who left a few days ago for Parkersburg, W. Va., where Mrs. Crawford will visit her parents, were on a Baltimore & Ohio train that was wrecked near Defiance, Ohio. They were bruised but not seriously hurt.

•••E. E. Beebe, for some time past with the North American Telegraph company, has bought Bill's commission office. Steve Welch succeeds to his position.

WHERE WILL IT STOP?

New York World: Until the day of Stephen A. Douglas no candidate for president ever made political speeches during the campaign.

Until the day of Andrew Johnson no president ever lugged the prestige of his great office around the country in an effort to vindicate his administration.

Until the day of Theodore Roosevelt no president who was a candidate for re-election ever assumed personal charge of his own campaign and stained his fingers with the sordid details of practical politics.

Mr. Taft, however, seems to be preparing new surprises and is turning the White House into a national Republican headquarters.

Already the United States mails are carrying heavy manila envelopes addressed to lawyers and bearing this inscription:

THE WHITE HOUSE.
Official Business.

Penalty for Private Use, $300.

Within these envelopes are copies of Mr. Taft's special message vetoing the joint resolution admitting the territories of New Mexico and Arizona. This is the message in which Mr. Taft made his admirable protest against the recall of judges, a protest for which he deserves the highest praise; but it is an extraordinary thing that that message should now be circulated from the White House under a presidential frank, virtually as a campaign document. It is more than extraordinary in view of the fact that presidential messages have heretofore been circulated by members of congress, not by the president himself. It is still more than extraordinary that Mr. Taft's political speeches should be sent to the press associations under the White House frank.

Reports are in circulation that the secretary to the president is to be made chairman of the Republican national committee. The president's Western tour is neither more nor less than a chase for delegates and votes. If the campaign documents are also to be sent out from the White House under the presidential frank, where is the degradation of the presidential office to stop? Is the president of the United States to be regarded in the future merely as the most powerful and resourceful managing politician in the country?

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: Anyhow, a girl would rather go to school than help her mother at home.

Some people never seem satisfied with anything in life except when they are asleep.

If a man can tell the difference between coffee and muddy water he thinks he's a food expert.

A woman thinks a seven-story hat is as flat as a frying pan if the fashion is eight stories.

The Recall in California.

Kansas City Star: California has voted three to one in favor of the recall, including the recall of judges—taking the returns from about one-third of the state as the index. The initiative and referendum have prevailed by about the same proportions.

Such a vote on the recall issue may not be dismissed as the expression of a mere "whim of the populace" or as "the voice of the mob." It indicates, if it does not prove, that the people upon sincere reflection are impressed with the need and the righteousness of a direct control of their public servants in all capacities.

Several considerations approve this conclusion:

A California city (Los Angeles) was the inventor of the recall and the first to apply it. For more than ten years the people of the state had observed its beneficent operation.

California's adoption of the recall comes after some very distinguished statements in opposition to it. The voters had the benefit of all that the president of the United States had to say against the recall in general and the judicial recall in particular. They thus had both sides to aid them in making up their minds.

The recall provision was one of twenty-three constitutional amendments proposed for yesterday's special election. The votes on them all denoted a discriminating study. Take the vote on woman's suffrage for comparison with the vote on the recall. The vote on the suffrage amendment was exceedingly close. Strong opposition to it developed. So, manifestly, the people were not voting merely to change things. Simply a large number who did not believe in womn's suffrage did believe in the recall.

The vote on the recall has been thus singled out from the others for comment because it is obviously the most significant, even more significant than the adoption of the kindred measures of the initiative and referendum. A determination to take to themselves the power to control the officers of their government means simply a determination to control their government. And that seems to be what the people have made up their minds to do—not only the people of California, but the people of the whole country.

The Three Pigs.

Life: There were three pigs in a poke.

The overcrowding was scandalous.

The first pig said: "The overcrowding is terrible; it is because we are in a poke."

The second pig said:: "This overcrowding is disastrous; it 's because we are pigs."

The third pig spoke as follows: "The overcrowding is undoubtedly appalling, but you are both mistaken as to the conditions that have caused it. It is not due to our be'ng in a poke, neither is it due to our being pigs. The evil is the direct and inevitable outcome of certain spasmodic variations 'n the law of economic utility."

The other two pigs were much impressed, and without more ado elected the third pig leader among them. Still, the overcrowding remained as bad as ever.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Fliegende Blaetter: Deputation of Creditors—We've come to tell you that we are willing to make as easy an arrangement with ye as possible.

Debtor—The easiest arrangement you could make would be all to go away again.

Punch: Lady to loafer who has asked for money)—You'll only drink it, I suppose. Instead of taking it home to your wife.

Loafer—I ain't got a wife, lidy. I'm earnin' me own living.

Washington Herald: "Judge, I simply have an irresistible impulse to steal.

"I have those irresistible impulses sometimes," said the judge. "I have one right now, to send you to jail.. Sixty days."

Houston Post: "But it seems to take all your patients a long time to get well, doctor."

"Yes, but as soon as I begin to get a larger practice I can afford to let my patients get well quicker."

"How now?"

"That woman made me beg the judge to let her have back her maiden name, and then only kept it half an hour."

Brooklyn Life: "I don't see any sense in referring to the wisdom of Solomon," said the man smartly. "He had a thousand wives."

"Yes," answered the woman, tartly, "he learned his wisdom from them."

Chicago Tribune: "Why can't they play baseball games without umpires?" inquired the conventional girl in the grandstand.

"They could," answered the conventional young man by her side, "but they have to have umpires to chase Johnny Evers off the grounds whenever he grins and sticks his chin out."

Philadelphia Times: "Do you think women would improve politics?"

"Well," replied Mr. Growcher, "after listening to the conversation on the front porch, I'll say this for them: If they ever start an investigation they'll find out something."

Refreshment.

Collier's: When we reach the place where a measure of happiness is, we must not overpass it, thinking we shall some day return in fuller leisure. We shall not pass this way again, and if we did we could not find that hidden place. Nor must we hasten on with hot desire, deeming we shall reach some other spot of more satisfying happiness further down the way. We may reach that place at the beginning of the journey, while we are still keen for the quest, or it may be after tollysome years. But whenever be the time, it behooves us to pause and consider well the spot. One finds cloistral retreat and place of happiness in art or research, ill-rewarded, unacclaimed; in perfecting knowledge; in achieving beauty. Another finds it in one woman. Happiness is found in the home, in devotion to purposes larger than the individual life, wherever there is space for the heart to overspread other lives. There is refreshment in the majesty and tenderness of the natural world—in the turbulence of the sea, the rapid light touching the waves, in the plenty of autumnal harvests, in the calm of infinite hills.

WOMAN'S REALM.

"Handicraft and Agriculture" will be the subject of a talk to be given tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the clubroom of the library by Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour, at the first meeting of the department of education and the home of the Twentieth Century club.

This talk will explain the work being done in the state in the "Democratic Art's" parallel to the work done by the state art commission for the extension of fine arts.

"Democratic Arts" include such branches as dramatic art in the schools brought out in pageants, etc; the work done in music, the textile arts, handicraft, wood carving and drawing and painting in the public schools.

The state art commission has $4,000 for this purpose which will be used by a deputy to be appointed in furthering art along these lines in the various cities and towns of the state. Small cities and classes will be established and the people will be interested in the work.

Mrs. Seymour has studied arts and crafts both in Europe and in America and has been actively interested in this work in the state for many years. She has given many lectures and talks on the work which is of special interest at this time on account of the prominence of the homecroft movement.

In her talk tomorrow she will give an account of what is being done in this state and elsewhere along lines suggested by her subject.

LECTURE AND RECITAL.

Dr. Powell to Give First Talk on Tennyson.

Dr. John Walker Powell will give the first of his series of lectures on Tennyson this evening at the Endion M. E. church. His subject will be "The Nature Lover," from a comparison of Tennyson and Wordsworth.

The course was opened Saturday evening with the reading of "The Piper" by Miss Katherine Jewell Everts who charmed a large audience with her presentation of the much talked of play. Her charm of manner, the distinction with which she kept her characters and her eloquent interpretation of the various parts made the evening a delightful one.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD.

Annual Roundup and Business Meeting to Be Held.

Tomorrow the annual round up of the Needlework guild will be held at 2 East First street (corner of Lake avenue.) The rooms will be open at 9 o'clock. Every one is urged to get donations in as early as possible and all donations must be in by 3 oclock to be counted on this year's list.

Wednesday afternoon the annual business meeting of the guild will be held at the same place at 2:30 o'clock for reports and election of officers. The distribution of garments will take place Thursday morning.

MUSICIAN HONORED.

Horace W. Reyner to Conduct Minneapolis and Stillwater Societies.

Horace W. Reyner, who has done so much for Duluth's musical welfare during the last five years, is also being recognized with distinction in Minneapolis and Stillwater.

He will direct the Minneapolis Philharmonic society in the production of Handel's "Messiah" which will be given at the Minneapolis Auditorium on Christmas day. The rehearsals will commence on Monday, Nov. 13.

Mr. Reyner has also been reappointed as conductor of the Stillwater choral club which society will give "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast," and "The Death of Minnehaha," during the winter. This work commencing next month will take up a day and a half each week leaving the remainder of the week for his work in Duluth.

Bishop's Club.

The regular meeting of the Bishop's club will be held tomorrow evening at the clubrooms of the Cathedral hall with Miss Gertrude Knauff as leader. The program for the evening will be as follows:

Bible study, Queen Esther, Chapter 4, Book of Esther, Miss Mary McDonald; piano solo, "Reveries" (Seight), Miss Alice Pastoret; Spanish Inquisition in Flanders, Counts Egmont and Hoorn, Miss Gertrude Knauf; vocal number, Mrs. Leo Ball; book review, Robert Kimberly, Miss Halley; current events, Miss Jean Poirier.

Duluth Festival Chorus.

The Duluth Festival chorus will meet under the direction of Horace W. Reyner tomorrow evening in the Knights of Columbus hall, 212 West First street. The chorus will prepare choral numbers to be given in conjunction with the concerts of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, concerts on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 10 and 11 and as the time is short for preparation, all members are asked to be in attendance promptly at 8 o'clock.

MILLIONAIRE'S WARD MAY WED GUARDIAN

MARIE WINTHROP.

It is rumored that Marie Winthrop is to marry Thomas M. Turner, a well known millionaire. Miss Winthrop came into the public eye recently when she hired a special car to take her dogs to a western city for a dog show. Mr. Turner has celebrated two divorces. Miss Winthrop has been living at Mr. Turner's house and has been known as his ward.

Club Meetings.

The Evening Shakespeare class of the Twentieth Century club will hold its first meeting for the year at the library club rooms this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Mary Shesgren will give a reading from "Macbeth" and Mrs. H. I. Gage, leader of the department for the year will give an introductory talk on the work of the class for the year and a special review of "The Merchant of Venice," the first play to be studied by the class.

As this class is organized primarily for those who cannot attend the other classes of the club it is hoped that a large number will take advantage of it and this first meeting will be open to any one interested whether a member of the club or not.

Wilson G. Crosby will give the first lecture in the course of Dramatic Literature being offered by the club, on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the new Unitarian church, corner of Eighteenth avenue east and First street. This first meeting of the literature department will be an open one and anyone wishing to attend will have the privilege of doing so whether a member of the club or not.

Birthday Party.

Hats and Caps Galore for Winter

By ORVILLE G. VICTOR

(Copyrighted, 1911, by I. J. Robinson.)

FOR this splendid time of year, the hatmakers have provided for the American man the greatest variety of headgear ever shown within the memory of the present generation. New styles are prominently displayed among the hat stores, and the man who has pretensions of being well dressed must let his wife give his last season's hat to the janitor or the Salvation Army, and provide himself with a new one.

The unbecoming derby with high crown and flat brim that has been in evidence for the last two seasons has been thrown into the discard by the designers for this fall and winter. In its place they have given the public a nice, good-looking hat, with medium low crown—about five inches deep—with a brim from 2¼ to 2½ inches wide and a round curl at the edge. This makes a very attractive hat, one that is suitable for all ages; it is in striking and pleasing contrast to the other—so much so, that a last season's derby can be identified a block away.

The high silk hat, as designed for the fall and winter, 1911-1912, also shows a marked difference from that of last season. It shows a "fat" French curl, with a very slight bell. The crown is 5¾ inches high; the brim is 1⅞ or 2 inches wide.

Soft hats, for early fall wear, are in countless varieties. Many of the best dressed men prefer a soft hat to a derby, and wear one for at least two months after laying aside the straw and before resuming the conventional stiff hat.

The majority of those provided for this season are of soft, smooth felt, in grays and browns, with bands of darker shades than the hats themselves. The brim of the new soft hat dips in front, and has a roll on the right side. Sometimes a brown hat may be seen with a gray ribbon band, and vice versa; but as a rule the hat ribbons are of the same color, but different shades.

A neat soft hat, affected mostly by younger men, known as the Cambridge, is made in browns and grays, mixed. It is so pliable that it can be put into a drop tip—that is, the brim dips down in front and is turned up in the rear. The crown is about four inches high.

The "King Alphonso" is a semi-soft hat that derives its name from the royal personage who first gave it sanction. The "King Alphonso" has a flat crown, 3½ inches high, and a flat brim 2½ inches wide. It is to be had in all shades of pearl, nutria or brown, with trimmings to match. This hat may not be worn by all, but is extremely becoming to certain types of men.

One of the newest hats is known as the "rough scratch-up," which looks as though it might be made of a long-haired rat's hide. Its crown is five inches high; the brim is stitched, with raw edge, and may be turned up or down according to the wearer's pleasure. The "scratch-up" is made up in champagne colors, steel gray and dark mixtures, and is likely to become very popular among the younger set.

Never before, in the history of the trade, have so many caps been sold among well-dressed men as during the present year, and the supply provided for fall and winter includes many new styles. As a rule, they are of uniform shape, with 2½-inch brim made of cassimeres, tweeds, home-spuns, "nigger-heads," and basket weaves. The check patterns, which have been very popular, are now superseded by the home-spuns, which seem to stand at the head of the list. The very proper cap is made from a piece of the same material of which the wearer's suit or overcoat is constructed; but this rule is by no means arbitrary. Caps are worn chiefly for traveling, by rail or steamship, and for motoring or walking in the country; but many men, who affect the English styles, do not hesitate to wear them to business.

THE EVENING STORY

BEFORE THE FLOOD

By Joseph R. Reham.

The company of which Alton Griswold was foreman was a valve making concern. One winter they had a contract in the country connected with fitting up a water reservoir with pipes, and Griswold was sent down to superintend this department of the work. On the staff of the workmen he had charge of was a new hand, a big rather stupid, good-natured Irishman, who knew little about the work in hand, but would have tackled anything that came his way.

The foreman felt a little indignant when he discovered what Pat could, or rather could not do, and he determined to discharge him as soon as he could find a better man. Meanwhile he gave him the drudgery that took muscle and not much brains. Pat felt this, but he swallowed his resentment, kept his mouth shut, and did his best.

One morning the two were alone in the gate house outside the empty reservoir. Along the eastern wall ran the great main pipe, which had a valve where the reservoir pipe branched off from the main. The end of this unfinished section had originally been closed by a gate valve; but this, having been cracked by frost, had been replaced temporarily by a pine plug a foot thick, formed of six layers of two-inch plank, tongued and groved.

It had been arranged that morning to remove the plug and set a new valve, and Pat was ordered by the foreman to cut it out.

Obediently Pat set chisel to wood. Griswold could see his fingers shake. What a coward the man was about losing his job! Still, the thought of discharging him made the foreman uncomfortable.

The telephone rang, and Griswold was called to another part of the works. The job at the outlet house was unexpectedly complicated and absorbing. Griswold almost forgot Pat. Once, however, he thought he heard a curious, distant sound like the flapping of wings, followed by a tinkle of shattered glass. That was all. The rest of the gang were busy and noticed nothing, so Griswold forgot it.

Suddenly, with a start, he realized that Pat was unconsciously long in cutting out that plug. He looked at his watch. Already it was five minutes past 11: fifteen minutes more, and the water would be at the gate house. He bolted out of the door. Soon he was leaping down the steps that led to the gate house. Pushing the door open, he sprang inside.

What did it mean? Every pane of glass in the three windows, south, east and north, was smashed; oddly, too, the fragments had all fallen inside, strewing the cement floor. The open piped gaped, black and round. And Pat was gone; queer, mighty queer! Griswold rubbed his eyes, bewildered. On the cement at the foreman's feet lay a yellow pasteboard. He picked it up. The other side bore a photograph of a woman and three children with chins like Pat's. It came to Griswold all at once, why the Irishman was so afraid of losing his job.

Hush! What was that noise? It seemed to come out of the pipe. Grasping the lip to steady himself Griswold stopped, put his head inside, and listened. Was that a groan? It sounded again, faint and distant. It was a groan. Pat, beyond a doubt. But why in the world had he gone in there? Griswold straightened up.

The hand that had clutched the pipe was slightly moist. He glanced at his fingers; they were stained red. It was blood—Pat's blood. For a few seconds the foreman stood gazing at his hand, trying to solve the mystery. Stop a minute! He had a clue. What was in the pipe when the Irishman had begun chipping away at that plank wall, of which barely a splinter remained? Air, naturally. What was left after the water had drained away? Where could the air have come from. Then he thought that a vacuum four feet in diameter and four miles long would be left when the water was drained away. A solid torrent, weighing thousands of tons, was sliding down hill at the rate of four miles an hour. As more water rushed out below the vacuum would steadily lengthen. And the weakest spot in the whole distance would be the emergency plug.

Staggering, Griswold caught at the pipe end. He understood just what had happened. Pat, chipping away laboriously, had thinned the wooden wall beyond its point of resistance to the atmospheric pressure outside. A sudden crumpling, a caving in of the planks, a whistling roar, and in a second everything movable in the gate house had been sucked into the pipe. And Pat, too, had gone into the opening head foremost with tremendous force, like a package shot through a pneumatic tube. It was a wonder if his neck were not broken. He had never heard of such a disaster happening before, but that did not excuse him. He should have foreseen that vacuum. Here was lack of foresight.

The water would be there in five minutes. And there was the Irishman senseless, and an unknown distance up that pipe. The flood would wash him down, and pin him against the gate valve, until it had drowned out his last spark of life. The foreman roused himself. He must get Pat out.

An oil torch leaned against the wall. With trembling fingers he lighted it, and plunged into the black tube. The passage was only four feet high. Bent almost double, torch held ahead, he hurried on. Close to the junctions of the two pipes he stumbled over Pat's hammer. Entering the main pipe, he hastened onward, the light flaring before him, yard after yard, but still no Pat. On he plunged in an agony of horror and dread. Soon, very soon, the water would come, and it would be too late.

He heard a groan, and then a low, distant murmur. The water was coming, a torrent the full size of the pipe, driven by the four great pumps, coming faster than a man could run. Louder and louder it echoed. Just then his torch flared on a boot sole. Pat. In an instant Griswold stood over him. The Irishman lay on his back in a limp, crumpled heap, eyes closed, and over one of them an ugly lump. His left hand still clenched the chisel.

With the coming torrrent in his ears, Griswold stepped quickly over the prostrate man, thrust both hands under his arms, and began backing out.

Pat hung absolutely inert. In that cramped space he could never even have dragged him had not the iron been smooth and slimy. Stooping, slipping, with set teeth, he pulled him along. Griswold was quite calm. The breeze fanned his face as he backed out. Come what might, he had determined never to let go of Pat. He felt himself, and himself alone, responsible for the Irishman's peril.

Brighter and brighter a faint light glimmered behind him. And now over his shoulder he saw the opening, only a few yards away. He was almost exhausted; his breath came short; he feared he could never make it. But dread of the gloomy cul-de-sac into which they might be driven filled him with a fierce strength.

Suddenly his eyes, fixed on the distant torch, saw a white, foaming wall overhang it, blot it out; and utter blackness came. Then followed a moment of intense effort, stimulated by terror at the torrent leaping unseen through the gloom. At last he caught sight of the gate house through the reservoir pipe, as with a final, mighty heave, he dragged Pat into its entrance.

An instant later the water struck him full in chest and face, hurled him backward, and rolled him into the gate house, still clinging to the unconscious Irishman. Friendly hands picked him and Pat up and carried them outside.

Pat's first words when he gained consciousness were: "Do I hold my job?"

"As long as I hold mine," replied Griswold.

MRS. MAUDE L. BAILLARD.

Mrs. Maude L. Baillard would advise women not to marry opera singers. She wedded the baritone of the Metropolitan opera house and she has been obliged to get a divorce from him on account of some young woman whose name did not appear in her petition. Mrs. Baillard is already reported engaged to another admirer, but she strenuously denies that she contemplates matrimony at the present.

The Kitchen

The Best Method With Fish.

Fish is delicious done in this way. Procure half a pound of filtered fish. Plaice or any white fish will do. Sprinkle each fillet with salt and pepper, lay a slice or two of tomato on the fillet and a sprinkle of chopped parsley and roll into shape.

Tie with a piece of tape and when all are done lay them side by side on a thickly buttered plate, cover with the other plate or muffin cover; the latter is best as it does not need the fish to be rolled so flatly.

Place the whole on the top of the saucepan of boiling water and leave to cook. All that is necessary is to regulate the fire or gas jet so that the saucepan will continue boiling. The fish will be done in half or three-quarters of an hour and during this time the cook need not examine the fish.

A nice white sauce may be made to eat with it, or some tomatoes may be stewed with a little pepper, butter and salt until they are in a puree. Pour this over the fish and serve. Or if the cook is very busy a small piece of butter melted and poured over makes a good sauce.

Chops or steak can be cooked in the same manner, but in that case they must be cut rather thick and a little butter spread on each side is an improvement.

Care must be taken that the cover fits tightly down on the lower plate, as the steam will escape too freely, and the chop or steak be dried up and tough.

A Great Help for Those Who Do Home Tailoring

More and more people are finding out every day how practical the ready-made coat form has become. Women, who would not think of attempting a tailored garment if they had to make the form themselves, do so now with the assurance of a successful garment.

The form is all shaped up ready to insert into your coat, giving the necessary tailored effect and proper lines. They cost you practically the same as the materials that are in them would if you were to buy them by the yard. If you have not tried them, do so when making your next coat.

Double Faced Satin

This is one of the very newest fabrics of the season, and promises to be very successful. It comes only in a very fine quality and is meant for use only for the finest gowns and cloaks.

The face of the cloth is black, while the reverse side is in contrasting colors, such as emerald green, American Beauty Wedgewood blue and purple.

Some very handsome effects are possible with this cloth, and we recommend it very highly as one of the cloths which will be featured more strongly when the season advances.

44 inches wide—$4.00 a yard.

Dubleen Poplin

This cloth is more popular than ever this season. Its splendid wearing qualities and graceful draping affects that are possible with it, and the general appearance of the cloth when made up, has won for it many admirers. We are showing it in all the season's newest colorings in both the plain weave and in handsome brocaded effects. If you want a practical, as well as a dressy gown, here is the ideal cloth for the purpose 42 inches to 48 inches wide—$1.50 to $2.00 the yard.

Seal Plush for that Warm Coat

A Dress Form will save you time and weariness and insure perfect fitting garments. Ask about them at pattern department.

This skilfully woven cloth is as near in appearance and effect to the real seal as it is possible to make it, and costs a small fraction in comparison to the genuine seal. It is the ideal fabric for coats for winter wear in this climate. It is a very practical material as well as very elegant. The yardage required for a garment is very small on account of its extra width.

Priced at $4.00 and $5.00 the yard.

ANNUAL FALL CEREMONIAL

Imperial Potentate and Members of Imperial Divan Coming.

A committee of local Shriners is making preparations to receive J. S. Treat of Fargo, N. D., imperial potentate of America, and fifty members of the imperial divan, next Friday morning. The visitors will take part in the annual fall ceremonial of Aad temple, A. A. O. N. M. S., which will be held Friday night at the Masonic temple.

Mr. Treat and his party will arrive from Chicago Friday morning over the Northwestern road, and will be met at the depot by the reception committee and escorted to the St. Louis hotel.

Besides this party, the local Shriners will entertain other Shriners from Fargo, Grand Forks, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Chicago. The program, which is not yet complete, will include an auto ride over the boulevard in the morning and a boat ride on the lake and river in the afternoon.

MINNESOTA PRODUCTS ARE WARMLY PRAISED.

Enthusiastic praise for the exhibits furnished by St. Louis county and Northern Minnesota at the Missouri Valley fair, recently held at Kansas City, is contained in letters received by A. B. Hostetter, superintendent of the agricultural department of the Commercial club, and J. L. Thomas, general agent for the Northern Pacific at Duluth, from L. J. Bricker, the Northern Pacific general immigration agent. The fair was open from Sept. 22 to Oct. 8. Mr. Bricker sent a photograph of the Northern Minnesota section and quoted the following from the report of the managers of the exposition:

"It is surprising what great interest our visitors are taking in the Northern Minnesota display. It keeps one man busy at this section most of the time, as a great many of the people had no idea that Minnesota could produce such splendid products, and such a variety of them."

Why is the soda cracker to-day such a universal food?

People ate soda crackers in the old days, it is true—but they bought them from a barrel or box and took them home in a paper bag, their crispness and flavor all gone.

To-day there is a soda cracker which is the recognized staple — Uneeda Biscuit.

Uneeda Biscuit are the most nutritious food made from flour and should be eaten every day by every member of the family from the youngest to the oldest.

Uneeda Biscuit—soda crackers better than any ever made before—made in the greatest bakeries in the world—baked to perfection—packed to perfection—kept to perfection until you take them, oven-fresh and crisp, from their protecting package.

MESSAGE OF HOPE AND JOY

Mission of Christian Science Explained By Frank H. Leonard, C. S. B.

To Establish Right Thinking About Life, Truth and Love.

A large audience listened, at the Lyceum yesterday afternoon, to a lecture on Christian Science by Frank H. Leonard, C. S. B., member of the board of lectureship of the First church of Boston, Mass. The lecture was delivered under the auspices of the First church of Duluth, and the speaker was introduced in a short address by Charles S. Mitchell, editor of the News Tribune. Mr. Leonard said, in part:

Ages ago Shakespeare wrote, "There is nothing either good or bad, but thinking makes it so." The world has looked upon this as indicating that a bad thing may be good. I am convinced, however, that even unknown to himself, Shakespeare was having a glimpse of the great Truth which even then was germinating in consciousness only waiting for recognition that it might begin its great work of salvation in the world, namely the knowledge that the source of all things is Mind. While he did not know the distinction between divine Mind and mortal mind, Shakespeare did realize the reason why "There is nothing either good or bad, but thinking makes it so," is to be found in the fact that Mind is the only thinker and creates thoughts; and all things whatsoever they may be called are but thought externalized or manifested. The mortal or carnal mind conception of all things is false and imperfect and it is because of this we seem to be surrounded on all sides with evil impurity and consequent corruption, decay, and death, and we can rise out of and above this seeming turmoil and disaster only by turning away from the "fleeting and false" to the "enduring and true" which "abide in the "Mind which was also in Christ Jesus" to become apparent to us as we obediently search for that same "Mind" unto the full recognition of the fact that the Mind in Christ is God and therefore God is Mind the thinker or creator of all things which really are.

We may safely and certainly base all the ills "the flesh is heir to" on the human inability to discern "the signs of the times."

The Miracles of Jesus.

We read of the wonderful happenings of the time of Jesus, wish they might be possible now and then accept the universal belief that the time for miracles has gone by. To say the time has gone by for the power of the Word to be manifested is literally "taking the name of the Lord in vain," for he said, "Lo, I am with you alway."

Webster defines a miracle as "anything wonderful." What Jesus did was in direct opposition to what we term natural law; but instead of our accepting and clinging, as we have, to so-called natural law as the real law, we should recognize that no law is natural or normal save that which manifests in all ways and on all occasions good or God. What Jesus did was not supernatural from the basis or real or God naturalness bu in full accord with all the promises in the Bible as to the redemptive accomplishment of acceptance of his work as the direct manifestation of the omnipresent power of the Word.

From the human standpoint, it seems as though evil is the dominant factor in all things. It seems as though there is no direction for us to turn where we do not find ourselves face to face with evil. Now, let us change our thought about things and strive to realize the real or Godlike things! to realize the allness of good and to realize the infinite power of the Word.

Then no matter in which direction we turn, we find ourselves face to face, not with evil, but with God.

The mission of Christian Science in the world is to establish right thinking about God, man and the universe; about Life, Truth and Love.

Jesus said "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free," telling us literally in this statement that Truth is the "resurrection and the life" for he also said, "I am the way, the truth and the life."

Humanly speaking, we may have a million ideas as to what constitutes Truth and none of them be correct.

From the human standpoint Truth seems the most narrow, arrogant, bigoted, unbending, unchanging and unyielding thing there is in all eternity. We may have all the differing opinions relative to Truth we choose, but sooner or later we will have to come to Truth's knowledge as to what Truth is, which eliminates all personal or human sense of it. When we are freed from our finite sense of Truth we come to that realization of it which is "our bread * * * from heaven," the realization which enabled the Master to heal the sick, forgive sin and raise the dead.

No New Doctrine.

Humanity protests when told that sin and sickness are synonymous when both are considered in the light of breaches of the law of God, because sickness has always seemed involuntary while sin has seemed voluntary. Christian Science preaches no new doctrine in its attitude toward sickness as sin or an infringement of God's law for, when Jesus healed the one who was sick of palsy, He said, "Whether is it easier to say * * * Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Arise, and take up thy bed, and walk?"

Jesus knew that all the one sick of the palsy needed to know was how to think aright about God and His law and he would be freed from his bondage to sin, alias sickness.

We need in this connection, however, to know that sickness is not always the manifestation of wilful sin, but that it is the result of failure to see the necessity for constant growth in grace or knowledge of God unto the coming of the perfect realization of the unity existing between God and man as expressed by Jesus the Christ when he said, "I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one."

Jesus the Christ healed the sick, cleansed the leper, cast out sin, and raised the dead and he said, speaking of his mission on earth, "I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill." Surely all will agree that Jesus the Christ was fulfilling the law of God in all that he did.

But it may be argued, these things existed even while Jesus was on earth and have existed ever since. Very true it does seem so, but it proves nothing other than that we have failed to realize that the Mind "which was also in Christ Jesus," is also in us. Not until we have this same "Mind" consciously shall we know how to resolve "things into thoughts" as Mrs. Eddy has written in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 123), and not until we do this as the Master did, shall we be able to accomplish the works in their completeness which he did. But the day cometh when we shall do them all for He said "Verily, verily, I say unto you, Whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in my name, he will give it you."

The query might be put here, If we ask for something we ought not to have and ask in His name will we receive it? When we really ask in His name, it will be with the same "Mind" which He has and that "Mind" neither thinks nor knows anything less than good and therefore at that time, no sense of wrong will remain and of a truth we shall "know him as he is."

Temptation to do evil is no sin. It is sin to yield to the temptation.

Right Thinking.

Jesus was tempted in all ways as we are but was without sin. He recognized it to be nothing more or less than a suggestion to think wrong about God and, refusing to yield thereto, he kept his thought pure and his freedom and dominion over all things was the consequent result. The knowledge that right thinking means right living makes us know we do not need to apply material remedies when one is in pain but do need to help him think right, thus applying the cleansing influence of Truth the outward manifestation of which is harmony in its highest sense.

Christian healing is accomplished through the ministry of Christian Science as we realize the allness of divine Mind and the nothingness of what is termed matter. We do not claim we have yet risen above the belief in matter for if we had we would manifest Spirit alone, but we have risen above the belief that it is anything other than a belief.

What is it that sees, hears, feels, tastes, smells? Is it the eye that sees? Is it the hand that feels? Is it the ear that hears? When we stop to think about it, we know there is not a physical thing to do anything, either seeing, hearing, feeling, tasting, or smelling. It is all mind. Therefore, whether we call the thing matter or call it a flower, it is just a mental impression to us—that's all—no matter how real the impression seems to be or how unreal. We all know the testimony of the physical senses is absolutely unreliable and undependable.

Must Reverse Evil.

In order that we may know the "only true God and Jesus Christ" which knowing is "life eternal," we have to reverse evil and we find the word "evil" itself bears out this statement, for if we spell "evil" backwards we find it spells "live."

Christian Science teaches that to reverse evil means to stop being afraid and when we think of it, we know there is no need in the world so great as the need of the knowledge of that "perfect love" which casts out fear. Mortals manifest fear from the veriest babe unto the oldest man, for they all worry, and worry is but another name for wear. It is just as unlawful, according to the law of God to be afraid of a pain or of evil in that form, as it is to be afraid of anything from a moral standpoint. We ought to be fearful when we come face to face with problems which would suggest the acceptance of an immoral belief or thought. We ought to be just as fearful in the right way when the suggestion comes to us of that other kind of an evil or ungodly thought which calls itself pain.

But some one who is suffering may say, "I guess if you felt as I do you would say you had a pain."

So long as any one feels that way about it, he will continue to have pain unto the ultimate of that wrong thinking, for the Bible tells us as man "thinketh in his heart, so is he" and "The thing which I greatly feared is come upon me."

Mortals have the seeming ability to think wrong and have the wrong manifestation, or to think right and have the right manifestation. If one is determined to hold unto the statement that he has a pain and knows it, there is only one thing to do and that is to let him have it. It is entirely a matter concerning himself and no Christian Scientist will interfere to dispel it unless asked to do so.

The Healing Work.

The healing work of Christian Science is the direct outgrowth of right thinking. Our Master healed those who came to him sick and in all forms of distress instantly because he knew through actual demonstration, there is no such thing as a power outside of or apart from God.

The Christian Scientists have never claimed that, with their present day comprehension, they have reached the place where they have overcome the universal belief in sin, disease, death, and kindred evil: in fact, Mrs. Eddy, in her book "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," very plainly expresses the thought which she had relative to this when she writes (p. 348):

"I have never supposed the world would immediately witness the full fruitage of Christian Science, or that sin, disease, and death would not be believed for an indefinite time; but this I do aver, that, as a result of teaching Christian Science, ethics and temperance have received an impulse, health has been restored, and longevity increased. If such are the present fruits, what will the harvest be, when this Science is more generally understood?"

Christian Scientists, with their present day apprehension of the infinite power of the Word of God, are finding themselves daily face to face with the statement that they must grow in grace, and they will never stop growing in grace until they have come literally to the fullness, the liberty and the stature of the fullness of Christ.

The world at large has had great misapprehension as to the position accorded to Mrs. Eddy by the Christian Scientists.

They have never looked upon her as a Creator but simply as a Revelator, who through consecration, self-abnegation and profound spiritual searching of the Scriptures, discerned the great Truth of the life "hid with Christ in God" which she transcribed in the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," so simply that any one who is willing to study may comprehend and know the "Truth" which makes man free.

Christian Science is not Mrs. Eddy's science, it is Christ's science or Christ's eternal continuity, presence, and activity manifested in works as well as words, teaching us that only as we intelligently know and have righteous faith in him and prove it by demonstration, have we become as little children accepting the kingdom of heaven which is "within."

The Power of Love.

We really sum up all the teachings of Christian Science when we bring out the right knowledge of Love. It is Love that healed the sick through patriarch and prophet. It is Love that healed the sick through his disciples. It is Love that healed the sick through patriarch and prophet. It is Love that was manifested to this world through the leader of the Christian Science movement, Mrs. Eddy. It is Love that is the redeemer of promise. It is Love that comes into our thought, driving out hate, malice, jealousy, envy, striving, contention and mad ambition.

It is Love that prepareth a table before us in the presence of our enemies, teaching us our enemies are not the brethren but the wrong thoughts we have and cling to.

It is Love that etsablishes in earth His kingdom as it is in heaven. It is Love rightly understood that establishes the universal brotherhood of man, wherein there is no way, no will, and no law save God's.

And it is this Love manifested through Christian Science which has drawn Jew, Gentile, Pagan, Agnostic, and Atheist unto Christ through lifting him "up from the earth" into the realm of Spiritual reality and consciousness, wherein God is worshipped "in spirit and in truth."

Legitimate Christian Science is revealed only through profound spiritual scriptural research based on the desire to justify God rather than man, and the Christian Science text-book in its absolute insistence on unqualified obedience to the commands of Christ Jesus has been literally a light unto the world and the liberator of all mankind from the letter of the law which kills.

The Bible teaches that God is Love and this Love is all that can bring to us the infinite and unbounded sense of good.

It is futile to strive to know God in any other way than in the way Christ knew Him for there is no other "way" than Christ. The "way" has not changed so we must walk in it that we may be saved.

In every step of the struggle out from materiality into spirituality do we find Love with us not thrusting temptation from us but instantly freeing us when we resist it and endure "unto the end." Jesus said "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Christian Scientists are demonstrating the absolute truth of his statement. No matter how it presents itself, they take it straight to God, the Great Physician, and the Word does not return unto Him void, but heals them from all their diseases and delivers them from all their destructions.

The message of Christian Science to mortals is the message of hope, the message of activity and the message of joy. It is the glad tidings that at last we know how to worship God and how to "walk in the Spirit" that we may not fulfil "the lust of the flesh" but "press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus" "For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things; to whom be glory for ever."

J. R. WALSH HAS "QUIT FIGHTING"

Former Banker Makes Statement as to His Plans for Future.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—John R. Walsh, former banker and head of a score of railroad and quarry enterprises in this vicinity, who was paroled Saturday from the Fort Leavenworth federal prison after serving part of a term of imprisonment following conviction of charges of infraction of national banking laws, at his home here outlined his plans for the future.

He does not contemplate another fight for financial prominence, nor any campaign for supremacy in the coal business of the Middle West, as had been reported, but it is the business program of an old man who has gone through a hard financial storm and is seeking to recover enough to protect himself and his family in his declining years.

Has Quit Fighting.

"I do not contemplate any sensational financial fight; I do not apprehend my entry to the business world again will be a matter of apprehension or anxiety to those now engaged in business," he said with a twinkle in his eyes. "I have quit fighting. All I want to do now is get a little rest at home, get a new line on the tangled threads of the business enterprises I am interested in since the adjustment of the clearing house note, and get these enterprises in what shape I can. After things have been straightened out, I do not know just what I shall do. Certainly not make any attempt, as has been reported, to become the 'coal king of the West.' I take it the coal 'royalty' is rather complete as it is.

Plans Very Simple.

"No, my plans are very simple. I only am going to straighten out my affairs as well as I can, and after that will engage in such enterprises as present opportunities. I have not another thirty years to spare in getting into another of what is called struggle for financial prominence. Both my boys are engaged in business and are doing satisfactorily, so that they probably won't need my help. I will be busy enough for a while any way."

The former banker arrived in Chicago from Kansas Sunday and went directly home, where he was welcomed by his wife and the families of his children and by a number of friends.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

FOR KILLING HER HUSBAND

Mrs. Stannard Being Tried in Circuit Court of Ontonagon County.

Because of Her Prominence Delay May Result in Getting Jury.

Ontonagon, Mich., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The task of drawing a jury for the trial of Mrs. Laura Stannard here, charged with the murder of her husband, Charles Stannard, by strychnine poisoning, will not start until this afternoon. The attorneys for the prosecution and the defense agreeing this morning to the delay.

Several days may be consumed in getting a jury of men who have no opinion in the case because the families of Mrs. Stannard and her husband are so well and widely known. A secret panel of forty-eight has been drawn. No line on the defense as announced as yet. Mrs. Stannard is well but very nervous.

Owing to Judge Samuel S. Cooper declining to try the case because of his friendship for the family involved, Judge Flannigan of the Iron county court is sitting.

The defendant is the daughter of the late Richard Chynoweth, a pioneer mining man. The dead man was a brother of former Representative W. S. Stannard.

BRAINERD OFFICER WOUNDS FUGITIVE

Young Man Breaking Away From Policeman, Halted Down By Shot.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Betzold, aged 20, had a fight in a saloon and after smashing a window and doing other damage, was taken in charge by Officer Henry Squires. While on the way to the lockup the young man struck the policeman and escaped from his grasp.

Squires promptly drew his revolver and sent a 38 caliber bullet into the leg of the fugitive. The wounded young man was taken to the Northern Pacific hospital, where it was found that the bullet had struck his left leg above the knee, causing a painful flesh wound.

EMBEZZLER GIVEN FOURTEEN MONTHS

Pleads Guilty to Taking North Dakota Elevator's Funds.

Williston, N. D., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because he did not resist extradition, but came back of his own volition after being captured, and because he entered a plea of guilty, A. McGaw, charged with embezzlement, was given a sentence of fourteen months by Judge Fisk. McGaw was formerly the agent of the Dakota & St. Anthony Elevator company at Wheelock, N. D., and when he departed suddenly last spring, an investigation revealed that he was short in his funds about $550. Last week he was located in Canada and returned to the United States voluntarily.

ACQUIT INDIAN HAMMER USER

Redskin Who Struck Man Over Head With Nail Driver Goes Free.

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—After it had been out four hours, the district court jury holding the fate of Alex Jourdan, a Chippewa Indian, accused of using a hammer for a tomahawk on the head of Peter Derret while he lay asleep, taking $55 in cash, returned a verdict of not guilty.

The Indian was arrested in August. The alleged crime was committed in Maple Ridge township. Much of the important testimony was given by Indians using the Chippewa language, an interpreter, Joseph Morrison, translating the testimony.

John Carlton will spend the next few years of his life in the penitentiary as the result of a boat ride here last summer with a girl, under 16 years of age. He was found guilty by a jury after short deliberation. He was ordered to Stillwater at hard labor at an indeterminate term, as are all prisoners sentenced under the new law which leaves it to the jurisdiction of the state board of parole to say how long a prisoner must serve.

Murder Case Tuesday.

The case against Stanley Kublik, charged with murder in the first degree as the result of a midnight revolver fight at Kelliher on the night of Sept. 30, when two woodsman were killed, will be tried tomorrow.

The case against Mrs. Ella Potts, charged with maintaining a disorderly house in the northern part of the county, has gone over, but may come up later at the present term of court.

CLOQUET HIGH SCHOOL INSPECTED BY AITON.

Cloquet, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—George B. Aiton, state inspector of high schools, has just completed a tour of inspection of the Cloquet high school. Mr. Aiton was one of the board that awarded Cloquet the $2,500 for industrial work in the schools last spring, and he expressed himself as much gratified with the disposal of the money, part of which went to pay for the greenhouse annex to the high school, and which has just been completed. Cloquet is the only school in the state that has a greenhouse.

GEORGE W. CROSS NEW INDIAN AGENT

Man From New Mexico Takes Charge of Fond du Lac Indians.

Cloquet, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—George W. Cross from Tohatchie, N. M., has been appointed superintendent of the Fond du Lac Indian reservation to fill the vacancy caused by the transfer of A. A. Bear to Oklahoma. The work here since Mr. Bear's departure has been in charge of C. E. Peirce, supervisor of educational work on the reservations in what is known as the fifth district, comprising Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Iowa, Virginia and North Carolina.

F. P. Thompson, for several years proprietor of The Home Tea company, has sold his business to F. V. Shampino, who has taken possession and will conduct the business at the old location. Mr. Shampino was formerly with the Companies store.

Carlton Potato Prices.

Potatoes being shipped from Cloquet to Minneapolis are being bought of the farmers for 42 cents, 2 cents more than a week ago. For Early Ohios the commission men are paying 50 cents, but not many are coming in. For long white potatoes 42 cents, round white, 40 cents, red, 38 cents. Some of the finest white potatoes have brought 45 cents. Four carloads have been shipped the past week to the Minneapolis firm. Many of the farmers are storing their crop, holding them for higher prices. J. L. Von Felend, one of the reservation farmers shipped a carload of potatoes to Nebraska from his own farm. At Atkinson this season fifty carloads have been shipped, and from Mahtowa, both in Carlton county, fifty carloads. Moose Lake promises to send out 100 carloads in the next few weeks as the crop around there is immense and few farmers have begun to dig.

TO DISCUSS FARMING.

J. J. Hill and Others to Meet With Minnesota Bankers.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 16.—The list of speakers that will appear at the meetings of the Northwestern Bankers' association convention to be held in the Twin Cities Wednesday and Thursday of this week to confer on agricultural education includes: James J. Hill, chairman board of directors Great Northern railroad; A. O. Eberhart, governor of Minnesota; Dr. George D. Vincent, president of University of Minnesota; C. G. Schultz, state superintendent of instruction; Bradford Knapp of the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.; Dr. A. F. Woods, dean and director of the department of agriculture, University of Minnesota; Prof. Andrew Boss, college of agriculture, University of Minnesota; Prof. A. D. Wilson, extension division University of Minnesota; S. E. Hargis, superintendent of Litchfield public schools; John Monroe, superintendent Cokato Associated School of Agriculture; E. C. Colgaard, Mayville, N. D.; M. D. Kelly, Beardsley, Chicago.

The meeting was called by the Minnesota State Bankers' association, and invitations were sent to the banking associations of Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Oregon Washington and Wisconsin. Replies have been received from representatives in nearly all these states saying they will be here.

THREE AFTER MAYORALTY.

Thief River Falls Has Lively Municipal Campaign.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The election of city officials for Thief River Falls occurs in four weeks and numerous candidates have filed for the various positions. Three citizens have filed for mayor and a lively campaign will be waged from now until election settles the matter.

Lars Backe, former city clerk for many years, is one of those desiring election to the highest office. The president of the Northwestern Drainage company, A. M. Arpin, is also a candidate, and a Soo engineer, W. A. Boorem also seeks preferment in the same direction. From two to five persons are running for the other places.

The Public Ownership or Socialist party has a full ticket in the field. Congressman Berger of Milwaukee will speak in this city Monday evening and it will be the opening gun in the local fight.

The First National bank has installed the latest modern burglar alarm known as a protection to its property.

DESPONDENT FARMER FATALLY SHOOTS SELF.

Deering, N. D., Oct. 16.—Despondency and finances was the cause of the suicide of John Bratton, a farmer residing six miles from here. He was found lying in the granary on his farm with a bullet wound in the temple, while near by, with one hand still resting on it, was the weapon he had used.

ARCADE DUBOLD, AGED LAKE LINDENITE, DIES.

Lake Linden, Mich., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—From St. Joseph's church, this morning, services were held for Arcade Dubold, one of the old residents of Lake Linden, who died Friday evening, after a residence in the Torch lake district of thirty years, aged 72. The deceased was born in Canada and at the age of 42 came to Lake Linden, where he had resided continuously ever since. There survive the widow and five dauaghters—Mrs. Mendor La Plante, Mrs. Alphonse Mountainbleau, Mrs. Felix Lanouette, Jr., and Mrs. Fred La Motte of Torch lake, and Mrs. Joseph Cacelier of Houghton.

NORTH DAKOTA FARMER KILLED WHILE THRASHING.

Towner, N. D., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Drawn into the main drive belt of a thrashing machine, Fabian Black, a farmer residing near here was almost instantly killed. Mr. Black was a well known farmer of this district for over twenty years.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Eau Claire—After being out twenty hours a jury rendered a verdict for $400 in the case of Vangelden against the Chippewa Valley Railway, Light and Power company. The plaintiff sued for $10,000 for injuries to his 14-year-old son who walked against a broken trolley wire and was rendered unconscious and burned.

Madison—In the capture of Abe Kruger and Philip Levi at Chicago, Friday, State Fire Marshal T. M. Purtell claims to have a pair of firebugs whose specialty is the cremation of horses.

La Crosse—Frank Celic, aged 46, an inmate of the La Crosse county poor-farm, refuses to partake of food in an effort to starve himself to death, and thus end his suffering from rheumatism.

Fond du Lac—Emil Cankovich, charged with the murder of Michael Panjk, was found not guilty after a sensational trial. The defense alleged and adduced testimony to show that Panjk, who was a boarder in the Cankovich home at Juneau, broke up his landlord's home and was the aggressor in the quarrel that ended in his death at the hands of Cankovich.

Appleton—There are 534 students in Lawrence college this year who are members of churches, and they represent a fourteen different denominations. Fourteen different nationalities, nearly every county in Wisconsin and over a dozen states are represented besides the foreign countries.

Bayfield—John Houser, who has charge of the Vollenweider farm, brought a sample bunch of strawberries to town Wednesday and hung them in the window of the First National bank. They comprised all sizes and stages of growth from the little green ones to the large and lusclous red-ripe berries.

Ashland—Miesl Kazinkewcz was fined $25 and costs by Judge Garvin Friday for keeping his meat market, on St. Clair street, in an unsanitary condition. The complaint was made by F. M. Buzzell, a food inspector from Madison.

Madison—The civil service examinations for sealers of weights and measures will be held Nov. 11. All applicants must communicate with the state civil service commission at Madison before Nov. 6.

Ashland—Ashland saloon keepers who received jail sentences for selling liquor to Indians will not lose their licenses because the offenses for which they were punished were committed prior to the present license year.

Eau Claire—One of the first building operations that will be undertaken next spring will be the erection of a commodious guild hall for Our Savior's Lutheran church on Fulton street. This church, under the pastorage of Rev. O. S. Rygg, has prospered beyond measure and has increased in numbers to such an extent as to render additional space imperative.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—On Thursday the Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity will formerly install their honorary members. These members are Judge Chas. F. Amidon of the federal district bench. Chief Justice D. E. Morgan and Associate Justices B. F. Spalding and Chas. J. Fish of the state supreme court; Judge C. F. Templeton of the first judicial district, Attorney B. G. Skulason and Prof. R. W. Cooley of the law school faculty.

Minot, N. D.—In the case of Dr. F. X. Offerman of this city, who has entered a plea in the district court of not guilty to the charge of practicing medicine without a license, thorough test of at least one or two features of the new medical law of the state will be had. Dr. Offerman has been under arrest for some time and his trial will take place this week.

Fargo—General M. A. Hildreth of this city, has just received official notice that he has been made a member of the board of trustees for three years of the National Rifle Association of America, which has its headquarters in the city of Washington.

Devils Lake, N. D.—One of the biggest realty transfers that has been made in Ramsey county for some time is that of the Merchants Investment Co. of Page, N. D., in transferring ten quarter sections of land in Triumph township to W. J. Thompson, cashier of the Page bank. The land comprises 1,640 acres.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Sheriff Riley of Itasca county, Minnesota, was in Grand Forks Saturday to take charge of John Millich, who was arrested at Larimore by Deputy Sheriffs Haugen and Fischer of this city. Millich was arrested on complaint of Sheriff Riley for procuring goods under false pretences.

Minot, N. D.—The state normal board has refused to employ an attorney to defend on Oct. 24 the suit started in the supreme court by Attorney General Miller attacking the validity of the constitutional amendment providing for a normal school at Minot. This action was taken on the ground that since the attorney general, the attorney for the board, is attacking the amendment the board cannot also defend the attack.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Leo Tracy of this city is nursing a very sore arm received at Fargo when assisting in getting a thrashing engine ready for work. In some way or other a valve was opened and the hot steam struck him on the right arm. He will be compelled to wear his arm in a sling for some time.

La Moure, N. D.—After being out thirty-four hours the jury brought in a verdict of guilty against P. A. Dodson on the charge of horse stealing. He was informed against by S. E. Geneau. The steal was accomplished through the Edgeley livery man, Lew Carter, who previously pleaded guilty to the charge. Sentence has been deferred until tomorrow.

Jamestown N. D.—R. W. Wharton, a laboring man who had been employed in the vicinity of Melville, came to the city hospital here for treatment Monday afternoon and died at that institution Tuesday morning. The cause of the stranger's demise is unknown.

Langdon, N. D.—H. C. Henry, engineer on the thrashing crew of John Fischer at Mt. Carmel, every season for the past nine years has left for Hibbing, Minn., where he operates the machinery of a large saw mill for a lumber company during the winter season.

Elgin, N. D.—A farmer named Mutz, aged 76, stepped off a mower to fix the sickle, when the team started to run, dragging him a great distance, lacerating the body and killing him instantly.

Webster, N. D.—James G. Rathbun, 50 years old, and pioneer merchant of this place, is laid up at his home with a broken shoulder and scars upon face and body, which probably will disfigure him for life as the result of an attack upon him by a fractious horse which he was trying to manage.

Marquette—Rev. Bates G. Burt left Thursday night for Omaha, Neb., where he will represent the state of Michigan at the convention of the American Prison association, which meets in that city from the 14th to the 19th inclusive. Rev. Mr. Burt received his appointment as a delegate from Governor Osborn.

Negaunee—Sunday and Monday mark the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the Swedish Evangelical Lutheran Bethany congregation in Negaunee. The celebration began Sunday morning with the regular morning service at 10 o'clock, and the holy communion of the Lord's supper. Rev S. Bergdahl of Republic gave the preparatory sermon.

Ontonagon—Dr. A. L. Swinton, worshipful matser of the local lodge, A. F. & A. M., has been advised that three grand lodge officers will be here Thursday afternoon, Oct. 19, to pay a visit to the lodge here. The officers coming are Right Worshipful Junior Grand Warden William Perrett of Detroit, Worshipful Grand Tyler James F. McGregor of Detroit and Right Grand Worshipful Lecturer Frank O. Gilbert of Detroit.

Crystal Falls—Game Warden Wilson caught an Italian at the Hollister who had been killing partridge. The fellow was fined $10 and $6 costs.

Calumet—Fire, believed to have been the work of incendiaries, broke out Friday on Peter Coppo's farm, Section 30, and before it was overcome had caused damage estimated at about $3,000. A large hennery, incubators and other poultry equipment, were destroyed.

Laurium—The Laurium village council has awarded a bond issue of $24,500 to the W. E. Moss company, Detroit. The successful bid was at par with an accrued interest premium of $525. The Savings bank of Laurium, First National bank of Laurium and R. W. Wetzel of Laurium were other bidders.

Calumet—The Young People's Christian Endeavor society of the Calumet Congregational church met here and elected these officers: President, George Fuller; vice president, Miss Catherine MacNaughton; secretary, Miss Blanche McDonald; treasurer, Arthur Erickson.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

East Grand Forks—Reinhardt Erickson, aged 42 years, died of paralysis Thursday evening. He had been ill for some time and had gradually been becoming weaker until the end came. The deceased was one of the best known men of the city. He came to East Grand Forks in 1891 and has resided here ever since, the larger share of the time having been employed tending bar.

Roseau—J. S. Lang, committed to the Fergus Falls hospital, has been discharged as cured. Lang was brought down from Warroad and labored under the delusion that he was Christopher Columbus. Charles Gustavson was also discharged from the same institution as credited to Roseau county, having been committed from some other county.

Pine River—The farmers are bringing in lots of potatoes and car loads are being shipped daily. Wednesday over 2,000 bushels were received by E. L. Forbes, and the Wadena buyer here also received his share. Last week opened with the price at 40 cents per bushel, but lasted only a couple of days, when it dropped back to 35 cents.

International Falls—The hearing in the case of judicial drainage ditch known as No. 3 and located in the Littlefork country, was held Thursday before Judge Stanton at Bemidji and was approved in its original form. The viewers were Carl Hillstead and H. C. Grove of Big Falls and John Allen of Littlefork.

Northome—Gilbert Feldman, who for the past few months has been employed by the state as assistant forest ranger stationed at this place, left last week for Chicago, where he has accepted a position with the Engineering Equipment company as draftsman.

St. Cloud—Information was received in St. Cloud Friday of a sad fatality that befell the 15-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Willenbring at Richmond yesterday. The little one fell into a kettle of boiling water and was scalded to death.

Fosston—E. O. Fjerstad of Brandsvold reports the record yield of oats yold this season, as far as is learned. From a small field of three acres there were 279 bushels thrashed, or ninety-three bushels per acre. Mr. Fjerstad raised this phenomenal crop upon corn stubble land.

Warroad—No pulpwood will be cut in this district the coming winter, the International Falls mill having refused to buy any more, except what has already been cut. The reason for this is that they have too large a supply on hand—enough to keep the mill running for two years.

Bagley—Charles Zepski, an Austrian, caught breaking into a box car at Clearbrook last week, was brought here by Sheriff Anderson and on Wednesday taken to Bemidji before Judge Stanton, where he pleaded guilty and was given a state prison sentence.

Moorhead—County Attorney N. I. Johnson decided that no action would be taken against Ole Larson, the man who was arrested for attempted fraud in tendering a worthless check for goods which he had purchased. He did not secure the goods and the county attorney declines to undergo the expense of attempting to secure a conviction.

Brainerd—Frank McGuire, the dispatcher at the depot, has bought a forty-horse power motor boat with a hydro-aeroplane attachment and will enter the boat in the races at Rice Lake.

Northfield—At the annual convention of the Sixth District Woman's Relief corps, held here, the following officers were elected. District president, Mrs. Mae Chapman of St. Cloud; senior vice president, Mrs. Rose Murphy of Faribault; junior vice president, Mrs. Hall of St. Paul; treasurer, Maud Ordway of Northfield; chaplain, Mrs. Nelle Morse of St. Paul.

Stillwater—The state board of parole, consisting of P. M. Ringdal, chairman of the board of control, Henry Wolfer, warden of the prison, and Rev. Samuel G. Smith of St. Paul held their monthly meeting at the prison Friday. There were twenty-seven petitioners for release upon their good behavior.

PIONEER IS SUMMONED

Morris Thomas Succumbs to Heart Disease at His Home.

Twice Served in City Council—Came to Duluth in 1880.

Morris Thomas, for more than thirty-one years a well known and respected resident of Duluth, and twice serving in the city council, died this morning at his home, 1512 Jefferson street. His death was due to heart trouble.

Mr. Thomas was actively engaged in the contracting and lumber business most of the time since he has lived in Duluth, retiring but a short time ago on account of ill health. He came to Duluth in 1880 from Shewano, Wis.

Mr. Thomas' record in the city council was a very creditable one and while in the aldermanic body, he earned for himself a reputation for rigid honesty and efficiency. It was for him that the well known county highway, the Morris Thomas road, was named.

In his private life, Mr. Thomas was loved and respected by numerous friends. He was a Freemason, belonging to one of the local lodges and his funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon from the Masonic temple to Forest Hill cemetery.

He is survived by a widow and one son, Frank M. Thomas, who resides at 1511 East Fourth street. Mr. Thomas was 65 years old.

ARRESTED FOR "SHINING DEER"

Game Warden Catches Settler Hunting With Aid of a Light.

Last week an unknown man who was "shining" deer back of Lakeside shot a valuable horse, evidently mistaking the animal for a deer. Game Warden Thomas J. Storey was notified and Saturday night he visited the neighborhood. Traveling on foot about five miles back of Lester Park he caught Charles Linkstrom, a settler, hunting deer with a light. He had not shot any deer as far as the warden could ascertain, but the latter stated that he was undoubtedly looking for them. It is expected that Linkstrom will be arraigned in police court tomorrow or the day following.

Several Wills Are Probated Before Judge of Local Court.

The will of Lawrence Case of Prairie du Chien, Wis., was admitted to probate this morning by Judge S. W. Gilpin.

The estate is worth in the neighborhood of $40,000 and is divided among two daughters and one son, each getting one third.

One of the daughters is Mrs. Charles C. Rogers of Duluth and the other is Laura Carey of Milwaukee. C. A. Case, the son, of Prairie du Chien.

The estate of Tom Madden was finally closed this morning. He left property worth about $10,000.

The will of William C. Howenstine was admitted to probate. The property left is worth about $5,000.

A peculiar case to come up this afternoon is that of Andrew Temples, who was killed by a Great Northern train in North Dakota some months ago.

During the month of June and just one day previous to the time in which the heirs had to sue the railroad company, an administrator was appointed by the local probate court at the request of relatives.

It was stated that he was a resident of Brookston, Minn. The attorneys for the railroad company now claim that he was never a resident of Minnesota and the administrator and heirs will have to prove that he was actually a resident of this state before suit can be brought.

TUGMAN DIES.

Arthur Beauchemin Dies After a Lingering Illness.

He is survived by a wife and six children, Mrs. H. P. O'Donnell, and Viola, Arthur, Vivian, Albert and Harold Beauchemin all of this city and he also leaves a brother, Phillip Beauchemin and three sisters, Mrs. William Chaussee, Mrs. Michael Chaussee and Mrs. Charles Bernard of Jefferson, S. D., all of whom will be here for the funeral which will take place tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock from the family residence and at 9 o'clock from the St. Jean Baptiste church in the West end. Interment will be at Calvary cemetery.

ISLE OF PINES

$500 Per Acre for Unimproved Land. I say that the above price will be paid for unimproved land in the Isle of Pines within a few years, not over seven years, and possibly in five years. I say this because I have every reason to say it. I do not believe any fair minded, sensible business man can see otherwise if he has the facts before him, and will mold the facts together.

I have spent portions of five years on the Island. I know what has been done there and know what is being done now. I know the people. I knew the land. I know the country. I know the facts. I can't tell you all about it here as it costs too much, but give me a chance to talk to you about it and you will come to the same conclusion. Land now at less than $100 per acre, easy terms.

HIS "SINGING" WAS TOO MUCH

John Framich Insisted on Vocal Exercises and Arrest Follows.

John Framich pleaded guilty to second degree assault before Judge Cant of the district court this morning, but was not sentenced until more particulars of the case are learned.

Framich is said to have assaulted Joseph J. Berry after a row in a saloon. He had not been indicted, but had been bound over to the grand jury.

He preferred, he said, to plead guilty and save the time between now and the next session of the grand jury, which will be in November.

Framich is said to have insisted on singing in the saloon in which the trouble took place. Some of the men are said to have objected to the singing, claiming that it was not singing. Framich took exception to the latter fact and in the general melee which followed Berry received knife wounds which did not turn out seriously, however.

Kept Saloon Open Sunday.
William Garceau, bartender at the Montreal Saloon on West Superior street, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of keeping his saloon open on Sunday. Sergeant Roberg and Patrolman Musolf followed a customer into the barroom, and it is claimed that they found thirteen men inside. When his name was called this morning Garceau was not present, and a bench warrant was ordered for him. He appeared later and paid a fine of $100, entering a plea of guilty.

For Stealing Coal.
Grover Dickley, 17 years old, was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of petty larceny. It is claimed that he has been stealing coal from the Duluth Iron & Metal company, whose establishment is back of the police station on the lake front, and selling it. He pleaded guilty, but the case was set over until this afternoon to give the court an opportunity to make a further inquiry into the facts.

Heavy Shipments.
More than 1,000,000 bushels of bonded grain were shipped through this port to various Canadian points last month, according to the customs officials in the federal building. Other cargoes of coal, etc., were also entered in large quantities, but October will probably be the biggest and heaviest of the year, even exceeding last month's shipments.

Form Athletic Club.
Office employes of the Great Northern formed an athletic club Saturday at a meeting held for that purpose. Various teams, indulging in popular branches of athletics, will be put in the field at once to compete with Duluth and Superior teams. An indoor baseball team has been organized with William Berg as manager.

Will Be Tried in Anoka.
Sheriff McKinnon and District Attorney McKay will leave James Dygart in Anoka county to stand trial there. If the prosecution should fail there, he will be brought to Douglas county for trial. It is not believed that the $700 reward offered by the state will be given unless Dygart is brought here.

Will Inspect School.
The building and sites committee of the board of education will inspect the Matt Carpenter school this week with a view to recommending or disapproving the improvements that have been urged by Principal Clemens and Commissioner Holzberg. It is claimed that the building is insanitary and requires about $40,000 in improvements. The board has been asked to abolish the basement for kindergarten use as it is very unhealthful for the children.

LITTLE DOING WITH THE COPPERS

Trading Light and Fluctuations Narrow—Both Gains and Losses.

Neither the bears nor the bulls scored any signal victories on the copper market today. There was little trading, and while some of the stocks closed at slight gains, others showed slight losses. The most interesting feature, from the standpoint of a Duluthian, was a raid that was made by bears at Boston on the shares of the Cactus Copper company at Duluth. These bears have evidently, according to the view taken by some of the Duluth brokers, been watching with keen interest the movement for the merger of the Cactus with the Combination Keating Mining c mpany of Minneapolis, and they want to buy in the Cactus shares cheap, anticipating that they will be much more valuable after the Combination has been absorbed.

The movement of the copper market up to noon today may best be described by calling it dull and irregular. The list did not move together nor was there a great deal of trading. Most of the openings were fairly strong and it seemed that there would be another bullish day in the coppers but they did not fulfill this promise. There was no incentive to the bulls from the New York general stock list, for that was weak most of the morning. The report of a decrease in the visible supply of copper in foreign countries was a bull factor, but it did not affect the market greatly. President McCormick of the International Harvester company reported a larger business than last year. Accountants for the sugar investigating committee, it was announced, had decided to report no sugar trust. These pieces of news were such as might be expected to encourage the bulls on the New York general stock market, but somehow they did not seem to be very aggressive or successful.

Among the day's copper movements were the following: Amalgamated, Saturday's close, $52.25; today, $52.67½, $52.50, $51.37½, $51.62½, $51.50, $52; Butte Ballaklava, Saturday, $3.75 bid, $3.87½ asked; today, $3.87½, $3.87½ asked; today, $3.93¾; Greene-Cananea, Saturday, $5.87½ bid, $6 asked; today, $5.83¾, $5.87½; North Butte, Saturday, $25 bid, $25.25 asked; today, $25.12½, $25.37½, $25, $24.75, $24.50; Keating, Saturday, $2.25 asked; today, $2.25 asked; Cactus, Saturday, 20 to 24 cents; today, 23c, 21c, 18c, 17c, 19c, 18c; Butte Coalition, Saturday, $15 bid, $15.50 asked; today, $15.25; Butte & Superior, Saturday and today, $8.50 to $9.

DETECTIVES MAKE HAUL

Arrest Two Alleged Shoplifters and Confiscated Goods Found.

Young Girl and Brother Used Clever Device in Operations.

Oliver and Annie Nelson, brother and sister, aged 32 and 19, have shoplifting reduced to an exact science, say the police who raided their rooms in a flat at 2102 West Superior street this afternoon.

Detectives Terry and Toewe took them in custody and made a big haul of alleged stolen valuables. The assortment was most varried and included several hundred dollars worth of silverware, dress goods, shoes, laces, fancy work and numerous other valuables

The Nelsons operated, it is claimed, with the kind of a pasteboard box usually put out by tailors for enclosing suits and making a slot with a flap in the bottom. The box, when ready for service, has the appearance of being carefully wrapped up and is carried under their arms. They enter department stores, say the police, and, watching an opportunity, "lift" whatever suits their fancy and drop it into the slot in the box.

Annie, a mere girl, confessed to the detectives that she had learned the game in Minneapolis before she came to Duluth with her brother five months ago. Before she learned shoplifting she worked as a domestic, she declared. She has been in this country five years.

When the Nelsons came to Duluth they rented a suite of rooms over the J. J. Moe & Sons' department store, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street.

FARM FOR EACH COUNTY

That Is Aim of Agricultural College and Commercial Clubs.

Greatest Factor in Teaching Value of Scientific Farming.

D. M. Neill, president of the Minnesota Federation of Commercial clubs, and Dean Woods of the Minnesota State Agricultural college, are in Duluth today upon a trip of investigation and inspection of the experiment farms and experiment stations in the Northern part of the state.

What both these gentlemen want, and they say they are going to use every effort to accomplish it, is an experimental farm in every county in the state. As Mr. Neill explained it, these farms bring the farmer into close touch with scientific farming, show him precisely what can be accomplished by it and also encourage students to attend the state agricultural college.

Mr. Neill pointed out that the work of the state college was limited in a sense to the students who could attend it. But with experiment farms in the various counties treating with local conditions and bringing the farmers in close touch with problems right on their own farms, the farmers of every part of the state would be brought into intimate touch with the great movement of economical and progressive cultivation of the soil.

Conditions at Crookston, where there is a branch of the state agricultural college, Bemidji and other points have been studied on the present trip. A trip was also paid to Judge and Mrs. R. C. Spooner at Deer Lake, eighteen miles from Bemidji, where Dean Woods and Mr. Neill spent Saturday and Sunday.

"At the present time there are about 200 commercial clubs in the state," he said, "with 125 of them in the state federation. The Duluth club is among the leaders of the state clubs and if there were more clubs doing the work of the Duluth club, the progress in the state would be amazingly increased.

"The Duluth Commercial club has the right idea," said Mr. Neill. "It is working with the city, and that is the right plan. Mr. Hostetter is doing a great work, more and greater work than he is generally given credit for. The work being done by the Duluth club is being felt in the northern part of the state, and if there were half a dozen more clubs like it wonderful things would be accomplished.

"You have the right idea up here, and you have big men who are going about the work in the right manner, and that is not mere 'jolly' either."

MEXICAN REBELS CUT TO PIECES

Forces Are Caught Between Two Federal Commanders.

City of Mexico, Oct. 16.—Today's advices from Cuernavaca say that the 500 followers of Zapata were cut to pieces in the battle near the village of Tepextlan yesterday, but the leader himself once more escaped.

The rebels were caught between the forces of Gen. Figueroa and Col. Blanquet. Two hundred of them are said to have been killed and a large number wounded and many taken prisoners.

BISHOP VAN DE VYVER DEAD AT RICHMOND, VA.

A GOD BLESS YOU FOR A CENT.

New York Sun: "Boss, have you got a penny?"

So a very spare but very cheerful faced old lady to this passerby.

"Your wants are not extravagant," said the man, and he handed her over a cent; though he found that it did make him feel rather mean to comply with her demand so literally.

But apparently she didn't look at it so; she smiled upon the man and said: "God bless you!"

And then the man passed on and left her there still smiling, while he had now a new feeling of reproach for himself, this time over taking her "God bless you" at a bargain price.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

WATCHING THE BATTLE FOR FOOTBALL HONORS

Illinois Appears the Strongest Team in the Conference Football Circle--A Stand Against Professional Football.

(BY BRUCE.)

SATURDAY closed practically the second week of the Western football season. Two weeks is a very short time in which to judge a team. Therefore it is not in the least surprising that at the present time, among the conference teams at least, there is really no foundation upon which we can judge of the relative strength of the conference members.

Minnesota passed the early weekly inspection up and for that reason football critics in the West cannot pass upon the probable strength of the Gophers, not knowing whether last week was one of progress or one in which little advancement was made by the camparatively green team at Minneapolis. But with Shevlin and Johnny McGovern hammering at the candidates, not to mention Springer Brooks, the Yale player, it seems that the heavy Minnesota men must have registered some gain.

But leaving the Gophers for the time being, we can turn to Wisconsin and Chicago, two of the most respectable rivals of the U. of M., in name of school at least, and figure how they stand.

The Badgers are showing improvement with the progression of the season's play and the prediction is being made around the Western college circle that the Badgers will at least figure in the calculations the present season, something that the Cardinal players have not done for several seasons.

With victories over Lawrence and Ripon to the credit of the Badgers, and these games won by scores indicating undoubted superiority, and with reports coming from the camp Madison indicating a steady improvement in play, until Wisconsin meets one of the big teams of the West, one has the justifiable right in classing the Badgers seriously as one of the Western contenders, and that means only the conference teams, in the present sense.

Chicago did not have the easy time with Purdue than had generally been predicted. The weight enabled them judging wholly by the reports of the contest, to come strong, to grind some of the speed out of the Boilermakers and win. This was not accomplished until the Purdue had thrown a scare into the big stands at Marshall field and must have also sent a sudden icy chill down the spine of Papa Stagg, who hopes fervently to put some kind of a representative team into the field the present season.

Illinois appears at the present time stronger than either Chicago or Wisconsin, though always it should be borne in mind that so early as the present time there is abundance of room for swift and almost revolutionary development in any of the big teams of the West.

Everything considered the Illini should be stronger right at the present time than either Chicago or Wisconsin. The reason for this statement is very simple. Last season Illinois had one of the strongest. Chicago had one of the poorest teams in its history and Wisconsin surely did not have an eleven that compared with some of the grand aggregations Phil King used to turn out at Madison.

With a great team last season and some of the best of the veterans back, the coaches at Illinois have not nearly so far to go nor is the road nearly as rough as is the case at Chicago and Madison. Therefore though there is but little real basis for comparison so early in the season, one is justified by logical conclusions alone to believe the Illini stronger at this time.

There is Nebraska to consider, for next Saturday the worthy Cornhuskers will come to Northrup field and meet the Gophers in the first big game of the season at Northrup field.

If one were to consider scores alone, the impression would be gained that Nebraska has one of the best teams in its history. But scores in the present case do not justify that conclusion. It is safe to say that the Cornhuskers will not be represented by one of the strongest teams in the history of the school, though this does not mean that the Gopher coaches are not worried over the game of next Saturday.

In the games played so far Nebraska has run up large scores against teams that are reported as weak. There is no satisfaction in running up large scores against weak teams in the only games on the schedule before playing one of the biggest games of the entire season. Therefore you can figure for yourself that right at the present time the Cornhuskers are not really as strong as they would be, to all intents and purposes, had they met two stronger teams in the first two games and had some real tryout.

While a hard game is looked for at Northrup field, the prediction is made here that the Gophers will win. The Gophers must come and come fast to figure in the conference championship, but they should do that. At Lincoln the team has rolled up large scores and has encountered no opposition sufficient to show any glaring weakness of offense or defense. Anyone who has followed football knows that such a state is not an ideal way for a coach to ascertain the greatest fault of the machine he is trying to perfect.

On the second week of the season it is clearly apparent that Michigan is the class of the West. Perhaps when the Wolverines play the Cornhuskers on Nov. 25 this fact will be brought out as far as comparative scores can bring out any conclusion of football. The defeat of the Michigan Agricultural college by the U. of Michigan aggregation only strengthens the belief that Yost has one of the best teams he has developed in recent years.

Down at Northrup field the Gophers have had a strenuous week. When men have any fight and grit in them, sometimes a setback, or something almost amounting to a setback, early in the season, is a good thing. In the season that Minnesota was early defeated by Nebraska the Gophers rallied and won from Wisconsin by the score of 11 to 0. The Gophers have played two close and harrowing games, harrowing in the fear they raised for actual tie or defeat, and this lesson is one to inspire the hardest kind of work.

IN offering a silver loving cup emblematic of the city football championship of Duluth, Max Klein has been wise enough to secure sound advice in framing the rules that shall govern the play for the cup. The soundest rule of all is the one declaring unmistakably against professionalism that has crept into the local games with boid and unblushing tread the present season.

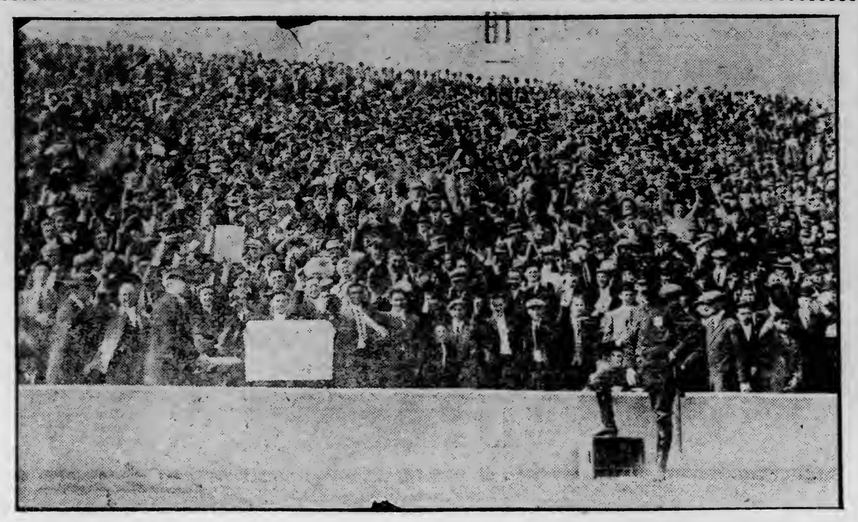

Because a team can go out and buy the championship, going outside of Duluth to accomplish an end, does not reflect highly on the ethical side of football, the men at the head of the team in question, or the stability of the game. Such a condition cannot last and the responsibility for the wrecking can be laid at the door of certain men who have showed utter lack of any fine qualities of sportsmanship.

Football has been ruined in too many places for mention by professional methods. The winning of a championship in a football center where the games are supposed to be amateur games, by the bringing of paid players into the game, and the going out of the city to secure these players, is adopting methods that are going to kill the game sooner or later, and that such methods are frowned upon by the donor of a cup, carrying with it the amateur city championship, shows a move in the direction of clean sport.

BRAINERD TAKES PRIDE IN PITCHER BENDER.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The world's series between the Philadelphia Athletics and the New York Giants is of more than ordinary interest here because the crack Indian pitcher of the Athletics, Bender, was born in Brainerd. At the time of his residence in Brainerd, he was of too young an age to show any evidence of that wonderful baseball talent which cropped out when he attended Carlisle.

SECTION OF WORLD'S SERIES CROWD AT NEW YORK

CENTRAL IS THE WINNER

Playing against a team of its own weight for the first time the present season, Central's football eleven surprised its staunchest admirers Saturday by literally sweeping the Grand Forks high school team off its feet and winning a clean and well-played contest by the score of 13 to 0.

Showing a reversal of form over the game played against the normal team, the hilltop boys at times played brilliant ball. Massing interference on end and off tackle, with the forwards working in harmony with the backfield in turning the opposing tackles in on the plays off tackle, and ripping holes on the few straight line bucks, Central in the first three minutes of play showed marked superiority over the Fleckertail kids.

Those who have followed the high school team in the other two games of the season expected a close game Saturday, with the possibility of defeat coming up to cause apprehension. When the two teams trotted onto the field it was seen that the Grand Forks boys had a little the better of it in weight. And in addition, the Grand Forks aggregation seemed in nowise lacking in confidence over the outcome. With the kickoff to Central, the doubt over the outcome speedily disappeared. With Brown, Crassweller, Kerns and McClaran carrying the ball in formation plays that ripped and swung off tackle or skirted the bewildered ends of the visiting team, the oval was carried from Central's 25-yard line right up under the proverbial shadow of the Grand Forks' goal, the local team never failing to make distance.

Here the march was stopped for the moment and the ball booted out of danger. But once again in possession of the ball, the high school again started its march toward the visitors' goal. The backs carried the ball right up to the goal line and then Capt. Bob Mars plunged through tackle for the first touchdown Central has made the present season.

The Second Score.

Not again until the third quarter was a score registered. This was made on a dodging twenty-yard sprint by Crassweller, the halfback planting the ball squarely behind the goal posts. As in the case of the first touchdown, Kerns missed the goal.

In the last quarter with the ball on the Grand Forks' twenty-yard line and about ten yards to go on the third down, McClaran signalled for a drop kick, and Currie dropped back out of the line. Clean and true Osman passed the ball into the hands of the waiting kicker, and straight as a die Currie booted it over, the ball sailing squarely between the goal posts.

In the words of an enthusiast, "she was a grand old day." Central showed some of the best football that has been played here for several seasons. The boys justified the belief of the rooters of the team. With the exception of one position in the line, the visitors were completely outplayed, and that, too, in a manner that made Duluthians proud of a team that is capable of playing the ball Central showed.

The big surprise of the day was the playing of the backfield. Crassweller, Brown, Kerns and McClaran played the best ball by far of the present season. Johnny Kerns and young Crassweller showed real brilliance as high school backs at times. Crassweller in particular ran low, picked openings, dodged cleverly and kept on going when hit by the tackler.

Mat Brown showed speed and remarkable strength on straight plays. Several times he was sent into the line on straight football, and on these occasions he plowed through the opposition, once or twice carrying tacklers along with him.

McClaran improved upon the best he has done for Central. His interference for the runner and his protection for the man handling the punt on a kick by the opposition from scrimmage, as well as his occasional carrying of the ball, stamp the youngster as a heady player and one ready at all times to take advantage of openings.

Bob Mars again showed ability to follow the ball and pip the runner that stamps the leader of Central as one of the best high school ends ever developed here. Many times during the game Mars plunged in, diving low, and stopped the runner for a loss. He kilted off tackle plays and Grand Forks found it useless to attempt to run his end.

Young Harris played a clever and strong game on the other wing, working with "Swede" O'Brien so well that the runner was almost invariably thrown for a loss. Taking the line from Harris to Mars, with the exception of St. Clair, who occasionally permitted his opponent to come plunging through to spill and spoil plays, it outplayed Grand Forks and seldom allowed the visitors to gain their distance.

St. Clair played very good ball at times, once or twice breaking through and helping pile things up. But at other times he failed to hold his man, though it must be said in his credit that he had a strong and heavy man against him.

Central played a corking game, everything considered, and those who witnessed the contest saw some good clean football well played. A large crowd was present and some of the best rooting of the season was done by the hill top brigade.

ADAMS TEAM IS WINNER

In connection with the thrill of the aeroplane exhibition at Athletic park yesterday afternoon, the Adams defeated the Jeffersons at football, the score being 11 to 0.

The Jeffersons put up a hard fight, but they were outplayed by the West end men. The East enders showed familiarity with the forward pass, and worked it at times for good gains, but they lost the advantage they gained by fumbling on the part of the backs.

Only three quarters were played, as the aviator was anxious to make his flight before dark, and the game was called at the end of the third quarter. It was impossible to finish it on account of the crowd that swept on to the field when the aviator alighted.

The first score came in the first five minutes of play. The Adams men carried the ball down the field by steady, consistent gains, and Alder went over for a touchdown.

In the second quarter, the Jeffersons held the West end boys even, but in the third quarter Buchanan plowed his way across the line for the second touchdown.

AMERICANS WIN TWO GAMES

St. Louis, Oct. 16.—The Americans won two games from the Nationals in the series for the city championship by scores of 6 to 2 and 10 to 8. The second game was called after the fifth inning on account of darkness. The scores:

First game—

Nationals	00200000	2	7	1

Batteries—Lake and Stephens; Steele, Harmon and Bliss.

Second game—

		R.	H.	E.
Americans	11503	10	12	4
Nationals	42200	8	8	2

Batteries — Hamilton, Mitchell and Stephens; Laudermilk, Geyer and Bliss. Umpires—Perrine and Johnstone.

CINCINNATI IS THE WINNER

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 16.—Cincinnati won the inter-league series to decide the championship of Ohio here yesterday by defeating Cleveland in the second game of the double-header, 7 to 0. Cleveland won the first game, 4 to 2. Six games were played to decide the supremacy, one at Cincinnati and five at Cleveland. Cincinnati won the first three, dropped the next two and then captured the sixth.

Cleveland won the first game because of the effectiveness of Pitcher Kaler. Keefe, who started for Cincinnati, was hit freely, but Fromme, who succeeded him, had the American leaguers under his thumb.

The National leaguers jumped on Blanding for four runs in the first inning of the second game, and hit three other pitchers, Mitchell, James and Baskette, hard.

Suggs, in the meantime, pitched shut-out ball for Cincinnati. It was his second shut-out victory of the series. The scores:

First game—

		R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	02020000	4	8	3
Cincinnati	01000100	2	5	3

Batteries—Kaler and O'Neil; Keefe, Fromme and Clark. Umpires—Evans and Rigler.

Second game—

		R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	00000000	0	4	0
Cincinnati	40200010	7	5	0

Batteries—Blanding, Mitchell, James, Baskette and O'Neil; Suggs and Clark. Umpires—Evans and Rigler.

CONDITIONS ARE IDEAL

Bright Day Dawns at Philadelphia for Second Game of Series.

Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—Baseball enthusiasts who retired last night dubious of the weather for today, were beside themselves with joy when they took a peep at the sky this morning, found that everything was just right for the second game between the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Athletics for the championship of the world which will be played at Shibe park this afternoon.

Shibe park is expected to hold its greatest crowd when the two teams appear on the field this afternoon. Arrangements have been made to handle a greater number of people than at the last world's series. The bleachers line began to form at 8 o'clock Sunday night. The early comers brought camp stools and boxes and each carried with him enough eatables to see him through the game today. At midnight more than a thousand were in line and when the gates to the ball grounds were opened at 9 a. m. the crowd about the place numbered nearly 5,000.

The lines stretched four squares away and in the throng of early comers were a number of women. The admission to the bleachers and the field is $1 and these places were the first to be filled. At the grandstand office gates there was another line of "fans" who were waiting to buy $1.50 tickets which would permit them to stand in the aisles and on the promenades. These seats were not placed on sale until later in the morning.

The New York team arrived here before noon and went directly to an uptown hotel. They were accompanied by a large contingent of rooters.

The Philadelphia team reported at Shibe park before 10 o'clock. All donned their baseball uniforms and had a light workout. Baker's arm, which was slightly lacerated by the spike when Snodgrass dashed into him on an attempted steal on Saturday, is slightly swollen but it will not interfere with his going into the game.

The champions of the National league having gotten the "jump" on the premier team of the American league in the opening game in New York on Saturday, the Philadelphia men will take desperate chances to even up the series. The players came out of Saturday's fray in excellent condition. The defeat did not in the least shake their confidence in their ability to finally land baseball's greatest honors. They admit a one-game lead in a short series is a great advantage, but hope that today's result will give them an even chance in the remainder of the games.

The terrific strain under which ball teams labor on the opening day of an important series is now over. Both teams played a cautious game on Saturday apparently feeling each other out. The players will go into today's contest with increased confidence and more chances will be taken on the bases and in the way of working inside trick-plays. Each team has played its trump card in trotting out its best pitchers and the second choice men will today be the leading figures in the game.

SUNDAY GAMES BY CITY FOOTBALL TEAMS

Beavers Defeat Pointers.

The Beavers perambulated to the sand-hills of Park Point and defeated the home team by the score of 5 to 0, yesterday. The Points were held for downs on their 15-yard line and punted out, the punt was received by Paletta who returned it. Hycke of the Beavers, recovered it on the 5-yard line and with nobody in his way waltzed over the line for a touchdown. The game was slow as it was nearly impossible to run in the sand. The Beavers will meet the Lincolns at Twelfth avenue east and London road next Sunday afternoon.

The Beavers claim the honor of making the first touchdown ever made on the Park Point grounds.

Irving Tigers Win.

The Irving Tigers defeated the All Stars to the tune of 25 to 5 yesterday afternoon. The game was fast and interesting, both teams using straight football.

Lincolns Defeat Maroons.

The Lincolns defeated the Maroons yesterday afternoon by the score of 5 to 0. Walzuk made the only score of the game, recovering a punt on the Maroons' fifteen-yard line and tearing across the line.

SOX MAKE IT THREE IN ROW

Cubs Defeated for Third Successive Time By American League Team.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—The largest crowd that ever has witnessed a baseball game in Chicago saw the Chicago American league team win its third successive game from the local National league club in the city championship series yesterday, 4 to 2.

Official figures announced by representatives of the National baseball commission, under the auspices of which the series is being played, gave the attendance at 36,308 and the receipts as $24,552.50. Thousands of persons were refused admission to the park.

"Doc" White, who Saturday opposed the National leaguers and was driven from the box in less than an inning, pitched splendidly yesterday, holding his opponents to six hits while the Americans hammered Cole and McIntyre for ten pelts, four of which were doubles.

The American league players started the scoring in the third when White singled, after Sullivan had fanned, and went to third on McConnell's double. Lord singled to right, scoring White, McConnell going to third and scoring on a passed ball.

One run was scored by the National leaguers in the fourth. Schulte was passed and Doyle fouled out. McConnell booted Saier's grounder and Schulte raced to third. Hofman flied to Callahan and Archer singled to right, scoring Schulte. Graham, batting for Cole, flied to Lord.

In the sixth, the Americans scored another run when Bodie was passed, went to second on Callahan's sacrifice and counted on Tannehill's double. Singles by White, McConnell and Bodie gave the team another score in the seventh.

The Nationals scored their last tally in the eighth when Sheckard walked, stole second and counted on Doyle's hit which McConnell knocked down and then threw wildly to first.

The teams are scheduled to play the fourth and perhaps the final game of the series at the National league park today. The score:

LEITH WINS FROM DUNCAN

Playing great golf, perhaps the greatest game ever seen on the links at the Northland club, W. D. Leith, the instructor of the club, Saturday defeated George Duncan of Hanger hall, London, 3 up and 2 to play.

Never in Duluth have so many beautiful drives been made as were scored by Leith. While he flushed some of his drives, on the other hand he made some of the greatest that have ever been made on a Western golf field. It was this beautiful driving that gave the advantage to the Duluth player.

Duncan did some remarkable driving, too, but he was not finishing well and was not as strong as Leith.

While the day was not as bright as it might have been, one of the most interested galleries of spectators that ever witnessed a golf match here in this city, followed the play with intense enthusiasm.

All through to the sixteen holes the play was remarkably close. What advantage there was lay with the Duluth player. On the sixth hole Duncan missed his drive. While the score was halved from the seventh to the tenth hole, Leith drew ahead in the eleventh hole and with the halving of the score on the sixteenth hole, won the contest.

Following is the progress from the first to the sixteenth and deciding hole:

DUFFY EXPECTS FOUR STRAIGHT

Chicago, Oct. 16.—With three straight victories in the contest for the city championship, Manager Duffy of the American league club declared that he felt confident that his team would take today's game, which would end the series.

Manager Chance of the Nationals said before the game that three defeats meant a tremendous handicap, but that his team would put up the same hard fight today that they had in previous games, and he still had hopes of winning the series.

It is probable that Walsh and Brown will be the pitchers today.

WOODS ARE FULL OF SPORTSMEN

Duluth hunters are flocking to the woods.

Saturday and Sunday the trains were packed with sportsmen in quest of partridges, prairie chickens and water fowl.

It is estimated that 500 hunters have left for the northern woods within the last two days.

Virginia and Hibbing High Athletes Squabble Over Saturday's Game.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hibbing high school football team defeated the Virginia high school team here Saturday afternoon, 6 to 0, but the local boys are not satisfied with the outcome of the conditions connected with the contest. It is claimed by Virginia that Hibbing violated rule 11 of the Range Interscholastic Athletic association, which provides that no player shall be eligible who has attended high school more than four years.

It is claimed that Wilbur Wring, the star of the Hibbing team in Saturday's game, is attending the Hibbing high school for the fifth year, and he therefore is ineligible. As a result of this action on the part of Hibbing athletic relations between the two high schools are said to be strained almost to the breaking point.

Virginians Beat Duluth Teams.

The football team of Duluth, playing under the name of the Jeffersons, was defeated here Sunday afternoon at Oliver park by the Virginia city team, 16 to 0. It was the first game of the season for the local boys, who are mostly former university stars and high school players of past years.

COMMISSION FORM VERY POPULAR

Many Eveleth People Said to Favor Adopting Such System.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is a growing sentiment here favoring the commission form of government and it is expected that the charter commission will be asked to look into the matter and consider the advisability of submitting the matter to the people for approval or rejection.

It is planned to have speakers well versed on municipal affairs visit this city and deliver addresses on the new form of city government The addresses as now planned will be given at the high school and many leading Des Moines, Iowa, advocates of the commission form of government will likely be invited to this city to deliver addresses.

MOTHERS' CLUB MEETS.

Ely Organization Renders Program Before Large Audience.

Ely, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mothers' club held its first social meeting for the year Friday afternoon at the Central kindergarten. An unusually large crowd was in attendance. After the business part of the meeting was transacted the following program was rendered: Piano duet, Misses Johnsen and Baribeau; vocal solo, Mrs. Strachan; piano solo, Gunda Berglund; vocal solo, little Miss Bjorklund; paper, "Child Life," Mrs. Sam Rolfson; vocal solo, Swedish song in costume, Miss Swenson. Light refreshments were served by a committee of ladies.

Misses Morey and Stringham went to Eveleth Saturday to visit friends until Sunday noon.

Miss Francis Cameron who has spent the past three weeks at the home of Dr. O. Parker was called to Biwabic on Monday.

Alfred Skoglund who has been at the Shipman hospital for the past two weeks with a badly lacerated hand, has improved so that he was removed to his home on Friday.

WORKED FORWARD PASS.

Aurora Eleven Overwhelmingly Defeats Biwabik Team.

Aurora, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Aurora high school football team overwhelmingly defeated the team from Biwabik Saturday here by the score of 53 to 5.

Biwabik scored on a forward pass early in the first quarter but failed to kick goal. After this Biwabik was unable to carry the ball consistently at any time and the Aurora goal was not again in danger.

After the touchdown by Biwabik the Aurora boys settled down to hard play and kept working the ball toward the goal throughout the game, seldom losing it. They worked the forward pass for many consistent gains. Much ground was also gained through the line and around the ends. Olson or Filonowich were able to carry the ball from three to five yards through the line whenever called upon.

For Biwabik the entire team played together, all working like one smoothly running machine. For Biwabik George Minor was the star of the game. He hit the Aurora line hard for numerous gains, made 70 per cent of the tackles for Biwabik and played a hard and consistent game throughout.

Don't rub the life out of your clothes

Sprinkle a little Gold Dust in the water, and let the Gold Dust Twins do all the hard part of the task. Gold Dust starts to dissolve and lather the moment it strikes the water; it starts to cleanse the moment it comes in contact with the garment. It instantly softens the hardest water, saves wear and tear on clothes, and does most of the work without your assistance.

Use Gold Dust next wash day, and have whiter, sweeter, cleaner clothes, with half the effort and in half the time.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

STOCKPILES TO BE CLEANED UP

Mines About Eveleth Expected to Ship Available Ore This Season.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—If the present activity is continued all the stockpiles will be well cleaned up before winter. The No. 5 stockpile of the Fayal mine has been cleaned up while the other Fayal mine stockpiles are being removed. At the Adams and Spruce mines the stockpiles are being removed and some of the piles have already been cleaned up.

The Virginia mine which was placed on the shipping list this year it is estimated, will ship 125,000 tons of ore before the season is over. Work will be continued at the new mine during the winter according to present indications.

ARE CHARGED WITH DYNAMITING FISH

Pair of Alleged Violators of Game Laws Are Taken Into Custody.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deputy Game Warden Geo. E. Wood of Hibbing yesterday afternoon arrested Awdry Laxo and Andrew Lanni on the Pike River road just outside of Virginia on the charge of illegal catching of fish. The men had in their possession 500 pounds of fish, a net and a box of dynamite. They were taken to the city jail for a hearing before Judge Carey.

Deputy Wood at the same time, arrested M. Halvorson on the charge of carrying concealed weapons and Marica Gregoin on the charge of destroying birds contrary to law.

DULUTH BARBER IS HALED INTO COURT

Austin Young, Arrested in Hibbing for Profanity, Gets Off Easily.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Austin Young, a barber, who came here from Duluth a few days ago was haled into municipal court before Judge Brady this morning on the charge of using profane and indecent language on the street in the presence of women. The accused said he did not knew there were any women around when he unbridled his tongue.

The court gave him a severe lecture and said he would suspend a five days' sentence as he was advised the accused was the support of an aged mother living in Duluth.

POSTPONE WORK UPON BUILDINGS

Construction of Virginia's Depot and Library Is Deferred.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new public library will not be constructed this year and the Canadian Northern depot's construction will be deferred until next spring, if present plans of the Canadian Northern and the public library board, are carried out. The necessity of starting condemnation proceedings in order to secure a site for the new $40,000 library building has delayed matters so that it will be impracticable to build this year.

The Canadian Northern has kindly permitted the library board to use the old library building during the winter and spring and it is expected that as soon as conditions will permit next spring will begin upon the new library building. Next spring the Canadian Northern will also begin work upon the new $50,000 passenger depot building.

PLAY SCORELESS TIE.

Hibbing and Eveleth High Elevens in Close Contest.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eveleth high school second team though outweighed, held the Hibbing high school second team to a scoreless tie Saturday afternoon. Massucci and Moon played strong games for the locals while Cohoss proved to be a tower of strength for the visitors. Eveleth will play a return game at Hibbing later in the season.

The high school team at Two Harbors Saturday was defeated by the Two Harbors eleven, 16 to 0, in a fast game. Many weak points were found in the locals' lineup and many changes will be made in the team before Saturday's game with the alumni eleven.

Eveleth Jewish Affair.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Interesting services were held at the local Jewish synagogue Saturday evening with visitors present from Aurora, Biwabik, Tower and Gilbert. Following the services a social was held and refreshments served.

DEER RIVER LOSES NOTED CHARACTER

Whole Village Pays Last Honor to Adolph Reithner, Aged Citizen.

Deer River, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral rites for the late Adolph Reithner, aged 79, an honored citizen, who died last Tuesday and for years had been something of a character about town, were observed by the whole village, as all places of business were closed during the obsequies.

Blind, infirm and more or less feeble, "Grandpa" Reithner, as he was affectionately called, would stroll about town, knowing every street and business house, enjoying visits with friends.

Deceased was born in Baden, Germany, March 18, 1832; came to this country when 19 years of age; enlisted in the United States army in 1854 and was honorably discharged in 1859; in the following year he married Margaret Smith in Sandusky, Ohio, and the union was blessed with eight children, two of whom are dead—Adolph, at the age of 13, and Eugene, 42 years. He is survived by Mrs. E. O. Moore and Osen Reithner at St. Maries, Idaho; George and Carl Reithner, Mrs. Archie McCallum and Mrs. Joe Venue of Deer River; a sister and a brother in Germany, and thirteen grandchildren.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—City Electrician Peter Vanderboom has a large crew of men at work in the outlying districts of the city installing the ten Gamewell fire alarm boxes which were recently received from Chicago. Seventeen boxes have been installed in the city proper and City Electrician Vanderboom expects the installation work will be completed in a few weeks.

Baking Powder Biscuits

Light as a Feather

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

Baking Powder Biscuits made by this recipe are so far ahead of ordinary baking powder biscuits that, if once tried, you will never use any other recipe. Try it the next time you run short of bread. Save this recipe. 29

K C Baking Powder Biscuits

Three cups flour; ¼ to ½ cup shortening; 3 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; about 1 cup milk or water; 1 teaspoonful salt.

Sift three times, the flour, salt and baking powder. Work into the flour the shortening, using lard or butter for shortening. Then mix to a very soft dough with the milk. The softer the biscuit enters the oven, the lighter it comes out. Never knead baking powder biscuits; press the dough into shape and roll lightly. Cut in small shapes and bake on a sheet or very shallow pan in a hot oven. In placing biscuits in the pans place well apart, not allowing edges to touch. Small biscuits are better than large ones. Large biscuits do not have the proper amount of time to raise and bake.

Have you seen the new K C Cook's Book? Brimful of appetizing recipes that simply must be successful every time if the few simple directions are carefully followed. You would gladly pay 50 cents for this valuable book, yet we send it absolutely free upon receipt of the colored certificate packed in every 25-centcan of K C Baking Powder. JAQUES MFG. CO., Chicago. Small cans do not have Cook's Book certificates.

Seek Lifer's Pardon.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chester L. Pratt appeared before the state board of pardons last week in the interest of a Nick Christello, sent up for life from Aitkin county in 1895 for murder. The killing was done in a fight wherein the prisoner's brother was being beaten. Nick came to the rescue and in the melee killed his brother's assailant. The feeling against him was high at the time and it is alleged that his attorneys took no pains to properly present his side of the case to the jury showing the killing was justifiable, if not in self-defense.

BOURNE DISPUTES CHURCH LEADERS

Criticizes Gibbons and Ireland for Talks on Reforms.

Washington, Oct. 16. — Senator Bourne, president of the National Republican Progressive league, in a statement takes to task Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop Ireland for their criticism of the initiative, referendum and recall as practiced in Oregon. The senator says that both reason and experience were ignored by the two prelates in their use of the words "mob law" and "mobocracy" in describing the Oregon system.

"Mobs act under the sudden impulse of anger, fear or hatred," was the statement. "Mob action is absolutely impossible under the initiative or referendum, because there is not less than four months of discussion before a vote can be taken.

"It is also impossible under the recall, because the recall cannot be invoked until petitions have been circulated and signed by at least 35 per cent of the voters. This takes weeks and gives the widest publicity. Then the recall election cannot be held within less than twenty days after the filing of the petition. Voting under such circumstances cannot be mob action."

MRS. GEORGE KAUPP

States That Parisian Sage is Best Hair Tonic.

"I had a bad case of dandruff. My scalp was full of dandruff and it came out thick and scaly. My hair came out badly; often I nearly cried on account of losing my pretty head of hair.

I heard of PARISIAN SAGE and only had to use two bottles, before the hair stopped coming out, the scalp became clean, and all the dandruff disappeared. The hair became silky and one big reason that I liked PARISIAN SAGE was that it kept the hair smooth, silky, and clean with no traces of stickiness.

I believe this tonic to be the best on the market as there has been no return of dandruff, or hair falling out whatever. I am glad to publicly indorse the use of PARISIAN SAGE. I have often indorsed its use and am glad to do it." 33 E. Bond St., Corry, Pa.

PARISIAN SAGE, the delightful hair dresing and beautifier sold by Boyce Drug Store and druggists everywhere. Guaranteed for falling hair, dandruff and scalp itch. Large bottle 50 cents.

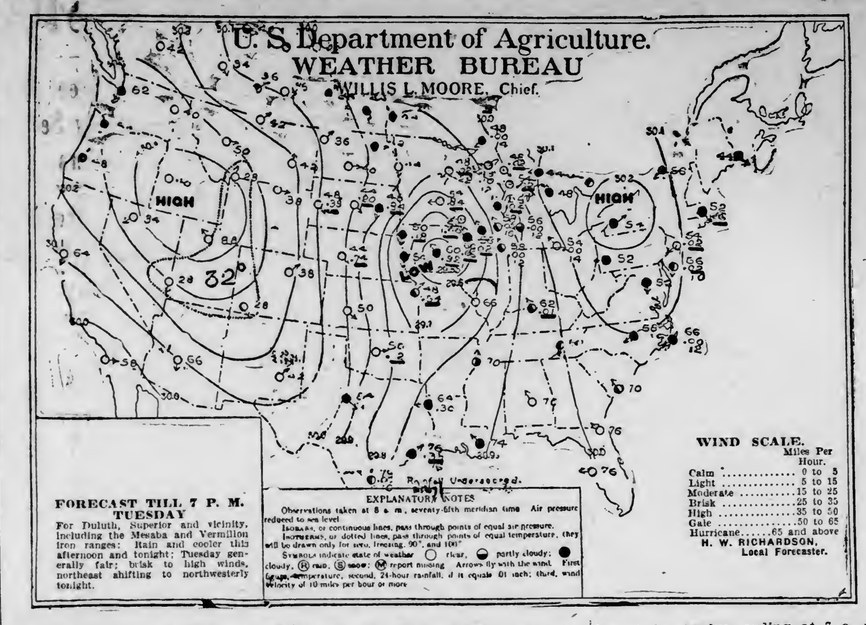

HIGH WINDS ON GREAT LAKES ARE PREDICTED

Washington, Oct. 16.—Rapid changes in temperature, accompanied by rains, will mark the weather of the present week, according to the weekly forecast issued by the weather bureau.

"A disturbance that was over the plains states Sunday," the forecast continues, "will advance to the lake region Monday and move thence to the Northeastern states by Monday night or Tuesday. It will be attended by rains over the middle and Northern states east of the Mississippi river and probably high winds on the Great Lakes; it will be followed by considerably cooler weather over the interior districts east of the Rocky mountains, with probably frost Tuesday in the plains states and the upper Mississippi valley and the lake region.

"The next disturbance to cross the country will appear on the North Pacific coast Monday or Tuesday, cross the Middle West about Wednesday and reach the Eastern states about Thursday or Friday."

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

RAIN

After trying desperately to clear up for several days, weather this morning turned into a decided northeaster. The wind came strong from the lake, bringing a cold rain with it—a typical northeaster. The weather man looks for better conditions tomorrow.

A year ago it was fair.

The sun rose this morning at 6:28 and will set at 5:20, making ten hours and fifty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"A disturbance of considerable intensity, which has advanced its center from Kansas to Iowa during the last twenty-four hours, has caused light to heavy rains over the Missouri, Mississippi and Ohio valleys and Lake region since Saturday morning, besides warmer weather over the upper Mississippi valley and Lake region, and brisk northeast winds on western Lake Superior. The easterly movement of this low pressure condition will result in further rain at the Head of the Lakes during this afternoon and tonight followed by clearing skies Tuesday. Somewhat cooler temperatures prevail in the Southwest, West and Northwest in connection with the high barometer area overlying Utah and Idaho."

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Wisconsin—Rain and probably thunderstorms and cooler tonight; Tuesday threatening with cooler and showers in east portion followed by fair weather.

Minnesota—Cooler tonight with fair in west and rain in east portion; frost in west portion tonight; Tuesday generally fair.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday, except showers and thunderstorms in east portion tonight; cooler tonight; frost in west portion.

North Dakota—Fair tonight and Tuesday; frost tonight with cooler in east and south portions.

Montana—Fair tonight and Tuesday; not much change in temperature.

Fish Live Many Years.

Prof. Baird of the United States fish commission is authority for the statement that fish live to great ages. Carp have been known to live 200 years. A pike is living in Russia whose age dates to the fifteenth century. There are gold fish in Washington which have belonged to one family for fifty years. Mr. Baird says the reason is that there is nothing in the structural organism of the fish to prevent its living for all time. There is no reason why golden grain belt beers should not retain their head forever, because of the superlative science under which they are brewed. SUAREZ WILL BE VICE PRESIDENT OF MEXICO.

City of Mexico, Oct. 16.—Lacking only the ceremonies of the inauguration, Francisco I. Madero is president of the republic of Mexico. By a vote of the electoral college which was practically unanimous, he was officially nominated yesterday.

Joseph Pino Suarez, without doubt, will be the vice president. Even if he has failed to get a majority, there is now no reasonable doubt that the chamber of deputies will name him as Modero's lieutenant over Francisco De La Barra, who obtained second place in the vote of the electoral college. Francisco Vasquez Gomez was hopelessly distanced.

OMAHA MAN LOSES DIAMOND IN WOODS.

Blackduck, Minn., Oct. 16.—L. W. Akin, a real estate dealer from Omaha, while making a trip through the woods in company with John McDougald of this city one day recently lost a diamond ring valued at $250. Mr. Akin came here to look over land with a view to buying several large tracts, and it was while thus engaged that the valuable stone was lost.

BREAKS A COLD IN A FEW HOURS

Says Quinine Isn't Effective In the Cure of Colds and Grippe.

Nothing else that you can take will break your cold or end grippe so promptly as a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

The most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, running of the nose, sore throat, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness, rheumatism pains and other distress begin to leave after the very first dose.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

BULLS MAKE SMALL GAIN

Most Wheat Prices Close Slightly Higher Than Last Saturday.

Flax Goes Skyward—Rainy Weather Still Keeps It From Market.

Duluth Board of Trade, Oct. 16.—Wheat closed at gains almost all along the line today in the leading North American markets. The gains were not large, probably not so large as one might expect on observing the weather and other factors operating on the market, but it is said that strong interests are holding the price down. Duluth December closed at $1.09⅝, having gained an eighth of a cent. Flax made some great bulges, on account of bad weather and improved demand. Duluth October, which closed Saturday at $2.39 asked, closed today at $2.43. November made a bulge of four and a half cents and December closed four cents up. Durum closed half a cent up and oats an eighth off. Rye and barley closed unchanged.

The wheat market today was conservative up to noon, with the advantage most of the time slightly in favor of the bulls. There were higher cables from Liverpool. These were due to a considerable extent to lighter world shipments and to lighter offerings from Russia and the Danubian country. Moreover, there was a report from Argentina that not enough rain had fallen in that country and more moisture was needed. Liverpool wheat closed ¾d to ⅞d higher. Spot markets were firm with English country markets 3 to 6d advance and cargoes in all positions firmly held. Russia and the Danube both shipped lightly again this week and predications are for a continuance of small shipments from this quarter. Following the opening the market was dull with a firm undertone and prices further advanced ⅛@¼c. A private cable received in this market from Buenos Ayres stated that more rain was needed there and this helped to hold the market in the face of the dullness. At 1:30 p. m. prices were ⅛ to ⅜d higher than Saturday.

"Corn after opening unchanged, declined ⅛d with the underton easier. The light world's shipments were offset here by pressure of new American offers.

"Floating supply, wheat, this week, 28,484,000 bu; last week, 31,064,000 bu; last year, 40,872,000 bu. Corn, 4,824,000—5,840,000—22,457,000. Last year wheat decreased 152,000 and corn decreased 1,174,000."

"Since Sept. 1 receipts of flaxseed in the Minneapolis market have amounted to only 730,000 bu, compared with 1,080,000 a year ago; and last year, as every one remembers, the crop was decidedly short. The receipts, however, in no way reflect on the probable size of the present crop, as the small movement is entirely due to the recent rains, which delayed thrashing and at times made it impossible for farmers to market their grain. Considerable flaxseed is now being offered to arrive, however, and it is thought by local crushers that the receipts will soon be very heavy. At present the offerings to arrive are just about what the market can take care of without becoming overloaded. Crushers are paying 2c over the Duluth October price for spot seed and the October price for to-arrive seed. It is confidently predicted by some of the local people that the market will sell off sharply with a fair increase in receipts.

"Demand for oil for prompt shipment is very fair, but there is very little business reported for deferred shipment."

MARKET GOSSIP

Broomhall wired from Liverpool:—"The weakness in Winnipeg and the lower American markets on Saturday were offset here by the light world's shipments and the smaller amount to the United Kingdom, and values at the opening were ⅛ to ¼d higher. Spot markets were firm with English country markets 3 to 6d advance and cargoes in all positions firmly held. Russia and the Danube both shipped lightly again this week and predications are for a continuance of small shipments from this quarter. Following the opening the market was dull with a firm undertone and prices further advanced ⅛@¼c. A private cable received in this market from Buenos Ayres stated that more rain was needed there and this helped to hold the market in the face of the dullness. At 1:30 p. m. prices were ⅛ to ⅜d higher than Saturday.

"Corn after opening unchanged, declined ⅛d with the underton easier. The light world's shipments were offset here by pressure of new American offers.

"Floating supply, wheat, this week, 28,484,000 bu; last week, 31,064,000 bu; last year, 40,872,000 bu. Corn, 4,824,000—5,840,000—22,457,000. Last year wheat decreased 152,000 and corn decreased 1,174,000."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Jump on Falling of World Shipment.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—With world shipments more than 5,000,000 bushels less for the week than at the corresponding time a year ago, wheat today jumped up in prices. Exports from Russia and the Danube were especially small. Moreover, cash dealers were declared that stocks of hard wheat had been whittled down materially by recent sales, and that Chicago was relatively cheaper than other markets. Dry weather in the Argentine formed another factor on the bull side. The opening was ½c to ⅝c higher. December started at 99c to 99¼c, the same change from Saturday night as the futures list taken altogether. A rise to 99⅜c followed.

Subsequently a big increase of the visible supply caused a temporary setback. The close, however, was firm with December 1c net higher at 99¼c.

Wet weather strengthened the corn market. Pit traders were buying. December opened a shade lower to a like amount up at 64½c to 64¾c and advanced to 64¾c.

The fact that support became poor led to a reaction but later the market rallied owing to fear of more rain. The close was steady at 64⅝@ ½c for December, a gain of ¼c net.

Dealers in oats took their cue from corn. Business, though, was entirely local. December started a sixteenth higher at 47⅜@47¾c and went up to 47⅞c.

Provisions eased off on account of slow demand for hogs. Initial sales were unchanged to 7½c down with January deliveries $15.10 for pork, $8.77½ to $8.80 for lard, and $8.05 for ribs.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Trading in Wheat Was Narrow With Rain Giving Strength.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 16.—Trading in wheat narrow again today there being a difference of only ½@⅝c between the day's high and low. Local rains in the Northwest and stronger cash demand was a factor of strength. Both December and May closed ¼c higher than Saturday. Local elevator stocks of wheat increased 275,000 bushels for two days.

Cotton Market.

New York, Oct. 16.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 2 points to an advance of one point in response to steadier late cables from Liverpool. Offerings were heavy but they were very well absorbed by covering or by buying by reactionists and prices sold about 4 to 7 points above the closing figures of Saturday before the end of the first hour. Private cables from Liverpool attributed an early break there to heavy offerings of actual cotton, followed by a rally to within a point or two of Saturday's finals on covering, and the buying here appeared to be inspired by fears of cold weather in the western belt.

Spot closed quiet, 10 points higher. Middling uplands, 9.50; middling gulf, 9.75. Sales, 1,590 bales.

New York Money.

New York, Oct. 16.—Money on call steady, 2¾@2½ per cent; ruling rate, 2¾, closing bid, 2¾; offered at 2½. Time loans steady; sixty days, 3¼@3½ per cent and ninety days, 3¼@4 per cent; six months, 3¾@4 per cent.

Close: Prime mercantile paper, 4¾ per cent; sterling exchange firm with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.83.50 for sixty-day bills and at $4.86.55@4.86.60 for demand. Commercial bills, $4.82¾; bar silver, 52⅝c. Mexican dollars, 45c. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds irregular.

South St. Paul Livestock.

South St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 16.—Cattle—Receipts, 7,200; market steady; steers, $4.25@7; cows and heifers, $2@5.25; calves, $3.40@7.75; stockers and feeders, $3@5.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 1,800; market steady to strong; range, $6.15@6.40; bulk of sales, $6.20 to $6.20.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Reading and Steel Drop Under Heavy Selling Orders.

Other Shares Are Depressed and Market Becomes Heavy.

New York, Oct. 16.—Movements of stocks were slight at the opening of trading today. Changes were irregular with a majority of small advances. Southern Railway preferred gained a point, American Smelting and Erie first preferred ¾ and Lehigh Valley and Norfolk & Western ⅝. United States Steel opened with an advance of ¼, but quickly fell to ⅜, under Saturday's close. After the opening transactions the market shaded off.

Selling orders poured into the market when it became evident that Reading and United States Steel were not receiving effective support. Bears circulated unfavorable gossip regarding the steel industry and there was considerable profit-taking by the last week's buyers. Reading, United States Steel and St. Paul sold a point below Saturday's closing and most other active stocks a considerable fraction.

Pressure against United States Steel and Reading depressed the entire active list and after small opening gains were lost the market remained heavy throughout the morning trading. The pressure against United States Steel came largely from Pittsburg, and other out of town points. Selling of the railway shares apparently was largely in the nature of realizing on stocks accumulated at last week's lower level. Bonds were irregular with American Tobacco issues heavy.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 16.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Trade is on a quiet basis. Movement is slow in all classes. Receipts have been very slow coming in the past week on account of the bad weather and almost impassable roads in the country districts; but heavy receipts are billed to arrive in the next week. The market, however, has been well supplied with all classes of horses, so that the limited receipts have not affected the market. Dealers hope for a better demand for logging horses hereafter, although the heavy demand is not looked for until there is a freeze-up in the logging country. Values show little change.

NEW DOCKS WILL COST $250,000

Boat Companies Plan Substantial Improvement in Cleveland Harbor.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—New passenger boat docks, costing more than $250,000 and constructed of steel and concrete, are now assured by the Detroit & Cleveland and Cleveland & Buffalo boat companies. The biggest boats of the lakes will then make Cleveland their stopping place. The new docks will be built at the foot of East Ninth street.

In a way, the improvement hangs on a decision of the supreme court, to which litigation over the lake front will be carried this fall. If the higher courts confer with the common plea rulings, the new dock will undoubtedly be built.

The lake front case, involving the passenger boat piers, the union depot and the disposition of Lakeview property, will be taken up in the circuit court today. There will be some additional testimony submitted by Attorney John G. White, who is suing as one of the reversionary heirs to the lake front land, under the deed given the city years ago. Arguments will be completed Oct. 30 and the case will be taken immediately to the supreme court. Counsel in the case will ask that it be advanced for immediate hearing. A decision is expected before the end of this year.

"It is unlikely the case will remain in the supreme court very long," says Luther Day of Goulder, Day, White & Garry, counsel for the boat companies. "This is an issue of great public importance and the courts take cognizance of such things. We expect a decision before Jan. 1, next."

"We have a quarter of a million dollars ready to put into the new piers, the minute we get the word from the supreme court," said General Manager Newman. "There won't be any delays after the courts get through with this matter. Our money is all ready, the contracts will be let without delay and much of the work would be done this winter, I think. In the spring the job would be rushed and we could have the docks ready for the boats before Aug. 1 next."

MOVEMENT OF GRAIN HEAVIER

Receipts at Buffalo Show Increase—Coal Docks Congested.

The grain movement on the lakes during the past two weeks shows a slight advance over the shipments for the same period of last season.

The receipts at Buffalo elevators during the last two weeks have been approximately 7,000,000 bu, and the report of the Lake Carrier's association issued Friday showed that 5,279,-000 bushels were received there during the preceding seven days.

At Cleveland, the coal shipments are said to be limited by two factors: First, dock congestion at that end of the ports receiving coal and second the limited number of cargoes that some of the shippers intend to send forward. One large shipper has stated that he has less than one cargo a day will move between now and the close of the season.

Ore shippers who have been sending down much ore this season now estimate that the last cargoes will leave not later than Nov. 15.

THINK HOPKINS HAS GONE DOWN

Gopher and Vidette Officers Say Derelict Has Sunk.

That the derelict Hopkins is on the bottom of Lake Superior, about sixty miles off Michigan island on the course between Eagle river and LaPointe, and is no longer a menace to navigation is the belief of Captain Brown of the government yacht Vidette and Commander Guy A. Eaton of the Minnesota training ship Gopher, which spent the past few days patrolling the lake on the west side of Keeweenaw Point in quest of the wreck.

Word was received yesterday that the steamer LaSalle now at Ashland,had sighted wreckage corresponding to that found by the Vidette and Gopher, but no trace of the bulk of the craft has been found. The Vidette will probably look around another day before returning to Duluth. The Gopher returned to Duluth yesterday afternoon. She steamed about 250 miles on the trip.

DELAYED BY STORM.

Tug and Dredge Turn Back After Starting on South Shore Trip.

Dredge No. 40 of the Northern Navigation company in tow of the tug Ella G. Stone, attempted to make the trip to Odanah on the south shore last evening, but turned back after going out about ten miles.

The dredge and scows were scheduled to go to Odanah on the Bad river Saturday night, but the weather did not permit. They will not leave now until after the northeaster blows over.

The company has a dredging contract at Odanah for the Stearns Lumber company.

STEAMBOAT OFFICIALS TAKING LAKE TRIP.

Walter E. Campbell, president of the Detroit & Windsor Ferry company; Capt. Duncan Nicholson, supervisor of the ferry company's fleet and John Mullen of the Mullen Coal company of Detroit, are aboard the big steel steamer J. H. Sullivan, bound for Duluth. The party propose to make the round trip on the Sullivan. The Sullivan picked them up Thursday at Detroit.

NEW $400,000 FERRY WILL BE EXHIBITED AT DETROIT.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 16.—The new $400,000 car ferry Chief Wa-wa-tam now being finished at the yards of the Toledo Shipbuilding company for service between St. Ignace and Mackinaw City, Mich., will be brought here from Toledo Sunday by Capt. L. R. Boynton, general superintendent of the car ferry service at St. Ignace. The big boat will be open for inspection Sunday at the Michigan Central dock, foot of Third street.

The vessel will have a capacity for twenty-five standard cars on her steel deck, there being four tracks. The new feature embodied in her construction is the fact she is equipped with double engines forward and aft with a twin screw in the stern and a single screw in the bow. She will be one of the most powerful ice crushers in the world.

The new boat is one of three which maintain freight traffic between upper and lower Michigan via the Straits of Mackinac. She is operated by the Pennsylvania, Michigan Central, Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic and the Soo railroad lines.

STEAMER ERICKSON DODGES DREDGES AND RUNS AGROUND

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 16.—Special to The Herald.—The steel steamer, Ericson, ran aground last night about 7 o'clock at Sailor's encampment on the Canadian side, while dodging dredges at work at the place. The Ericson was hit by her barge, Fritz, in the mixup, but no serious damage resulted. The boat was released under her own steam.

INDEPENDENT BOATS CLEAR FOR DULUTH.

The steamers Lackawanna and Scranton, which have been chartered for the balance of the season by Minneapolis flour shippers have fitted out at Buffalo, and it is expected, cleared today for Duluth, where they will take on a cargo of flour for Buffalo. The shippers, it is said, have lined up more than enough business to keep the boats busy for the rest of the season.

Low Bid Approved.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 16.—The bid of the Empire Engineering corporation for clearing the Watson site and for dredging a turning basin twenty-three feet deep has been approved by the federal authorities at Washington. The contract will be formally awarded within the next two or three days. Work on the turning basin will be started before the end of next month.

Bonds for Sale.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 16.—On Nov. 11 the Guardian Savings & Trust company of this city will put up for sale at auction $2,000,000 worth of second mortgage bonds of the Gilchrist Transportation company. The bonds were put up as collateral for loans among a number of Cleveland institutions. Foreclosure proceedings on the vessel company's property will follow.

Sailing Yacht Sinks.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 16.—The Toledo-owned yacht Czarina was sunk in Lake St. Clair last night. Four men on board were rescued.

The yacht was one of the best sailing boats on the lakes. She had an auxiliary yawl rig and was about sixty feet long.

About $40,000 will be spent in repairs.

The water-logged schooner Exile, which sank Sept. 27 in the upper Portage canal and was later towed into Lily pond, has been brought to Houghton by the steamer Homer Warren. It is probable that she will be beached and abandoned.

The Canadian steamer Corrunna, which stranded at Welcome island last week, was not as badly damaged as was at first thought and her owners, the Canadian Lake Transportation company of Toronto, have withdrawn her abandonment. The Canadian Towing & Wrecking company will get $10,000 for releasing her.

William Dunnell, first pilot of the White Star line steamer City of Toledo, has been suspended [illegible] by steamboat inspectors, after having been found guilty of crossing signals with the steamer Chicago, while operating in the Detroit river June 22.

The tug Mayflower, which is owned by Noble & Winters of this city, cleared Saturday towing a scow loaded with iron for Port Wing, on the south shore.

The Steamer W. R. Van Hise, which broke her steering engine Thursday at the Soo, will be delayed several days while repairs are made.

A libel filed against the Schooner D. P. Rhodes at Detroit has been ordered paid by Judge Angell in federal court there. The libel was filed for towing charges by H. R. Harvey.

T. V. O'Conner of Buffalo, president of the International Longshoremen, addressed a large meeting of marine men Saturday evening at Cleveland.

The Canadian barge, Winnipeg, which sank off Farran's point, St. Lawerence river, Sept. 15, has been floated. The Winnipeg was on the way from Kingston to Montreal with 1,200 tons of coal.

CALUMET MAN SHOT BY UNKNOWN HUNTER

Gets Wound in Abdomen, But Is Expected to Recover.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Trains running out of the Copper country towns carried more than 1,000 hunters yesterday and more or less than half having deer hunting permits, others going after birds. The slaughter of birds was large yesterday, and but few deer being reported killed. One hunter, Frank Musich of Calumet, was shot in the abdomen by an unknown hunter but will recover.

TERMS OF SALE.

This sale is to be made pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 204 of the General Laws of Minnesota for 1905 and of Chapter 342 of the General Laws of 1909.

Purchasers of timber at this sale must pay down in cash at the time of sale 25 per cent of the value of the timber purchased, based on the estimated quantity and appraised price of same.

"Permits" to cut and remove the timber from the land will be issued to purchasers, good for two logging seasons (to expire June 1st, 1913), and the timber must be cut and removed within that time, unless the State Timber Board, by unanimous vote, agrees to an extension of time for one additional logging season. In no event can more than one extension of time be granted.

None of the timber can be sold for less than the appraised price as given herein, and sales will be made to the party bidding the highest price per M. feet for all of the several kinds of timber advertised on the land in the different sections. Any bidding over and above the said appraised price shall be by "percentage," the per cent bid to be added to the appraised price of each kind of timber advertised on the land. No bids of less than five (5) per cent will be entertained or accepted.

Dated at St. Paul, Minnesota, September 29, 1911.

S. G. IVERSON, State Auditor of Minnesota.

Sale of School and Other State Lands

STATE OF MINNESOTA, STATE AUDITOR'S OFFICE, St. Paul, Oct. 2, 1911.

Notice is hereby given that on Nov. 15, 1911, at 10 o'clock A. M., in the office of the County Auditor, at Duluth, St. Louis County, in the State of Minnesota, I will offer for sale certain unsold state lands and also those state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest.

Terms: Fifteen per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from date of sale to June 1, 1912, must be paid at the time of sale. The balance of purchase money is payable in whole or in part on or before forty years from date of sale. The rate of interest on the unpaid balance is four per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1st of each year, provided the principal remains unpaid for ten years; but if the principal is paid within ten years from the date of sale, the rate of interest will be computed at five per cent per annum.

Appraised value of timber, if any must also be paid at time of sale.

Lands on which the interest is delinquent may be redeemed at any time up to the hour of sale, or before resale to an actual purchaser.

All mineral rights are reserved by the laws of the state.

Lists of lands to be offered may be obtained of the State Auditor or the State Commissioner of Immigration at St. Paul, and of the County Auditor at above address.

SAMUEL G. IVERSON, State Auditor.

D. H., Oct. 9, 16, 23, 30, 1911.

Notice for Bids

St. Louis County Sanatorium Commission.

Sealed proposals will be received until noon Saturday, Oct. 24, 1911, for the construction of a sewage disposal plant at the Sanatorium, according to plans and specifications on file at the office of the commission and at the Duluth Builders' Exchange. A certified check of 5 per cent, payable to the commission is required of all bidders. Bids shall be on blank forms furnished by the secretary. The commission reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to contract for the work as a whole or in part. A. T. Laird, secretary, 211 Courthouse, Duluth, Minn.

GIVES ADVERTISERS A SQUARE DEAL

The Duluth Herald holds a unique place in the Duluth newspaper field, in that it is the only daily paper that has never used voting, guessing or premium schemes of any nature to artificially stimulate circulation. The Herald today leads all Minnesota papers (outside of the Twin Cities) by thousands of daily paid subscribers.

HERALD ADVERTISERS GET THE BENEFIT OF A HOME CIRCULATION OF A HIGH ORDER—A PROVEN CIRCULATION OF QUALITY AS WELL AS QUANTITY.

FOURTEEN BUTCHERED WITH AX IN SERIES OF BLOODY MURDERS

Kansas Horror Is Latest of Brutal and Mysterious Crimes.

Lack of Known Motive Is Feature of Every Butchery.

Ellsworth, Kan., Oct. 17.—A sheriff's posse, with bloodhounds, is looking for an ex-convict in connection with the murder here of Mr. and Mrs. Showman and their three children, Sunday night. He was released from the penitentiary a year ago, having served a term for grand larceny. His wife, who was a sister of Mrs. Showman, obtained a divorce and remarried. There is a rumor that the man was seen here last week.

Three times the bloodhounds were taken to the house, and each time the animals followed a trail to a nearby railroad crossing, where it was lost.

Like Colorado Butchery.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—The murder of a man, his wife and three small children as they slept in Ellsworth, Kan., yesterday was almost identical with the slaying of six in Colorado Springs, Colo., on Sept. 21, and more lately, the killing of William E. Dawson, his wife and daughter, in Monmouth, Ill., Oct. 1.

In each case, an ax was the instrument of death; in every case, each person in the house was killed, apparently while asleep, with a single blow of the murderous ax.

In the Colorado Springs tragedy, two families practically were wiped out.

Ax Always the Weapon.

The bodies of Alice May Burnham, her 6-year-old daughter, Alice, and her 3-year-old son, John, and Henry Wayne, his wife Blanche and their 2-year-old baby, were found in their adjoining cottages. The head of each had been crushed by a heavy blow from an ax. The bodies were not discovered for at least two days after the murders.

Arthur J. Burnham, husband of Alice

PRESIDING IN THE M'NAMARA TRIAL

JUDGE WALTER BORDWELL.

RUSH PROBE OF LORIMER

Delay of Proceedings Will Not Be Tolerated Longer.

Robert E. Wilson Is Asked About Affairs at Springfield.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Members of the committee of United States senators investigating the Lorimer case today ordered subpoenas issued for a dozen new witnesses on the inquiry.

At an executive conference held just prior to the opening of the day's formal hearings, the committee dictated a list of witnesses whose names have been brought out in the last several days. Chairman Dillingham of the committee also announced that counsel for Senator Lorimer and counsel for the committee would have to agree upon a line of procedure which will result in expediting the hearings. Senator Dillingham made plain the wishes of the committee on this point, and said that lines of interrogation advanced for purposes of delay would be tolerated no longer.

Wilson Under Fire.

Representative Robert E. Wilson of Chicago was the first witness of the day. He was late in arriving at the federal building and delayed the hearing nearly an hour.

Wilson was one of the Democrats who voted for Lorimer and was present in the Southern hotel in St. Louis in the summer of 1909, when the so-called "bathroom" episode occurred.

Wilson began his testimony by relating the incidents which led up to the location of Edward D. Shurtleff as speaker of the house in the forty-seventh general assembly. Attorney Markle questioned the witness regarding Wilson's part in the election of Shurtleff.

Made Blair Change Story.

At the conclusion of an all-day examination by the committee, Former State Representative William C. Blair of Mount Vernon was yesterday ordered home to secure all accounts, pa-

TAFT STARTS ON THE BACK TRAIL

Makes Jump From Los Angeles to Ogden Without Stop.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 17.—With his departure from Los Angeles today, President Taft brought to an end his second visit to the Pacific coast since he entered the White House, and from now until Nov. 1 the president will travel toward Washington.

From Los Angeles, the president will make the longest "jump" of the present trip, there being but one regularly scheduled stop, at Ogden, Utah, tomorrow afternoon, on the journey from this city to Butte, Mont., where Thursday morning the president will again "go ashore" for a few hours.

SAYS WOMEN HAVE THE RIGHT TO VOTE

California Attorney General Gives Opinion on the Subject.

Sacramento, Cal., Oct. 17.—That the women of California are now thoroughly qualified to vote and may register at once is the opinion of Attorney-General U. S. Webb, given in a telegram received by Secretary of State Jordan.

Though the result of the equal suffrage election has not as yet been officially declared, the attorney-general's telegram advised that he assumed that a majority of votes had been cast for the suffrage, and that the amendment was now a part of the Constitution of the state.

PRISON PHYSICIANS HOLD CONVENTION.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 17.—A meeting of the Prison Physicians' association occupied the morning session of the American Prison congress here today. Two papers were scheduled for presentation, "The Prison Physician," by Dr. Theodore Cooke, Jr., of Baltimore, president, and the "Prevention of Crime and Insanity," by Dr. Daniel Phelan, surgeon of the Dominion penitentiary at Kingston, Can.

This evening the congress will be addressed by George W. Wickersham, attorney general of the United States.

ORDERS STEAMERS FOR PANAMA CANAL ROUTE.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 17.—In anticipation of the early opening of the Panama canal, the American-Hawaiian Steamship company has awarded a contract for four 12,000-ton steamships to cost $800,000 each. The steamships will be built at Sparrow Point, Md. The first is to be delivered in twelve months.

FILL JURY BY DEC. 1

Prediction Is Made Regarding the McNamara Trial.

Nelson Is Rejected Because of Bias—Defense May Raise Alibi.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 17.—Speedy completion of the jury—that is, within a month or a little more—was the outlook when the McNamara murder trial opened here today. Estimates that the jury room would remain unfilled until Dec. 15, or perhaps until Christmas, were scaled down to Thanksgiving or Dec. 1, and predictions that the trial would not end before May 1 were abbreviated correspondingly.

The examination of Talesman Z. T. Nelson has cleared the atmosphere, it was agreed, by defining many issues involved in the effort to determine whether James B. McNamara is guilty of causing the death of Charles J. Haggerty in the Los Angeles Times explosion and fire.

Points Cleared Up.

Among the points made certain by Nelson's examination are these:

Any talesman who believes the Times building was blown up by gas, believes McNamara innocent, in the opinion of the defense. This position for many was taken by Attorney Clarence S. Darrow, chief of counsel for the defense, and it is noted by counsel for the state for future use, in the belief that it can be made serviceable to them in examination of talesmen whom the state believes to be undesirable.

"Could you set aside your opinions sufficiently to enable you to give a fair and impartial verdict?" was the question put to Talesman Nelson by Judge Bordwell, supplementing the earlier examination by Attorney Clar-

CARNEGIE TRUST CASE IS AIRED

William J. Cummings Before New York Supreme Court.

New York, Oct. 17.—The tangled affairs of the defunct Carnegie Trust company were aired again today when the supreme court took up an indictment charging William J. Cummins, formerly chairman of the executive committee of that institution, with grand larceny.

This is the second trial resulting from the investigation of the Carnegie Trust company's affairs, Joseph B. Reichmann, its ex-president, having been convicted last June of making a false report to the superintendent of banks.

Mr. Cummins was indicted on three counts for grand larceny, based on note transactions involving $335,000. The prosecution, however, will rest its case on only one charge, that on April 23, 1910, Cummins borrowed $140,000 from the Nineteenth Ward bank, ostensibly for the Carnegie Trust company, and converted it to his own use.

WOMEN FROM FARMS MEET

Furnish Feature of International Congress at Colorado Springs.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Oct. 17.—The feature of the second day of the sixth International Dry Farming congress was the convening of the first International Congress of Farm Women. More than 100 women from twenty-one states have registered.

At the farmers' meeting a discussion of possible products in dry farming acres was led by W. Frank Gardner of Sturgis, S. D., Prof. H. M. Cottrel, agricultural commissioner of the Rock Island railroad, and Prof. E. H. Webster, dean of the Kansas agricultural college.

The sessions of the main congress were devoted to technical subjects. Among those who read papers were Prof. F. E. Waggoner, machinery expert of Chicago; S. L. Bolley, North Dakota agricultural college, and W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture of Saskatchewan, Can.

HIKES FROM COAST TO COAST IN 71 DAYS.

San Francisco, Oct. 17.—Henry Hona, a pedestrian, has completed a coast to coast walk, having journeyed from Jersey City to San Francisco in seventy-one days. Hona did not steal, solicit nor work during his trip, using his savings of several months' work as a laborer to defray his expenses.

CITY AGAIN IN DANGER

Black River Falls Is Threatened By Renewed Floods.

Heavy Rain Swells River and More Damage Is Done.

Black River Falls, Wis., Oct. 17.—Facing further destruction from a flood similar to the one which partially leveled this city a few weeks ago, Black River Falls last night was awake, its residents fearing another inundation due to the torrential rains of Sunday afternoon and night. Early today the clouds had cleared away, but the Black river was still rising.

The citizens of Black River Falls spent the night trying to prevent another disaster. The Black river is pouring over the crest of the Black River Falls Light & Power company's dam in its old bed, and slowly eating its way into what is left of the once business district.

Hotel Is In Danger.

Buildings that had withstood the previous flood, last night were undermined and floated down in the torrent. The Merchants hotel, which had resumed business following the recent flood, is in immediate danger, as well as the old postoffice building, the home of the Jackson county bank. Nothing, it is said, will save them but a receding of the river.

Residents of the lowlands have been compelled to leave their homes, and business men of Black River Falls who were in temporary headquarters have again moved to higher grounds.

Mississippi Is Higher.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mississippi river is one-tenth of a foot higher today than yesterday. Today's stage is 3.5 and is the result of a heavy rain which started Sunday afternoon and continued until late last night.

So far the month of October has a rainfall record of 7.35 inches. Today the weather is clear.

WHISKY BURNS IN PEORIA FIRE

Atlas Distillery Company Suffers Damage of $100,000.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 17.—Fire early today resulted in a loss of more than $100,000 to the plant of the Atlas distillery here and for a time threatened to spread to other buildings in the vicinity. Within a few minutes after the fire was discovered thousands of barrels of spirits were a seething mass of flames. All of the city's fire fighting equipment was rushed to the scene, the operations of which were directed by Mayor Woodruff in person.

Wireless Works 2,000 Miles.

Vallejo, Cal., Oct. 17. — In communication yesterday between the recently installed wireless station at Mare Island and the Unalaska station, 2,000 miles distant, the Pacific coast record for daylight wireless transmission was broken.

STEAMER IS SUNK AT SOO

Emperor Practically Blocks Navigation at Canadian Lock.

Runs Onto Her Own Anchor at Lower Entrance and Goes Down.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The big Canadian steamer Emperor was sunk at the lower entrance of the Canadian lock at 4:15 this morning, practically blocking navigation.

The Emperor is the largest Canadian steamer on the lakes. She was bound for Midland from Fort William, her cargo consisting of 310,000 bushels of wheat, much of which is damaged by water.

The steamer lies in about twenty-five feet of water, with her forward compartment on the port side badly punctured, but the extent of her injuries cannot be fully determined until she is raised. The lighter Reliance of the Great Lakes Towing & Wrecking company, with Capt. Root in charge, is lightering the steamer of her cargo of grain in order to raise her.

S. L. Penhorwood, representing the steamer's owners, is on the ground.

DO HONOR TO LATE JUSTICE

Official Washington Attends Funeral of John M. Harlan.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Members of the cabinet, diplomats, judges of all the courts, army and navy officials and resident society will attend the funeral of Associate Justice John M. Harlan of the supereme court of the United States at the New York Avenue Presbyterian church here this afternoon. The services will be simple, with Rev. Dr. Wallace Radcliff officiating. The interment will be at Rock Creek cemetery in this city.

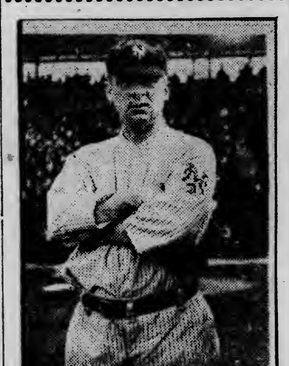

The courts in Washington paid tribute yesterday to the late associate justice. The highest tribunal of the land, of which Justice Harlan was the oldest member, the court of commerce, the court of claims and the various branches of the supreme court of the District of Columbia adjourned immediately, and the court of customs appeals announced that, out of respect to him, it would not be in session today.

One-Minute Session.

The supreme court of the United States was in session only one minute. Chief Justice White, in a voice trembling with emotion, announced: "Gentlemen of the bar: It is my painful duty to announce the death of our brother, Mr. Justice Harlan. The court will stand adjourned until Wednesday morning next without the transaction of business of any kind."

PHILADELPHIA WINS ANOTHER GAME IN THE WORLD SERIES

MANAGER OF THE NEW YORK GIANTS

JOHN J. McGRAW.

Home Run By Baker in the Ninth Ties the Score.

SCORE BY INNINGS:

Fletcher, ss	Barry, ss
Meyers, c	Lapp, c
Mathewson, p	Coombs, p

Polo Grounds, N. Y., Oct. 17.—In a sensational, eleventh-inning finish, the Philadelphia Athletics today took a second game from the New York Giants in the world championship series by a score of 3 to 2. The Giants got the lead in the third inning and kept it until the ninth. Then Baker hit a home run that tied the score at 1 to 1. In the tenth neither side got a man home.

In the eleventh a pair of hits put Collins and Baker on bases, and both got around on hits and errors. New York was able to score but one in the eleventh, and the game went to the Philadelphians. The Athletics now have won two games in the series and the Giants one.

Thirty thousand or more people filled the wide reaches of the Brush stadium this afternoon. A dull, gray day which was filled with portents of rain failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the people, and they applauded the batting and fielding practice of the Athletics and Giants. A fine rain began to fall ten minutes before the game, but the weather cleared during the playing.

First Inning: Philadelphia—Lord out, Doyle to Merkle. Oldring out, Fletcher to Merkle. Collins out, Merkle to Mathewson. No runs.

New York—Devore fanned on three fast pitched balls. Doyle out to Davis, unassisted. Coombs used blinding speed. Snodgrass also fanned. No runs.

Second Inning: Philadelphia—Baker out, Doyle to Merkle. It was pretty assist of Doyle's. Murphy line-filed to Herzog. The catch cut off a two-bagger. Davis flied out to Snodgrass. No runs.

New York—Murray was out on a towering fly to Lord. Coombs mixed up a fast drop with a high inshoot, and kept the ball near the handles of the Giants' bats. Merkle out, Barry to Davis. Herzog fanned on two drop curves and a high fast one. No runs.

Third Inning: Philadelphia—Barry singled to left, a line drive, the first hit of the game. Barry stole second. Meyers throwing high. Lapp lined out to Doyle, who doubled Barry at second, Fletcher taking the throw. It was a sharp double play and saved the situation for the Giants. Coombs popped out to Doyle. No runs.

New York—Fletcher flied out to Murphy. Meyers' grazer was too hot for Baker to hold and the Indian was safe. Mathewson singled to right and the Indian took third. The stands were in an uproar. Meyers scored on Devore's infield tap, which Barry threw to Collins, forcing out Mathewson. Devore was out stealing second, Lapp to Barry. One run.

Fourth Inning: Philadelphia—Lord was out on a long fly to Snodgrass. Oldring out on a pop fly to Fletcher. Collins beat out an infield hit. This might have been a two-bagger had not Herzog made a fine stop. Collins stole second and New York kicked on the decision. Baker out, Mathewson to Merkle. Mathewson made a pretty play on the ball, leaping high in the air to take the high bound. No runs.

New York—Doyle was out, Collins to Davis. Snodgrass hit a high fly to Lord and sat down. Murray was out on a skyscraper which Murphy speared. No runs.

Fifth Inning: Philadelphia—Murphy

EUROPEANS FIGHT MOB

Germans Land Marines at Hankow—Co-operate With Japanese.

Berlin, Oct. 17.—Advices received at the foreign office from Hankow today report that a German force of bluejackets, reinforced by German local residents, have been landed at Hankow and are engaged in fighting in the streets with a Chinese mob.

The official report states that detachments were landed from the cruiser Leipsic and the gunboats Tiger and Vaterland. Members of the German colony volunteered to support the marines.

The admiralty has no further details regarding the fighting at Hankow, but understands that the Germans are cooperating in the international landing corps movement commanded by the Japanese naval captain.

The large German cruiser Gneisenau will arrive at Hankow tomorrow with vice Admiral von Krosigk, commander of the German Asiatic squadron. As the German vice admiral has a rank superior to that of the American admiral, it is probable that he will supercede the latter in chief command of the international naval forces.

Government Troops Arrive.

Hankow, China, Oct. 17.—The imperial government today began aggressive preparations for the recapture of Hankow and Wu-Chang. The first trainload of troops from the North arrived on the scene and camped in a businesslike fashion north of Hankow.

ROBINSON GETS OFF AT LAST

Starts Flight Down Mississippi But Lands Near Winona.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Aviator Hugh Robinson started on his Minneapolis-to-New Orleans flight at 9:12 today, the weather being ideal for the trip. He arose in his hydro-aeroplane from Lake Calhoun to about 1,000 feet and headed east over Lake street to the Mississippi river. He will follow the river to New Orleans.

Sighted in St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Going at an estimated speed of a mile a minute, Aviator Robinson came down the river to St. Paul and passed over the Robert street bridge at about the center of this city at 9:22 a. m. His air craft was sailing along as steadily as an automobile on a smooth roadway.

Landed Near Winona.

Winona, Minn., Oct. 17.—It is reported that Aviator Hugh Robinson, who left Minneapolis this morning, landed in the river about fifteen miles west of here. It is not known just what happened.

GETTING RID OF A NUISANCE.

BADGER LEGISLATURE "BOUGHT BY SHIELDS FOR STEPHENSON"

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 17.—Alleged evidence that Senator Stephenson secured his election for the United States senate through the expenditure of $100,000 to members of the Wisconsin legislature, was given this afternoon before the senatorial committee by Thomas Morris, lieutenant governor of Wisconsin.

Morris testified he had been informed by a Mr. Cook, a partner of Edward Hines, the lumberman, that the deal was put through by Robert J. Shields, who went to Washington just before the Wisconsin legislature met and secured the money from Senator Stephenson.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

FARGO WOMAN IS GIVEN A DIVORCE.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. C. Alcox brought suit against his wife for divorce but the court this morning granted her a decree after a hearing which lasted several days. They are well known residents here. Mrs. Alcox got the custody of the youngest child and a property division is to be made later.

We can't divide the stock, we must turn it into money at any sacrifice. This is your opportunity to save money at the great dissolution partnership sale of the Zenith Music House.

WEATHER: Fair tonight and Wednesday; cooler tonight with probably frost.

SICK MEN

Are Constantly Cured by Scientific Methods. Greatest Specialists for the Cure of Lingering Diseases.

Few of the doctors who started 20 years ago are to be found in this city. The doctors who have the most completely equipped offices and who have cured more than 20,000 men are to be found in the offices of the Progressive Medical association. Duluth has seen start many doctors and after they had taken all the money they could get, they left Duluth forever. They have made big promises but cured no one. Only last week another one of those "hot-air promising" medical offices has gone up in the air. The methods of the Progressive Medical association, however, have been straight, honest, scientific, and that is the reason they prospered. Their offices are crowded from 9 a. m. to 8 at night, and Sundays from 10 to 1.

There are people who bear the mark of pain and suffering from diseases of long standing and, asked why so many men suffer, they explained that constipation and stomach troubles cause self-poisoning. To relieve this trouble men are forming drug habits and become slaves to it, although they know very well relief is only temporary and their condition is worse than before. If you feel tired in the morning and you detect your skin to be sallow, your tongue coated and you have a feeling of fullness in your abdomen, you may know that your intestines are diseased and they cannot perform the work of digestion.

You are getting pale and losing flesh and your feeling tells you that you are a sick man. You have started the process of self-poisoning, your blood is diseased and your blood vessels harden, which slowly but surely prepares your grave and your suffering is a long one.

Rectal piles cause cancer and many other diseases. The bad and stagnant blood is forming piles, and these in turn result in a train of other diseases, as cancer, constipation, rheumatism, sciatica, pain in the back, kidney trouble, heart and liver diseases and nervousness. These specialists are most wonderful in curing all these diseases, and also Bright's disease, catarrh and lung trouble, bronchitis, blood poison, rupture, pelvic and bladder trouble, eczema and all skin diseases. If you have any ailment and you want to know all about it you are invited to consult the Progressive doctors. Consultation is free.

They cure all acute as well as chronic diseases of men, Nervous Debility, unnatural discharges, Contagious Blood Poison, swollen and Varicose Veins, as well as all diseases peculiar to the sex of men. These doctors can cure your disease for they have studied in the best universities here and in the Old country. They are well professioned in the science of healing chronic diseases of men. Offices at corner Superior street and Lake avenue, Duluth.

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANTS

Automobile Owners Not to Blame for Accident on Cloquet Road.

John Ohman Fails to Recover From Carlson, Johnson and Wallinder.

Judge Dibell of the district court directed a verdict for Defendnats Erick G. Wallinder and Frank Carlson and the jury returned a verdict in favor of Defendant Otto Johnson in the case bought against the three men by John Ohman for $20,000 damages, for injuries alleged to have been sustained when his horse was frightened by automobiles driven by the defendants.

The case has been on for a week past in district court. The defendants were represented by Howard Abbott and John Jenswold, Jr.

Ohman claimed that while driving along the Cloquet road his horse was frightened by the automobiles and that while trying to hold the animal by the bridle he was badly tramped upon.

It was the claim of the defendants that they were as careful as they could be under the circumstances.

The plaintiff claimed that he had two ribs broken as the result of the accident but physicians who examined the man stated that in their opinion the man had not been injured in the least and that they could find no evidences that he had ever had any ribs broken.

The case was a peculiar one in that several of the witnesses called for the plaintiff could not speak the English language after having been in this country for a period of about twenty years and having grown sons and daughters who had been schooled in this country. An interpreter had to be called in to ask and answer the questions put to them by the attorneys.

RAILROADS

EARNINGS SHOW AN INCREASE

Annual Report of Omaha Road Is Very Favorable.

Larger gross and larger net earnings, more business and a surplus of $730,000 after the payment of the usual 7 per cent dividends, and an increase of $200,000 over the surplus of the year before, are among some of the interesting things noted in the report of the fiscal year of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad, which has just been given out.

The report is said to be unusual in that it shows an increase in working forces as well as an increase in the rate of wages. Both the freight and passenger business of the Omaha were better than the year before. With a mild winter, the company made a substantial saving in a number of items under the maintenance of ways and structures and the cost of repairs was quite small.

New Work.

The report as to construction work is as follows:

"Work has been commenced on the construction of a line from Black River Falls to a connection with the main line at Vaudreuil, Wis., a distance of 2.23 miles. The line will be completed and opened for traffic this fall.

"Contracts have been let and work is in progress on a new double track line from Eau Claire west for a distance of 3.18 miles, with a double track bridge over the Chippewa river, connecting with the old line at a point one and one-fourth miles east of Truax. It is expected that this line will be completed before the close of the next fiscal year.

"A second main track is being constructed for a distance of 40.23 miles between Merrillan and Wyville, Wis. In connection with this work a change will be made in the line and grade for a distance of 3.80 miles, between Millston and Warren, shortening the distance 144 feet, eliminating two curves. It is expected that the work will be finished and the track opened for traffic this fall.

"Depots were erected to replace similar structures destroyed by fire, as follows: Ashland Junction, Wis.; Mankato (freight) and Jordan, Minn.; Fordyce and South Sioux City, Neb.

"Work was begun on a new depot at Craig, Neb. A new brick passenger depot, 140 feet long, thirty-one feet wide, except baggage end twenty-two feet wide, with steam heat, electric light and brick platforms, was constructed at Sioux Falls, S. D., to replace the old depot which was moved to new location and remodeled for use as a freight depot. A brick freight house, 30 by 512 feet, with a second story at one end, 30 by 32 feet, for office use, was constructed at Minneapolis, Minn.; this building is provided with steam heat, plumbing and electric light. There was also constructed at Minneapolis an automobile platform, 30 by 325 feet, of concrete wall filled with earth, to take the place of an old platform removed to make room for the new freight house. The passenger depot at New Richmond, Wis., and the freight-passenger depot at Bayfield, Wis., were remodeled and enlarged.

"A five-stall addition was made to the engine house at Altoona, Wis., and four stalls of the engine house at St. James, Minn., were extended seventeen feet. Work is now in progress on the construction of a fifteen-stall engine house, machine shop and oil house at Omaha, Neb., to replace buildings destroyed by fire. A brick addition was made to the engine room and work begun on a twenty-foot addition to the passenger car shop at Hudson, Wis. Work is in progress on an addition, 120 by 221 feet, to the machine shop at St. Paul, Minn.

"Water tanks were rebuilt at Ossea, Chetek and Hudson, Wis.

"The elevator belonging to this company at Washburn, Wis., was dismantled and taken down."

PARK SAYS STRIKE WILL NOT EXTEND.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 17.—The strike of Illinois Central shopmen will not spread to the ranks of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, according to W. L. Park, vice president and general manager of the Illinois Central. Mr. Park went so far as to say that F. E. Lucas, chairman of the executive board of the brotherhood, was now in the city for the purpose of visiting the different lodges and instructing the members to live up to their contract with the road.

Officials of the striking clerks and shopmen declare that "present conditions in freight houses and railroad yards will soon force the railroad to come to terms."

BIG INCREASE IN C. B. & Q. REVENUE

Annual Report of Directors of Road Is Made Public.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—An increase of nearly $4,000,000 is shown in the net total revenue of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad company for the year ending June 30, 1911, over that of the previous fiscal year, according to the annual report of the directors of the road made public today.

The total net revenue for 1911 was $28,623,193.48, as against $24,694,270.21 for the previous year. The total operating revenue for 1911 was $88,272,208.27, while in 1910 it was $87,869,517.24. The operating expenses for 1911 amounted to $59,541,925.66, while in 1910 their total was $63,010,964.88.

The report of the Colorado & Southern lines showed a decrease in the gross income from $6,041,958.62 for 1910 to $5,623,565.87 for 1911. The operating income of this road for 1911 was $4,978,344.92 and tor 1910, $5,414,332.52. The report of the Quincy, Omaha & Kansas City railroad showed operating income a deficit of $104,865.33 for 1911 against a deficit of $85,401.89 in 1910.

DECREASE IN G. N. EARNINGS

Annual Report Shows Falling Off in Passenger Revenue.

A decrease in passenger revenue on the Great Northern lines for the fiscal year compared with 1909 figures is noted in the annual report of the company's earnings. In 1909, on account of the Seattle exposition, the traffic was heavy.

An increase in the revenue from the transportation of the mails over last year is shown in the report. This is on account of a readjustment of the territory west of Minnesota. There has also been an increase during the past year in the express revenue, due to a new contract by which the railroad company derives a larger revenue from the express companies.

Operating expenses dropped $1,677,704.21. In the report of President Louis W. Hill, it is shown that gross operating revenues were $61,257,632.93, a decrease of $3,207,736.94, and the operating income was $20,562,461.37, a decrease of $1,294,519.16. The revenue from the transportation of wheat, rye, oats, barley and flax seed was $3,411,484.65 less than the year before. The tonnage of freight decreased 154,317.

Chairman James J. Hill, in his annual report to the stockholders, shows that the Great Northern for the fiscal year ended June 30 last spent $2,407,367 in constructing new lines and for preliminary expenses for projected lines. They are itemized as follows: Fargo to Surrey, $1,258,878.07; Oroville to Pateros, Wash., $350,270.39; Stanley to Wildrose, N. D., $209,375.13; Bainville to Plentywood, Mont., $199,154.69; Vaughn to Simms, Mont., $71,028.51; completion of sundry lines, $193,860.88; and preliminary expenses, $124,799.33 It is shown that $1,816,334.61 was spent on Canadian companies controlled.

TWO INJURED BY TRAINS.

Two men were injured in railroad accidents at Superior yesterday.

Otto Hill, aged 22, is at St. Mary's hospital with both hands cut off and suffering other injuries as a result of being run over by a train on the Allouez ore docks. Hill, it is said, yesterday afternoon lay down beside the track and went to sleep, leaving his hands stretched across the rails.

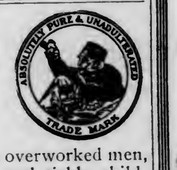

T. Homtrophus, a Soo line laborer, was knocked down by a Soo switch train yesterday afternoon. His right hand was cut off, his right foot crushed and head badly injured. He is at St. Mary's hospital and may die.

NEW TOWN ADDED TO SOO-TWIN CITY LINE.

Another new town will be added to the list to be put on the new Twin City-Duluth short line of the Soo railroad, which will open this winter. The name has been selected as Patzau, located in Douglas county, Wis.

The Farmers' Land & Cattle company is putting it on the map and a survey is now being made by it for platting the townsite. It is to be located in section 3, 46-15. The land company is building roads in from all directions and is pushing the sale of property in that vicinity.

FOR SELLING GUN TO MINOR

Ben Niamon Is Bound Over to the Next Grand Jury.

Ben Niamon, employed in a store on the Bowery, was arraigned in police court yesterday afternoon on a charge of having sold a revolver to Leo Gorman, 16 years old.

Gorman is the youth who was arrested at Second avenue west and First street after he had commanded the man running the lunch wagon to put him up a lunch on penalty of being "pumped full of lead." A policeman saw the gun, which he loaded in front of the lunch wagon man.

Niamon waived examination and was bound over to the next grand jury. Bail was fixed at $100.

TAX WILL BE VERY LARGE

The inheritance tax to be paid from the estate of Mrs. Marie M. Owsley, will probably be the largest tax of the kind ever paid in St. Louis county.

The next hearing on the case will be held in the local probate court on Nov. 1 and at that time it is probable that the report of the appraisers will be given and the amount of the inheritance tax decided upon.

Mrs. Owsley was Mrs. Marie Boeing before she married Dr. Owsley, a Detroit, Mich., man. Mr. Boeing was very wealthy and left the bulk of his property to his wife.

Later she married Dr. Owsley and in time died, leaving the doctor $35,000, and the sum of $10,000 a year during his life time. This does not satisfy the doctor and he is now trying to get what is due him under the law, one-third of the entire estate which is valued at more than $1,000,000.

In her will Mrs. Owsley stated that as Dr. Owsley did not accumulate the fortune, she thought he ought to be satisfied with what she left him. It was her wish that if he fought the will, he should be cut off entirely.

It is understood that a fight will be made to have him disregard for he is fighting the terms of the will.

The estate is so large that it is difficult to estimate its value. The royalties on the range mining properties are said to bring in an annual income of nearly $100,000.

Lighting Talks

NUMBER 77 DULUTH, OCTOBER 17, 1911

Stop the Folly, Now!

The report of the electrical engineers employed by the City Council to figure on the cost of a municipal electric plant was submitted to the Council on Monday evening. That report shows that the plant of the Duluth-Edison Electric Company COULD NOT be "duplicated" for anything like $700,000.

This expert information has now cost the City $14,000. That is the amount of the engineers' fee, and must be paid whether a municipal plant is built or not. Don't forget that.

Following explicitly the instructions of their employers, the electrical engineers submitted also a set of specifications for a plant that could be built for $700,000 (the exact figure of the report, we believe, is $696,743). They admit that this would be a much smaller and vastly inferior plant. You can sometimes, you know, buy a horse for $25—but what kind of horse will he be, and how much work can he do?

These engineers advise against building a municipal plant to cost more than $700,000. If they had had the courage of their convictions, they would have advised against building any municipal electric plant at all. For they EMPHASIZE in their report THE FACT THAT ANY PLANT BUILT BY THE CITY WOULD BE IN COMPETITION WITH THIS COMPANY.

These engineers know as well as we do that in competition with this company a municipal plant could not earn enough to pay the interest on its bonds, or to pay one cent toward the cost of street lighting. They know that at our offered price of only $45 a year for each arc light, this company will be doing the public lighting at a dead loss. They know that no municipal plant could do it at anything like such a low price.

Following the reading of the report, a resolution was offered (and postponed for one week) calling for a special election to vote on the issuance of $700,000 worth of bonds for a municipal electric plant. We believe that proposition would be overwhelmingly defeated by popular vote. But we would respectfully remind you, the voters and taxpayers, that such a "special election" would COST YOU $6,000; and is wholly unnecessary.

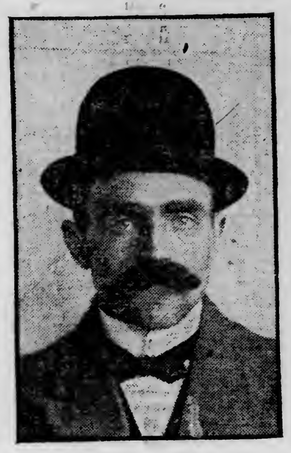

The Council has full power to stop this colossal folly without throwing another $6,000 after the $14,000 already spent.

Will the Council do it? It is "up to YOU" to get busy with YOUR alderman and see that he votes to conserve YOUR interests by voting against making YOUR TAXES HIGHER and wasting any more of YOUR money for a needless municipal plant.

GIRL KLEPTOMANIAC TRIES TO SHIELD BROTHER

OLIVER NELSON.

ANNA NELSON.

Determined to shield her brother, a dozen years her senior, even though she goes to prison herself, Anna Nelson, the 19-year-old domestic arrested yesterday for shoplifting, declares that she alone stole the $200 worth of goods which were found in their flat at 2104 West Superior street, upstairs, yesterday afternoon, by Detectives Terry and Toewe.

And the brother seems willing to let her shoulder the whole burden, state the police. The officers say that he denies having stolen a single article in the big miscellaneous collection of finery and jewelry uncovered at their home.

Anna and her brother, Oliver, were arrested yesterday afternoon. They were booked for grand larceny in the second degree and arraigned in police court this morning on two different complaints, one sworn out by the George A. Gray company and the other by Stack & Co. They asked for an examination, which was set for tomorrow afternoon. Bail in each case was fixed at $500 for each offense.

The police assert that the two have frequently been seen together, sometimes carrying the pasteboard box with the big slot in which they concealed the goods which were stolen. They are not willing to accept the girl's version of the affair and hold that the brother is equally guilty with the sister. They operated extensively in the big department stores on both sides of the bay. The girl says that she has been in this country but two or three years, coming to Duluth from Minneapolis about five months ago. She stated that she was taught to steal from stores by another girl with whom she became acquainted in Minneapolis.

A Kleptomaniac.

Mrs. Walsh, police matron says that she believes the girl to be a kleptomaniac, with an insatiable thirst for pretty things to wear. As far as can be learned the girl did not steal for profit, as it appears that she has never sold or attempted to sell any of the articles which had been stolen. They were all concealed in the rooms in the West end. Part of the things which were found she claims were either purchased by her or given to her by relatives.

As long as they operated with the pasteboard box they seem to have escaped being detected. But their downfall was caused by the fact that in at least one store they are said to have stolen an article without the box, attempting to substitute a pair of bread pans for it. They had purchased the pans and it is claimed that they tried to slip the article in between them, but were seen doing it. Evidently the pans could not be manipulated as smoothly or as expeditiously as the deceiving box with the convenient slot. This led to an investigation and a search of their rooms, which resulted in their arrest yesterday afternoon.

They are also said to have been noticed in a West end millinery store in which some valuable plumes and trimmings were lost some time ago.

DYNAMITE LAID FOR TAFT TRAIN?

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 17.—A report received here by officials of the Southern Pacific Railway company from C. B. Brown, superintendent at Naples, Cal., gives details of the discovery of thirty-six sticks of dynamite under the Cairlan viaduct, twenty miles north of Santa Barbara, several hours before President Taft's special train passed over the bridge, en route to Los Angeles, yesterday morning. The dynamite was found after the watchman had engagd in a revolver battle with two men, who escaped.

After the pair had escaped in the darkness, the watchman returned to the bridge and began an investigation. Near the center of the span, lodged in one of the supports of the viaduct, he found thirty-six sticks of dynamite with a 10-foot fuse attached to one of the sticks. He left the find untouched, going immediately to Santa Barbara, and notified the officials. Sheriff Wines of Santa Barbara county went immediately to the bridge with several deputies and removed the dynamite. A search is being made for the men.

E. E. Calvin, vice president and general manager of the Southern Pacific, has offered $5,000 reward for information that would lead to the arrest of the alleged dynamites.

MEAN TO AIR EVERYTHING

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 17.—No reinvestigation of the election of United States Senator Isaac Stephenson, such as the second investigation of Senator Lorimer, will be necessary, if the present committee investigating Senator Stephenson's election can help it.

This was made known by the committee today when Spencer M. Marsh, a state senator, was put on the stand. Marsh was chairman of a legislative committee which sustained charges of bribery and corrupt use of money in the election of Senator Stephenson.

"From your investigation we want to know whether you were of the opinion that the charges against Senator Stephenson were true?" asked Senator Heyburn, the chairman.

"Half Used Corruptly."

"Some of the charges were sustained and some were not," replied the witness. "I believe about half of the $107,793 spent by the senator in his campaign for the primary nomination was used corruptly. I believe the first of the sixteen charges, referring to Senator Stephenson's having given E. A. Edmonds, his manager, in excess of $106,000, was sustained. To throw out that much money in the state without any requirement of an accounting could have had had no other purpose than to corrupt voters."

Attorney Littlefield, counsel for Senator Stephenson, protested against the admission of this line of testimony, on the ground that it was mere opinion, but he was overruled.

Senator Heyburn explained that the committee wanted to know what induced the legislative committee to sustain the charges, as the committee would be bound to be able to report back to the United States senate that it had gone into all phases of the subject. He intimated the committee intended not to make it necessary to reinvestigate the Stephenson charges.

Get All the Facts.

"We recently have had an example of that kind," said Senator Heyburn, referring by inference to the second investigation of Senator Lorimer. "This committee does not intend to go back to Washington to find itself in such a position that some senator may declare we have failed to get all the facts. Senator Stephenson is not now on trial. He will be before the United States senate. Therefore the committee feels it has the right to ask any questions it sees fit."

Marsh then reiterated his testimony that he was convinced by evidence that the Stephenson charges were well founded. The charges he found sustained were:

That Senator Stephenson bought editorial support of newspapers.

That men were paid to go to the primaries to vote for Senator Stephenson.

That Stephenson money was spent without detailed accounting as required by law.

Three Make Denial.

The charges that bribery and corruption entered into the election of Senator Stephenson were denied by three important witnesses yesterday. Following a statement by Senator Heyburn that "somebody must sustain the charges or they will fall," the witnesses, each of whom had been specificially named in the charges submitted to the United States senate, declared they had never aided Senator Stephenson in the manner charged.

The witnesses were—C. M. Hanibright of Milwaukee, U. C. Keller of Baraboo, and E. M. Hyzer, general counsel of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad. Senator Blaine's charges resulted in the senatorial investigation although Blaine last week admitted on the stand that he had based his charges largely on what he had read in anti-Stephenson newspapers, and on hear-say.

About Russian Pony Coats!

The buyer of furs for the largest store in Winnipeg, in fact in Canada, told a member of our firm the other day that he had heard we were selling genuine Russian Pony Coats at the (to him) remarkably low price of $55. When told that we were selling them as low as $50 and even $39.50 he could hardly believe his ears. And this, mind you, from a store in the heart of the Fur industry!

It's truly remarkable but these coats at $39.50 and $50 we have never seen the equal of, ourselves. It used to be considered fortunate to secure a calfskin (imitation pony) at such prices, but soft, silky, beautifully marked genuine Russian Ponyskin Coats, never!

Upon payment of a small deposit we will lay aside one of these coats for you until wanted. And bear in mind, that we cannot promise how long we will be able to sell them at these prices, as the price is not guaranteed and may be raised at any moment.

New Double Faced Coats

Today's express brought about 25 coats—each and every one different; gray, tan, navy, black, mixtures, faced in green lavender, purple, brown, etc., at $22.50, $25, $29.50 and $32.50.

The White Polo Coats at Half are Going Fast

Every White Polo Coat in stock is included in this sale. An opportunity that may not be offered again this season. Several styles to select from. Former prices were $29.50 to $45.

ITALIANS DEFEATED

London, Oct. 17.—A dispatch to the Chronicle from Constantinople says: The Italians are reported to have suffered a serious reverse outside Tripoli. While on a reconnoitering expediton they advanced too far from their base of supplies and came in contact with the Turks, who forced the Italians to retreat, leaving 100 dead on the field.

Intervention Less Likely.

Berlin, Oct. 17.—The outlook for a successful intervention to bring an end to the Turco-Italian war is becoming less favorable, according to a semi-official statement.

Italy has yielded to public opinion at home and is no longer willing to concede Turkish suzeralnty for Tripoli, while on the other hand Turkey is not willing to surrender Tripoli unconditonally because of the internal dangers that would be involved by such yielding on the part of the government.

It is impossible for other powers to negotiate definitely with Constantinople in the absence of a settled government there.

OIL BURNERS AT BANQUET

About fifty students of the International Correspondence school and other guests, attended the annual banquet given last night at the Spalding hotel.

Rev. J. A. McGaughey spoke on "Concentration," George Maxwell gave a talk on "Making a Home," C. L. Hood gave a talk on "The Advantages of Study," F. N. Burrell spoke on "Self Help," and Mayor Cullum took "Opportunity" for his subject.

The talks by the Duluth men were opportune and were greatly enjoyed by those present.

A telegram of congratulations was sent by the Duluth students of the school to President T. J. Foster of the International Correspondence school, wishing him even greater success in the years that are to come. It is said that Mr. Foster has helped more men to help themselves than any other one person in the country.

"Every boy has the opportunity," said Mayor Cullum, "to make his mark in the world irrespective of the advantages he may have started with. The day when the boy could sincerely excuse himself for not being educated on account of not being near, or having no time to attend, school has passed. In this day and age the schools have not waited for the pupil to come to them, but have reached out and found the ambitious young man and then brought the school to him, no matter where he lives."

SUFFERING FROM ECZEMA

Unnecessary While Poslam, the Perfect Remedy, Quickly Heals

Eczema, that many-formed skin malady, which authorities assert is usually caused by a disordered diet, never proves fatal and is generally found in those who are otherwise healthy. Poslam has probably accomplished more remarkable cures of this and other skin diseases than any remedy known. It is applied directly upon the disorder, stops itching at once and clears and heals the skin, restoring it to perfect condition. The great majority of cases yield in from two to four weeks. Acne, tetter, barbers' itch and similar aggravating troubles are likewise speedily cured.

Merely a small quantity of Poslam used for clearing the complexion, removing eruptions, pimples, rashes and blemishes is sufficient to show what it can do. Poslam is sold for 50 cents by the Lyceum pharmacy, W. A. Abbett and all druggists everywhere. For free sample write to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West 25th St., New York City.

Poslam Soap, medicated with Poslam, is the best soap for your skin. Antiseptic, prevents infection. Large cake, 25 cents.

DRINKING FOR NERVOUSNESS

So Many Drinkers Have to Drink to Keep From Becoming Nervous.

Nervous Drinkers: The man or woman who has to drink to keep from becoming nervous is in a physical condition where their system not only demands drink, but must have it. To keep liquor away from such a person would be cruel and heartless, for the nervous system is shattered and nothing will keep it together but drink. While more and more drink is only adding fuel to flame and still further wrecking their nervous system, they must have it, or they would border on the delirum tremens. That the whole nervous system of such a drinker can be fully restored in three days, by the Neal treatment, without Hypodermic Injections is a fact that is daily proven at the Institute.

Especially appointed and elegantly furnished private rooms for men and women patients, and no extra charge for attendance by physician and nurse. Free booklet sent sealed on application. Both phones, Broad 37, Ogden 117.

WOMAN'S REALM.

Miss Isabelle Pearson in a short organ recital and Henry Hadley's "A Legend of Grenada," formed a delightful program yesterday for the open meeting of the Matinee Musicalo which was held at the Masonic Temple.

Miss Pearson received a great ovation for her playing from the enthusiastic audience which filled the auditorium. She gave three compositions by Guilmand, the great French organist with whom she studied in France last winter and her work was delightful. She apparently has a thorough understanding of her work and of her instrument.

The beautiful cantata, too, received a generous amount of applause, for it was exquisitely sung under the direction of Alfred Wylie. The blending of the voices and the delicate shading were especially well brought out and the accompaniment played by Mrs. J. N. McKindley on the piano was a special feature of the number.

Miss Gladys Reynolds and George Suffel sang the solo parts of the piece while the chorus was composed of the following singers: First sopranos, Miss Reynolds, Miss Hyland, Mrs. Mark Baldwin, Mrs. Bartholemew and Mrs. N. B. Morrison; second sopranos, Mrs. Leo Ball, Mrs. G. Herbert Jones, Miss Mary Bradshaw, Miss Schmidt; first altos, Mrs. W. C. Winton, Mrs. Larson, Mrs. H. B. Paull, Mrs. C. B. Gilbert; second altos, Mrs. J. F. Walsh, Mrs. Peter, Mrs. Kerr and Miss Glenn Bartholemew.

This is the second open meeting which the club has held this year and the attendance yesterday, despite the unfavorable weather, was large.

BIG DONATION.

Needlework Guild Round up a Large One.

Such nice new warm clothing for babies, children and grownups in the form of woolen under-clothing, stockings, good stout shoes, dresses, wraps, caps and bonnets made up the donations from the members of the Needle-work guild in their annual roundup which was held today at No. 2 East First street. Garments mostly in pairs, assorted as to the different sizes and kinds, were heaped on tables about the room and represented a deal of comfort for little children and others for the coming winter. In fact, the donations this year far exceed the previous seasons, when the work has been carried on.

It is the custom of the guild to hold this roundup early each fall by the collection of two new garments from each member of the guild, and then the garments are distributed among charitable institutions, hospitals and homes according to carefully investigated needs of these places.

The annual meeting of the guild will be held tomorrow afternoon at the same place at 2:30 o'clock for election of officers and yearly reports and Thursday morning the distribution of garments will take place.

FIRST LECTURE.

Dr. Powell Gives Talk on Tennyson and Wordsworth.

An interesting lecture was presented by Dr. John Walker Powell last evening at the Endion Methodist church on "The Nature Lover" from a comparative study of Wordsworth and Tennyson. This was the first of a series of five lectures on Tennyson which he will give on successive Monday evenings at this place.

"The intense consciousness of nature, is so characteristic of our period" he said. "In Wordsworth the love of nature is a passion. He tells us of the time when

'Meadow, grove and stream,
The earth, and every common sight
To me did seem
Appareled in celestial light.'

"Wordsworth, however, not merely indulges and describes this love of Nature's charms. He feels that she has a meaning. There is in her a life to which his own life is akin, and in his mature work he is ever the reflective but sympathetic listener to Nature's message.

"By reason of this reflective interest, Wordsworth, though he is full of the keenest delight in Nature, never loses consciousness of his own moods and thoughts. He seems sometimes more the observer of his own feeling in the presence of Nature than in the beauties he is reporting. In this he differs widely from Shelley, who, while he holds a philosophy of Nature not widely different from Wordsworth's own, nevertheless fairly loses himself in the ecstatic sense of his oneness with her.

"With Tennyson, however, we are conscious of different atmosphere. Here we have neither ecstatic absorption into the beauty of the world, nor a sense of kinship of the like which finds expression in natural forms. Nature everywhere reflects the moods and passions of man. Tennyson is a scene-painter, who when the action of the human drama is stormy paints a background of storm; when peaceful and glad, he shows us a scene of sunshine and radiant beauty.

"But while this is true, we find in Tennyson a closeness of observation and a power of description unrivalled in English poetry. No man has described the beauty of the outward world with such marvelous aptness of phrase, such power to make us feel the spirit of the landscape. Tennyson, moreover, is always the scientist. Like Michael Angelo, he has studied the anatomy of the figures he is to paint. Finally Nature has for Tennyson her own message—the scientist's lesson of law, of power, and above all, of the Infinite of which the outward world is but the vision—in Goethe's phrase, 'The garment thou seest Him by.'"

AMERICAN WOMEN ARE BRIGHTEST

MRS. CLARENCE EDWARDS.

In a recent trip around the world Mrs. Clarence Edwards did not form a very flattering opinion of the women of other nations. She says that the American woman is the brightest, smartest and prettiest in the world. But in this praise she does not include the suffragettes. Mrs. Edwards thinks that woman's place is in the home and she has no sympathy with women who usurp man's occupations or demand man's rights. Gen. Clarence Edwards, who is Mrs. Edward's husband, was stationed with President Taft in the Philippines and they are great friends.

ANOTHER CHAPTER IN HER ROMANCES

MAY YOHE.

And now it is reported that May Yohe—she of the fog horn voice—is to marry Jack McAuliffe. May will not confirm this report but McAuliffe says it is true. They have been friends for a great many years—in fact grew up together. May was for a time on the stage and then married Lord Francis Hope. Later she ran away with "Putty" Strong of New York. Two years ago it was reported she had married a Canadian lumber man named Murphy. May's matrimonial adventures have been sensational and she only needs to marry a prize fighter to finish her picturesque career.

Girls Have "Stag" Party.

Miss Agnes Peterson entertained a number of friends last evening at a "stag" party at her home. The guests made an exciting trip to a photographer's and later a Dutch lunch was served at the home.

Silver Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Peterson of 1831 West Second street entertained a number of their friends Sunday afternoon and evening, the occasion being their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. They were the recipients of many pretty presents. The rooms were prettily decorated with roses, carnations and ferns and during the evening several fine musical selections were rendered.

Farewell Surprise.

The home of Rabbi and Mrs. W. Kissin was the scene of a large surprise party last evening. The affair was in the nature of a farewell party for Mrs. Kissin will leave next Sunday for St. Paul, where she will be joined a week later by her husband and they will make their home there. Seventy women were present and presented the guest of honor with a handsome set of cut glass dishes.

Bishop's Club.

The regular meeting of the Bishop's club will be held this evening at the club rooms of the cathedral hall with Miss Gertrude Knauf as leader.

For Young Women.

Mrs. J. D. Morrison will be hostess to the young women of Trinity procathedral Saturday afternoon at her home, 2131 East Superior street.

D. A. R. Luncheon.

The members of the Liberty Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will open their year's work tomorrow with a basket luncheon at the home of Mrs. J. L. Washburn of Hunter's park. "Summer Experiences" will be the subject for the day and each member is asked to be ready to tell of some of her summer doings.

Birthday Surprise.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Popkin of 1819 Dingwall street were pleasantly surprised Sunday evening at their home by about thirty friends in celebration of the birthday anniversay of Mr. Popkin.

Church Meetings.

The Women's Aid society of the Lakeside Presbyterian church will meet in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon. A business meeting is to be called at 2 o'clock sharp. The hostesses for the afternoon are Mrs. H. B. Sutherland, Mrs. H. Skoog, Mrs. DeWitt Southwick and Mrs. A. R. Sabin.

The Luther League of St. John's English Lutheran church will meet this evening at the home of Philip Bayha, 322 Fourth avenue west. All the members and their friends are invited.

THE EVENING STORY

THE COMPACT

By Joseph R. Reham.

"Then it's just a compact between us Pearl,?"

Pearl swung round and faced Walter, the roughish look in her merry eyes changing to one of unwonted gravity. "Yes Walter, a business affair pure and simple. Listen! I, Pearl Knowles, agree to be engaged to you—Walter Humiston—for six months—" Then suddenly she stopped, and walked over to the window, a break in her voice.

"Oh, it isn't a laughing matter, is it?" she asked pathetically, her big brown eyes full of tears; and Walter found the pictures on the wall suddenly absorbingly interesting. "It's the dearest wish of uncle's life that we should marry, and if he dies thinking that is going to happen, and it makes him happier, our feelings matter but little." Walter took a step towards his pretty cousin.

"And so, like the splendid kid you are, Pearl, you're going to engage yourself to me until until—".

"Until the end. Dr. Hosley gives uncle three months; that's why I sent for you, Walter. It was only yesterday that he told me—' Pearl's voice ended in a sob, and she turned away to hide her emotion. "And you want my father to die happy in the knowledge that we two shall marry?"

Pearl nodded. She had suggested the compact—the six months engagement—and now that Walter had agreed she shrank from the boldness of her action. "You see, Walter, uncle's been the best friend I ever had, and it's the very least I can do to make him happy, isn't it? Although—"

"Although you don't love me, Pearl?" Walter's handsome face bore a look of sorrow that Pearl did not see.

"Well, I do like you, Walter; in fact, I love you as though you were my brother; you see, we're always played together as kiddies—"

"And quarrelled together," put in Walter; "But still we won't talk of the old days. I want you to tell me the terms of the compact, so that I may fulfill them properly." Pearl seated herself in the big armchair, and Walter perched himself at a dangerous angle on the padded arm. He glanced down at the pretty face, and stifled a sigh. Oh, if only Pearl loved him; but she didn't and there was an end to everything.

"Well, the thought came to me yesterday after Dr. Hosley had gone." Pearl was saying. "He said that uncle would die in three months," there was a catch in the girl's voice, but she continued, "but uncle does not know; he thinks there is still hope. Then I made up my mind that the dearest wish of his life should be realized, that I would—"

"Promise to be my wife?"

"Yes, if you were willing."

"Oh Pearl!"

"And then I conceived the idea of a 'pretence' engagement, just to make uncle happy. Of course, we can break it afterwards," Pearl concluded swiftly without looking at Walter.

"Of course," the latter assented dolefully. "That's part of the compact, isn't it?"

"Certainly; that's the part of the compact. You understand, don't you, Walter? We're engaged from this very moment, aren't we?"

Walter clasped his hands behind his back. In another instant he would have taken the bewitching Pearl in his arms, and his lips would have been on hers; but that must not be.

"Yes, little girl, I understand. We are to be engaged as far as father knows; then, afterwards, we shall disagree, break it off, and each go our own way."

Pearl nodded approvingly at Walter. "Exactly."

"Then I can tell father?"

"Yes." And Pearl was alone.

She strolled over to the window, striving hard to keep back the tears which were so near the surface. Why should her uncle die? Why should he be taken from her? She asked the questions rebelliously, but there came no answer: only she knew that in three months she would be alone in the world, because, of course, she wouldn't see Walter any more—he would go his way, and she hers. For the first time a pang of deep regret seized Pearl. Life wouldn't be much without Walter—queer that she had never thought of that before. He had always been ready to wait on the impetuous little maid, always her willing slave, since the time as a tiny mite of 4 she had invaded his nursery, and declared herself the "Queen"—monarch of all she surveyed, and so of course, it was no wonder that Walter should share in the general homage.

Walter's father, Pearl's uncle and guardian, came slowly into the room his lined face full of happiness. Pearl hastened towards him, full of tender solicitude. "Did he tell you, uncle?" she asked breathlessly.

"Yes, dear, it was the only thing I had left to wish for." His thin thands stroked the girl's hair fondly as she crouched at his knees, her face hidden. "Dear little Pearl, you'll be my daughter, after all."

"I'll go back to my room now, dearie," Pearl was glad of the interruption, and gave the help of her strong young arm. It seemed impossible to realize that her uncle, who until a month ago had been in perfect health, should now be stricken with a complaint that no medical science could combat. Pearl left him in his own little room, her mind full of conflicting thoughts. At the end of the passage she met Walter.

"Uncle came along to the dining room," she said, 'and he's so happy."

"Yes, dear"—Walter had never called her that before—"I know. Nothing would do but that he must come along and tell you of his delight." A look of tenderness came into Pearl's sweet face.

"It's worth it—the compact, I mean—if it's going to make him happy, Walter."

"Rather, but Pearl"—Walter's face was full of a new eagerness—"There's one thing you had forgotten—suppose—suppose that Dr. Hosley is wrong—than kheaven if he is—and father lives, what then?"

"Oh, Walter" what a heavenly thought. Dr. Hosley may be wrong—perhaps something could be done," and she shook Walter in her excitement. "Some other man perhaps—some New York doctor—"

"I have already wired for the great Dr. Comstock," he answered. "If there is a man who can save my father, it is he."

"Oh, Walter; dear old Walter," Pearl was weeping now for sheer joy at the prospect of what the great surgeon might do. "Will he come?" She asked between her sobs.

"Of course he will." Walter replied softly. "And now, Pearl, you must go and rest, or you'll be ill. Don't worry more than you can help, and I promise to let you know directly he arrives."

Pearl obeyed, and made her way to her bedroom. An hour ago she had no vestige of hope, now it seemed quite possible that after all her uncle might not die. With a sigh of weariness she flung herself on to the bed, and in a few minutes all her troubles were forgotten in a dreamless sleep. Then the next thing she remembered was that she was back in the dining room once more, and that Walter was breaking the joyful news to her.

"He says, Pearl, that if the operation he suggests is successful father will be restored to health; but that everything depends upon that. Father is willing to risk it, and Dr. Comstock is going to operate." Pearl was silent. So deep, so great was her thankfulness that no words would come.

Dr. Comstock was right. The operation proved successful and Pearl's uncle was no longer an invalid. True, the cure had been gradual, but none the less sure.

Pearl stood in the dining room, the very room where, six months before, she had made her compact with Walter.

A puzzled frown settled on the fair white brow, and she clenched and unclenched her hands nervously. At every footfall she started. In another hour Walter would be there, and what could she say? How could she tell him that she loved him with a love that was past all understanding? And yet if she sent him from her she would never be happy again; and her uncle—how would he take it—the news of their broken engagement?

Never had Pearl felt so miserable, and her pretty face looked sad and tired. Then, before she was aware of it, the door opened quietly, and Walter came into the room. "Pearl!"

"It's got to be faced, hasn't it, Pearl?" Walter strove hard to hide the sorrow in his voice.

"You mean telling uncle?" she asked wearily.

"Yes, dear." Walter's voice was low, his eyes on his cousin's downcast head.

"But there isn't any need, Walter." Pearl's voice was trembling, and Walter took a step forward towards her.

"You mean—"

"That I love you—love you dearly, Walter; and the compact need not end—"

The next moment she was in his arms, and Walter was kissing her passionately.

The Nursery

Nervous Children and Nail Biting.

It is the child of a nervous temperament who acquires the habit of biting his nails so the first remedy to be taken is that of seeking a doctor's advice in order that the diet may be regulated and that any deleterious item in the program of the child's life may be altered.

At this stage it is best to take little notice of the habit except to exercise moral suasion over the victim of it. Should it continue the finger tips may be dipped in a solution of quinine or bitter aloes, which the child will dislike, or the child may be directed to wear cotton gloves in order that each time he puts his fingers to his mouth he may be reminded of his habit and prevented from exercising it.

ECZEMA CAME FROM TEETHING

Watery Festers Dried in Scabs. Would Dig and Scratch Her Face. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and Was Cured.

"When my little girl was about eight months old, she was taken with a very irritating breaking out, which came on her face, neck and back. When she first came down with it, it came in little watery-like festers under her eyes, and on her chin, then after a few days it would dry down in scaly, white scabs. In the daytime she was quite worrysome and would dig and scratch her face nearly all the time.

"I consulted our physician and found she was suffering from eczema, which he said came from her teething. I used the ointment he gave me and without any relief at all. Then I wrote for a book on Cuticura, and purchased some Cuticura Soap and Ointment at the drugstore. I did as I found directions in the Cuticura Booklet, and when she was one year old, she was entirely cured. Now she is three years and four months, and she has never been troubled with eczema since she was cured by the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. Freeman Craver, 311 Lewis St., Syracuse, N. Y., May 6, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, but to those who have tried the usual remedies and found them wanting, and who have lost faith in everything, a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book on the skin, will be sent post-free, on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 2A, Boston, Mass.

GOLD ROSARY FOR GIBBONS

Knights of Columbus Present It to the Cardinal.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 17.—The opening of the first national congress of the Holy Name society and the presentation of a golden rosary to Cardinal Gibbons, constituted the chief features yesterday in the cardinal's dual jubilee celebration. The rosary, composed of gold nuggets, was presented to the cardinal by the Knights of Columbus of America.

The Holy Name congress was presided over by Bishop O'Corrigan of this city, and Cardinal Gibbons delivered an address. Delegates are in attendance, representing a membership of 600,000.

MASONS AND ELKS WILL ATTEND FUNERAL

MORRIS THOMAS.

The funeral of Morris Thomas, one of the prominent and most respected pioneer residents of Duluth, who died yesterday at his home, 1512 London road, of heart failure will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Masonic Temple under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity, of which he was a leading member.

He was also a member of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, the members of which will attend in a body. The Masonic ritual will be observed at the temple and that of the Elks at Forest Hill cemetery, at which the interment will be made.

Besides his wife, Mr. Thomas is survived by his son, F. M. Thomas; a brother, S. Thomas, who has made his home with the late Mr. Thomas; another brother, J. Thomas of San Francisco, and a grandson, Morris Thomas, Jr. Mr. Thomas was 65 years of age and had resided in Duluth since 1880. A short service will take place at his late home at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, following which the body will be taken to the Masonic Temple, where it will lie in state until 2 o'clock.

Aged South Dakotan Suffocated.

Tabor, S. D., Oct. 17.—Joseph Hajek, aged 79 years, and for the last nineteen years a resident of Tabor, living alone, was suffocated in a fire that burned his home. A careful search resulted in the finding of a considerable sum in currency and silver. The fire is supposed to have been started by burning paper falling to the floor from the open stove door.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FORECAST TILL 7 P. M. WEDNESDAY

For Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion Iron ranges: Fair weather tonight and Wednesday; cooler tonight with probably frost; light to moderate westerly winds.

The northeaster ended last evening, as predicted by the weather man, and this morning broke clear and cool, ideal autumn weather.

The weather man expects present conditions to continue, with slightly lower temperatures and frost.

A year ago today it was fair.

The sun rose this morning at 6:29 and will set at 5:18, making ten hours and forty-nine minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The storm centered this morning over Northern Lake Superior caused further rains over the lake region, Central Canada, the Mississippi and Ohio valleys and Gulf states during the last twenty-four hours, besides brisk and moderately high winds over most of the lake region. Warmer weather prevails over the eastern lake region and Upper Ohio valley. The high pressures in the Southwest and North Pacific districts have caused cooler temperature over the Northwest, eastern slopes of the Rocky mountains, Mississippi valley and Southwestern states. Generally fair weather may be expected at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Upper Michigan—Fair in west, rain in east portion tonight; cooler tonight; Wednesday fair, with colder in east portion.

Wisconsin—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; slightly cooler tonight; frost in lowlands tonight if clear.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; probably frost tonight; cooler in east portion tonight.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; slightly cooler tonight in east portion.

North Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; cooler tonight, with probably frost.

Montana—Fair tonight and Wednesday; cooler in west and south portions tonight.

NEW SYSTEM OUTLINED

Letter Tells How Banks May Seek Money Order Business.

Duluth Banker Says Some Plan Will Be Adopted.

Duluth bankers have for a long time been looking forward with keen interest to the arrival of the circular outlining the plan of the money order committee of the American Bankers' association for the establishment of a bankers' money order system to be world-wide in its scope. This circular has already been published in its entirety in some of the commercial magazines, although the formal presentation to the banks of the United States, which are affiliated with the American Bankers' association, has not yet been made.

"I think there is no doubt that the banks will adopt some such plan," said John H. Dight, cashier of the First National Bank of Duluth, yesterday, after reading a magazine copy of the circular. "Whether this particular plan is adopted or not remains to be seen. Nor can I say whether I would indorse this plan or not, until I have scrutinized it more carefully. But I will say that Joseph Chapman, Jr., of Minneapolis, chairman of the committee that is sending out these circulars, is a long-headed man along the banking line. He is the father of the travelers' cheque system, which has met with such tremendous success both at home and abroad.

"The banks should have a regularly organized money order system. At present, if a man wants an order that he can cash in some other city, we give him our draft on some financial center, Chicago, for example, or New York. We have bank accounts for that purpose in large cities in many parts of the world, at London, Berlin, Paris, Rome and other places too numerous to mention.

"But bank money orders, on a form to be adopted, would be more generally recognized by banks throughout the world. The plan at present in vogue works all right, but a regular system of money orders, issued under one form, and guaranteed by one great central issuing house, would be more business-like and more adequate for personal use and small commercial transactions."

Committee's Plan.

The committee plans to have the Bankers' Trust Company of New York issue all the money orders. The company has not yet consented to undertake this gigantic task and before deciding insists on knowing whether the American banks, in general, or a majority of them, will fall in line with the plan. The committee has therefore made arrangements to have the plan brought to the attention of the banks by means of a circular letter.

The plan, as outlined in this letter, is as follows:

"All money orders would be drawn on the Trust company by issuing banks on one form, which form could only be obtained from the Trust company, which would look after the manufacture of the money orders, the printing of the names of issuing banks upon them, their distribution to such banks, and their payment in all parts of the world. The form would be manufactured with such protective features as would seem necessary and would be sold to issuing banks at approximately $10 a thousand blanks, at least until sufficient numbers of them were in use to make it possible to reduce the price. Before the shipping of the blanks, issuing banks would arrange for their protection by depositing with the Trust company $1,000, on which 2 per cent interest would be paid, or by the deposit of collateral or a bond of a satisfactory surety company. All the blanks necessary for selling the money orders would be furnished by the Trust company with the orders themselves.

"With these money orders in their vaults, bankers could sell exchange to their customers for small amounts, up to, say $50, on any part of the world, without the necessity of figuring on rates or watching the foreign exchanges. Uniform rates would be charged by bankers selling money orders and would be retained by them as their profit. Such rates would be in line with those charged at present for similar service and would represent a satisfactory profit to bankers for undertaking the business.

"The establishment of this system would not interfere with the arrangements already existing between metropolitan banks and their banking correspondents, under which the latter draw foreign exchange, except in so far as it applied to amounts not to exceed $50. All such sales are generally conceded as being unprofitable to metropolitan institutions which sell foreign exchange through their correspondents; consequently a money order system, while relieving such foreign exchange houses of the detail and expense of handling small items, would still leave them the less expensive and more profitable business, which the sale of foreign exchange in larger amounts carries with it. While the rates which would be applied to the money orders would be fair for the small amounts involved, they would not be acceptable to those purchasing large amounts of exchange, so that bankers selling money orders, even if they wished, and the money orders themselves did not distinctly state that they were good for not to exceed $50, could not use them for sales of exchange in larger amounts.

"It is the opinion of the committee that this plan, if carried out, will be a practical means of satisfying bankers, who are being annoyed by express company competition in the banking field."

This plan has been adopted by the committee after six years' investigation. The Commercial West of Minneapolis says that replies are coming into Mr. Chapman's office with every mail and that the general sentiment seems to be in favor of establishing this new system of money orders. If the majority of the bankers are in favor of and will use these money orders, the matter will then be in shape for final action by the American Bankers' association at the New Orleans meeting next month.

WANTS $1,350 FROM B. R. T.

Louis K. Snyder is suing the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainment for $1,350, which he claims is due him on a beneficiary policy taken out with the order in 1902.

He claims that though repeated attempts have been made to collect the money that no part of it has ever been paid.

Two years ago he sustained injuries to his hand which necessitated having it amputated. He claims that for the loss of the hand he is entitled to the amount named.

He claims also that he is in good standing, has paid his dues regularly and has lived up to the rules of the organization.

The trial of the case is taking place before Judge Dibell of the district court.

FIGHTING TO BE ADMINISTRATOR

Unique Battle Taking Place Before Judge Gilpin of Probate Court.

Judge Gilpin of the probate court is trying to decide who is the rightful administrator for the estate of Jerry Sarich, also known as Jerry Tauselj.

The Austrian consul has petitioned to be made the authorized administrator and the law firm of Heim and Loevenger of St. Paul was in probate court this morning at the hearing in the matter to push his claims.

The father and mother of the dead man live in the old country. They have given power of attorney to Anton Tauselj, a brother, and he is fighting his side of the case.

Both want to be administrators and evidence was being taken this morning as to who has the better right.

The estate is but a very small one and consists chiefly of the right to sue a range mining company.

SUIT AGAINST STREET RAILWAY

John Alnes Wants $5,000 for Injuries to His Eye.

John Alnes is suing the Duluth Street Railway company for $5,000 for injuries alleged to have been sustained when in the employ of the company as motor man in 1908.

In his complaint Alnes claims that the controller was defective and that a flame generated within it and shot out, striking him in the eye and so seriously injuring the member that for a time it was feared he would lose it.

He claims that as a result of the injury he was laid up a period of three months and that he spent large sums of money for medical attendance.

It is stated in the complaint that the controller was dirty and greasy and had defective parts.

The case is being tried before Judge Ensign.

IS ON TRIAL FOR ROBBERY

Eli Drauzavich Is Charged With an Attempted Holdup.

Eli Drauzavich is being tried in district court before Judge William A Cant on a charge of attempted robbery in the first degree, the charge having been preferred by the September grand jury.

It is claimed that at New Duluth on May 22 last, Drauzavich attempted to hold up Rade Bulatovich at the point of a gun and relieved him of $105 which Bulatovich was careless enough to be carrying.

Drauzavich claims that he is not the man who is wanted. Bulatovich is the only witness against him.

The case is rather unique in that it is simply one man's word against that of another. There were other witnesses, it is claimed, but they have left the country.

15 Minutes Around the New Third Floor With the Ad-Man!

—The Third Floor of the New Glass Block is indeed a most interesting place. It is carpeted throughout and occupied by departments that are operated as seven specialty shops, each carrying a most complete stock of dependable wares. In a short visit of about 15 minutes through the various departments you would likely see—

The New Cut Glass Room

—It's a veritable maze of richly cut crystal. Myriads of pieces sparkling new cut glass from the individual salt to the immense punch bowls are here for your admiration; all arranged for convenient examination, and priced to meet your quick approval.

The Baby Shop

—This is one of the seven specialty shops on the third floor—the most interesting, perhaps, to mothers. Here are all the dainty little wearables for the comfort of "His Lordship" or "Her Ladyship"—THE BABY. The little trinkets designed to amuse him or her in the fretful hours are shown in abundance. Truly a most interesting shop; a glimpse at prices is certain of approval.

The Corset Shop

—As you enter this department you are at once impressed with metropolitan atmosphere. A brief inspection of the stocks shows that all the best makes are carried and styles to suit every individual figure of the various makes. A well appointed fitting-room is convenient, and an expert corsetiere in attendance to adjust the correct model to your figure.

Linger Awhile at the Art Goods Dept.

—Hardly a woman but what will find many things to enthuse over here. There's a most complete line of sofa pillows that are gems of the embroidery art. A recent shipment of sweet grass fancy baskets fills the air with a delightful fragrance. Complete stocks of new yarns, silks, floss and cottons for those who crochet or embroider; also the new musketeer bags stamped all ready for embroidering. The new stencil monograms are the greatest aid to embroidering the linens. With their use the stamping of any pattern you might desire is a very simple matter, the designs range from 5c to 39c each.

Dinnerware of Charm and Elegance

—Such a wonderful display to do justice would require an entire morning. Every line of goods is well represented in open stock patterns from the popular Blue Willow breakfast sets to the rich sets of encrusted gold at $200 and $300 per set of 100 pieces. Complete stocks of rail plates and art wares add interest to the visit making the display the most complete and richest to be seen in Duluth.

Muslin Underwear Shop Has Matchless Displays

—Love for lingerie, dainty lingerie, will cause any woman to spend a full half hour in admiration of the splendid specimens of daintily made and trimmed garments in this section. Numbers of pieces from the deft hands of French convent workers vie with the products of the foremost shops of this country. The inexpensive lines have good showing, too.

The Boys' Store

—Let the boy seek out his own clothing and furnishing store and he will come to the cozy little shop we have fitted up for him. Complete lines of overcoats, suits, blouses, gloves and headwear afford best selection for his discriminating taste.

The Beauty Parlors

—Here Milady's toilette receives careful and expert attention from our corps of efficient and courteous beauty specialists. A USELESS EXISTENCE ENDED

BECOMES A VICTIM TO NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

The dandruff germ is a busy little microbe constantly at work and always doing the same thing. Apparently with fiendish intelligence it burrows down into the hair follicles, destroys the hair life and finally crowds out the hair, causing baldness.

There are two sure ways of stopping the harmful career of this invisible microbic growth. One is to wait until the germ has induced incurable baldness, after which the atrophied hair follicle offers no sustenance to the germ; the other is to USE NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE.

The dandruff germ cannot exist where Newbro's Herpicide is used intelligently. By killing the dandruff germ, it thus checks further accumulations of scarf skin and prevents the hair from coming out.

While many imitations and substitutes are offered for Newbro's Herpicide there is nothing "just like it" or "just as good."

Get genuine Herpicide.

LONG EXPECTED REPORT ON LIGHTING PLANT RECEIVED

Twin City Engineers Present Two Sets of Estimates to Council.

Committee's Resolution Tabled By Council for Further Consideration.

The city council last evening received an exhaustive report and complete drawings from Engineers Oscar Claussen of St. Paul and Charles L. Pillsbury of Minneapolis, of the proposed municipal light and power plant for Duluth.

The proposition has been brought this far as the result of a campaign extending over several years. The first big step was taken last winter when the legislature passed the enabling act authorizing the city to issue $700,000 of bonds for the acquisition of a municipal light and power company. The report of the engineers was submitted last evening.

Following the submission of the report the committee on light and water, consisting of Aldermen Hogan, Scott and Gibson, recommended the passage of a resolution directing the city attorney to prepare an ordinance providing for the issuance of the bonds, the same to be submitted to a vote of the people for ratification or rejection at a special election as provided by chapter 75 of the general laws of Minnesota. On motion of Alderman Wharton the vote on the resolution was postponed one week to give the aldermen an opportunity to more closely scan the report which was submitted. The passage of that resolution would only be to direct the city attorney to prepare the ordinance. It would then be submitted to the council for a first reading, after which it would be referred to the committee on ordinances and resolutions, or some other regular or special committee, as might be decided. That committee would consider the entire matter, probably holding a series of public meetings to get the sentiment of the public. At their conclusion the committee would formulate a report for submission to the council. The ordinance would then come up for its second reading and final passage. If passed, it would put the matter up to the people for determination as to whether or not the bonds should be issued. If ratified the council would be able to proceed towards the acquisition of the plant of the Duluth-Edison Electric company or the construction of a duplicate plant.

Lengthy Report.

The report of Engineers Claussen and Pillsbury covered forty-five typewritten pages, not including the drawings. Two different propositions were submitted. The first called for the erection of a plant to supply the entire city with light and power, that of the Duluth-Edison not being taken into consideration except for purposes of comparison as to certain parts.

The second proposition was for a somewhat smaller plant and the plans for it were drawn on the basis that the Duluth-Edison company would continue in business and compete with the municipal plant for business. The second plant was that recommended by the engineers, the first being characterized as impractical for the city at the present time.

In both propositions the power plant, the buildings and machinery, as well as the mode of construction, are largely the same, the differences coming in the quantities rather than in the quality. The buildings would be erected at Thirteenth avenue west and Railroad street, adjacent to slip No. 8. They would be of fireproof construction, with the most modern appliances, including coal handling machinery, overhead hoppers, a coal crusher, an overhead crane for the machinery, mechanical stokers, induced draft, etc. Detailed reports of the machinery and buildings are given in the report. The underground system would be within the underground limits of the Duluth-Edison company, from Fifth avenue west to Second avenue east.

Cost of Plants.

The complete cost of the first plant is given as $901,498, divided as follows: power plant, buildings and machinery, $240,400; overhead distributing system, $272,855; underground system, $85,709; contractors's profits, etc., $89,843; customers' meters, $120,000; service connections $72,000; engineers' and contingent fees not included in the above, $21,000. This cost includes a luminous arc lighting system, which is estimated to cost $16,573 more than the system now used by the Duluth-Edison company. The engineers state that the increased illumination would be worth the additional cost, including the increased cost of maintenance, the increased energy necessary being given as 20 per cent.

If the same lighting system as is now used by the Duluth-Edison company were used, the cost would be $885,275. This includes an independent pole system, calculated to carry the municipal wires over the others where necessary. Should the municipal company use the poles of the other wire companies, principally the telephone companies, to the same extent as the Duluth-Edison company, and install the other necessary poles to duplicate those of the Edison company, the engineers state that the cost would be reduced an additional $35,000, making the lowest cost of the first plant $850,275.

The Second Plant.

The cost of the second plant, which is recommended by the engineers, is given as $696,743. This includes the luminous arc lighting system. Should a lighting system similar to that of the Duluth-Edison company be installed the cost would be $680,220. The cost of the second plant, including the luminous arc lighting system, is divided as follows: Plant, buildings and machinery, $192,880; overhead construction, $232,029; underground construction, $78,216; contractors' profits, etc., $75,618; customers' meters, $60,000; service connections, $36,000; engineers' and contingent fees not included in the above, $21,000.

Committee's Report.

The report of the light and water committee on the report of the engineers, and the resolution recommended for adoption last evening, were as follows:

"To the common council: Your committee on light and water, to which was referred the report on proposed municipal electric light and power plant by Oscar Claussen and Charles L. Pillsbury, consulting engineers, have considered said report.

"This is probably the most important question to the people of Duluth that has been under consideration by the common council since the acquisition of the water and gas plant by the city. For years wide differences of opinion have existed on this subject. Until municipal party conventions were abolished, platforms of all parties contained a municipal ownership plank. Since the advent of the primary system, no alderman has been elected except as a municipal ownership advocate, when any question of municipal ownership was actively under discussion by the people.

"For years the question whether the city should own and operate a municipal electric light and power plant has been before the council in different forms. In 1905, 1907, 1909 and 1911, the council unanimously recommended to the legislature that an enabling act be passed permitting the people of Duluth to vote on this question. The council appointed special legislative committees and paid out public money in sending them to St. Paul in order to secure the passage of such bills. After three failures to secure the desired legislation, there was widespread condemnation of the legislature for its refusal to pass the bill. At the last session of the legislature the bill passed. The local delegation was commended for its success and the passage of the bill was heralded as an evidence of the responsiveness of the late legislature to the recommendation of this council and the will of the people. The council immediately did its duty. Whatever criticism may have been justified by the delays of the legislature, none has thus far been deserved by us. Immediately upon the passage of the bill, we took up an intelligent and business-like policy. We went after facts. Competent electrical engineers were employed to make a report on the cost of installing a municipal electric light and power plant. Their report has now come in and it is our next move. Their report indicates to our minds that such a plant as we have need of at present can be constructed within the bond limitations of the enabling act.

The Next Step.

"We conceive it is now our duty to take the next and final step, the one to which all our previous acts have tended, and the one which, if we do not take, will make all previous ones useless. We should now give the people the opportunity to vote directly on this question. This council has always stood for the right of the people to decide questions of local importance for themselves. In local matters there has never been any dissent in this council from our obligation to submit a question to the people, although as electors some of us have voted for and some against the question submitted. We have repeatedly and unanimously voted to submit charter amendments to the people, although some of us personally did not approve of them. In the same unanimous way, we have voted to submit bond issues to the people and then divided as individuals on election day. Likewise, in the opinion of this committee, we should now remain consistent with our records and make plain to our constituents, whether friends or foes of municipal ownership, that because this is a matter in which a powerful public utility private corporation is interested, we will not swerve from our settled municipal policy of confidence in the people to decide aright any question of large public importance, no matter how we, as individuals, may differ among ourselves. We must not fear to trust the very people who are responsible for us being members of this council.

"We believe it will be a good thing for all parties concerned to have this question decided by the people at an early date and at a special election, so that no personal political ambitions or possible charter amendments will obscure the issue.

"We therefore recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

"JOHN HOGAN,
"Z. D. SCOTT,
"JOSEPH GIBSON,
"Committee.

"Resolved, That the city attorney is hereby instructed to submit at the next meeting of this council an ordinance providing for the issuance of $700,000 of bonds of the city of Duluth for the purpose of constructing a plant for furnishing to the city of Duluth and its inhabitants electric light, heat and power, the same to be submitted to a vote of the people of Duluth for ratification or rejection at a special election as provided by chapter 75, general laws of Minnesota for 1911."

STOCK COMPANY IN SLUM DRAMA

The Forbes Players Give Excellent Production of "Regeneration."

In "Regeneration," Gus A. Forbes has a play that is not only a life picture of the New York slums and its settlement workers, but the dramatization of the life story of Owen Kildare, author of the famous story, "My Mamie Rose."

The book, written by a man who could neither read nor write until 30 years of age, tells of the accomplishments of a man born in the slums. The story is told in simple words, plain and true. None of the shameful conditions are hidden, nor is the author afraid to tell what may be heard or seen on the Bowery at any time of the day. Eight years after Owen Kildare met a settlement worker, he was earning his living by writing. The dramatization has not taken away any of the coloring of the story and is as realistic as the book itself.

The play follows the spirit of the book very closely and with his present able company, Gus Forbes is able to portray the New York underworld to the public. The various types of characters found only in that section of the earth are carefully handled, and special credit is due Richardson Cotton as Skinny, Eileen Errol as Nellie, who made their character portrayals appeal to the audience.

Gus Forbes as the uncouth, desperate, hardened man of the slums, gave one of the most realistic presentations he has ever made and adds another link to his already long chain of successes. His appearance in a light jersey with boxing gloves surprised his many friends, and his short boxing match with one of the habitues of the slums was a good one and displayed his hitherto hidden athletic powers. Mr. Forbes' slang and the concerned manner with which he apologized for his many mistakes that he made in his conversation, told in depicting the character of Owen Conway, leader of the gang in Chicory hall.

Miss Corinne Cantwell as Marie Deering, the one whose interest and belief caused the regeneration in the heart of this man of the slums, made an interesting and appealing portrayal of the character and was well received by the audience. The soft tone of the teacher, the agitated expressions of the disgusted, and the pleasant smiles of the pleased, all assisted in making Marie Deering the sweet woman of the settlement school.

Richardson Cotton as the murderer of his girl in a drunken rage, played the penitent man well and displayed his ability as a splendid character actor. The begging for mercy when he was all but in the clutches of the police brought sympathy for this poor creature of the slums, brought up without any sense of honor. Miss Eileen Errol as Nellie, the girl of the underworld, gave one of the best performances of the evening and managed to hold her own in the slang and character of that class of humanity.

The remaining parts are well handled and together with the scenery and lighting effects, any particular audience may be assured of a pleasant evening's entertainment. The show will continue the rest of the week with the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

Amusement Notes.

Miss Grace Cameron, who is singing character songs at the Orpheum this week, has some of the quickest changes ever seen at that theater. She makes four complete changes of costume during her act, and none of them runs over twenty-five seconds. She has one complete change, including shoes, stockings, dress, hat and gloves, which she makes in twenty seconds.

"I think I have at least mastered the art of changing clothes quickly since I quit musical comedy for vaudeville," said Miss Cameron. "My dressing room is partitioned off in the wings, just a foot or two from the stage, and I have my maid there to assist me. We rehearsed these costume changes almost as often as I did the songs, for seconds count in keeping the interest of a vaudeville audience, and the performer who makes an audience wait more than half a minute between songs is going to suffer for it. The audience has to be 'won' all over again with the next song. You have got to be back on the stage before they have time to begin looking at their programs. I would like Orpheum patrons this week to time some of the changes I make."

The bill at the Empress this week is one of unusual strength and there is a variety of acts to meet the approval of every class of vaudeville patron. "The Girl Behind the Counter," which is presented by Nat Fields and a large company, is the big feature attraction. Althought some pretentious offerings have been presented the theatergoers of Duluth, this novelty is by far the biggest ever attempted at the Empress. "The Girl Behind the Counter" is a regular musical comedy with not a detail lacking. There is singing, dancing and comedy. The costumes and stage settings are gorgeous and the chorus is well trained and all are good singers. Nat Fields is seen in the leading comedy role. Mr. Fields is well known to the theatergoing public of Duluth. Many have seen him before, and most of the others have read of his work. His part is one which gives him ample opportunity to display his talents and he makes the most of it. His every expression and gesture is the signal for laughter and he has the audience with him from start to finish. "The Girl Behind the Counter" is well staged, well presented and there is not a flaw from start to finish. The song hits of the piece are "Hot Stuff" and "Baby, Save Your Kisses for Me."

WEST END

ALDERMANIC CANDIDATES

At Least Three Will Be in Race in the Seventh.

The adoption of a platform at the city convention of local Socialists and the selection of candidates for aldermen from the various wards, has aroused political interest in the West end and a general campaign seems imminent. Edward Blackwood, a plumber, nominee of the Seventh ward, will have the support of his party in that section of the city. He is well known in Socialistic circles and has a number of friends who will begin campaigning for him in a few days.

Although the Republican party has not announced its candidate as yet, nor had any general party meetings, it is conceded by most Republicans in the Seventh ward that George M. Peterson will receive the general indorsement of the party. Whether he will accept the nomination is puzzling a number of the prominent Republicans, but should the position be given him with the unanimous approval of the Seventh ward Republicans, it is said that he would make the run.

Mr. Peterson is secretary of the Duluth Grocers' association. He has a number of friends who have promised to secure his acceptance if the nomination is offered him. When asked if he would accept the party's approval Mr. Peterson said that he would file for the nomination if he received the proper support.

Alderman Bernard is generally considered by all the Democrats as their strongest candidate and will probably receive the nomination for a second term. He received the approval of the party at a gathering held last week together with the promise of their support. Should he receive the nomination he will no doubt accept and run for re-election to the council. His record has been a good one the past term and with the entire support of his party in the Seventh ward, a hot fight is promised for the aldermanic honors in that section of the city.

WILL INSTALL NEW PASTOR

Rev. J. A. McGaughey will be installed as pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, on Tuesday, Oct. 24. Dr. Robert Yost, pastor of the First Presbyterian church; Rev. John C. Faries, pastor of the Glen Avon church and the Rev. Mr. McCloud of Two Harbors will take part in the installation ceremonies.

Rev. Mr. McGaughey has been acting as pastor of the church but was not officially installed up to the present time. All the ministers of the city have been invited and a large crowd is expected to attend. A number of musical selections have been arranged as well as addresses by prominent laymen of the city.

Many alterations are being made to the church at the present time and it is expected that they will be finished before the installation services. The front entrance of the building has been changed as well as a new heating plant installed. A larger seating capacity has been made through the alterations on the inside of the building. The repairs cost about $3,000 and were started about two months ago.

AUTUMN FESTIVAL BY YOUNG PEOPLE.

The Young People's society of the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, will give an autumn festival in the church parlors this evening. The program will begin at 7:45 p. m. and is for the benefit of the building fund. A light luncheon will be served after the program, which is as follows:

Song by the congregation.
Music, selection by the orchestra.
Scripture reading and invocation by Anton Sjolund.
Song by the Temple choir.
Address by Carl A. Persons.
Song by the male quartet.
Declamation—"Autumn Thoughts" by Tina Wunan.
Music by the orchestra.
A dialogue.
Song by the Temple choir.
Address by Rev. Swaney Nelson.
Music by the orchestra.
Prayer and song by the congregation.

Cottage Prayer Meetings.

Two cottage prayers will be held this evening in connection with the evangelistic campaign started yesterday by Rev. Milton Fish of the Central Baptist church. Rev. Rinsinger will conduct the prayers during the absence of Mr. Fish, who has gone to Minneapolis. They will be held at the homes of J. Currie, 2623 Helm street, and Fred Hanson, 2816 West Fourth street.

Pellerin Funeral.

The funeral of Josephine Pellerin, 40 years old, who died at St. Mary's hospital, Friday evening, was held this morning from the St. Jean Baptiste French Catholic church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street. Interment was in the Calvary cemetery. Miss Pellerin was housekeeper for the Rev. Oblate Fathers for several years prior to her illness.

West End Briefs.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew of St. Peter's Episcopal church met last evening at the guild rooms of the church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street.

Dr. Frank Nelson, president of Minnesota college at Minneapolis, has accepted an invitation to address the Luther league of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, on the evening of Nov. 10.

The ladies of St. Luke's guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street will hold a rummage sale this evening and tomorrow evening at 1425 West Superior street.

Miss Hilma Sogelberg of Two Harbors will return to her home in a few days after spending the past week in the West end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wellander, 2615 West Second street.

Mrs. Martinson and Mrs. Moe entertained the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Norwegian-Danish M. E. church at the church parlors last evening. Light refreshments were served following a program of addresses.

The Men's club of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street will meet at the parsonage Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. A special business session will be held and all the members have been requested to attend.

Mrs. L. J. Hallquist, 2825 West Huron street, will entertain the Rebecca guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church at her home Thursday evening. The members have been requested to note the change in the regular hour of meeting from 3 to 8 p. m.

The Bishop's committee of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, met last evening in the church parlors for a short business session.

The Epworth league of the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will hold a basket social in the church parlors Friday evening.

The choir of the First Swedish M. E. church will hold its regular practice meeting in the church parlors Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Rev. Milton Fish of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, left yesterday for Minneapolis where he will attend the board meeting of the state Baptist convention. He will return in a few days.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Central Baptist church will meet in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Rev. Swaney Nelson of the First Swedish Baptist church, left for Minneapolis yesterday to attend the board meeting of the state Baptist association. He will return tomorrow or Thursday.

There is a conflict of stories as to how the accident occurred. Supt. J. L. B. Ross of the Canadian canal says that the steamer had passed through the locks all right when the mate in charge of the steamer dropped anchor, on which the boat ran, causing a puncture in her forward compartments sufficient to sink her.

First Mate in Charge.

Capt. George Pearson of the sunken steamer said:

"I was not on the boat at the time of the accident, the steamer being temporarily in charge of the first mate while I was making my report at the canal office. It is usual for a steamer leaving the lock to give a sharp blast, indicating to the canal crew that all is in readiness for the flood. In this case the flood was forced; as soon as the gates were opened the force of the water parted the lines of the steamer, causing her to leave the canal at high speed. The mate, fearing disaster to the steamer, ordered the anchor thrown. The water at this point was not sufficiently deep to override the anchor, with the consequence that it was hit by the steamer and the bottom punctured.

ence S. Darrow, chief of counsel for McNamara. Nelson had been asked many hundreds of questions to obtain his views and he had answered all of them without clearing up the situation.

"I don't just know," he replied to this one, and in an instant District Attorney John D. Fredericks, for the state, withdrew opposition to a challenge previously made by the defense on a charge of bias.

"There was not anything else to do after that question and answer," said Fredericks later. "The talesman disqualified himself. There was no use putting it up to the court."

Satisfactory to Defense.

Two other talesmen were examined by the defense. One of them, John W. Roberts, a real estate dealer, was found satisfactory, and Robert F. Bain, a carpenter, also was examined without raising any contest. Roberts and Bain are both past middle age and white-haired.

The Merchants' and Manufacturers' association, a local organization which is among those offering a reward for the detection of the person or persons supposed by them to have blown up the Times, was brought into the situation when Attorney Darrow began asking talesmen if they belonged to it or other organizations. Roberts said he belonged to it several years ago.

May Offer Alibi.

The defense may offer an alibi for McNamara or may rest solely upon the gas explosion theory, in support of which it has gone as far as Europe for expert evidence.

"Maybe we can prove an alibi; maybe we can't; maybe we shall not try to prove one," was Mr. Darrow's declaration in the court on this point, but he insisted on his position regarding the source of the explosion.

Furthermore, an opinion rendered concerning one juror would not apply necessarily to the next one, the court's decision resting, under the law, upon his belief in the fitness of the individual juror, as shown by his replies to questions from opposing counsel and from the court.

The defense is fixed in the belief that a jury to try McNamara impartially may be found in Los Angeles county and possibly without the necessity of using up the 800 veniremen remaining from the drawing made Jan. 1.

Replies Are Briefer.

The effect of Nelson's long examination was perceptible yesterday and today in the terse replies of talesmen who came after him. "Yes" and "no" were the answers, there being an evident understanding of what the examining counsel was trying to learn and a willingness to help him find out.

The examination of Talesman Robert F. Bain was the first thing on the program at the opening of court. Bain, a Civil war veteran, is over 60 years of age. He passed one brief ordeal to the satisfaction of the defense when Attorney Darrow asked him what he would do if he "had to give a verdict without hearing the evidence," and he replied, "I would not do it."

Court convened promptly at 10 o'clock. Veniremen E. F. Decker and Seaborn Manning were placed in the jury box, bringing the number of talesmen up to twelve. Interrogation of H. Y. Quackenbush, an expressman, then was begun.

At the opening of court the jury box was filled again by the addition of two veniremen replacing Z. T. Nelson, F. F. Cross, both of whom were excused yesterday.

Talesman H. Y. Quackenbush, who preserves the age average of the present set of talesmen by being 65 years old, was examined by Attorney Clarence S. Darrow, chief of counsel for the defense at the morning session of court.

Robert F. Bain and J. W. Roberts, the two talesmen passed for the present, were held subject to further examination by either side on pre-emptory challenge.

Burnham was arrested as a suspect, but stoutly maintained his innocence.

Dawson was the caretaker of a church in Monmouth, Ill. The tragedy was discovered by a committee of deacons who visited Dawson's home to reprimand him for failing to make the church ready for the Sunday service. After breaking in the door they found the three bodies, each with its head smashed in, the wounds showing unmistakable signs of having been caused by one instrument, an ax.

Features Battered.

The victims of the Ellsworth tragedy were slain in like manner, the murderer going further, however, and battering the features of his victims beyond recognition.

In no case has the slightest motive been discovered by the police. All were persons of the comfortable, moderately well off working class, with no known enemies. From none of the homes was heard any sign of a struggle, nor any intimation that there had been trouble until the bodies were discovered.

pers and records bearing upon his financial affairs for the year 1909, Senator Dillingham, chairman of the senatorial committee directed Blair to produce these papers in Chicago and be ready to resume the witness stand next Monday.

Blair was the only witness before the committee yesterday. His testimony at times was contradictory, and he was forced to withdraw statements which he made on the stand last week. Just after the witness testified that he was in Mount Vernon on that date, a hotel register was introduced to show that Blair was in Olney, Ill., July 19, 1909. Finally he was forced to admit he had seen Former State Representative Thomas Tippit at Olney, on the date mentioned, whereas previously he had testified several times that he had not met Tippit at that time.

Several thousand more soldiers are on the way and are expected to arrive before sundown.

A detachment of the Wu-Chang garrison which retired from that city when the rebels entered, crossed the river above the city and marched inland, probably to effect a junction with the troops from the North.

Earlier in the day the imperial naval force in the river was augmented by the arrival of one of the navy's modern gunboats, which carried Admiral Sah Chen Ping, who immediately took command of the situation. His first move was to assure the foreign consuls that the foreign concessions would not be endangered by any bombardment which he might undertake. His purpose, it was believed, was to begin shelling the rebel defense around Wu Chang at once.

Are Removing Corpses.

The Red Cross society organized by the rebel leaders has begun moving the heaped-up corpses from the streets of Wu Chang. Well to do Chinese are subscribing liberally to the funds for the work.

The revolutionary determination to end the regime of official graft was brought sharply to attention today by the execution of an officer who had been appointed to collect funds for the rebel cause. He was caught in an attempt to divert some of the money to his own pocket and was promptly beheaded.

No trains are leaving the Hankow terminal for the north, and it is uncertain when service will be resumed. The tracks have been cleared everywhere to accelerate the passage of the government trains.

A certain measure of order is being maintained at Wu Chang and Hankow. Outside of the foreign concessions in Hankow, the two cities are in the hands of revolutionists and the fact that all women and children are leaving Hankow indicates that the insurgent forces, well armed and well munitioned from the arsenal's stores, are preparing to resist the Chinese army.

Pekin Lacks Money.

Pekin, Oct. 17.—Simultaneously with the acceptance by Yuan Shikai of the post of viceroy of Hu-Peh and Hunan provinces, where he is directed immediately to re-establish imperial authority, the Chinese government is showing remarkable activity, even in the face of a depleted treasury, and is dispatching an army to the scene as hastily as preparations can be made.

Gen. Yin Tchang, minister of war, who will have chief command of the government troops, is a small, thin, queueless Manchu. German and Austrian officers, who hold the general in greatest confidence, report that he has not entire faith in the Chinese troops.

According to the Chinese people generally, the Manchus were tolerable when they protected the country, but now are worthless. The vast body of Chinese sympathize with the revolutionists, and a significant saying of the soldiers proceeding south is: "An ordinary rebellion would be all right, but we must now fight against our trained brothers."

The women on seeing their soldier relatives off, advise them to discard their uniforms and walk back. The situation depends on money, and it is admitted that the ready funds of the Chinese government are low.

Assume All Debts.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 17.—A proclamation announcing that the new republic of Chung Hwai would assume all debts contracted by the Manchu dynasty, that all treaties would remain in effect, and that all foreign concessions would be respected and all foreigners protected during the period of hostilities, has been made public here.

The proclamation was signed by Li Yuen Hung, commander of the citizens' army of Central China. The document further stated that foreigners who assisted the Manchu dynasty would be treated as enemies and that any loss negotiated by the Manchu government after the issuance of the proclamation would not be considered nor acknowledged.

The Chinese National association, through its national secretary, Long King Chong, has wired President Taft and Secretary Knox as follows:

"The Chinese National association, representing four-fifth of the Chinese residents of the United States and Mexico, earnestly request that the United States government use its best offices to maintain or preserve the neutrality of the powers toward the revolutionary struggle now in progress in China, in order that its entity may be preserved and a stable government established."

American Warships Arrive.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Admiral Murdock, commanding the Asiatic squadron, has cabled that the American gunboat El Cano has arrived at Hankow. This makes two and perhaps three American warships lying in the Yangtse between the two revolutionary strongholds of Hankow and Wu Chang.

FOR PASSING BOGUS CHECKS

Alleged Forger Arrested in Superior for Local Police.

Word was received at police headquarters this noon that the Superior police have a man under arrest who is wanted here on the charge of having passed a number of forged checks on local business men.

The police state he is a smooth operator, going to the extent of having a large number of blank checks printed. They bore the name of the Lantry Construction company and were payable at the American Exchange bank.

The company discontinued operations in the city two years ago and has not had an account with the bank in that time. They were made out to J. E. Chapeaux and signed with the name of E. E. Hayes. Chapeaux is the only name known for the prisoner, it being claimed that he refuses absolutely to talk or give any information relative to himself. It is asserted that he was arrested in Superior when attempting to put off another spurious check.

GROSSCUP AGAIN DELAYS RESIGNATION.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Another delay followed when Attorneys in the Chicago & Milwaukee Electric case reported to Judge Peter S. Grosscup in the United States circuit court today that they were unable to agree on a decree. Judge Grosscup ordered them to conference there and return Thursday. Judge Grosscup again delayed his resignation until the settlement.

STOLEN ALCOHOL KILLS MURDERERS

Indians Slay Lightkeeper at Pie Island and Are Found Dead.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 17.—The finding of the body of Robert Forbes, an aged lighthouse keeper, at Pie island, twenty-five miles from Fort William, Ont., led the police to suspect Mose McCon, chief of a Squaw band located north of Thunder bay, and Fred Smith, another Indian, as being the murderers.

A search for the Indians resulted in finding their dead bodies in a cabin on Squaw bay, near Pie island. They had died from wood alcohol poisoning. The alcohol had been used at the lighthouse to clean the light.

SUPERINTENDENT OF POLICE HEARD

Chicago Civil Service Commission Asks About Vice Control.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Supt. of Police John McSweeney was on the witness stand today in the civil service commission's investigation into alleged collusion between the police force and gambling and vice.

The purpose of the commission, it was said, was to call the superintendent, the assistant chief and all of the commanding inspectors to question them about their orders to patrolmen regarding the enforcement of laws.

Supt. McSweeney testified that a rule known as the "vice order," issued by his predecessor, Leroy Steward, placing the vice district under strict regulation, still was in force.

ARCHITECT IS APPOINTED

V. J. Price Will Have Charge of Alterations to Jail.

V. J. Price has been selected by the board of public works as the architect to prepare plans and specifications for the changes at police headquarters, made necessary by the orders of the state board of control.

It is probable that the suggestions of the city attorney will be followed. They call for new cells arranged on the Michigan street end of the jail to admit light and ventilation and for remodeling the basement so that the automobiles can be kept on the Superior end and the lodgers housed in the Michigan street part. It is believed that the cost will not exceed $10,000.

HEADED WRONG.

The Minnesota Mascot insists that the plan of making railroads pay as much taxes as other property-owners pay is a deep-laid scheme to fasten the 3-cent fare on this state for all time to come.

The Mascot is mistaken; and because that newspaper usually sees straight, thinks straight and talks straight, it is all the more surprising. The Mascot reminds us of the old tongue-twister about the fellow who "thrusts his fists against the post and still insists he sees the ghost."

The Mascot says that the railroads HAD to come back to the 3-cent fare whether they wanted to or not, and that it has not "heard of any 2-cent fares being thrust upon the general public since the first of July."

That's nonsense. If the railroads HAD to restore the 3-cent fares, why didn't they restore them for all instead of only for a part of the people? They restored them for those who can't dig up $40 for a mileage book, but those who can still ride for 2 cents a mile. If it is contempt of court to let single-trippers ride for 2 cents a mile, why isn't it contempt of court to let holders of mileage books ride for 2 cents a mile?

And the Mascot hasn't heard all the news if it doesn't know that there are railroads in Minnesota still on the 2-cent basis. The Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad and the Duluth & Iron Range railroad, two lines that handle as much passenger business per mile as any in the state, never went back to the 3-cent rate. They kept on letting folks ride for 2 cents a mile, court or no court; and they haven't been jacked up for contempt of Judge Sanborn's court. They didn't have to, and they didn't want to, so they didn't.

The Mascot is wrong, too, when it says that making the railroads pay as much taxes as it and its neighbors pay is going to perpetuate the 3-cent rate.

But we'll tell the Mascot what is going to perpetuate the 3-cent rate in Minnesota, and that is lying down and letting the railroads have their will in this state without putting up a fight against them.

The state can or cannot control railroad rates within its borders; and the courts will finally decide that question before next summer.

But the courts have already decided finally that the state can control the taxation of railroads. They decided that when the law increasing the gross earnings tax from 3 per cent to 4 per cent was fought through the courts to the final decision that the old 3 per cent rate was not a contract between the state and the railroads, and that the state has a right to impose fair taxation upon railroad property.

The railroads now are saving $2,000,000 a year because they are not taxed as much as other property. Are the people getting any benefit, through reduced railroad rates, from that saving? Not a penny. Would the people get any benefit in reduced rates if railroads were exempted from taxation altogether? Again, not a penny.

Therefore railroad property should be taxed as much as any other property. It is not now taxed in this state as much as other property. Therefore the railroad tax rate should be increased. Unless action to increase it is taken at an extra session of the legislature the increase cannot be effective until 1915, because the people have to approve the increase before it becomes law. Therefore railroad taxes should be increased at an extra session of the legislature to be held next winter so that the people may vote on the increase next year.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHTING QUESTION.

In response to a direction from the city council, two expert engineers have submitted plans and estimates for a city electric lighting plant. One set contemplates a complete plant intended to run without competition, and it is estimated to cost $901,798, or $850,275 if the poles now erected are used. This plan the engineers do not recommend. The other contemplates a plant to compete with the private company, to cost $693,743, or $680,220 if poles now erected are used. These latter figures come just within the limits of the bond issue of $700,000 authorized by the legislature.

This matter is now before the council, as well as a resolution instructing the city attorney to draft an ordinance providing for the issuance of the bonds and for a vote upon them by the people at a special election.

This is a very important project, and it is one not to be embraced or rejected lightly. The council should consider it carefully in all its phases, and the people should do the same if the council decides to submit it to them. Such questions as whether the existing situation makes such action necessary, whether the city is financially in a position to embark on such an enterprise, and whether it will work out an improvement in rates and service to the people, should be settled beyond all possible doubt before action is taken either by the council or the people.

A TRIBUTE WELL BESTOWED.

D. M. Neill of Red Wing, president of the Minnesota Federation of Commercial clubs, was quoted in The Herald last evening as praising the Duluth Commercial club and its agricultural expert, A. B. Hostetter, for the valuable work they are doing in developing the agricultural possibilities not only of the territory immediately surrounding Duluth but of all Northern Minnesota.

This is praise put where it belongs. Since its rebirth only a couple of years ago the Duluth Commercial club has done many valuable and important things, but it has done nothing more important or more valuable than to co-operate in every possible way toward the development of agriculture in Northern Minnesota. Mining did not need its aid, so it gave none to mining. Lumbering was finishing its work of complete destruction without outside advice, so the club didn't bother about that. But in the soil of Northern Minnesota the club found latent wealth to an extent that even yet few have dreamed; and it has put its time and money and intelligence into developing that wealth. In no way could it have achieved better or more far-reaching results for Duluth, for Northern Minnesota and for the entire commonwealth.

So Mr. Neill spoke nothing but the truth when he said: "The Duluth Commercial club has the right idea. Mr. Hostetter is doing a great work, more and greater work than he is generally given credit for. The work being done by the Duluth club is being felt in the northern part of the state, and if there were half a dozen more clubs like it wonderful things would be accomplished. You have the right idea up here, and you have big men who are going about the work in the right manner."

Even without that half dozen other clubs wonderful things are being accomplished, and there are more to come.

THE SPREADING REVOLUTION.

The New York World, manifestly shocked and dismayed, prints a double-leaded editorial of protest because California has adopted the initiative, the referendum and the recall.

It says: "By more than three votes to one, California had adopted the initiative and referendum and the recall. It is a matter for grave consideration when an American commonwealth of 2,500,000 inhabitants, of high average intelligence and destined with the opening of the Isthmian canal to a swift growth in every attribute of greatness, casts in its lot with the revolution which seeks to subvert republican institutions and American representative government. Where is this work of destruction to stop? Whatever measure we have attained of freedom, of prosperity, of orderly development, has been gained under representative government. California votes to discard it."

The World's excitement and alarm are not warranted.

The purpose of the revolution—it is rightly named—that is sweeping over this country is not the sinister one of destruction, but the noble one of construction. There is no plan to "subvert" republican institutions and American representative government. There is a plan to make them truly democratic and truly representative; and that plan will succeed.

Where are the fruits of this boasted representative system which never except in its earliest days has been representative of the plain people? The tariff, which taxes the many for the benefit of the few, which seizes that which the worker earns and gives it to those who neither work nor earn; this is its fairest flower. Government of the people by politicians for Special Privilege—this is what "representative government" has turned out to be.

Where is this work of "destruction" going to end, asks the World. When it is completed; no sooner. When it has destroyed every vestige of government of the many by the few and for the few, it will end.

While it is true that "whatever measure we have attained of freedom, of prosperity, of orderly development, has been gained under representative government," it is also true that whatever measure of freedom, of prosperity, of orderly development the world had before 1776 was gained under the monarchical rule which the American system succeeded. But that was no argument against destroying the rule of kings and nobles; nor is the World's statement any argument against destroying the rule of Special Privilege and political bosses.

And, finally, California has not destroyed representative government. It has merely taken steps to see that hereafter it shall be representative in fact as well as in name. The fact that a state where the average of intelligence and enlightenment is as high as it is in California is, as the World says, "matter for grave consideration." It means that the old order changeth, and that it changes for the better. By the initiative, the referendum and the recall the people of California will be in a position to make sure that they will get good laws, whether their legislature passes them or not, that they will not suffer by bad laws, even if their legislature does enact such laws, and that they will not have to let unfaithful public officials remain in office to betray them to the end of the terms for which they were elected.

The initiative, the referendum and the recall do not destroy representative government. They give the people "a gun behind the door," as Governor Wilson put it, that will enable them to make sure that their government truly represents them.

THE ISSUE IS JOINED.

Two hundred "Progressive Republicans," representing in thirty states that wing of the Republican party which wishes to go forward as opposed to the wing which wishes to stand still, yesterday put forth Robert Marion La Follette as their candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, and in a ringing set of resolutions pledged him their votes and efforts.

The question raised by this action is not only how great a proportion of the Republican rank and file in the nation hold with the Progressives and La Follette rather than with Taft and the reactionaries, but to what extent that wing of the party can prevail over the organization of the party, which in most states is in control of the reactionaries and deadly hostile to La Follette and all he stands for.

La Follette conspicuously represents, and as a pioneer, the pending movement among the American people that looks to a dethronement of Special Privilege and to the restoration of the people as the real rulers of the country. Such pioneers seldom are made president, and La Follette is not likely to be made president next year. Yet he will get more delegates than most people were willing to concede him a few months ago, and if there were a presidential primary to give the people a voice he would get more delegates still. As it is he is scarcely a formidable opponent to Taft. Much more formidable to the president is the possibility that if his delegates are not nailed down good and tight, the cry of "What's the matter with Roosevelt?" will sweep the Republican convention of 1912 off its feet.

THE USE OF THE SCHOOL PLANT.

In the platform on which they propose to wage their municipal campaign the Socialists of Duluth put this important declaration: "We advocate and stand pledged to have the public schools of this city opened during evenings for the discussion of all public questions by the citizenship, and also to arrange for a course of lectures, to be held from time to time for the education of the people on questions of science, art, music, literature, economics, etc."

Only a few cities have contrived to get anywhere near a business-like use of their school plants. Though millions of dollars are invested in them they are in use only a few hours each day during only five days of only about two-thirds of the weeks in a year. The rest of the time is pure waste; and if a private industry made so little use of its plant bankruptcy would overwhelm it within a twelvemonth.

"GLORY ENOUGH FOR ALL"

By SAVOYARD.

It was my fortune to be a frequent visitor to the navy yard, at the foot of Eighth street southeast, when Winfield Scott Schley was the mark of envy, the sport of malice, and haled before a court-martial, that tried him as a malfactor for the glory he had gathered for the American navy and the American flag, and as I walked back home, hating the cabal that was snarling at this hero, I sometimes wound up by reverting to this circumstance: Madame de Maintenon took some carp from a muddy pool, placed them in a marble basin, filled with pure and clear water, fed them on scraps from the royal table, and the fish perished.

And when the navy department is cleansed of snobbery and sneakery and no favoritism practiced by it, such a persecution as was visited on Admiral Schley will be impossible. Lord Macauley declared that no mismanagement could ruin the British navy. The same is true of our navy, but favoritism and faction in the navy department can bring disrepute on the service as it did in the case of the hero of Santiago.

When Martin Frobisher sought to make his sword acquaint with the vitals of Francis Drake because the reports of the destruction of the "Invincible Armada" gave to Drake more glory than Frobisher thought he had earned and to Frobisher himself less glory than he was convinced was his due, it was a jealousy personal to two individuals. The admiralty had nothing whatever to do with it; but in the case of Schley the navy department and the entire federal administration hounded him. But the American people, men, women and children, took charge of the case and not only vindicated a hero, but set him on a pedestal so high that the shafts of envy and the mendacity of spite could not reach him. And so he died the other day, a hero in the class with Jones, Preble, Decatur, Stewart, Truxton, Perry, Shaw, Bainbridge, Hull, Lawrence and the rest of them.

When the friction arose between Commodore Perry and Shaw neither of them would have plucked a single laurel the other had gained by heroic conduct on the quarter deck in the red glare of battle. And it was the injustice the service visited on James Barron that led to the duel and the death of Stephen Decatur.

"And never since the Argo floated in the middle sea
Such noble men and valiant have sailed in company
As the men who went with Preble to the siege of Tripoli."

That is praise too extravagant, perhaps, but it would have taken the pick of the British navy, commanded by Nelson, to match them, and Nelson himself never found words to express his admiration for Decatur's exploit in destroying the frigate Philadelphia.

The story of the United States navy affords much to sustain those who believe in destiny, or fate, or luck, as you choose to call it. About the close of the eighteenth century the United States built four frigates—the Constitution and the President, each a 44, and the Constellation and the Chesapeake, each a 38. The first named of each of these two classes were remarkably lucky ships and the other two were always unfortunate, both being captured by the enemy, the President, when commanded by Decatur himself. In time perhaps the Chesapeake, commanded by Barron, struck her flag to a British 74, and it was on her deck that Lawrence fell so heroically just before the ship struck the British frigate Shannon after a terrific duel between them, the result of a formal challenge from the Englishman.

On the other hand the Constitution, commanded by Isaac Hull, made her escape from a British squadron that was one of the most marvelous exploits in naval annals, the pursuit lasting about a week and the ships were frequently becalmed, though never for a sufficient time to allow the boats' crews from the squadron to board the chase. A little while later the Constitution, after a severe action, captured the British frigate Guerriere. Later, when commanded by Bainbridge, she played havoc with the British frigate Java, capturing her. Then, with Decatur captain, after a severe action, she took the British frigate Macedonian, and lastly, with Stewart on the quarter deck, Old Ironsides captured two of the enemy's craft in the same action, though their combined strength was much the greater. No wonder Oliver Wendell Holmes thrilled all America with a stirring lyric when it was proposed to break up the old frigate:

"O better that her shattered hulk
Should sink beneath the wave!
Her thunders shook the mighty deep,
And there should be her grave.
Nail to the mast her holy flag,
Set every threadbare sail,
And give her to the god of storms,
The lightning and the gale!"

The grand old poet saved the grand old ship, and she is to our navy what Nelson's ship, the Victory, is to the British and performs the same office which is to generate emulation and stimulate patriotism in the breast of every soul on board an American man-of-war.

The Constellation was equally as fortunate and almost as glorious. Under Tom Truxton, for whom Gen. Jackson named his race horse, she took the French frigate L'Insurgente, 50, and a few days later the French frigate La Vengence, also 50, struck to her.

The prejudice against him and the jealousy of him was manifest in the Schley trial. "Fighting Bob" Evans could not hide his envy. It seems that he was in the fight, but in no danger. Not that he did not court danger, but it was his misfortune. Schley's ship got more punishment than all the others, and inflicted more damage than all the others. Fortunately his was the only vessel that had guns of a certain caliber and those were the guns that visited most destruction upon the enemy. They said he tried to throw away when he "looped the loop," a trick of Nelson at Cape St. Vincent, and Cervera said he would have got away if Schley had not "looped the loop."

One witness was introduced to put the brand of coward on Schley, and this fellow has been a pet of the navy department ever since. Another chap, a midshipman, with the impudence of the devil himself, left the impression that in his magnificent opinion Schley was a poor sailor and a worse fighter. But Dewey, who knows a sailor and a fighter, found his companion-in-arms acquit of every substantial charge concerning the fight, and that defeated the conspiracy. Schley was fortunate in his counsel, Senator Rayner Pinkney could have done no better.

When the finding of the court was printed in the morning paper I took it upstairs and waked my boy Jack, then about the middle of his third lustrom, and told him that Schley was found guilty. He was terribly enraged and on his own motion demanded a new trial. Just as that boy thought of it, 99 of every 100 other American boys thought of it, and the same was the opinion of 99 out of every 100 men, women and girls in the country.

Such an overwhelming consensus is infallible and irresistible. Had it been the Taft administration instead of the Roosevelt there would have been a convulsion from ocean to ocean. But they let Teddy down easy, though they elevated Schley beyond even his reach.

Long after the cabal is forgot, the navy, and the army too, will remember the hero's chivalrous comment, "There's glory enough for all."

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writter, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

HOME TALENT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I was very much interested in the article you published Saturday about "Do it for Duluth." If there is cause for the publication of such an article in the general run of business, how much more so is the need of calling attention to our city officials sending out of town for men to do the work that should be left here. This includes a great many, but not all, of the departments. It totals many thousand dollars during the year. I will specify a few: Park board, architect and engineers; water board, engineer; city council, electrical engineers; city council, sanitary experts; city engineer, inspectors.

I have no doubt the departments need somebody who knows his business, but it would be better to find the material at home. Yours truly,

I. A. WORTMAN.

Duluth, Oct. 16.

"Make the Men Sit Down."

Wall Street Journal: Once, nineteen centuries ago, when a large multitude believed the food supply was exhausted, it raised its voice in wailing and protest. There were a good many thousands present, and it did not look as if five loaves and two small fishes would go far among so many. They could not count upon the miracle that followed. But the first command has some bearing on parallel events today. It was, "Make the men sit down." The clamor was stilled. Whether the multitude was fed or no, at least order was restored, and order is heaven's first law.

We are unquestionably in a period of great unrest, and the industry and commerce of the nation are gravely affected. From the president down, everybody is talking at once and nobody is listening. It is conceivable that we have among us those who can bring order out of chaos. We cannot do it unless the example of order is set in high places. The Great Exemplar we have instanced is not recorded as making any speeches on that memorable occasion. Have we any "still, strong man in a blatant land?" Is there anybody calm enough to "make the men sit down?"

In a time only antedating the last occupant of the presidential chair, presidential speeches were only occasional and incidental. The greatest presidential utterance of the year was the message to congress. It was more widely read than anything of its kind, even in the humblest homes. The utterance was impressive because of its infrequency. The men who heard the message sat down and listened. It is true that at public functions requiring the presence of the president of the United States a speech would be made, and perhaps some brief informal remarks at minor functions near by. But the president did not regard himself chiefly as the spokesman of his party. His administrative duties were even then considered sufficient to occupy all his time. He cultivated, in fact, a strength from reticence which volubility can never give.

May it be asked, with the deepest respect, whether it would not be better for the interests of the country that the president should curtail his speech-making tour, and take up the urgent administrative duties awaiting him at Washington? In the present alarmed state of the public mind the relations of the country with the corporations raise a question perhaps as grave as any we have faced since the Civil war. Mr. Taft's good faith is high above all cavil or suspicion. But if his predecessor's perambulatory eloquence was disturbing, that of Mr. Taft is not reassuring. Many of us believe that the public mind would be greatly relieved if he said nothing at all, and impressed a similar discretion upon the members of his cabinet.

To few of us is it given to preach save by example. In a time of turbulence and discontent the soberest utterances are misconstrued. Let us formulate a self-denying ordinance, in which the president himself can be the great and dignified example. Let us still a clamor which helps nobody and settles nothing. Let us "make the men sit down."

Lincoln's Memorial.

Christian Science Monitor: Expert opinion of the most unimpeachable kind, prompted by the highest motives of patriotism and professional honor and based on careful study of the problem, has decided on the Potomac site for the Lincoln memorial in Washington. Officials who have the responsibility of deciding this matter have endorsed this site tentatively, and named a man to proceed with the supremely important task of working out a design worthy of the great American and of the republic. Why there should have been only tentative and not final ratification of this site as the only fitting one, and why there should have been a subsequent call for yet another set of tentative plans for possible use on a site condemned by the experts, is not patent. Of one thing we are confident, and that is that the American people want no jockeying with this matter, no playing politics and log-rolling by which the friends of one scheme aid another in return for votes.

The suitable monument for Lincoln is one combining architecture and sculpture, and not a highway bearing his name, commendable as that project may be as a secondary and extra affair. What the American people wish is that the most competent of artists shall erect on the finest of sites the finest of monuments. Having found the site, and the artist in Mr. Bacon and his associates, why leave any uncertainty as to the future?

Abou Ben Adhem.

Abou Ben Adhem (may his tribe increase!)
Awoke one night from a deep dream of peace,
And saw, within the moonlight in his room,
Making it rich, and like a lily in bloom,
An angel, writing in a book of gold:
Exceeding peace had made Ben Adhem bold,
And to the presence in the room he said,
"What writest thou?" The vision raised its head,
And with a look made of all sweet accord,
Answered, "The names of those who love the Lord."
"And is mine one?" said Abou. "Nay, not so,"
Replied the angel. Abou spoke more low,
But cheerily still; and said, "I pray thee, then,
Write me as one who loves his fellow-men."
The angel wrote and vanished. The next night
It came again, with a great wakening light,
And showed the names whom love of God had blessed,
And, lo! Ben Adhem's name led all the rest.

—Leigh Hunt.

Why Not Professors?

Success Magazine: A small number of men sympathizers took part in the suffragist parade in New York city, among them several members of the faculty of Teachers' college. One of these professors had the honor of leading the male contingent and of carrying a banner.

"Did you notice," he asked a friend afterward, "what the inscription was on that banner they gave me to carry?"

"No," replied his friend, "you carried it as if you were afraid some one would decipher it."

"It read," chuckled the professor, "'The men vote—why not we?'"

Topsy Turvy Times.

Washington Herald: "Do you think the Democrats can carry Tennessee next time?"

"I dunno. Do you think the Republicans can carry Maine?"

TWENTY YEARS AGO

•••The wedding of Miss Matilda Lloyd, daughter of J. Lloyd, proprietor of the Lester Park hotel, to W. Shepherd of Michigan, will take place on Oct. 19 at Lester Park.

•••J. H. Bickel, son of Hon. William Bickel, has been appointed special agent of the general land office and will look after timber depredations in Northern Minnesota.

••• County Attorney Tear returned from Tower yesterday. He reports that George Barlice, wanted for the murder of a Swede named Anderson at an Austrian wedding a few nights ago, has escaped and there is no trace of his whereabouts.

•••The new Swedish weekly paper, Fria Pressen, has made its appearance. It is edited by Per Larka and is the organ of the Swedish Mutual Benefit association.

•••Contractor Bartlett yesterday began tearing down the old Union depot which has been a landmark since the first train came into Duluth twenty-one years ago.

STATE AND THE RAILROADS.

An Unanswered "Why?"

Sauk Center Herald: If, as was asserted in Judge Sanborn's decision, the 2-cent rate is "confiscatory," why do the roads sell 2,000-mile mileage books for $40? That's a 2-cent rate. Do they do it to "confiscate" their earnings, or to "put themselves in the hole?"

Knocking the Extra Session.

Albert Lea Tribune: The Twin City papers are doing all they can to throw cold water on the move for an extra session for the purpose of increasing the gross earning tax from 4 to 5 per cent. The old cry of waiting until the supreme court hands down a decision in the rate case, is being worked for all it is worth. Then the prejudices of the members are being worked upon as much as possible by saying that the move is unpopular because the members would have to serve for nothing. This last statement is untrue, for as a matter of fact the members are allowed $500 for the second year of their term. This has been drawn at the end of each term, several months in advance of when it is actually due. So it will be seen that the members are actually paid for any work which they might be called together to do. However, a poll of the members has shown that a majority are in favor of the measure and that it would be passed with little trouble, if the governor has the backbone to break away from the interests and call the extra session. There is much sentiment all over the state in favor of the move.

The Errand Runner.

Moose Lake Star-Gazette: It seems very queer that, after reading the many comments of the press of the state in regard to his actions during the last session of the legislature, Governor Eberhart still fails to see what the people expect and demand of him, but manages best to see what the corporations want. This latter was well shown in a cartoon in The Duluth Herald some time ago which showed the railroads building a wall around Minnesota and Eberhart carrying the mortar and bricks for it.

Give This Legislature a Chance.

Battle Lake Review: There will be some very drastic railroad legislation in Minnesota, in the near future, if the people have their way. The railroads have arbitrarily increased freight rates, and a friendly court has decided they can collect 3 cents a mile instead of 2 cents for passenger traffic. In spite of the fact that adjoining states can be traveled for 2 cents per mile and freight rates are much lower A supine and complacent state administration allows this outrage, with no protest or objection, while the railroads control the utterances of the city press and no protest against this condition is permitted matter for publicity. But the next legislature will not wear Ed Smith's collar, and the next governor will not be a musical, mechanical merry-go-round, and then there will be some real railroad legislation that will be of benefit to the people.

The Point Is Plain.

Albert Lea Tribune: Bob Dunn, speaking of the proposed extra session for the purpose of increasing the gross earnings tax, pronounces against it, and says, "What is the use of it now? The people will pay the increased taxes in the long run, anyway." Of course they will, they always do. In fact they are already paying them to the railroads in the increased passenger rate, but the roads are not paying the increase to the state. That is what Speaker Dunn wants the extra session to provide for. Do you see the point, Mr. Bob?

Where the Poor "Get on at."

Bovey Iron News: It does seem queer, son, that the governor can ride for 2 cents a mile while we of the proletaria must needs dig up 3 cents. The governor is better able to reverse these conditions than we are. But then, we are poor and t'l wit th' poor.

And the People.

With Speaker Dunn, L. C. Spooner and other members backing up The Duluth Herald in its fight for an extra session of the legislature, it begins to look as though The Herald was going to win the battle.

Official Intelligence.

Collier's: What the postal "authorities" held up for indecency in Chicago recently was the report of the vice commission, an official document for use by physicians, social experts and editors; an unsensational, accurate presentation of conditions written in impersonal and uncolored language. These "authorities" ought to blush at the Levitican law and draw a veil over the "Medical Record." "The white slave traffic," says G. Stanley Hall, "is one of the most tragic and barbarous aspects of our civilization which it has long besmirched. I am in hearty sympathy with every righteous and judicious mode of suppressing it, and such a campaign cannot be carried on without work that is not only hard but in its detail very repulsive to decent people." Clifford Roe, in "The Prodigal Daughter," based partly on the Chicago commission's report, gives the annual vice-traffic profiit in Chicago of $15,000,000 a year, and an annual vice-profit supply in Chicago of 5,000 young women. Not the least interesting chapter in the book is John Hammond's history of the efficacy in Des Moines of the injunction and abatement law, which makes the property owner responsible for the vice crimes committed on his property. Iowa has provided her public with an act whereby any citizen may maintain an action in equity perpetually to enjoin the persons conducting houses of vice and the owners or agents of buildings or grounds. Mr. Hammond is now planning a campaign to bring this law to the attention of the lawmakers of every state.

Generally.

Chicago Record-Herald: The man who "can drink, or let it alone" generally drinks.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

P. I. P.: "Burglars, did you say, my dear? "Well, you go down. They won't strike a woman."

Fliegende Blatter: Liveryman (to rider)—Here, what's this. Half a dollar? Why you've been out two hours.

Rider—So I may have, but I've only been on the brute's back about ten minutes.

Ulk: "Say, mother, hasn't the flamingo a nose exactly like Uncle Moritz's?"

"You shouldn't say unkind things like that, Trudi."

"Why, mother, the flamingo can't hear."

Washington Star: "Nothing is ever totally lost or destroyed," said the professor of physics.

"In that case," said the simple and frank person, "how do you explain the act that everybody loses umbrellas and you never meet anybody who has found one?"

Buffalo Express: "If it isn't a score until the base runner has come around to the home plate, why don't they all come round?" asked the girl who was getting an insight into the game.

"You know how it is with men," her escort answered. "A man never goes home while there is any place else to go."

Puck: City Editor—It was a very fashionable divorce, eh?

Society Editor—Very. The chief justice presided and the decree was issued at high noon.

Judge: Mrs. Newly Rich—Did you fall heir to any of your mother's first china dishes?

Mrs. Blue Blood—No, indeed; my mother always kept help.

Bocker—He picked the one whose yell was best suited to his voice.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: A man is willing his wife should have some of the bed covers till cold nights come.

You can hate a man good and hard for liking to get up early so that he is held up to you as an example.

A girl doesn't have to fool her mother about how she isn't crazy over men; her mother fools herself about it.

If the baby never stopped yelling its mother would say it was just envy that made the neighbors mention it.

GARFIELD HELPS DRAW UP LA FOLLETTE INDORSEMENT

Former Member of Roosevelt Cabinet at Progressive Convention.

Presidential Boom Is Started for the Wisconsin Senator.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Two hundred Progressive Republicans in their first national conference yesterday indorsed the candidacy of Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin for president, and declared in favor of a direct primary as a means for the expression of a presidential choice.

The indorsement came in the shape of resolutions framed in part by Former Secretary of the Interior James R. Garfield, who, it was held by the delegates, appeared as expressing the views of Theodore Roosevelt, and, it was feared, would not consent to a declaration in favor of any individual.

The resolutions followed a day of La Follette enthusiasm, in which his name was cheered repeatedly as it was expressed by a dozen speakers. Contrary to expectations, the conference was concluded in one day, most of the delegates left the city and the program outlined for today will be devoted to support of state and local candidates and conditions.

Resolutions in Part.

The resolutions were framed by a sub-committee of five from a committee of thirteen and revised by Former Secretary Garfield and Congressman Lenroot of Wisconsin. As finally adopted, they read in part:

"The progressive movement is a struggle to wrest the control of the government in the nation and states from the representatives of special privilege and restore it to the control of the people. The issue is the same in all the states, though the problem may be presented in different ways.

"In the national field, the control of government by special privilege is evidenced by the influence and power of the reactionary leaders in both parties in checking or preventing the enactment of progressive policies pledged by the Republican party.

Condition in Business.

"The present condition of uncertainty in business is intolerable and destructive of industrial prosperity. It is worse than idle to leave the question of whether great business enterprises are legal or not, merely to judicial determination. Industrial corporations should be, by affirmative legislative enactment, given definite rules of conduct by which business shall be made safe and stable, while at the same time the interests of the public should be fully safeguarded. We seek constructive legislation, not destructive litigation.

"We favor the ascertainment of the choice of Republican voters as to candidates for president by a direct primary vote, held in each state pursuant to the statute, and where no such statute exists, we urge that the Republican state committees provide that the people be given the right to express their choice for president.

Praise for La Follette.

"Robert Marion La Follette of Wisconsin years ago found conditions in his state not unlike those of the nation today. Under his leadership, all opposition was overcome and there has been enacted in Wisconsin a system of laws that stand as models for legislation in all states of the Union. Laws have been passed in that state adequately regulating all public service corporations, equalizing the burdens of taxation; providing for direct nominations by the people; protecting legitimate business and capital honestly invested; promoting the welfare of labor—in short, real progressive government has been restored.

"The record of Senator La Follette in state and nation makes him a logical candidate for president of the United States. His experience, his character, his courage, his record of constructive legislation and administrative ability meet the requirements for leadership such as present conditions demand.

"This conference indorses him as a candidate for the Republican nomination for president, and urges that in all states organizations be formed to promote his nomination."

The resolutions were drafted by E. P. Costigan, Colorado; G. E. Merryan, Chicago; James R. Garfield, Ohio; Amos Pinchot, New York, and J. E. Little, North Carolina.

Afraid of Garfield.

While the avowed intention of the conference was the indorsement of La Follette, the arrival of Garfield in a non-committal attitude put the La Follette supporters on the defensive. His visit here was announced a week ago after meeting Mr. Roosevelt and Senator Bourne of Oregon, president of the National Republican league, in New York, and it was anticipated some other plan might be insisted upon. Mr. Garfield took no part in the open program of the day, however, and the indorsement went through without a hitch.

Wisconsin, Minnesota and Nebraska sent the biggest delegations outside of Illinois, and the indorsement of the Wisconsin man became apparent early in the day. Speakers, some by inference, some by name, referred to him and what they termed the Wisconsin idea, each reference developing a little longer cheering.

Clapp Chief Speaker.

Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota was the first speaker after Medill McCormick had called the meeting to order and George L. Record of New York had been elected chairman. Senator Clapp was regarded as the keynote speaker and was the first to mention the Wisconsin senator and announce the purpose of the conference.

"I believe," he said, "this great uprising that is making itself felt from ocean to ocean, will lose its force in internal discord unless we take a standard around which to rally. Senator La Follette is in himself a platform that represents the progressive spirit."

A national organization, built on the lines of the usual political organization, was outlined by the committee on organization. The plan includes the naming at a later date of state, county and precinct committees and officials.

By Popular Subscription.

Popular subscriptions as a means of financing this and future campaigns came as a suggestion from Rudolph Spreckels of California, and it was adopted by the finance committee.

"The people must be made to understand that this is their fight," telegraphed Mr. Spreckels. "Let the average citizen's dollar take the place of corporation contributions and you will have an organization that will be free to serve the best interests of the people."

The finance committee recommended a popular subscription for each state, and recommended that Chairman Record, Gilbert E. Roe, chairman of the finance committee, and Walter Houser, secretary of the National Progressive league, name five men in different parts of the country to devise more specific means of appealing to the people.

Mr. Garfield took a moderate part in the session that followed the adoption of the committee reports. In a short speech, he praised the delegates for seeking to crystallize the progressive movement, of which, he declared, he had been a part since its inception. He remained silent, however, as to direct issues, and stepped from the platform during a round of cheers that followed an indirect reference to the indorsement of Mr. La Follette.

Speech by Crawford.

Senator C. I. Crawford, the only United States senator here besides Senator Clapp, placed the responsibility for existing conditions on the federal government. He pointed to the confusion arising from the legislatures of several adjoining states passing laws regulating railroad rates, with a final adjustment by the interstate commerce commission.

We are living in a time when these disputes can be settled only by the extension of the functions of the federal government.

Disappointment was expressed at the failure to arrive of Gifford Pinchot, who is on his way from Alaska. Senator Borah of Idaho, Senator Cummins of Iowa and others had been announced as participants in the conference, but they advised the committee they were unable to attend.

Senator Walter Clyde Jones, who seeks the Republican nomination for governor of Illinois; Amos Pinchot, New York; James Manahan, Minnesota; C. O. Whedon, Nebraska; Henry F. Cochems, Milwaukee and S. N. Rickett, Ohio, also spoke.

Resolutions on Harlan.

Resolutions in honor of the late Justice John M. Harlan were presented by the Minnesota delegation and adopted unanimously.

Other members of the committee on resolutions were:

A. Fremont Older, California; O. L. Geer, Arizona; W. R. Hoyt, Oklahoma; C. O. Whedon, Nebraska; Howard J. Clark, Iowa; S. J. Leahy, Montana; A. M. Mitchell, North Dakota; O. S. Basford, South Dakota; James Manahan, Minnesota; A. W. Sanborn, Wisconsin; Mr. Leeds, Indiana; Arthur S. H. Horr, Michigan; O. L. Record, New Jersey; Richard Crane, III, Connecticut; Robert M. Turner, Massachusetts; A. C. Grimm, Tennessee; A. W. Glassman, Wisconsin, and A. W. Ingersoll, Idaho.

Members of the finance committee were: J. J. McCarthy, Nebraska; C. A. Carpenter, Iowa; Albert Anderson, Montana; W. J. Price, North Dakota; R. O. Richards South Dakota; Thomas Fraser, Minnesota; A. M. Stoudahl, Wisconsin; Alfred L. Baker, Illinois; Proctor K. Owens, Michigan; John D. Fackler, Ohio; Gilbert E. Ros, New York; E. B. Osborn, New Jersey; R. G. Stewart, Tennessee and J. S. Temple, Colorado.

Health and Beauty Hints

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

Ethyl: Your mother is right in condemning face powder, as it will in time ruin any complexion, by clogging the pores and causing the skin to become rough and wrinkled. If you desire your face to retain its smooth, rosy appearance, use the following lotion and I am sure your mother will not object nor will you ever regret it: Dissolve four ounces of spurmax in a half pint hot water and add two teaspoonfuls glycerine. This lotion takes away that shiny, sallow appearance, and will make your skin smooth and velvety without giving to it a powdered look. Spurmax lotion stays on much better than powder, does not show, and is unequaled for removing tan, freckles and skin pimples.

Rena N.: Neither vaseline nor olive oil will correct your scalp troubles. Keep your scalp clean with frequent shampoos, and use the following tonic about twice a week, massaging it gently into the hair roots: Mix one ounce of quinzoin into a half pint alcohol, then add a half pint of cold water. This invigorating tonic will destroy every particle of dandruff, eliminate scalp irritation, stop your hair from coming out, and promote a healthy, abundant growth. Its regular use makes the hair soft, glossy and free from that stringy, dead-looking condition.

Mildred: Do not despair. You can rid the skin of those bothersome hairs and wear low-neck gowns, if you get an ounce of delatone at the drug store and with a little mix enough water to form sufficient paste to cover the hairy parts. Let remain two or three minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs will have vanished. While delatone costs a dollar an ounce, it is well worth the price, as a second application seldom is required to permanently remove hairy growths.

F. R. A.: Dieting and exercising will not reduce weight permanently. The only safe remedy I know of that will not injure one's health, is made by dissolving four ounces of parnotis in a pint and a half of hot water. A tablespoonful taken before meals reduces superfluous flesh at an amazing rate and does not leave the skin flabby and wrinkled. A friend of mine wrote me that in five weeks she reduced her weight 37 pounds with this simple remedy. It is inexpensive.

Chorus Girl: Your dull, weak expressionless eyes can easily be made bright and sparkling by putting in each eye twice daily a few drops of a tonic, made by dissolving an ounce of crystos in a pint of water. It will not smart but will prove wonderfully strengthening to tired, inflamed eyes. It is a great aid to those who wear glasses, and a fine remedy for granulated eyelids and eye troubles generally.

P. B.: Your sallow, pimply skin, lack of energy, poor appetite, sleeplessness and other marks of ill health are due to impure blood. The best way to tone up your system and get back your good health, is to take before each meal a tablespoonful of this simple, home-made tonic: In a half pint of alcohol dissolve a half cup sugar and one ounce kardene, then add hot water to make a quart. This old-fashioned medicine is very strengthening to a run-down system, and will soon put you in the best of condition. As a liver regulator, it is very fine and is indispensable for general family use.

Mrs. H. W.: If ordinary creams do not help in removing your wrinkles, try massaging your face with this greaseless cream-jelly: Stir together and let stand over night before using, two teaspoonfuls glycerine, one ounce of almozoin and a half pint cold water. This almozoin jelly will clear and smooth your complexion, leaving your skin soft, velvety and free from blackheads, large pores, pimples and roughness. For treating freckles and tan, I find this preparation very fine.

Grace T.: Do not be deluded into believing that soap is good for shampooing. Even when you make a soap-jelly, the deadly alkali that eats the very life out of your hair still remains. The alkali in soap dulls, bleaches and streaks the hair, causing it to split and break off. I have found that a teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water makes the very best shampoo imaginable. It lathers freely, removes all dirt and dandruff and rinses easily. Your hair will dry quickly and be surprisingly bright and fluffy. No other shampoo preparation I have ever seen is so good to keep the hair and scalp in a perfectly clean, healthy condition.

ASK TRIBES TO O. K. INDIAN ASSOCIATION.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 17.—Permanent organization of the American Indian association, which was planned here at a national congress attended by delegates from all the Indian tribes in this country, will not become effective until approved by the various tribes. A tentative organization was formed at the closing session here when Thomas D. Sloan, an attorney of Pender, Neb., was elected president, and Charles O. Dagenett, executive secretary. The organization session was executive, and no white persons were permitted to attend.

Herrin Operated Upon.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 17.—Following an attack Sunday night, William F. Herrin, vice president and chief counsel of the Southern Pacific railroad, was operated upon yesterday for appendicitis at the company's hospital in this city. Dr. F. K. Ainsworth, surgeon in charge, said the operation was serious.

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION.

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders.

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that 98 per cent of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver, and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Rexall Orderlies are a positive, pleasant, and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quickly, and aid in producing a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea, or other annoying effect. They are especially good for children, weak persons, or old folks. Three sizes, 10c., 25c., and 50c. Sold only at our store — The Rexall Store. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street.

The results of the campaign by the Duluth Commercial club and Supt. of Schools N. A. Young to interest children throughout the county in agriculture, will be shown at the courthouse Friday of this week when the winning exhibits throughout the county will be shown.

The country exhibitions were on last week at the schoolhouses throughout the county. The winning exhibits will be shown at Mr. Young's office on the first floor of the courthouse Friday and everybody is invited to attend and see for themselves what the children of the county have been doing during the summer just passed.

There has been a great deal of interest by the children and some of the exhibits are said to be as fine as the samples of vegetables which were sent

IMPORTANT FOR DAIRIES

Bridgeman-Russell Indictment Before State Supreme Court.

Pine County Grand Jury Charges Attempt at Monopoly.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A case which has attracted little attention and yet which is of vital importance to the dairying interests of Minnesota, will be argued soon in the state supreme court, involving alleged discrimination on the part of centralizing creamery plants against local creameries. The case results from two indictments returned by the Pine county grand jury against the Bridgeman-Russell Company of Duluth.

Two true bills were found against the concern, alleging that on certain specified dates the company discriminated between localities in prices paid for butterfat, with the intention of creating a monopoly and destroying the business of competitors.

One alleges that on Dec. 13, 1911, for cream testing 30 per cent butterfat, it paid 30 cents a pound at Pine City, 30 cents at Beroun, 28 cents at Hinckley, 24 cents at Grasston, 27 cents at Cornell, 22 cents at Duquette and 25 cents at Finlayson. The indictment states that a fair and average price for butterfat at those points on the day named was 26 cents.

The transportation charges for moving five, eight and ten-gallon cans from the points named to Duluth were as follows: Pine City, 15c, 23c and 28c; Beroun, 15c, 22c and 28c; Grasston, 15, 28c, 31c; Cornell, 15c, 23c and 28c; Duquette, 11c, 17c and 21c; Finlayson, 14, 21c and 26c.

State Official Witness.

The other indictment makes similar allegations.

Evidence was furnished the grand jury by F. O. Johnson of the state dairy and food department and by H. A. Goetsch, who is now in charge of the creamery at Wadena. Mr. Goetsch formerly was connected with the state dairy and food department, District Judge P. H. Stolberg heard the original case, overruled demurrers and it was taken directly to the supreme court.

Should the state win the case, the centralizing creameries will not be permitted to pay more for cream in localities where they have competition, than where there is none. It is claimed by the smaller concerns of the state that the large creameries endeavor to drive them out of business by establishing stations in their localities and offering more for cream than the market value as quoted at other stations. They are charged with paying 2 or 3 cents higher prices where there is competition, and with reducing prices where there is no competition, to make up the deficiency.

Bill for Free Raw Sugar.

New York, Oct. 17.—As chairman of the subcommittee of the congressional committee investigating the accounts of the large sugar refining companies, Representative William Sulzer announces he probably will introduce in congress in December a bill to remove all tariff duties on importation of raw sugar.

BORDEN GOVERNMENT HALTS RAILWAY WORK.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 17.—Consternation has been caused here by orders issued by the Canadian minister of railways at Ottawa, stopping all construction work on the national transcontinental railway. This is a Dominion government railway running from Winnipeg to Moncton, N. B., to be leased by the Grand Trunk-Pacific railway when completed. The order also applies to work on the $5,000,000 railway shops building a few miles east of here. The new government, it is believed, will at once order an inquiry into expenditures on the system.

REFORMED CHURCH FINDS PASTOR IS HERETIC.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 17.—The Synod of the Northwest of the Reformed church at its closing session here adopted resolutions declaring Rev. Paul Ebinger of Tallamook, Or., guilty of heresy for preaching that the scriptures are not inspired.

It was decided to retain the church's educational institutions at Franklin, Wis.

ABUNDANCE OF SOFT, FLUFFY HAIR AND NO MORE DANDRUFF

Danderine dissolves every particle of Dandruff like snow beneath the blazing sun, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp; forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of Dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you will actually see new hair, fine and downy at first — yes — but really new hair—sprouting all over the scalp.

A little Danderine will immediately double the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

URGES ACTION AT ST. CLOUD

Bemidji Paper Wants N. M. D. A. to Declare for Extra Session.

Says Governor Is Not Keeping Promise Made at Brainerd Meet.

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A demand that Governor Eberhart convene the legislature in extraordinary session in order to pass a reapportionment bill has been started by the Bimidji Pioneer which is likely to attract particular attention because Bemidji was the birthplace of the Northern Minnesota Development association and is at present the home of W. R. Mackenzie, secretary of that organization, so that the Pioneer's request may be looked upon as a semi-official utterance of the association.

At Brainerd on Dec. 2 inst. Governor Eberhart, in addressing the convention of the development association, said:

"I am not here for the North or the South, but as a Minnesotan. If anyone has studied the latest census figures and does not believe that Minnesota should be reapportioned, he had better study elsewhere. It is only justice. It must come and it must come at the new session. It would be a reflection upon the Republican party to delay action until a special session. I can see no argument against reapportionment; only this, and that amounts to nothing; a few would be legislated out of office. If such a thing should be possible that a reapportionment did not pass at the coming session, I will call an extra session for that purpose."

Unequal Representation.

The Pioneer calls attention to the fact that Senator A. L. Hanson of Ada represents six counties with a population of 58,888, while Senator Duxbury from Houston represents but 14,297, and points out that this is but an example of the present unequal representation.

"It means to you just what the yoke of oppression meant to the sturdy patriots of '76," says the Pioneer in its appeal to the North to fight, "whose reply to a British tyrant's demand for taxation without representation was musket bullet and cannon ball.

"It seems appropriate that Bemidji, cradle of the Northern Minnesota Development association and home of its secretary, should be the one place above all others to begin anew the fight on behalf of the North for fair play in the legislature."

A call is made upon delegates to the December convention of the association to be held in St. Cloud to pass a resolution calling upon the governor to redeem his Brainerd pledge, and the feeling is prevalent that the governor may yield to such a demand.

PLEASED WITH DRAINAGE WORK

State Drainage Commission Finds Vast Ditching Enterprises Progressing.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. H. Gemmell, general manager of the Minnesota & International railway, who made a trip with the state drainage commission, said that the trip, which covered Koochiching, Roseau, Marshall, Itasca and St. Louis counties, was a very satisfactory as well as instructive one.

With few exceptions the drainage engineer found the work of the contractors in good shape and there was little or no complaint from the people interested. The party consisting of Governor A. O. Eberhart, State Auditor Iverson, Assistant Secretary of State Larson, Prof. Stewart of the state agricultural college; Judge Hathaway of Stillwater, Thomas Cooper, the assistant to President Elliot of the Northern Pacific railway, and W. H. Gemmell of the Minnesota & International railway, left St. Paul, Oct. 9. They inspected the ditches along the Minnesota & International the following day; went from International Falls to Spooner on the Canadian Northern, thence to Warroad, thence via the Great Northern to Green Bush, Middle River and Holt, all ditches tributary to each point were looked over, long drives or walks being made to reach them.

Visit Duluthian's Farm.

From Holt they went to Crookston and then over to Island between Bemidji and Duluth. At this point they inspected the ditches draining the swamp area, which has been so successfully developed by G. G. Hartley of Duluth. They were interested in seeing at the Hartley farm, a heavy gasoline engine dragging a large gang plow over land which two years ago was covered with water and over which a man or animal could not have walked. Sunday evening the party reached Cloquet and the business men of that town gave them a banquet at the hotel. All along the line they were well received and those interested in drainage and other matters spoke to the people at International Falls, Spooner, Warroad, Roseau and Holt. The drainage work being done by the state has now established its usefulness and it is only a question of a short time when the areas of heretofore worthless land will be reclaimed and made fit for the settler, who will find it rich and productive. The commission will complete its trip Wednesday. Mr. Gemmell left the party at McGregor, Tuesday will spent on the Soo line and in and around Pallsades.

DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP HER

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pound, Wis.—"I am glad to announce that I have been cured of dyspepsia and female troubles by your medicine. I had been troubled with both for fourteen years and consulted different doctors, but failed to get any relief. After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I can say I am a well woman. I can't find words to express my thanks for the good your medicine has done me. You may publish this if you wish." —Mrs. Herman Sieth, Pound, Wis.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. It is free and always helpful.

NERI MAY HAVE TAKEN OWN LIFE

Latest Theory About Tragic Death of Former Superior Man.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is a possibility that Charles Neri, formerly of Superior, who sustained a broken neck in a fall from the third story of a local hotel, committed suicide. Information obtained from a partner of the dead man is to the effect that on several occasions recently Neri expressed himself as being tired of life and quite willing to go. That Neri was drunk when he pitched from the window has also been ascertained, but beyond that theer is very little evidence thrown on the case up to the present time. Coroner Stenshoel of Polk county is conducting the investigation.

SARGENT COUNTY MEET.

Grain Growers of North Dakota County to Talk Farming.

Forman, N. D., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Next Saturday the third annual meeting of the Sargent County Grain & Stock Growers' association, an organization having for its object the furtherance of progressive methods of farming, will be held here. There will be addresses by J. P. Williamson of Havana, "The Value of Organization of Grain and Stock Growers"; by R. A. Cander of Cogswell, "Benefits of Farmers' Exchange and Pure Bred Sires"; H. K. Pennington of Milnor, on "Corn Culture and Benefits of the Silo"; by County Superintendent Uve of Forman, "School Children's Corn Contests"; by Mrs. George Van Arnam of Milnor on "Value of Poultry on the Farm"; and by Prof. R. C. Donegue of the agricultural college on "Interesting Young People in the Farm."

SUES ST. PAUL ROAD.

Morton County, N. D., Ranchman Asks $10,000 Damages.

Mandan, N. D., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Negligence is charged by James H. Bates, a rancher of southern Morton county, in an action he has instituted against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad for $10,000 damages growing out of an accident occuring in 1910 near Raleigh.

It is charged that while he was driving across the right of way at that point, there being no signs or signals to evidence the presence of the tracks until he was directly on them. At the same mount a string of cars was backed down the track, striking his vehicle. One horse was killed and he claims to have received injuries which are permanent in their nature.

Application has been made by the railroad company for the removal of the action from the district court to the federal court and such petition may be granted.

FARMER DISAPPEARS.

His Present Year's Crop Said to Have Been Mortgaged.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—L. L. Stover, a farmer residing near here, is missing. He has been gone from his home over a week and search which has been instituted has up to the present time been futile. It is said Stover's crop of this year was almost entirely mortgaged, only a small portion of it being free from debt, and that portion was sold by him just before his disappearance. He has a wife and five children.

ARGUMENTS THURSDAY

On Motion for New Trial in Bickford Case.

Bismarck, N. D., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Next Thursday Judge W. C. Crawford will hear arguments here or at Washburn on the motion for a new trial in the case of ex-State Treasurer G. L. Bickford, convicted of embezzlement.

Attorney G. A. Bangs will appear for the accused while W. L. Smith, state's attorney of Burleigh county, will resist the motion.

Bickford was charged with a $60,000 embezzlement and was found guilty only of a $15 embezzlement.

GOOD DAIRY REGION.

Southern Beltrami County Pronounced Well Adapted for Industry.

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—"There is a great promise of the region in Southern Beltrami county, adjacent to Bemidji and Wilton, as a dairy region, and the land is also excellently adapted to root crops, corn of the early maturing varieties, and also small fruits," said A. F. Woods, dean and directo of the agricultural department of the University of Minnesota, who, accompanied by D. M. Neill of Red Wing, president of the Minnesota Federation of Commercial clubs, spend Saturday and Sunday looking over the agricultural possibilities in the region around Bemidji and Wilton. Mr. Neill heartily approved the statement made by the dean; and as he has been here on several previous occasions, his approval was on a more general scale.

Messrs. Woods and Neill came at the special invitation of Roger Spooner, who met them at Wilston, seven miles west of Bemidji, and came over to Bemidji with them. They were entertained at dinner at the Hotel Markham by President Burke, Secretary Reynolds and other prominent members of the Commercial club.

At the conclusion of the dinner, the party visited the demonstration farm owned by the Bemidji independent school district, and which is in charge of Prof. Otto Bergh. They inspected the work accomplished at the farm and Messrs. Woods and Neill said that they were greatly pleased with the plan of the farm and the evidences of the good work accomplished there by the children of the school.

MONDAY HEAVY DAY.

Large Registration for Land in South Dakota.

Dallas, S. D., Oct. 17.—Yesterday was the banner day for registering for Rosebud and Pine Ridge lands.

Gregory and Dallas alone handled 2,600 persons yesterday, practically with an even division. The official total last night for all points was 30,434. Wednesday and Thursday will bring in large crowds on account of the homeseekers' rates and the grand total may reach 45,000 by next Saturday night when the registration lists will close.

FINDS BOYHOOD FRIEND IN BRAINERD'S POSTMASTER.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two old friends met here yesterday after a thirty years' separation. They were John T. Kean, a capitalist of Minneapolis, and Postmaster N. H. Ingersoll of this city. Thirty years ago worked as boys in a printing office at Stevens Point, Wis. Since that time Mr. Kean emigrated West and during his residence in South Dakota was elected lieutenant governor. While on a hunting trip near Emily he saw a copy of a Brainerd paper and noticing the name of the postmaster he made inquiries for Mr. Ingersoll and was overjoyed to find his old friend and to renew his acquaintance with him while in Brainerd.

PIONEERS ARE TAKEN.

Four Old Residents of Chippewa Falls Are Called.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Oct. 17.—Death has fallen heavily upon pioneers here in the past few days. Michael Hall, aged 76, died early yesterday.

He lived here sixty years and was prominent in the development of this locality, having assisted in platting this city.

A widow, fire married daughters and one son survive.

Three other pioneers also died here Sunday night. They were Charles Liese, Sr., aged 82 years; Napoleon Patneaude, aged 75, and J. G. Jones, aged 76.

CONVICTED OF MURDER.

Charles F. Law Is Found Guilty By Marinette Jury.

Marinette, Wis., Oct. 17.—Charles F. Law, charged with the murder of Mrs. Anna Marlowe, was found guilty of murder in the first degree after the jury had deliberated for two hours last night. The woman's body was found last June, with the throat cut, on the steps of the Garfield school in Marinette. Law was convicted on circumstantial evidence, chiefly by means of blood stains on his clothing.

SHOOTS AT THEATER LAMP; HITS BROTHER.

Marmath, N. D., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arthur Ashley of this place took a shot at a lamp in a local theater. He failed to see his brother, Chester, sitting on the other side reading. Chester was wounded in the stomach, but may recover.

INDIANS GATHER GREENS FOR CHRISTMAS TRADE.

Couderay, Wis., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several hundred Chippewa Indians and others are busy in the woods in this section gathering Princess pine, or greens, which they dispose of to the local merchants, and which will be shipped in car load lots to the large cities for the holiday trade.

The Indians sack the greens and deliver them to the railroad stations, receiving 2½ cents per pound, and it makes very profitable employment for them from now on until the snow comes.

TRACK APPLE SELLER ESCAPES PUNISHMENT.

Bowbells, N. D., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. E. Royer, an apple salesman, arrested for selling apples on the track thereby getting out of paying for a peddler's license, escaped punishment through a technicality.

This was the third arrest that has been made in the state during the last two weeks for alleged violations of the state peddlers' law.

LOSES BOTH LEGS NEAR MARQUETTE, MICH.

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—While sleeping or walking on the railroad track (it is not known which) Opie Anderson, aged about 30, was run over by a L. S. & I. locomotive about 100 feet south of the passenger station at an early hour Sunday morning. One leg was cut off, the other foot was horribly mangled, he suffered several scalp wounds and probably sustained internal injuries.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Negaunee—Wesley Harold, the 10-year-old son of Mrs. George B. Mitchell, died Saturday forenoon after a few days' illness with diphtheria. The lad was sick but a short time, and his death comes as a decided shock to the many friends of his mother. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon from the family home.

Ishpeming — Mayor McCorkindale, who received an appeal for aid from the mayor of Black River Falls, Wis., for the flood stricken people of that city has issued a proclamation, asking the people of Ishpeming to respond to the appeal as liberally as they can. Contributions left at either the Miners' or Peninsula bank will be forwarded to the relief committee.

Marquette—Marshal Manning went to Powell & Mitchell's camp on Dead river and arrested Charles Hill, better known as Onnie Koskie, an employe on the concrete dam work, who is charged with having stolen $40 in money belonging to Matt Aro, another employe. It is alleged that Hill took the money out of Aro's pants pocket Saturday night, while the latter was asleep. When arrested Hill had $13 in his possession.

Houghton—The Baraga Lumber company's mill will close down next Saturday after a prosperous season's run. Repairs will then be made preparatory to opening up in the spring. Victor Hoard has left with a crew of men for Point Abbaye, where they will cut 3,000,000 feet of logs for the above mill.

Hancock—An election of officers of the junior laws of the University of Kansas, held during the past week, resulted in M. W. Goldsworthy of this city being chosen vice president. Mr. Goldsworthy graduated from the Hancock high school last year and left here three weeks ago to enter the Kansas institution.

Baraga—The directors of the Baraga Creamery company have elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Herman J. Falk; vice president, Robert Price; secretary, W. C. Birk; treasurer, Samuel Hill.

Calumet—Miss Edith Trestrail of Calumet and George Doney of Mohawk will be wedded on Wednesday of this week.

Sault Ste. Marie—The high school museum will have an addition to its collection of mounted water fowl in a bird that is exceptionally rare, a cormorant having been donated to the museum by J. Barnhisel, who shot the bird last Sunday on Hay lake.

Lake Linden—Funeral services were held at St. Joseph's church Monday morning for Napoleon Beaudoin, aged 65, who died Saturday. Mr. Beaudoin was born in Canada and came to Lake Linden twenty-four years ago last summer. There are four children, Mrs. Dolphis Remillard, with whom he resided, and three sons, Rene and Joseph of Lake Linden and Peter of Gay.

Calumet—Many tons of concrete have been laid on Calumet street during the past week, and the past few days showed a remarkable headway. This was due to the favorable weather and the system adopted by Contractor Tabor in handling the material. He has had two mixers steadily at work during the past few days.

Ironwood—Henry J. Wessinger, for the past ten years chief mechanical engineer for the Oliver company, has resigned and will hereafter devote his attention to the management of his private interests, among which are the Imperial Iron Works of Duluth, of which he is the principal owner.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison — Harvey Clark, former member of the state board of control, former district attorney of Green Lake county and well known in athletic circles, died here Sunday. Death was due to cancer, Mr. Clark never having recovered from an operation which he underwent a year and a half ago.

Ashland—Allan T. Pray has received word that at a meeting of creditors of the National Boat & Engine company at Augusta, Me., Walter I. Woodward, the former receiver, was elected trustee in charge of the company. This is regarded by local creditors of the Outing Boat company as favorable.

Kenosha—Charles P. Parker, aged 53 years, familiarly known as Charley Parker to the traveling public, and head of the Parker Transfer company in this city, was found dead in the bathroom of his home at noon on Sunday. Death is supposed to have resulted from apoplexy. Mr. Parker had been in the transfer business for many years.

Madison—Secretary of State Frear, candidate for the Republican nomination for congressman in the new Tenth district, filed a statement in his department declaring that so far he had spent $39.11 for campaign expenses. Philip Lenher of Green Lake, candidate for the Republican nomination for attorney general, filed a similar statement, declaring that he spent $11 for campaign purposes.

Ashland—Chief Blair has received a letter from the Vilas Lumber company at Fosterville, stating that Gus Laverny, or Lagonle, has been accidentally killed in a camp. The body was buried there, waiting advices from relatives. The company believes that he came from Ashland, and that he left his trunk, containing his effects, at Ashland.

Milwaukee—The International Milk Dealers' association, in convention here, elected these officers: J. D. Nichols, Cleveland, president; Loton Horton, New York, vice president; S. O. Dungon, secretary and treasurer; executive council, J. D. Nichols, Cleveland; Loton Horton, New York; John Bingham, Ottawa, Can.; John Le Feber, Milwaukee; F. A. Willis Philadelphia; C. H. Hood, Charlestown, Mass.; C. E. Peck, Chicago; C. E. Potter, Toronto, Can.; and S. O. Dungon.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Valley City, N. D.—Friday there was a gathering of farmers and those interested in farm conservation in this city from six counties in this section. Barnes, Wells, Eddy, Foster, Stutsman and Griggs counties were represented. The meeting was called by President E. S. DeLancey of the Barnes county $100 An Acre club and the object of the meeting was to perfect a district organization of the $100 An Acre club movement.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Decision has been reached by the committee of St. Michael's Catholic congregation that was recently appointed to investigate the question of establishing a parochial school and it has made recommendation favorable to the proposition of reducing the church debt insted.

Minot, N. D.—Senator La Follette is urged to announce his candidacy for president by the officers and members of the executive committee of the Ward County Progressive leage in a telegram sent to the Wisconsin senator.

Yankton, S. D.—The jury in the case of State vs. Millard J. Limpo, town marshal of Utica, accused of killing John Cheek, on one ballot acquitted the defendant of the serious charge against him. The verdict met popular approval.

Fargo, N. D.—Judge Pollock has granted the motion in the case of the First National bank of Hillsboro against the county officials of Traill county for a temporary injunction against the defendants to restrain them from collecting certain taxes which the bank alleges are illegal.

Bismarck, N. D.—One of the interesting contests held during the Industrial Exposition was that of determining who was the best developed young man in the state. There were a large number of entrants in the contest and the judges examined each candidate carefully. Saturday morning the decision was announced that Lorenzo Belk of Bismarck was declared the winner and as a result he will receive the handsome gold watch which was offered.

Harvey, N. D.—Complications of a serious nature may follow proceedings that have been taken here in which writs of injunctions were served upon two elevator companies and a local bank. While releases from the injunctional writ has been obtained in the cases of the two elevators, and while the bank really was not closed for business at any time, criminal libel action may be instituted as a result of stories supposedly sent out from Fessenden.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Badger—Fourteen carloads of cattle, or in all 450 head, were shipped from here Saturday to the St. Paul market.

International Falls—Six cases of typhoid fever are reported at the hospital, among whom are Mrs. Carpenter and Messrs. Truax and Reulle. Other cases have developed during the past few days.

Little Falls—Miss Anna Leisner, chief operator at the telephone exchange, is enjoying a ten days' vacation. Her place is being filled by Miss Maggie Leisner and Miss Cora Huff, an experienced Duluth operator, is on the board.

Owatonna—Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Merrill, who has been at the head of the state school here for the past twenty-five years, were tendered a banquet by the citizens. The couple were presented with a beautiful mahogany clock. C. S. Crandall and others delivered addresses.

Aitkin—President M. D. Stoner of the Cuyuna Range Power company has withdrawn the proposition he had made for the lease of the local light and water plant.

International Falls — A woodsman named Martin, hailing from Blackduck, is in the hospital waiting for his nose to grow to his face, that member having been practically cut off by a limb of a falling tree. The injured man is quite elderly, but is getting along as well as could be expected.

Badger—The Badger Junior Commercial club has been organized with these officers: Walter Jensen, president; Thomas H. Smith, vice president; J. E. Howe, secretary, and F. W. Gehres, treasurer.

Brainerd—The Commercial club has appointed R. R. Wise and George A. Keene a committee to gather another display of products of Crow Wing county. In this work they are to be assisted by Prof. J. A. Wilson, who was a great aid in making the former exhibit a success.

Cass Lake—A white man, an Indian and a squaw were taken to Walker by Deputy Sheriff Kennedy, where they will begin serving time in the county jail, their sentences running from fifteen to forty days on charges of being drunk and disorderly. The three who were sentenced were Frank Hays, Alvin Holstein and Mary Critt.

Moorhead—Edward Lendey, the man who was arrested on Sunday charged with holding up E. M. Rice and R. W. Patterson and relieving Patterson of $890 in cash, was given a hearing before Judge Thomas Torson. He was held to the grand jury.

Crookston—Dean A. F. Woods of the College of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, spent Friday in the city looking over the Crookston School of Agriculture, and Saturday left for Bemidji, accompanied by D. M. Neill, president of the Minnesota Federation of Commercial clubs of Red Wing.

Winona—Between fifty and sixty farmers residing in the western part of the county, at a meeting at Lewiston, organized the Lewiston Stock Shipping association. The idea was suggested at a previous gathering.

PUTS AN END TO STOMACH MISERY

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia Go in Five Minutes.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapepsin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of Indigestion or Stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a distressed, out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin, and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching or undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at your drug store, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin contain more than sufficient to cure any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other Stomach trouble.

Sunlight grows the Hops But will ruin the Brew

Many Americans prefer beer in a light bottle.

Most brewers follow the course of least resistance.

Schlitz is sold in brown bottles, to protect its purity from the brewery to your glass.

The first Schlitz was brewed in a hut over 60 years ago.

Now our agencies dot the earth. Our output exceeds a million barrels a year.

If you knew what we know about beer, you would say, "Schlitz—Schlitz in Brown Bottles."

Have Beautiful Hair

Soap and water if used too frequently will spoil any head of hair. The best hair treatment is a dry shampoo made as follows: Get six ounces of pulverized orris root and two ounces of vilane powder. Mix thoroughly and keep in a tight box or jar. At night apply a heaping tablespoonful to the hair; distribute with the fingers all through the hair to the scalp. Next day comb and brush until all trace is removed and as a result any man or woman will have beautiful fluffy hair.

This removes dirt, surplus oil, dandruff, etc. It is the best thing ever devised for excessively "greasy" hair.

Many easterners now use it regularly. Men use it daily and ladies one to three times a week.

YOUR DRUGGIST STOPS THAT ITCH

If you are suffering from Eczema, Psoriasis or any other kind of skin trouble, drop into my store for instant relief. I will guarantee you to stop that itch in two seconds.

A 25c trial bottle will prove it.

I have sold other remedies for skin troubles, but none that I could recommend more highly than the well known compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and a few other ingredients that have wrought such wonderful cures all over the country.

DULUTH HERALD FREE BEAUTY COUPON

Good Tomorrow for This World's Most Famous Beauty Specialist.

An opportunity is now offered every reader of this paper to consult the world's most famous beauty specialist, Harriett Meta, of Paris, London and Syracuse, absolutely free.

A little over three years ago there was nothing known which, in our judgment, would actually remove wrinkles, but at that time Mlle. Meta made the important discovery which has since made her famous in two continents.

She demonstrated the great power of her new process by taking her own wrinkles out with it in three nights, after face massage, masks, straps, steaming pots, etc., had all failed, and today Mlle. Meta's face is still free from wrinkles, her cheeks full and plump and her skin and complexion is a delight to behold. In fact, by many she is considered the most beautiful woman in all Paris.

Her remarkable discoveries were brought before the judges of the Paris International Exposition and the Rome Exposition Internationale for their investigation, and in both instances they quickly awarded her Gold Medals thereon. The French government also honored her with a patent on her new process, and patents are now pending before the U. S. government at Washington.

London journals sent their Beauty Editresses to investigate her methods, and their high indorsements of her discoveries made her famous almost overnight, so that she was eagerly sought after by French countesses and English ladies of high title and rank. The Beauty Editress of the London Onlook wrote, "An interview with Mlle. Meta left me persuaded that here at last might be found the secret to restore youth and beauty."

Many of those who have used her process report most astonishing results. Mrs. Mary J. Davis, of East St. Louis, Ill., says: "My wrinkles were very deep and of long standing, so you can imagine my surprise when, after only two applications, they entirely disappeared." Mrs. L. E. Haskell, of San Francisco, writes: "I am 50 years old. Consequently my wrinkles were of long standing and I had not thought it possible to erase them, but now when I view my changed reflection in the mirror I can scarcely realize the transformation that has been wrought." Mrs. M. A. Edwards, of Raleigh, N. C., says: "Since using the treatment I look younger than I did 25 years ago." Mrs. M. L. Lee, Evansville, Ind., writes: "I used the treatment one night and it succeeded in entirely removing my wrinkles, leaving my face as soft and free from lines as a child's." Miss Henrietta Jackson, of Pittsfield, Mass., says: "Your treatment is a Godsend to womankind. I wish every woman could know as I know the wonderful results which are produced by your treatment."

Since Mlle. Meta made her remarkable discovery imitators have naturally sprung up all over the country. Some of them have copied Mlle. Meta's advertisements and literature to such an extent that the public is often at a loss to distinguish the imitation from the real. We are therefore authorized to announce the following remarkable offer, which cannot fail to convince you as to who is who:

Mlle. Meta will forfeit $1,000 in gold if she fails to prove that she holds the Gold Medals and three Grand Prix on her discoveries from International Expositions. She will forfeit $1,000 in gold if anyone can prove that she did not take out her own wrinkles with it in three nights exactly as she claims. She will forfeit $1,000 in gold if every testimonial and sworn statement which she publishes is not absolutely genuine. She will forfeit $1,000 in gold if anyone can show advertisements similar to hers published in any newspaper or magazine in the United States or Europe prior to the publication of her advertisements.

Arrangements have been made with Mlle. Meta to furnish free information in regard to her marvelous process for removing wrinkles to all readers of this paper. Merely cut out and send her the coupon below and you will receive free particulars by return mail in a plain sealed envelope. You can use this remarkable process in the privacy of your own home without the knowledge of even your most intimate friends. It often works astonishing wonders in a single treatment overnight.

ANOTHER EFFORT TO TAX TRANSIENT MERCHANTS

Claimed That Duluth Will Become Dumping Ground for Bankrupt Stocks.

Local Merchants Appear Before Council and Present Their Case.

Strong arguments in favor of the passage of a transient merchant ordinance were presented to the council last evening by some of the leading business men of the city.

Their claim was that merchants coming from the outside should be put on the same basis of taxation as the local merchants who are permanently located in the city. Their estimate was that the average tax upon each merchant amounts to $10 a day, the amount specified in the ordinance for transient merchants. The ordinance would also require the transient to make application for his license to the city clerk, giving full particulars relative to his business, such as the amount and nature of his stock and the probable duration of his stay.

An effort was made to have the vote of last Monday evening, when the ordinance was defeated by a vote of 9 to 7, reconsidered, but this was made impossible by a point of order. The council regulations provide that there shall not be more than one reconsideration of any subject, and the present ordinance has been reconsidered once. The ordinance was reintroduced by Alderman Wharton, and after the speakers had been heard, it was referred to the committee on ordinances and resolutions. It is expected that the committee will make its report next Monday evening, and the ordinance come up for final passage at that time.

B. P. Neff, the first speaker, stated that he believed the aldermen who are opposed to the ordinance are acting under a misapprehension and without sufficient information. He explained that the merchants do not want to erect any tariff wall about the city, but welcome legitimate competition. But he held that the local merchants, who contribute to local institutions, employ local labor, pay for taxes and street improvements, should not be compelled to do business at a disadvantage in competition with transients who are not subject to that expense.

M. Mr. Neff called attention to the fact that similar ordinances are now in force in the Twin Cities and Superior, and that unless Duluth is protected by such an ordinance, it will become the dumping ground of every bankrupt stock in this part of the country.

B. Silberstein and I. Freimuth seconded the views expressed by Mr. Neff. They asserted that the transient merchant does not give the public any better values and that in many cases inferior goods are palmed off on the people at high prices. Mr. Freimuth declared that many of these merchants plaster the windows of their stores with bills to so darken the interior that the customer cannot examine the goods which he is buying.

Alderman Scott expressed surprise that the local merchants should favor such an ordinance, and announced that he will steadily oppose it whenever it comes before the council.

The board of public works was directed to advertise for bids for diverting the creek north of Elinor street at the northwest corner of the site for the Carnegie library at West Duluth, where it intersects the alley, to the southeast corner of the lot, and to cover it with a concrete culvert. When this is completed it is believed that work will be rushed on the new building.

The board was directed to have plans and specifications prepared for a new lock-up at New Duluth, for which $5,000 was levied by the last conference committee, the fee of the architect not to exceed 5 per cent of the cost of the work.

The committee on railroads announced that it has arranged for a meeting with officials of the Northern Pacific railroad next Monday afternoon at the city hall. The matter of providing gates or signals for several railroad crossings will be taken up. Members of the West Duluth Commercial club are requested to attend.

On motion of Alderman Curren $150 was appropriated to pay for the services of a watchman on Park Point for the coming six months and $90 for the rental of a waiting station at 713 Lake avenue south.

On motion of Alderman Bernard a committee consisting of one alderman from each ward was appointed to investigate the voting machine proposition of the Empire Voting Machine company. The machine is now on exhibition at the office of the city clerk. The members of the committee are Aldermen Wharton, Makowski, Jordan, Curren, MacDonell, Bergstrom, Bernard and Krueger.

The Duluth Street Railway company was given permission to grout between its tracks on Grand avenue between Fifty-fourth and Fifty-ninth avenues west, provided it stands the extra expense. This is the stretch which has recently been paved with brick. The engineer reported that grouting is more satisfactory than laying the entire pavement with an asphalt filler, except that it is more noisy.

The engineer was directed to prepare plans and specifications for a storm sewer in West Sixth street between Piedmont and Twenty-third avenues. The estimated cost is $3,751.83. The contract of George R. King for storm sewers in Third avenue west between Fifth and Seventh streets, in Seventh avenue west between First and Third avenues and in Second avenue west between Fifth and Seventh streets, was approved. His price was $9,036.85. The contract of C. R. McLean for a concrete culvert in Eighth alley between Fifth and Sixth avenues east, was also approved. His bid was $890. Several other small contracts were given favorable consideration.

The award of the contract to Hugh Fawcett for finishing up the third floor of the contagious disease hospital at Fourteenth avenue west and Third street was approved. His bid was $1,850. With this improvement the health department officials believe the institution will meet the requirements of the city for several years to come.

The application of H. Johnson for a transfer of the saloon license at 709 West Superior street to 613 West Superior street, was laid over another week, the same action having been taken at the meeting a week ago. It is understood that there is opposition to the granting of the transfer. An application was made for the transfer of the license at 228 Lake avenue south from M. Lynch to George Farmer. This place came in for considerable notoriety following the arrest of Minnie Cookman for conducting a disorderly place in the upstairs rooms. J. W. Buchanan made an application for a transfer of the license of Claud Roland at 119 East Superior street to himself. The place has been run by William Duvall. Buchanan has been in the saloon business in Superior in the Arthur hotel.

The ordinance withdrawing the ordinance granting the Northern Pacific the use of Thirty-seventh avenue west for a spur track was withdrawn. The spur is in use every day by the Elliott Packing company and a large coal dock. The Clyde Iron works made application for the vacation of part of Thirty-first avenue west. It is understood that the company wishes to use the avenue in connection with its plant. The council vacated Sixth alley between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth avenues, one dissenting vote being recorded.

The comptroller was directed to prepare lists of delinquents for assessments on various improvements throughout the city and to certify the same to the county auditor.

The amendment to the building ordinance, drawn to enable the addition of four stories to the Holland hotel, was passed without objection.

It was reported that boys have interfered with the use of the arc light at Second avenue west and Seventh street and the police were asked to try to watch for the boys who have been causing the trouble.

The ordinance allowing various departments to issue certificates of indebtedness in anticipation of the tax collections next year was passed. They will be drawn against the funds of the fire department, the printing and supply fund, the library board, the light fund and the permanent improvement fund.

The mayor was authorized to appoint a poundmaster at New Duluth for one month at a salary of $25.

• • •

A number of ex-aldermen were interested spectators at the council meeting last evening. Among them were W. B. Getchell, W. S. Moore, Charles Mork, M. J. Fillatrault, James Foubister, J. J. Moe and A. G. McKnight.

A MOTHER'S DUTY

It is the duty of every expectant mother to prepare her system for the coming of her little one; to avoid as far as possible the suffering of such occasions, and endeavor to pass through the crisis with her health and strength unimpaired. This she may do through the use of Mother's Friend, a remedy that has been so long in use, and accomplished so much good, that it is in no sense an experiment, but a preparation which always produces the best results. It is for exernal application and so penetrating in its nature as to thoroughly lubricate every muscle, nerve and tendon involved during the period before baby comes. It aids nature by expanding the skin and tissues, relieves tenderness and soreness, and perfectly prepares the system for natural and safe motherhood. Mother's Friend has been used and endorsed by thousands of mothers, and its use will prove a comfort and a benefit to any woman in need of such a remedy. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers, which contains much valuable information.

MAN, WIFE AND THREE CHILDREN MURDERED.

Ellsworth, Kan., Oct. 17.—Slain as they slept Sunday night, the bodies of Will Showman, a chauffeur, his wife and three small children were discovered last night in the Showman home by a neighbor, who chanced to call, and who entered the house when no one responded to his knock.

The features of all the victims were battered beyond recognition by the blows of an axe, which the slayer had used. The youngest member of the family, a baby, had been beaten until its head was severed from the body.

All three of the children were under 5 years of age. The authorities thus far have failed to find anything pointing to a cause for the crime, nor a clew to the guilty person. The room where the bodies were found looked like a slaughter pen. There was blood on the walls, ceiling, floor, beds and every article in the room.

Sunday night all the members of the Showman family visited at the home of Mrs. O. W. Snook, a friend living several blocks away. They left the Snook home about 9 o'clock. This was the last time any of them were seen alive.

NEGRO LYNCHED BY MOB IN ARKANSAS.

Forest City, Ark., Oct. 17.—Nathan Lacey, a negro, charged with attacking Mrs. Thomas Cox at her home near Forest City, Sunday, was taken from the local prison last night by a mob and lynched. Lacey was captured by a posse early in the day and imprisoned at Forest City. A mob of several hundred battered their way to the negro's cell, dragged him out and with a rope about his neck, marched him a mile from town, where he was hanged to a telegraph pole. The body was left hanging.

IOWAN MURDERED; DIVORCEE IS HELD.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Oct. 17.—W. R. Schwart of Shenandoah, Iowa, was shot through the temple in a room at a local hotel last evening, and died half an hour later at Mercy hospital. A woman who gives the name of Mrs. Kirk, with whom Schwartz was registered at the hotel, is being held pending an investigation.

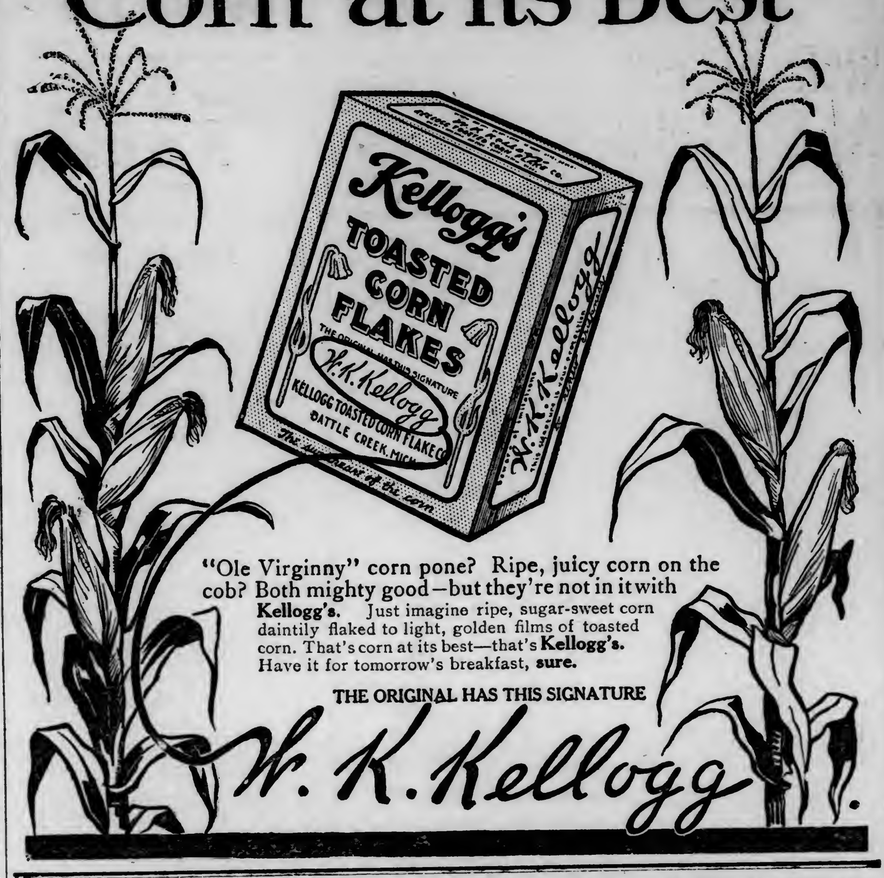

Schwartz and the woman registered at the hotel early in the day and other patrons say they quarreled in the afternoon. Her home is said to be at Avoca, Iowa, where her divorced husband resides.

ACCUSED OF MURDER OF BROTHER AND RIVAL.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 17.—Charged with the murder of his brother and rival for the love of a girl, Elmer Ferris, aged 27, of Ava, Mo., has been placed in jail and will be taken to Stockton, Kan., near which town the crime was committed. A statement by the girl in the case led to the arrest of Ferris.

Elmer Ferris and his brother, John, who had been courting the same young woman in Ava, left their home there in the summer of 1910 to work in Kansas harvest fields. On the morning of Aug. 3, 1910, the body of John was found under a wheat stack. His throat had been cut.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The Freshman-Sophomore Literary society of the Duluth Central high school will render a "Poe program" at the next meeting on Thursday afternoon. "Tamerlane" and "The Cask of Amantillado" will be read by Lucille Elder and Harold Sund, and "The Tell-tale Heart" by Wanda Bergevin, an upper class student. Doris Mallet will recite "Annabelle Lee" and "The Raven." Milton Stickles will read a paper on "The Life of Poe."

Students of the Central high school yesterday celebrated the football victory gained over the high school of Grand Forks. The program was varied from time to time with school yells, which were led by Thomas Beatty, the yellmaster. A number of songs by A. E. M. Custance were rendered by the choir. Negotiations are in progress with a view to bringing the West High team of Minneapolis to Duluth for a football game next Saturday.

The Central High School Mandolin club will meet this evening at the home of Frank Bartlett at Lester Park. It is said that a number of high school girls will organize another mandolin club.

CORNUCOPIA CELEBRATES OPENING NEW BUILDING.

Bayfield, Wis., Oct 17.—Former Attorney General W. H. Mylrea of Wausau delivered an address at the opening of the new city hall and commercial club building of Cornucopia, Wis. A large number of people from Bayfield, Washburn, Ashland and outside towns were present. Four automobiles from Bayfield and the tug Bayfield conveyed the people to Cornucopia.

OBITUARY

Louis S. Whitcomb, a pioneer newspaper writer of California, is dead at San Francisco, from heart failure after an illness of five days. Whitcomb was born in Boston, Mass., and was a Harvard graduate. He was unmarried.

Rev. E. S. Johnson, an early settler of Nicollet county and one of the pioneer clergymen of that part of the state, is dead at his home in St. Peter, at the age of 79 years. Mr. Johnson was born in Trondenaes, Norway. When he was about 22 years old, a great religious reform movement swept over Norway, hundreds withdrawing from the established church, and uniting with the Fri Menighed, or Free church. Mr. Johnson was one of those to become interested in the movement, and identified himself with the new sect. In 1854 he came to this country and bought a farm in Lake Prairie township, and for a number of years was engaged in missionary work among the Scandinavians of Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin. In the '60s he was ordained as a minister of the Baptist church, and subsequently served charges at Lake Crystal, La Crosse, Wis., and West Salem.

COURSE OF CREEK TO BE CHANGED

Site for New Library Will Be Ready for Building.

At a meeting of the city council last evening the board of public works was instructed to advertise for bids for the diverting of the creek running north of Elinor street between Central avenue and Fifty-sixth avenue west. The creek will then be covered by a culvert.

The work will cost nearly $2,000, and when finished will end the long wait for the building of the new library. Work on the library will commence as soon as the culvert is finished.

The site of the new library was purchased about a year ago for $3,600. It has a frontage of 150 feet on Fifty-fifth avenue and is 140 feet deep.

The plans for the library have already been made and are in the hands of the library board at the present time. The architects are Ellerbe, Round & Sullivan. The $20,000 Carnegie donation was received about ten months ago, on the condition that West Duluth citizens furnish the site for the library.

EXTENSION WILL COST $8,000

Judge Cant gave his decision yesterday afternoon on the awards to property owners for the lots needed to open Ramsey street from Central to Grand avenues. It will cost the city over $8,000 to secure the necessary property. This is an increase of about 35 per cent over the original award made by the board of public works last year. The awards rendered and filed yesterday by Judge Cant are as follows:

Lot 29, which adjoins the Nelson property, $1,000; lot, 30, $1,100; lot 31, $950; lot 32, $700, and lot 33, $400.

The appeal of N. F. Nelson, who was offered $2,150 last spring and who filed a complaint that the price was too low, has not yet been decided but it is expected that he will be awarded about $4,000. It is now considered too high by the board of public works and it is possible that the city may abandon the project.

A storm of protest was raised in West Duluth last evening when it was rumored that the project might be abandoned by the board. Several business men announced themselves as against the idea of dropping the project and said that they will petition in a body, as the new road was practically promised a year ago.

Will Have New Jail.

The city council at its meeting last night appointed a poundmaster for New Duluth, and also authorized the advertising of bids for a new jail in that suburb. There has been some agitation for a new jail for several months, as there is no adequate place to keep prisoners at New Duluth. All that the town has is a small shack that is insanitary and unsafe.

Temperance Lecture.

Carl Holmsten will give a temperance lecture in Swedish this evening at the Victor hall, under the auspices of the Morningstar lodge, I. O. G. T. The address will be followed by a special business program of the lodge.

Farewell Address.

Rev. J. A. Bjerke, pastor of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church, will give a farewell talk this evening to the Young People's society at its meeting in the church parlors. Rev. Bjerke will leave the city Nov. 1 to take charge of a church in Park River, N. D.

Surprise Party.

Mrs. William Paradise, Jr., 815 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, was pleasantly surprised by a number of her friends at her home yesterday afternoon. The event was in honor of her birthday and she was the recipient of several valuable presents, including a large cut glass punch bowl. Cinch was played and honors were won by Mrs. Holler, Mrs. Blechl, Mrs. Jebon, Mrs. Gerard and Mrs. Chestock. The guests present were: Mesdames Joseph, Gerard, Joseph Weisenberger, Montgomery, Peter Hahn, Chestock, Hollen, Jebon, Spomheim, Blechl, Burkley, Miller, Johnson, Gilbert, Coughlin, Synder, Arthur Rose, Busha, Pike and the Misses Mae Hahn, Gilley and Christenson.

FOOTBALL PLAYERS WILL GIVE DANCE.

Plans were made last evening at a meeting of the Irving-Tiger football team in the Great Eastern hall for a private dancing party to be given Thursday evening, Oct. 26. Fifty invitations are to be sent out and will include only members of the team and their intimate friends. The team accepted a challenge yesterday from the Park Point team to play a game next Sunday at the Fifty-second avenue grounds.

West Duluth Briefs.

Miss Beulah Carey, 512 North Fifty-fourth avenue west, entertained for a number of her friends at her home last evening. The evening was spent in games and music.

A. P. Lacey has received the contract for the new county hospital at Midway and will begin work on it at once.

Robert Carden of Seattle, Wash., is visiting friends at West Duluth.

The Great Northern is repairing the railroad crossing on Central avenue. They will also install several new safety devices at the other crossings at the request of the city council.

The Girl's society of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church will be entertained Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. O. Hallen, Sixtieth avenue west.

Mrs. Andrew Moss will entertain the Ladies' Aid Society of the Midway Lutheran church at her home this afternoon. Rev. J. A. Krantz will attend the meeting as a special guest.

The West Duluth Council of the Royal league, No. 255, will meet this evening in the club rooms at the Commercial club building. Several important matters are to come up and all members are requested to attend.

Mrs. H. Bevier, 3909 Oneota street, returned yesterday from Chicago where she attended the funeral of her brother.

Watch repairing, Hurst, West Duluth.

Mrs. M. Sand, Sixty-fifth avenue west, will entertain the Ladies' Aid society of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church at her home Thursday afternoon.

INDIAN IS CONVERTED IN SHADOW OF GALLOWS

In the shadow of the gallows, Tom Fisher, self-confessed Indian murderer, who has held to his pagan beliefs since boyhood, in spite of the utmost efforts of the missionaries to convert him, today forsook the gods of his ancestors and announced his conversion to the faith of the Pale Faces.

Fisher stands accused and is said to have confessed to the killing of William Brown of Nett Lake. He was arrested after seven other men had been falsely accused of the crime.

Rev. F. H. Piquette, pastor of the Methodist church at Sawyer, Minn., assisted by Rev. C. R. Oaten of Lester Park, this morning visited the jail and taking Fisher to the sheriff's residence there performed the ceremony of baptism.

Fisher's conversion appeared to be sincere. He told the ministers that he had often heard the gospel preached before but had never accepted it. He wrote back to his wife at Net Lake and told her that he had turned Christian.

Pastor Piquette of Sawyer, formerly preached at Nett Lake, the scene of the murder.

Fisher told the missionary that all his troubles were due to the fire water of the white man, and took a pledge that if he ever regained his freedom he would never again touch liquor.

A Pint of Unequaled Cough Syrup for 50c

The Quickest, Surest Cough Remedy You Ever Used, or Money Refunded. Stops Even Whooping Cough Quickly.

You may not need the $2 which a 50-cent bottle of Pinex saves you, but you do need the wonderful effectiveness of this famous cough remedy. It will usually stop the most obstinate deep-seated cough inside of 24 hours, and has no equal for whooping cough.

A 50-cent bottle of Pinex, mixed with home-made sugar syrup, gives you a full pint—a family supply of the most pleasant and effective cough remedy you ever used. Easily prepared in five minutes—directions in package.

The way this takes hold of a cough and gives instant relief, will make you regret that you never tried it before. Stimulates the appetite, is slighly laxative and tastes good—children take it willingly. It has a wonderful record in cases of incipient lung trouble and is splendid for croup, asthma, bronchitis, throat trouble, etc.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of Norway White Pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Simply mix with sugar syrup or strained honey, in a pint bottle, and it is ready for use. Used in more homes in the U. S. and Canada than any other cough remedy.

Pinex has often been imitated, but never successfully, for nothing else will produce the same results. The genuine is guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. Certificate of guarantee is wrapped in each package. Your druggist has Pinex or will gladly get it for you. If not send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

ON THE IRON RANGES

ROAD WILL GIVE LAND

Duluth & Iron Range Railroad to Aid Eveleth Colonization Scheme.

Will Provide Suitable Tract If Commercial Club Furnishes Actual Settlers.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chairman John J. Gleason of the public affairs committee of Commercial club has received word from Land Commissioner N. B. Arnold of the Duluth & Iron Range road that his company will secure a large tract of land for the club for colonization, providing the members will procure actual settlers.

The members of the club are highly elated over the promise and all are confident the club can secure actual settlers by extensive and attractive advertising. According to present arrangements if a suitable tract of land near Eveleth is secured from the Iron Range road a stock company will be formed to finance the proposition and to secure the actual settlers.

The club members desire a tract of 4,000 or 5,000 acres situated near this city and they believe it will be possible to secure over 100 settlers in less than two years. A meeting of the public affairs committee will be held to consider the matter and to forward an answer to Land Commissioner Arnold.

DWIGHT BOOTH AWARDED CUP

Hibbing Ball Player Voted Best All Round Player in Nine.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The C. L. Thouin silver loving cup, which was to have been donated at the end of the baseball season to the Colts' best all-round player was awarded by an unprejudiced committee to Dwight Booth, pitcher and center fielder.

The award meets with popular favor there being no doubt that Booth proved the best all round player identified with the Colts during the late season.

The Thouin company also gave a similar cup to the champion range baseball club. Virginia won it.

NASHWAUK PLANT BEING IMPROVED

Water and Light Commission Has Considerably Bettered Service.

Nashwauk, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A number of improvements are being made by the water and light commission since its inauguration. The commission is remodeling the framework on the water and light plant which was considerably damaged by fire this spring.

Contractor John Hanson of this village received the contract for laying a new roof over the building and also other repair work that was necessary. He has a force of carpenters at work and will have the job completed within a week.

Edward Gaffney, master mechanic at the Crosby mine, received a contract for laying a complete new system of steam piping consisting of 6-inch header throughout the plant which was an absolute necessity and was completed by Mr. Gaffney and a small crew of men under his supervision a few days ago.

The fire that visited the plant damaged all piping throughout the boiler room considerably and with the new installation of piping will mean a money saver to the village in the use of fuel. The new board is constantly making other minor improvements at the village plant which in recent years was a money losing proposition to the village, but through the recent action of President John Ohles and the village council in electing a committee of three on the water and light department to establish a paying proposition for the village in this way, Supt. G. A. Lindsey of the water and light plant states that the new commission has long been sorely needed and that a clear and concise system of records is being arranged for and that also a noticeable change to the plant's welfare has been ascertained by receipts for the past month.

EVELETH'S MAYOR SEEKS RENOMINATION

MAYOR J. S. SAARI.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor J. S. Saari, whose administration has been acceptable to a large element is a candidate for renomination. John Glode, who has been urged to make the race for alderman-at-large has decided not to enter the campaign. This leaves San Siegel, Joseph Brince, Axel M. Turnquist and Nick Constantine aspirants for the offices now filled by Aldermen Charles H. Jesmore and Matt J. Doyle. The latter is an avowed candidate for judge. Alderman Joseph S. Wilson last evening circulated his petition for re-election as alderman of the First ward. He is president of the council.

DESIRE DELIVERY LIMITS EXTENDED

Virginians Claim Express Companies Should Enlarge Free Delivery Zone.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The American and the Great Northern Express companies have agreed upon the territorial limits within which express packages will be delivered free in Virginia. The limits include all of Chestnut street, four and a half blocks on Mesaba avenue, three blocks south from Chestnut street on Central avenue and one block south and north from Chestnut street upon all the other avenues. It is expected that the Commercial club will take up the matter of further extending the limits of free delivery. The limits of Virginia's business section and main residence sections are so small and compact that many believe the express companies could easily deliver packages free over almost the entire city without greatly increasing the expense. Both express companies referred to do an immense business in Virginia.

NEGAUNEE PIONEER DIES AT AGE OF 89.

Negaunee, Mich., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Michael Shea, one of the oldest living pioneers of Negaunee was buried Monday from St. Paul's church. He died Saturday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Vincent, aged 89.

The deceased is survived by one brother, Stephen Shea, who lives in Ironwood, and one sister, Mrs. Daniel Manning of Hibbing, Minn. His wife died in Negaunee in 1872. They were the parents of four children, Mrs. Charles Vincent and three sons, Daniel, Thomas and Michael, all of the latter having died in this city. Seven grandchildren are living.

Mr. Shea was born in the County Kerry, Ireland, in 1822. He came to America with other members of his family in 1853, locating at Newport, R. I., and remaining there a short time. He later moved to Washington, where in 1854 he helped to lay the gas mains in the principal streets of that city. He remained there until 1857, when he came to Negaunee, continuing his residence in this city until his death.

The deceased did his first work in Negaunee at the old Pioneer furnace, going from there to the Jackson mine, and taking a position under Captain Partridge, who was the first man to have charge of underground operations at that property. He worked continuously at the Jackson for thirty-four years.

EVELETH WAREHOUSES AND CARS ARE BROKEN INTO.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thieves Monday evening entered the Iron Range warehouse and stole sacks of flour and other articles from the Paciotti grocery. They also broke off locks from freight cars and stole many sacks of apples.

Martin Turk and Anton Waversnik who were both charged with being drunk and disorderly forfeited their bonds of $7.50 by failing to appear in municipal court yesterday. William Kotka pleaded guilty to being drunk and paid a fine of $1.

Urge Purchase of Property.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A petition urging the city council to purchase the halt block bounded by Pierce street and Adams avenue is being circulated by a special committee appointed by the Commercial club and many signers secured.

Bids will be opened this evening for the erection of a $15,000 fire hall on Jackson street and Adams avenue and also for the erection of a board walk to the Genoa mine.

PUT COLEMAN OUT OF JOB

Chief Engineer of Two Harbors Water and Light Plant Ousted.

City Council Appoints Scott Wait, New-Comer, as Successor.

Two Harbors, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The long expected happened at the council meeting last night when W. R. Coleman, chief engineer of the water and light plant, was superseded by Scott Wait, a newcomer.

It has been current comment that this was one of the things the Socialists, who are in control, hoped to bring about long before the late recall election. Last night President Esse told the council he had communicated with Mr. Van Lear of Minneapolis, business agent of the machinists of the Northwest, and that Van Lear had recommended several men for the position. Scott Wait, one of the men recommended, came up here Sunday, visited the plant, showed several recommendations, stated that the position and salary of $100 a month were satisfactory. His appointment was made in short order and he will be on the job next Monday morning. This apparently is the end of a long drawn out controversy.

Dwan Wants More Pay.

City Attorney Dwan in a letter to the council asked for an increase in salary. The city attorney at present receives only $50 per month. Dwan stated that the duties had increased and that his compensation was not commensurate with the labor involved. He also stated that he had taken in enough money in criminal cases to pay his present salary. The communication was referred to the council as a committee of the whole, but so far as known no action was taken on it. Under the old council the city attorney received $65 per month and it is safe to say the duties of the present attorney have increased greatly.

A matter came up concerning the MacAlpine affair, which the city attorney thought best to divulge only in secret, so the council spent nearly an hour in secret session.

In regard to the work of auditing the books, Omtvedt stated that a statement had been made out showing the balance of each individual taxpayer.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR $35,000 BLOCK

Virginia Contractor Will Erect Business Structure in That City.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The contract for the erection of the Elmer Matheson business block on Chestnut street, near Central avenue, has been let to Contractor Andrew Grande of this city. The building will be of brick and stone, three stories high with full basement, fronting fifty feet on the main street and extending 120 feet to the alley. It will cost about $35,000.

F. L. Schoening, the meat merchant, will build a $5,000 residence at 321 Spruce street.

NEW GILBERT PASTOR

Will Be Installed Nov. 1 With Elaborate Ceremonies.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Interest is being taken here in the installation of Rev. George S. Turner as paster of the Gilbert Presbyterian church, Nov. 1, as he supplied the First Presbyterian church pulpit for a short time last year. Many Evelethians will attend the gathering.

A committee representing the Duluth Presbytery will have charge of the installation services, while Rev. Harry E. Neff of Virginia will act as moderator. He will also give the charge to the pastor-elect and offer the prayer of installation. Rev. George Hughes of Ely will preach the sermon with Rev. Philip A. Schwarz, Jr., of this city delivering the charge to the congregation. Rev. Mr. Shorts of the Gilbert M. E. church will assist at the services while Miss Mila Tracey will direct the choir which has arranged special music for the occasion. Rev. Mr. Turner will close the services with benediction.

RESTORE GRAY HAIR TO NATURAL COLOR

By Common Garden Sage, a Simple Remedy for Dandruff, Falling, Faded, Gray Hair.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy, and gradually restored the natural color.

One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days, on account of souring quickly. This objection has been overcome, and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair, but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow.

Get a bottle from your druggist today. Use it and see for yourself how quickly dandruff goes and gray hairs vanish.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

TREDINNICK WAS CARRYING WHEAT

If Creditors Had Waited, Defeat of Reciprocity Would Have Saved Him.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Friends of J. P. Tredinnick, the missing broker believe he is now hiding in Honduras, where it will be impossible for his victims to secure extradition papers for his return. They also claim he would have been able to pay back his losses if creditors had not pressed him for money and forced him to sell his wheat at a low margin three weeks before the defeat of the reciprocity pact in Canada.

Was "Long" on Wheat.

According to their statements he had purchased a large amount of wheat and was holding it until the defeat of reciprocity when it was bound to go higher. They also claim he left Eveleth penniless. It is rumored that many of his local victims plan to engage a detective to continue the search for him, and much interest is still being taken in the case here and in other range towns where the broker was well known.

TO DELIVER PAPERS.

Eveleth Doctors to Participate in Duluth Meeting.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the next meeting of the Minnesota Associated Charities at Duluth Nov. 7, Health Commissioner Dr. N. C. Bulkley of this city will give an address on "Medical Inspection in Relation to Child's Problems," while Dr. Moore will speak on "More Opportunities for Social Work in Mining Towns."

Biwabik is planning to adopt the Eveleth system of dealing with sanitary conditions in the schools and Dr. C. W. Bray of that city has been here securing ideas which he will embody in his school and city inspection at Biwabik.

TO LIVE IN SUPERIOR.

Eveleth Couple, Married Monday, to Reside Across Bay.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Roy Vanderwalker, a well known mining man of this city and Miss Rose De Gordon, also of Eveleth, were married yesterday morning at the M. E. church by Rev. B. D. Hanscom. Miss Hilda Olson attended the bride and Fred Richards the groom. The couple will live at Superior after taking a short wedding trip.

John Rigler and Frances Palerich, both of Fayal location were married yesterday morning at the Holy Family church by Rev. Father M. Bilban.

HOLMAN IS LIBELED.

Range Village Claims It Is Given Unearned Reputation.

Holman, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Residents of this village claim the newspapers are giving the place an unearned reputation for crime and they resent the imputations. They claim that several stories of alleged crimes contained in the press did the town an injustice since the crimes never occurred or happened in other places. A report of a stabbing affray in a local restaurant is said to have been groundless, the facts being that a drunken woman from Bovey had been ejected. A murder occurring near Taconite was credited to Holman, say the critics of the press. The citizens will take steps to stop the circulation of such defamatory reports.

BOAT FIRED UPON.

Outing Party Given Scare on Long Lake.

Ely, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A party of local people figured in a thrilling affair Sunday evening when crossing Long lake in a canoe, being fired upon by some one in a passing launch. In the canoe party were: Miss Mary Mieghan, Miss Elizabeth Dodds, Mrs. Thomas McLaughlin, J. J. Dann and a guide. Several bullets missed the canoe by a few feet. An attempt is being made to learn the name of the reckless shooter.

HIBBING COUPLE GIVE DELIGHTFUL DANCING PARTY.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A delightful party was given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. P. Hoyle, 315 Sellers street, last evening, which was attended by many friends of the host and hostess. The spacious dining room was cleared of all furniture and carpet and to the music of a ten-piece orchestra the younger element danced.

Stevens-Duryea

The Seventh Year of Sixes

IN 1905, when the first Stevens-Duryea Six appeared, certain manufacturers of fours laughed derisively and said "there is a hundred per cent. more trouble in a six." BUT in 1907, when 752 Stevens-Duryea Sixes had been sold and delivered, and WE had created a demand for sixes, a number of manufacturers saw a great light, and now some of these seriously consider themselves pioneers.

The Stevens-Duryea Six for 1912 is the logical result of more than six years experience in manufacturing successful sixes. It is built 'round the Stevens-Duryea principles of "Unit Power Plant," "Three Point Support," "Multiple Disc Dry Plate Clutch," which we employed in our first Six in 1905.

Our book "The Seventh Year of Sixes," tells of our Six and its record.

COME WEST ITS SLOGAN

"Governors' Special" Will Advertise Western States in the East.

Duluth Officer of Northwest Development League Returns From Meeting.

John H. Dight, cashier of the First National bank, has returned from Spokane, Wash., where he recently attended a meeting of the executive committee of the Northwestern Development league, of which he is vice president.

At this meeting the committee indorsed the project of "the governors' special," a train of nine cars, including four exhibiton coaches, which will be run through the Eastern states some time during the latter part of this year, leaving St. Paul about Nov. 25. This train will be run under the joint auspices of the Northwestern Development league, of which Lewis Penwell of Helena, Mont., is president, and the Western Development association, whose president is James H. Brady of Pocatello, Idaho. Reilly Atkinson of Boise, Idaho, has been selected manager of the expedition.

Each state will be called upon for a subscription of $1,500. The Panama Pacific Exposition company, in return for being allowed an entire car for its exhibit, is expected to subscribe $7,500. It is expected that this exhibition train will give the resources and industries of the West a vast amount of publicity in the East, the plan being to show what the West has to offer.

The governors of the various states participating will be invited to be upon the train during its entire trip as guests of the two associations, and in addition each state will be allowed two representatives, who will go at either their own or the state's expense. Each state will be allowed half a car in which to place state exhibits. Exhibits advertising private interests will be strictly excluded.

A big shipment of imported musical goods just received and put in the Zenith Music company's dissolution sale regardless of price.

SELLS TIMBER HOLDINGS.

Bayfield Lumber Company Sells to Wachsmith Company.

Bayfield, Wis., Oct. 17.—A large timber deal has been concluded here by the Bayfield Lumber company selling its entire timber holdings to the Wachsmith Lumber company. The mill and lands were not included in the sale. Manager William Weber and Dan Cowle, the company's logger, have returned from a trip through the West, but the company is undecided as to whether they will move their mill or not. The Red Cliff Lumber company finished their cut Friday night for the season. Their timber holdings and mill are reported for sale. The Bayfield Box & Lumber company's mill at Roys Point is still in operation with about a month's run to come.

FIFTEENTH DREDGE

For Ditch Work in Roseau County Being Built.

Roseau, Minn., Oct. 17.—Contractor C. B. Sherwood has commenced building the first dredge for the work on the new State Ditch No. 95. He expects to have the machine ready for work in about twenty days and will commence work this fall. In the spring he will put three or possibly four more dredges at work on this immense drainage system. When these machines have been built there will be fifteen dredges at work in this county.

AGRICULTURAL CONFERENCE

Of Northwestern Bankers in Twin Cities This Week.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 17.—The first conference of the committees on agricultural development and education of the state bankers' association of Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Washington and Wisconsin will be held Wednesday morning at the Raddison hotel in Minneapolis, and on Thursday at the St. Paul.

The session at the St. Paul will last a full day because the committee in charge found so many men who wished to speak. The proposed trip to the state agricultural college has been abandoned.

James J. Hill, Governor Eberhart and President Vincent of the university are on the list of speakers. All speakers will be limited to thirty minutes each.

WIRE FENCE MAKERS COMPLAIN OF RATES.

Washington, Oct. 17.—The method of the so-called "Steel trust" in selling steel wire to fence manufacturers is transferring the entire fence-making industry to Pittsburg, according to statements made to the interstate commerce commission by D. B. Hayes, attorney for several Michigan fence companies.

Mr. Hayes declared the concerns he represented, which manufacture the greater part of the wire fence sold in the United States, must have relief from existing freight rates and conditions or go out of business. He charged that the method of the Steel corporation was to base sales of all wire on Pittsburg prices, adding the 15-cent rate from Pittsburg to Adrian, Mich. The manufacturers demand a lower freight rate.

Fruit Shippers Buy Property.

Bayfield, Wis., Oct. 17.—The Bayfield Fruit Shippers association has purchased the residence property of C. G. Bell and will erect thereon a concrete building 36 by 60, two stories and a basement. The site is adjacent to good railroad facilities and will greatly convenience the handling of the fruit business.

N. E. A. Fund O. K.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 17.—Some time ago question was raised as to whether or not the fund of the National Educational association was in proper shape. This fund, amounting to $18,000, is intact, according to a report given out here by J. M. Greenwood of Kansas City, chairman of the board of trustees. The fund is kept in a safety deposit vault in Chicago.

KING BASEBALL MAKING ITS LAST APPEARANCE

Fans Favor the Athletics in the Present Series—High School After Big Game—Gotch as Good as Ever.

(BY BRUCE.)

WITH an even break in the world's series thus far, the majority of fans are inclined to bank on the Athletics for the series. Maybe it is because the American league teams in other post season games have been doing things in general to the teams of the parent organization, with the exception of the outcome of the Cleveland-Cincinnati games, and maybe it is because Marquard has shown a nervousness under fire of the big series.

It looks now as if Mack's pitchers were in top form for the series. Bender pitched a remarkable game in the first series and then Plank comes along and holds the slugging Giants to one small score. With Jack Coombs, Cy Morgan and Eddie Krause in reserve, not to mention the use of Bender and Plank again, the Athletics do look strong in the box.

A great deal depends upon what Mathewson will be able to do the next time he faces the Athletics. "Big Six" may be able to win the series for the Giants, for he is a wonderful twirler, perhaps the very greatest in the world when he is anywhere near his best form. He is a wonder under fire and has the intuitive ability to grasp the weak points of a hitter. He is also at his best in the pinches.

Conjecture costs but little, unless you lay a wager alongside of it. Therefore it might not be surprising to see Wiltse pitch one of the games. There is Crandall, the life saver, and Ames. Generally it has been figured that Mathewson and Marquard would be the pitchers upon whom the burden of the flinging would fall. Those taking the Giant end of the betting have relied upon these two flingers to show strong and baffle the batters of the Athletics.

Mathewson did his part in the first game, while Marquard did not quite come up to expectations. That is the chief reason why the majority of fans outside of New York are leaning toward the Athletic chances this morning.

Let Mathewson come back and win and the pendulum will swing back again and the teams will stand in the minds of thousands of fans, on even footing, despite the fact that the Giants would have a two to one victory in their favor.

NEGOTIATIONS are being carried on at the present time between Professor Phillips of Central high school and two of the strongest of the Minneapolis high school football teams. The object is to have one of these crack teams up here for a game Saturday. In the event of a game being secured with either West high or the North Side high school team, Duluth lovers of football will see one of the best high school games that has been played in this city for a number of years.

Right at the present time the Central team is playing fine football for a high school eleven. Against a team of its own weight and composed of boys of the same age as the players of the hill top team, the Duluth aggregation went out last Saturday and played a fine game. Should a game with one of the crack high schools of the state be secured, lovers of football in this city, lovers of the game as it is played in schools and colleges, will see a contest that should go at least some distance towards compensating for the loss of college games.

FRANK Gotch is still the same bear cat. Apparently the Iowa idol has lost none of the wonderful form he displayed on the afternoon of Sept. 4 at Comiskey's ball park in Chicago. Friday night at Kansas City Gotch threw George Padoubny, a Giant Russian, in very short time. Reports of the match state that Gotch never appeared so fast and strong and never seemed so confident.

When Gotch does retire, and from those who are in the know it does come that Frank is really through this time, right after he completes his tour of the world, where will the world look to find his equal?

It does seem strange that among all the millions who inhabit this sphere there is apparently no man who stands the least chance with a farmer of Iowa, when it comes to the game of grappling. Shrewd men have searched the world over with the idea of getting some man who would be able to pin the shoulders of Gotch to the mat. That man has not as yet been discovered.

Gotch might go on for five or six years. He would probably be physically able. Farmer Burns was good right up to two or three years ago. Some wrestlers say that there are few men today who can place the shoulders of the veteran on the mat. But Gotch has everything that a man can want in this world, and therefore the logic of the situation also points to the retirement of the well-to-do farmer of Humboldt.

THE noblest Roman of them all, Charles A. Comiskey, according to friends in this city, is due for a trip up to these parts sometime the present fall. Should Commy's team win the entire series from the chesty Cubs, and it does not look unlikely at the present time, it will be about the happiest man in the world that the Duluth friends of the venerable leader will see.

Commy has a pet and hobby that is dear to his heart. This hobby is the White Sox. He would sooner win a pennant with the White Sox than attain almost anything else in the world. The Sox didn't win the present season, though they made a better showing than last year, but should they cap a successful season by taking the championship of Chicago from the Cubs, you may be sure that the wreathing smile of Comiskey will be broader and more boyish than ever.

Comiskey stands for popularity in Chicago, and should the Sox win it will mean a big boost for the old Comanche in a city where he is held in high esteem.

BUYING TICKETS FOR THE WORLD'S SERIES IN NEW YORK.

Thousands of baseball fans stood in line since early Thursday morning at the entrance of the St. James building for the purpose of securing seats for the first game at the world's series between the Giants and the Athletics. The line extended through Twenty-sixth street to Sixth avenue and down Sixth avenue. The seats for Saturday were all sold out before 10 o'clock.

ENTHUSIASM IS WANING

Five Boys and Divinity Student Spend Night at Polo Grounds.

Day for Third World's Championship Game Dawns Dark and Cold.

New York, Oct. 17.—Fortune favored the Giants and the Athletics each with a victory, the two contending teams for world's championship honors were due to come together today at the Polo grounds for the third contest of the series.

The weather god was not disposed this morning to favor the "fans" with another perfect day and brought a moist breeze out of the northeast and obscured the sky with sodden clouds.

A dark day made pitchers with the speed and jump the likely selections for slab work today, and Coombs and Lapp for the Athletics, and Mathewson and Meyers for the Giants, were regarded as the probable boxmen.

Betting favored the Giants at 6 to 5, when the first spectators began straggling toward the Polo grounds the new Brush stadium with its seried rows of empty seats loomed through the fog like the cold, gray skeleton of dead triumphs. While there seemed to be no immediate prospect of shivvers, the chances in favor of rain looked about the same as the prevailing odds on the game. A postponement today would be played here tomorrow. The sale of tickets indicated that with favorable weather the attendance would equal Saturday's, which was limited only by the capacity of the grounds.

The gathering outside the bleachers gate before that entrance was opened, showed somewhat less enthusiasm than on the morning of the first game of the series. Only five boys spent the night there and at 8 o'clock this morning there were barely 100 in line. One of those who waited all night was a negro divinity student, who spent the long watch seated on a soapbox under an electric light reading a well-thumbed Bible.

No changes were expected today in the batting order, McInnis' injured hand was still in score to enable him to participate. Merkle's leg has failed to improve as fast as he hoped, but McGraw today showed no intention of sending anybody else to first base.

The batting order, with possible last-minute changes, follows:

MARTIN JOHNSON WILL WRESTLE AT BENEFIT.

A benefit athletic entertainment, under the auspices of the Catholic Order of Foresters, will be held at Owls' hall, next Friday evening. The proceeds of the entertainment will go to a worthy cause, to assist a man who is very ill at the present time. Martin Johnson, the wrestling fireman of this city, will meet Fred Hass of Minneapolis in the main go of the evening. As Hass is considered a very good wrestler, the match is expected to furnish lovers of wrestling with some very good sport.

RAIN STOPS CHICAGO GAME

Sox Were Leading, 3 to 0, When the Contest Was Called.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—With the Chicago American league team leading the Chicago Nationals 3 to 0 in the fourth game of the city championship series yesterday, rain fell in torrents in the last half of the second inning, causing the game to be postponed. Having three victories in a row to their credit, the American leaguers expect to win today, thus ending the series.

Manager Chance started Cheney, a recruit pitcher against Walsh, but after making two wild throws to first in the first inning, Chance sent in Brown. The American leaguers scored three runs in the first when Lord walked, when to third on Cheney's wild throw and scored on McIntyre's single. Cheney threw Bodie's grounder wildly and Callahan followed with a single, scoring Bodie.

The Nationals were unable to get a man on base in the first inning, and the American leaguers went out in order in their second. Schulte, first up for the Nationals in the second, had fanned when rain ended the game.

Before the game Frank Schulte, outfielder, was presented with the National league automobile prize, and the pennant, won by the Cubs when they were declared 1910 champions of the National league, also was hoisted.

It is probable that Walsh will oppose Brown in the box today.

NATIONALS WIN FROM AMERICANS

St. Louis Series Will Be Finished With a Double Header.

St. Louis, Oct. 17.—The National league team won from the American league team yesterday in the game for the city championship by a score of 9 to 5.

Announcement was made that the teams will play a double-header today, winding up the fall championship. The score:

PAL BROWN COMES BACK

Hibbing Fighter Trounces Man Who Beat Him Some Time Ago.

Mill Was One of Roughest Ever Seen at New Orleans.

New Orleans, Oct. 17.—Pal Brown of Hibbing, Minn., gave George Thomas of New Orleans a thorough walloping in a 10-round bout before a large crowd in the New Orleans Athletic club here last night.

The decision was given by the newspaper men at the ringside. They all favored Brown. Harry Stout acted as referee. Brown said after the fight that he would stay here awhile and try to get more scraps, but that if he failed he would return north.

The fight was one of the hardest fought seen here in some time and Brown won through his cautious infighting and ring generalship, which he used to wonderful advantage throughout the whole fight.

The fight started off with Thomas boring into Brown and the little Minnesota man went right back at him with short wallops that straightened Thomas up. In the second round, both fought cautiously, but Brown had the better of the in-fighting. The third was Brown's round easily as he put Thomas on the ropes with a succession of short arm jabs that followed a period of short range fighting, in which Brown came out on top. Brown tried hard to put Thomas out, but lacked steam. The fourth saw them fighting like bull dogs and Thomas regained some of his prestige, keeping Brown away from him by trying to fight at long range, at which he did his best work. In this period, Brown got to Thomas' kidneys once or twice and the local man winced. The fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth rounds were hard fought, with the odds favoring one, then the other fighter, but Brown on account of his in-fighting had the shade all the way and took advantage of every opening to impress on the audience his ability as an in-fighter. The ninth was a hard fought round and Thomas landed a stiff right on the jaw that stopped Brown, but only for a second, as Brown landed a left walloper in the same place that nearly put Thomas out, he going to the ropes and clinching a great deal.

The tenth round was practically Brown's as he tried to force the fighting but Thomas would either try to rough it or clinch or get to the ropes and after time was called and the decision was announced the crowd expressed itself as being well satisfied. Brown was shaded by Thomas once before, by the norrowest margin and Brown said that he hoped the people were satisfied that he fought Thomas as best he could and that he felt sure he could whip or knock him out in a longer fight. Such a fight may be staged.

COBB LEADS THE LEAGUE AT BAT

Jackson Alone Gave the Georgian a Race—Wagner Leads National.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—As expected, Tyrus Cobb—the most valuable player in the American league, as per recent vote—finished the season by leading his organization in batting. His percentage was .417, a most excellent one. His performance of eighty-five stolen bases also indicates his value to the Tigers. Joe Jackson, the young phenom of the Clevelands, stood second in slugging with .405, the only other player in the league who topped .400.

Old Man Crawford of the Detroits managed to sneak in third with .372, a high honor for a veteran of Sam's experience. Although Rowan of St. Louis stood fourth with .370, the honor should go to Lajoie of the Naps with .366, because Larry played in ninety games, whereas his young rival was in only eighteen. Harry Lord, versatile cap of the White Sox, led his bunch with .323, Lange with .320, and McIntyre one point less, were the other Sox who batted above .300.

Chicago Lands Fifth.

Chicago tied for fifth with New York for season's batting with a mark of .270. In fielding the Sox stood second at .958, four points behind the champion Athletics. Some honor came this way, however, as Hovlik, the youthful pitcher, led the league in pitching. He only pitched three games, 'tis true, but there he stands the only twirler with 1.000.

Wagner of Pittsburg is really the National leader in batting with .335. Two men top him, but neither has played in enough games to make his record as good as Wag's. Kirke of Boston is on top with .382, and his teammate, Jackson, second with .335. Freddie Clarke of Pittsburg is fourth with .330 and Miller of Boston fifth, four points less.

Zimmy Leads Schulte.

In club batting New York led with .272. The Cubs were fifth at .259. In fielding the Cubs were seventh with .956.

Two Giant pitchers led the league, Marquard being first and Crandall second. Cole of the Cubs was third.

MATHEWSON THE BEST OF ALL GREAT PITCHERS

New York, Oct. 17.—A man who can go through a season with a big league club and pitch between 30 and 48 games and wind up with a winning mark of .689 is some pitcher. A man who can continue this clip for five years is a sensation. One who can keep up this gait for eleven long seasons is a marvel.

From the time he pitched his first game for New York back on July 17, 1900, to the present, Matty is credited with 288 victories and 130 defeats. His best year was in 1904, when he won 35 of his 43 games for a notch of .814 and won the pennant for the Giants. Matty came back in 1905 and won another flag for Gotham, toppling over the foe in 31 of his 40 starts.

And from then, there has been no one to hold a match alongside of this peerless "Big Six."

In reviewing the remarkable work on the hill of Mathewson in games against the A. L., it is found that only once in eight games has he been beaten.

Mathewson started out by taming the Athletics in 1905 three straight. Nary a run did the big youth allow in the twenty-seven innings. Then in 1909, against the Boston Red Sox, he won his first game, 4 to 2, and lost to Ray Collins, 2 to 0, in the next. Last October came the fall series for the prize of New York. The Yankee rooters were singing the praise of Russ Ford, then the phenom along Broadway.

Mathewson again won three games and gave the Giants the honors. But that isn't all. He started out by whiffing fourteen Yanks, and followed this up with nine strikeout and eight, making twenty-seven in the three games.

Scan down the list of no-hit games and it is found that Matty has pitched two of them. The first was against the Cardinals on July 15, 1901, and the second against the Cubs on June 13, 1905.

Year.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
1900	0	3	.000
1901	20	17	.541
1902	13	18	.419
1903	30	13	.698
1904	35	8	.814
1905	31	9	.775
1906	22	12	.647
1907	24	12	.667
1908	37	11	.771
1909	25	6	.806
1910	27	9	.750
1911	24	12	.667
Totals	288	130	.689

CHICAGO AND ILLINOIS WILL BATTLE SATURDAY

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 17.—"Big eight" football passed out of the preliminary period with Saturday's grist of games and left the stage set for contests of championship importance for the rest of the season. Chicago's 11 to 3 victory over Purdue and Illinois' 9 to 0 score against St. Louis university, closed the early period in both camps and put the next burning conference question up to next Saturday's Chicago-Illinois contest at Marshall field, when one of the 1911 contenders must drop out of the race.

All gridiron signs point to a whirlwind game between the Maroons and Illinois. The fact that Illinois defeated the Midway eelven last year and has the shade in veteran material and individual masters gives the downstaters the call, but Chicago's fast games against Indiana and Purdue assure the Urbana team of worthy opposition. That this week's practice will tell the tale is the work from the two camps.

Penn State Turned Trick.

Penn State's 5 to 0 score against Cornell in the East was the only jolt in either section. Veiled tactics were the rule in all of the leading games, although an increased use of the forward pass opened up the play and gave the battles more of a strategic appearance than the earlier mixups.

Illinois did not display its full strength against St. Louis as is shown by the fact that Capt. Roberts, Springe and Merriman were not in the game. The new plays were kept strictly under cover, and the rooters are still in the dark as to the nature of the inventions intended for Chicago. The same uncertainty prevails in the Maroon headquarters.

The Maroons showed expertness in the use of simple forward passes in the Marshall field game, and, apparently will be able to get away with the passes against Illinois with another six days of training. Illinois undoubtedly will have a strong defense for the passes, however, and Chicago cannot hope to count on the feature too heavily.

Purdue Out of It.

The elimination of Purdue puts the Boilermakers in Indiana's class as championship outsiders and leaves Wisconsin, Minnesota, Northwestern and Iowa with Chicago and Illinois as unbeaten teams. Northwestern's 10 to 0 score against Illinois Wesleyan, Wisconsin's 24 to 0 total against Ripon and Iowa's 11 to 5 victory over Morningside were the leading "big eight" events. Michigan's 15 to 3 score against the Michigan aggies showed the Wolverines in top notch exhibition.

Today's practice at Marshall field will mark an important change in the Maroon training. Coach Stagg specialized largely with simple plays last week to prepare the team for Purdue, but the latest thrillers will be on the bill from now on. The repertory for next Saturday will be tricky, and rehearsals of strictly new complications will be ordered every day.

Coach Stagg was displeased with the Maroons' tackling and blocking in the Purdue game and will spend a part of today's session on primer football as a result. He also intends to experiment with the ends in the hope of getting more speed.

NORTHERNS WIN FAST HOCKEY GAME

In the right regularly scheduled game of the roller hockey season, played last evening before a big crowd at the Auditorium rink, the Northerns defeated the Big Duluths by the score of 4 to 2. The game was fast and interesting, full of action and brought out some of the best playing of any of the games that have been staged at the big rink since roller hockey was inaugurated in this city.

At the end of the first half the score was 1 to 0 in favor of the Northerns. For the major portion of this period the ball was kept in the neighborhood of the Big Duluths' goal. After Olund had made a clever stop he quite by accident swung the ball into the goal.

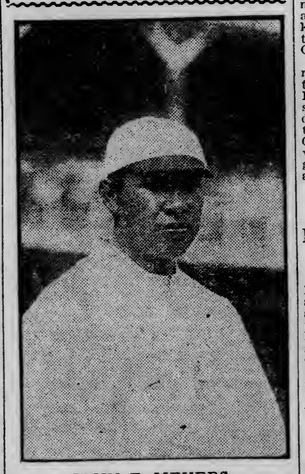

Trathern made two of the goals for the winning team, while Staunton made one and LeFleur the other. McGinnis and Thamann scored the two goals for the losing team.

Roller hockey has apparently caught on in Duluth. Though the game has not been played very long here, it is proving a big attraction and some fast players are being developed. There was not a dull moment in the game last evening and at times the play was so exciting that spectators stood up and cheered on the flying skaters.

The lineup:

Northerns—	Big Duluths—
Nelson	goal	Olund
Staunton	point	Erickson
LeFleur	center	McGinnis
Trathern	right wing	Dennis

NEW YORK'S GREAT INDIAN CATCHER

JOHN T. MEYERS.

John T. Meyers, whose Indian name is Tartes, was born in Riverside, Cal., and is a full-blooded Mission Indian. His grandfather was an Indian chief. Meyers has been playing ball for ten years and is now 28 years old. McGraw secured him from St. Paul for $6,500. He had a bad start as a catcher, but by hard work has developed into one of the best in the business. He is a wonderful hitter and is up near the top of the National league batters.

DATE OF MATCH IS DECIDED

Final arrangements were completed last evening for the holding of the Pilakoff-Ordemann finish match at the big Auditorium rink. The date originally set for the match, Oct. 26, comes on the evening that one of the roller hockey games is scheduled. The officers of the league last evening kindly decided to put the game over until the following evening, thus allowing the big match to be held on the date at first decided upon.

Ropes will be placed around the ring to prevent the men falling from the stage, as was the case in the Pilakoff-Rogers match. Ordemann hasn't the reputation of being the gentlest wrestler in the world, and ropes around the elevated ring will be used as a matter of caution.

During the time between the match with Ordemann, Pilakoff will work with some husky wrestler that his manager is after at the present time. Pilakoff realizes that he is going to be up against the toughest native American wrestler in the United States. He has been made to realize that he will meet a man weighing almost as much as himself and a wrestler who has a knowledge of wrestling gained under the master of them all, Frank A. Gotch.

Not for the past two years has a match attracted the general interest that the coming contest is arousing. It will be a test of the marvelous strength of a giant of wonderful endurance against the science of one of the greatest of American wrestlers. Ordemann is well known here and when he enters the ring he will be greeted with almost as many friends as the giant Finn.

ORDEMANN IS READY.

Minneapolis Wrestler Going After Scalp of Kid Cutler.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 17.—After a long rest and endeavor to build up his strength and health, Henry Ordemann announces himself as back in condition again and will endeavor to rehabilitate himself in the wrestling game by meeting Cutler, the man who downed him with such ease last spring. He feels that he must give Cutler a decisive beating to start again and the pair have been matched for the Auditorium on the night of Nov. 9.

Maroons Claim Tie.

The manager of the Maroons claims that his team tied the Lincolns last Sunday, instead of being defeated. His claim is that the ball went over the line on the bounce and was therefore a touchback. The Lincolns claim this as a touchdown.

Virginia Wins Game.

The Maroons of Superior were beaten by the city football team of Virginia Sunday by the score of 16 to 0. Five of the Virginia points came in the second quarter and the remainder in the third quarter. The contest was fast and well played.

Swenson Elected Treasurer.

H. R. Swenson was elected treasurer of the Jefferson Athletic club af a meeting held last evening. The first annual banquet of the club will be given within the near future. The Jeffersons will meet the Virginia city football team next Sunday at Virginia.

STRONG AT THE FINISH

Bulls Send Wheat Soaring During Last Hour of Session.

Big Slump in Flax—Fine Weather and Large Receipts Pull It Down.

Duluth Board of Trade, Oct. 17.—Wheat took a sudden spurt on most of the American markets during the last hour of the session today. What started out to be a bearish day ended in a signal triumph for the bulls. Duluth December, which closed yesterday at $1.09¾ and went as low as $1.08⅝ today, made a close at $1.09¾. Flax was pulled down by fine weather and large receipts. October closed at $2.38, 6 cents off; November at $2.35½, three and a half cents down and December at $2.31, four cents down. Oats closed an eighth of a cent off. Durum, rye and barley closed unchanged.

The wheat market up to noon today fluctuated a little below the close of yesterday most of the time. The openings were for the most part below the closing figures of yesterday. There was some declining tendency at the outset, but the bears seemed to lose their grip during the latter part of the morning, and the losses were in most cases partly or altogether made up.

The news from Liverpool was bearish. There wheat closed ½@⅝d lower. The Liverpool wheat market was pulled down mainly by news of more promising weather for wheat in Argentina. While that country has been much in need of rain for the seed that has just been put in, word was received today of very cloudy and threatening weather, promising the showers that are needed to get a good crop started. An increase in the European visible supply also tended to bear the Liverpool market.

Both December and May wheat made bearish openings at Chicago, Minneapolis, Duluth and Winnipeg. Duluth December opened at the same figure as the close of yesterday, but the close was the quotation of an actual sale, and the opening was merely the asking price. The contest between the bulls and the bears was a doubtful one all through the morning. During the earlier part, the bears had the advantage. Before the first hour was over, Duluth December, which opened at $1.09¾, asked, was selling at $1.08⅞, but by noon all that had been lost was regained, and the grain was bringing the closing price of yesterday, $1.09¾. It seems, was due to bullish December wheat news from Chicago. It certainly was not caused by bad weather in the Northwest or in Western Canada, for those were far from being the real conditions. At the same time, December wheat was still bearish in tone on the Minneapolis and Winnipeg markets.

The movements of the market in flax were more decisive. Up to noon the bears clearly had the bulls on the run. Early in the day, a report came from Argentina, which is now a great flax-producing country, that the weather there was fine for a big crop of flax. Today's weather in the American Northwest was also splendid today for harvesting and thrashing operations, nor was the weather of Western Canada bad for the flax farmer. Yesterday there was a considerable amount of precipitation through the American Northwest, but this was not so bad in North Dakota, the great flax state, as it was elsewhere, and the Duluth flax brokers do not look to see the flax receipts at this market off a great deal as a result of these showers. The recent warm, dry spell is certainly having an effect on the Duluth receipts now. The number of inspected cars on the track today was 80 against 35 a year ago. "That is more like it," remarked one broker, when his attention was called to this number. The arrivals of cars, however, will have to keep on exceeding those of last year by a large margin if the receipts of this fall are to aggregate those of last, for last fall's receipts up to the present date are still far ahead of this fall's. Duluth October flax, which closed yesterday at $2.43, opened today at the same figure asked, but by noon had lost 5 cents.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—With the visible supply in Europe showing a liberal increase, and with crop reports from there all favorable, the wheat market today developed an easy tone. Besides the outlook was for rain in the Argentine, where it has been asserted that dryness was threatening to become injurious to plant growth. The weather in the Northwest was also reported as favorable for thrashing and for prompt movement of the crop. The fact that shorts had covered freely had an effect, too, in bringing out sentiment adverse to the bulls. Opening prices were the same as last night to ¼c down. December started at 99⅛c to 99¼c, and seemed inclined to hold within that range.

A huge gain in the world's available stock led to further weakness. Sales of soft winter wheat to millers here caused a rally, however, and the close was strong with December ⅞c net higher at $1.00¾.

Corn was hammered a little on account of the clearing colder weather. Buying though on the part of leading houses checked the tendency to raid. December opened a shade to ⅛@¼ off at 64½c to 64⅝c, rallied later to 64¾@64½c.

Subsequently the market became firm owing to scarcity of old corn in the arrivals. The close was ⅛c net higher for December, a net advance of ⅛c.

Oats sagged with other grain and because of the slowness of demand. December started a sixteenth cheaper at 47½c and descended to 47⅜c.

Provisions gave way in consequence of hog prices having a downward slant. Initial sales were 12½c lower to 2½c advance, with January deliveries, $15.22½ for pork, $8.85 for lard, and $7.97½ for ribs.

Wheat Gets Fair Rally on Support and Covering By Shorts.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 17.—Moderate support and shorts covering during the late session, caused a fair rally in wheat. Early the market was narrow and a trifle easier. Sunshine over Northwest and forecast fair for tonight and tomorrow. December closed ⅜c higher than yesterday, and May ½c higher. Local elevator stocks of wheat increased 450,000 bu in three days. Carlot wheat receipts with comparisons follow: Minneapolis, today, 220; week ago, 393; year ago, 501. Duluth, today, 508; week ago, 385; year ago, 279; Winnipeg, today, 674; week ago, 729; year ago, 679.

December opened $1.09¼ to 1.09¾; high, $1.10; low, $1.09; closed $1.09⅝. May opened $1.13⅜; high, $1.13⅞; low, $1.13@1.13¼; closed $1.13⅜@1.13¾.

Cash wheat continued in strong demand and steady. Millers and elevators both active buyers. No. 1 northern sold for ½@1c above the December contract. Closing cash prices: No. 1 hard, $1.11⅜; No. 1 northern, $1.10⅜@1.10¾; to arrive, $1.10; No. 2 northern, $1.06⅜@1.07¾; to arrive, $1.06⅞@1.07⅞; No. 3 wheat, $1.03⅜@1.04⅞; No. 3 yellow corn, 73c; No. 3 white oats, 45¾@46½c; No. 2 rye, 93c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 2,875 tons. Demand strong and market firm. Bran in 100 pound sacks, $21.50@22.00.

Flour—The market was firm and active. Mills booked fair sales and prices were unchanged. Shipments, 78,410 bbls. First patents in wood, f. o. b. Minneapolis, $5.40@5.70; second patents, $5.00@5.30; first clears, $3.90@4.25; second clears, $2.80@3.20.

New York Money.

New York, Oct. 17.—Money on call steady, 2¼@2½ per cent; ruling rate, 2¾; closing bid 2½; offered at 2¾. Time loans steady: 60 days 3¼@3½ per cent and 90 days 3½@3¾; six months, 3¾@4.

Close: Prime mercantile paper, 4¾ per cent; sterling exchange steady with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8360 for 60 day bills, and at 4.8660 @4.8665 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.82⅞. Bar silver, 52⅞; Mexican dollars, 45; government bonds steady; railroad bonds, irregular.

Cotton Market.

New York, Oct. 17.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 5@15 points with the near months relatively firmer in response to unexpectedly high Liverpool cables and covering by shorts. Private advices attributed the advance in the English market to fears of frost in the western belt but early reports from Texas and Oklahoma received here showed no killing temperatures, the rains in the eastern belt were accompanied by warm weather, and offerings were heavy at the initial advance. The south was a big seller with the result that prices soon eased off to within a point or two of yesterday's figures and the market was nervous and unsettled later in the morning.

Spot closed quiet, 15 points lower; middlings uplands, 9.35; middlings gulf, 9.60.

Futures closed barely setady. Closing bids: October, 8.96; November, 9.00; December, 9.17; January, 9.04; February, 9.09; March, 9.17; April, 9.23; May, 9.30; June, 9.35; July, 9.36; August 9.32; September, 9.31.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

After Decline Early, Market Becomes Firm and Prices Rise.

United States Steel and Reading Higher Than Monday's Close.

New York, Oct. 17.—Large blocks of stocks were thrown on the market at the opening today and prices pielded in every direction. The selling was heaviest in United States Steel, the first transaction in which was 4,500 shares at 59⅛ to 59, a maximum of ⅜. Union Pacific opened off a point on a sale of 1,500 shares, and Canadian Pacific lost the same amount. St. Paul and Northern Pacific dropped ¾ and most of the other active shares nearly as much. Lehigh Valley, the only exception, rose ⅜ at the opening, but in the first few minutes lost most of its advantage.

Announcement of a reduction in the price of tin plate to the lowest figdres since 1905, accelerated the decline in United States Steel and it yielded 1⅜ to 58¼. Active selling was also conducted in other parts of the list, with an abrupt fall of 1½ in St. Paul attracting considerable attention. Westinghouse Electric sold 2 points below yesterday's closing, and Reading, Atlantic Coast Line, American Smelting, Amalgamated Copper and American Locomotive 1.

The attitude of officials of the department of justice toward the American Tobacco company's plan of reorganization, and revival of reports that action was soon to be taken by the government against the United States Steel corporation, combined to depress prices materially in the morning session of the stock market. United States Steel was the weakest of the prominent issues, much of the selling being attributed to European sources. Both issues of American Tobacco bonds and the preferred stock were heavy and on the "Curb" the common stock declined 9 points.

Denials from Washington that any immediate action was to be brought against United States Steel, helped that stock to rally a point from the lowest. Similar recoveries were made in some other active issues.

Union Pacific fell below yesterday's low price and Reading was under some pressure. The trend of prices was upward in the second hour but the recovery consisted of only moderate fractions and the buying decreased steadily. Bonds were easier.

The upward movement attained greater momentum in the latter part of the afternoon and Union Pacific, United States Steel and Reading rose to a level slightly above yesterday's close.

The market closed strong. Trivial fluctuations were the rule in the closing hour but the market maintained a decided undercurrent of firmness.

London Stocks.

London, Oct. 17.—American securities opened quiet and about unchanged today. During the first hour prices moved irregularly, and at noon ranged from ½ above to ½ below parity.

LITTLE CHANGES IN THE COPPERS

There was little trading on the copper share market today and fluctuations were small. Those who had the shares were not willing to let them go, in many cases, for the prevailing prices, and those who had money to invest seemed disclined to bid the shares up. The closing prices did not vary greatly from those of yesterday.

MARINE NEWS

NEARLY 1,000 TONS AN HOUR

New Hoisting Apparatus at Pittsburg Dock Does Rapid Work.

Two 10,000 Ton Boats Are Unloaded in Twenty-One Hours.

P. S. Elwell of Minneapolis, manager, and E. J. Taylor of Pittsburg, chief engineer of the Pittsburg Coal company after a conference with officials of the Brown Hoisting Machinery company of Cleveland, Ohio, including Melvin Patterson, general manager of sales, and F. D. Beale, general superintendent, have formally taken over the especially designed coal unloading rigs which have, for the past few months, been in operation at Pittsburg dock, No. 7.

The final test before the acceptance of the machinery was made, was held Saturday. Dock No. 7, the largest of the Pittsburg docks at the Head of the Lakes has an annual handling capacity of 2,000,000 tons and a storage capacity of 1,000,000 tons. Three of the Brown hoist rigs are installed on the dock and owing to their unusual capacity, they are able to accommodate practically the same tonnage that four rigs of any other type could handle.

Each of the three rigs for unloading coal from the boats carries clams which take up from five and one-half to six tons while digging in free coal, and an average of 4 8-10 tons per bucket for the entire cargo, including the cleanings. The hoist is so constructed that its entire weight rests upon two cutting edges.

Three-Day Test.

The acceptance test of the three rigs began Saturday morning at 7 o'clock and continued through the day to 5:30 o'clock in the evening, the noon hour being excepted. It began again Sunday morning at 8 o'clock and the first cargo unloaded at 9:25 a. m. Work on the second cargo was started at 10:05 a. m. and continued through the day to 5:30 o'clock, the noon hour being taken out. Work was resumed yesterday morning at 7:05 a. m. and the second cargo was unloaded at 10:54 a. m., making a total of twenty-one hours and ten minutes gross working time for two 10,000 boats.

The average working capacity of the three rigs on the cargo of the last boat was 293 3-10 tons per rig or 880 tons per hour for the three rigs. No. 3 rig, the operator of which was more expert than the others, had an average of 329 tons per hour on the second cargo. This included the cleaning up.

The Brown hoist apparatus will cost the Pittsburg Coal company several hundred thousand dollars, but with its advantages over some of the other styles, officials of the company believe that the investment is a good one. During the past summer more than 700,000 tons of coal have been unloaded from the Pittsburg dock by the new machinery. There are about 700,000 tons in storage on the dock at the present time.

One of the features which commend the new apparatus, is that the rigging carries a man with it. The operator, however, does not descend into the hold of the boat with the bucket, but he operates from the crane. He can direct the bucket to any part of the hold to get his load and can have the clam drop to coal wherever it is wanted. The clams are larger than those used on any other dock at the Head of the Lakes.

LITTLE DEMAND FOR WHEAT

Many Vessels Available for Charters at the Present Rate.

With little demand for spring wheat in the Eastern markets, the movement at the Head of the Lakes, as far as grain is concerned, still continues quiet. It is said that there are any number of vesselmen, who would be glad to take cargoes at 1½ cents or even less.

The W. D. Rees and the George C. Howe cleared today for Buffalo with grain. It has been learned that the steamer Senator, which has been lying in the local harbor all season, is now being fitted out. She was chartered last week to load grain at Fort William this week at 1½ cents. Her owners, it is said, have seen nothing heretofore to warrant putting her into commission, but last week, when the vessel rate advanced to 1½ cents, they took a chance that the rate will hold up, so that the boat can make a small profit the remainder of the season.

The situation at Fort William is not encouraging. It is said that there are twenty-one American boats with coal, which will be delayed there fourteen days before they can unload. Some of the vessels, it is said are operating under demurrage charters. The congestion there still grows more serious and the early arrival of freight cars is the only hope of relieving the condition. Five American boats cleared Fort William with grain Monday.

PROPER SIGNALS WERE NOT GIVEN

Vesselmen Blame Contracting Company for Grounding of the Ericsson.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Had the proper lights been displayed, proper signals blown and a lookout been stationed in a proper place, the Steamer Ericsson, which went aground Sunday night, would not have had any difficulty. This is the claim of the captain of the Ericsson and the contention of five other masters, who blame the Standard Contracting company for the predicament the Ericsson was in.

The Standard company has been engaged in work at the encampment with a dredge and one was on the range last, it is claimed, when the Ericsson went on.

After the mixup the Standard company's men, it is said blew the proper signals and displayed the regular lights as warning to the other crafts.

PILOT HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR WRECK OF THE HERO.

Ogdensburg, Oct. 17.—Onesime Hamelin, pilot of the tug Chieftain, which sank in the Saint Lawrence river with the loss of four lives after a collision with the steamer Hero, is held responsible for the collision by the Dominion wreck commissioners. Hamelin, the commission finds, steered the vessel to port, while the lights were green to green, which is a transgression of the rules of the road.

As Hamelin had no pilot's license, he cannot be punished except in the civil courts.

MARINETTE DOCKS WILL BE OWNED BY THE CITY.

Marinette, Wis., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city has ratified a bond issue for the purpose of acquiring a mill property on the Menominee river which it intends to sell for factory sites. The property has a frontage of several hundred feet along the river which it is proposed to use as a municipal wharf. Docks and warehouses will be erected. The plan which will go before the city council in the near future calls for not only municipal ownership, but also municipal management.

MAY TEAR DOWN DRAW BRIDGE AS A MENACE.

Motor boat owners have started an agitation to have the old drawbridge standing in the middle of the St. Louis river, near New Duluth, removed. Not only is it unsightly, but it is also considered a menace to navigation. The bridge is located a short distance above the drawbridge of the Minnesota Steel company and a little below New Duluth. It was constructed twenty years ago by the Duluth & Winnipeg railroad and abandoned five years later.

STEAMER BUNSEN IS REPORTED ASHORE.

Port Huron, Mich., Oct. 17.—A report has reached here from Pointe Aux Barques that the big steamer Robert Bunsen is ashore there. The wrecker Favorite has left Port Huron for the scene

Boats in Collision.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 17.—The steamer Wilkes-Barre of the Lehigh Valley Transportation company's fleet arrived in port yesterday morning with a slight list to starboard as the result of a collision with the lightship Kewaunee, stationed above the sunken steamer Joliet in the Saint Clair river, opposite Port Huron, on Saturday morning. The lightship was considerably damaged, but it is likely she can be kept in place. The Wilkes-Barre was only slightly damaged, but a thorough inspection of her hull will be made before she leaves port.

Engineer's Funeral Held.

Funeral services were held this morning for Arthur Bushman, aged 52, 801 East Third street, marine engineer on the steamer H. W. Oliver, who died Sunday morning at his home after a brief illness. The funeral took place from the St. Jean Baptiste church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street to Calvary cemetery. He is survived by a wife and two daughters.

Repairs to Crescent.

The Crescent, Stone-Ordean-Wells supply boat, is laid up for repairs at the Grignon shipyards, at the foot of Eleventh avenue west. The Crescent has a broken shaft. She was formerly a ferry boat.

Find Body in Canal.

Tonawanda, N. Y., Oct. 17.—Barge canal workmen yesterday morning recovered the body of a man who appeared to be a laborer, floating in the Erie canal near the bridge at Wandelville, three miles east of this city.

IN MARINE CIRCLES

The government dredge Maumee, which was sunk at the Cleveland breakwater and was raised, again went to the bottom. She is in twenty feet of water in the west basin, where she was taken to be repaired.

The oil-burning vessel Toller, which is now in Montreal, will probably ply along the St. Lawrence river this fall, although an attempt is now being made to take her to Lake Erie.

Lake shipbuilders have been asked to bid on a Welland canal size steamer to be delivered next spring. The George Hall Coal company of Ogdensburg, N. Y., intends building the boat, which will be 260 feet long and will carry about 2,500 tons. She will be used in the coal trade.

Bids for the passenger steamer to be operated by the Graham & Morton Transportation company of Chicago will be opened the latter part of the month. The new boat will have 200 staterooms.

The new concrete marine leg for the Washburn-Crosby elevator mill at the Frontier elevator at Buffalo is rapidly nearing completion. It will probably be finished today. It is expected that it will elevate 200,000 bushels an hour.

The steamer Alaska, formerly a package freighter operated by the Anchor line, but which recently changed hands and was converted into a lumber hooker, arrived in port yesterday afternoon on her first trip to the Head of the Lakes for lumber.

The steamer Liberty has been released from the dry dock at Sturgeon Bay and has been resumed her regular run between Van Harbor and Escanaba.

Detroit has started a fight for more free and adequate dock and railroad terminal facilities. A committee of aldermen who attended the meeting of the American League of Municipalities at Atlanta, Ga., gleaned a number of pointers in the matter, and will map out a program for the council to follow.

We can't divide the stock, we must turn it into money at any sacrifice. This is your opportunity to save money at the great dissolution partnership sale of the Zenith Music House.

Many Nervous Wrecks Result of Sore Feet

Don't permit sore feet to continue; the constant nagging irritation works havoc on the nervous system and frequently brings on serious nervous disorders; besides this there is the torture which everyone knows so well. Don't suffer an hour. Here is a treatment that is the best known to science and is said to be a positive and quick cure for all foot ailments. "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of hot water. Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes gently massaging the sore parts." Results come as if by magic. All soreness goes instantly and the feet feel simply delightful. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off. It gives immediate relief for inflamed bunions, aching feet, sweaty feet, ingrown nails, chilblains and frostbites. Calocide works through the pores and removes the cause of the trouble. A twenty-five cent box usually is enough to cure the worst feet. Any druggist has it in stock or if not he can get it in a few hours from his wholesale house. Don't waste time and money on uncertain remedies which are sometimes recommended by dealers because they yield more profit. Calocide compound is not a patent medicine but an ethical preparation.

How Long Are You Going to Continue Coughing and Weakening Your System?

No Need of It, When You Can Make a Pint of Laxative Curative Cough Syrup Cheaply.

The only way to cure a chronic or acute cold on the lungs, sore throat, bronchitis, etc., is to get a medicine which will at once relieve the fever and congestion responsible for the cough (which is only a symptom of inflammation) and then proceed to restore the blood and membrances to a healthy state. A fine laxative, curative cough syrup, which will delight any one who tries it, can be made at home cheaply. It beats ordinary cough syrups a hundred to one, because it does not sicken or constipate.

Obtain of your druggist, or have him order from the wholesaler, 2½ ounces essence Mentholaxene. Empty it into a pint bottle. Then make a syrup with a pint of granulated sugar, and a half pint of boiling water, put on fire and let it come to a boil. Then cool and fill up pint bottle and you will agree with the writer that it makes the finest, quickest, active cough syrup you have ever tried. And it not only relieves, but cures.

The dose is a teaspoonful 8 to 10 times daily, or, as required. Give children less according to age.

HOW THIN FOLKS CAN GET FLESHY

New Accidental Discovery Gives Startling Results—Puts Flesh on Thin People and Rounds Out Imperfect Figures.

Simple Prescription Given.

For women—and men, too, for that matter—who can never appear stylish with anything they wear, because of abnormal thinness and angularity, this remarkable prescription is destined to solve the problem. As a beauty maker for the figure it is simply wonderful while it adds brightness to the eyes, and color to the cheeks and lips. It requires no particular dieting, but acts as an aid to nature by its peculiar action on the nerves and blood supply. The blood and nerves distribute over the body all the nourishment or flesh building elements obtained from the food. The trouble with thin people has always been that they do not absorb or retain enough of the fleshy matter to make them gain in weight even to a normal extent; but this new discovery of blending certain harmless drugs is a revelation to science, and hundreds have gained from ten to forty pounds in a few weeks. There is no danger of becoming too fat. When you get the right weight then stop using.

The general health and strength is greatly improved in anyone from the age of sixteen to sixty. Women soon get plump, with well rounded arms and full bust, and men become straight, strong-looking and healthy.

In a half pint bottle get three ounces of essence of pepsin and three ounces syrup rhubarb. Then add one ounce compound essense cardiol, shake and let stand two hours. Then add one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardemom). Take a teaspoonful before and after meals, and weigh before beginning.

WILL BE CANDIDATE FOR COUNCIL SEAT

MAX ORECKOVSKY.

Max Oreckovsky is a receptive candidate for the Republican nomination for alderman of the Fourth ward. He has been a resident of the ward for many years and his friends believe that he would be able to make a strong race for aldermanic honors.

Mr. Oreckovsky lives at 11 East Third street and is engaged in business with his father at 627 West Superior street. The present incumbent is Alderman H. P. Curren, Democrat, whose term expires next spring. Alderman Curren is being strongly urged to again become a candidate and the probabilities are that he will be entered in the primaries Dec. 19.

MINNESOTA PIONEER DIES

P. J. Nacey, 67 years of age, a pioneer resident of Minnesota, having resided in the state sixty years, died at 10 o'clock this morning at his home, 2125 Oakes avenue, Superior.

He was a pioneer settler of Big Stone county, residing at Graceville, Minn. He came to Duluth about nineteen years ago, and resided in this city until about five years ago, when he removed to Superior. Besides his wife he is survived by seven sons and three daughters. They are: H. J., William, Edward, and Agnes of Superior; John Nacey of Hibon, Wis.; Charles Nacey of Lake Linden, Mich.; P. F. Nacey and Mrs. P. Walsh of Duluth, Joseph Nacey and Mrs. T. O'Flaherty of Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Nacey was well known in this city and had a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of $897.59, which is claimed to be due, and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Jacob Palki, dated the 13th day of July, A. D. 1911, and with the power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of St. Louis, and State of Minnesota, on the 14th day of July, A. D. 1911, at 4:30 o'clock P. M. in book 201 of mortgages, page 142, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the Statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lot twenty-three (23), Block thirty-five (35) of Second Addition to Eveleth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, according to the recorded plat thereof, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, except minerals, which said sale will be made by the sheriff of St. Louis County in the sheriff's office in the Court House in the City of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 2nd day of December, 1911, at ten o'clock A. M. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of $897.59, and interest and taxes, if any, on said premises, and $50.00 attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

A GOOD INVESTMENT

1526, 1526½, 1528 East Third Street, being three houses with brick basement and having every convenience, on a lot 50x140 feet.

These houses are in good condition and have a rental value of $102.50 per month; are located in the best of neighborhoods and have always had good tenants.

This is a good investment as it pays a high rate of interest on the purchase price and requires but a moderate amount of cash to handle it.

It is a particularly good investment for a party looking for a comfortable home in a good neighborhood, as he can rent the other two houses for enough money to pay on the whole investment a higher rate of interest than the ordinary investment pays, besides getting his rent for nothing.

These houses are owned by a non-resident and as it is all the Duluth property he owns, wishes to close it out, which accounts for the cheapness of the price, which is $7,500.00.

SHIELDS IS SWORN BEFORE COMMITTEE IN LORIMER INQUIRY

Superior Man Appears as Witness in Chicago Hearing.

State Representative Wilson Then Resumes Testimony.

Says Lee O'Neil Browne Ordered Him to Vote for Lorimer.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—State Representative Robert E. Wilson of Chicago was recalled to the witness stand today by the committee of United States senators conducting the Lorimer investigation, but before any questions were asked of Wilson, Robert J. Shields of Superior, Wis., was taken before the committee and sworn. Wilson then resumed his direct testimony, where he left off yesterday.

Members of the committee indicated a purpose to learn more of Wilson's trip through Illinois in the spring of 1910, when it is charged he visited a number of legislators to warn them not to talk of Charles A. White's exposure of alleged corruption in the election of Mr. Lorimer to the senate.

Counsel for the committee at the opening of the day's hearing exhibited a list of long distance telephone calls and telegraph messages which it was said were charged to Wilson just previous to his trip to various sections of the state.

Told How to Vote.

"Were you directed by your leader to vote for Senator Lorimer?" asked Senator Kern.

"Yes, I was," replied Wilson.

"Who was the leader?"

"Lee O'Neill Browne."

"When did he give you that word?"

"I don't remember the exact date."

"Now, as a matter of fact, isn't it true that you discussed the proposed election of Senator Lorimer many times before the vote was taken?" asked Senator Jones.

"No, I don't think so. Mr. Browne, as I remember, spoke but once to me about it. He knew that personally I favored Mr. Lorimer."

"Who was your closest friend in the

ADMIT TEACHERS TO ANY STATE

Plan Will Be Discussed at Meeting in Topeka, Kan.

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 18.—Adoption of a plan of certifying teachers whereby they may teach in any state, was the principal task outlined for the Annual Conference of State Superintendents of Public Instruction, which convened here today for a three days' session. Twenty-seven states were represented.

For years educators have been working for a uniform certificate for teachers good in any state of the Union. The bureau of education of the department of the interior has made an investigation regarding the common recognition of certificates and will report its findings at the conference.

ILLINOIS UNIONS NOT IN POLITICS

Proposal to Form State Labor Party Is Rejected.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 18.—The proposition to form a state labor party in Illinois has been defeated by a decisive vote of 2,145 to 1,795. The result of the referendum vote was announced at the annual convention of the Illinois State Federation of Labor, which opened here yesterday.

A commission was appointed to draft resolutions protesting against the alleged kidnaping of the McNamara brothers, charged with dynamiting the Los Angeles Times building.

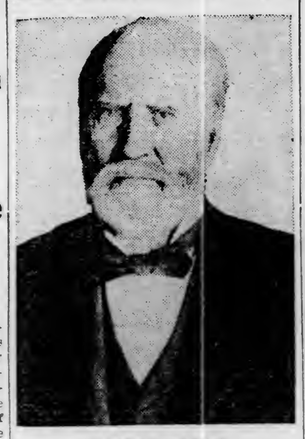

TRY TO MURDER PRIEST IN OHIO

Father Victor Sovilla of Columbus Attacked in His Home.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 18.—Under the pretext of obtaining information concerning a marriage ceremony, three men late last night gained access to the home of Rev. Father Victor Sovilla and stabbed the priest while he was looking over a batch of papers they had handed him. It is believed Father Sovilla will recover. The men dashed from the room and escaped.

Father Sovilla fell forward on his desk when he was assaulted, but later attempted to follow his assailants. No motive has been assigned for the stabbing.

CABINET MEMBER ANSWERS OPPONENTS

JAMES WILSON,
Secretary of Agriculture.

SAYS CRITICS "MEAN WELL"

Secretary Wilson Talks of Opposition to His Conduct.

Braves Wrath of Prohibition Workers and Visits the Brewers.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, on his arrival here to address the International Brewers' congress, expressed himself in regard to the criticism directed against him because he planned to participate in the affair.

"They are honest, conscientious, well-meaning people, probably with the best motives, but the great American government cannot be run upon the theories that they hold," said Mr. Wilson, referring to the protests that had been made by scores of prohibition societies and church organizations.

"I do not want to talk about the campaign that has been waged against me since the announcement that I was going to speak before the brewers. I do not want to be in the light of criticizing them. I am simply going ahead and doing what I think is right.

"Points of View Differ."

"The majority of the people who have attacked me are church people. I consider that I am a good churchman, myself. Our points of view differ; that is all."

Secretary Wilson seemed more in-

DRAWN FIGHT NEAR HANKOW

Chinese Rebels Beat Back Equal Force of Loyal Troops.

Feeling Against United States Reported in the Empire.

Hankow, Oct. 18.—The first battle since the arrival of the imperial troops from the north was fought today on the north bank of the Han river, just west of this city.

It was indecisive, however, although the revolutionists temporarily drove the imperial troops back from their position. But in doing so they exhausted their rifle ammaunition and were forced to retire.

The revolutionists, with infantry and artillery, attacked the government troops, which were reinforced from the Chinese warships in the river and supported by the guns of the fleet.

While the fighting was in progress the thirteen foreign vessels in the river landed a joint force under command of Vice Admiral Sir Alfred L. Winsloe, commander of the British eastern fleet, who, because of his seniority, has been given the direction of the men protecting foreigners.

The Red Cross neutral camp, in charge of Dr. MacWillie, of the American mission, received and cared for the rebel wounded.

About 2,000 revolutionists were pitted against an equal number of loyal soldiers, and it was a fair fight.

Renew Battle Soon.

This evening the imperial troops are waiting reinforcements while the revolutionists are replenishing their supplies. A renewal of hostilities may take place soon, as it appears to be the plan of the rebel leaders to force the fighting before the imperial troops have been further strengthened.

The latter had intended to delay an attack upon Wu Chang until their numbers were sufficient to make a victory probable, and it had been rumored

ARMY CAPTAIN IS FOUND DEAD

Officer at Service School Is Thought to Be Suicide.

Leavenworth, Kans, Oct. 18.—Capt. Winfred B. Carr of the army service schools at Fort Leavenworth, was found shot dead this morning, a maid who entered his quarters to clean house, found the body. It is believed the officer shot himself late last night or early this morning.

STRIKE-BREAKER IS BEATEN UP

Lured to Chicago Resort and Slugged and Robbed.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—George Growther, 27, a non-union boiler maker, who says he came to Chicago from New York a week ago to work in the Burnside shops of the Illinois Central railroad during the present strike, was lured to a resort on the South Side today and assaulted by four men and robbed of $42. He is in a serious condition at a hospital and the police are searching for his assailants.

SINGER RESUMES HER MAIDEN NAME

OLIVE FREMSTAD,
Who Has Just Announced Absolute Divorcing of Her Husband, Lieut, Sutphen.

OLIVE FREMSTAD HAS A DIVORCE

Famous Singer Says She Has Been Granted an Absolute Decree.

New York, Oct. 18.—Upon her arrival yesterday from Europe, Madame Olive Fremstad, the well-known opera soprano, announced that three months ago she obtained a divorce, with an allowance of $50 a month alimony, from Lieut. Edson W. Sutphen, U. S. N., resigned, to whom she secretly was married in April, 1906. Her husband, at the time of the marriage, had just been freed from his first wife and the wedding was a secret for several months.

"It is not such a small world after all," said Madame Fremstad, "when one can marry and divorce without attracting attention."

The secrecy of the divorce is explained by the fact that the trial was held behind closed doors before Robert L. Luce as referee, and the singer appeared throughout the proceedings as Olive Sutphen. It was said the divorce was absolute, for which only statutory grounds are recognized in this state. Sutphen now, it is said, is in South America, interested in mining.

CANADA CENSUS REPORT IS MADE

Population Is 7,081,868 and Winnipeg the Third City.

Ottawa, Can., Oct. 18.—The population of Canada, according to the census taken on June 1 and just made public, was 7,081,868, an increase in ten years of 1,710,554. The figures are about 1,000,000 below the estimates made before the census was taken.

Montreal leads Canadian cities with a population of 466,197, an increase in ten years of 198,467. Toronto is second with 376,240. Winnipeg has 135,430; Vancouver, 100,333; Ottawa, 86,340; Hamilton, 81,879; London, 46,177; and Halifax, 46,081.

Representation in the next parliament will be based upon the census. The readjustment of constituencies will give an increase of eleven or a total of 232 members.

HOOSIER GOVERNOR GETS PRESIDENTIAL BOOM.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 18.—Governor Thomas R. Marshall, at the Knife and Fork club's dinner last night, pleaded for less concentration of power in one man. He said: "Too much power in a select few is a menace to the country."

United States Senator Smith spoke of the worth of the Indiana governor, and declared him in line for the Democratic presidential nomination.

RUSSIAN PRINCE IS ASSASSINATED.

Novo Tcherkask, Russia, Oct. 18.—Prince Peter Troubetskey was assassinated yesterday, a student entering a private car in which the prince was traveling and shooting him with a revolver. The murderer is said to be a relative of the prince.

Gas Institute Meets.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 18.—Engineers connected with the public utility companies of many of the principal cities of the country are in attendance of the sixth annual meeting of the American Gas institute, which opened here today for a three days' session.

TAFT WILL KEEP GOING

Proposes to Extend His Tour to More Than 16,000 Miles.

President Gives California Women Advice as to Suffrage.

Las Vegas, Nev., Oct. 18.—President Taft's notable "swing around the circle," now ending its fifth week, will not end in Washington Nov. 1, as first contemplated, but will be extended until Nov. 15 or 18. The president will travel some 3,000 or 4,000 miles more than at first intended, bringing the total mileage of his tour up to between 16,000 and 17,000 miles, and breaking all known records of presidential travel.

The regular itinerary of the original trip will be followed to Pittsburg, where President Taft will spend the entire day of Tuesday, Oct. 31. Then instead of keeping on to Washington, Mr. Taft will go direct to Morgantown, W. Va., to spend Wednesday, Nov. 1.

Back to Ohio.

From Morgantown he will go to Hot Springs, Va., to rest for five days, starting west again in time to vote at Cincinnati at the local elections to be held there Nov. 7. The president will remain in his old home town for a day or two and will be tendered a banquet.

Following the Cincinnati trip, Mr. Taft probably will go to Hodgensville, Ky., to participate in the dedication of the Lincoln farm memorial.

There are two or three tentative dates in Tennessee following this, and then it is expected Mr. Taft will return to Washington in time to prepare his message to congress, which meets the first Monday in December. The dates of

FORTY OVERCOME AT CHICAGO FIRE

Firemen Narrowly Escape Injury From Flying Glass.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Forty persons were overcome by smoke and a company of firemen narrowly escaped injury by flying glass during a fire which caused $15,000 damage to a five-story brick building at 18 and 20 East Kinzie street today. The structure was occupied by three manufacturing concerns.

Thirty-five men lodgers of a rooming house next door to the burning building were overcome by smoke and were carried out by firemen. The family of John Doerhoefer, who lived on the second floor of an adjoining building, also were overcome by smoke and rescued by firemen.

Eight firemen were cut by flying glass following an explosion of oil on the first floor of the building. The fire started in the basement and rapidly spread to the upper floors through an elevator shaft.

CLAIMS HE CAN GET GOLD FROM SEA WATER

DR. OSKAR NAGEL.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Dr. Oskar Nagel, an Austrian chemist, claims that he can extract gold out of sea water and return the operator 500 per cent a year. The American Chemical society, however, refuses to consider his scheme and voted to throw out his paper. Dr. Nagel also claims that he can get potash in commercial quantities from sea water at a cost less than half what the Carman potash sells for on the market. He is a Ph.D., from the University of Vienna and has written many essays on chemistry.

RAIN HALTS BIG GAMES

Athletics and Giants Forced to Postpone Further Play.

New York Players See Good Sign in Break in Series.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 18.—A heavy rain which set in during the night has forced the postponement of the fourth game between the Philadelphia Athletics and the New York Giants for the baseball championship of the world. The rain is driven by a southeast wind and the baseball grounds are thoroughly soaked.

The four umpires inspected the playing field at Shibe park and left for the national commission headquarters in an automobile at 11:20. As they left the grounds Umpire Brennan said the game was off for the day, but that the official announcement would have to be made by the national commission.

The National commission at 11:40 officially declared today's game off on account of rain. There will be a game here tomorrow if the weather permits.

GOVERNMENT DROPS FIGHT

Will Not Try to Punish Alleged Violators of Stock Law.

Washington, Oct. 18.—The government today abandoned its legal fight to recover a penalty from the St. Louis National Stock yards for alleged violation of the twenty-eight-hour law, regulating the feeding and watering of livestock in interstate transportation.

DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL.

Coroner's Jury Took Charitable View of Neri's Ending.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Accidental death was the verdict returned by the coroner's jury that investigated the death of Charles Neri of Superior. Neri, just before his death, claimed to have been thrown out of the window of the hotel, while his partner told a story to the effect that Neri had been talking of suicide considerably. The coroner's jury took the accidental feature of the case, believing that Neri was intoxicated and fell through the window to his death.

Washington, Oct. 18.—All of the so-called "tap line" allowances given along the lumber carrying railroads in the Southwest, which were to have been cancelled Nov. 1, will be continued in effect until Feb. 1, 1912. The interstate commerce commission announced today it had reached no final conclusions.

Senator Heyburn Declares Testimony About Shields Is No News.

Postpones Examination of the Men Named By Witness.

Stephenson May Be Asked to Tell His Version of "Bribery."

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 18.—Further inquiry into the testimony of Thomas Morris, lieutenant governor of Wisconsin, that he had been told that Edward Hines, the lumberman, helped to "put over" the election of Senator Isaac Stephenson, was deferred by the senatorial investigating committee today.

Lieutenant Governor Morris resumed the stand for thirty minutes. He repeated his assertion that he met Wirt H. Cook of Duluth in the office of an attorney named McCordick in Chicago, and that while there Cook told him that Hines and Stephenson each "put up" $55,000 to secure the election, and that Robert J. Shields of Superior was paid $7,500 to handle the deal. Morris said he could not remember the full name of the Chicago attorney.

Back to Primaries.

As Charles E. Littlefield, counsel for Senator Stephenson, was cross-examining the witness, Senator Heyburn, the chairman, interrupted.

"We will not continue this line of inquiry at this time, but will resume our examination of the primaries. The testimony of the lieutenant governor was not new to the committee. The committee had heard of it before leaving Washington. It was the intention

STEAM SCALDS THREE TO DEATH

Fatal Explosion in Packing Plant at Kansas City, Mo.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 18.—Three men were killed and five seriously injured by the explosion of steam pipes in the plant of the Fowler Packing company in this city today. Seventy-five men were at work in the tank house of the hog-killing department when the pipe burst, causing the roof to fall. The three men were scalded to death by escaping steam. The dead are:

A. ESKERIDGE.
J. McQUILLAN, both of Kansas City.
UNIDENTIFIED MAN.

A section of the roof 48 by 16 feet fell, but catching on the machinery, probably saved the lives of many workmen.

The accident happened in a building next to one which was destroyed by fire a month ago. Repairs recently had been made on its roof.

TRIAL HITS FRESH SNAG

Contractor Says He Believes Times Building Was Dynamited.

McNamara's Challenge Resisted—Defendant May Not Testify.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 18.—The defense in the McNamara murder trial began today's work by challenging for cause George W. McKee, a contractor who said he had a fixed opinion that the Los Angeles Times was blown up by dynamite. The state resisted the challenge and Assistant District Attorney Horton at once took up the questioning.

The challenge against McKee is in line with the avowed policy of the defense, under Attorney Darrow, to try to show that the Times building was blown up by gas and that James B. McNamara, on trial for the murder of Charles Haggerty, who was killed in the Times disaster, could not be responsible for the explosion or Haggerty's death.

The state holds that an opinion as to the cause of the explosion need not necessarily prejudice a juror to such an extent that he cannot give a fair trial.

May Not Testify.

It was said on good authority early today that James B. McNamara probably never would go on the witness-stand.

The hint of Attorney Darrow in court "that the defendant would sit mute while the prosecution attempted to show the building was blown up by dynamite," is held to be a forecast of the plans of the defense to "stand pat" on the theory that the Times dis-

ACTION FOR LOSS OF LIFE

Widow Claims Husband Was Not Furnished Safe Place to Work.

Mrs. Gladys Joanice, as administratrix of the estate of George Joanice, is suing the Interstate Dredge & Dock company in district court for $5,000 for the death of her husband.

She claims that the company maintained a sawmill on a scow which was anchored in the local harbor. On this sawmill her husband was employed, she claims.

On Oct. 10, last, she claims that Joanice was thrown against the moving machinery in such a way that he was badly injured and that within a short time he died of the injuries sustained.

The plaintiff claims that the company was negligent in that a safe place to work was not furnished the man in their employ.

LATEST STYLES AS SHOWN IN NEW YORK.

Many new creations have made their appearance in Duluth since Mr. M. C. Albenberg of the Miller-Albenberg company visited the New York markets for the second time this fall.

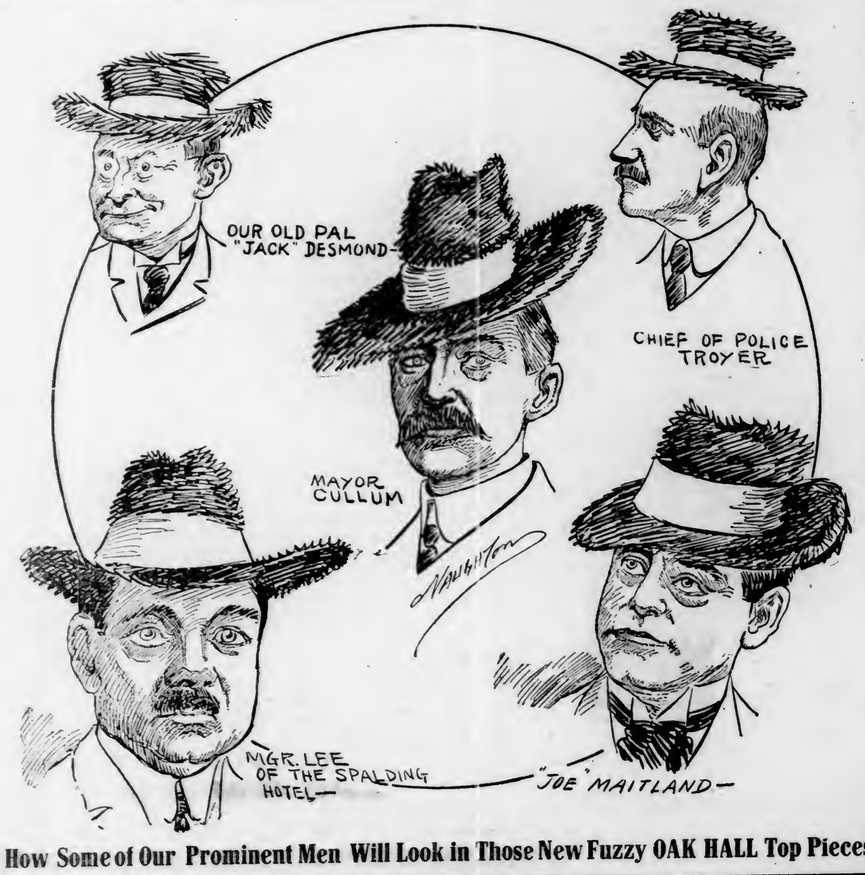

"Many styles shown at first are now discarded," said Mr. Albenberg, "and pretty new models are added. For coats, the double textures are greatly in demand as well as Velours and Corduroys. The most of the double texture coats are made reversible and can be worn on either side. Among other novelties you find the mixtures as well as the wider stripes are unusually strong this autmun, many styles of coats, gowns and blouses carrying out this effect as there are many odd ways the stripes and reversible material can be utilized. The ingenuity of the artist can be brought into play. Some very clever chiffon, marquisette and messaline blouses are shown from the fine hair line to the one-inch stripe to give the two-toned effect. In many instances the stripe is used as lining and combined with the sheer and fluffy materials. For plainer coats and tailor-made suits the heavy cheverons, diagonals, cheviots, broadcloths and mannish worsteds are used, heavily enterlined for the colder weather, made on the severely plain lines but excellent workmanship and finish. No wardrobe is complete without one of these tailor-mades. Many new and handsome gowns and suits are shown in velvets, corduroys and velours of the heavier quality, but still soft and pliable finish. The same materials are used for the tailor-made garments as well as for the dressy models, the latter ones being trimmed with silk or chenille fringes, hand embroidery, fur and gold trimmings, fancy buttons, etc., according to the requirements of fashion."

Horse Commits Suicide.

Marinette, Wis., Oct. 18.—James J. Pontbriland, county clerk of Florence county, has lost his driving horse by what is believed to have been suicide on his equine's part. Pontbriland was hunting with a friend and left the horse grazing along the road. Returning a few minutes later they found the horse in the Pine river, the stream at a flood stage. The horse made no attempt to swim to shore and floated down the river a half mile before it was drowned.

STATE SELLS 1,000 ACRES

State Gives Long Time for Payment and Reserves Minerals.

Theodore Nelson, manager of the sales department for Minnesota state and school lands, at a public sale held this morning at the courthouse, disposed of an even 1,000 acres at prices which ranged from $5 to $6 an acre.

About 640 acres sold for $5 per acre. This is the lowest price at which the land can be secured. The other 360 acres sold at $6 an acre, making an average of about $5.36 per acre.

The terms are 15 per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from date of sale to June 1, 1912, must be paid at the time of sale. The balance of purchase money is payable in whole or in part on or before forty years from date of sale; the rate of interest on the unpaid balance is 4 per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1 of each year, provided the principal remains unpaid for ten years; but if the principal is paid within ten years from date of sale the rate of interest will be computed at 5 per cent per annum.

Appraised value of timber, if any, must also be paid at time of sale.

Lands on which the interest is delinquent may be redeemed at any time up to the hour of sale, or before resale to an actual purchaser.

All mineral rights are reserved by the laws of the state.

The sale was the regular October sale. Mr. Nelson will hold another sale at Aitkin, Friday.

FRANK MAKOWSKI IS INDORSED

Second Ward Voters Want Him to Serve a Second Term.

Alderman Frank Makowski was enthusiastically indorsed for another term in the city council by voters of the Second ward who met at the Jefferson school last evening to talk over municipal affairs.

The meeting was simply an informal gathering of the voters of the district to talk over the affairs of the city and particularly of the Second ward.

CLUB IS ON RIGHT TRACK

Duluth Attracted Attention of American Association of Commercial Executives.

Agricultural Campaign Is Being Copied at Binghamton and Montgomery.

That the Duluth Commercial club is on the right track in furthering the interests of the city and that it should continue to work along the lines followed in past years, is the firm conviction of H. V. Eva, secretary of the club, who returned yesterday afternoon from the annual convention of the American Association of Commercial Executives at Louisville, Ky.

Mr. Eva is greatly gratified over the attention given the Duluth club by the delegates at the meeting and by the assurance he received that the club is making no mistake in adopting the field in which it is working. He found, he says, that the Duluth club is far above the average in concentration of endeavor, in the scope of its work and in the thoroughness with which it does what it plans.

The agricultural progaganda of the Duluth Commercial club came in for considerable attention from the delegates. Several clubs, notably those at Binghamton, N. Y., and Montgomery, Ala., are now working along the same lines as the Duluth club in that respect and were greatly interested in the work of the Duluth traffic commission, which is one of the most energetic organizations of its kind in the country. The Williamsport plan of guarantee funds, which is soon to be in operation in Duluth, was discussed at some length and reports were made that indicate the plan has been a success in every city in which it has been in operation any length of time.

Centralization.

Centralization was the key-note of the addresses at the meeting. The publicity bureau, traffic commission, board of trade, real estate exchange and other organizations working separately cannot effect as much as a central body, with different branches reporting to one executive head, in the opinion of speakers at the meeting. In that respect, the Commercial club of Duluth was an example to others, for the civic work of Duluth is almost entirely centralized in the Commercial club and the only separate organizations are those having peculiar interests that do not call for the attention of business men and civic workers in general.

The bonus plan for the attraction of industries and bonuses for conventions were condemned by the convention. It was pointed out that the city which makes itself attractive to industries does not have to offer bonuses. Suitable entertainment for visitors and the furnishing of a meeting place were suggested as sufficient inducement to offer conventions, and in those respects also the Duluth plans were upheld.

Speakers on publicity work said that newspaper advertising was found to attain the best results and the newspapers were recommended to the delegates for publicity work.

"The convention of executives is a great help, I believe," said Mr. Eva this morning. "We can learn something from others, and others can learn something from us. While no new field of endeavor has been opened to the Duluth Commercial club by the recent meeting, we are strengthened in the work we are now doing and are given an incentive to increase our efforts so as to be an example to other clubs."

OVERCOME BY COAL GAS

Zenith Telephone Operators at Lakeside Have Narrow Escape.

Gas escaping from a coal heater almost proved fatal to Miss Marie Phillips and Miss Mattie McMillan, the two Zenith telephone operators at the Lakeside exchange.

The two young women were sleeping in the building. During the night gas escaped from the coal stove. The girls awoke, but they were so overcome by the fumes that they did not have presence of mind enough to open the door or the window. Miss Phillips telephoned her father that she felt strangely ill, and then sank back on the bed. Her father came in response to the call, and Dr. C. H. Clark was summoned. He worked over the young women for more than an hour, before they were sufficiently recovered to return to their homes in a taxicab, which had been summoned.

CRIPPLED MEN NEED LIGHT WORK

Secretary Dinwiddie of Associated Charities Has Applicants for Jobs.

Courtenay Dinwiddie of the Associated Charities says that he has a number of slightly crippled men on his list who are ready and anxious to obtain light work, but who are unable to do heavy work. Jobs as watchmen and other work of this nature would be appreciated by the men. Nearly all of them have families dependent upon them for support. Anyone with work can get one or more of the men by calling Mr. Dinwiddie at his office.

Lighting Talks

NUMBER 78 DULUTH, OCTOBER 18, 1911

Mark Twain

built a new house a few years ago. When asked by a friend whether the new house had cost him as much as his architect had estimated it would, the great humorist answered in a flash: "Half of it did."

You cannot build even a modest $2,000 or $3,000 house without having it cost more than your architect's preliminary estimate. Always something is overlooked, or the price of materials or labor advances, or something else happens.

And this holds true on a vastly larger scale of electric light plants. No municipal electric plant was ever built that did not cost more—a great deal more—than the estimate of the engineers who designed it. Look at Seattle, so often pointed to with pride by municipal ownership advocates (from a distance of a few thousand miles). Seattle built a municipal electric plant about seven years ago. The engineers estimated that that plant would cost $640,000, and the first bond issue was for that amount. To date that municipal electric plant has cost Seattle $4,002,182. And the end is not yet.

The engineers employed by Council (for a fee of $14,000) have submitted plans and specifications for a municipal electric plant for Duluth which they think could be built for $696,743. They stopped at that figure because the City has no authority to bond itself for such purpose in excess of $700,000.

Without any disparagement of those engineers, a plant built according to their plans would inevitably cost more than their estimate. That $696,743 would be only a beginning. The plant they have planned could not be built inside of two years, probably it would take three. In two years the interest on the $700,000 bonds would be $70,000; in three years, $105,000. Where is that money to come from?

Mark Twain could afford to build a house that cost twice as much as his designer's estimate. But can this City of Duluth afford to pile up a mountain of debt and make taxes mount higher and higher for thirty years to come for a needless, useless, and wasteful municipal plant, whose only purpose would be to compete with the Duluth-Edison Electric Company—and possibly provide fat jobs for a few political heelers?

Do YOU think it is necessary to spend $6,000 or $7,000 more of the taxpayers' money to inform the Council where YOU stand on this absurd question? That's what a special election would cost. Are YOU going to stand idly by and see Council throw a few more thousands after the $14,000 already spent?

Wake up, Mr. Taxpayer and Mr. Public Spirited Citizen, and get after YOUR alderman right now. Let him know whether YOU think this wild, municipal plant folly has gone far enough.

MORGAN STATUE AND ITS DESIGNER

STATUE OF GEN. MORGAN.

At Lexington, Ky., on Oct. 18 will be unveiled a monument in memory of Gen. John Morgan. This is the work of Pompee Coppini. Mr. Coppini, whose home is in San Antonio, has created a remarkably life-like portrait of Gen. Morgan. It has been approved not only by the committee having the memorial in charge but by the family of Gen. Morgan. The statue has also met the approval of some of the most eminent judges of horse flesh in Kentucky. This is a remarkable fact because it is difficult to satisfy horsemen and especially such horsemen as those of Kentucky.

Pompeo Coppini, a native of Italy, has lived in San Antonio, Tex., for several years. He has done some remarkably fine work since he took up his residence in San Antonio but it is not widely known except in the South because most of it is in Southern cities. In Texas alone Mr. Coppini has monuments of the Hon. John Reagan at Palestine; a Confederate monument at Paris, Ky.; a monument to the victims of Galveston; a monument to the Woodmen of the World, a memorial to the Terry Rangers and many individual statues. Mr. Coppini visited Rome two or three years ago and was made an honorary professor at the St. Lucas academy there.

New England, N. D., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two new rural telephone lines will be erected out of here this winter according to an announcement made by the North Dakota Independent Telephone company. One will cover the district east and southeast of the city, while the other will extend into the western and northwestern sections.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO ASSAULTING LABORER.

Ed Gallinger pleaded not guilty when arraigned in police court yesterday afternoon on a charge of having assaulted Raffelo Catena, a laborer, and his trial was set for tomorrow morning. Gallinger has a contract and it seems that the Italian had been in his employ and had been laid off. Later, it is stated that the laborer returned and insisted upon working, picking up a shovel and using it in spite of the fact that Gallinger had told him that there was nothing for him to do. The two got into an altercation and it is claimed that Gallinger struck the laborer, who caused a warrant to be sworn out for his arrest.

NO PROPERTY LEFT FOR WIFE

Mrs. Magnus Anderson's Search Reveals No Estate to Be Claimed.

The acting Swedish consul at Minneapolis has written to J. L. Crawford, undertaker, in regard to Magnus Anderson, the laborer who committed suicide here last June by hanging himself to the outside of a box car in the railroad yards near Sixth avenue west.

The letter states that his wife has been to the consulate to get information relative to any property which he may have left. As far as could be learned here he had no property and the body was buried at the expense of the county.

There was nothing to show that he was married, but on the contrary several letters were found in his pocket from a woman in some town in the upper part of the state, to whom, it seemed, he had been paying attentions.

BOUND OVER ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Peter Kopechinski Will Be Tried for Brick Heaving Episode.

Peter Kopechinski was bound over to the grand jury after a preliminary examination in police court yesterday afternoon, on a charge of having assaulted Victor Matel with a brick. Matel is one of the two cousins, who was acquitted of a murder charge in district court two years ago.

Matel and Kopechinski had a difficulty over the payment of some car fare a couple of weeks ago, following a beer party on West Michigan street. The trouble occurred after they had left the house, together with several others.

It seems that Matel asked Kopechinski who was going to pay the car fare, and that the latter said that he had the money but that he was not going to ride with the crowd. Matel is said to have struck Kopechinski with his fist and then to have knocked his hat off. A few minutes later Kopechinski picked up a brick from between the houses in front of which they were standing, and hurled it against Matel's forehead, fracturing the skull. Matel has so far recovered as to be able to leave the hospital.

It appeared yesterday afternoon, that the crowd went away, leaving Matel lying unconscious upon the sidewalk, where he was found shortly afterwards by Sergeant Bradley of the police force. Matel was given temporary medical attention and then removed to St. Mary's hospital, where his wound was dressed. Matel was not present at the hearing yesterday. County Attorney Norton appeared for the state and Attorney Goldberg for the defendant.

HOW TO COOK A LOON.

Pair News: Bill Crozer, a guide for fifty-two years at Charleston lake in Ontario, Canada, has a novel receipt for cooking a loon. He was rowing a couple of Somerville, Mich., councilmen a few weeks ago and when a loon came in sight the strangers asked Bill if they were good to eat.

Bill replied in a rather evasive way, and one of the fishermen then asked Bill how they were cooked. This was what Bill was waiting for and here is the recipe that Bill gave: "Cook the loon in water for twelve hours, at night pour off this water and cook him over night, in the morning throw in a piece of grindstone and when you can stick a fork in the grindstone the loon is done."

ALBENBERG'S

RAILROADS

SOUTH SHORE TO ISSUE RECEIPTS

To All Purchasers of Tickets in Michigan, Pending Outcome of Suit.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—In compliance with a ruling by the United States circuit court at Detroit, agents for the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway on and after Oct. 21, will give receipts for money paid for all tickets issued on the road locally in Michigan, the receipts to be incorporated with the tickets as sold. The ticket agent selling a ticket will marke the price of the ticket on the coupon when the ticket is issued. Receipts will also be given for money paid for tickets issued on the South Shore to other lines in the state when the journey is to be entirely intrastate or made entirely within the state.

Many purchasers of tickets since the passage through the state legislature of the 2-cent rate law have demanded receipts, expecting to obtain a refund on the settlement of the dispute between the railroad and the state should a decision be given before Oct. 21 will be good in obtaining refunds. Should the railway lose its case in the United States circuit court the receipts issued on and after Oct. 21 can be used in demanding refunds amounting to the difference between the money paid and that would have been paid under a 2-cent rate.

Awaiting Minnesota Decision.

The 2-cent rate was to have gone into effect on the South Shore, as well as all other railroads in the state on Aug. 1, but the road secured a temporary injunction, preventing the state from putting the legislation into effect against it on the ground that it would be confiscatory. The hearing in the injunction case was called for Sept. 26 and the railway company was ready to proceed with its case. The counsel for the state, however, asked for a postponement till Jan. 16. It is believed the delay was asked for in order that the decision of the United States supreme court in the celebrated Minnesota rate case might be handed down before this case comes to a hearing. The Minnesota case, however, is not exactly a duplicate of the Michigan case, although being fought along similar lines.

Form of Receipt Issued.

The form of the receipt carries all the conditions to be exacted. It follows: "The Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railway company admits that it has received $..... for ticket form ..... No. ..... from ..... to ..... and it agrees that if the so-called Michigan 2-cent law, now in litigation, shall be finally held valid and enforceable against it, it will refund to the holder of this receipt the amount charged in excess of 2 cents per mile for the travel on its road called for by said ticket. If said law shall be held invalid this receipt shall be void. If payment of said amount shall become due, it will be made within thirty days after this receipt shall have been presented by mail or otherwise to the auditor of said railway company at Marquette, Mich.

"Countersigned, MART ADSON,
"General Passenger Agent."

No receipts with refund value will be given with tickets sold on the road to points outside of the state of Michigan.

Local and all other Copper country ticket agents of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic have received orders in regard to the issuance of these receipts on and after Oct. 21.

VALUE OF STEEL CARS IS SHOWN

Officials of the Soo line say that experience has taught them that for safety, sanitation and the convenience of the traveling public, cars of solid steel construction are the best. The Duluth and Chicago short line is being equipped with the steel cars as fast as they can be turned out of the shops.

Some of the limited trains are composed of these cars and the company has been experimenting along this line for some time. The cars are so constructed that in case of accident, they are practically impregnable, built in fact, like armored ships.

One of these cars went through the Soo line wreck a short time ago, and came out but slightly damaged, and is again in commission. There was hardly a break on the interior of the car, not even a window, notwithstanding it jumped the trucks completely and skidded along on the ground nearly 200 feet. Not a person was hurt in this car.

The whole scheme has been to provide the most sanitary equipment possible. All the cushions are detachable, even to the arm pieces of the seats, so that it is possible to remove them with ease to be cleaned. A feature of the new sleeper is the new type of deck, which is square, which gives more room in the upper berths. It is a decided improvement over the old style deck. The same general color scheme and woodwork is carried out in the parlor and observation cars.

TWO MEN HELD FOR FORGERY

J. E. Adams and J. H. Edwards Are Arrested in Superior.

Alleged to Have Passed Worthless Paper in Duluth.

Two alleged forgers wanted in Duluth were taken into custody at Superior yesterday. They gave their names as J. E. Adams, 29 years old and a civil engineer, and J. H. Edwards, 48 years old and a machinist. They were arraigned in municipal court this morning, waived examination and were held to the next grand jury.

Adams was arrested while attempting to pass a check drawn on blanks bearing the name of the Lantry Construction company and payable through the American Exchange National bank. He was booked on a charge of being drunk and disorderly and as the Superior authorities had been furnished with descriptions of the men wanted here, the local officials were immediately informed of the arrest. On information said to have been given by Adams, Edwards was later arrested. Adams aroused the suspicions of a Superior saloon keeper when he demanded that he cash one of the worthless checks for him and he was detained until an officer could be summoned.

The two are said to have operated to quite a considerable extent in Duluth. The checks in possession of the police, said to have been passed by them, are as follows:

Check for $16.50, made out to James H. Edwards, cashed by Eli Cholette, proprietor of the Cholette hotel, 917 West Michigan street.

Check for $17.30, made out to George Baker, also cashed by Mr. Cholette.

Check for $35 made out to Joseph E. Champeaux, cashed by J. M. Stephens, saloon keeper, 602 Garfield avenue.

Adams was identified by both Mr. Cholette and Mr. Nickelson.

SAYS COMMITTEE WAS ALREADY POSTED ON ALL MORRIS TOLD OF

to go into the matter in due time. Mr. Morris has given only secondary testimony; that is, what he has heard others say. Unless it can be substantiated by primary testimony, it is probable the committee will disregard it altogether. The persons from whom Mr. Morris says he obtained the information will be heard later."

In Official Capacity.

Morris was scheduled to resume the stand to undergo cross-examination on his testimony given late yesterday, when he declared, as an official of the state he had been informed that Edward Hines, the lumberman, helped "put over" Senator Stephenson's election, that Hines and Stephenson each contributed $55,000 to secure the election, that Robert J. Shields, often mentioned in the case of Senator William Lorimer, was paid $7,500 for working on the deal, and that this resulted in three Democratic assemblymen absenting themselves from the legislature on March 4, 1909, so that Stephenson might be elected.

Senator Stephenson arrived from his home at Marinette, and it was said he probably would be recalled to the stand to undergo questioning concerning Morris testimony.

terested in the recent Progressive Republican conference here. He asked several questions about the meeting. Asked if he thought it a certainty that President Taft would be renominated, he said:

"It would appear to me so. The Republican party never has refused a renomination to a president who has made as creditable record as he has. There really is no interest in politics yet. Whatever talk there is is forced, and the interest manifested is largely manufactured."

Secretary Wilson braved the accumulated wrath of some thousand prohibition workers throughout the country and delivered a speech at the Brewers' congress. It was a short speech, in which merely an assurance was given the foreign visitors of the same courtesy the United States has received from the European countries from which some of them come.

Talked About Crops.

"The United States government sends tourists, pleasure seekers, scientists and students to your countries to learn what they may that interests them," he said. "The department of agriculture sends explorers to all nations of the eastern hemisphere to find plants that may add to our cropping systems, that our agriculture may be improved and that the prosperity of our people may be enhanced. They find courtesy everywhere. We get much that is valuable from the great nations of Western Europe and eastward to Mongolia, Manchuria and Siberia."

Two hundred words more went to explaining how the crop yields have been increased by importations from Europe, 100 more described the enforcement of the United States pure food law.

Attitude Toward Brewers.

Then he turned to the brewers.

"I called our American brewers together a few months ago," he said, "to learn from them what elements might enter into the manufacture of their product, so that its purity might be considered, and told them that government officials were about to center upon the consideration of their product and that we were disposed to deal fairly with all industries recognized by law that enter interstate and international commerce.

"We made progress toward an understanding that they must not misbrand or adulterate.

"You come amongst us to discuss your business interests and the same welcome is extended to you that the people of your countries have tendered invariably to Americans who sojourn in your lands for business, educational or scientific purposes."

Temperance People "Intemperate."

President Percy Andreas of the Brewers association, whose speech followed that of Secretary Wilson, was severe in his criticism of most of the temperance reformers.

"In this country, the so-called temperance movement has fallen into the hands of the most intemperate people of the nation," he said; "men suffering from what I can only describe as chronic moral inebriation, men devoid of reasoning powers, largely lacking in the most elementary knowledge of education, and worse than all, in only too many cases, prompted solely by the commercial benefits they derive from the cause they make a profession of championing."

legislature?" inquired Senator Lea.

Friendly With Browne.

"I think P. F. Murray, probably."

"Isn't it true that Lee O'Neil Browne was your closest friend there?" Senator Lea then asked.

"No, I think Murray was closer to me. Perhaps Browne was next to Murray."

"Now, do you mean to tell the members of this committee that you didn't discuss the election of Lorimer many times before it took place, and that you didn't take part in various conferences on that subject?" asked Senator Jones.

"Yes, I really had little activity aside from voting in the election of Mr. Lorimer," replied Wilson.

"You are a member of the Democratic party and believe in the principles of that party, do you not?" asked Senator Kern.

"Yes."

Holds Political Job.

"Then your idea of looking toward the promotion of Democratic success was to give two Republican United States senators to Illinois, where there had been but one?"

"Well, I was one of fifty-three Democrats who thought that way."

Wilson was next questioned closely regarding the position which he now holds under County Clerk Schweitzer. After considerable interrogation he admitted he owed the position to the friendly offices of Roger C. Sullivan of Chicago.

"No, I did not," emphatically declared the witness.

That St. Louis Meeting.

Attorney Marble suddenly turned to the subject of the St. Louis meeting of July, 1909, when Wilson met several members of the legislature at the Southern hotel.

"Did you have a $500 bill at St. Louis?" he asked.

"No."

"Did you carry a large sum of money down there?"

"No, I did not."

"How much money did you have with you?" asked Senator Kern.

"Oh, I don't remember; about $100, I think."

that there would be no battle before next Staurday.

The rebels, who occupy Wu Chang, Hankow and Han Yang, were alive to the government's purpose, and during last night 2,000 men crossed the Yangtse-Klang river from Wu Chang and at daybreak fell upon the imperial camp. They attacked with dash, and the government troops, taken somewhat at a disadvantage, responded loyally. The fighting was severe, but it is impossible to estimate the casualties, as the correspondents were not permitted near the firing line, and those who witnessed the battle from the river were fired upon.

Correspondents in Danger.

Two foreign newspaper correspondents narrowly escaped with their lives. They had been cruising on the river in expectation of the battle and their launch had reached a point opposite the imperial camp when hostilities began. Presently they found their little craft between the fire of the two forces. From near Admiral Sah's flagship the correspondents witnessed the fighting until Admiral Sah, observing the danger of their position, ordered them out of the firing line. The launch and its crew withdrew and as they did so they were fired upon by men who had been landed from the warships. Fortunately comrades of their assailants interfered, the shooting ceased, and the correspondents escaped unharmed.

The engagement continued for several hours, while the combined land and ship forces of the imperials were driven some distance back, and the rebels, retiring, recrossed the river to Wu Chang.

Some of the rebels applied at the foreign concessions to learn whether they would be protected if they entered the concessions. The foreign forces are, however, concerned with the protection of foreign interests only. No trouble at present is expected. The reinforcements from the North are expected tonight.

The imperial troops concentrated north of the city when the fighting ceased. The general situation continues grave.

Two Cities Captured.

Shanghai, Oct. 18.—It is reported here that the rebels have captured both Nanking and Kiu-Kiang, but official confirmation is lacking. It is stated that there have been a number of secessions from the government troops.

Will Seize Amoy.

Amoy, China, Oct. 18.—The war scare reached this city today through the receipt by several native commercial organizations of dispatches warning them that Amoy was to be seized shortly by the revolutionary leaders. The dispatches were unsigned, but purported to come from revolutionary headquarters. They contained assurances that there would be no interference with commercial interests.

It is generally believed that any successful movement against Amoy come from within the city, as its isolation on a strongly fortified island makes its position apparently impregnable to assault from without.

Concern at Tokio.

Tokio, Oct. 18.—Despite the assurances given both by the government and the revolutionary leaders in the Central Chinese provinces that the rights of foreigners will be respected, officials here regard the situation as likely to develop phases alarming to outside nations. The maintenance of a scrupulous impartiality will be very difficult at times, and it is certain that any suspicion of interference on the part of foreigners would arouse tremendous indignation among the Chinese.

Some feeling against Japan has already been noted at Pekin, where Chinese merchants and financiers have freely asserted that Japan incited the revolution in order to create a crisis which would prevent the American-European loan. In revolutionary circles, on the other hand, reports are being circulated that Japan is aiding the imperial government, and this impression has already created an antagonism against Japan in the South and is said to have resulted in the beginning of an anti-Japanese boycott in South China.

Blame United States.

Still another Chinese rumor, which is likely to cause trouble for Americans, is to the effect that the United States encouraged the revolution by its insistence upon the hated railway loans.

Every indication, official or otherwise, points to the determination of Japan to remain absolutely neutral. It is declared in official circles, that the Pekin government made advances to Tokio with a view to securing assistance against the revolutionists. But Japan replied explicitly that she would not interfere so long as her interests were not attacked. The revolutionists have been notified, however, that the iron works at Pan Yang, which are under Japanese ownership, are to be regarded as distinctly a Japanese interest.

Dispatches from Manchuria seemed to indicate that the province has thus far shown no signs of uprising. The utmost caution is being exercised, however, by officials from Mukden northward.

This Prescription Knocks Rheumatism

The only logical treatment for rheumatism is through the blood. A prescription, which has recently proved wonderfully effective in hospital work is the following. Any druggist has the ingredients or will quickly get them for you. Any one can mix them. "One ounce compound syrup of Sarsaparilla; one ounce Toris compound; half pint first class whiskey." These to be mixed and used in tablespoon doses before each meal and at bedtime. This cured thousands here last winter. It relieves immediately.

aster was caused by gas and that the defendant knew nothing about it.

McNamara himself is taking an inconspicuous part in the trial. The battle between opposing attorneys, of which there are five on the defense and four on the state's side, is attracting all the attention.

Seated near the rail beside a deputy sheriff, to one side of the aisle that divides the courtroom, McNamara has been listening carefully to the proceedings, but except when he reaches the courtroom, which in the last few days has been ahead of his attorneys, he has exchanged scarcely a word with anyone except a greeting.

Just behind McNamara are sixty-four newspaper desks, nearly all of which are occupied, and just behind his ear is a little box hiding a telegraph key, as well as drowning its voice, as it steadily clicks off the report of the trial to the outside world.

When court reopened this morning the defense had passed six talesmen, one had been excused by the court and two excused because of challenge for cause.

Six Talesmen Passed.

Of the six talesmen passed, at least one seemed virtually sure of rejection. The line-up of the passed talesmen was:

J. W. Roberts, real estate dealer.
Robert F. Bain, carpenter.
H. Y. Quackenbush, expressman.
A. R. McIntosh, baker.
T. W. Adams, grocer.
G. W. McKee, retired real estate dealer.

Yesterday's rejections were: Z. T. Hyatt, excused by court because of scruples against capital punishment; Samuel McCreary, challenged for bias after he had said he had a fixed opinion as to whether the Times disaster was caused by a criminal act; Edmund S. Johnson, excused. He said he was prejudiced against labor unions. Talesman Quackenbush, it was thought, would not find himself on the final jury because he did not believe in capital punishment. Adams said he read, as a rule, the Los Angeles Times, the Social Democrat and the Appeal to Reason.

LENROOT WILL SPEAK.

Wisconsin Congressman to Help North Dakota Progressives.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—On Nov. 6 the Progressive Republicans of North Dakota will launch their campaign for the control of this state in the presidential preference primaries of next March. Congressman Lenroot of Wisconsin will be here then to deliver an address, and following his address the organization of the Grand Forks La Follette club will be perfected.

The Wisconsin congressman will be in North Dakota only two days, speaking at Lakota in the afternoon and in Devils Lake on the day following his appearance here.

IS SURFACE MOISTURE.

Supreme Court of North Dakota Renders Ditching Decision.

Bismarck, N. D., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.) — Troubles of two townships of Cass county, growing out of drainage facilities, were disposed of by the supreme court in a decision that dismisses the suit of the township of Davenport against the township of Leonard. The suit involved the disposition of surface moisture and connected with the question was the matter of proper drain ditch construction along roadways.

The supreme court holds that when a stream losses its identity in a swale by spreading over considerable area, such water becomes surface moisture, and it becomes the duty of the township or political subdivision in which it lodges to care for its disposition.

Cut This Out

Recipe That Breaks a Cold in a Day and Cures Any Curable Cough.

"Mix half ounce of Concentrated Pine compound and two ounces of glycerine with half a pint of good whiskey; shake well and use in doses of one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bed time." Smaller doses to children according to age. Any one can mix this. But be sure to get only the genuine (Globe) Concentrated Pine. Each half ounce bottle comes in a sealed tin screw-top case. If the druggist does not have it he will quickly get it. Many mixtures are of large quantity and cheaper, but it is risky to experiment. This formula comes from a reliable doctor and is certain.

LONG MARRIED; ASKS DIVORCE

Desertion Is Ground After Twenty-Two Years of Married Life.

James E. Brown, 54 years old, wants a divorce from his wife, Jennie Palmar Brown, 45 years old, on grounds of desertion. The papers in the action were filed with the clerk of the district court this morning.

They were married in 1889, according to the complaint, at Cheboygan, Mich. There is a grown son, 25 years of age.

The plaintiff claims that in August, 1903, his wife with no apparent cause, deserted him. He claims to have been a faithful husband and to have supported his wife properly.

LAND OFFICE RECEIPTS

Were Heavy at Bismarck During Month of September.

Bismarck, N. D., Oct. 18. — The monthly report of the United States land office for September has been made public.

During the month there were 228 homestead proofs made, 152 of which passed to record, and 245 people filed on claims. There were two public sales. There were five relinquishments and four protests and the total entries numbered 279.

At the land office during the month of September 1,705 miscellaneous letters were received and answered. The number of letters received from the commissioner of the general land office numbered 192, and the letters sent out in catching up back work were 242.

The recipts of the land office for the month of September were $14,046.88.

Smallpox in St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 18.—St. Paul has an epidemic of smallpox. The disease has appeared in mild form and has been confined principally to the Eighth ward, where thirty-five cases are now in the detention hospital. Forty-five cases have developed there within three weeks. The disease appeared in a parochial school and the health department says it is difficult to control. Nearly all of the patients are children. Several of them are nursing babies.

FORCED TO BID HIGHER

Local Milk Dealer Denies Charge of Discrimination in Prices.

Says Competition Raised Price Paid Farmers in Some Localities.

Henry Bridgeman, president of the Bridgeman-Russell company of Duluth, dealers in dairy products, when asked today about the indictments returned against the company by the Pine county grand jury, charging the company with violating the state law forbidding discrimination in prices on the part of buttermakers in buying cream in different localities, said:

"We are not guilty of the offense with which we have been charged. We have done nothing wrong. Two of our competitors are the complaining witnesses. They wish to drive us out of business. The law forbids a company, which buys cream for the purpose of making it into butter for the market, to discriminate between localities in the price it pays for the purpose of stifling competition. We do not deny that the discrimination has been practiced, but we have done that, not to stifle competition, but to maintain competition, and to hold our own. In other words, the higher prices that we have paid in certain places have been paid because our competitors paid these prices first, and we had to meet them or abandon those purchasing points entirely. In many cases the difference in prices paid at different localities has not only been greater than the difference in cost of transporting the cream to the creamery, but has been greater than the whole cost of the transportation.

Fighting the Law.

"While we maintain that we have not violated the law, we are at the same time fighting the law itself. We hold that the law is not constitutional and that is why the case has gone directly to the supreme court. We are not at all worried about the final outcome of the matter."

Attorney John T. Pearson, associated with the Duluth firm of Baldwin & Baldwin, is handling the case on behalf of the Bridgeman-Russell company. The argument before the supreme court is set to take place on Jan. 31 next. The state will be represented by Attorney General-elect Lyndon A. Smith. The case will be heard in the form of an appeal from the decision of Judge P. H. Stolberg of Pine City, overruling a demurrer to the indictments. This appeal was taken about a month ago. The defendants demurred to the indictments on the ground that the law under which they were found was unconstitutional, being class legislation. The supreme court will pass on the constitutionality of the law. If the law is found to be unconstitutional, the indictments will have to be dismissed. If the law is upheld, the case will have to go back to the district court at Pine City, where it will be tried on its merits. This trial could not take place before the next April term. The indictments were found last April.

Creamery companies and firms all over the state, large and small, are watching the outcome of this litigation with intense interest. If the law is upheld, it is said that the present method that creameries have of competing for the cream will be revolutionized, since the practice of bidding against each other at various towns where there is cream to be had has been practiced by the creameries for many years.

INSPECTED STATE DITCHES

State Officers Return From Tour of Northern Part of State.

The state officials who have been making a tour of the upper part of the state inspecting the drainage ditches reached the city last evening, en route for St. Paul. Among those in the party were Auditor Iverson, State Drainage Engineer G. E. Ralph, State Immigration Inspector G. L. Welch and Archie Hayes, the governor's executive clerk.

Governor Eberhart started with the party, but was obliged to return to St. Paul before the trip was completed. About 450 miles of ditch work was examined and found to be generally satisfactory. In some instances, however, improvements will have to be made before the work is accepted by the state. Part of the ditches have been finished, and it is expected that the bulk of the operations will be wound up this fall. Auditor Iverson stated that what has been accomplished is a revelation, and that great areas of land are being made profitable by the drainage ditches. He spoke of several farmers who have already taken advantage of the opportunities afforded by the ditches, and stated that the work in its present condition will reclaim about half a million acres of otherwise wet, valueless land.

WILL NOT BE INSPECTED.

Weights and Measures for Sale Will Not Be Tested.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 18.—Following a conference of members of the railroad and warehouse commission yesterday, announcement was made that weights and measures in wholesale houses kept for sale and not for the purpose of vending goods, will not be inspected by the weights and measures department.

This decision was reached after wholesalers of the Twin City had protested that enforcement of such a hard and fast rule of inspection would work great injury to their trade.

FORMER HEAD OF THE NAVY ACADEMY RETIRED.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Capt. John M. Bowyer, former superintendent of the United States Naval academy, who voluntarily resigned that position May 15 last, on account of impaired health, was retired yesterday with the rank of rear admiral. Capt. Bowyer was born in Indiana and was appointed from Iowa. He entered the service Sept. 30, 1870.

TAX DODGERS UNEARTHED

Special Assessors Find Property Three Times What Reports Gave.

Money and Credit Levies Are Raised in Nineteen Counties.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Returns made to the state tax commission by special assessors indicate an extraordinary increase in membership in the Amalgamated Order of Unterrified Tax-Dodgers during the last year. That walking delegates, district organizers, ward directors and individual exponents of that worldwide association have visited all sections of the state and obtained converts and joiners by the wholesale since the last assessment, appears from figures promulgated by the commission today.

In ninety-four districts scattered through nineteen counties, regular assessors found only 684 individuals who confessed to being sole proprietors of anything resembling money or credits. They acknowledged sums which totaled $1,237,343.

Increase Double Original.

When special assessors went out into these same districts and struck the trails, they found 2,983 persons who admitted having sums stowed away in places of safe keeping—sums which aggregated $4,073,907, an increase of $2,836,564. The increase alone was double the amount of the original assessment and the reassessment was nearly four times the amount.

The dodging occurred in all sections of the state. Up in Cass county the assessor found only $16,719, but the special assessor landed on twenty-one possessors of moneys and credits when they were not expecting visitors and dug up $109,127, nearly six times as much as at first came from hiding.

In Faribault County.

In Faribault county, which is in another end of the state, the first assessor found only fifty individuals who admitted having $89,991. But when the special sleuth got on the job, 131 other peaceful and law-abiding citizens, proud of their government, "came through" with admissions of their holdings which aggregated $414,221. In other words, the patriotism generated in their breasts by the special assessors caused them to tell of $315,130 which they forgot when just an ordinary assessor called.

Koochiching county, too, has citizens who suffer with lapsis mentis when the assessor makes his initial call. Under the regular assessment this year, only five persons could be found who remembered having any money or credits. These five confessed to worldly goods valued at $1,622. But when the "special" sent out by the state tax commission got on the job, forty-one other freeholders remembered where they had a few moneys and credits lying around aggregating $93,975.

Nineteen Counties Raised.

Increases were made in Carver, Cass, Faribault, Freeborn, Kandiyohi, Koochiching, Le Sueur, McLeod, Meeker, Murray, Morrison, Norman, Otter Tail, Pipestone, Redwood, Renville, Sibley, Traverse and Wabasha counties. There are other precincts still to be heard from, and it is probable the assessment of moneys and credits will be swelled several million dollars more before the work is ended.

"While it appears that there was much tax-dodging," said J. G. Armson, a member of the tax commission, "I think that much of the poor showing resulted from persons not comprehending the law. In many instances persons refused outright to tell the assessors about their moneys and credits, while there were cases, too, of assessors not understanding the law. Circulars sent out by wholesalers and manufacturers in the cities had much to do with many persons withholding statements of their moneys and credits. I believe the law will be better understood and will prove more satisfactory next time an assessment is made."

Want Pennies Now.

The Great West, which long ago turned up its nose at a coin smaller than a quarter and finally for years drew the line at the nickle, has now come into line with the rest of the country, and is happy to have the nimble penny. Salt Lake City has made a howl for more pennies from the national mint, showing that 20,000 pennies are not enough to go round in that city. The demand comes because the housewife has discovered that she can save money by using the small coin, just as she has discovered that she saves money by using golden grain belt beers, which cost most to make but costs her no more. Get a supply from your dealer or duluth branch minneapolis brewing company.

WICKERSHAM DENIES RUMOR

Says He Has Not Indicated Views on Trust Reorganization.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 18.—Attorney General Wickersham last evening denied that he had given out any statement indicating what action the department of justice might take relative to the reorganization plan announced by the American Tobacco company. He said it was a matter which had not come to him in an official way and that he would not attempt to act on a matter which had not been brought to his attention.

"I will not be responsible for any statement that is not made over my own name," said the attorney general. "I have not gone over the proposed plan of reorganization of the American Tobacco company and know of it only as I have seen extracts printed."

Law Must Be Obeyed.

The congress held three sessions yesterday and last night, and the attorney general was a speaker at the evening session. In his address he declared that in the battles of economic forces for supremacy, the law must be obeyed, even though it seems to favor one class as against another. Punishment in some form, declared the attorney general, is still necessary to prevent crime. "This is especially the case," he added, "in a community and at a time when divers economic forces are struggling with each other for the mastery in the state, and where laws are enacted through the influence of one class or classes to control the action of another class who are unwilling to accept them as rules of action—because unconvinced of the wisdom or justice of the legislative policy which they embody."

The attorney general lengthily discussed the broad question of punishment for crime and the administration of the federal parole law. He favored the extension of the parole law to include life prisoners. He regarded it as an incongruity that prisoners sentenced to long terms for vicious crimes should be eligible for parole, when the man convicted of second degree murder must remain in prison for life.

Only One Parole Violated.

Since the parole law was placed in operation last autumn, the attorney general said, but one prisoner had violated his parole. The 200 prisoners who were paroled from the time the law was put into effect in the autumn of 1910 to June 30 earned nearly $22,000, whereas, if they had remained in prison, the attorney general pointed out, they would have been a charge on the government.

Mr. Wickersham expressed the belief that the parole boards should be enlarged by adding two unofficial persons selected from among prominent citizens of the locality in which the prison is situated.

WOULD TAX EMPLOYERS FOR MEN'S INSURANCE.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—A plan to levy a tax on all railroads and employers of labor in interstate commerce to raise a fund for compensation of families of workmen killed in accidents, was suggested to the employers' compensation commission by J. H. Boyd, of Ohio here. Mr. Boyd is chairman of the Ohio liability commission. He also urges that the state adopt uniform legislation of a similar nature, taxing the employer for a common fund to insure employes.

FUNK'S LAWYERS WANT IMMEDIATE JURY TRIAL.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester company, who was sued for $25,000 by John Henning on the charge that he had alienated the affections of Henning's wife, has filed an answer in the circuit court denying Henning's allegations. The plea in part reads:

"The defendant, Clarence S. Funk, comes and defends the wrongs and injury and says that he is not guilty of the said supposed grievances laid in his charge, of any or either of them, in manner or form as the plaintiff has complained against him."

Attorneys Scott, Bancroft and Stephens, counsel for Mr. Funk, made public a copy of a letter sent to Henning's attorney in which they propose that both sides stipulate for an immediate jury trial.

RATHER BE RIGHT THAN PRESIDENT

Bryan Acknowledges He Will Never Reach White House.

Arapahoe, Neb., Oct. 18.—William J. Bryan has at last acknowledged that he never will be president of the United States.

The statement, which is said to be Mr. Bryan's first direct acknowledgement to that effect, was made here in a political speech, when Mr. Bryan said:

"I never shall be president, but I would rather go to my grave with the consciousness that I have done right, that I have done all in my power to give my country the best possible form of government, than to be president."

THE NOW-NOW.

The following story from Jack London's recently published "The Cruise of the Snark" indicates that the Jersey mosquito has a rival in the "now-now."

"I made the strategic mistake of undressing on the edge of a steep bank where I could dive in, but could not climb out. When I was ready to dress I had a hundred yards walk on the bank before I could reach my clothes. At the first stop fully 10,000 now-nows landed upon me. At the second step I was walking in a cloud. By the third step the sun was dimmed in the sky. After that I don't know what happened.

"When I arrived at my clothes I was a maniac. And here enters my grand tactical error. There is only one rule of conduct in dealing with now-nows. Never swat them. Whatever you do, don't swat them.

"They are so vicious that in the instant of annihilation they eject their last atom of poison into your carcass.

"You must pluck them delicately between thumb and forefinger, and persuade them gently to remove their proboscides from your quivering flesh. It is like pulling teeth. But the difficulty was that the teeth sprouted faster than I could pull them, so I swatted, and so doing filled myself full of their poison.

"This was a week ago. At the present moment I resemble a sadly neglected smallpox convalescent."

Your Credit Is Good

Blue Serge Suits---

Another shipment of these fine All-wool Blue Serge Suits. The serge is a strictly mannish fabric of good weight, but not too heavy. They are beautifully tailored in plain and trimmed models. It would be impossible to find their equal for less than $35.00. They show their worth at the first glance. Lined with fine Belding satin—guaranteed. For evening, afternoon or work. What is more suitable. Priced at $25. Terms: A small payment down and $1.00 per week. You'll never miss the money.

Special Values in Coats---

Just at the present time we are making a special bid for popular patronage in granting unusual values in both Ladies' and Misses' Coats at $22.50. They are made up in a variety of materials and shades. Some in novelty, double-faced cloths and camel-hair effects. Still others in smooth finished materials with plaid backs made up with large collars, cuffs and pockets, trimmed largely with self materials. Then we have broadcloths, kerseys, plushes and caraculs for a greater choosing. And we don't want you to forget that a very small payment down and $1.00 per week will buy one of these coats.

$22.50

Business men use their credit to advantage. Why not you?

PRESIDENT VINCENT IS INAUGURATED AT STATE UNIVERSITY

Noted Educators From Other Institutions Take Part in Exercises.

New Executive Tells His Conception of Ideal Institution.

Is Greeted By Governor on Behalf of People of State.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Today's inauguration exercises for President Vincent of the University of Minnesota began with an academic procession through the campus to the armory.

A torch light procession last night, participated in by 6,000 friends of the University of Minnesota, celebrated the eve of the inauguration of President Vincent. From boxes in Northrop field President and Mrs. Vincent viewed the procession. At the right of the state box was Dr. Cyrus Northrop, president emeritus, and Mrs. Northrop, while at President Vincent's left were Ex-President Folwell and his family.

Leading Educators Speak.

At 10 o'clock this morning the formal program was begun. Addresses were given by President Harry Pratt Judson of the University of Chicago, President Albert Ross Hill of the University of Missouri, President John Huston Finley of the College of the City of New York, and President Charles Richard VanHise of the University of Wisconsin.

Luncheon for Guests.

Luncheon for the delegates and speakers was given in Sanford hall at 12:30 and for invited guests in Shevlin hall.

The academic procession then formed again, and at 2:10 o'clock proceeded to the Armory for the installation exercises, presided over by Former Governor John Lind, president of the board of regents. There President Vincent delivered his inaugural address, and Governor Eberhart addressed the new president on behalf of the people of the state.

Talk by Vincent.

A university should aim to serve the commonwealth through individuals, rather than to offer personal privilege and advancement to a few individuals at state expense, according to President Vincent in his inaugural address.

"The other philosophy would reduce the university to a machine equipped for turning out persons prepared at public expense for getting a living out of the citizens who had already been taxed to train their exploiters," said President Vincent.

After paying a high tribute to Former President Cyrus Northrup, the speaker painted an ideal university.

"The first president of Johns Hopkins university was fond of saying that buildings are but the shell of the university, its real life lies in the men. Better inspired investigators and teachers in barracks, than a staff of industrious mediocrity in marble palaces.

The Ideal University.

"Best of all, alert, well trained, high minded scholars in serviceable buildings with adequate equipment. The university which is to remain true to its ideals, will draw and hold an able staff of salaries that banish petty anxieties, by freedom from drudgery, by opportunities for research and public service and by dignifying recognitions. No institution that thinks of investigators and teachers as employes is likely to secure any but the drudges in the profession.

"The teaching at the ideal university is without equivocation and without compromise. Its notes are zeal, accuracy, fullness and authority. It is hard to keep the functions of teaching and investigation in equal honor. Where research is exalted, instruction too often is lightly esteemed.

"The mere teacher,' as the phrase runs, suffers in rank and salary and social status. In the university of our dreams, the noble calling of imparting truth, stimulating reflection and kindling enthusiasm will be held in high repute.

Position of Students.

"In the ideal university students should be treated not as subjects, but as citizens of the republic of letters and science. But to admit them to academic citizenship is not to surrender to them control of the university. It is simply to emphasize their share of the community life; to fix upon them responsibility and to afford that training on the corporate self-control—the selection of leaders, the creation of standards, the conformity to these, which is the very essence of democracy.

"The university must hark back to the mediaeval ideal of a corporation of teachers and scholars."

Address By Governor.

Governor Eberhart said:

"President Vincent: The people of Minnesota take this occasion to extend to you and your estimable family the most sincere greetings and hearty welcome, and to show you the great interest they have in their university and the cause of popular education which it represents.

"Realizing the importance of free popular education, the builders of our state laid the foundation of one of the best public school systems ever established, and provided for its support a permanent school fund, which today approximates $27,000,000, and which within fifty years will exceed $150,000,000, according to reliable estimates. With such a large school fund to guarantee a liberal education to all, and in addition thereto a most generous support from the people of the entire state, no man was ever offered a greater opportunity nor charged with a greater responsibility than the president of the University of Minnesota.

Epoch in State's History.

"This day marks an epoch in the history of our state. While comparatively young, our state is recognized as one of the leading states in the Union, and we cannot look back upon our career without recognizing the great influence for good exerted by our university under the efficient leadership of President Northrop. That this new epoch, with unparalleled opportunities, will make the university a still greater force for intellectual, moral, and social advancement, no one, who knows President Vincent, will doubt.

"The state of Minnesota maintains this institution that those who study may better fit themselves for all duties of citizenship and be able to render the state greater service in return. No education is worthy of the name that does not accomplish for the student such a proportionate development of all faculties of mind and body, as will result in more efficient service, right living, well doing, and the building up of a stronger and beteer citizenship.

Function of University.

"While the great function of a university is to distribute knowledge, it should also be a positive factor in the solving of every problem that confronts the state. In government it should represent the highest ideals of civic righteousness. In citizenship the cleanest and most intelligent. This is essential in a cosmopolitan nation like ours, where citizenship is imited only by the confines of the human race, and where industrial and commercial influence is exerted in the remotest corners of the globe.

"If the people of our state and nation shall have the right conception of law, freedom and justice; if in the achievement of our unparalleled industrial and commercial development we shall succeed in granting equal rights to all and special privileges to none; if we shall maintain a strict state and national integrity, and if we shall lead the nations of the world in the establishment of universal peace and brotherhood, then our educational institutions must train the youth in the duties and responsibilities of self-government.

Pledged People's Support.

"President Vincent: Representing the great commonwealth of Minnesota, I speak for over 2,000,000 people, as intelligent, industrious and prosperous as can be found anywhere. Their co-operation and support I pledge to you; their respect and love shall be your reward.

"May this institution, under your guidance, prepare the boys and girls of Minnesota, not for school, but for life, that they may bequeath to unborn generations the greatest of all legacies, the memory of a noble character and a well-spent life! Then, and not otherwise, shall this university, and the culture that it represents, endure until the gathering shadows of time have collected into the night that precedes the dawn of eternity."

Address by Hill.

Dr. Albert Ross Hill, president of the University of Missouri, spoke on "Culture as a University Ideal." He said:

"As in the case of many another conception, we are indebted to the Greeks for the ideal of a liberal education. They first conceived of education as a means to the development of a free personality, a love of knowledge for its own sake, and an appreciation of the things in this life worth living for.

"They defined, perhaps for all time, the most worthy objects of a man's life—intellectual and aesthetic enjoyment, political and moral freedom, social and personal excellence—called culture."

President Van Hise of Wisconsin said in part:

"We know enough so that if the knowledge were applied the agricultural product of the nation would easily be doubled. We know enough about scientific medicine so that if the knowledge were applied, infectious and contagious diseases could be practically eliminated within a generation.

Application of Knowledge.

"We know enough about the breeding of animals, so that if the knowledge were applied to man, the feebleminded would disappear in a generation, and the insane and criminal class be reduced to a small fraction of their present numbers. Even in politics, we have sufficient scientific knowledge that, if it were applied, there would be vast improvement in the government of this country."

President Van Hise urged the idea of service as the one that should dominate the state university.

The afternoon exercises formed the inauguration proper. They began with the song, "America." John Lind, president of the board of regents, presided. Rev. James H. Moynihan, president of St. Thomas college, pronounced the invocation.

Governor Eberhart headed the list of greetings at the inaugural. C. G. Schulz, state superintendent of public instruction, spoke on behalf of the public schools. Eli Torrance also spoke. Rev. John N. Kildahl, president of St. Olaf's college, Northfield, spoke on behalf of the colleges of the state. President William Oxley Thompson of Ohio State university, president of the National Association of State Universities, voiced the sentiments of that organization.

Dr. Powell Speaker.

The students were represented on the platform by Stanley Gilliam of the senior academic class, and Rev. John W. Powell, '93, of Duluth, spoke for the alumni. The greetings of the faculty of the university to President Vincent were voiced by Prof. Emeritus William W. Folwell, first president of the university. The presentation of the president by President Emeritus Cyrus Northrop followed.

President Vincent then delivered his inaugural address. Following the song, "Minnesota," Bishop John Heyl Vincent, father of the university president, pronounced the benediction.

The guests, delegates, faculties and alumni will assemble in the main building at the college of agriculture at 6:30, whence they will march to the dining hall for an inaugural dinner. Following the dinner there will be a number of five-minute addresses by university presidents and professorial delegates from various institutions.

SUPERIOR CLAIMS HE WAS DRUGGED

Police Find Young Medical Student Wandering About Streets.

Do Not Know Whether He Came From Milwaukee or Chicago.

Walking about the streets in an apparently dazed condition, Robert C. Brenhardy, a medical student from either Milwaukee or Chicago, was picked up by the police late last night and is now in St. Mary's hospital under the care of a physician. It appears that the young man was drugged at one of the above cities and then sent to Superior on a train.

Just exactly what happened the police are unable to ascertain as the young man would not talk at all when questioned at the police station last night. All the information that they have was obtained from the various books and pamphlets found on his person. He has several notebooks on lectures in medicine at the college of physicians and surgeons, as the books state, but there are two such schools, one at Chicago and the other at Milwaukee. The police are therefore at loss to know what to do, except wait until the man regains his normal state before an investigation is made. The police think that his conditon is the result of some college prank. The young man would not talk at all last night except to say that he was drugged.

The young man has been taken to the hospital, where he is under the care of Dr. C. G. McGill, who thinks that he is mentally affected besides having been drugged. Dr. McGill will make a careful examination tomorrow.

TWO KILLED IN DAY'S ACCIDENTS

Nicholas Wednt, aged 60, was instantly killed by an Omaha switch train while crossing the tracks in the Itasca yards last evening about 6:30 o'clock. The body was caught under the wheels and frightfully mangled. Wendt conducted a boarding house at Itasca for twelve years and is survived by one daughter and one son.

John Olson of Superior, employed by the Great Northern at Saunders, stepped out of his boarding car directly in front of an oncoming freight train last evening and was crushed to death. Efforts are being made to locate relatives.

MOSLEM MISSIONARY IN UNITED STATES

MOHAMED ALI.

New York is enjoying a visit from a descendant of Mahomet. He is Mohamed Ali, a travelling missionary of the Moslem church. Under the former regime in Turkey he was known as the "traveling pope" of the church. Mohamed Ali refuses to be interviewed at length, but he consented to be quoted as saying that there would be no holy war unless the present conflict with Italy or some after conflict threatened the dismemberment of the Turkish empire.

WANT RIGHT TO FISH AND HUNT.

A party of Indians from the La Pointe and the Lac Court Orielles reservations, numbering eleven and headed by five chiefs, held a conference yesterday afternoon with Congressman Lenroot, demanding the rights guaranteed to their grandfathers in 1832 and 1854. The treaties allowed them to hunt and fish unmolested, and they want this right restored, as it was neither revoked by the president or congress.

Will Pay for Dock.

The council last night authorized the transfer of $32,000 from the license fund to the general fund so that the payment on the city dock site could be made today. The money will be transferred to the original fund at a later date.

SHE MADE A VOW.

Chicago News: "Five minutes of your time is all I ask, madam," said the man with the back number plug hat. "In five minutes I can convince you that this machine is the mechanical triumph of the age. It combines several indispensable articles in one. In its present form we have a coffee mill, all ready for business. We push this indicator around to the left and, presto! we have a sausage grinder. Now we press the indicator still farther to the left. Voila! We have a corn popper—and such a popper! Now we move the indicator—"

"You'd better move your legs instead of the indicator before my husband comes and sees you here," said Mrs. Curfew. "He's in the back yard sawing wood, and he's in a bitter mood, as he always is when sawing wood, and I tremble when I think of what will happen if he comes around the corner of the house and sees you here, for there's nothing that infuriates him as much as the sight of an agent. I must say it's a shame and a disgrace for a large, strong man like you to be going around pestering women with your prestos and vollas, which, I suppose, are some new kind of healing herbs gathered by the government chemist at the dark of the moon.

"I wouldn't have one of those combination jimcracks in the house, even if you gave it to me, so it's useless to stand here and argue, telling me that it has been indorsed by Mr. Hackenschmidt or Belva Lockwood. Instead of pushing that little indicator around, you should be doing something useful, earning money so you can buy yourself a respectable hat, for I'm sure no gentleman would accost a lady while wearing such a hat as that.

"I made a vow years ago never to buy any machines with indicators on them under any circumstances, and my blood runs cold to this day when I think of what happened to my daughter's little girl just before I made that vow. That precious child is just the image of me, everybody says, although she does have a gift for hurting herself that I never possessed. She has been screaming with pain ever since her earliest infancy, and her parents have to pay so many doctor bills that they get discouraged, for it seems impossible to get anything ahead.

"When she was 3 or 4 months old I was visiting at my daughter's home, and one day there came an agent to the door. He was a most repulsive creature and I remember distinctly that he wore just such a hat as yours. I wouldn't be surprised to hear that he was your father or your elder brother.

"This agent was selling a machine that had been invented by the archbishop of Canterbury, I think it was, and it had an indicator on it just like yours, although I don't remember that the agent said anything about prestos or vollas or other barks and buds. The machine was a complete cradle, with rockers and everything, but when you pressed the indicator it turned into a rotary washing machine in the twinkling of an eye, and then when you pressed again it became a music box, and I don't know what else.

"My daughter hadn't discovered that agents are serpents in disguise, so she purchased this combination machine against my protests and put that precious child into it to rock her to sleep. Well, the unfortunate child happened to get her little pink angel toes against the indicator, and the machine gave a snap like a bear trap, and the first thing we knew it was a rotary washing machine, making 800 revolutions a minute, and that poor baby was all mixed up in the machinery, with big wooden paddles beating her in forty places at once!

"It was the most shameful thing I ever saw, and I made a vow right there that I'd never buy anything with an indicator on it, and no agent can argue me out of it. Now, I hear my husband coming, and the faster you go the safer you'll be."

SHEEP AS BURDEN BEASTS.

Westminster Gazette: In the northern part of India sheep are put to use unthought of in European countries. The mountain paths among the foothills of the Himalayas are so precipitous that the sheep, more sure footed than larger beasts, are preferred as burden beasts.

The load for each sheep is from sixteen pounds to twenty pounds. The sheep are driven from village to village with the wool still growing and in each town the farmer shears as much wool as he can sell there and loads the sheep with the grain he receives in exchange. After his flock has been sheared he turns it homeward, each sheep having on its back a small bag containing the purchased grain.

LENROOT IS SPEAKER

Superior Congressman Talks on "Our Scandinavian Citizenship."

Advises Countrymen to Give "Best That Is in Them."

Congressman I. L. Lenroot of Wisconsin spoke at the Swedish Mission bazar, held at the church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, last evening. The subject of the address was: "Our Scandinavian Citizenship" and was well received by the large audiences who had come especially to hear this address.

Congressman Lenroot just returned from Chicago where he attended the National Progressive convention, and he is enthusiastic over the new party. Although the speech was not a political one, it had the ring of Progressiveness throughout. He spoke in part on doing the duty to the country one lived in and giving one's best for its welfare. He advised his countrymen not to forget their old fatherland and to always keep it in mind. "Everyone must take part in the progressive work of the country," he said. "Each man must do his duty to the United States and the only way that it can be done is to have the spirit of the age and the people. You must not be satisfied with thinking, but you must act as well. The future of our country rests on every man here in the audience. And remember that in helping fight for your rights you want equal justice to all and special privileges to none."

The bazar will continue the balance of the week at the church and prominent speakers have been secured for each evening. This evening Rev. P. Wellander will speak on "Manly Men."

GYMNASIUM IS NEARLY READY

Boys of St. Clements Church Will Have Fine Place for Athletics.

The new gymnasium of the St. Clement church is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready for use by the latter part of the week. The floor is being used at present by the indoor baseball team. The basement has not been finished and is the part that the men are working on now. New lockers and shower baths have been put in and the general comfort of the boys is being looked after.

The All-Stars of West end will play a return indoor baseball game with the St. Clement sodality team this evening. The sodality team easily defeated them in the last game. Thursday night the local team will play one of the teams of the Twin Port league.

ST. CLEMENTS FAIR MOST SUCCESSFUL.

The receipts of the St. Clement's fair and bazar held all last week at 2109 West Superior street, were $3,087.58. They will be used to help pay the large building debt. Saturday evening was spent in announcing the prize winners. The following won the prizes and are asked by Father Raymond to call at the parish house and receive their gifts: Miss Zella Herben, J. M. Rock, Agatha Berger, Mrs. P. R. Haley, F. S. Sandstedt, Miss Irene Schmitz, Albert Hoch and Richard Flynn.

LARS LARSON PASSES AWAY

Pioneer Midway Farmer Dies at Home in West End.

One of the earliest settlers in Duluth, Lars Larson, 72 years old, died late yesterday afternoon at his home, 1832 West Fifth street. He had been ill for the past three months, having been confined to his bed nearly all that time.

He purchased a farm near Midway in 1886 and was one of the first men who farmed in that neighborhood. He had been working the farm until three months ago when he was taken ill. He is survived by a widow, five sons and three daughters, all of whom reside in the city. They are: Alexander, Andrew, Charles, William, Frank, Miss Mary, Jennie and Mrs. J. H. O'Leary. Mr. Larson was a membehr of several local lodges and one of the elders of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church.

The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. Rev. Edward Erickson will officiate and interment will be in Park Hill cemetery.

MEN'S CLUB WILL HOLD BANQUET

The Men's Club of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, will hold its first banquet this evening in the church parlors. The club recently organized and this was the first meeting. About 100 are expected to attend.

Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church, and W. L. Smithies will address the members after the banquet. Rev. Erickson will also address the men following a short instrumental and vocal program. J. J. Moe will act as toastmaster during the banquet.

Harvest Festival.

A harvest social will be given by the Luther League of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, the evening of Friday, Nov. 16. The program will be given in the church parlors and Dr. Frank Nelson, president of the Minnesota college, will be the principal speaker. A number of instrumental and vocal numbers have also been arranged.

Wood Yard Is Moved.

H. Jentoft, who was ordered by the city council three months ago to remove all the wood he had stored on the lots at Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth avenues west and First street, has taken most of the wood away and will finish the work within a few days. The order was given following an agitation started by the residents about that woodpile. They claimed that there was danger of the wood burning at any time. Mr. Jentoft is obeying the order as rapidly as possible.

CAUSES SICKNESS

Good Health Impossible With a Disordred Stomach.

There is nothing that will create sickness or cause more trouble than a disordered stomach, and many people daily contract serious maladies simply through disregard or abuse of the stomach.

We urge every one suffering from any stomach derangement, indigestion, or dyspepsia, whether acute or chronic, to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, with the distinct understanding that we will refund their money without question or formality, if after reasonable use of this medicine they are not satisfied with the results. We recommend them to our customers every day, and have yet to hear of any one who has not been benefited by them. Three sizes, 25c., 50c., and $1.00 a box. Sold in Duluth only at our store—The Rexall Store. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street.

NEW FACTORY FOR THE WEST END

John Wahl Will Have New Building Which Will Cost $60,000.

Architect J. J. Wangenstein is now working on plans for the new factory which John Wahl, president of the John Wahl Candy company, Seventeenth avenue west and Michigan street, will erect at the corner of Twenty-third avenue west and First street. His present quarters are too small. The lot was formerly leased by P. Perreault.

The building will be three stories and will contain one of the most modern and sanitary candy factories in the West. The first floor will be used for office and shipping room purposes, while the factory will be on the other two floors. The structure is to be of brick and will be fireproof throughout. The building will cost about $60,000 and is expected to be ready for occupancy by April 1.

Lodge Bazar.

North Star lodge, No. 11, of the I. O. G. T. will give their annual bazar in Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week. Special costumes and scenes have been arranged and a tableau will be given each evening. Refreshments will be served by the ladies of the lodge.

Banquet to Be Held.

Invitations have been sent out by the West end committee of the Men in Religion Forward movement for a banquet to be held Thursday evening at the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. Special arrangements have been made for prominent speakers to address the gathering after the banquet. A musical program has also been arranged and will be given during the course of the dinner.

Want to Build Spur.

The Clyde Iron works has applied to the city council for the use of part of Thirty-first avenue west for a railroad spur for an entrance to the company's plant. The matter was referred to the committee and a report is expected at the next meeting.

Surprise Party.

A surprise party was given last evening in honor of Mrs. Pederson, 1901 West Third street. The evening was spent in music and games. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames G. Thorstad, S. Simonson, B. Swenson, L. Hennum, P. Carlson, C. Young; the Misses Maud Swanson, Hulda Dahl, Ida Pederson, Cora Anderson, Thyra East, Myrtle Pederson, Mamie Swanson, Alfreda Nelson, Alice Moen, Hilda Bergeson; and the Messrs. Paul Andergeson, Tom Storley, Sam Olson, Albin Swenson, Roy Pederson, Mike Stocke, Nels Stone, Christopher Stone, Anker Pederson, Christ Larson, Louis Young and Andrew Storeng.

Funeral of Child Held.

The funeral of Phillip Slonka, the 1½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Slonka, 2755 Wellington street, was held this morning from the home to the Polish cemetery. The child died yesterday morning after a short illness from cholera infantum, which it contracted about two months ago.

West End Briefs.

Miss Kimball, teacher at the Monroe school, will be hostess at a mother's meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Central Baptist church, at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Miss Kimball will address the gathering and relate some of her experiences while teaching.

A new storm sewer has been completed on Twenty-first avenue west down to Third street. This was done at the request of the residents in that section of the city, who claimed conditions were bad whenever it rained.

Mr. and Mrs. August Bodin, 1112 North Eleventh avenue west will celebrate their silver wedding this evening at their home. A number of intimate friends have been invited and Rev. Mr. Stromborg will lead the prayer before the services.

The Rebecca Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church will be entertained tomorrow evening at the home of Mrs. L. J. Hallquist, 2826 West Huron street.

Carl Holmsten will give a temperance lecture in Swedish this evening at the Maccabee hall under the auspices of the Lysglymt lodge. Tomorrow evening he will speak at Sloan's hall under the auspices of the North Star lodge, No. 11.

Cottage prayer meetings this evening will be held at the homes of E. E. Churchill, 3815 West Third street, and Mrs. J. D. Campbell, 411 North Twenty-fourth avenue west.

Rev. Swaney Nelson of the First Swedish Baptist church returned last evening from Minneapolis, where he attended the board meeting of the state Baptist convention.

ROCHESTER HAS FLOOD.

Southern Minnesota City's Park Is Badly Damaged.

Rochester, Minn., Oct. 18.—Mayo park, the pride of Rochester, was partially submerged late Monday night. The Zumbro river raged through the pleasure resort, tearing out the work of three years and causing many hundreds of dollars damage to the park system.

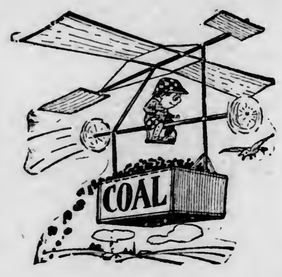

Gravel roads were carried away, shrubs, foot bridges and boats went down the stream, and for a time it seemed as if the loss of 1908, when the flood washed Mayo park almost off the map, would be duplicated. Thousands of dollars of damage to property was done by the flood in this section.

The Rebecca Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church will be entertained tomorrow evening at the home of Mrs. L. J. Hallquist, 2826 West Huron street.

Carl Holmsten will give a temperance lecture in Swedish this evening at the Maccabee hall under the auspices of the Lysglymt lodge. Tomorrow evening he will speak at Sloan's hall under the auspices of the North Star lodge, No. 11.

Cottage prayer meetings this evening will be held at the homes of E. E. Churchill, 3815 West Third street, and Mrs. J. D. Campbell, 411 North Twenty-fourth avenue west.

Toivo Ruohonen Said to Have Attacked John Grisdale With Knife.

Toivo Ruohonen is on trial before Judge Ensign of the district court today on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

The defendant is said to have assaulted John Grisdale with a knife, inflicting an ugly looking wound across the face.

The affair took place on lower Lake avenue and the principals are said to have been more or less under the influence of liquor.

HOUGHTON TEMPLE BEING DEDICATED

At Biggest Masonic Gathering in History of Upper Peninsula.

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—This is a notable day in the history of Masonry in the Upper Peninsula as the splendid Masonic temple erected here at a cost of $75,000 is being dedicated by officers and members of the grand lodge of the state with many members of the craft in attendance.

Masons are here from all portions of the copper and iron country and many from Southern Michigan. The building is four stories and one of the finest in the state.

MINNESOTA MADE TWINE FOR WISCONSIN USERS.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 18.—The state of Minnesota, through its prison warden, has opened negotiations for the sale of its surplus prison-made binder twine to the farmers of Wisconsin. It was to permit this to be done, it is understood, that Minnesota increased the output of her plant and changed her laws. Heretofore the plant was not allowed to sell outside of Minnesota until very late in the season.

Henry Wolfer, warden of the state prison at Stillwater, wrote to the state headquarters of the American Society of Equity in this city saying the prison is in position to sell twine to the members of the association, and the farmers of Wisconsin generally, under just as favorable conditions as are given the farmers of Minnesota.

ANOTHER REASON FOR AN EXTRA SESSION.

The Bemidji Pioneer demands that Governor Eberhart redeem his promise, made last December to the Northern Minnesota Development association at Brainerd, that if the legislature failed to provide reapportionment he would call an extra session.

Governor Eberhart DID make that promise. Governor Eberhart should redeem it. He made it voluntarily, without any request from Northern Minnesota. He should redeem it voluntarily, without any request from Northern Minnesota.

One of the ablest lawyers in Minnesota has stated that under the Constitution there can be no reapportionment until 1917 unless it is made by the present legislature, which is the one following the census of 1910. There will not be another census until 1915, and the next legislature after that will be the legislature of 1917.

Does Northern Minnesota propose to wait that long for justice which should have been granted it long ago?

The Herald has been urging, and still urges, an extra session to grapple with the railroad problem. Railroad property in Minnesota is grossly under-taxed, while railroad rates are higher in Minnesota than in any near by state. The rate question is before the courts; but the taxation question is up to the governor and the legislature. There should be an extra session to propose an increase in railroad taxes so that the people may vote on it at the election of 1912; for if there is not the people cannot approve the increase until 1914, and it will be delayed two years, causing a loss of millions of dollars in taxes.

The Herald welcomes the co-operation of the Bemidji Pioneer. It has made a good start in a good fight. More power to it.

There are reasons enough and to spare for an extra session of the legislature. Governor Eberhart should call it, and it should be held next January.

ADVERTISING A CITY.

Secretary Eva of the Duluth Commercial club brings back from a convention of commercial club executives the ripened judgment of that convention that the best way to advertise a city is in newspapers. That's the best way to advertise anything; and the best method of advertising anything—breakfast foods or cities—is first to have the goods to advertise. Duluth has the goods; and the best kind of advertising is to do things with them that will make news.

A SPECK ON THE PRIMARY SYSTEM.

The revelations of the Stephenson case have developed a speck on the clean surface of the primary election system. Though under the Wisconsin primary the people nominate senatorial candidates, one man who had no other reason for being made a senator got himself made one by the lavish use of money. It isn't creditable to Wisconsin, nor to the primary.

So advocates of the old system are crying out, from the reek of corruption in which they contentedly abide as the hog contentedly abides in his mud puddle, in gladness that they have found this speck on the primary system.

Yet it is no more wonderful to find an unclean spot in the primary system than it would be to find a speck of purity in the system of boss-ruled conventions which the primary election supplants.

A MONUMENT TO LINCOLN.

Two million dollars has been appropriated for a monument to Abraham Lincoln, and that's just and fine and fitting.

But we wish the art commission in Washington which has the task of determining what form that monument is to take had a deeper insight into the character of Abraham Lincoln than it seems to have. Its investigations, we are sure, would take a different direction.

Just now it seems bent on adding to the scenic curiosities of Washington another pile of bronze or granite, that being, apparently, its only idea of the form a monument to Lincoln should take. Washington now has enough and to spare of such decorations, and some of them are very melancholy spectacles indeed. Perhaps the proposed monument of bronze or granite would be sightlier, but we can't be sure that it wouldn't be unsightlier.

Besides, that isn't the form the nation's gratitude and honor should take, anyway.

Nobody who realizes how deeply the great heart of Lincoln loved the plain people and how keenly it sorrowed for their handicaps and difficulties will fail to agree that this monument to Lincoln, whatever it may turn out to be, should be something that will be of practical use to the people; though that needn't prevent its being sightly and refreshing to mind and soul by its beauty.

But why, for pity's sake, must a nation's love and reverence and gratitude always be squeezed into the same meaningless form of a monument of stone or metal? And why, even if it must be so in all other cases, can't an exception be made in this case, where an exception is so clearly called for?

Two suggestions have been made and both have been rejected by the commission. One was that a great memorial highway be built from Washington to Gettysburg. The other was that a beautiful memorial bridge across the Potomac to Arlington be constructed. Either of these suggestions is far better than the commission's conventional idea of a conventional monument.

F. W. Fitzpatrick, formerly of Duluth, in an article in the American Contractor suggests that the money be used to erect a great States building in Washington, as a fitting memorial to the man who did more than any other to cement forever the Union of states when it seemed about to be broken. That, too, is a much better suggestion than the commission's proposal to add another statue or monument to embellish or destroy the sightliness of the capital city. Mr. Fitzpatrick's idea is that the states would gladly contribute to eke out the government's two millions, and that the building could be used for a permanent exposition and convention hall.

We are committed to no plan, though every plan suggested is better than the commission proposes to do. But it is to be hoped that pressure enough can be brought to bear upon the commission to induce it to change its absurd idea of sealing up that two million in a meaningless monument, when if the heart and spirit of the man to be honored is taken into consideration the memorial must be something that will not only be beautiful to the people's eyes, but that will serve their comfort and promote their happiness.

THOSE LEGISLATIVE ANIMOSITIES.

Says Wheelock's Weekly of Fergus Falls: "The talk of an extra session will not down. The Duluth Herald is largely responsible for its liveliness. Newspapers and politicians discuss it constantly, yet the people fail to warm up. Inasmuch as the object is to help the people by raising the tax on the gross earnings of the railroads, this lukewarmness is hard to account for, except upon the theory that the people watched the work of the last session and did not like it, and are not eager to see the same bunch of legislators again at the capitol. This is the chief objection to an extra session. The same old animosities which prevented intelligent, well-rounded results last winter would be as active as ever."

This statement represents the feeling of so many The Herald would like to meet it, because there is a complete and satisfying answer to it.

In the first place, the people have not failed to warm up, and there is no lukewarmness among them. To say that there is would be to say that the people of this state are soddenly satisfied to remain supine under the humiliation of living in the only state in the Northwest where people have to pay 3 cents a mile to ride on railroads, because the railroads felt safe from interference on the part of the officials elected by the people. And the fact that politicians and newspapers are talking constantly about the extra session proves that Wheelock's Weekly is mistaken: politicians and newspapers do not talk constantly of things in which the people are not interested.

The "animosities" were in the house of representatives. It was the house which bickered and squabbled and called itself names and turned and bit itself venomously. There was animosity enough there, and to spare. There was little in the senate, which was organized along "progressive" lines and which got along most amiably with itself all winter.

But the house, which indulged itself in all the "animosities" which have created a lack of confidence in the ability of the legislature to do the will of the people, and which was charged—falsely, we think—with being "organized in the interest of the interests," passed these measures: The Oregon plan of electing United States senators; the Federal income tax ratification; reapportionment; the initiative and referendum; the recall; the statewide primary; increasing the limit of damages recoverable for death from wrongful act from $5,000 to $7,500; putting telephone companies under state regulation as to service and charges, etc.

What more could or did anybody ask? The house, for whose childish bickerings the whole legislature is being blamed, did its duty by putting through more constructive legislation than any house in the history of the state. The senate, which hardly had a decent fight all winter, let most of them die.

And the senate, it should be remembered, was then four years away from an election. Next winter, if it is called in special session, it will be so close to the time for re-election that it will have its ear pretty near to the ground.

The "animosities" to which the Fergus Falls paper refers did not interfere with "intelligent, well-rounded results" last winter. They will not interfere with intelligent, well-rounded results next winter.

Call an extra session, and give the legislature a chance to make good!

WATCH THE WHITTIER CASE.

It is reported from St. Paul, on what authority is not disclosed, that the state board of control will hand down a decision shortly in the Whittier case, and that P. M. Ringdal and Charles E. Vasaly, who were appointed to the board by the late Governor Johnson, will hold with Whittier, while C. J. Swendsen, who was appointed by Governor Eberhart, will recommend his dismissal.

If this is true the situation which those back of the Whittier prosecution have been seeking to create will come about; and it will stand the people of Minnesota in good stead if they watch the proceedings very closely.

Already, it is reported, the state administration is figuring on the extent of its authority to discharge the two members of the board who are said to be about to refuse to do its bidding and discharge Whittier. It is reported that long ago tentative offers of their places were made to others. Every bit of evidence, direct or indirect, goes to bear out the charge made by The Herald early in the history of this case, that the underlying motive of it all was to get rid of the Democratic members of the board that were appointed by Governor Johnson and to make it possible to appoint men of Governor Eberhart's choosing.

If this comes about there will be Republican control of the board, and of the fat contracts it has the power to let and of the multitude of appointments it has the power to make. The board of control, for the first time in its history, will pass into politics; and it will be the worst kind of politics existing—that which is maintained by the organization of corporation-serving politicians which surrounds Governor Eberhart.

THE REASON FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Pretty nearly everybody seems to have missed the real reason for giving women the right to vote. It isn't that it is going to make women better if they vote; though it will make them better citizens. It isn't that it is going to improve conditions in this country to let women vote, though it will improve conditions. A brief study of the character of much of the opposition to woman suffrage proves that conclusively enough.

But the real reason why women should be allowed to vote is that there should be no discrimination as to the privilege of the ballot in a free government.

There should be no discrimination of class. There should be no discrimination of sex. It isn't really a free government so long as there is discrimination, whether it is of class or sex.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

THE JEWISH PEOPLE AS AGRICULTURISTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Recently The Herald published an article from Rabbi Lefkovits stating that the Jew will be once more a farmer, as he used to be 2,000 years ago. But I have my doubts. Jewish financiers like Rothschild, Schiff and Julius Rosenwald want the Jew to be a politician under the mask of agriculture.

No other country in the world gives the Jew more liberty, spiritual and political, but it forces the Jew to turn traitor to his own religion.

That the real orthodox Jew is dying out is a fact. He is today reformed, or no Jew at all.

Rabbi Lefkovits forgot to state the fact that the Jew, 2,000 years ago a farmer, cannot be forced to agriculture, nor can the Jew be forced to go back to his own religion.

So my opinion in the matter of the Jew as an agriculturist is to give him back his religion to teach our children, the real orthodox religion once more as the Jew had 2,000 years ago, and I believe that he would gladly go back to the farm.

As it stands today, the Jew as an agriculturist will be a failure.

ISADORE LAUDSMAN, A. B.

Duluth, Oct. 18.

The Colonel's Divorce Reform.

Chicago Evening Post: Col. James Hamilton Lewis has entered the lists with those who would solve the divorce problem. In a local magazine—perhaps too local to give the colonel the platform he needs—he goes through those well-known paces. Divorce is on the increase. Quote figures. What can our future be? Quote prophecy. What is the remedy? Offer an original scheme, preferably something concrete, mechanical and apparently automatic in its action, like a law or an institution.

The colonel's remedy is a special divorce court at which the church will be represented. Enter wife, who has supported herself and her children for ten years without help from a drunken husband. She wants a divorce. Her appearance causes a rustle in the "serried rows on rows" of black-coated men who sit where the jury used to be. They are, reader, the representatives of the church, and there must be 186 of them, according to the United States census, if the woman is to be sure of getting precisely the ecclesiastical counsel that she is committed to. She tells the judge her denomination and from the serried rows steps forth the proper churchman, who, conscious of the brethren behind him, will certainly exert proper zeal to see that the woman has exhausted all human effort at "preserving the marriage tie."

It seems like putting a big hurdle in a woman's way. She has to convince the judge and she has to convince the church. May the Lord have mercy on her.

We fear it will not do. No such mechanical solution can be a real solution. The program, we suspect, will be far more economical and educational than it will be legal or ecclesiastical. Col. Lewis' article illustrates, perhaps, our main difficulty—namely, the perfect nonchalence with which schemes are outlined which consider "society" and all the institutions remotely involved, and do not fully consider the stark refusal of the human spirit to live under galling conditions.

But the colonel has certainly outlined a plan which should make for the liberal education of the 186 churchmen in their serried rows.

Forward.

"A thousand creeds and battle-cries,
A thousand warring social schemes,
A thousand new moralities,
And twenty thousand thousand dreams.

"Each on his own archic way
From the old order speaking free—
Our ruined world desires," you say,
"License, once more, not liberty."

But oh, beneath the wind-whipt foam
When storm and change are on the deep,
How quietly the tides come home,
And how the depths of sea-shine sleep!

And we that march toward a goal,
Destroying, only to fulfill
The law, the law of that great soul
Which moves beneath your allen will,

We that like foemen meet the past
Because we bring the future, know
We only fight to achieve at last
A great reunion with our foe:

Reunion in the truths that stand
When all our wars are rolled away,
Reunion of the heart and hand
And of the prayers wherewith we pray.

Reunion in the common needs,
The common strivings of mankind;
Reunion of our warring creeds
In the one God that dwells behind.

Then—in that day—we shall not meet
Wrong with new wrong, but right with right,
Our faith shall make your faith complete
When our battalions reunite.

Forward! What use in idle words?
Forward, O warriors of the soul!
There will be breaking up of swords
When that new morning makes us whole.

—Westminster Gazette.

Settlements Now 25 Years Old.

The settlement movement in this country signalizes this year its twenty-fifth birthday. In 1900, thirteen years after the first one was started in the United States, there were 103 settlements. Since 1900 the number has doubled every five years, so that there were 413 in 1910.

"The first American settlement," writes Robert A. Woods of the South End House of Boston in The Survey, 'was the Neighborhood guild, now the University settlement, which was established by Stanton Coit, one of the lecturers of the New York Society for Ethical Culture, in August, 1886. Dr. Coit tells how difficult it was to persuade a truckman, who had been engaged to move his goods to Forsyth street, that there was not some mistake in the address.

"The most cursory study of the Handbook of Settlements recently issued as one of the Russell Sage Foundation publications, brings out the strongly individual character of the various settlements. A settlement may be said to be made up of a group of people who live in a neighborhood in order to understand the social life of the quarter, supplement it to the best of their ability, interpret its virtues and needs to the larger social whole, and awaken and organize its citizens to attempt the solution of their own problems.

"As an indication part of their work nearly all of the settlements have been influential in obtaining some form of municipal improvement, such as playgrounds, public baths, public libraries, improved streets, housing and sanitation, and more humane administration of public charity. Settlements have also assisted in creating public opinion in favor of the labor union at its best, in enforcing the laws concerning the labor of women and children, and in various ways making if less easy to exploit the more helpless members of the community."

Those Ignorant Russians.

Toledo Blade: The man who killed Premier Stolypin has been hanged. The Russians are an ignorant people—they don't know what a techn'cality looks like.

An Important Subject.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: While conservation of water power gains popular strength, judicious conservation of the people who live below the dams must not be ignored.

STATE AND THE RAILROADS.

The Kind That Counts.

Thief River Falls Times: The Duluth Herald's campaign for an extra session of the state legislature to increase the railroad gross earnings tax has aroused prominent members of that body to action and last week Speaker Dunn and other of his colleagues conferred in St. Paul relative to calling an extra session. It is now up to Mr. Eberhart to get busy and call the law-makers together. The tax rate in the state is too high by several mills. The railroads, by paying a just tax, can alleviate the oppression caused by the high rate, and the state by an investment of a few thousands can secure a return of millions of dollars each year. The Herald deserves the hearty co-operation of every newspaper in Northern Minnesota, and the Times desires to be among the first to volunteer its services.

Bearing Down on the Poor Man.

Warren Sheaf: We believe that charging the common people 3 cents a mile for riding on the railroads of this state, while the wealthier and more favored classes may ride for 2 cents a mile, is grossly unjust discrimination and an outrage upon the common people of this state. A citizen of the United States, be he rich or poor, pays the same price for postage stamps, regardless of whether he buys one stamp or 10,000 at a time. That is equality. But when this same citizen wants to ride on the railroad, discrimination steps in, and if he is a poor man, he must pay a third more—and even then receive less courteous treatment and poorer accommodations than is accorded the favored few, who generally ride in Pullman cars. We believe that the common people of this state should take up this question and make a howl, about it loud enough to be heard from the Iowa line to the Canadian border and from the banks of the Red river to the marble palace in St. Paul where the power of the state is centralized. Why is not more stir made about this? Simply because the wealthier classes are enjoying a favor, and they will never make a fuss about it. If they were the ones discriminated against, you would soon see the railways ripped up the back in short order. It is high time that the common people of this state begin to assert their rights and demand in stentorian tones that this discrimination must cease. Suits ought to be started against every railroad company compelling them to give the same rates to the poor man as to the rich man. We do not think there is a court in the land that would uphold the injustice.

Paying for Silence.

Warroad Pioneer: Those who travel enough so they can buy a mileage book can travel for 2 cents a mile in Minnesota, but those who travel only occasionally have to pay 3 cents a mile. Those who travel enough to use mileage books have most influence, politically, and the railroads figure that by giving them a lower rate they can be left in peace to skin the extra cent per mile off the rest of the population.

Blaming the Voters.

Belgrade Tribune: Recently twenty-four governors met in council to see what could be done for the people as to railroad rates. Governor Eberhart of Minnesota was invited to participate, but though he had been traveling far and wide speaking on innumerable subjects of no vital interest to his people, he could not find time to attend. These governors, on behalf of their respective states, unanimously united in a protest against Judge Sanborn's railroad rate decision, and provided for a committee to present their protest to the supreme court, but in the protest the name of Governor Eberhart is not found. Honestly, you Democrats, you Republicans, who voted to make Eberhart governor, what do you think of him?

The Question Still Unanswered.

St. Peter Free Press: Isn't it rather queer that the 2-cent fare should be all right in Wisconsin and Iowa and all wrong in Minnesota? The people can hardly be blamed for finding fault under this state of condition. Certainly they are entitled to a plausible explanation and it cannot come any too soon, to steer clear of unnecessary trouble.

People or Railroads?

Hallock Enterprise: The state tax rate announced for next year is the highest in nearly forty years—its the highest rate the citizens of the state have faced since 1873, and yet Governor Eberhart refuses to call an extra session of the legislature to compel the railroads to pay their just share of these taxes.

Sunday Laws vs. Rest Day Days.

John A. Fitch in The Survey: Sunday laws in the United States were put on the statute books through the efforts of churchmen. They are no mere rest-day laws, these restrictions that have come down in America from Colonial days. They are designed just to protect the Sabbath from desecration. But where our fathers needed a law to protect a religious institution, we need a law to protect men. And in a complex age we are vainly trying to accomplish the latter through the medium of the old Sunday laws. The Sunday laws have failed to meet the test in a commercial age. And I am wondering how long the church is going to remain quiescent. Long ago it struck with vigor for legislation that would protect the Sabbath, and got it. And then, because the time changed, the legislation failed. But after all "the Sabbath was made for man." Man is the more important. Will not the church strike with vigor today for legislation that will protect man?

A law requiring one day of rest in seven, regardless of which day it is, for all workmen—absolutely demanding that one rest-day with no loopholes of "necessity and charity"—would result in two things. The industries necessarily continuous would add one-seventh to their working force and let one-seventh of their force by rotation rest each day in the week. But it would cost more to employ a larger working force, and the industries not necessarily continuous would close down on Sundays. Thus the Sabbath would be better protected than it is now; thus men would be protected from the necessity of working seven days a week in order to hold their jobs. A man who has one day of rest, a week, whether of his own choice or by compulsion, is a better worker, a better citizen, and a better man than one who works every day, even if his rest-day is not Sunday.

The Passing Game.

Fires maim while hunters kill,
The great north woods will soon be still.

In the blinding smoke and heat
Hear the fawns with anguish bleat
Tender, weak, they perish there,
And the hunters do not care.

Partridge now in fearful plight,
Drums a signal in the night.
As a panther, Indians see
White men hunt while in a tree,
Merciless with rifle grim,
Deer in passing hear not him;
Helpless doe, and lovely fawn,
Soon the beauties will be gone.

Solving the Problem.

Tit-Bits: The two hopes of Britain, who had secured half-price tickets for the local dog show, looked very perplexed as they stood surveying the winner of a first prize.

Their gaze was bent upon a fine specimen of the skye terrier, which possessed such an abundance of hair as to give it more the appearance of a woolen hearth rug than a worthy member of the canine race.

"Which is it's head, Bill?" queried the red-haired boy of his companion, after having made a critical examination.

"Blowed if I know!" replied the other. "But I tell you what—I'll stick a pin into it, and you watch an' see which end barks!"

And the problem was solved.

Shame.

Galveston News: Our idea of shame is to ride back to town in an automobile hitched to a farm wagon.

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1891.

•••There's a story afloat that an English syndicate has asked for a six months' option to purchase the Mountain Iron and Biwabik mines on a basis of $3,000,000, the cash payment on the option to be $100,000. Edgar Brown, the real estate man of Lakeside, is the negotiator with the Merritts.

Indications of the rocks passed through point very strongly to copper. The work is merely exploratory and is carried on by the company in order to thoroughly acquaint itself with the nature of the rocks.

•••Frank Musolf, the first farmer who settled at Rice Lake, eleven miles from town, died on Oct. 15 at his home from heart disease. He took his homestead in 1869, before there was any road to Rice Lake, and by hard work cleared about one-third of his 160-acre farm.

They had half an acre in potatoes on poorly broken ground. When it is considered that cows run over the piece of land, and that neighbors helped themselves all the fall, they think a yield of 82 bushels to the half acre is a vindication of the soil back of Duluth.

THE SEVEN-SENATORS BILL.

Warren Register: It is beyond our comprehension how any fair-minded newspaper can uphold the "seven-senator" bill. It is unfair, illogical and its effect if adopted, would be tyrannous. Taxation without representation is contrary to the spirit of American institutions. The revolt of the American colonies against British rule was caused chiefly by the fact that those colonies were not accorded representation in the parliament that imposed taxes upon them and otherwise exercised authority over them. Inadequate representation is as bad and as tyrannous, in principle, as no representation at all. So long as we Americans maintain that one man is as good as another before the law, we cannot consistently claim that one vote in Fillmore county should count for as much in the legislature as several votes in Hennepin county would. The fact that the city delegations have wielded an influence upon legislation greatly out of proportion to their numerical strength, is wholly beside the question. If they have done so, that fact is due to the laziness, indifference or incompetence of the country members, who have always been in the majority and could have made the city fellows properly behave if they had tried. The "seven senator" bill is merely another of the demagogic devices resorted to by certain Southern Minnesota politicians for the purpose of postponing re-apportionment as long as possible, in order that their section may continue in possession of goods that do not belong to them. When the bill goes to a vote, the people should bury it so deep that its resurrection will never be attempted. We call these days of "reform," but no sincere reformer can possibly stand for such a backward step as would be the adoption of this bill. The method by which United States senators are apportioned among the states has no bearing whatever upon the "seven senator" proposition. The thirteen original states existed as colonies entirely independent of each other for scores of years before they contemplated throwing off the British yoke and erecting upon this continent a nation dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. The federal constitution is full of compromises, without which its adoption by all the colonies could never have been secured. As independent sovereignties, Delaware and Little Rhody would not hook up with big New York and Virginia unless they were given equal representation in at least one of the law-making bodies. Other compromises, in order to effect a permanent union, were found necessary, including chattel slavery and the infamous slave trade. Compromises almost invariably involve a sacrifice of principle, but half a loaf is better, sometimes, than no bread at all. He who asserts that "nobody has ever criticised the fathers' for giving each state, regardless of its size or population, two senators, is sadly unfamiliar with the history of this country. We are only one of many who believe that the constitution needs amendment in this regard. It is unjust that Nevada should have as many senators as New York and Florida as many as Illinois. We have outgrown the colonial era. We have outgrown the conditions and the reasons that existed in 1787 for putting every state on an equality with every other state in respect to its voting strength in the national senate have passed into innocuous desuetude. The relation of a county to its state bears so little resemblance to that state's relation to the general government that it is idle to discuss one in connection with the other. In Missouri 20 per cent of the population are practically disfranchised, so far as the state senate and congress are concerned, because they are Republicans; there are Minnesotans who advocate the disfranchisement, so far as the state senate is concerned, of a large percentage of this state's citizens because they live in the larger cities of the state. But why stop there? If the denizens of the Twin Cities are not to have an equal voice man for man, with the rest of the people of Minnesota in the choice of state senators, why permit them equal representation in congress? One proposition is as susceptible of proof as to its fairness as is the other.

This Noise From Tulsa.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: From the exuberant pen of the publicity boomer of Tulsa, Okla.:

"The building of a city such as Tulsa, though in the midst of a vast and resourceful empire, has not been free from struggle, but the threatening clouds that gathered about the human landscape have always parted at the right time, and through the rift has shone with resplendent glory the sparkling stars of hope. Tulsa today, though full of magnificent achievement, is only prophetic of a greater destiny. Over her homes now floats Old Glory, and a free people with local self government exultantly raise this emblem of progress so that the breezes of the north, south, east and west may kiss it and the sun of all the earth reflect it."

Pledge Method to Reform Drunkards.

The Survey: A declaration endorsing the pledge method of reforming drunkards was signed by 555 delegates and members of the Thirteenth International congress on alcoholism, which convened at The Hague, Holland. This plan of treating inebriates was first tried in the courts ten years ago by Judge William J. Pollard, of the second district court, St. Louis, Mo. It is now known as the Pollard system. The method is simply to release persons convicted of drunkenness and petty offenses arising out of drunkenness on condition that they sign in open court a pledge to abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors for one year. Its adoption is left to the discretion of the judge, and violation is met by enforcing the penalty originally suspended. The plan has been adopted by legislative action in Great Britain, Victoria (Australia), and Vermont. Judge Pollard states that of the thousands whom he has bound in that way during ten years less than 5 per cent have forfeited suspension of sentence.

WOMAN'S REALM.

A business meeting was held yesterday afternoon at the Young Women's Christian association at which representative women from all of the various churches of the city were present. The purpose of the meeting was to arouse interest in a post jubilee campaign in the missionary work of the cities. Last year the golden jubilee was celebrated in cities all over the country with big missionary meetings and this post jubilee campaign will be held for the purpose of obtaining more members in the various missionary societies of the churches of the city and in enlarging the circulation of the missionary papers and magazines.

Mrs. W. J. McCabe of the Glen Avon Presbyterian church presided at the meeting yesterday which was attended by about thirty women interested in the missionary work.

In a number of the churches this work has already been commenced and is being worked out along individual lines. Several ways of interesting the church members in the missionary work and of enlarging the societies were discussed and reports of the success of the campaign will be made at a big union missionary meeting to be held about the middle of November at the Y. W. C. A.

The growth of the missionary work in foreign fields has been so great of late and the benefits so largely felt, that enthusiasm in the work is readily aroused and a larger membership means more money and greater efficiency.

NEW STUDY.

Women Form Class for Study of "The Art of Reading a Play."

"The Art of Reading a Play" is a subject of especial interest at the present day, as more and more attention is being paid to the subject in leading educational institutions and by the greatest students.

Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour, who spent the summer at Chautauqua and in Chicago studying this subject with Professor S. H. Clark of the Chicago university, Clayton Hamilton, dramatic critic for the Bookman, M. Benedict Papot, director of the French theater in Chicago, and other noted authorities, will conduct a class on this subject here this fall. The class is now being organized and the opening lesson will be given Friday morning at the Endion M. E. church at 10 o'clock. The subject is one which cannot be obtained from a study of books, but necessitates an actual study of the theater, its structure, the plays and the influences which bear upon it.

Mrs. Seymour while in Chicago this summer, studied the theaters themselves, their architecture and influences, and the object of this course will be to train the student in the method of approaching a drama with the view of appreciating its structure, characterization and style, from the standpoint of the theater itself.

Applications for membership can be made to Mrs. F. W. Paine, Mrs. S. R. Bolden, Mrs. John Dight, Mrs. Robert Dowse, Mrs. Otto Hartman or Mrs. Julius H. Barnes.

MRS. CRANE'S REPORT.

Copies of Her Survey of the Cities in Minnesota at Library.

Copies of Mrs. Crane's report of her inspection of various cities are at the public library ready for distribution among those who are interested in them.

Her report is a very interesting account of conditions in the various parts of the state, and comparisons are made between the cities.

OSTRAM-MARSHALL.

Wedding of Much Interest to Duluth Society.

Social interest is centered in the wedding of Miss Helen Ostram, niece of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Thomson to Seth Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Marshall of Twenty-sixth avenue east and Branch street, which will take place this evening at St. Paul's Episcopal church. Dr. A. W. Ryan, pastor of that church, will perform the wedding ceremony in the presence of many friends of the young people, both of whom have been popular in Duluth society.

A reception will follow the ceremony for the wedding guests at the Thomson residence, 2005 East Third street which is decorated with flowers arranged with taste and simplicity for the function. In the receiving line with Mr. and Mrs. Thomson and the bride and groom will be Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Marshall and Miss Smith of Saginaw, an aunt of the groom, who is a guest at the Marshall home.

Mrs. F. W. Paine and Mrs. W. C. Agnew will preside in the dining room where refreshments will be served and the punch will be served in the sun parlor.

The church decorations have been elaborately worked out.

Miss Ostram will have as her maid of honor Miss Mary Paine and the bridesmaids will be Miss Jessica Marshall and Miss Carolyn Marshall, sisters of the groom, Miss Julia Hunter, Miss Irma Hunter, Miss Swift and Miss Adams. The ushers will be Ned Congdon, Roy Ostram, Adam Thomson, John Savage, James Ireland and Charles Brewer. Mr. Marshall will be attended by Carson Agnew as best man.

Mr. Marshall and his bride will leave for a wedding tour which will last six or eight weeks and their residence will be at 1914 East Second street.

CLUB BANQUET.

Bishop's Club Will Have Dinner at Hotel.

A banquet is being planned by the members of the Bishop's club to be served Thursday evening, Nov. 19 at the Spalding hotel. Bishop McGolrick will be the guest of honor at the affair for which the arrangement committee is composed of Mrs. L. H. Corcoran, Mrs. F. A. Sermon, Mrs. F. A. Barber, Mrs. A. S. Jackson, Mrs. M. H. Kelley, Mrs. W. H. Magie, Mrs. J. H. Sullivan, Mrs. Leo Ball, Mrs. J. R. Kuth and Miss Mae Hammill.

D. A. R. BANQUET.

Greysolon du Lhut Chapter to Meet.

Members of the Greysolon du Lhut chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will hold their annual banquet tomorrow at the Spalding hotel. This affair will be the opening of the year's work for the chapter and Mrs. Julia A. Barnes, historian, will give her report. Other business matters will be discussed and a social hour will follow. Between thirty and forty members are expected.

This year's officers for this chapter are: Regent, Mrs. W. H. Burris; vice president, Mrs. O. H. Clarke; recording secretary, Mrs. Robert Smith; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. C. Staacke; treasurer, Mrs. Frank DeVey, registrar, Mrs. J. W. Harbinson; auditor, Mrs. W. A. McGonagle; chaplain, Mrs. H. L. Paddock.

BISHOP WILL SPEAK.

Mrs. Paine Will Entertain Lakeside Members.

Mrs. Franklin Paine will entertain the ladies of St. John's English Lutheran church tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at her home, 5349 London road. Bishop Morrison will speak during the afternoon and all of the ladies of the church are cordially invited to be present.

COMMITTEE MEETS.

Religious Work Planned at Y. W. C. A. and Classes to be Formed.

The religious work committee of the Y. W. C. A. held a meeting this afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. Plans for the Bible classes and other religious work of the association were considered.

FIRST DANCE.

Members of B. P. O. E., No. 133 Give Party.

The members of the B. P. O. E. No. 133 were hosts at the first of the "Elks' dancing parties" for the winter last evening at the hall of their club rooms on West First street. About seventy-five couples danced to a delightful program played by La Brosse's orchestra. It was an informal affair, no invitations having been issued, but proved a pleasant opening of the winter's series. The dances given by this club last season were so popular that the present series has been eagerly awaited. The committee in charge of these affairs is composed of N. B. Morrison, F. G. Mason, E. M. Kelley, A. E. Wegman, Dr. Hanson, A. O. Knudson and Frank Kidd.

The next dance of the series will be held on Nov. 21.

TALKS ON "HANDICRAFT AND AGRICULTURE"

Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour Lectures on Importance of Encouraging Crafts.

Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour gave a most interesting talk yesterday afternoon on "Handicraft and Agriculture" at the club room of the library before a large audience, at the meeting of the department of Education and the home of the Twentieth Century club.

She talked of the sociological background of handicraft work and gave an extremely interesting account of what had been done in various places in the line of handicrafts. She also exhibited a number of baskets, rugs, brass articles, pottery and draperies, all made by hand and she told something of the history of the making of each piece so that her hearers gained a better perception of what had and could be done.

She spoke of the great need of giving a chance of self-expression to people who are not able to go away from their homes to learn the application of their ideas and she also spoke of the great possibilities here in Minnesota in the developing of the crafts among the foregn settlers.

"The Scandinavians," she said, "are born weavers. Why should we not have our own home woven linens and other fabrics then instead of importing them? The Hungarians are skilled workers in wrought iron; the Icelanders are noted for their wood carving; the Bohemians for exquisite laces, and we have the very best kind of clay in some parts of the state but what is done with all of these natural resources? They are allowed to degenerate because of the lack of encouragement.

"To foster the crafts the first thing that must be done is to prove to the worker that there will be a demand for the articles and that it will pay her to do the work and then the ethical side may be reached later.

"Woman has always found it necessary to do something with her hands, and if given the opportunity and a little training how much it would mean to these women on the farms in the little communities if they had some special interest to take up their spare time.

She spoke of the old industries of weaving, carving, the making of furniture rugs, mats, draperies, pottery, etc., which she said have been allowed to be lost for the want of training, for the lack of interest in the doing of the things themselves and she urged the club women to follow the advice given by Mrs. E. H. Loyhed, newly elected president of the State Federation of Women's clubs, in her talk before club women of the city, a few days ago, when she said: "Give your attention as far as you can to the arousing of more interest in the life of the small town and the rural district. Give the women and the young people something to do during the spare hours which will be of benefit to them and of interest as well."

Mrs. Seymour suggested that the arousing of the interest in the crafts would be beneficial as it would restore the old crafts lost only for lack of interest which she said could be aroused by showing they would be profitable and by creating a demand for the articles produced.

"There is no reason" she said, "why Minnesota should not have its own weaving industry, its own pottery, and lace, metal work, enameled jewelry and cotton goods."

"Nothing is more vital for women's clubs to take up than the fostering of the crafts, the finding of choice ideas and ways of carrying them out in the home life in the city and in the rural districts."

MARY ANDERSON ON STAGE LIFE

Former Actress Says Any Kind of Other Work Is Better for Women—Love as Greatest Need.

New York, Oct. 18.—Mary Anderson de Navarro, who is visiting here, was interviewed yesterday. She said she thought any kind of work for a woman was better than the stage.

"Two things are necessary in every woman's life to round out her existence perfectly," she said. "Every woman must have her work and her love. But any work, it seems to me, is preferable to a stage career. The little home duties, the tending of personal philanthropies and interests—these mean true happiness.

"Surely every woman is entitled to live in her own life the heart throbs and the love and the joy that she would act upon the stage. A real life, away from sham emotions and painted scenery, a real life with a real home, with real work and real love in it, is the only possible existence for a real woman."

Comes to See Play.

Yet Mrs. de Navarro admittedly has not lost all interest in the theater. The sole purpose of her present visit to America is to see the opening production of "The Garden of Allah," in writing which she and Robert Hichens collaborated.

"And how about the time when your little daughter will begin to think of a career for herself?" was suggested. "Shall you encourage her to go upon the stage as you did, or shall you try to mold her life along the lines of your present life?"

"Oh, I should hate to think that my little girl ever would become an actress," she exclaimed. "You don't know what the life means. It is so frightfully hard on a woman. It seems to me that almost any other work would be easier and better for a girl.

"It is almost impossible for a woman upon the stage to form any home ties or lasting friendships. And, as I have said, the worst aspect of all seems to me to be in the atmosphere of artificiality which one breathes continually—the simulated passions and the contrived personality. It makes a woman heartsick after a while. The last thing in the world I should want my daughter to be would be an actress."

Combine Work and Love.

"So you do not believe in careers for women?" was asked.

"Ah, do not mistake me," she answered, hastily. "As I have said, I believe real happiness for a woman lies in a combination of work and love. All love is as bad for anyone as is all work. Certainly a woman should have her personal interests; even interests outside her home. But not interests that inevitably sweep her farther and farther from the home harbor, as acting will surely do."

"But you would suggest?"

"How can I suggest for others?" protested Mrs. de Navarro. "I only know what has meant peace and the best in life for myself. But you who live in cities can hardly guess the many joys of a little town. Wonderful a place as is New York, the people who spend their days here can only exist.

"How little they know of the people who live all about them, of the human creatures like themselves struggling for existence. For myself it has always been the simpler human joys that meant most to me. The charities, the interests, the every minute feeling of companionship which only a small community can give."

Co-operation of Parent and Teacher Subject of Meeting at School.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union of West Duluth will meet Friday evening at 8 o'clock, instead of at the regular meeting time, at the Irving school in West Duluth. Mrs. H. H. Phelps will be the leader, and the subject of the meeting will be the co-operation of the parent and teacher. Dr. L. W. Kline of the state normal school will speak and all parents and teachers interested are invited to attend.

FOOD SALE.

Red, White and Blue Society Will Sell for Library Fund.

A home cooking sale will be held by the members of the Red, White and Blue society Saturday morning at the Grand Union Team company store at 214 West First street. Home baked pork and beans, bread, cookies, cakes and candy will be sold by these little girls and the money which they make will go towards the fund which they are raising to establish a library at the children's pavilion of the new anti-tuberculosis hospital which is under construction and which will be completed some time this winter. This society was formed less than a year ago, but their fund collected from dues and other means has already grown to an encouraging size and they hope to have enough by the time the building is ready to furnish good books, magazines and papers for the children there to help make their hours pleasant ones.

NEWTON-KELLEY.

Duluth Girl Weds Member of Forbes Stock Company.

Miss Bessie Newton, a Duluth girl, and Robert M. Kelley, a member of the Forbes Stock company, now playing at the Lyceum theater, were married this morning by Judge Gilpin in probate court.

Mr. Kelley, who makes his home in Oakland, Cal., is well known in theatrical circles, and has been in Duluth for some time with the Forbes company.

Mission Guild Entertained.

A delightful meeting of the guild of the Mission church on Park Point was held yesterday afternoon at the church with Mrs. George Bonham as hostess. During the afternoon, Mrs. Morrison and Miss Shesgren read and Mrs. Cora Hilliard Fuller and Miss Winnie Thomas sang. Dainty refreshments were served.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Covey of 3436 Holmes avenue, Minneapolis, are the parents of a son, John William Covey, born on Oct. 5. Mrs. Covey was Miss Kathleen Watterworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Watterworth of this city.

Miss Ruth Hansen of 1227 Minnesota avenue, Park Point, left yesterday for Chicago where she will spend the winter with relatives.

Mrs. M. O. Stevens of St. Paul is visiting her mother, Mrs. W. E. Jones, 123 Ninth avenue east.

W. R. C.

Mrs. W. N. Nott of 1008 East Second street will entertain the members of the Woman's Relief Corps Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at her home.

THE EVENING STORY

"THE SUBTERFUGE"

By Charles Kingston.

The casual and unconventional introduction was developing amazingly, for Simpson called twice on Mrs. Butler and her daughter during the following week. Everett came upon them each time, and felt uneasy. Simpson was an old acquaintance of his, and he recalled that he had dropped many a hint as to the size of Madeline Butler's fortune, of which he was a trustee. And Angrave Simpson was a fortune hunter; well dressed, smelling of scents and insolence, just the type to appeal to a girl whose world included few men who earned their living.

But Everett was helpless, especially as Mrs. Butler seemed to encourage Simpson. He bitterly regretted having introduced his companion to Madeline that day they met at the circus, for, truth to tell, he was in love with Madeline himself, and only his position as trustee had kept back the proposal that often had hovered on his lips.

And life was so busy and full for him that he had few opportunities of cultivating Madeline Butler's society. He worked away in his office, maddened by the knowledge that almost every day Simpson was at the Butlers and that Mrs. Butler never disguised her preference for her daughter's newest friend. She did not know that Simpson existed on a small allowance sent monthly by an overworked clergyman who had the misfortune to be his father; she did not know that at that very moment there existed a half engagement between Simpson and a clerk in Everett's office. The solicitor knew, but he hesitated whenever he thought of exposing the man's past; it seemed like taking an unfair advantage. Meanwhile he saw little of Simpson except when he came to borrow—but the fellow was making progress, and Everett, as he thought of Madeline, grew bitter. She would have to pay dearly for her folly, he told himself. Ought he to let her?

He was thinking of Madeline and recalling some of the pleasant days they had spent together when Simpson walked into his office. It was an unfortunate appearance, but Everett concealed his annoyance, and a few moments' occupation with a bunch of papers restored his confidence, and helped to drive away regrets that he should be fifteen years older than Madeline Butler's twenty.

"Hello, old man!" said Simpson, as he dropped into a chair. "How goes it? Feeling all right, eh? Well, so do I." He laughed and began to light a cigarette. "Jolly people, the Butlers?"

"You seem to like them," said Everett, unable to say more.

"Rather! Madeline Butler is a peach."

"I am very glad you think so," said Everett, coming over to Simpson's side, "very glad, indeed, and I'll tell you why." His serious manner would have alarmed the visitor, but he knew that "old Everett" always was serious.

"You must have known long ago what I think of her," observed Simpson cooly. For answer Everett went to the door and locked it.

"Look here, Simpson," he said returning to his office chair. "I want to take you into my confidence. The fact is I must confide in someone, and I know you are a man of honor."

"Anything you say—" began the bewildered Simpson.

"Of course, of course," said Everett. "I know I can trust you, and that you will respect my confidence. Well, the position is this, tomorrow I am going to ask Madeline Butler to marry me." Simpson moved uneasily in his chair. Then he laughed. He was going to propose to Madeline that afternoon and he knew what her answer would be. Everett could have the morrow—a thousand morrows if he desired them.

"I wish you luck," he said after a pause.

"If I don't have luck I shall be ruined," muttered Everett. "You know I am Madeline's trustee. I think I have hinted that her father left her about a thousand a year in addition to what she will inherit from her mother. Well, Simpson, I have had infernal luck, and the fact is if Madeline or her mother asked to see their securities I couldn't show them a dollar's worth. You can imagine how I feel," he went on, "you can realize what a refusal will mean to me—dishonor, penal servitude—in comparison with these the loss of Madeline would be nothing. I know you would like to speak plainly and tell me what you think of me, but I have done you many a good turn, Simpson—that last $20 I lent you came out of Madeline's estate—and so I know you will not denounce me. I am a mean scoundrel. Oh, I have called myself many names. Wish me luck again, old man," he concluded, "for only Madeline can save me. Once we are married I can feel safe, and with a little luck I may retrieve the situation."

Simpson sat there as if turned to stone. This was the end of his dream. At first he felt inclined to congratulate himself. Supposing he had proposed to Madeline that morning instead of postponing the ceremony until the afternoon. Why he had actually made an appointment with her for 4 o'clock. Did Madeline suspect what that appointment meant?

"You do not speak," muttered Everett.

"I—I am sorry—for you and for Madeline Butler," said Simpson, who had roughly calculated that he owed Everett about $500. "It's devilish mean and all that, but, Everett, you've been a good friend to me, and it's not for me to say that you are a thief.

Simpson did not call on the Butlers that day nor the next, while a week passed, and did not bring him. All this Everett learnt when he sat in the drawing room while Madeline juggled with the tea things and explained why her mother was not at home.

"And Simpson?"

Mary blushed and told him. He saw the color come to her cheeks and frowned, but the next moment the girl was laughing.

"I frightened Simpson away," he said, quietly and suddenly.

She looked up in amazement. "He was a fortune hunter, Madeline," he went on, quickly.

"I knew that," she remarked sedately, and handed him a cup of tea.

"You knew it?" he exclaimed. "Then why did you tolerate him?"

"Because he was your friend."

"The introduction was only an accident. I regretted it at once, but it was unavoidable. Simpson's father is a saint, and that is why I have kept friendly with his son. But I did not know that you saw through him. Shall I tell you how I tested him?"

"Please do," she murmured.

"I told him that I had embezzled your entire fortune. Listen," he went on, as she burst into laughter. "I told him that a few hours before he intended to come here and propose to you. I said I was going to propose to you myself in order to save my skin." She blushed.

"Well," she said, after a pause, "you didn't."

"Didn't what?"

"Didn't propose," she said with another laugh.

"Because there was no need, Madeline," he said gently. "All your money is safe and secure."

"It wouldn't have mattered if you had taken it," she said gently. "I should have given it to you if you wanted it."

"Madeline!" he was by her side in an instant.

"You goose!" she whispered, as he crushed her in his arms, "I—I have been waiting for this for months."

Week-End Manners

By MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

When spending a week's end in the country be ready to enjoy what ever is provided for you. It is the privilege of the country housekeeper to provide the city guests with a pleasant sleeping apartment. "The polite guest comes down at the family breakfast hour, unless," says Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, "he or she chances to be in luxurious houses where breakfast is a movable feast, and every one can have a cup of tea and a roll in his own room if he prefers to do so."

As it is now fashionable to begin breakfast with a course of fruit, the country hostess should surely follow this wholesome custom, placing before her guests melons, peaches, or whatever fruit is in season. For the rest she should remember that people's appetites are sharpened by the fresh air of the country, and that the dishes provided should therefore be rather more substantial in character than those that are prescribed for a city table by the present fashion.

Still, it must be admitted that here "doctors disagree." At the country seats of some rich families, whose eyes are ever turned city-ward, in admiration and longing, you will find the menu at every meal exactly what it should be in the most fashionable city dwelling, and you will be shown an unlimted amount of china and offered genteel fragments of food during an hour or two, three times a day.

Almost everyone prefers to dine early in the country in summer, for a late dinner is sure to interfere with the pleasure of the afternoon—riding, driving, etc.—unless the hour is set extremely late, at 8 or 9 o'clock. Tea, therefore, becomes a very important meal in out-of-town households; that is 'high tea' or 'stout tea.' It is a pity that this cheerful meal has almost disappeared from city life, driven out both by fashion and necessity, since business men in our large cities can no longer come home to 2 o'clock dinner as they did five-and-twenty years ago.

Humoring a Husband

By JOHN WATSON WHYTE.

When her good man is cross, and mean and grumpy, and she's glad when he goes and scared when she sees him coming; he never likes anything there is to eat; he doesn't admire the way she does her hair; he won't take her out; some days he won't speak at all; some days he just growls, and he acts all the time as if he is taking his spite against the whole world out on her:

What shall she do?

What shall any woman do who is married to a growling bear and a fool besides? Let her try and humor him.

Every man in the world has grumpy spells. Men hate to talk when they don't want to; they can't laugh when they feel like growling; they can't make conversation, and they simply won't try. Women have been trained for ages in the gentle art of dissimulation. A woman can cry all day and meet a man at the door with a smile and keep him amused and comfy all the evening, and think nothing of it at all.

A man can't do things of this sort. When he's blue he acts blue. When he's mad he acts mad. When he's discouraged and tired and down in the mouth, he's going to come home acting that way, and it is the part of the woman of the partnership to coax him into a good humor with himself, with her, and with all the world. How to do this?

Methods differ—just as men differ. One man likes to be made a fuss over, another likes to be let alone, and a third likes his mind diverted. But in all cases have something good for him to eat, whatever kind he is.

Spoil him? Of course, that's what we marry them for—to spoil and be spoiled. There are plenty of other people in the world who'll take pleasure in unspoiling him, don't worry. That's if a husband is just the ordinary boyish, moody, tired, hard working, kind-hearted, affectionate husband. Let him see that he can't frighten or irritate you, and he will begin to wonder, and when a man begins to wonder—the woman has him.

The Boudoir

The following is a recipe that I have always found most satisfactory for a dry skin, and, indeed, for any tollette purpose for which the ordinary cold cream is generally used. The only implement required is a double saucepan. Fill the outside pan with cold water, and put three ounces of sweet almond oil in the inner saucepan. Heat over the fire until the oil is about 98 degrees. Next wipe two large cucumbers perfectly clean, cut into chunks without peeling, and put them into the oil.

When the water in the outer pan is almost boiling, set the saucepan at the back of the stove, where it will simmer gently. Cover it closely and let it remain for four or five hours; then strain and add one ounce of pure lard and two ounces of lanoline. Reheat until melted, then take off the fire and beat with an egg beater until cold, adding gradually rectified spirits of wine in the proportion of one tablespoonful to half a pint. The cream may then be put into covered pots, and used as required.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

CLOUDY

Yesterday was a beautiful October day and although everybody knows that the fall season is waning and winter will soon be us, few are looking ahead, but are enjoying the weather as it is. The lowest temperature last night was 40 deg., which isn't so bad when it is considered that this is the last half of October.

Beautiful fall weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 6:30 and it will set at 5:16 this evening, giving ten hours and forty-six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The low pressure areas off the Middle Atlantic coast and over Western Ontario caused light to heavy rains in most districts to the eastward of the Mississippi river and over Western Lake Superior, the Dakotas, Southern Montana and Wyoming during the last twenty-four hours. Snow is falling over Northeastern Wyoming. Higher pressures have caused cooler weather from Eastern Ontario southward to Alabama and Florida and over Southern Montana, Washington and Oregon. Conditions favor mostly cloudy and somewhat unsettled weather at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Oct. 18. — Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday:

Upper Michigan—Local rains tonight or Thursday.

Wisconsin—Cloudiness with probably local rains tonight or Thursday; warmer in east portion tonight; cooler Thursday afternoon.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Thursday, preceded by unsettled weather in east portion; cooler tonight with probably frost in northwest portion.

Iowa—Unsettled with probably local rains tonight or Thursday; cooler in northwest portion and in east and south portions Thursday.

North Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Thursday; cooler tonight with frost.

South Dakota — Threatening and cooler tonight; Thursday probably fair with frost in morning.

Montana—Fair tonight and Thursday; colder in east portion tonight.

Upper Lakes—Moderate winds, mostly southerly; generally fair weather tonight and Thursday, except local rains on Lake Superior.

GROUT WILL MANAGE FARM

University Dairy Expert Will Make His Headquarters in Duluth.

W. C. Sargent Retires to Take Charge of His Own Property.

As soon as he can be relieved of his duties as assistant professor of dairy husbandry at the University of Minnesota farm school, Prof. George P. Grout will become superintendent of the Jean du Luth farm, succeeding W. C. Sargent. Mr. Sargent will give his entire attention to his own farm south of the Jean du Luth.

Mr. Sargent has been superintendent of the Jean du Luth farm for the last two years and has made a splendid record. His work is commended highly by Mr. Craig and Mr. Williams, the owners, and the results at the farm are also testimonials to his ability. With no scientific training except what he obtained by personal study, Mr. Sargent carried on experimental and demonstration work that has greatly furthered agricultural development in this district. The arrangement by which he is succeeded by Prof. Grout is an amicable one, as Mr. Sargent has been anxious for the last year to be relieved of the position.

In Prof. Grout, Mr. Craig and Mr. Williams are bringing to Duluth one of the most prominent dairy experts in the state and he has as well scientific training in other branches of agriculture that fits him well for the position. The Jean du Luth farm is an enterprise that gives him excellent opportunities for putting knowledge and theories to the test. The owners of the farm believe that Mr. Grout will not only render them valuable service, but that he will be of service to all farmers in this vicinity by demonstration and experimental work.

TRYING TO RAISE FUNDS FOR HOSPITAL.

Rev. Torgeir Hoverstad of Minneapolis will speak in a number of Duluth churches during the next few days in an effort to raise funds for the United Church Hospital Association of Minneapolis.

The hospital is for tuberculosis patients only. The institution is supported by subscriptions from all churches.

STATE STOCK FARM GETS PRIZE CATTLE.

St. Cloud, Minn., Oct. 18.—Foreman T. B. McCulloch of the farm at the state reformatory, has returned from Wisconsin with a car load of thoroughbred Holstein cows, which will be added to the herd at the institution. The productivity of these animals has interested farmers in this vicinity and they have introduced sires of the same strain into their herds and are raising the standard.

Amusement Notes.

"John, James, Michael, Patrick, Henry, George and Charles, are the most used male names by the tenement house folks; Maggie, Sadie, Susie, Lizzie, Nellie and Mamie are the favorite female names or at least the favorite abbreviations of the names," writes Owen Kildare in his remarkable autobiography, "My Mamie Rose" which has been dramatized as "The Regeneration" and is being presented this week by the Gus A. Forbes company at the Lyceum this week.

"The name, Marie R. Deering, sounded a trifle too fashionable, too 'toney' for me and I proceeded to acclimatize it. So my little girl was immediately dubbed 'Mamie Rose.'"

The moment in "Regeneration" when Owen Conway which is the stage name for the hero of the play, renames the girl who has helped him from his low environment, is one of the most effective of the play. Both Mr. Forbes and Miss Cantwell are playing with a sincerity and truthfulness that is making "Regeneration" one of the most interesting plays presented by the stock company during the season.

The first matinee of the week was presented this afternoon before a large audience.

"Regeneration" will be repeated every evening this week and there will be a Saturday matinee. Next week's bill will be the delightful farce "The Man from Mexico." The first performance will be given Sunday afternoon.

Johnny Ray, who is head-lining the Orpheum bill this week with Mrs. Ray, has been forty-one years in the theatrical business, and has accumulated a sufficient fortune from it to retire at any time he sees fit, but one attempt at "settling down" was all that he could stand, and he is back on the road again, in vaudeville this time.

For forty-one years he has been one of the best known Irish comedians in the business, and has been starred in his own attractions, including such shows as "Hot Old Time," "Down the Pike" and "King Casey."

"I was in Duluth twenty-five years ago," said Mr. Ray last evening at the Orpheum. "I played at the old Parlor theater, then run by Fiskey Barnett. In those days I was taking about any engagements I could get. There were about fifteen people in the hall, all gathered around an old coal heater, and rubbing their hands to keep warm. I did my act and nobody paid any attention to me. That made Barnett angry. 'Boys,' he said, 'I have brought this man all the way from New York to entertain you fellows. Now get away from that stove, and get your hands together and show you appreciate his efforts.' They followed instructions, and those fifteen fellows applauded until their hands were red. That was one of the funniest experiences I ever had in the forty-one years I have been traveling around these old United States of ours.

"I tried retiring last year, but it was not a success. I wasn't content for a moment until I got back on the road."

Newell of the team, Newell & Niblo, now at the Empress, relates a little incident which shows the regard some people have for stage folk and musicians in general. He says: "I was raised in a small town in Indiana, and, after studying the violin there for several years, moved to Chicago, where better teaching and a wider opportunity for mastering the violin were to be had. On one of my periodical visits home, I chanced to pass the house of a very religious old lady, who had known me as a boy. The lady stopped me and we had a chat but she noticing the violin under my arm gave me a peculiar look which, at first, I did not understand. Well I see you are home, Edward, said the kindly disposed old lady. Yes, Mrs. Judy, back for a short visit, I said. See you still play the old fiddle. Yes, indeed, I'm getting along nicely.

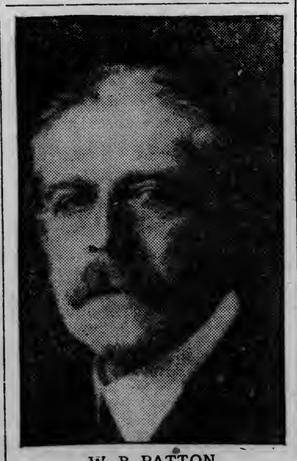

"Then, the old lady threw up her hands in holy horror, as she looked at the instrument, dubiously and remarked! Well, you'll never come to any good. And Mr. Newell says he has often wondered whether she was not right after all."

Newell & Niblo give one of the best musical turns presented at the Empress this season. Few better dressed teams have even been seen at the Empress and their costumes have been greatly admired this week.

SAVING ON THE SOLDIERS' FOOD

War Department Has Changed Their Diet, Says Report.

Washington, Oct. 18.—The elimination of chicken from the army menu, the limitation of turkey to Thanksgiving and Christmas, and the abolishment of the field rations, sums up the important changes in the army ration for the American soldier made during the last year, according to the report of Commissary General Henry G. Sharpe.

The elimination of chicken has resulted in a yearly saving to the government of $62,000. It cost the United States 16.14 cents a day more to feed the American soldier in Alaska than it did those stationed in the United States. The daily average cost of the rations issued during the year in the United States alone was 22.75 cents, while in Alaska it amounted to 38.89 cents.

The report shows the average cost per year per man in the United States to be $105.96 and the Philippines $114.21; or an average cost per diem in the former of 29.03 cents and in the latter of 31.29 cents.

The experimental farm conducted by the subsistence department at Camp Vicars, P. I., for the purpose of determining whether potatoes could be successfully raised in the Philippines, has proved the unfeasibility of such a project.

SOUTHERN GROCERY TRUST IS ENJOINED.

Mongomery, Ala., Oct. 18.—In a "consent decree" handed down by the circuit court for the Northern district of Alabama, the Southern Wholesale Grocers' association, prosecuted under the Sherman law, is forbidden from coercing manufacturers to sell only to association members of those whom it recognizes as wholesalers, and is forbidden to conspire to maintain or coerce manufacturers to fix limited selling prices.

Until a short time ago, scarcely one person in a thousand had ever tasted a really good soda cracker—as it came fresh and crisp from the oven.

Now every man, woman and child in these United States can know and enjoy the crisp goodness of fresh baked soda crackers without going to the baker's oven.

Uneeda Biscuit bring the bakery to you.

SENSATIONAL BRIBE TALE TOLD IN STEPHENSON CASE

Tom Morris Says Cook of Duluth Told Him the Details.

Edward Hines and R. J. Shields Chief Characters in the Story.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 18.—Purported statements of others that Edward Hines, the lumberman, helped to "put over" the election of United States Senator Isaac Stephenson, and that Hines and Stephenson each contributed $55,000 to a pot of $110,000 to secure the absence of Democratic members from the Wisconsin legislature on March 4, 1909, so that Senator Stephenson might be elected, formed the basis of sensational testimony given by Thomas Morris, lieutenant governor of Wisconsin, before the senatorial investigating committee yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Morris declared that the information was given to him chiefly by a Mr. Cook of Duluth, who figured prominently in the first investigation of Senator William Lorimer, and that Cook said that Robert J. Shields of Superior, Wis., also mentioned in the Lorimer case, was paid $7,500 for his services in putting the deal through.

What He Had Heard.

Before testifying, Lieutenant Governor Morris stipulated that his statements were to be taken as "second-hand" information, as they were based on what others had told him, but, he said, as a high official of the state he deemed it his duty to divulge what he knew. Under this condition, Senator W. B. Heyburn, the chairman, instructed him to proceed, and the testimony was made part of the committee's record. The substance of what Mr. Morris testified as given to him was:

That, after charges were made in a legislative committee, concerning the manner of Senator Stephenson's nomination at the primaries in 1908, and while his election still was pending in the legislature in 1909, Edward Hines went to Senator Stephenson at Washington and told him that because of the charges the senator could not be elected; that at his suggestion it was then agreed they each would raise $55,000 to pull the election through.

"Shields Did the Work."

That R. J. Shields was employed to carry on the work; that subsequently Shields went to Washington and secured from Senator Stephenson a check signed in blank, and that later Shields appeared in Madison with a lavish display of money.

That although there had been a dead-lock in the legislature for weeks, it suddenly was announced that on a certain day the election of Senator Stephenson would take place. That it did not take place on the specified date, but it did take place about a week later, on March 4, 1909; that on that day three Democratic members absented themselves, thus giving Stephenson a majority.

That Shields paid the bill for a special train to take from Milwaukee to Madison a legislator who was favorable to Stephenson.

That the legislative investigating committee endeavored to secure Shields as a witness, but he left the state.

That Shields demanded $15,000 for what he had done but Stephenson and Hines, after having a dispute over the amount, gave him $7,500.

Cook Told Him So.

Morris testified that Cook's statement was made to him in a lawyer's office in the Rookery building in Chicago this summer, in the presence of State Senator Paul O. Husting, Former Assistant Attorney General A. C. Titus, both of Wisconsin.

Morris said W. H. Kittle of Madison had given him the information about Shields going to Washington and getting the blank check. Morris further said that C. H. Crownhart of Superior, of the state industrial commission, had told him that a detective named Saunderson in Milwaukee had secured much information about Shields.

Chairman Heyburn immediately issued subpoenas for the appearance of all those named. The committee was informed that Shields was in Chicago, waiting to be heard as a witness in the Lorimer case. He already had been summoned to appear in Milwaukee.

Senator Stephenson was not present when Morris' testimony was given, as he was excused several days ago to return to his home in Marinette.

Protest Overruled.

Charles E. Littlefield, counsel for Senator Stephenson, protested against the introduction of Morris' testimony, but he was overruled.

According to the report of the legislative investigating committee, the three Democratic assemblymen who absented themselves when Stephenson was elected by joint ballot, were Thomas F. Ramsey, now dead; John T. Farrell and Silas A. Towne.

Morris apparently had completed his testimony, under questioning by Senator Heyburn, when Senator Atlee Pomerene, the Democratic member of the committee asked:

"Have you any other information which has not yet been disclosed?"

"I think I shall have to answer 'yes' to this," said Morris.

"Go on and state what it is."

"I want to say in the first place, however, that it is not first hand information."

Senator Pomerene said: "To enable us to pursue the investigation, if there is anything you can give us, we will be glad to have it."

Story at Second Hand.

Morris then said:

"I have been told by a Mr. Cook—I do not remember his initials at this moment, but he is a partner of Mr. Hines, the lumberman—that a few days before the election in the legislature, a sum of money, approximating $100,000, was raised by Mr. Hines and Mr. Stephenson and placed in the hands of a dozen men, one of whom was Robert Shields of Superior, Wis., and that this money was used in the legislature during the election.

"I was also informed that Mr. Shields went to Washington just before the election in the legislature and saw Senator Stephenson and came back with a sum of money, which I understood was in the form of a check, drawn in blank—that is, the amount was blank. I know, however, about Shields' trip to Washington at the time. That is, I had been informed in reference to that at the time. Our legislative committee then subpoenaed Mr. Shields and he disappeared. He left the state. We were never able to obtain his testimony.

Sanderson Mentioned.

"I am also informed that there is a man here in Milwaukee with whom I have not talked personally, who was informed by another party here in Milwaukee whose name I do not know, that part of this money went to the three Democrats who walked out of the joint session. The gentleman's name here in Milwaukee who I understand has that information, is Sanderson. He used to be assistant sergeant-at-arms of the Wisconsin senate, and was at the time that Senator Stephenson was elected.

"Mr. Sanderson claimed to have told another party that he had this information, and wanted to know if we would pay for the services of a detective in working the thing out, when it became known that this committee was to investigate the matter. I informed the party, as did also the other parties to whom the proposition was made, that we were not paying for any testimony. Understand, I am giving the committee what information I have in reference to it. I am not saying that it is true."

Crownhart Was Told.

Senator Pomerene—"You say it is reported to you that Mr. Sanderson had told something to another party. Who was that party?"

Morris—"C. P. Crownhart. He lives in Madison at the present time. He is chairman of the industrial commission recently created in the state of Wisconsin."

Senator Pomerene—"So if I now understand you correctly, Mr. Crownhart is said to have received this information from Mr. Sanderson?"

Morris—"Mr. Crownhart was asked, as I understand it, by Mr. Saunderson, how much the Progressives would be willing to pay to have that matter worked out fully by a detective, claiming that the information was here in Milwaukee and that he knew who had the information. Mr. Crownhart refused to have anything to do with it. The same information was conveyed to me through another party, and of course I said the same thing in reference to it."

Talked With Him.

Mr. Littlefield—"Who was the other party?"

Morris—"William Kittle of Madison. The committee understands that I had no personal talk with Mr. Saunderson. I understand Mr. Crownhart had. I have had two or three talks with Mr. Crownhart at Madison, and I think we talked it over at La Crosse also."

Senator Pomerene—"You speak of Mr. Cook, a partner of Mr. Hines. Did you talk with Mr. Cook?"

Morris—"Yes."

Senator Pomerene—"What is Mr. Cook's name?"

Morris—"I think his initials are W. P. I am not certain about that. He is Mr. Hines' partner in the lumber business. He lives at Duluth, Minn."

Senator Pomerene—"When did he tell you this?"

Morris—"I think it was in April, this year, in Chicago, in a law office in the Rookery building."

"Whose law office?"

"I have been trying to remember the man's name. I am not at all clear about it. I never met him before."

"Was anyone else present when you had this talk with him?"

Two Others Present.

"Yes, Senator Husting and Mr. Titus. Mr. Cook gave this information to us at the time and he asked us to withhold it until such time came as he gave his permission to disclose it. In answer to the senator's question, I feel under my oath that it is my duty now to disclose the information, irrespective of that agreement. I will say that is the same Hines who had something to do with the Lorimer situation."

"What, if anything, further, did he say with reference to the use of this money?"

"Do you want me to give you the conversation? I made no memorandum. Titus was with me. He came to me and said he had a friend in Chicago, an attorney there, who had talked with Mr. Cook and that Mr. Cook had some information with reference to the election of Senator Stephenson by the legislature."

"Mr. Cook said that after the original charges were filed by State Senator Blaine and the legislature failed to elect Senator Stephenson, Mr. Hines went to Senator Stephenson and represented to him that it would be impossible for him to be elected by the legislature, representing to him that if he would put in, as I remember the figures, $55,000, that he, Hines, would raise an equal amount and the money would be used in bringing about the election of Mr. Stephenson by the legislature.

Elected "of Course."

"Cook said that that arrangement was finally agreed upon and that Shields and another man, whose name he did not give us, as I remember—at any rate, whose name I do not recall—took charge of the matter and of course, in time the senator was elected. This money, he said, was used in part in securing the absence of three Democrats on the day that Stephenson was elected.

"Then he said that Shields went to Chicago and insisted upon being paid a sum of money, I think $15,000, by Hines for his services at Madison, and that Hines and Shields entered into a dispute about it—they had some hard words. Shields would come to Duluth and talked the matter over with Mr. Cook's partner—I do not remember his name—his partner in Duluth in the lumber business, and that his partner went with Shields to Chicago and talked the matter over with Hines and that the matter was finally settled by giving Shields $7,500 for his services, and a certain line of fire insurance.

"Cook volunteered this information to us, knowing that we were interested in the matter were on the committee, and promised to see Shields and use his influence with him to get him to come forward and tell about the whole thing. I have never seen Cook since and I have never seen Shields.

Two Conversations.

"There were two conversations. The second one was on the train. I was going home from Chicago and Cook was going to Duluth. The talk on the train was in the parlor car and Senator Husting was present at that conversation. I think I had no conversation with Cook alone at any time."

Senator Pomerene—"Was there any additional information in this second conversation?"

"No. The arrangement was that Cook was to notify the Chicago lawyer as to what Shields would do in reference to coming forward and telling what he knew about this matter. You understand this came to me from Cook as a fact, as something that he knew to be true. The only question was whether Shields could be gotten to admit it."

Mr. Littlefield had just begun cross-examination of Morris when adjournment for the day was taken.

Would Summon Cook.

In answer to objections, Chairman Heyburn announced that Cook would be summoned and the committee would make every effort to secure whatever primary evidence was back of Morris' testimony. If the committee failed to procure any primary evidence, he intimated, all of Morris' testimony might be disregarded in the final report on the Stephenson case.

CLAPP CALLS TAFT TYRANT

Excoriates President at Progressive Meeting in Chicago.

Man Who Asks About La Follette's Record Is Threatened.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Bitter excoriation of President Taft, a promise to carry the fight for presidential nomination to the home and make a plea for the aid of American women, marked the opening here last night of the campaign of the progressive element of the Republican party to nominate Senator Robert M. La Follette for the Republican candidacy for president.

Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota brought the denunciation of President Taft to its sharpest climax after Senator Coe I. Crawford of South Dakota had been interrupted by a dissenter in the audience and had been forced to quit speaking by the assistance given him by his audience in quelling the one-man insurrection.

Action on Arizona.

Calling the chief executive's action in the Arizona statehood matter the "blackest chapter in all tyranny outside of the absolute despotism of an unbridled king," Senator Clapp said in part:

"Now, whether you believe in the recall or not, I think you will agree with me that it is not for you to say whether the people of Arizona shall have the recall. We had this question up in congress. We said the people of Arizona must vote on the question again, and whatever way they voted, they would be allowed to come into the Union. And, my friends, the president of the United States vetoed that resolution, and one was passed providing that the people of Arizona must vote again, but must vote against the recall, though they can put it into their Constitution after admission.

Stultifying the Electorate.

"A fine lesson to teach people on the threshold of admission to this Union! What, think you, would say the disembodied spirits of those men whose bones lie mouldering on the battlefields of the republic, if, looking down, they could realize that the price of admission to this Union was a stultification of the electorate of the individual state?

"I want to say that this is the blackest chapter in all tyranny outside of the absolute despotism of an unbridled king. And remember, 'whom the gods would destroy they first make mad.'"

The speakers at the mass meeting were Walter C. Jones, Progressive candidate for governor of Illinois; Senator Coe I. Crawford, Former Alderman Charles E. Merriam, George L. Record of New Jersey and Senator Clapp.

Will Appeal to Women.

Mr. Merriam voiced the promise to carry the campaign to the fireside, saying in this connection that the Progressive appeal would be made by Senator La Follette and his followers to women as well as men.

Senator Crawford elaborated on this feature, and was in the midst of a denunciation of "jackpotism" and the bribery of legislatures, when a man giving the name of Rudolph M. Patterson asked if it were not true that Senator La Follette, after receiving financial aid from Senator Stevenson, had turned from him and acted the part of an ingrate.

Immediately the meeting was in an uproar, which was quieted only when scores had attempted to do violence to the interrupter, and a policeman had been called. Senator Crawford then quit speaking.

Senator Lorimer came in for attacks by all the speakers, chiefly Senator Crawford and Mr. Merriam.

The meeting was closed by Senator Clapp's attack upon President Taft, particularly with an argument against the president's position on the recall of judges.

Menace in Judiciary.

The senator called the judiciary system as it exists, a legislative and executive branch of the government which "can make laws as it sees fit and repeal them at its leisure." He beheld in the judiciary a greater power of menace to the popular government than the legislature and declared that if the recall were valuable at all it was needed to "defend the composite people against factors of too great power."

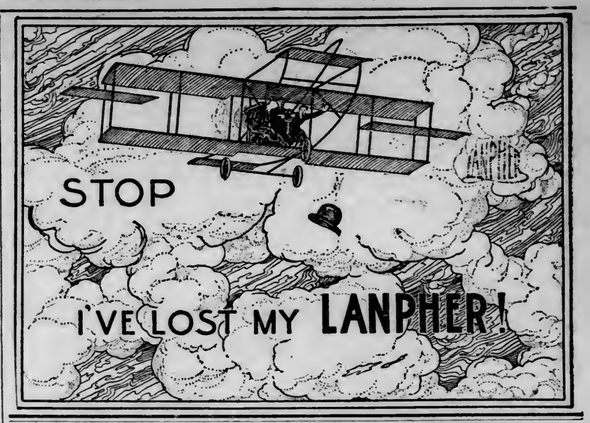

"If it will cause judges to 'keep their ear to the ground' and base their decisions upon political prospects," he concluded, "they will do it now, and the sooner we get rid of that kind of judges, the better we are off."

Expect Garfield to Stump.

Cleveland, Oct. 18.—Ohio is to be the center of the fight to prevent President Taft's re-nomination and to obtain the Republican nomination for Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, according to Clevelanders who attended the progressive conference in Chicago.

James R. Garfield did not return with the other Ohio Progressives who pledged themselves to work for La Follette. It is said Mr. Garfield will engage in the speaking campaign to prevent President Taft from obtaining a solid Ohio delegation.

They also assert that La Follette will concentrate his forces in this state. La Follette will speak here in December. Other speakers will be Senator Clapp of Minnesota, Senator Bristow of Kansas, Senator Cummins of Iowa and Congressman Lenroot of Wisconsin.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

IS CAUSING BIG FLURRY

Coming of Government Special Agents to Beltrami County Starts Gossip.

Reported Uncle Sam Is Still Keeping Eye Open for Liquor Sellers.

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although Special Agent W. E. Johnson of the interior department, who clamped down the lid on the Indian country, has left the service and a decision of a federal judge has removed that restriction, things have occurred in the past few days in this locality that inspire the belief Uncle Sam is keeping his eye open as to sales of liquor to Indians in this section.

Liquor dealers in this locality have been placed on the anxious seat by the reappearance of H. A. Larson, the first of the special agents of the Indian department who participated in the saloon closing crusade in the Indian country last year. Rumors are afloat that the Indian department is keeping a watchful eye on this section and will look the ground over thoroughly with relation to liquor having been received by Indians since the closing order was taken into the courts from Bemidji and a temporary stay granted while the matter was being settled in the higher courts.

Mr. Larson, while here, said that he was looking the ground over, but would give out no information as to his exact movements.

Johnson's Successor Also Visits.

It is also said that H. P. Coggeshall, the new chief of the special officers empowered to destroy the liquor traffic with Indians, has been here of late. Mr. Coggeshall is a close friend of Vice President Sherman. He was in Bemidji last winter with Special Agent Brents and made the acquaintance of local people.

From another source, it is learned that J. J. Matulys, special agent located at Cass Lake for some time, and N. J. Sero, special agent who made his headquarters in Bemidji, are out of the service. It is said that Sero will probably be reinstated, but that Matulys is out for good and all.

Information is to the effect that papers have been received in Minneapolis from the department of justice at Washington to the effect that the Willard decision, by virtue of which the saloons here are being operated, will be taken to the United States circuit court of appeals.

METHODISTS ARE HOLDING MEET

North Dakota Silver Anniversary Conference on at Grand Forks.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The M. E. conference, the twenty-fifth in the history of North Dakota, began its sessions here this morning and will continue until next Monday.

The silver anniversary session last night was a complete success. Not the least interesting feature was the fact that William White of Fargo presided over the meeting. He has been in the North Dakota conference, or in North Dakota Methodism, for over forty years, and claims the distinction of being the oldest Methodist member in the state.

The announcement of the decision of the southwestern delegates to drop, for the time being, the fight for a new college, will have its effect on the election of delegates to the general conference, as it is understood that the proposition will be presented to that body soon.

Many Are Candidates.

No feature of the conference will hold such great interest as that of the election of delegates to the general conference. There are nine candidates in the clergy already although there only are three delegates to be elected.

Among the candidates are four district superintendents: Rev. Charles A. Macnamara of Fargo, Dr. J. G. Moore of Grand Forks, Rev. F. S. Danforth of Bismarck and Rev. C. Verrollis of Minot; Dr. E. P. Robertson, president of Wesley college; Rev. F. S. Halfyard, also of Wesley college; Rev. W. R. Morrison of Sheldon, Rev. Alex Karr of Valley City and Dr. H. P. Cooper are the other delegates.

ALLOW HUNTING ON RESERVATION

Under Certain Restrictions White Nimrods May Seek Game There.

Ashland, Wis., Oct. 18.—Under certain restrictions whites may hunt and fish on the Bad River Indian reservation, near here, according to instructions Indian Agent Campbell has received from Second Assistant Commissioner C. F. Hanke. This ruling grew out of the efforts of state wardens to prosecute Indians for hunting off the reservation without a license and of the Indians retaliating by refusing to permit whites to hunt on their ground.

The assistant commissioner notified Mr. Campbell that the department is not disposed to prohibit whites hunting on Indian lands for food if they will obtain permits then comply with certain regulations.

"If the Indians of the reservation do not object to white people hunting in the wild rice fields," says Mr. Hanke, "it has occurred to the office that it would not be detrimental to their interests to issue hunting permits. You are, accordingly, authorized to issue such permits for specified terms, not exceeding thirty days, however, and containing the conditions that the permittees shall hunt for subsistence only while in the Indian country; that no intoxicating liquors will be introduced and that the permittees shall comply strictly with the laws of the state with respect to hunting and fishing. No permit should be issued to any person unless he exhibits to you his hunter's license from the state authorities, if the state law provides for the issuance of such licenses and, of course, no permits should be issued if the Indians object.

To Charge $1 Per Head.

"In order that some revenue may be derived for the Indians, you are authorized to charge the sum of $1 for each person to whom a permit is issued with the understanding that if any such person shall camp on the reservation for more than four nights, an additional charge shall be made of 25 cents for each person for each additional night in which camp is made. The amounts so received should be deposited in the treasury as 'Miscellaneous Receipts, Class 111.'

"With respect to the practice heretofore in force on the reservation under your charge of permitting employes to hunt, the office knows of no reason why the privilege should be revoked provided the Indians interpose no objection and that the employes also obtain from you a license on the payment of $1. Permits issued to employes to whom such permits are given must comply with the laws of the state of Wisconsin regarding hunting and fishing."

CARLTON COUNTY COURT MEETING

Judge Dancer Puts Many Applicants for Citizenship Through Sprouts.

Carlton, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge H. A. Dancer of Duluth spent yesterday, the first day of the October term of Carlton county court, in putting a lot of candidates for citizenship papers through a course of sprouts and in arranging court cases. The jury reported today and the trial of cases will be commenced.

Special Examiner Doe represented the government in hearing the applicants for citizenship yesterday and the petitioners were put through the required educational test of questions in civil government. About half of them passed and the other half were continued until the spring term or until they have become proficient in the knowledge required.

Thirty-five Applied.

In all thirty-five applications were heard, and of these sixteen were granted their papers and nineteen were continued. Those who secured their papers were as follows: Severt Johan Morkin, Norwegian; John Martinson, Swede; Erik Borg, Swede; W. L. Vogan, Canadian; Lars Nelson, Norwegian; Axel Peterson, Swede; John A. Lumppin, Finn; Charles Victor Wickstrom, Finn; Gustav Wilhelm Luakkala, Finn; John Petter Partinen, Finn; John Theodore Risberg, Norwegian; Oscar Wiking, Swede; Waino Elo, Finn; Alfred Theo. Anderson, Norwegian; Gustav Souminen, Finn.

There are sixty-eight in the civil calendar for this term, and no criminal cases and no grand jury. It is expected that it will be a short term, as affdavits for a continuance have been filed in many of the important cases that were to come up, and they will be continued until the April term.

STANNARD JURY SOON SELECTED

Trial of Accused Ontonagon County Woman Will Begin on Thursday.

Ontonagon, Mich., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—One justice of the peace, one laborer, one blacksmith, one butcher, one merchant, one carpenter, one saw filer and five farmers.

These comprise the jury that will try Mrs. Laura Stannard, charged with murdering her husband, Charles Stannard, by placing strychnine in his coffee. The last man was chosen yesterday afternoon, not near the time being consumed in selecting a jury that was expected. After the jury had been sworn the jury, on the request of the prosecutor, was excused until tomorrow, when the prosecution will make its opening statement and the introduction of evidence will begin.

Mrs. Stannard, who had her four children with her in court yesterday afternoon, appeared to be somewhat disappointed when the trial was adjourned.

"I am sorry to see the delay," she said. "I would be glad to have it all over with as soon as possible, but I am satisfied they are doing all that they can."

Servant Important Witness.

Grace Hammes, the servant girl, is relied upon by the prosecution as its chief witness. The testimony that she is expected to give probably coincides closely with the story she told at the coroner's inquest held last spring at the Stannard home in Greenland. At that time she told of preparing breakfast for the family Sunday morning, March 26, the day of Stannard's death. She said she ground coffee herself and placed it in a perfectly clean coffee pot.

"We all partook of the same coffee," she said, "and I experienced no ill effects from it.

"The rest of the family had eaten breakfast some time before the deceased, who complained of feeling ill almost immediately after leaving the table. He went at once to his room, where he died that afternoon.

"I saw deceased about 6 o'clock Saturday evening, just before he left home. He then appeared in a normal condition. He got home about 4:30 a. m. Sunday. He was intoxicated but could handle himself all right."

SURELY BREAKS UP A BAD COLD

Most Severe Cold or the Grippe Relieved in Several Hours.

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken will cure Grippe or break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs.

You distinctly feel the cold breaking and all the disagreeable grippe symptoms leaving after the very first dose. It promptly ends the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assitance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

MINOT WILL DEFEND ITS NORMAL SCHOOL

Will Engage Counsel and Resist Proceedings Started By Attorney General.

Minot, N. D., Oct. 18.—Minot citizens will defend in a vigorous manner the attack made by Attorney General Miller on the constitutionality of the amendment providing for a normal school at Minot.

At a rousing meeting at the Commercial club arrangements were made for securing the best legal talent obtainable to appear before the supreme court Oct. 24, when the injunction secured by Attorney General Miller is returnable.

In accordance with a motion adopted at the meeting, President A. M. Thompson of the Commercial club has appointed the following committee to arrange for the defense before the supreme court: Dorr H. Carroll, Dr. A. Carr, C. A. Grow, Erick Ramstad and William Dunnell.

This committee will make arrangements for the attorneys to represent Minot, and will also collect funds for carrying on the fight and will have general supervision over the campaign that Minot is about to undertake.

DYNAMITE OUTRAGE STIRS ISHPEMING

Dastardly Attempt to Blow Up Home of Peter La Freniere.

Ishpeming, Mich., Oct. 18.—This city is aroused over a dastardly attempt made two nights ago to blow up the home of Peter La Freniere on Greenwood street when a stick of dynamite was exploded under the building. The explosion broke fourteen panes of glass in Mr. Lafreniere's dwelling, and a lamp and some glass articles in the house were also shattered. The explosion shook several buildings in the neighborhood.

Deputy Marshall Collins made an investigation of the premises and he found a miner's candle that had been used to set off the fuse attached to the dynamite. The candle had apparently been used in a mine, as it was about half burned, and was discolered with ore. He also found the paper in which the dynamite had been wrapped. The paper was smeared with iron ore, as if it had been handled by some one working in a mine.

Saw Man Running.

A man who is engaged as car cleaner by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company, and who works during on the cars a short distance from Lafreniere's home, saw a man run from there a short time before the explosion occurred. It is assumed that this man threw the lighted fuse and dynamite near the building. Because the dynamite exploded in the open only a small area of the surface was disturbed by the explosion.

Mr. Lafreniere is employed in one of the mines as a track layer, and he is at a loss to understand why any one should attempt to dynamite his house, as he does not know that he has an enermy in the world. He has never had any trouble with any of his neighbors, nor with any of the men with whom he worked in the mines. Mr. Lafreniere's house is on the site where one of the buildings of the Barnum mine stood during the last few years it was in operation.

CROOKSTON MAN KILLED.

Engineer Z. C. Boucher Loses Life Near Portage, Man.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 18.—Engineer Z. C. Boucher of Crookston, Minn., was instantly killed and Fireman Frank Wavra and Brakeman J. A. Baxter seriously scalded and otherwise injured yesterday when a mixed train on the Great Northern railroad plowed into a herd of cattle a few miles south of Portage. Twenty passengers escaped uninjured.

WILL UPHOLD WHITTIER.

Expectation Is Board of Control Will Sustain Superintendent.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 18.—Supt. F. A. Whittier of the state training school for boys at Red Wing, will not be removed by the board of control. It is said that P. M. Ringdal and Charles Vasaly, the Democratic members, will render a report exonerating the superintendent, while C. J. Swendsen, the lone Republican member, will dissent. This makes the vote 2 to 1 to retain Whittier and place no blame on him for the flogging received by boys in the school.

LARGER STATE PARK

To Result If Land Is Purchased From Lumberman.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 18.—W. T. Cox, state forester, is negotiating with T. B. Walker, the Minneapolis lumberman, and the Weyerhauesers for the purchase of approximately 600 acres of land in the Itasca state park owned by them. If the deals are successful, the state will have acquired title to the entire shore line of Itasca and Elk lakes, and will also have ownership of all the timber along the scenic roads and saddle trails.

At present the state owns approximately 24,000 acres of land in the park.

CORNER STONE LAID.

Event in Building of North Star College at Warren.

Warren, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The corner stone of North Star college was laid Monday and the event was celebrated by all the citizens of this city, and several people of note from several institutions of learning in the Northwest. Following Mayor Nelson's proclamation that all business places be closed from 10:30 a. m. to 12 noon in honor of the event and to make it possible for all to attend, work was suspended ninety minutes Monday forenoon. A procession was formed downtown headed by the Warren City band, followed by speakers and students, school children and citizens in automobiles, carriages and on foot, all proceeding to the college building, where the imposing ceremony was enacted, music rendered and speeches made by prominent educators of the Northwest.

TRAIN KILLS HERMIT.

Peter Sellers of Carney, Wis., Dies on Railroad Tracks.

Menominee, Mich., Oct. 18.—Peter Sellers, known as "Black Pete," a hermit who lived near Carney, was struck by a train and killed at Bagley.

NORTH DAKOTAN SAVES BROTHER FROM DEATH.

Sheldon, N. D., Oct. 18. — (Special to The Herald.)—Drawn into the spikes of a manure spreader, Gus Rutherford of Owego nearly had his life crushed out when his brother, Arthur, discovered his predicament and rescued him. Arthur was in the danger zone when he threw on the gear. Gus Rutherford's head was drawn into the spreader and two of the spikes cut deep gashes in his head before he was released.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Marquette—The Lobdell house on Arch street between Pine and High streets is to be made over into an apartment house, consisting of five flats on the ground floor, two on the second floor, and one on the third story, which last will be occupied by the janitor and his family. The other four apartments will be for rent as soon as they are ready for occupancy.

Ishpeming—Rev. M. M. Allen, pastor of the Presbyterian church, who is chairman of the Home Mission committee of the Lake Superior Presbytery, announces that he will start a movement to raise $500, in addition to the regular church contributions, for the aid of the home mission work in the upper peninsula.

Marquette—The year's work has begun in real earnest at the high school. There are 317 pupils enrolled, as against 325 at this time last year, the reduction being due to a smaller number of eighth grade graduates having entered the high school this fall.

Negaunee—The First M. E. church was filled almost to its capacity at both services Sunday, when Rev. Dr. J. G. Haller, the new pastor, preached his initial sermons. Over 1,000 people were in attendance at the evening service.

Hancock—William Frazier was arrested Sunday on the charge of larceny, it being alleged that he took a grip and some goods from a hunters' cabin near Winona. He was brought before Judge C. R. Little, found guilty and sentenced to ninety days in the county jail.

Calumet—S. A. Grubbs, who is to stage the Elks entertainment to be given Thursday and Friday evening this week in the Calumet theater, is making excellent progress with the chorus work and other features connected with the production and the Elks declare the show will eclipse anything of the kind yet attempted in the copper country.

Lake Linden—The funeral of the late Mrs. Francis Gray, whose death occurred last week, was held Sunday with services at the Lake Linden M. E. church in charge of Rev. H. H. Mallinson and interment at Maple Hill. Special music was rendered by the choir.

Houghton—Gottlieb Zerbst, aged 52, died Saturday night after having been an invalid for over eleven years. He is survived by his wife and three children; also two brothers and a sister. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and interment took place at Forest Hill cemetery.

Laurium—Angelo Rossio was arrested Saturday afternoon as he was about to board a train, and taken to the court of Justice Armit to answer a charge of attempting to defraud his boarding-house keeper. He pleaded guilty, but was unable to pay the fine or the bill, and was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail.

Marquette—Miss Jennie Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. ohn Miller, 308 Adams street, and Charles Fitzmaurice of Munising stole a march on their friends and were quietly wedded Saturday, Oct. 7, by the Rev. Joseph Dutton. The fact that they had been married was kept a profound secret until last Saturday.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison—Chief Justice John B. Winslow of the Wisconsin supreme court refuses to talk of his possible appointment to the supreme court to succeed the late Justice John M. Harlan, saying that the matter was too delicate at this time for discussion.

Racine—Four members of the Chrudim lodge, branch of a widespread Bohemian fraternal insurance order, at a meeting contributed $4,000 as a nucleus for a $6,000 school fund, for which it is proposed to start a non-sectarian school in Bohemian and American languages in this city.

Hudson—Sneak thieves have been plentiful in Hudson of late. The freight depot in this city has been burglarized and then several residences were entered. It is thought that it is the work of persons familiar with the city.

Marinette—Suit for $7,000 damages against the Eagle Printing company of Marinette has been started by Mrs. Mary Burgson. She charges that while scrubbing out the office she came in contact with a live wire, and was severely shocked and injured.

Madison—Harvey Clark, formerly a well-known member of the state board of control and for some years superintendent of the state school for the blind at Janesville, died here Sunday morning at 3 o'clock at the home of his wife. He was graduated from the classical department of the University of Wisconsin in 1892 and from the law school in 1894.

Ashland—Will Metzdorff, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Metzdorff of Ashland, was married at Topeka, Kan., a few days ago to Miss Pansy Wintrode. Mr. Metzdorff and his bride are on their wedding tour, which will take in Ashland and Boston. They will reside at Topeka.

Oshkosh—Ferdinand Kuehn, aged 71, an inmate of the poor farm, who went to pick nuts last Wednesday afternoon and who had not been seen since, was found dead in the woods near here Monday. Apoplexy caused death.

Manitowoc—Moving picture theaters of the city remained open Sunday, notwithstanding the threat of ministers to prosecute, and up to noon today no action had been taken in the matter.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Little Falls.—County Treasurer Renick Monday received checks from the state to cover the following state aid to Morrison county schools: Royalton, high school, $1,750; Motley, grade, $600; Pierz, grade, $600; Swanville, grade, $600.

Brainerd.—William Gildart of Long Lake township brought a seven-pound potato to the Con O'Brien Mercantile company's store, which is on display in their windows. One of these is a meal for a small family.

Moorhead—Ed. Lendey, the young man in the employ of F. M. Rice, at his farm, and who was arrested immediately following the holding up of F. M. Rice and R. W. Patterson, has confessed to the authorities that it was he who did the job.

Crookston—Raymond and George Giroux identified the body of their father, Z. Giroux by articles found in his pockets. Giroux has been missing three weeks and late Tuesday the body was taken from the river and buried in the potters field in Lakewood cemetery. Details are not known here, but it is supposed to have been foul play.

Hallock.—The combined corn, grain and vegetable show and market day here Saturday was a success. A big crowd of persons were in attendance. A free lunch was served and the following spoke: E. Chamberlain, Great Northern development commissioner; Miss Bess M. Rowe of the Crookston Experimental Station, C. O. Carlston of Erskine.

Mankato.—Nothing has been done in the case of Mrs. Edna Felton, who recently stole $450 from her employer, Samuel Blaisdell, in Medo. She was supposed to come up before Judge Pfau for sentence Monday but she is still at the county jail and will probably not receive her sentence until next week, when Judge Pfau will return from district court at St. James.

Fergus Falls.—George B. Wright, who is now an officer in the American navy, left for Norfolk, Va., Monday, after spending a furlough at his home here. Mr. Wright is now aboard the battleship Kansas, which is one of the larger battleships, although not of the Dreadnaught type.

St. Cloud.—Fred Smith, one of the two men found in possession of the goods stolen from the Zimmer store in Cold Spring, has placed in the hands of County Attorney J. B. Himsl a petition asking to be allowed to appear before the district judge and enter a plea of guilty to grand larceny in the second degree.

Bemidji.—Cass Lake's postal savings bank opened for business Friday. Depositors were not numerous, but $102.50 were received up to noon.

Stillwater.—Ferdinand Retzlaff, a resident of this city for the past thirty-three years, died Sunday at the residence of his son, William Retzlaff, 1206 South Fourth street, aged 82 years. Surviving are the widow, the sons, Edward, Charles and William of this city, and the daughter, Mrs. James Chatterton of St. Paul.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—F. F. Burchard, secretary of the Grand Forks board of education, who made the trip to Duluth with the football team, received the telegram while seated at the dinner table in the Zenith City after the game, announcing the fact that he was the father of a nine-pound baby boy. Mrs. Burchard is at the present time in Syracuse, N. Y.

Bismarck, N. D.—James H. Eagle was married to Katharine Malnouri by Rev. C. L. Hall of the Congregational mission at Elbwoods. Both of the parties live west of the river on the Berthold reservation. Mr. Eagle is well known in Bismarck.

Mandan, N. D.—Vincenzo Ginardi, who shot and killed Tony Ferrarra in Mandan, was bound over to the district court by Judge Henke on a charge of murder in the first degree. It took the greater portion of the day for the preliminary hearing.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Parents of Frederick Forell, the young brakeman who was killed at Hensel, Walsh county, are conducting an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death. Charles J. A. Forell and his son, Richard, have been at Hensel and in this city for this purpose. The elder Forell resides at Iron Mountain, Mich.

Fargo, N. D.—E. R. Orchard, city auditor, and V. R. Lovell, mayor, are back from Atlanta, Ga., where they have been for some time attending the meeting of the American League of Municipalities. Both officials report a splendid time and state that the meeting was most instructive and educative from every standpoint.

Bismarck, N. D.—The Bismarck high school football team was defeated Saturday by the Mandan high school eleven by a score of 45 to 5. The game was the first one played in this part of the state this year and was well attended.

Minot, N. D.—The 3-month-old baby girl of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Anderson was found dead in bed Monday morning. A physician was called and pronounced death due to heart failure.

Bismarck, N. D.—Mrs. John Fraser of Brainerd, Minn., arrived in the city Sunday for a surprise visit with her brother, Chief McDonald. Mrs. Fraser will remain here about two weeks.

Fargo, N. D.—Clifford Nystrum, aged 17, died in fifteen minutes after drinking carbolic acid which he thought was brandy. He had not been feeling well. His father told him to take a drink of brandy and the youth got the wrong bottle.

Deadwood, S. D.—Another change in the plans for the visit of President Taft to the Black Hills, Oct. 21 has been made. The original schedule called for a fivve-minute stop at Sturgis, but it has now been arranged that the president will stop over there at least half an hour, an auto waiting at the depot conveying him to Fort Meade, near town, where he will be presented with a memorial requesting that the post be not abandoned.

GOOD NEWS
S.S.S. CURES OLD SORES

To every person suffering with an old sore or chronic ulcer, the very best news in this paper is contained in the present article. It is good news because it is true; it tells of a way to get rid of these plague spots which so often sap the strength and vitality, and best of all, this permanent cure is in reach of every one.

It is an absolutely true statement to say that every old sore or chronic ulcer exists solely because of bad blood. Outside contaminations or influences may increase the local inflammation, but such things have nothing to do with keeping the place open. It is the infected blood discharging its impurities through a weak spot on the flesh that does this, and the sore will continue, gradually growing worse, until the blood is purified of the exciting cause.

See how nature points to the cause through the symptoms. The inflammation, discharge, discolored flesh, and the fact that external applications never have any curative effect on the sore, show that deep down in the circulation there is a morbid cause which prevents the place from healing. But more convincing proof that bad blood is responsible for old sores, is furnished by the fact that even removing every visible trace of the ulcer by surgical operation does not cure; the sore always returns.

S. S. S. heals old sores because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers; it goes into the circulation and removes the cause from the blood. When the blood has been purified there is no longer any inflammatory or infectious matter to irritate the place and nature causes a natural and certain healing of the ulcer. When S. S. S. has cleansed the circulation and the place is well, it is not a surface cure, not simply a smoothing over of the outward evidence, but it is a perfect and permanent cure, because every vestige of the old cause has been driven out. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, cleansing and invigorating in their nature, and of great tonic value. It is a medicine adapted to persons of any age, and is just as effective with the old as with the young or middle aged. Under the purifying and tonic effects of S. S. S. the system is greatly strengthened and benefited. To hear of S. S. S. has been good news to thousands, it is good news for you.

If you wish any special advice about an old sore or ulcer write for our free book, and ask our medical department to give any instructions you may feel the need of. No charge for the book or advice. S. S. S. is sold at drug stores.

MATHEWSON CAME NEAR WINNING NEW LAURELS

A Win Tuesday Would Have Made Matty a Hero — Sailor Jack May Come — Fortunes Spent in Baseball.

(BY BRUCE.)

IF Baker hadn't cracked out that home run yesterday, and if Herzog hadn't been the wobbly kid, and—lots of other things hadn't happened, the Giants might have won the third game of the series. But the hadn'ts happened to happen and the Athletics happened to win.

Here we are with three games out of the way. They have passed into history and will be filed away in the archives of baseball. With the dawn of today all of us anxiously wait the resumption of the battle, a series that thus far has furnished some of the most spectacular games of any played in recent years for the highest honors in baseball.

Coming right down to cases, so far at least, one player has been the star of the series. Go back to the games played in 1905 and you will find that Christy Mathewson was the man who did most of the winning for the New York team, then battling against this same aggregation from the sleepy city of Philadelphia.

Turn a wee mite further on to the games played in the spectacular series between the Cubs and Sox in 1906, and it was George Rohe, a player afterwards sent a drifting down to the minors, who was the batting kid. Rohe did more to defeat the Cubs than any other player, almost.

Miner Brown and Overall have been Cub heroes; Babe Adams was the shining light for Pittsburg in the fall of 1909. Eddie Collins was the hero last season, and here we are intent upon the making of some brand new heroes.

It looked for a while yesterday as if Big Six was going to perform the almost impossible and prove the hero of two world's series. But he faltered at the last moment, and to date the limelight has clustered with loving tenderness on the manly form of young Frank Baker, the slugging kid of the Athletics.

With two games to its credit Philadelphia has the advantage. More than this, the Mackmen have beaten the best pitchers that the Giants could bring to the mound. With Mathewson and Marquard beaten, the query stalks boldy forth, what mound man will the foxy McGraw send to the slab for the game of this afternoon?

She is a great old series, one of the very best that has ever been played for the championship of the world. The result is still in doubt, though perhaps not so much so as was the case at the close of Monday's game. The Giants may win out yet, though if you persist in holding to that opinion you can go out and get all kinds of money holding to an opposite view.

EFFORTS are being made at the present time to get Sailor Jack here to meet Joe Carr, the crack Minneapolis wrestler, as one of the features of the coming contest between Frederick Pilakoif and Henry Ordemann of Minneapolis, which is on the sport card for next week.

With Young Miller quaking in his wrestling shoes every time the name of the husky sailor man of Duluth is mentioned, the plan has been hatched to send Carr on here and try the sailor out. That is one of the favorite schemes of Miller's. He doesn't like to wrestle a man he doesn't know something about.

Carr is one of the best of the lighter men wrestling in the Northwest, for it took somewhat over an hour for Miller to throw him. A match between the sailor and Carr would make one of the best contests ever seen in this part of the woods. The sailor has never shown the least fear about meeting any man anywhere near his weight, and if he can be located a great match should result.

Ordemann, as a dispatch from Minneapolis stated yesterday, is training at the present time to meet Kid Cutler about two weeks after the match here with Pilakoff. He is reported to be in great shape, better than at any time since his meeting with Zbyszko at Detroit last season, and he should show some great wrestling in the bout with the giant Finn.

JUST to show you that baseball is some big institution, and, furthermore that it costs real money to keep a great team up among the leaders, it might be stated that the Pittsburg team the past season has spent $46,000 for players.

The latest bulletin issued by the National commission shows that $135,000 has been spent by the various teams of the National league for players, so that it can be seen how determined and persistent have been the efforts of Barney Dreyfus to build up a great team at the Smoky City.

Isn't it funny—though human nature is the comedy of this mundane sphere—that fans the world over will yell for a pennant-winning team? They yell at the management, yell for a new management, and roast everything in particular when the team of their city fails to win. The fans of Pittsburg have been croaking ever since it was found that the Pirates were out of the race, after coming strong the entire season.

But here the owner of the Pittsburg team spends a small fortune in the effort to put a winner across. If fans are so ungrateful, you may ask, why do magnates spend small fortunes to build up their teams?

The answer has been proven in the various cities of the two major leagues. Charles Comiskey's fortune really began with the first pennant he won in the then infant American league. Charley Murphy laid his fortune at the shrine of four pennants won by the Cubs. John T. Brush won thousands of dollars through the pennants won by the Giants. Barney Dreyfus has become rich through four pennant-winning teams in the cheroot city of Pittsburg.

It is not difficult to figure why these men spend annually enough money to support most men in affluence during the remainder of their lives, in a strenuous endeavor to build up a team that will draw down the thousands of dollars at the turnstiles.

All of the successful baseball magnates are also successful business men; men of acumen and foresight. They figure on the profit of investment, as the more prosaic business man figures on the profit accruing from investment from some lot or building.

This is an age of big business in baseball, and when fans stop to think of the thousands taken in at the gate during the sunny afternoons of summer, they might also think of sums of $46,000 spent for players alone, not to mention the expenses of traveling, advertising, the salaries of the petted athletes and a hundred and one other details that drive the daily dollar outlay into the thousands.

Baseball Magazine Out.

The world's series number of the Baseball magazine is just out and is one of the most interesting publications dealing with the figures in the big series. The magazine is profusely and handsomely illustrated, containing pictures of the members of both teams and also many interesting facts regarding them. The Baseball magazine is rapidly becoming the leading periodical devoted to the interests of the game.

MANY BETS ARE PLACED

Athletics Seem to Be Favorites With Duluth Sporting Fraternity.

Odds Are Being Offered That Mackmen Will Win the Series.

Interest as indicated by betting is high here in Duluth on the outcome of the world's series.

The Athletics rule favorites. At many of the Duluth cigar stores where bets are received and odds recorded on the series now being fought out, one can get plenty of even money on the game being played this afternoon—even money that the Athletics are going to take the game this afternoon, and get odds for one's coin, should one harbor the belief that the Giants are going to cop the series.

Many people around town are willing to wager that the Giants win this afternoon, but there are fewer people who are inclined to the belief that New York will win the series. There are also bets recorded, with few takers, that the Athletics will make more hits and runs in the series than the Giants.

There was one man around town today who was willing, or says he is willing, to bet that it will require seven games to settle the series.

There are many of the cigar stores that have the odds on the games marked upon blackboards. You can get most any kind of a wager, ranging from the freak bet on the number of hits and runs that will be scored by either of the teams, to the outcome of each game or the result of the entire series.

Odds are posted at several of the stores on the Athletics to win the series, these odds being plentiful at 5 to 4 and better. There is also plenty of even money that the Athletics are going to win today.

Never before in the history of the world series games has there been so much interest manifested in the outcome. Along about the time of the start of the games crowds swarm around the downtown cigar stores and some of the brokers' offices where the returns are received.

Long before the game today The Herald telephones were playing a steady melody of jingling sound, eager fans wanting to know the probable batteries, the weather conditions in New York, whether there would be any changes in the two teams, and what advance "dope" had been sent out from the city over the busy telegraph wires.

While it is hard to estimate any amount of money wagered when the majority of the wagers are made in varying small amounts, general indications point unmistakably to the wagering of more money upon the outcome of the series, or upon the result of the individual games, than has ever been bet on any baseball contests.

Traveling men in the hotels today, those who have come in from some of the little towns since the starting of the first game of the series, Saturday, tell of waiting patiently outside some small telegraph office in a railroad station, while some operator toiled and oftimes swore the while at delays in getting the score.

Up at one of the range towns some telegraph operator made a mistake and had the final score of Monday's game 10 to 10. A large crowd kept waiting for the result of the extra inning. It didn't come. The operator insisted that it would come and someone in the crowd insisted that he had made a mistake. Finally a wire confirmation was sought and the right score of the game received.

Interest is intense—that is the best word to express it. When one thinks of the interest in Duluth, and then reflects that are cities and towns scattered over the broad expanse of the United States taking a like interest, some idea of the immensity of the interest can be gained.

PHILADELPHIA FANS PLEASED

News of Victory Is Greeted With the Wildest Enthusiasm.

Philadelphia, Oct. 18.—Enthusiasm such as probably never before was witnessed here swept over Philadelphia when word of Philadelphia's second victory over New York was flashed here. Thousands had gathered wherever a score board could be viewed and a pall seemed to fall on the watchers when New York scored. This was lifted when Baker's home run, tying the score, was announced in the ninth. When two more runs were scored in the eleventh and victory was announced, the enthusiasm grew into a frenzy.

The victorious team showed their delight in today's victory. Manager Mack would not comment on the spiking of Baker, simply saying his star third sacker would play today.

McGraw and the New York team arrived here shortly before 10 o'clock last night.

AMERICANS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

Series at St. Louis Finally Ends With a Double-Header.

St. Louis, Oct. 18.—By defeating the local National league team in the final game of a double-header yesterday afternoon, the Americans won the city championship 5 to 1. The losing team tried out two pitchers ineffectively.

The clubs played a second game to complete the scheduled series advertised, this one going to the Nationals by a score of 5 to 1.

In the spring ante-season series the Nationals won seven straight games. The scores:

First game—
Americans ..0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 3 1—5 11 1
Nationals ...0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0—1 7 2

Batteries—Lake and Stephens; Harmon, Geyer and Bliss.

Second game—
Nationals ...0 2 0 3 0 0 0 0 0 x—5 11 2

Batteries—Hamilton and Krichell; Laudermilk and Wingo. Umpires—Perrine and Johnstone.

SPEEDERS TO MEET.

Bryant and McGinnis Will Come Together at the Auditorium.

Frank Bryant, one of the fastest roller skaters ever developed in these parts, will take on John McGinnis this evening in a match race of one mile. The contest will be skated on the big track at the Auditorium rink and should be a pretty and well contested race.

McGinnis has been a serious rival to Bryant ever since the latter won the championship of the Head of the Lakes on the rollers. McGinnis is said to be a fast and heady skater and his friends believe he will take the local championship from Bryant.

The contest will be the first race ever skated at the new Auditorium and is attracting a great deal of attention. It is said that Phil Busha will challenge the winner.

"Bat" Loses to Pat Moore.

Boston, Oct. 18.—Clever boxing gave Pal Moore of Philadelphia the decision over Battling Nelson, former lightweight champion, in a twelve-round bout here last night. Nelson devoted himself to in-fighting almost entirely.

BOWLERS BEGIN REGULAR SEASON

Duluth Bowling Association Opens Schedule With Bright Prospects.

The first regular scheduled game of the Duluth Bowling association was played last evening on the Grand alleys, the Jeffersons meeting the Centrals and winning three straight games. The new club from the East end showed that it has entered the bowling game here in Duluth with a strong aggregation.

With the prospects of a very good season, the best in the history of the game here, the league is off to an early start with a schedule that promises to bring out some very good playing.

Following are the results of the games:

Jeffersons.

Badgers Are Injured.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 18.—The hospital specter is stalking in the Badger football camp since the Ripon game on Saturday. Quarterback Gillette is on crutches with an injured knee, a wound which probably will keep him out of the Colorado college game next Saturday. Right end Ofstie is at the Madison General hospital. Torn hip ligaments will keep him out of scrimmage for several days. The splints were taken off of Molli's shoulder today, but it is doubtful if the clever quarterback will be in shape to play against the Westerners, while Samp's knee is in such bad shape that there seems little hope of his returning to scrimmage in time for Saturday's game.

NAPOLEON GRIGNON.

GOPHERS WORKING HARD FOR THE NEBRASKA GAME

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 18.—With a bare half hour's practice to their credit, the Gopher students of football were driven from Northrop field by a heavy downpour of rain late yesterday afternoon, and were obliged to finish their day's work in pink tea style on the armory floor. Cleated shoes and padded clothes were hurriedly exchanged for tennis shoes and garments of the mid-summer variety, and in their hot-weather raiment, the men tried out a few new thrillers, conceived for the entertainment of Nebraska.

The turn in the weather was a disappointment to Dr. Williams, who planned on the heaviest day's work of the year. With the burly form of Jumbo Stiehm's football monolith looming in the offing, the Minnesota football directors are not sleeping any too well these chill nights. They are anxious to hand their pupils all the work the law allows, and last night's interference of the elements was a hard blow to the men who pilot the Gopher craft.

Few Shifts on Team.

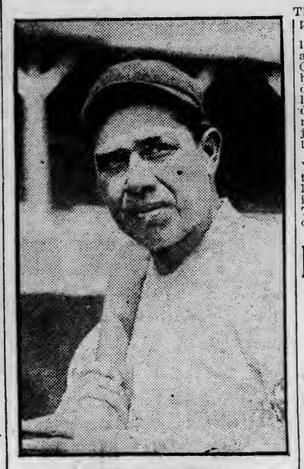

The eleven that will meet Nebraska next Saturday has been picked to all intents and purposes and, but for a possible change or two, the squad that barn-danced through an airy practice last evening is the same that will line up on the Minnesota field at 3 p. m. on the last day of the week. Changes were many in the cast of Dr. Williams' all-star company last week, but he seems to be of the opinion that he has at last hit upon the proper combination to send the Huskers home defeated. Last night's line-up was the same as that engaged in spirited scrimmage Saturday. Tobin was at left end, Elder at left tackle, L. Smith at left guard, Morrell at center, Powers at right guard, Frank at right tackle, Aldworth at right end, Capron at left half, McAlmon at fullback, Stevens at right half and Capt. Pickering at quarter.

George Capron, he of the once famous and mighty toe, was one of the elite at last night's secret session. George dropped in yesterday from Klamath Falls, Or., to look over the Minnesota team in general and his young brother, Ralph, in particular. George, aside from remarking that they had not the speed or class as when he was in the game, went on record as being decidedly for the 1911 Gophers.

Cripples for Practice.

A ray of sunshine seeped through the natural gloom of the training quarters when it was announced that Rube Rosenwald and Frank Lawler would be out for practice today. Rosey was thoughtless enough to have a pair of ribs cracked in the South Dakota game and Lawler got himself on the hospital list a few days later by spraining an ankle. The cripples have been watching the development of the eleven from sidelines ever since, but after a thorough overhauling yesterday the trainers declared the pair of fleet back field men fit for anything, from negotiating a 95-yard run to strangling a wompus. They promise to be out early this afternoon and make a try for the eleven that will face Stiehm's men Saturday.

Unusual interest is being manifested on the campus over what is ordinarily a practice game. There is a feeling of uneasiness among the rooters over the outcome of the next game and there will be universal satisfaction among the Minnesota people if their team goes through the battle with any kind of a win to their credit. A monster mass meeting will be held late in the week and with the aid of the band and the oratory of a half dozen notables, it is hoped to stir up enough enthusiasm so that the studes may win the game by their cheers alone.

FOURTH GAME TO BE PLAYED

Chicago Teams Ready for What May Be Last Contest.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Twice prevented from playing by rain, the Chicago American and National league clubs were scheduled to clash in the fourth game of the city championship series today.

The American leaguers have won three games in a row, and expect to win today, thereby ending the series.

Walsh and Brown, who opposed each other in the opening game last Friday, were expected to pitch.

YALE TEAM IS VERY PROMISING

Prospects Point to the Strongest Eleven of Recent Years.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 18.—Although Yale football coaches pick plenty of flaws in the work of the eleven, the college regards it as one of the strongest which has fought Yale's gridiron battles in years, and some of the enthusiasts believe that it will finish the season without an adverse score. Its first genuine tryout will occur when the West Point game is played Saturday. Syracuse, which promised a testing of the Yale defense, was conquered with comparative ease, Yale not only scoring twelve points, but approaching on five other occasion to the visitors' 20-yard line.

Yale has started to develop its team earlier in the season than usual in order that Brown and West Point, which defeated the Blue last season, may be handled properly in the approaching games. The team game Yale will show in its final matches of the season will be ready for use against the cadets next Saturday should occasion make it desirable.

For the closing games of the year Gallauer and Douglass Bomeisler are the expected ends. Both are just out of the hospital. Gallauer with two broken fingers, Bomeisler with a wrenched shoulder. Bomeisler may be started against West Point. Gallauer will not.

Avery, who has leaped from the third to the first team, and Billy Howe, the swimmer, are probable choices. Walter Camp, Jr., is a possibility. Yale's rush line, from tackle to tackle, is almost an All-American combination. Paul, right guard, who has laid off with a bruised foot two weeks, and Scully, will be in their places at West Point, but Perry, the wrestling team captain, and Warren, freshman guard last year, may play part of the game. They form an unusually promising pair of substitutes.

Francis, whose shoulder was slightly bruised this week, may not be used at West Point at left guard, Clarence Childs, track team guard, replacing him. Childs is fully as valuable a defensive player as Francis, but the latter is one of the best place and drop kickers on the squad. McDevitt, right guard, seems immune from injury. He has played every game since the season opened.

Capt. Howe promises to prove one of Yale's most brilliant generals. Some of the important games this fall are likely to be won simply on goal kicking, and Howe clearly is the equal of Ted Coy, who is Yale's cleverest specialist in this line in recent years.

BIG CONTESTS COME SATURDAY

The football fans of the West in general have begun to get interested in the football bill of fare that will be the offering on Saturday.

There is the game between the Gophers and Cornhuskers scheduled for Northrup field, a contest that will attract a lot of interest in Duluth. The game between Chicago and Illinois is one of the big contests of the season, and will put the loser out of the running for the conference championship.

Northwestern meets Indiana; Wisconsin, Colorado; and Michigan will play the strong Ohio state team. These will be the first really big games of the present season here in the West, and consequently there will be an increase of football interest in the various sections where the college game is played.

Should Chicago defeat Illinois, the game between the Gophers and Stagg's pupils will be the biggest game played in the West this season, speaking only of the conference teams.

FAIRMONTS VS. ADAMS

The Fairmonts and Adams teams will play the second game of the season at Athletic park Sunday.

The first contest resulted in a no-score game. Both teams are practicing hard for the game, and both elevens will be at their best for the game Sunday. Mack Cook will be in the Adams lineup. Dave August of Superior will referee, Dr. Judson of West Duluth will umpire, Ray Fenton will be field judge and Carl Lonegren head linesman.

PACKEY IS AN ACTOR.

Stockyards Pugilist Has Gone Out With Burlesque Company.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 18.—Packey McFarland has gone out on the road with a burlesque company. He is sick of waiting for his continued ill luck to turn and does not see a chance of any immediate matches. Hence his manager, Emil Thiry, got busy with the different "hur-ley-que wheels," with the result that Packey opened yesterday in Baltimore, Md., at the Monumental theater.

The Chicago lightweight will remain there for this week and then go on to Pittsburg and Scranton and Wilkesbarre, Pa., playing the latter two towns in one week. He is under positive contract to play out these three weeks before he accepts terms for another ring battle. Izzy Herk of the Empire theater booked the stockyards star.

Fight Is a Draw.

Winnipeg Oct. 18.—Mike Gibbons of St. Paul and Hilliard Lang of Toronto fought a fast, clever fifteen-round draw here last night.

Gotch Tosses Pietro.

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 18.—Frank Gotch, world's champion wrestler, threw Emilio Pietro, the Canadian heavyweight wrestler, twice in a little more than twenty minutes here last night. The first fall came in 15 minutes 10 seconds.

Yousiff Mahmout failed to throw Jesse Reimer of Des Moines in a thirty-minute handicap match.

Methodists Work Hard.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Northwestern began yesterday what is to be the hardest week of practice it has yet had this season in preparation for the Indiana game Saturday. Indiana averages eleven pounds per man heavier than the Evanstonians, and Coach Hammett realizes to win it will have to be by speed and superior team work and he will bend every effort to have the team well versed in these accomplishments.

Ten Eyck Goes Home.

Coach James E. Ten Eyck of the Duluth Boat club, accompanied by his wife, left last night for his home at Syracuse. He expects to return early in the spring to coach the crew candidates of the local club.

ON THE IRON RANGES

VOTERS WILL PASS ON IT

Question of City Buying Half Block in Eveleth to Be Submitted.

Effort to Have Council Purchase Property Outright Voted Down.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the regular city election, Nov. 7, the voters will be asked to pass upon the proposition of the city buying a half block bounded by Pierce street and Adams avenue for city purposes. This was decided upon by the council last night after a motion for the council to buy the property had been defeated.

Charles H. Rutty was awarded the contract for erecting the new board walk to the Genoa mine at 41½ cents per running foot. On advice of Architect William J. Sullivan, Duluth, as the architects engaged to prepare plans for the new $15,000 fire hall, the opening of the bids scheduled for last evening was deferred until next Tuesday evening. The city clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for the installation of a sewer system on Roosevelt avenue, following a favorable report on the city engineer's estimate on the cost by the committee on streets, alleys and sewers.

Aid Black River Falls.

Following the reading of a letter from Mayor McIlvray of Black River Falls, Wis., requesting aid for the flood sufferers, a resolution was adopted donating $100 for the relief fund. The city clerk was instructed to have the Home Heating & Electric company install five lights on the Leonidas walk at $5 per lamp, the Nichols township to reimburse the city for the costs. The matter of extending the water mains 100 feet north of Adams avenue was referred to the light and water committee.

The street commissioner was instructed to have three double skating rinks provided in the Adams, Spruce and Fayal districts. The hearing of complaints against the sidewalk assessments was held and only one complaint registered. Another hearing will also be held Tuesday evening. Sidewalk owners along Adams avenue whose board walks have been torn up will be given a rebate of $10 on each lot.

The city clerk reported $2,827.62 in receipts for September and $38,730.84 in disbursements while the waterworks superintendent's report for the third quarter ending Sept. 31 showed $4,011.54 in receipts and $3,873.05 in disbursements leaving a profit of $228.89. The annual report of the fire department for the past year showed only thirty-two fires. The municipal court clerk reported $18.20 in fines for week ending Oct. 11 while the week ending Oct. 16 showed $107 in fines. The health commissioner gave a report of the recent meeting of the State Sanitary conference at St. Paul.

The waterworks superintendent was instructed to move the overflow pipe from the water tank. Allen J. Butchart of Hulnth, who is now in charge of the New Hijou theater was granted the theater license owned by Max Stipetch who has leased the building to Mr. Butchart.

The applications of Max Stipetich, Thomas Huttalla, and O. M. Peterson for a renewal of their liquor licenses were referred to the police and license committee.

HIBBING WILL DECORATE HALL

Bids to Be Awarded for Sprucing Up Interior of City Building.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bids for redecorating the interior of the village hall and fire house No. 1 will be advertised at once and will be opened at the next meeting of the board of water and light commissioners a week from last night, the board last evening so decided.

Work on the repainting will then be begun at once. A full set of specifications and color schemes have been received from a firm in Duluth and these will have to be adhered to by the bidder who is awarded the contract.

The color scheme is decidedly pretty. It is proposed to paint the walls of the lobbies a dark brown, the pilasters and cornices a dark gray and the ceilings a lighter gray.

For the courtroom and council chamber an olive shade of green will be used with the ceiling tinted in a light brown.

The assembly hall on the third floor which is also used as the armory, will be painted a sort of chrome yellow with a ceiling of dark cream.

The decorations when completed will add materially to the attractiveness of the village public building as the walls and ceilings are becoming rapidly discolored and dirty. Since the erection of the building they have never been touched by brush and are in their original state of white plastering.

PARISIAN SAGE

Guaranteed for Dandruff, Falling Hair, Scalp Itch and to Make Dull, Faded Hair Radiant.

Mrs. Ella Gilchrist, W. Pitt Street, Bedford, Pa., writes this interesting letter; read it!

"In the spring of 1910, I was recovering from a severe case of erysipelas, which left me virtually bald on the front of my head and near my ears.

The hair kept coming out rapidly and nothing I used stopped my getting entirely bald, until I used two bottles of PARISIAN SAGE. This tonic made my hair start to grow in and, in fact, grew me a good, fair amount of hair, and it has entirely stopped my hair falling out. It is with pleasure that I give a public recommend to PARISIAN SAGE, which I know is a wonder, and in a class alone." PARISIAN SAGE is the finest hair dressing on earth for men, women, and children. Once used in a family its benefits are so pronounced that it becomes a necessity.

It never fails because it is a formula based on scientific principles. Large bottle 50 cents at Boyce Drug Store and druggists everywhere.

CHISHOLM IS AFTER ESTRAYS

Council Proposes to Stop Nuisance of Animals at Large.

Chisholm, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a special meeting of the council last evening steps were taken to enforce the ordinance which covers the question of estrays. Conditions in Chisholm have become intolerable in this respect and the council has decided to stringently prohibit the running at large of cattle and horses hereafter. In addition to this an ordinance will be drafted prohibiting the keeping of hog pens within certain limits.

The council refused to allow Adam Payton to open his saloon until certain charges could be more fully investigated. The Payton application was laid on the table some time ago at a regular meeting of the council and in the meantime complaint has been made that women have been allowed about the Payton premises.

MUST GIVE NUMBER RATHER THAN NAME

Mesaba Telephone Company Adopts New Rule in Virginia Office.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Heretofore the bills of the Mesaba Telephone company have been payable quarterly, with a discount if paid within thirty days, but beginning with this month a monthly system of paying has been inaugurated, with a discount if paid on or before the 15th. This month, however, owing to the change, patrons will be allowed the regular discount if the bills are paid by the latter part of the month.

Until this month patrons of the telephone company, instead of asking "central" for the number when desiring to talk with another party, have been in the habit of asking for the name without giving the number.

Under the new regulations the caller must give the number of the party wanted rather than the name.

STARTS MORE SUITS.

Chisholm Assault Action Will Be Aired Further.

Chisholm, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. M. Roberts, who was arrested upon complaint of Jalo J. Kekoni, who charged him with assault, was acquitted last evening by a jury.

A young son of Roberts several days ago angered Kekoni when he neglected to leave the Duluth Herald at the Kekoni place of business at the exact place designated by the latter, and he slapped the boy when next he saw him. The elder Roberts interfered and gave Kekoni a beating. Now Roberts has caused the arrest of Mr. Kekoni on three different charges, among them the one of assaulting his boy—and the end is not yet.

Fred Goodel, who was recently placed under arrest on a charge of habitual drunkenness on the complaint of Martin Connors, had his trial yesterday before a jury and was acquitted.

CHISHOLM WEDDING.

Well-Known Couple Married at Early Hour.

Chisholm, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—At 5:30 o'clock this morning at the Catholic church Louis Dodier and Miss Ida Alguire, both residents of this place, were married by Father Schiffrer. Neil Fleming of the Monroe location, a close personal friend of the groom, was best man, while the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Agnes Alguire. Only near friends of the contracting parties attended the ceremony. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride after which the couple boarded the early morning train for Duluth, expecting to spend their honeymoon there and in the Twin Cities. Upon their return they will go to housekeeping in the Clark location. Mr. Dodier is a member of the Oliver office force at the Monroe location. Miss Alguire has been a resident of Chisholm for three years and is highly respected by all who know her.

JESMORE IS CANDIDATE.

Former Mayor of Eveleth Is Out for Nomination.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alderman Charles H. Jesmore who has been mayor for several terms is circulating a petition for nomination for mayor. His entry in the mayoralty campaign gives the race for the head city office much interest as Mayor Jacob S. Saari and James Marra are also candidates.

Matt Premozich who ran for alderman of the first ward last election plans to run again for the same office, according to his friends.

Called from Ishpeming.

Ishpeming, Mich., Oct. 18.—Miss Carolyn Van Brocklin has left for Bovey, Minn., accompanied by her niece, Fanny. A message from there Saturday night brought the sad news of the critical illness of Mrs. P. C. Van Brocklin, who is in a hospital at Grand Rapids, Minn., suffering from an attack of typhoid fever. Mrs. Van Brocklin was born and reared in Ishpeming and before her marriage was Miss Edda Engstrom. Several members of her family live in Ishpeming.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The hearing of Game Warden George Wood, charged by Andy Roberts with assault with a dangerous weapon, and Thomas Healy, chauffeur, charged with breaking the speed limits, was continued in municipal court yesterday afternoon until next Monday morning.

PRIZE FIGHT CALLED OFF

"Spike" Robinson and Another Not Allowed to Pull Off Stunt.

Deputy Sheriff Harry Little Goes to Chisholm and Prevents It.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The prize fight scheduled to be pulled off at Chisholm last night when "Spike" Robinson, a Winnipeg colored man, and Matt Joy of Duluth, also colored, were to battle in the squared circle, was called off under pressure from Sheriff Meining. Deputy Sheriff Harry Little acting under orders from Sheriff Meining, went to Chisholm yesterday afternoon and put the quietus on the mill by notifying the principals they would not be allowed to pummel one another. Little found the principals playing pool in a Chisholm resort and when he told them there would be nothing doing, they took the tip and returned to Hibbing.

Chisholm's streets were thronged with fight fans and when the event was stopped there was a loud murmuring of dissatisfaction. It is announced that the two men will fight at some future date. Just where it will be held is doubtful.

HEARDING SCHOOL ABOUT COMPLETED

Aurora School Board Accepts Structure From General Contractors.

Aurora, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The J. H. Hearding school building at Aurora has been accepted from the general contractors after an inspection of the building by the school board, the architect and Contractor W. W. Bowe.

The building is not yet completed but the work of the Bowe-Burke company, the general contractors, has been completed as far as possible until the plumbing, heating and wiring contractors are finished, and was consequently accepted by the school board, with several small matters yet to be completed. The other contractors are expected to finish their work within a week when the complete building will be accepted and formally entered by the board.

At a recent meeting of the school board John Dudley was appointed engineer of the building, Steve China was appointed fireman and Vincent Mickelich was appointed janitor.

The work on the new school building at the Adriatic location was started the first of the week and it will be rushed to completion. It is thought that six to eight weeks will be taken to do the work. The work will be done by the Bowe-Burke company. Gust Anderson will have charge.

LEG IS BROKEN.

Hibbing Man Is Badly Hurt in a Runaway.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A delivery team belonging to the Italian Mercantile company, ran away near the Dale Uno location yesterday afternoon, throwing out the occupants. Jerry Jonovich sustained a broken leg while Charles Martinetti, the driver, was cut and injured.

KILLED AT TACONITE.

Young Italian Loses Life While Cleaning the Track.

Taconite, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—While cleaning the Missabe tracks here night before last, an Italian, aged 25, whose name was not made public, was struck by an engine and killed.

He came here with a crew engaged on the water works plant, but later went to work for the railroad.

VIRGINIANS ENJOY LINCOLN LECTURE.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—James Hoffman Batten lectured at the Roosevelt auditorium last night on "Abraham Lincoln, the Great Commoner." It was the first number of the high school entertainment course, and the attendance was the biggest for the opening night in the history of the Virginia lecture courses, fully 1,000 people being present. The talk of Mr. Batten was brilliant, educational and witty, and made a fine impression. The next number in the course will be Ella Day, character-ist, Nov. 21.

CASCARETS SURELY STRAIGHTEN YOU OUT

No Headache, Biliousness, Upset Stomach, Lazy Liver or Constipated Bowels By Morning.

Are you keeping your bowels, liver and stomach clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway through these ailmentary or drainage organs every few days with Salts, Cathartic pills, Castor Oil or Purgative Waters.

Stop having a bowel wash-day. Let Cascarets thoroughly cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the undigested, sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowles.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause any inconvenience, and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Biliousness, coated tongue, Indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated Bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.

NEW ORE DOCK IS GIVEN TEST

Duluth & Iron Range Plant at Two Harbors First Used.

Two Harbors, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The splendid new steel ore dock erected here by the Duluth & Iron Range road was given a test yesterday in the way of boat loading and the officials of the company are entirely satisfied. The steamer Calumet of the Pittsburg line was loaded with ore from the new dock. The loading apparatus, especially the devices worked by electricity for lowering and hoisting the pockets, were given a thorough test and proved all that was expected. Forty-two of the ore pockets on the dock are in commission.

MANY NEW MEMBERS ARE JOINING CLUB

Virginia Commercial Club to Begin New Year With Large Membership.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The special membership committee of the commercial club, James Lavick, W. J. Archer, A. L. Heritage, F. E. Lister and A. S. Whiting, appointed to canvass for new members and to prepare for a smoker on the evening of Nov. 1, are meeting with excellent responses from the business men and will report a greatly increased membership at the end of the month.

At the meeting of the club next month it is expected that plans for the winter's campaign will be formulated and steps inaugurated for a campaign to thoroughly advertise the resources and advantages of the city throughout the Northwest.

LAWYER WILL WED.

Former Duluth Attorney to Marry Former Duluth Girl.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—David D. Morgan, a young attorney, formerly of Duluth, and Miss Mildred Hobbs of Minneapolis will be married this evening at the home of the bride's parents in Minneapolis. Mr. Morgan came to Virginia and established a law office several months ago.

Miss Hobbs was formerly a resident of Duluth and was for some time employed in the public library of that city. After a short wedding tour, they will make their home in Virginia.

NO OFFICERS THERE.

Why Hibbing Chief Tried to Restore Order at Game.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chief of Police Wring when asked about the communication printed in The Duluth Herald signed "The Virginia Bunch," stated that the statement as to his being a ringleader in the "free-for-all" that was indulged in after the game, was entirely false and misleading.

"That's all rot," he said. "In the first place there was not a Virginia officer on the grounds or in the grandstand. There was no attempt to preserve order and the grandstand resembled a continual rush at a bargain counter.

"The facts about the 'free-for-all' in which I am accused of 'taking a prominent part' were that after the game there was certainly a 'free-for-all.' As I said there were absolutely no policemen there excepting myself. I tried to separate several of the combatants. One kid told me to keep my hands off and made a swipe at me. I swiped back. That's all there was to it."

WILL SUE RELATIVES

Of Former Pauper for County Keeping Him.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 18.—The Itasca county board has directed the county attorney to begin proceedings in the courts against the relatives of Nicholas Swift, who live in Milwaukee, for the care of Swift while he was a county charge. He was recently removed to Milwaukee by his relatives, who have failed to reimburse the county for his care.

MISSABE NEEDS ROOM.

Therefore Cannot Comply With Request of Virginia Council.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the council meeting last night a communication was read from President W. A. McGonagle of the Missabe railroad, stating in substance that the railroad could not comply with the request of the council that a strip twenty feet wide on Railroad avenue, belonging to the company, be vacated to the city for street purposes. Mr. McGonagle stated that the reason for refusing the proposed grant was that the railroad was already cramped for want of yard room for traffic service. The city was warned not to construct any sidewalks upon the avenue on railroad property. The communication was ordered received and filed and further action was deferred.

NEW CHURCH BELONGS TO NORWEGIAN LUTHERANS.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The picture of the new local church printed in last Saturday's Herald should have been labelled "The Norwegian Lutheran church" instead of the "Norwegian Baptist church."

There is no Norwegian Baptist church here, according to the pastor of the Norwegian Lutheran church, who naturally is provoked over the mistake, although grateful to The Herald for running the picture of the handsome new edifice. It is hoped that all who saw the picture in The Herald will know that the new church belongs to the Norwegian Lutherans, one of the most progressive churches in the city.

HIBBING FANS KEEN FOR BASEBALL NEWS.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Interest is surprisingly intense here as to the results of the world's championship series games. Every afternoon from 2 o'clock until after the game is over the lobby of the Hibbing hotel is crowded with eager fans who anxiously watch the score board, the returns by innings being received over long distance telephone from Duluth.

ADRIATIC MINE IS SUDDENLY CLOSED.

Aurora, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Adriatic mine, located five miles east of here closed down last Saturday, unexpectedly.

It was thought that the mine would operate all winter and the notice to close came as a surprise. The property will be closed indefinitely. The small pumps are being pulled and the large ones will be drowned. About 200 men will be thrown out of employment.

ANNEXATION OF ALICE WILL BE CONSIDERED.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Alice village council at its regular meeting tonight will consider the proposition now being agitated for the annexation of the new village to Hibbing. The scheme has its advocates and its opponents and the Alice council will hear both sides tonight.

TACONITE BRIEFS.

Taconite, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. C. Ingersoll and daughter Mrs. J. Rabichaud accompanied by the latter's two nieces arrived from a Michigan trip. The two young ladies are on their first visit to Taconite.

Miss Nora Burns is visiting friends in Adolph.

The Misses Cathrine Downing and Ilene Cashen spent a few days in Coleraine at the Downing home.

Taconite hunters were out in full force Sunday.

George Schmaus, telegraph operator at Taconite Junction, had the misfortune to injure his hand in a hunting accident.

Mr. Latham was obliged to take two rigs to take the pupils back and forth to Coleraine school.

Taconite sends a large delegation to the Greenway school.

Mrs. Harry Latham and daughter visited friends here Saturday.

Stenographer and Bride Back.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Clarence Dwyer, court stenographer to Judge Martin Hughes of the range district court, and bride, returned last evening from a honeymoon trip of three weeks' duration and which embraced several Eastern cities. They will go to housekeeping at once on Garfield street.

Second Hibbing Military Ball.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tonight at the Company M armory will occur the second hop of the winter's series of dances to be given by the officers and enlisted men of that command. Indications are at present for an ideal evening for dancing and undoubtedly a large crowd will be present. The dancing committee has issued tasty little invitations to the affair.

Evidence Was Lacking.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gust Crist, who was found in the Missabe warehouse Monday evening asleep and who was at first believed to be the robber that had stolen goods from local warehouses and freight cars, was tried in municipal court yesterday morning before Judge Neil McInnis for vagrancy. Little evidence was produced against him and he was dismissed.

Rally Day on Range.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many of the churches of the Mesaba range, including those of Virginia, will hold a rally day in the interest of the men's religion and forward movement, Nov. 5. On that day it is expected that speakers will be present from Duluth and deliver addresses in the various churches.

TAFT WILL KEEP GOING

the supplemental trip have not been fixed beyond Cincinnati as yet, but probably will be announced within the next few days.

Drop Special Train.

According to President Taft's plans, he will discard his special train either at Chicago or Pittsburg, and will make the supplemental tour in his private car attached to regular trains.

Mr. Taft has stood the wear and tear of constant travel thus far better than any of the members of his party, and does not view the additional trip with any physical misgivings.

The president has been promising for two years to visit certain cities in Tennessee. He was due to visit Hodgensville, Ky., early in the fall, but was advised to remain out of the state while a bitter political campaign was on.

Pelted With Roses.

San Bernardino, Cal., Oct. 18.—President Taft bade adieu to California here and his special train started on a thirty-six-hour run which would take him to the snow-clad hills of Montana on Thursday morning. The first scheduled stop was at Ogden, Utah, this afternoon.

The president's departure from the state was marked by the same big crowds that greeted his train at the boundary 1,000 miles to the north. At Long Beach, at Pomona, at Ontario, at Riverside and at San Bernardino great throngs gathered. At Riverside a crowd of high school girls, all attired in white, pelted the president with roses and the entire rear platform was covered. The big crowd greatly impressed Mr. Taft.

The president also had a parting word for the women for their newly granted privilege of the ballot in this state.

Talked to Women.

"It won't do," he declared, "for you to say, 'Oh, well, we will not go down to those awful polls; we will not be associated with those awful people that stand around the polls.' You have got to become part of those awful people and make those awful people better.

"You are trying an experiment. Go ahead with it. You have energy and enterprise, and if you make a mistake, you can retrace your steps. Meantime we of the slow East will watch the things you are going to try, and follow you and avoid the pitfalls that you may encounter."

While the president was motoring to Long Beach Mr. Hilles remained in Los Angeles to talk with a number of active Republicans. Since Senator Smoot of Utah formally nominated him to be the next national chairman of the Republican party, Mr. Hilles has received pledges of support. He has acknowledged these with thanks, but has made no statement indicating that he is seeking or would accept the place.

RAIN HALTS BIG GAMES

champions of 1910 was the postponement disappointing. Flushed with yesterday's victory at New York, the fighting Athletics expected to go into today's game and make it three out of four. Bender was expected to ascend the hurling mound today for another try at victory.

Giants See Good Sign.

The Giants, who came over from New York last night, were also disappointed over the prospect of idleness. Some of the players who would talk, however, felt that the one day layoff might help the team.

Shibe park has a deserted appearance this morning. A more dismal day could not be imagined. Last evening a line of ticket buyers started to form, and there were about fifty in it when the rain began to fall. The showers came heavier during the night, and when daylight arrived the line had disappeared.

The American league players came to the grounds before 10 o'clock. Baker and Coombs, the heroes of the squad, were greeted by hearty congratulations from fans. Both took their honors modestly.

Baker in Bandages.

Baker's arm, which was spiked by Centerfielder Snodgrass when he slid to third base, feet first, in attempting to steal yesterday, was given medical attention last night and he is going about today with a bandage on the injured member.

The New York players spent the morning indoors. They are in good physical condition. The men are not blue over yesterday's heart-breaking defeat, and express confidence in the outcome of the series.

ALTERED NOTE'S DATE

Is Sensational Charge Preferred Against Minot Man.

Minot, N. D., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Louis Knight, an employe of the Great Northern, living here, has preferred criminal charges against E. B. Millard, also employed by the company, alleging the latter changed the date on a note.

When Millard brought suit against Knight for the payment of the note, securing a judgment against him, the criminal action was lodged. Knight declared that the note was not due until Oct. 1, 1911, while Millard's note, shown in court, bore the date of Oct. 1, 1910.

$3.50 RECIPE FREE, FOR WEAK MEN

Send Name and Address Today—You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Healthy.

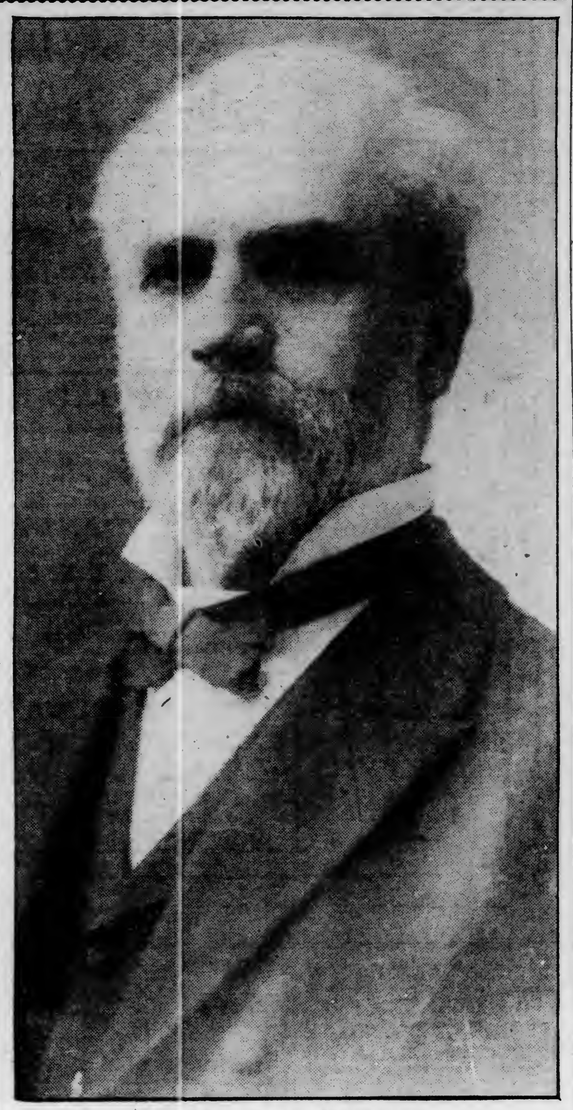

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his health quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow men to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 1671 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3 to $5 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

DISCOVERER OF YELLOWSTONE PARK DIES AT HIS HOME IN ST. PAUL

NATHANIEL PITT LANGFORD.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nathaniel Pitt Langford, a pioneer resident of St. Paul and one of the men who discovered Yellowstone Park, died at his home here from kidney trouble at 1:15 p. m. today.

Nathaniel Pitt Langford was born at Westmoreland, N. Y., Aug. 9, 1832, the son of George and Chloe (Sweeting) Langford. He received a common school education. In 1854 he came West and settled in St. Paul, and in 1862 started West in the rush for the gold fields of Oregon. He camped on Grasshopper creek, then in Idaho and now in the state of Montana, and was appointed collector of internal revenue for Montana on May 26, 1864, when that division was organized as a territory. He was the first officeholder in the new territory. He served in that office until November, 1868. In the following January, President Johnson appointed Mr. Langford governor of Montana, but the senate at that time refused to confirm any more of President Johnson's appointments.

Mr. Langford was one of the Washburn party that, it is claimed, discovered the geysers of Yellowstone park in 1870, and was active in the work preceding the recognition and dedication of the park as a national reservation. He was appointed its superintendent in 1872 and served in that capacity for five years, refusing remuneration for his services and fighting determinedly every effort to commercialize the resort.

Meanwhile, from 1872 to 1884 he was national bank examiner for the Pacific coast states.

After returning to St. Paul he was made a member of the Ramsay county board of control, and became president of the Minnesota Historical society. He was a Republican and a Mason, being one of the first grand masters of Montana masonry. He also did some writing, publishing books on Yellowstone park, one entitled "Vigilante Days and Ways." Mr. Langford's first wife was Emma C. Wheaton, whom he married in St. Paul, Nov. 1, 1876. His second wife, whom he married at Lowell, Mass., Sept. 17, 1884, was Clara Wheaton.

Mr. Langford has been prominent among the early settlers in St. Paul for twenty-seven years and has been regarded as one of the most able men of the early days.

WITH A SIGNBOARD FOR PEGASUS.

Kokomo, Ind., takes pride in three things, to-wit: Senator John K. Kern was reared there, a pony and dog show used to make winter quarters there, and it was in Kokomo that James Whitcomb Riley got his start as a poet. Here goes the tale of Riley's breaking into the poetry industry as it was narrated to me by Senator Kern, writes Fred C. Kelly in the New York Times.

Before he became a poet, Riley was a sign painter. He conceived the idea of painting merchants' signs on fences throughout the country side. People who drive about today reading injunctions such as: "Go to Stewart's for Your Boots and Shoes," or "Four Miles to the Emporium, Lowest Priced Clothing House," may thank the poet Riley for such fence rail pabulum. It was he who first thought of utilizing rail fences as a medium of publicity.

Riley and a partner came to Kokomo to see how many merchants they could get to take up with the new fence sign cult. Even at that time he had ambitions to forsake sign painting for poetry. He wanted to get a job with some good newspaper working by the day as poet. But you can imagine what the average newspaper editor would say if a sign painter should drop into the office and apply for a place as staff versifier.

The outlook was not encouraging. But Riley was undaunted. He had a scheme. His reasoning was like this: if advertising on fences was a good thing for merchants, why shouldn't a skillful advertising coup prove a good thing for an embryonic poet?

No sooner thought about than Riley had adopted the every-man-his-own press-agent policy, and mapped out the details of the scheme that started him on the highway to fame.

There were two weekly papers in Kokomo. Riley went to the editor of one of these and unfolded his scheme. When the paper came off the press the following Thursday it contained a story to the effect that an old subscriber in a remote corner of the country had come to town for the first time in two years, bringing with him what appeared to be an extremely valuable original manuscript of the late Edgar Allan Poe. The poem was entitled "Leolania," and purported to have been written on the fly leaf of an old copy of Ainsworth's Dictionary.

"I've heard my grandfather tell about it," the old subscriber was quoted as saying. "When he lived down in Maryland a young man came and applied for shelter one night during a storm, and while there the mysterious young stranger seized a copy of Ainsworth's Dictionary and scrawled this poem on the fly leaf. Members of our family have always believed that the young man was none other than Edgar Allan Poe."

The style was indeed that of Poe, and this, coupled with the romantic story of the poem's origin told by the old subscriber, the fact that it was done in Maryland, where Poe had lived, and all, caused the article in the Kokomo paper to attract wide attention. First it was copied and discussed in the Indianapolis papers. From them it was picked up by the New York and other Eastern dailies, and in a short time had received many columns of editorial comment throughout the country. A Poe enthusiast who saw the story in one of the Boston papers, where it had been copied, wrote to the Kokomo editor for more particulars. He wished to know if he couldn't see the flyleaf. If so, he believed he could tell to a certainty whether the lines were really by Poe.

The editor sent for Riley and asked him what to do. Whereupon Riley yanked a fly leaf out of an old faded copy of a government agricultural report on the editor's table, took it to a library where he could see a facsimile of some of Poe's script, and there wrote out a pencil copy of "Leolania." They forwarded his manuscript to the Boston connoisseur by registered mail, along with a letter impressing upon him the necessity of guarding the treasure carefully, for if it was indeed Poe's manuscript it would, of course, have great intrinsic worth.

In about five days a letter came back from the Boston man saying that the poem was undoubtedly by Poe, and he desired to know if it would be possible to buy the manuscript.

Meanwhile the newspaper discussions of the story had about reached their height, and Riley felt that the time was ripe for running off the second section of his great publicity scheme. He went to the editor of the other Kokomo weekly, who had been greatly annoyed over the advertising the opposition paper had been receiving throughout the country, and laid the case before him.

"You know all this talk that's been in the papers about that Poe manuscript discovered hereabout?" he began. "Well, there's nothing in it. Now, as a matter of fact, I wrote that poem myself. The thing for you to do, if you want to make a hit, is to run an expose of this whole Poe story in your paper. It'll make the paper up the street yonder look pretty cheap."

He was prepared to back up his statements with a printer's proof of the poem from the office of the other paper, and the rival editor agreed to co-operate with him in framing up the expose. The story went broadcast that "Leolania," hadn't been written by Poe, after all, but by a sign painter named Riley.

Obviously, the result of that story was to direct attention to Riley. On the strength of the publicity he had created in his own behalf, he was able to get a place a short time later writing verse for the Indianapolis Journal. That comprised his start as the Hoosier poet.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

JACKOLA—The funeral of the late Dr. John Jackola, whose body was found in the woods near Woodland last Sunday afternoon, will take place tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from the Masonic temple. Interment will be at Forest Hill cemetery. The finding of the physician's body cleared a mystery which had been puzzling his friends and the community since last June, when he was last seen alive. His mind is said to have been unbalanced because of the notoriety which he received because of his attentions to Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York.
THOMAS—The funeral of the late Morris Thomas, one of the pioneer residents of the city, took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the Masonic temple, Lake avenue and Second street. A short private service was held at 10 o'clock this morning at the residence. At 11 o'clock the body was removed to the Masonic temple, where it lay in state until 2 o'clock. The services at the temple were under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity and the ritual of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks was followed at the grave at Forest Hill cemetery. He was a prominent member of both orders.
PARKS—Mrs. Selina Parks, 65 years of age, died last evening at St. Luke's hospital. She formerly made her home at 614 West Fifth street, and as far as known had no relatives in the city. The body was removed to Crawford's undertaking rooms pending funeral arrangements.

A FLOOR THAT TURNS OVER.

The floor in the Apollo theater in Paris is reversible, one side being made for dancing, the other being the usual inclined floor equipped with the folding seats of a theater auditorium.

The floor is mounted on a horizontal axis on which it revolves. It is built on a framework of steel girders, has an area of 2,500 square feet and weighs 100 tons. The axis, which is parallel to the front of the stage, is not in the middle of the thickness of the floor, says the Cement Age, but nearer to the seating surface than to the dancing surface. The floor swings through an excavation over thirty feet in depth.

ISLE OF PINES

There is no safer, surer, or saner investment ON earth than IN earth. You can't loose.

The question is: Where to buy? and where the most and quickest money is to be made.

It is the intrinsic value that tells the tale.

It is what the land will PRODUCE that must be considered in a safe investment.

If land will produce, under good management, $1,000 per acre per year, then you know it has a certain value.

If it will produce $15 per acre, under good management, it has a certain value.

The question is: Had you better pay $100 per acre for land that will produce $1,000 per acre or $50 per acre for land that will produce $15 per acre?

If you can't figure this out come to me.

It's Isle of Pines land you want—and I have it on easy terms.

COMPANY WAS NOT TO BLAME

John Alnes Fails to Recover for Alleged Injuries.

After deliberating but a few minutes, the jury in the case of John Alnes against the Duluth Street Railway company for $5,000 for injuries alleged to have been sustained while in the employ of the company, brought in a verdict for the defendant.

Alnes claimed that he was a motorman in the employ of the company and that while running a car he was badly burned as the result of flames generated in the controller.

The street car company claimed that it was in no way to blame for the accident and the jury evidently believed the defendant's side of the story.

The trial took place before Judge Ensign of the district court.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

A cane rush, to be held at Athletic park in connection with the annual sophomore-freshman football game this year, is being planned by the sophomores at a class meeting today and will be taken up by the freshmen later. The dues of the sophomore class were fixed at $1 for the year. Several new class yells are being devised and the sophomores are showing great interest in their class organization.

The Central high school orchestra held a meeting today. About thirty attended and there is unbounded enthusiasm. It is believed that the orchestra will be a musical organization of which the school may be proud and those interested are working hard to realize their ambition.

The proposed football game between the Central high school team and North Side high of Minneapolis for next Saturday, has not yet been definitely arranged. The principal of the Minneapolis school is out of the city and the manager of the team has been unable to communicate with him. The Duluth boys are hopeful that the game will be arranged and the Flour City team brought to Duluth.

Ten Days' Treatment Free

For Rheumatism, Bladder Diseases, Kidney Trouble, Catarrh and Other Uric Acid Ailments

SIMPLY FILL OUT THE COUPON

I will send to anyone who suffers from a Uric Acid disease like rheumatism, kidney or bladder trouble, catarrh and similar afflictions, ten days' trial treatment absolutely free, with full directions for use, so that a good, thorough test can be made of my method of cure without cost. This ten days' free treatment is not to cost you anything, and yet it is not a small sample, proof or test treatment. It is not sent to you to be paid for later when cured, nor are you to take a part of it and pay for the rest. It is just as stated, ten days' treatment free, and any sufferer can get it by simply writing me for it. All I want to know is that you have a disease for which this treatment is effective, and so that I can decide that please fill out the coupon and send it to me. My address is Dr. G. B. Abbott, 812 Austen Building, Chicago, Ill.

After 32 years of striving I believe I have a perfected treatment for these diseases, but the best way to prove it to the public is to send them a generous supply of it free. This I am doing by giving away ten-day free treatments. The remedies contained in this free treatment are vouched for to the U. S. Government, and it can be relied upon that there are no objectionable ingredients. Thousands of people have been helped and cured by this treatment, and pages of endorsements could be given, but as nothing after all is so convincing as personal experience, every sufferer from a Uric Acid disease is invited to write me for ten days' free treatment for himself or herself. I will send it to you with full directions promptly on receipt of the coupon properly filled out, or a personal letter giving some of your chief symptoms. All charges will be paid by me.

You will find that the various remedies comprising the treatment will tone and strengthen the kidneys, quiet aches, pains and swellings, enrich the blood and invigorate the system so that catarrh germs are destroyed, stop the too frequent desire to urinate and banish chronic rheumatism when other means fail. It has done this for many other people, and to see if it will do it for you you have only to send me your address and I will send you a full ten days' treatment of my remedies entirely free, the only agreement being that you use them. All who write will also receive a free copy of my large new medical book, richly illustrated, describing these serious diseases in detail.

I ask you to send the coupon or a personal letter today.

BUILDING IS CROWDED

Principal Foster Says Addition to Irving School Is Needed.

Attendance at Industrial High School Has Greatly Increased.

S. A. Foster, principal of the Irving school, reports that the school is overcrowded at the present time and is urging an addition to be ready for the next school year.

The Industrial high school, which has been using the building in the past is now the largest it has ever been and has 50 per cent more students this year than it had last year. The grade department has also grown and all the available space in the building is being used at the present time.

The adoption of the new departments in the high school has brought a number of new students, many of whom are girls interested in the scientific courses offered. The enlargement of the mechanical department has taken nearly all of the basement and with the present rate of increase an addition will be necessary for next year, Mr. Foster says. There were 130 enrolled in the high school last year and it now has 196 students attending the classes. Nineteen of these are seniors, thirty-one juniors, fifty-two sophomores, and ninety-four freshmen. The large number of first year students shows the interest taken in the industrial work by the grade school graduates.

The matter will be brought before the school board and the board will be urged to have plans made for an addition to the school to be ready by next year. A number have suggested the moving of one of the branches so that the building could be given over to either the industrial work or the grade school. The matter will be decided at the next board of education meeting to be held in two weeks.

NEW STORE AND FLAT BUILDING

Louis Ramsted Will Improve Property on Grand Avenue.

Louis Ramstad, 5505 West Sixth street, will erect a two-story brick building on the corner of Fifty-seventh avenue west and Grand the latter part of this month. The structure will have a frontage of seventy-five feet on Grand avenue and will be 125 feet deep to the alley. The building will cost about $12,000.

The new structure will be arranged to have three stores on the first floor and four flats on the second floor. A large basement is to be built under the entire building. One of the local business men has already taken a long term lease on one of the stores.

The lot at the present time has a two-story frame building which is occupied by a store, but the building will be moved to the west end of the property and will be joined to the new part that is to be built. The vacant lot has been used as a driveway between Grand avenue and the western end of Ramsey street.

PROTECTION AT THE CROSSINGS

Railroad Officials Will Consult Wishes of the Citizens.

Notice has been given out that several Northern Pacific officials will meet the West Duluth Commercial club representatives next Monday evening regarding better protection at the railway crossings in that end of the city. Anyone interested may attend the meeting to be held in the club rooms when plans will be made in connection with an order of the city council for the installation of the safety devices at the crossings.

The crossings which the citizens say are dangerous are at Fifty-seventh, Fifty-ninth, and Sixty-third avenues and Raleigh street. The railroad officials will take the advice of the residents in that section of the city in the matter of selecting the safety devices and be kind they wish to have. The installation of bells at each crossing besides the other devices would insure safety after 6 p. m. when the watchman leaves, say several interested citizens and they plan to suggest such devices at the meeting Monday evening.

Fire in a Vacant House.

A vacant house at 620 South Sixty-third avenue west, was partly burned yesterday afternoon. The flames were discovered rising from the roof and the alarm was given by one of the nearby residents. It is believed by the department that boys playing in the house started the fire. The second floor, ceiling and roof were the parts damaged and the loss is about $200.

BACK FROM EUROPE.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Eklund Were Across the Atlantic Four Months.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Eklund, 5503 West Eighth street, returned last evening from a four months' trip to Europe. They visited relatives in Norway and spent the remainder of the time on the continent. They left West Duluth May 29 and were in London during the coronation of King George V, spending several weeks there. They went sightseeing through France and Germany after leaving Norway, where they visited friends and relatives for three weeks. They left Edinburgh Oct. 5 for the United States and arrived in New York city last Friday morning.

"The best thing I saw," said Mr. Eklund, "was the old American flag waving over Sandy Hook, when we came sailing in New York harbor."

MEETING POSTPONED.

W. C. T. U. Will Hear Addresses at Irving School Friday Evening.

The meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance union, which was to have been held in the assembly room of the Irving school Thursday afternoon, has been postponed until Friday evening. The change was made at the request of Prof. S. A. Foster, who intends having several speakers there at the time.

Dr. L. Kline, dean of the Duluth Normal school, will deliver the principal address on "Co-operation of Parents and Teachers," and all parents in West Duluth have been asked to attend and hear the lecture. Mrs. H. H. Phelps, who has charge of the program, is arranging several musical numbers to be given during the evening. The hostesses for the meeting will be: Mrs. Rose Goosella, Mrs. W. H. Sweet, Miss L. Lauman and Miss L. Marcus.

Will Move to Marquette.

Sverre Haug left for Marquette, Mich., yesterday where he will take a government position he has just received. He has been residing with Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hanson, 5723 Tacony street, for the past six years and is well known in that section of the city. He was an active member of the Normanna male chorus and the Sons of Norway lodge.

Horse Dies From Fall.

A horse belonging to the Bridgeman-Russell company fell in front of the No. 8 fire station yesterday afternoon and was taken to a local veterinary. The driver was unable to handle the horse himself and was assisted by several firemen who helped him take the animal to the stable where it died this morning.

West Duluth Briefs.

A daughter was born yesterday afternoon to Mr. and Mrs. Androshak, 610 North Fifty-seventh avenue west. Mr. Androshak is a fireman at the No. 8 fire station at West Duluth.

Mrs. O. S. Olson, 329 North Fifty-eighth avenue west, will leave Saturday for Chicago, where she will reside with her husband who is attending medical college there.

The Westminster C. E. Society of the Westminster Presbyterian church is planning a missionary cantata to be sung by thirty children the evening of Nov. 19.

Gustaf Nelson commenced work on a residence to be built at Fifty-fifth avenue west and Eighth street.

Robert Carden of Seattle, Wash., will leave Saturday for his home after spending the past week with friends at West Duluth.

A son was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brain, 618 North Fifty-seventh avenue west.

The choir of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church is practicing a cantata to be sung the latter part of November. The cantata was composed by Prof. A. F. Lundholm and is entitled, "The Prodigal Son."

Watch repairing. Hurst, West Duluth

A union Thanksgiving service for all the young people's societies at West Duluth is being planned by the Westminster C. E. society to be held Sunday, Nov. 26.

William Spencer of America, Okla., will leave for his home tomorrow after spending the past few days with A. J. Lindgren, 4827 West Fifth street.

MASONIC NOTICE.

Begin Hotel Addition.

Work on the four additional stories of the Holland hotel will begin the present week, according to the statement of S. Goldberg. All of the plans for the enlargement of the hotel have been completed and work will be rushed. Mr. Goldberg stated that it was the aim of the proprietors to make the hotel one of the most modern and up-to-date hotels in the Northwest.

Thirty Days in Jail.

Algot Anderson got thirty days straight in the county jail after he had entered a plea of guilty to a charge of non-support preferred by his wife, when arraigned in police court this morning. It was reported that he spends all his earnings for liquor, leaving his family in destitute circumstances. The court informed him that if he would furnish bonds to support his wife, sentence would be suspended. William Peterson was arraigned on a similar charge and entered a plea of not guilty. His trial was set for tomorrow morning.

Arrested Wrong Man.

The case against Gottlieb Krause, arrested on a charge of selling liquor on Sunday in his saloon on East Fourth street, was dismissed in police court this morning. It appears that the wrong defendant was in court.

Travelers Are Numerous.

Despite the fact that business is generally supposed to be quiet, there are more commercial traveling men in the city at the present time than is usually the case at this season of the year. All of the sample rooms in the five principal hotels of the city are taken, and orders for sample rooms are on the waiting list. Business as reflected through the presence of the commercial traveling men is good in Duluth at the present time.

Hurt in Elevator Shaft.

Morris Lindberg, a carpenter engaged on work in the Metropolitan block was slightly injured while working in a new elevator shaft. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital, where his injuries were attended to.

Case Is Dismissed.

Henry J. O'Donnell, arrested on a charge of having been drunk and disorderly, was discharged after a trial in police court yesterday afternoon. It was claimed that he had threatened to attack his father with a gun. The testimony against him was largely hearsay.

EVIDENCE OF MORRIS DENIED

W. H. Cook Claims He Did Not Make Statement Credited to Him.

Replying to the testimony credited Lieutenant Governor Morris, in the senatorial investigation of the election of Isaac Stephenson to the United States senate, implicating W. H. Cook of this city as a witness, Mr. Cook asserted today that he made no such statements as Mr. Morris said he had made.

When asked today to give some statement on the matter, Mr. Cook simply said that he did not say what it was purported as coming from him, and that he had nothing more to add.

"I have nothing more to say," said Mr. Cook. "There is nothing that is necessary to say and it is not worth while saying more."

Mr. Cook has been suppoenaed and will leave for Milwaukee today. It is possible that he may be called to the stand as a witness.

Mr. Cook said that he had held a general conversation with Lieutenant Governor Morris, but that he had not stated that R. J. Shields went to Washington before the election and got money from Mr. Stephenson to buy votes in the Wisconsin legislature.

QUEER PETS.

With many women there are fashions in pets just as in dress, says the Queen. The year 1909 was the year of the marmoset, 1909 favored the "real live teddy bear," while last year saw the introduction of the hamster. The writer has had considerable experience with reptiles and thinks women might do worse than give some of them the next call.

"Some of the small tortoises," she says, "are inexpensive but in purchasing them one should be careful to secure strong, healthy specimens with undamaged shells. From time to time there come upon the market rarer and more expensive species. Some of these are very beautiful and well worth the fancy prices asked for them, for although sixpence or a shilling will purchase an ordinary tortoise anything up to half a guinea may be asked for the rarer kinds.

Some of the American terrapins, especially when quite young, have most beautiful coloring and markings. One that I possessed was bright green with markings in the form of concentric circles on each scale, and yellow, zebralike stripes on the neck and head. Another was pale gray with darker circles and bright red stripes on the head and neck. Some of the land tortoises also are scarcely less attractive. The Indian starred tortoise, for instance, has yellow, starlike markings all over its shell.

"Then there are tree frogs and fire frogs which can be kept together in the same vivarium. The tree frog is about one and one-half to two inches long and is normally bright green in color, though at times it may change to fawn, pale gray or dark olive green. Each toe is provided with a small adhesive disc or pad which enables the frog to adhere to any smooth surface even to a perpendicular pane of glass. It will feed on flies or bluebottles which may be placed alive in the cage. On perceiving its prey it climbs as near as possible to it and then springs upon it from a distance of sometimes more than a foot, opening its mouth as it springs and fixing the insect with its tongue which is also provided with an adhesive disc.

"The fire frog on the contrary is more lethargic in its movements until it has caught its prey. This, however, must not be taken as a sign that it is not equally voracious. Though barely an inch long it will tackle worms more than twice its length nor will it release its hold when once it has seized its prey. A fire frog may be angled for like a fish. You have only to attach a mealworm or caterpillar to a thread and dangle it in front of the creature's nose and it will at once seize it and may be drawn up. Sometimes two frogs will seize the same worm at the same time one at each end. Then ensues a most amusing tug of war.

"The coloring of the fire frog is remarkable. Viewed from above it is usually dull gray, though occasionally some specimens are dark green. The under parts, however, from which it takes its name are spotted with orange red. One more curious trait about it is the habit to be observed in some specimens of curling up like a dried leaf when touched. The back is then bent and all four limbs are curled up over it until the lips of the snout and all the toes nearly touch. It is difficult to explain the reason for this action, but it is apparently designed to be in some way protective. Possibly the position is assumed in order to display the warning red color of the underside."

D. H., Oct. 18, 1911.

WHEAT AND FLAX SOAR

Wheat Closes Higher Than for Weeks in the Leading Markets.

Flax Up Owing to Fear That Snow Will Stop Harvesting.

Duluth Board of Trade, Oct. 18.—Wheat closed at gains in all the principal North American markets. The closing price of Duluth December was $1.10½, or ¾c higher than the close of yesterday, although that was made on a final bulge. There were also gains in flax. Duluth October closed at $2.11½, 3½c above the close of yesterday; November at $2.38½, 3c up, and December at $2.32, 1c up. Durum closed at an advance of 1c and oats ⅜c up. Rye and barley closed unchanged. Cash wheat was the same as December.

When the Canadian voters turned down reciprocity a little less than four weeks ago, this was followed by a sensational rise in the price of wheat in all the American markets. The excitement carried the price beyond what the defeat actually justified and there was some sagging afterwards, but wheat has never since the defeat sold anywhere near the comparatively low figure that it was bringing prior to the defeat. Today, the price of wheat went higher than it ever touched since the initial excitement the defeat of reciprocity subsided. Chicago led off in the bulge. The rise seemed to be due largely to the export of wheat to Europe. A wire from Chicago stated the sale of forty loads in one transaction for export. There are 8,000 bu. to a load, and that meant the sale of 320,000 bu. for export, in that one deal.

Europe seems to want more of the American wheat. At the same time the American wheat market, if not already on a domestic basis, is not far from it. Liverpool closed today with wheat at a bulge of ½@¾d. This seemed to be due largely to low grading in Winnipeg and to reports of dry weather in the Argentine Republic, although the north of that country has lately had some showers. It seems that the showers are most badly needed there in the South and West, especially the South.

Wheat was bullish on the North American markets almost throughout the morning. Many of the brokers expected that the closing bulge of yesterday would result in a drop today, but that was far from being the case. The market for the most part opened either at that closing figure or above it. Duluth December, which closed yesterday at $1.09¾ bid, opened today at $1.09¾ asked. Gains were almost steady. About noon the wheat was selling at $1.10¼ and early in the afternoon it was bringing $1.10¾-½.

Flax, like wheat, was bullish almost throughout the morning. It is feared that the weather will not allow the bulk of the crop to be harvested. A large part of the crop has not even been cut, and if it should suddenly turn cold and snow, there would be another set-back to a crop which is already more than forty days late. Duluth October, which closed yesterday at $2.38 asked, opened at the same figure this morning, but by noon had risen to $2.42. The demand was keen. The railroads estimated that thirty-six cars of uninspected flax would arrive during the day, and while this is away above the average number of cars that the city has been receiving during the last month ore more, it is not large enough to bring the price of flax down anywhere near the point at which a good crop ought to place it. A good crop in the fields is of little value as long as it cannot be brought to the market.

Broomhall wired from Liverpool:—"The wheat market opened with a steady undertone and values ¼ to ⅜d higher on the late strength in America and the continued poor grading of Winnipeg receipts. Later there was some selling for profits on reports of beneficial rains in the north of Argentina. During the morning the market was very nervous with shorts showing a disposition to cover on reports from our agent of continued dry weather in western Argentina and rain wanted. Shorts in October and December were nervous owing to the fact that tenders are firmly held and there seems to be a growing tendency to support on all recessions, notwithstanding the fact that there is more pressure to sell new Platte wheat. At 1:30 p. m. the market was firm and ⅛ to ¾d higher than yesterday.

"Wheat cargoes arrived off coast, one, and awaiting orders, one. Wheat in distant positions, quiet but steady. Corn, quiet, with holders firm.

"Our Argentine agent cables that the weather is still unsettled with light rain north. There is an improved demand for wheat with arrivals from the interior light.

"Our agent at Rostoff, Russia, cables that the weather has turned cold and frosty and there is no snow covering. Speculators are buying with holders firm. Arrivals and stocks are large."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Bulls in Wheat Market Supported By Buying Orders.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Plenty of orders to buy up held today the bull side of the market for wheat. Foreigners in particular were credited with purchasing on a liberal scale. The fact that the predicted rains in the Argentine turned out to be light and did not extend beyond the northern part of the country counted decisively against the bears. Poor grading of Winnipeg on the diminishing receipts on this side of the Canadian line tended also to cause a firm tone. The opening was ¼c off to a shade higher. December started at $1.00 to $1.00¼, a loss of ⅛ to ¼c, but quickly rallied to $1.00⅜.

Cold and snow hindering seeders in Germany helped a further advance. Solid unfavorable crop advices from Russia and from Kansas also. The close was steady with December ⅞c higher.

With pit shorts buying, and country offerings scarce, corn had an upturn swing. December opened a sixteenth lower to a like amount up at 64½ to ⅝c and rose to 64¾@⅞c.

Forecast of rains brought about an additional gain. The close was steady at 65⅝c for December, a net advance of 1@1⅛c.

Oats advanced with corn. There was but little pressure to sell. December started unchanged to ⅛c down at 47⅞ to 47½c, and recovered to 47½@⅝c.

Provisions made a gain all around owing to commission buying throughout the entire list. First sales were 2½ to 17½c up with January deliveries $15.25 to $15.45 for pork, $8.85 to $8.90 for lard and $8.05 for ribs.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Prices Advance on Active Demand and Moderate Offerings.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 18.—Further support was given the wheat market again today and prices registered another advance. Demand was active and offerings moderate. December and May both closed ⅞c higher than yesterday. Local elevator stocks increased 550,000 bu for four days.

Car lot wheat receipts with comparisons follow:

	Today.	Week Ago.	Year Ago.
Minneapolis	453	366	355
Duluth	178	331	168
Winnipeg	889	827	481

December opened $1.09⅞@1.10; high, $1.10⅞; low, $1.09¾; closed, $1.10¾. May opened $1.14; high, $1.14⅝@1.14¾; low, $1.13¾; closed, $1.14⅝@1.14¾.

Cash wheat was in active demand, especially the better grades. Mills and elevators were both active buyers. No. 1 northern sold for ½@1c above the December contract. Closing cash prices: No. 1 hard, $1.12¼; No. 1 northern, $1.11¼@1.11¾; to arrive, $1.11¼; No. 2 northern, $1.08¾@1.09¾; to arrive, $1.07¾@1.09¼; No. 3 wheat, $1.04@1.06¼; No. 3 yellow corn, 74c; No. 3 white oats, 45⅝@46½c; No. 2 rye, 93c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 3,024 tons. Prices steady but demand not as active. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $21.50@22.

Flour—The market was steady. Demand continued active and prices were unchanged. Shipments, 58,875 bbls. First patents, in wood, f. o. b. Minneapolis, $5.40@5.70; second patents, $5.00@5.30; first clears, $3.90@4.25; second clears, $2.80@3.20.

WEAKNESS IN STOCKS

Trade Reviews Did Not Encourage the Bulls on Steel.

Special Weakness Also in Some High Class Railroad Stocks.

New York, Oct. 18.—Irregular changes occurred at the opening of the stock market today. Movements of active stocks for the most part were downwards. United States Steel opened unchanged on a sale of 3,000 shares, but soon fell off ⅝. Western Maryland lost a point and Kansas City Southern ¾. Anaconda advanced a point.

After developing a generally heavier tone and establishing losses of ½ in Union Pacific and Reading and ⅞ in United States Steel, the market rallied briskly.

Continued selling of the American Tobacco bonds which went down ⅝ for the 4's and 1⅛ for the 6's, encouraged short selling by the professionals.

The tone of the stock market was irregular and uncertain throughout the morning. Pressure against United States Steel was again conspicuous and there was further liquidation of speculative holdings of American Tobacco securities.

The recovery in prices which set in toward the close of the first hour was carried further before there was sufficient realizing to cause a setback.

Canadian stocks were especially strong. Canadian Pacific moved up 1, and the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie stocks 2 points.

Weakness of the American Tobacco bonds checked speculative operations in other bond issues, but prices were fairly well sustained.

The market closed weak. Analysis of the trade review did not encourage the bulls on United States Steel, and observers maintained that considerable long stock was coming on the market when the price fell to 58. Special weakness also developed in some of the high class railroad stocks.

MARINE NEWS

HOPKINS IS AGAIN SEEN

Gopher Leaves Once More to Look for Dangerous Derelict.

Steamer Corey Reports Waterlogged Craft in Vessel Course.

The United States training ship, Gopher, steamed out of the harbor this afternoon under command of Capt. Guy A. Eaton, to again search for the derelict Hopkins, which has again been reported sighted in the vessel course between Keweenaw Point and La Pointe.

The government yacht, Vidette, is searching today for the abandoned boat, acting under instructions from J. H. Darling of the United States engineer's office.

The quest for the Hopkins had practically been abandoned until yesterday afternoon when word reached here from Ashland, that the crew of the Steamer W. E. Corey of the Pittsburg Steamship company fleet, had sighted the much looked for craft, from forty-eight to fifty miles off Michigan island in the vessel course between Keweenaw Point and La Pointe.

Capt. P. A. Bailey of the Corey reported that the Hopkins, when sighted by him yesterday morning at 7 o'clock was low in the water, the bow being out about three feet, while the boat was entirely submerged aft. The position of the boat was such that she could not be easily seen until the Corey was almost right beside her. This probably accounts for the fact that she was missed by the Vidette, the Gopher and tugs which were looking for her. On account of the heavy sea which was rolling yesterday, the Corey did not attempt to tow in the wreck.

STEEL MILLS FOR DETROIT

May Restore City's Position as Chief Port of Call.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 18.—In the proposal of the Hanna interests of Cleveland to locate in Detroit an enormous steel plant, costing approximately $2,000,000, Detroit vessel men see this port regaining its position as one of the chief ports of call on the lakes. During late years, while the Detroit river carries the largest commerce of any body of water in the world, few of the gigantic freighters ever do more than check their engines when passing this city. With a $2,000,000 iron furnace located on Zug Island, however, vessel men say that a large fleet of vessels would be required to carry to this city the ore which would be used.

Vessel men see a very distinct advantage in locating an iron furnace at Detroit in that ore carriers would no longer be required to carry their cargoes over the treacherous Limekiln crossing, where a large percentage of the accidents of the lakes take place. Under present conditions, none of the larger steamers can carry their capacity loads of ore to Lake Erie ports, because of the dangers of the crossing. It is estimated by vessel owners that the capacity of the larger ore steamers is diminished fully 10 per cent by their inability to load to full depth.

The shorter trip for the ore carriers would likely mean lower rates and consequently a cheaper product. Vessels would be able to make the trip from any upper lake port to Detroit in fully a day less than is required to run to any Lake Erie port. Steamers coming from upper Lake Michigan ports would have deep water for the entire distance and could load to full capacity. The new third American lock, now under construction at Sault Sainte Marie, would soon enable the largest vessels on the lakes to load to full capacity and pass from Lake Superior to Lake Huron.

In addition to being a large ore receiving port, Detroit would also likely become a coal shipping port. Coal could be carried northward cheaply by the fleet of vessels which brought down the ore, and upbound cargoes, even at low rates, would help increase the profits of the fleet.

The present Hanna fleet consists of thirteen steamers and three barges, with a total capacity of about 75,000 tons of ore. The steamers are Townsend, Flagg, L. C. Hanna, Price, Warner, Fitch, Republic, Wood, La Belle, Shaw, Scott, Stackhouse and Morrell, and the barges Thompson, Warner and Maitland.

CANADIANS WILL INVESTIGATE

Want to Know Why Steamer Emperor Sank in Locks.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—That an investigation will be made by officials of the Canadian government as to the cause of the sinking of the big Canadian steamer Emperor in the Canadian Soo lock canal early yesterday morning, now seems probable.

After many fruitless efforts to patch the hole in her bow had been made, the wrecker Reliance was pressed into service this morning and after a large amount of the grain cargo had been removed the stranded steamer was floated. After temporary repairs are made the Emperor will clear for Midland. Supt. Ross of the lock declared this morning that while it was possible an investigation would be made, he had received no formal announcement of such a fact from Ottawa.

Ericsson Released.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 18.—Special to The Herald.)—The Ericsson, which went aground at Encampment Sunday night, has cleared for Two Harbors. The barge Fritz was left behind for repairs to her bow. The Steel trust boat, Briton, while coming up the river this morning, was in trouble when her anchor chain became entangled with her wheel. A diver and tug relieved the steamer.

ARRIVES ON MAIDEN TRIP

Takes Out a Mere Trifle of 10,768 Tons of Ore.

Flying her colors high, the big steel ore carrier, Col. James M. Schoonmaker, the largest bulk freighter on fresh water, arrived in Duluth yesterday on her maiden trip. She came to Duluth light for ore, arriving here at 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and cleared at 6 o'clock this morning for her trip down the lakes.

The Schoonmaker is 617 feet long, 64 feet beam, 33 feet molded depth and is said to have a maximum carrying capacity of 14,000 tons at a draught of 21 feet. At Missabe Ore Dock No. 4 the Schoonmaker took on a cargo of ore. The bill of lading weight was 10,768 tons at a draught of 17 feet 8 inches forward, 17 feet 10 inches midship, and 18 feet 1 inch aft.

The Schoonmaker was built at Cleveland for the Shenango Steamship & Transportation company of Pittsburg, and belongs to the Snyder fleet, which is operated by W. B. Davock of Cleveland. Capt. Thomas H. Sanders, formerly master of the Shenango, is in command of the Schoonmaker.

With Capt. Sanders on the Schoonmaker are Alex Glen, first mate; D. M. Sanders, second mate; John McMonagle, chief engineer; Albert Fritz, first assistant, and William Stotle, second assistant.

Struck By Clamshell.

Joe Thomas, a dock laborer, was struck by a clam shell bucket while at work at the Reiss coal dock in Superior yesterday afternoon and is in a precarious condition at St. Francis hospital. The heavy bucket struck his back, and while the injuries are serious, Thomas may have a chance for recovery.

Boats Clear at Ashland.

Ashland, Wis., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Matoa, La Salle, Colgate, Republic, and Saxon, discharged coal at Ashland last week.

The Francis E. House, one of the top notchers on the lakes, cleared with one, Saturday, for South Chicago. The Mariska, Dinkey, Shaw, Isaac, Lothian Bell, Princeton, Hanna, Jr., and Mills, cleared with ore cargoes for Lake Erie ports. The Collingwood cleared with ore for Midland, Ont., today.

Grain Cargoes.

The steamer Edwin F. Holmes, operated by H. A. Hawgood of Cleveland, arrived in port this morning for a load of grain. She is taking on a cargo at Elevator K.

The J. M. Jenks and the J. E. Upson, loaded with grain, cleared today for Buffalo.

The steamer Senator and the steamer Sorona, which have been lying idle here all summer, are fitting out for the grain trade. The Senator will go to Fort William this week.

IN MARINE CIRCLES

The lightship Kewanee, stationed at the head of the west end of the steamer Joliet was struck and badly damaged by the barge W. K. Moore down bound in tow of the steamer Simon Langell last evening at Port Huron, Mich.

Mike Savich, a dock worker, may die from injuries sustained in an unknown manner, while at work yesterday on the Hanna coal docks. Savich, who is 23 years old and who lives at 204 Ogden avenue, Superior, was taken to St. Mary's hospital. He has a fractured skull.

The steamer America of the Booth line arrived in port this morning from a north shore trip to Port Arthur.

The tug Ethel J. will be sold at auction today at Marquette, Mich., to satisfy libel attachments, which have been placed against her.

The steamer Van Hise, which has been at the Soo for nearly a week having her engines repaired, is on her way again.

Traffic through the United States and Canadian canals for September, according to Canal Superintendent Sabin, show a decrease of 1,320,112 tons downbound and an increase of 497,582 tons in upbound freight as compared with September 1910.

SAY EVENING PAPER IS MUCH BETTER

We consider the evening paper a much better advertising medium than the morning paper, because we have found that it reaches the average woman at the best time of day, and that it is the general custom of shoppers to plan a day's buying the evening before. We found evening papers are usually sent direct to the house or brought home by men, while morning papers are to a great extent taken away by the latter.

YOUNKER BROS.

GIVES ADVERTISERS A SQUARE DEAL

The Duluth Herald holds a unique place in the Duluth newspaper field, in that it is the only daily paper that has never used voting, guessing or premium schemes of any nature to artificially stimulate circulation. The Herald today leads all Minnesota papers (outside of the Twin Cities) by thousands of daily paid subscribers.

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS.

LOOK AT THE LOCATION OF COLMAN'S ACRE TRACTS.
The location of these acres is unexcelled for garden or poultry farming. The land lies in the fertile Lester river valley, only 30 to 35 minutes' walk from the street car line, only three blocks from Snively's boulevard and Lester river, and the view it affords of the lake is perfect. The land is now covered only by second growth, as it has formerly been cleared. The terms are very easy, being only $5 down and $5 per month per acre, or $12.50 for three acres; no interest. No acre over $175. Call or write for particulars.
C. FRANCIS COLMAN,
421 Manhattan Bldg., Duluth.

SENATE COMMITTEE ASKS BRODERICK IF HE BRIBED HOLTSLAW

Lorimer Investigators Put Alleged Agent on Stand.

R. J. Shields Tells His Story —Denies He Ever Lobbied.

Declares He Makes $20,000 Yearly on Insurance.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—State Senator John Broderick of Chicago was called to the witness stand by the Lorimer investigating committee of the United States senate today, after State Representative Rovert E. Wilsen had concluded a brief cross-examination.

Broderick was expected to be interrogated regarding the alleged confession of Former State Senator D. W. Holtslaw of Iuka, Ill., who is said to have charged that Broderick paid Holtslaw $2,500 to vote for Lorimer.

Members of the committee indicated a wish today to expedite the hearings and sergeants-at-arms were instructed to have a sufficient number of witnesses at the federal building each day to avoid possible delay in waiting for witnesses.

Robert J. Shields of Superior, Wis., and Duluth, Minn., testifying before the committee yesterday, denied a charge that he had been active as a legislative lobbyist in the Wisconsin legislature or any other legislature.

Senator Kenyon of Iowa brought forth this denial from Shields, who also has been subpoenaed to appear as a witness in the Senator Stephenson inquiry at Milwaukee, in addition to appearing in the Lorimer case.

Denied He Lobbied.

"Is it not true," asked Senator Kenyon, "that you were in the habit of acting for the Hines Lumber company and other companies before the Wis-

ROBINSON FLYING SOUTHWARD AGAIN

Leaves Winona, Stops at La Crosse and Gets More Mail.

Winona, Minn., Oct. 19.—Aviator Hugh Robinson, who left Minneapolis Tuesday morning on his flight to New Orleans, and who got into trouble when near this city Tuesday noon, resumed his flight down the river at 8:19 this morning. He hopes to reach Rock Island—195 miles away—by night, where he will rest until morning.

The aviator's hydro-aeroplane has been repaired following the damage sustained in drifting over the hidden dam a few miles above here. A new 60-horse power engine also has been installed. Robinson picked up a package of mail here to be delivered at points down the river.

Stopped at La Crosse.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 19.—Aviator Hugh Robinson in his hydro-aeroplane arrived here at 8:43. He left Winona at 8:17, according to his record, making the twenty-eight miles in twenty-six minutes. Robinson flew at an altitude of 3,000 feet and could be seen here with glasses when twenty miles away. He landed here without accident. When a half mile in the air a nut came off one of his planes but caused no trouble.

Robinson left for Dubuque at 10 o'clock, flying a mile a minute. He expected to reach Prairie Du Chien at 11 o'clock. He will proceed to Dubuque, being due there by 2 o'clock. He delivered a sack of United States mail here and took out another.

At Prairie du Chien.

Prairie du Chien, Wis., Oct. 19.—Robinson in his Twin City-to-Gulf trip arrived at Prairie du Chien at 11 o'clock. He made the sixty miles from La Crosse in just sixty minutes.

TWO ZEPPELIN FLYERS START

Two Big German Airships Making Long Trips.

Berlin, Oct. 19.—Two Zeppelin airships, the most recently constructed, are making long trips. The Schwaben I ascended at Dusseldorf at 4:45 o'clock this morning en route for Berlin by way of Bremen and Hamburg. The military dirigible Zeppelin IX left Baden-Baden last evening for a twenty-four hours trial trip through the Rhine valley to Coblenz, and thence southward to the frontier region. A military commission was aboard.

SIDNEY SPRAGUE WEDS PRINCESS OF PERSIA.

Elgin, Ill., Oct. 19.—News has been received by Mrs. James A. Carlisle of the marriage of her nephew, Sidney Sprague, widely known in Episcopal church circles, to a princess who is a niece of the founder of the Persian religion cult of Bahaism, and his adoption of that faith as a life work. Sprague went to France from Oshkosh, Wis., several years ago to study music. He traveled to Persia and became an ardent disciple of the new creed. His wife says she is a descendant of Mohammed.

STEPHENSON "DOCUMENTS"

Trunk Full of Papers Appears at Senate Investigation.

Evidence Sent Out of State in Earlier Probe Is Produced.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 19.—A trunk filled with papers which are expected to throw light on the bribery charges connected with the election of United States Senator Isaac Stephenson appeared before the senatorial investigating committee today.

W. E. Black, an attorney for Senator Stephenson, explained the trunk contained documents relative to the senator's primary campaign in 1908, when he expended $107,000. After the primaries the papers were shipped to Escanaba, Mich., so that, being out of the state, they were beyond reach of a legislative committee which had begun to investigate the senator's campaign expenses.

The papers originally were taken

BANKERS AND FARM EXPERTS GATHER

Ten Northwestern States Are Represented at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The second and last day's session of the conference of agricultural experts with bankers from ten states of the Northwest for the purpose of discussing means of increasing agricultural development began at the Saint Paul hotel this morning. The speakers on the program were: Governor Eberhart of Minnesota, President George E. Vincent of the University of Minnesota, C. G. Schultz, A. F. Woods and A. D. Wilson of St. Paul, E. C. Olsgaard, McVille, N. D.; M. D. Kelly, Beardsley institute, Chicago; Prof. Rundlett, North Dakota agricultural college; Prof. E. G. Holden, superintendent at Ames, Iowa; E. M. Phillips, rural school commissioner of St. Paul.

Too Many Consumers.

In the light of statistics submitted by Joseph Chapman, Jr., of Minneapolis, chairman of the agricultural committee of the State Bankers' association, Minnesota yearly is spending $14,000,000; that out of 440,000 school children, 99.6 percent may be educated to become consumers and 4 percent producers.

James J. Hill, who was expected, telegraphed from the east that it would be impossible for him to be present.

The ideal of moral responsibility is caring for the soil, declared Bradford Knapp, of the department of agriculture, in addressing the meeting. It was the ideal of service—of something owing to society, by the man who tills and owns the soil. Mr. Knapp said: "No man has a right to own an acre of land and abuse that land, because it is the source of food."

LETHBRIDGE MAY LAND DRY FARMING MEETING.

Colorado Springs, Col., Oct. 19.—The paramount issues before the International Dry Farming congress today are the selection of a meeting place for 1912 and a final decision regarding the proposed million dollar endowment fund. Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada, is in the lead for the next meeting.

VICTORY FOR THE REBELS?

Alarming Reports Reach Pekin Regarding Fight at Hankow.

Yuan Shi Kai's Demands Granted By the Prince Regent.

Pekin, Oct. 19.—The court official announcement this morning that telegraphic communication with Hankow had been interrupted since sunset last night, caused consternation throughout the capital today. The wildest rumors of reverses to the imperial arms spread like wildfire, although no definite facts to support them were available.

Much significance was attached to the fact that the government has refrained from issuing any official announcement of a victory in yesterday's engagement with the rebels.

Among foreigners who may be regarded as impartial observers it is generally believed that the situation at Hankow has not been appreciably improved by the events of the last twenty-four hours.

Officials Are Confident.

Government officials continue to profess the utmost optimism. They declare that the severance of telegraphic communication for a period of only twelve to eighteen hours over a line 650 miles long is no ground for apprehension. They insist that the 21,000 troops and seventy guns which have left Pekin for Hankow, and most of which are now en route, should be sufficient to swamp any revolutionary attack. Some of the rumors current today, however, hint at disaffection in the army.

American warships have been ordered to Nanking, Shanghai and Tien Tsin. The Aberenda, which is pro-

TEDDY WILL BE CAMPAIGN SPHINX

Letter Indicates He Will Keep Out of the Mixup.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 19.—The part which Former President Roosevelt will take in the coming national campaign probably will be one of silence. This became publicly known through a letter which he wrote to Congressman J. Hampton Moore of Pennsylvania, president of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways association, declining an invitation to address the convention. Col. Roosevelt emphatically declared:

"From now on I will avoid making any speech that I possibly can get out of."

He continued:

"I cannot undertake anything further of any kind or sort now."

These portions of the colonel's letter were interpreted to mean that he wished to refrain from giving utterance to any opinions which might possibly be misconstrued in connection with the presidential campaign. It was gathered from the letter that the colonel intends to remain silent throughout the entire campaign.

TRIAL OPENS SECOND WEEK

McNamara Case Needs More Clearing Up By Judge.

Ruling on Jurors' Fitness May Be Suspended Some Time.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 19.—The McNamara murder trial was resumed today at the beginning of a new court calendar week, with prospects that in the course of the session Judge Walter Bordwell would rule on two peremptory challenges made yesterday by the defense on the ground that a talesman who believes the Los Angeles Times building was blown up by dynamite cannot be a fair juror.

This position is taken because of the defense's position that the explosion in the Times building was caused by gas, and that counsel defending James B. McNamara, on trial for the murder of Charles G. Haggerty, who was killed in the disaster, should not be compelled to show otherwise in order to get a fair trial. The state contends that so long as any juror has no opinion as to McNamara's guilt or innocence, he may be a fair juror.

Judge Bordwell, it was explained, need not rule on the point until the jury box is filled with talesmen not otherwise ineligible for cause from the standpoint of the defense. But as the question, brought up on the first day of trial, has been open ever since, it

CURRENCY REFORM HEARING IS BEGUN

Monetary Commission Sub-Committee Meets in Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—The first sitting in the West this year of the national monetary commission opened here today. Edward B. Vreeland, chairman on the sub-committee which is holding the sessions in the West, said he expected the hearings would continue over two days, and that during that time any one having suggestions relative to monetary systems usable by the United States was invited to air his views before the sub-committee.

From here the sub-committee expects to move to St. Paul, Des Moines, Omaha, Kansas City, Denver and possibly to San Francisco before returning to Washington. The sessions are opened to the public.

SNOW FALLS IN THE BLACK HILLS.

Deadwood, S. D., Oct. 19.—From two to six inches of snow fell throughout the Black Hills last night and today. This may materially change the plans for Mr. Taft's entertainment here on Saturday, as it may prevent all outdoor speaking.

TAFT AMIDST ICE AND SNOW

Finds Real Winter Weather Awaiting Him at Butte, Mont.

Presidential Train Is More Than an Hour Late.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 19.—President Taft came into Montana today from the south more than an hour behind schedule.

In place of the temperature of 95 deg. which was encountered at Los Angeles, Mr. Taft found snow and frozen streams here today.

The program for his entertainment in Butte included an automobile parade of the city, breakfast at the Silver Bow club and an address.

From Butte the president will travel Eastward through Bozeman and Livingston to Billings, where he will stop for five hours tonight.

On his arrival here Mr. Taft was welcomed to the state by Governor Norris and United States Senator Dickson, but Lewis J. Duncan, the Socialist mayor of Butte, was not on hand.

Welcomed in Utah.

Ogden, Utah, Oct. 19.—The Examiner says of Taft's visit: "After a wait of more than one hour during which they stood in the open and braved a chill north wind 5,000 people were rewarded yesterday by a twenty-five-minute visit from President Taft. The welcome as the president mounted the platform was enthusiastic."

SULZBERGER GLUE PLANT DAMAGED

Fire Threatens Serious Damage in Chicago Stock Yard.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Fire broke out in the glue plant of the Sulzberger & Sons company in the Union stock yards shortly after 7 o'clock this morning, and in a few minutes the large structure was in flames. A 4-11 alarm was sounded and every fire company on the south side responded.

The fire started in the bone drying room on the fourth floor and rapidly spread to other parts of the five-story structure. A watchman making his rounds discovered the fire and turned in an alarm. When the fire department arrived the two upper floors of the building were in flames and there appeared to be danger of the flames spreading to adjoining structures.

The firemen raised ladders and directed streams of water through the windows on the fourth floor, and in an hour the fire was under control. There were only a few employes in the building at the time the fire broke out, and these escaped without injury. The loss is estimated at about $76,000.

The fire broke out anew after it was thought to be under control and it was feared it might spread to the cold storage house adjoining, where ammonia explosions might result. Several firemen were overcome by smoke. Chief O'Connor said the flames probably started from crossed electric wires. After a two-hours struggle the fire was under subjection.

IS READY TO FIGHT EBERHART MACHINE

SAM Y. GORDON,
Lieutenant Governor of Minnesota.

Lieut.-Governor in Receptive Mood and Not Afraid of Contest.

Not Yet Satisfied He Is Man to Lead the Opposition.

If Conditions Warrant, Will Announce Candidacy First of Year.

Elbow Lake, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lieutenant Governor Sam Y. Gordon, the sphinx of Browns Valley, who has persistently refused to discuss state politics, and the repeated mention of him as the logical candidate to lead the forces opposed to Governor Adolph O. Eberhart in the next Republican state convention, has broken his silence by what amounts to a tentative announcement of his candidacy.

While refraining from an unqualified announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination, the lieutenant governor, in replying to a letter written by Former Senator Ole O. Canestorp asking for a statement of his position, says that if after the first of the year he considers conditions warrant such action, he will announce his candidacy for the governorship.

He says he recognizes the fact that there is widespread opposition in the state to a return of the present administration, but is not certain that he is the man to lead the movement for a change.

That is the substance of his letter. The correspondence between Mr. Gor-

NO GAME FOR WORLD TITLE

Rain Again Prevents Resumption of Baseball Series.

Giants Look to Marquard to Save Them From Defeat.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 19.—Rain today caused another postponement of the playing of the fourth game between Philadelphia and New York for the world's baseball championship. The grounds were in soggy condition, and as a light rain was falling the umpires called up the members of the national commission in New York and informed them of conditions. It was decided to call off the game for today and it will be played here tomorrow if weather conditions permit.

Thoroughly rested after Tuesday's sensational battle on the Polo grounds in New York, both teams were anxious to get into the fray again. Long periods of rest do not help the average baseball player, and the one-day layoff has just been about sufficient to keep the members of the teams on edge.

The players for the two great baseball machines had hoped for a clearer day and a fast field. A heavy playing ground makes the footing uncertain

WOULD-BE HAZERS HORSEWHIPPED

Sick Man Made Worse By Prank of the Students.

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 19.—A number of Illinois students, bent on a hazing expedition, were horse-whipped out of the home of Former State's Attorney H. W. Miller of Champaign county today by Mrs. Miller. She was actuated, she said, by a desire to keep the noise and confusion from her husband, who is ill, and to protect several freshmen at the university who room at the Miller home.

The excitement so affected the sick man that physicians had to be called and officials of the university are seeking to identify the students. Two students already have been dismissed for hazing.

NO HEART BALM FOR GRISWOLD

Breach of Promise Suit for $50,000 Goes Against Him.

New York, Oct. 19.—A verdict for the defendant was found today by the jury in Russell G. Griswold's $50,000 breach of promise suit against Miss Helen Woodruff Smith of Stamford, Conn.

Counsel for Miss Smith, the 40-year-old defendant, rested his case on Griswold's own testimony. He saw no need, he said, to put the defendant on the stand and have her testify that she never held a man's hand or kissed him in public. He arraigned Griswold in scathing terms.

Griswold's lawyer pictured the plaintiff as a broken-hearted little boy whose life had been ruined by a mature woman of the world.

TEXANS DAMAGE RODGERS' FLYER

Aviator Tells of Aerial Visit From an Inquisitive Eagle.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 19.—Sightseers here today in crowding about the biplane of C. P. Rodgers, the cross-continent flier, damaged the right plane. Rodgers was compelled to postpone his scheduled start for San Antonio from noon until 3 p. m.

Rodgers today tells of a bloodless, featureless encounter he had with a curious-minded eagle. While flying between Fort Worth and Dallas yesterday, Rodgers saw far below him a racing bird. After driving along at express speed for a score of miles with the bird 1,000 feet directly beneath him, Rodgers observed the eagle rise and make directly for the machine. The bird continued its upward flight until within a few feet of the racing aviator, then suddenly it swooped down and backward and passed out of vision.

Rodgers was intensely relieved. At first he feared a collision with the big eagle. He believes it was frightened off by noise of the roaring propeller.

GOVERNORS' SPECIAL TO GO 4,000 MILES

Will Visit Twenty-two Cities During Its Eastern Tour.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ending with "governors' day" at the Northwestern land products show here Dec. 20, the Western governors will travel 4,000 miles and visit twenty-three cities having a combined population of more than 12,000,000 on the "governors' special," which will leave St. Paul, Nov. 27.

The schedule is: Chicago, Nov. 28; Indianapolis, Nov. 29; Louisville, Nov. 30; Cincinnati, Dec. 1; Dayton and Columbus, Dec. 2; Pittsburg, Dec. 4; Harrisburg, Dec. 5; Baltimore, Dec. 6; Washington, Dec. 8; New York city, Dec. 9; Albany, Dec. 11; Utica and Syracuse, Dec. 12; Rochester, Dec. 13; Buffalo, Dec. 14; Cleveland, Dec. 15; Toledo and Detroit, Dec. 16; Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo, Dec. 18; St. Paul, Dec. 19.

FUNK'S ACCUSERS LEAVE FOR NORTH

Outwit Detectives Put on Their Trail By Chicago Man.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Word was received here today that John C. Henning and wife, central figures in the $25,000 alienation of affections suit filed last Saturday against Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester company have left Mobile, Ala., where they had been staying since Oct. 6.

Outwitting detectives who have been watching Henning and his wife, the couple are reported to have boarded a train in the night for the north.

Their destination is said to be in Chicago, where they are believed to be coming to confer with their attorneys.

Efforts of Mr. Funk to have the suit immediately tried have thus far proved unsuccessful.

DRINKS ACID AND LIVES

Willie Johnson, 9 Years Old, Mistakes Poison for Medicine.

Physicians Say He Has Slight Chance for Recovery.

After swallowing an ounce of carbolic acid for medicine, Willie Johnson, the 9-year-old son of Nick Johnson of Proctor, was found staggering in front of the Sugg's meat market at Proctor at 1:30 yesterday afternoon. The boy was unable to speak and was cared for until physicians could be summoned, when it was discovered that the boy had been poisoned. The boy was still alive this morning but little hope for his recovery is given out by the attending physicians. He became unconscious shortly after the discovery and has been in that state ever since. His father is a sweeper at the D. M. & N. shops and was immediately summoned after the discovery of the boy's condition.

The physicians were surprised at the condition of the boy at their arrival as it nearly took them thirty minutes to reach the scene and it is hardly thought possible that the boy could have taken an ounce of the poison and lived that long before any restoratives were given him. The doctors worked several hours over him using pumps and antidotes. In his pocket was found a bottle of strong carbolic acid, which was found later to be 92 per cent pure, the strongest form in which the poison can be procured. The child's lips are not badly burned and it is thought that he must have swallowed the acid quickly.

An investigation later showed that the boy had found the acid in an alley near his home, and had told his brother that it was good for colds. The brother said that the bottle was full when it was found and it is now estimated that the boy must have swallowed nearly an ounce. The boy is in the care of several physicians at present and every possible effort to save his life is being made. There is just a chance for his recovery said one of the attending physicians this morning.

V. & R. L. MILL IS SHUT DOWN

Operations Indefinitely Suspended on Account of Shortage of Logs.

The Virginia & Rainy Lake mill closed this morning for an indefinite period owing to the inability to secure sufficient logs to keep the mill in operation. Over 200 men have been thrown out of employment.

The shutdown is expected to last but a few months. As soon as the logs begin to come from the woods the mill will again resume operations. There is enough timber in the woods to run the mill for many years but there has been trouble lately in getting it to the city. It is believed that enough logs will arrive in the next few months to guarantee operations from that time until next fall.

The mill has been running steadily for the past six months and has been cutting an average of 250,000 feet of lumber a day. The season's cut so far will amount to between 40,000,000 and 50,000,000 feet of lumber and about 15,000,000 feet of lath. The company has employed 150 men on each shift and the monthly payroll has amounted to approximately $18,000.

FAIRMONT AND ADAMS TEAMS TO MEET AGAIN.

The Fairmont and the Adams football teams will play the second game of the season at Athletic park Sunday. The first contest resulted in a no-score game and both teams are anxious to take the honors away Sunday. The following officials have been announced for the contest: Dave August, referee; Dr. Judson, umpire; Ray Fenton, field judge, and Carl Lonegren, head linesman.

EPWORTH LEAGUE QUARTERLY RALLY

"Young People Away From Home," General Subject of Discussion.

The quarterly rally for the Duluth and Two Harbors branches of the Epworth league will be held tomorrow evening at the Asbury M. E. church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street. About 300 members are expected to attend the meeting from both cities and a special program has been arranged for the evening.

The principal subject will be "Young People Away From Home—Their Perils and Temptations." Miss Martin, traveler's aid deaconess, will speak from a woman's standpoint and E. M. Morgan will talk on behalf of the young man.

William Lauterbach of the Y. M. C. A. will discuss "A Survey of the Religious and Charitable Organizations That Are Doing Work for the Young People Away From Home." Two minute talks will be given by the various members on "What I Did Away From Home."

The Two Harbors male quartet will render several musical selections during the evening and a question box is to be conducted by A. H. Davenport, B. N. Wheeler, president of the league will preside and will be assisted by Mrs. Blood, secretary.

CO-OPERATE WITH PARENTS

Teachers Will Seek Advice of Mothers and Fathers of Pupils.

The meeting tomorrow evening at the Irving school when the school teachers will be hosts to the local W. C. T. U. members, is the beginning of a campaign to bring the teachers and parents together. Prof. Foster, principal of the school, is anxious that the parents of the children attending school should know the ways and methods used in instructing the children.

"We are glad to have the school used as a meeting place for the mothers and fathers of this district," said Prof. Foster, "and we want them to co-operate with us in the teaching and bringing up of their children. The parents feel that the school is supposed to educate and bring up their children. Some of them even go so far as to leave everything to us. That should not be the way, as they also have a duty to perform that we cannot do. The parents neglect these things and think that the school can teach everything. We are willing to do what we can but we need their co-operation in the work. Such a meeting as the one to be held tomorrow evening is the kind that should be adopted all over the city to bring the teachers and parents closer together in the future."

Several meetings will be held to further Prof. Foster's new plan. Prominent club women are delighted with the suggestion and are already making plans for several meetings. A number of women have suggested evening entertainments for the children to be held at the schools so that they could be kept off the streets at night. The latter plan may be worked out later.

FALLS FROM PILE DRIVER

Superior Man Sustains Injuries Which May Prove Fatal.

Victor Johnson, who has been working on the pile driver at the new Carnegie docks at West Duluth, was seriously injured in an accident this morning. One of the boards slipped and knocked him off the machine throwing him to the ground. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and taken to St. Mary's hospital where it is thought that his injuries will be fatal.

Fesler Will Speak.

The West Duluth Commercial club has instructed L. A. Barnes to invite City Attorney Bert Fesler to address the club at its meeting tomorrow evening. It is probable that he will accept the invitation to address the meeting as Mr. Barnes expects to hear from him some time today. The subject of the address will be "Municipal Lighting."

Mission Meetings.

A series of five mission meetings will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Swedish Mission church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Green street. A special program of speakers has been secured for the series as well as several musical selections for each meeting. Three services will be held Sunday. Rev. K. E. Forsell of Minneapolis, Rev. P. Wellander of Superior, Rev. P. Lind of Virginia and Rev. C. V. S. Engstrom, pastor of the local church, will be the speakers.

West Duluth Briefs.

Thirteen West Duluth men were admitted in the Duluth Owls' lodge last evening. A special initiation program was held including addresses by the officers and new members.

A chicken pie supper and sale of fancy articles will be held Oct. 24 by the St. James' Catholic church at Wade's hall.

Dean Holt left for Virginia this morning where he will visit a number of his friends and relatives.

Mrs. Joseph Anderson, 220 Sixty-first avenue west will entertain the Little Girls' Sewing Society of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church at her home Saturday afternoon.

The New Duluth Commercial club is making an active campaign for members for the club in that section of the city. The present members have divided in two parties in a competition for new members.

An athletic exhibition will be given tomorrow evening at the Owls' hall for the benefit of Richard Johnson. Martin Johnson and Fred Hass will wrestle for the city title.

Rev. C. G. Olson and Rev. J. A. Krantz will leave Tuesday to attend a missionary meeting at Oak Lake, Pine county. Services will be held in the afternoon and evening.

The West Duluth Republican club will meet the first Saturday in November and discuss probable candidates for the aldermanic position in the Eighth ward.

ARRANGING FOR LAUDER'S VISIT

General Manager of William Morris Interests in the City.

Edward L. Bloom, general manager for the vaudeville interests controlled by William Morris, and first advance courier heralding the approach of Harry Lauder, the celebrated Scotch comedian, arrived in Duluth today.

Mr. Bloom is the general commanding the field activities of the tour of Harry Lauder, and consequently spoke authoritatively of the coming of Lauder on Tuesday, Nov. 14, to the Lyceum theater for matinee and night.

Mr. Bloom is blazing the trail for the entourage moving through the country on private cars with special trains. William Morris himself is traveling with his star and associate players.

"The present tour of Harry Lauder promises to be the most successful of the four tours the great comedian has made in this country," declared Mr. Bloom shortly after his arrival. "Although his visit is limited to seven weeks, public interest in his appearance is even greater than we expected, and thousands of people who would like to see the clever Scotchman will have to await his return in 1913.

"William Morris, the ingenious showman who 'made' Lauder in this country, and who is personally directing the present tour, paid $15,000 to the English booking syndicate for the seven weeks Lauder will spend in this country. Mr. Morris paid this amount aside from the weekly salary of $5,000 which Lauder will receive.

"The same William Morris has proven himself the most potent vaudeville factor in this country. He has brought celebrated artists at fabulous salaries into the two-a-day end of the show business, and has made continuous appeal to the more cultivated tastes of vaudeville patrons."

Officials of Corporation Decline to Explain Action.

New York, Oct. 19.—Officials of the United States Steel corporation declined today to break their silence in regard to the significance of their decision to cancel the corporation's lease of the Great Northern ore properties.

Chairman E. H. Gary was in consultation with other officials, but it was said that the board of directors had not decided definitely upon the plan of action to be pursued by the corporation in divesting itself of its interest in the huge ore beds in the north.

In the absence of an official explanation, Wall street generally came to the conclusion that the Steel corporation's move was due to its determination to avoid the charge of monopolization of ore lands, or to escape from an arrangement which had been proved unprofitable financially, perhaps to both causes.

The statement of the commissioner of corporations in his recent report to President Taft that the Steel corporation maintained a monopolistic position largely because of its control of ore holdings and the transportation of ore, was cited in support of the theory that the company had determined to avoid further criticism of this nature.

TRAIN CALLER IS SERIOUSLY HURT

Assault on Centralia, Iowa, Man Is Laid to Strikers.

Centralia, Ia., Oct. 19.—W. T Berg, train caller for the Illinois Central since the strike began, was attacked and seriously injured by alleged strikers early today.

Talk of Arbitration.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 19.—An appeal for arbitration probably will be made by the striking employes of the Harriman lines, according to statements made at the headquarters of the strikers in this city. While W. E. Bower, general secretary of the federation of employes of the Illinois Central railroad, declined to be quoted, it was admitted by others that the national officers of the federation are considering that as a means of ending the strike.

OBITUARY

Winfield Scott, pioneer lumberman of Wisconsin, died in Madison Sunday night, aged 78 years. He went to Wisconsin in 1850, and was in the lumber business in Sheboygan and Oshkosh. He retired and moved to Madison about nineteen years ago.

Monroe H. Kulp, familiarly known as "Farmer" Kulp, who served in the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth congresses, died at Shamokin, Pa., Oct. 19. He was one of the Republican leaders of the state at one time and was a staunch follower of the late Senator Quay. Mr. Kulp was 53 years old.

WOLF BUSINESS FLOURISHING

Hunters Near Lakeside Making "Pocket Money" From Bounties.

Trapping and killing wolves appears to be assuming the proportions of a good business proposition in the eastern end of the city.

One was brought into the office of the city clerk this morning by J. Stoken, who had trapped it outside of Lakeside. Yesterday, another was brought in by Walter Gray, being the fourth or fifth which he has killed in the vicinity of Riverside park the last few weeks. A peculiar coincidence was the fact that one fore foot of each wolf was off. They had evidently been trapped once before, but got away after leaving the fore paw in the trap. The county pays a bounty of $15 for each full grown wolf.

COPPERS BULGE NEAR THE CLOSE

Copper stocks made a sudden advance near the close of the session today. It seemed to be due in the main to an increase of ⅛c in the price of electrolytic copper to 13½ cents by practically all copper-producing and selling interests. The advance of the price of the metal was the result of a rather heavy volume of business with Europe and domestic consumers within past few days. On Tuesday and Wednesday Europe was an anxious bidder in this market and while no estimates of the total sales made can be obtainable, it is understood that a very substantial business was done especially by the Amalgamated interests. New York metal houses with German connections report more confidence in the industrial situation in that country. While no actual transactions have taken place at 12½ cents as yet, it was stated today that business has been done at 12.47 cents for December delivery. Domestic consumers have been fair buyers for November and December and several of the independent producers are well sold into the last month of the year.

Fluctuations of the copper share market were few, narrow and indecisive up to noon today. Neither the bears nor the bulls seemed to have any marked advantage at any time. There was not a great deal of trading, for nobody seemed in a great hurry either to buy or sell. Dee of Boston early in the day wired that in his opinion the copper market would see a lower level generally, before there was any considerable rise. The general stock list at New York was about as dull and indecisive in its movements, as were the coppers. There was an announcement of an improvement in the pig iron market, with numerous sales and inquiries. It was also reported that the railroad equipment market was better, and that the Pennsylvania was figuring on about 1,100 cars. The Iron Age said that the prospect of lower ore rates was likely to check the proposed wage reductions. These pieces of news, while bullish in their character, did not have any appreciable effect on the stock market. Among the day's movements of the coppers were the following:

Amalgamated, yesterday's close, $51.37½; today, $51.62½, $51.75, $51.25, $52, $50.87½, $51.50, $52, $52.75. Butte Coalition, yesterday, 14.75 bid, $15.25 asked; today, $15, $14.87½, 15.12½. Calumet & Arizona, yesterday, $48.50 bid, $49 asked; today, $48.75, $48, $48.50, $48.50. Giroux, yesterday, $3.75 bid, $3.81¼ asked; today, $3.75, $3.87½. Greene Cananea, yesterday, $5.81¼ bid, $5.93¾ asked; today, $5.93¾, $5.87½, $5.93¾, $5.87½, $5.93¾. North Butte, yesterday, $24 bid, $24.25 asked; today, $24.12½, $24.25, $24.12½, $24.50, $24.75. Keating, yesterday, $2.25 asked; today, $2.25 asked. Butte & Superior, yesterday, $8.50@9; today, $8.50@9. Cactus, yesterday, 17@18c; today, 16c, 18c, 17c, 18c.

Amalgamated today declared its regular dividend.

HEIRS MUST PAY $450 TO COUNTY

The county will be enriched to the extent of $450, by the inheritance tax decided upon this morning in probate court to be paid from the estate of Charles S. Green, a wealthy Pennsylvania man, who died March 29, this year.

Mr. Green was a wealthy resident of Union township, Pa., and owned considerable property about the country, a part of which is located in Duluth.

The property was left to the widow and children.

The matter of the inheritance tax was taken up this morning by the attorneys and the judge of probate and the amount of the tax on the property located in St. Louis county decided upon.

SUPERIOR

COLLEGE YOUTH IS THOUGHT TO BE INSANE.

Robert C. Bernhardi, the young man who has puzzled the Superior police the past few days, has been pronounced insane by the attending physician, Dr. H. J. O'Brien. He was found wandering about the Superior streets Tuesday evening in a dazed condition and it was at first thought that he had been drugged. After watching his actions yesterday it was decided to send him to Mendota where he will be cared for at the insane asylum.

When the young man was questioned regarding his home and past he said that he had come from the Wisconsin university where he had registered and that his parents live in Milwaukee. The police have wired to both places but have not received any replies up to the present time. There is no doubt in the minds of the police that the man was formerly a medical student as his books show, but they believe that he has become insane and does not know what he is doing at the present time.

Educators Meet.

President V. E. McCaskill of the normal school, and Miss Olga Larson, county superintendent of schools, were the principal speakers at the convention of the county school boards at the normal school yesterday. Twenty-three members were present at the meetings and addresses were given by prominent educators from all parts of the state.

Church Banquet.

About 400 people attended the banquet at the new Hammond Avenue Presbyterian church on Belknap street and Hammond avenue last night. The affair was a success and the funds will be used in furnishing the interior of the new edifice. Supper was served and an interesting program of toasts and speeches followed.

The Custom-Tailored Suit

Is the Suit of Quality!

To adopt the name doesn't signify the quality! Many stores seem careless about the term "custom tailored." They apply it because they envy the quality it designates.

When we say a suit is "custom-tailored," we mean that the inner construction is different---to us it signifies a shapely suit, scientifically built with a true regard for proportion, line and detail, with the "shaping" built in by hand, and not pressed on with an iron.

A Tailormade of distinct style and lasting good looks---a suit of custom cloth, custom cut and custom finish!

This is the grade of suits we specialize in, and ours was the first store to feature such suits in Duluth. We employ several of New York's noted tailoring institutions to produce custom suits, for the three Gidding stores of Duluth, Cincinnati and New York. Extensive selections at $39.50, $45.00, $49.50, $55.00 and up.

Fancy Waists

At Special Prices.

$5 Dressy styles in white Voile and Marquisette Waists, trimmed in real cluny and Irish laces, and in beautiful hand embroidered designs. Long or short sleeves, and many in peasant-sleeve styles. Regular values $6.75 to $8.50.

$10 Beautiful colored chiffon waists, in dressy styles. Evening shades and dark colors to match suits. Only one waist of a kind. Regular prices $12.50 to $16.50.

Modish Neckwear

Pretty Neckwear, is at the height of its reign this season!—Styles were never more fetching, and neckwear never so necessary in the wardrobe of the well-dressed woman.

Beautiful styles in Fichus, Large Collars, Coat Sets, Chemisettes, Yokes and Side Frills add so much in attractiveness as to almost transform the plain or partly-worn gown—and the Smart Tailored Suit seems almost incomplete without the modish side frill.—Prices, 50c to $15.00.

Millinery

Of Good Style and Good Taste.

The Gidding Milliney section is brimful of activity! And good style, coupled with good taste permeates the entire showing! Every day contributes its share of "New Things." Always something here today that you couldn't have found here yesterday---and if you come again tomorrow, there will be other new tributes! New York and Paris Millinery, and styles of our own, that do credit to the genius of our designers. Yet the hats are modestly priced at $8.50, $10.00, $12.50, $15.00 and up.

Lighting Talks

NUMBER 79 DULUTH, OCTOBER 19, 1911

"A Condition, Not a Theory,"

in the words of the late Grover Cleveland, former-President of the United States, is what confronts this City of Duluth in the matter of Electric Light. And the sooner every citizen realizes that fact, the better it will be for YOU.

The theorizing agitators have been trying for months to feed you the hasheesh that would make you share their wild, lurid, and vitiating dream that the building of a municipal electric plant in Duluth would "strangle" the Duluth-Edison Electric Company!

Some of them have even been at great pains to paint this company as a monster of wickedness because we had the temerity to point out the FACT that a municipal electric plant here could mean only one thing—WASTEFUL AND RUINOUS COMPETITION WITH THIS COMPANY.

These political agitators made so much noise about their theory of strangulation that they induced the Council to spend FOURTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS of the taxpayers' good money for expert estimates and specifications to show how far $700,000 would go toward building a municipal electric plant.

The engineers employed by Council have a national reputation to sustain. They could not stultify themselves and say that the plant of this company could be "duplicated" for any $700,000. They do say in their report that such a plant as they have designed to cost $696,743 would be a much smaller and inferior plant. From an examination of the report it is evident that such a plant could not handle one-half of the present light and power business of the Duluth-Edison Electric Company.

These engineers also point out in their report, not once only but several times, that any municipal electric plant that could be built in Duluth WOULD NECESSARILY HAVE TO COMPETE WITH THIS COMPANY. And for that very reason they say: "In our opinion it would be unwise and unprofitable for the city to construct at this time a plant to cost more than $700,000," and they "respectfully suggest" a smaller plant to cost $696,743.

In competition with this company a municipal plant will inevitably be an absolute failure.

THE ONLY PEOPLE THAT CAN BE "STRANGLED" BY A MUNICIPAL ELECTRIC PLANT ARE THE TAXPAYERS OF DULUTH.

YOUR alderman can do his part to strangle this municipal plant folly right now. Get after him and see that he does it.

DULUTHIAN MAY DIRECT CHORUS OF 1,000 SINGERS

Duluth may be signally honored next year by the Norwegian singers of America, by the choice of Gustav Flaaten of Duluth as director in chief of the grand chorus of 1,000 singers, which will be sent to Norway in 1914 to represent the Norwegian-American Singers' association at the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the gaining of Norway's independence from Denmark.

Mr. Flaaten has the support of many prominent organizations and individuals in the association and he is also being supported by the association's monthly paper published in St. Paul. His reputation among Norwegian-American singers is such that his election is considered probable. The choice will be made at the next saengerfest to be held next summer at Fargo.

It is also probable that the Normanna Singing society of Duluth, said to be one of the best choruses in the American association, will be chosen as the elitti chorus, or the leading chorus of the grand chorus of 1,000.

A fund of $2,500 is being raised to send the grand chorus to Norway. A special steamer will be chartered to carry the great crowd and the American singers will take a prominent part in the centennial exercises.

DULUTH ELKS RESUME MEETINGS; BOYLE AS LODGE OF SORROW SPEAKER

The Duluth lodge B. P. O. E. has resumed its regular weekly meetings every Wednesday evening at the club rooms at Third avenue west and First street. During the summer months meetings were held but once a month.

Arrangements are now being made for the annual memorial service in December, at which time the principal address will be delivered by State Senator James P. Boyle of Eveleth. Senator Boyle is recognized as one of the ablest orators of the state. The memorial services are held throughout the United States by all lodges of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks on the same day to pay tribute to the memory of Elks who have passed away.

The first of the series of winter dances was given last Tuesday evening at the club rooms, which were prettily decorated for the occasion. The affair was a decided success. The remainder of the series will be given on the evenings of Nov. 21, Dec. 19, Jan. 16, Feb. 20 and March 19, all of which dates fall on a Tuesday. La Brosse's orchestra has been engaged to furnish the music.

One of the gratifying features of the meeting last evening was the report of the house committee to the effect that the cafe business showed a decided increase last month over that of the previous month. The dining room is open every noon from 11 until 2 o'clock.

"Billy Golden," who is appearing at the Orpheum this week, was initiated into the order last evening by Duluth lodge, No. 133.

Mr. Golden, whose true name is William Lutz, is now a member of Buffalo lodge, No. 23, however. His application was made to and acted upon favorably by that lodge. But traveling on the Orpheum circuit it was impossible for him to be in Buffalo long enough at one time to be admitted there. So by special arrangements the Duluth lodge put the horns on him and made him one of the antlered herd. The actor states that in becoming an Elk he has realized one of the ambitions of his life.

"THE MYSTERIOUS GRIPS"

Police Have Puzzle to Unravel Following Arrest of Jethro Medlin.

The arrest of Jethro Medlin at the Endion depot today gave to what was apparently a simple case last evening, a twist which makes it a puzzle that will probably be only solved with the arrival in the city this afternoon of Sheriff Nelson of Two Harbors. Medlin is booked as a fugitive.

Medlin was arrested this morning when he appeared at the depot to call for two suit cases, which are said to have been stolen, but the local police do not believe that he is the man originally wanted by the Two Harbors authorities. Chief Troyer believes that the man wanted by them called at his home in the East end last evening, palming himself off for a third man and wanting the chief to get the suit cases out of the depot for him.

Yesterday afternoon the police received a wire from the Two Harbors police asking them to arrest a man named Fred Bauchamp, who was wanted for jumping a board bill there. They said that the grips had been checked and that the man, if he were on the train, could probably be apprehended when he came to claim them. The watch was kept, but no one came for the grips.

Later in the evening a man giving his name as Duby called at Chief Troyer's home. He claimed that the grips were his property and said that they had been stolen from him and his sister from the Y. M. C. A. building at Two Harbors. He wanted the chief to go down to the depot and get the grips out for him. Not having a description of the fugitive wanted, the chief did not suspect that Duby and Bauchamp might be the same man, but that is the opinion he has today.

"Duby" said that he had seen "Bauchamp" take a car downtown from the Endion depot. He said that he knew where "Bauchamp" was liable to be, and led the detectives a long chase about the city to search for "Bauchamp." The chief believes that "Duby" was "Bauchamp" and that he was trying to make his bluff good and get the grips.

This morning the grips were again watched and Medlin came to claim them, whereupon he was arrested. But it seems that he is not the man wanted at Two Harbors. The theory is that "Duby" or "Bauchamp" asked him to claim the grips for him, while he staid out of sight, hoping in that manner to get possession of them without running chances of being arrested. Medlin stated at the depot that the grips were his property, but they contain the clothes and papers of "Bauchamp" or "Duby." The grips were being held for the board bill and are classed as stolen when taken under those circumstances.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Forbes Stock company in "Regeneration."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

Perry Golden is this week playing the role of Mickey, one of the toughest of the Bowery associates of Conway. Mr. Golden is an exceedingly tough looking specimen and his friends who are much interested in the role he does each week have not recognized him in the disreputable looking Mickey without the aid of the program. "Regeneration" is a realistic play and those who had a curiosity to see the real Bowery have rather lost their interest after the impressive first act of this play. The surroundings and the people have not proved so attractive that many would care to inspect the district personally.

"Regeneration" is proving one of the most popular plays offered by the Forbes Stock company. The star and his assistant players are giving a splendid performance. The play has never before been presented in Duluth. "Regeneration" will be repeated every evening this week and there will be a Saturday matinee.

Next Sunday afternoon the Forbes company will present "The Man From Mexico" and the piece will be repeated during the entire week.

Before fate washed Mr. and Mrs. Jack McGreevy into the pleasant harbor of the Orpheum circuit, they were tossed about on the theatrical seas for many years, playing "bush" circuits, barnstorming, doing the "ten-twent'-thirt'", and occasionaly filling in at medicine shows. Now they are one of the recognized hits of Orpheum time, but until about three years ago their experiences would outclass those told of in the famous story of stage life, "The Actors' Boarding House."

"I was born a 'Rube,'" said Mr. McGreevy last evening at the Orpheum. "I was raised a 'Rube,' and I am not ashamed of being a 'Rube'. Perhaps that is why I have finally been successful in vaudeville, for I only have to overact my own character a little to portray a 'Rube.'"

Mr. McGreevy does add a good many years to his age in his stage work, however. On the stage he is a doddering old countryman, while in real life he is a strapping, raw-boned, young chap of the lean, muscular type.

Mrs. McGreevy appears in real life much as she does on the stage, except for her clothes. She is a living denial of the oft repeated claim that dancing reduces weight, for Mrs. McGreevy is a surprisingly graceful dancer for a woman of her weight, and she has been dancing for years, in spite of her avordupois.

The public has seen dog acts of every description but Anna Buckley's Dogs at the Empress are just about in a class by themselves. The act uses a setting to represent a village, Dogville. Each dog has his part and they present a regular little play. The offering gets away from the stereotyped trained dog act and is a very pleasing novelty.

Harry Thomson, an old favorite, is back again with a budget of humor and wit. Mr. Thomson's imitations of the various characters seen about a police night court are extremely funny and are making a great hit this week. Rawson and Clare are presenting a delightful specialty which is a winner. Both are clever and their offering has just a breath of childish simplicity which endears it to the amusement loving public.

The musical end of the program falls to Newell and Niblo, who presents a series of popular and classic selections of the saxophone and xylophone. Both has mastered these difficult instruments and their's is a bright spot on a very good bill.

FIGHTS HIS OWN BATTLE

Little Emil Erickson, Orphan, Tells Police a Pathetic Story.

Mother and Father Dead—He Carries Water for Living.

A pathetic little figure of a boy, with a sad story to tell, was brought into police headquarters this morning for investigation, it being reported that he was a runaway.

But the lad claims that he isn't a runaway and that he is staying out of school because he has to work for his living. He says that his name is Emil Erickson and that he thinks he will be 14 years old some time this month, but he doesn't know on which day.

Emil states that he is an orphan, his father having died six or seven years ago and his mother some time during the year following. It appears that he and his brother, about 8 years old, were left $1,000, probably insurance money, which was divided equally between them.

Emil seems to have a good grasp of the facts and able to talk of them intelligently. He states that the money was apportioned equally between the two of them, and that they were sent to live with an aunt near Woodland. A few weeks ago he says that he was informed that his half had been exhausted and that he would have to quit school and get a job. To make it easier for him to stay away from school it is said that his aunt wrote a note to his teacher informing her that he would be absent for a month, giving the impression that he would be out of the city.

But instead of going for the implied visit somewhere, Emil, it seems, had to get out and rustle for a job. He was a good hustler and landed a place with a contractor out in that end of the city, carrying water to the men at 75 cents a day. At least that is what he says the agreement was, but that he doesn't know positively what he has been making as he has not yet received his first pay. The boy says that he has been boarding at the home of his aunt since he had to get out and hustle on his own account. He says that his brother is also living at the same place.

Emil did not look as though he had been having an easy time of it. He appeared healthy, but his clothes were far from the best and he was covered with mud from head to foot, while his hands showed more signs of hard work than those of many a laboring man.

Up to noon today the authorities did not know what disposition would be made of his case. They state that he should at least remain in school until he is through the eighth grade, being now in the A fourth. He will probably be taken to the home of his aunt this afternoon and an effort made to arrange to have him continue his studies.

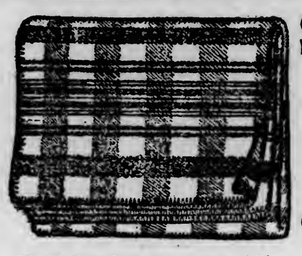

The Test of Quality.

It's easy enough to call the bluff
Of the fellow whose stack is shy;
It's easy to make the road more rough
By letting a boulder fly.
It's easy to sneer at the genius queer
Who strives for a purpose grand;
But it takes some nerve to approach him near
And lend him a helping hand.
It's easy to raise the ecstatic lays
For the hero at fortune's height;
It's easy to echo the songs of praise
That sound when he gets in right.
But the man whose heart plays the finest part
Is the one who can bravely stand
By the man who has made an unlucky start,
And lend him a helping hand.
It's easy to take what is handed you
When you're out for an evening's cheer;
But the man of sense, with a reason tense,
Orders golden grain belt beer.
Get suplied from your dealer,
Or duluth branch minneapolis brewing company.

WOULD RAISE PAY OF FEDERAL JOBS

Army Paymaster's Report Praises Government Employes.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Tribute to the government employe is written in the annual report of Paymaster General Charles H. Whipple of the army, in a plea for an increase of salary and a system of retirement when the employe reaches the age of incapacity. Referring to the statistical increase of the cost of living of 50 per cent during the last fifteen years, without a corresponding rise in pay, Gen. Whipple says the increase is asked not as a reward for past services, "but as an actual necessity." He says:

"There is no class of employes today more deserving of recognition in the matter of an increase of compensation and retirement with reasonable pay than the government clerks. Their lives are given to the government; their ambitions and efforts directed in the channels of their daily tasks, and it would certainly seem that these conditions should be recognized and the scale of wages increased at least to a degree which would be somewhat commensurate with the present high cost of living."

Salaries Same as 1870.

The salaries of the clerks in his office, he says, have not been increased since 1870, in face of a 50 per cent increase in the cost of living.

To attain and maintain an efficiency, impossible under the present law, Gen. Whipple recommends that at least 50 per cent of the paymaster's department be made permanent details. This could be obtained, he says, by making the majors and higher grades permanent.

He also recommends that the period of detail to the grade of major, lieutenant colonel and colonel be extended from four to six years, as, under the present order of things, it is not until an officer's four-year detail is drawing to an end that he has attained the highest point of usefulness.

FAREWELL DINNER BY REV. W. KISSIN.

Rev. W. Kissin of 618 Sixth avenue east, who has been at the head of the Talmud Torah school here since its commencement about four years ago, and who will leave shortly for St. Paul to make that city his future home, gave a farewell reception at his home last evening. About forty of his friends and supporters of the school were present. Light refreshments were served during the evening.

Toasts were called for by the host, and everyone present responded, expressing regret at Rev. Kissin's departure from this city, and wishing him even greater success in the larger field that he is to enter.

ADMITS HELPING ROB FARMHAND

Laborer Then Implicates Employer Before Moorhead Grand Jury.

Moorhead, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Edward Lindey pleaded guilty this morning to complicity in the robbery of a fellow farmhand named Patterson of $890. He then testified against his employer, Rice, and told the grand jury Rice and he faked a holdup to get Patterson's money. Lindey was sentenced to the state reformatory. The record of Rice has been investigated. He served a term in Illinois for grand larceny.

Headaches Hard headaches. Dizzy, sick headaches. Burning, throbbing, splitting headaches. And the great majority are all due to constipation. Anything better than Ayer's Pills? Let your doctor decide. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

WEAK MEN, WAKE UP!

Are you satisfied to turn the grindstone for the other fellow all your life? Are you content to be a plodder all your days? There's nothing in it, and you know it. Then why not brace up and be a Man? We are making hustling, energetic men out of wrecks every day. In every walk of life you'll find these men—men whom we have saved from lives of wretchedness and despair—men who are making their mark in the world—men who will tell you that their success in life dates from the time that they began the only absolutely safe and sure cure for a weak, broken-down man.

You have seen our advertisements for over twenty years, if you have been on earth that long, and if you'll write to or consult some of the men who have been cured by our scientific methods, then why do you wait if you are weak and suffer, go down the road of self-destruction? You know you are not the man you ought to be—what's the use of bewailing your fate? We can help you! We guarantee our cures to be lasting and thorough.

If it's fresh strength and energy you want, VIM and VIGOR, that's what we can give you and you'll be a long time getting anything like that by any other man.

If your stomach don't work, refuses to digest your food; if your bowels do not move regularly; if your kidneys are weak; your liver is sluggish; if your blood circulation is poor and your blood is full of Uric Acid or other impurities; if your powers are weakening; if your Headaches, Debilitating Spells, Urinal Disorders, Irritability, Despondency, Sleeplessness or any other signs of Nervous or Physical breakdown are troubling you, stop and THINK! Don't depend upon drugs to build you up; they'll never do it. Don't you know that all such symptoms are crying out the fact as loudly as they can that the nerve-cells of your body are robbed of their power—their vitality? Don't you know that it is nerve power that operates every organ, every function of the body? Don't you know that the basis of nerve power is health? Then why not get it? Get it today! There are thousands of able-bodied men walking the streets of Duluth which we have saved from Nervous breakdown, weak kidneys and catarrhal suffering. Why go sickly and discouraged through this life while help is within your reach?

If you are feeling dull, have lost all ambition, and work has lost its pleasure for you, that's a sign that there is something wrong, and nature is crying for help. Don't refuse yourself the treatment which you know is as necessary as your bread and butter.

We are specialists in Men's Diseases only, and we are as successful in the cure of these diseases as we are in the cure of all and any men's ailments. Men, if you want a cure of your suffering, no matter what your trouble is and how long you had it, come to us and you will not look any longer for the restoration of your health. Consultation is free from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.; Sundays from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. No. 1 West Superior street, Duluth. If you cannot call, write for symptom blank to the Progressive Medical Association.

MAN INJURED BY BUCKET

Laborer at Steel Plant May Die as Result of Accident.

Second Man Injured During Erection of Cement Stack.

Nick Korach is the second victim in connection with the erection of the new cement smoke stack at the steel plant. Yesterday afternoon while working near the engine he was caught beneath a rapidly descending cement bucket and received injuries from which his recovery is doubtful.

The chimneys are made in large forms around a steel core, the cement being elevated to the top in large buckets and then dumped into the prepared forms. Korach was controlling the lever which operates the engine running the hoist and it is hardly conceivable how he happened to be under the bucket at the time. When it had been elevated to a height of fifty feet the contrivance failed to work and the bucket shot downward, pinning Korach beneath it. He was picked up in an unconscious state and immediately cared for by Dr. J. W. Wallace, who lives nearby. The man's wounds consist of gashes and bruises about the head and shoulders and it is believed that concussion of the brain will follow. He was given emergency treatment where the accident occurred and later taken to St. Mary's hospital. His recovery will depend upon the nature of the injuries to the head and Dr. Wallace is unable to determine these at present.

Tuesday afternoon, Jack Young fell about forty feet from the center of one of the stacks. He had been working on the scaffolding and lost his balance, falling to the ground. He suffered a broken rib and other minor injuries.

and the fielding a problem. The two teams have shown themselves to be as evenly matched as any that have met in a world's series, and the slightest "break" due to an imperfection of the ground might lose a game and possibly the series.

The Philadelphians believe they will take the next two games and the series.

Rely on Marquard.

The New York aggregation is relying upon Marquard to help them out of their present situation. The New York players admit that a one-game lead is a great advantage to the team that possesses it, but they feel they have more than a chance to win the championship. They point to the fact that Marquard pitched a grand game in this city last Monday and expect he can repeat the performance.

When the postponement was announced there were nearly a thousand persons around Shibe park hoping the game would be played.

Death has entered the family of one of the Philadelphia players. Reuben N. Oldring, the Philadelphia center fielder, was notified today that his sister, Lillian Oldring, had died last night in Mount Vernon, N. Y. She had been ill since July.

"My first impulse was to jump to New York," said Oldring today, "but considering the matter calmly, I have decided to stay with the club. It may seem strange for me to play baseball with my sister dead, but I can do her no good, and at this critical stage of the world's series I feel I had better remain with the team."

Oldring May Not Play.

Oldring will go to New York today and expects to be back for tomorrow's game. In the event Oldring later decides not to play, Strunk will go in center field. He played in four of the world's series games last year, making five hits and scoring two runs, his batting average being .278.

Marvel For Any Superfluous Hair

Wonderful Action of Elec-tro-la, The New Hair-Remover, Will Surprise You.

Nearly every man or woman who has been troubled with superfluous or undesirable hairs has had experience with various preparations which merely burn off the surface hair, redden the skin, and fail to kill the hair roots.

Elec-tro-la is the remarkable new hair-remover which does more than merely kill the surface hair. It goes to the hair roots, destroys them absolutely and forever.

Besides this, Elec-tro-la, instead of burning or reddening the skin as other hair-removers do, leaves the skin fresh and soft, so nobody can ever tell you have been using anything. Whether the superfluous hair is of light or heavy growth, Elec-tro-la will destroy it immediately and permanently.

Even light fuzz makes a woman look coarse. Heavy growth is humiliating, and is Cupid's worst enemy.

Make your face, arms, hands, shoulders, neck and bust look clean and exquisite by using Elec-tro-la.

The regular price is $1.00 a bottle. Your money refunded if you are not satisfied.

Just send coupon below, with name and address, together with 2c stamp to pay for postage, for a free trial package of Elec-tro-la to prove what it will do.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

CLOUDY

Anybody who doesn't enjoy this weather shouldn't live in Duluth, for he doesn't appreciate the greatest asset the city has. Duluth in the fall is a paradise to the man with red blood in his veins and Duluth's fall weather is now at its best. Clear, bright days with just enough snap in the air to keep one on the move are a delight to the true son of the North. Continued cool weather is predicted for tonight and tomorrow.

The mercury dropped to 30 deg. a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 6:32 and it will set at 5:14 this evening, giving ten hours and forty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Cooler weather prevails this morning over Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Eastern Washington and Alberta in connection with the high pressure centered over the latter district. Freezing temperatures are the rule in Western Canada and the Rocky mountain region. Snow was falling at both Denver and Prince Albert this morning. More or less precipitation has occurred throughout the Northwest, Upper Mississippi valley, Lake region and North Atlantic states as a result of the disturbances centered north of Lake Superior and off the New Jersey coast. Rather unsettled and chilly weather conditions are indicated for the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday:

Upper Michigan—Generally fair tonight and Friday; cooler tonight and with frost.

Wisconsin—Generally fair tonight and Friday; cooler in south portion tonight; probably frost tonight if clear.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Friday; cooler in northwest portion tonight; frost tonight if clear.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Friday; cooler in east and central portions tonight; frost tonight.

Montana—Fair tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature.

North Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Friday; cooler tonight with frost if clear.

South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Friday; cooler in central portion tonight; frost tonight.

Upper lakes — Moderate westerly winds; fair weather tonight and Friday; cooler tonight.

VICTORY FOR THE REBELS?

ceeding to Tien Tsin, is carrying a detachment to reinforce the American legation at Pekin. The capital is strongly guarded and there seems to be little danger of disorders there.

Prince Regent Yields.

The prince regent has yielded to the demands of Yuan Shi Kai, who, it is said, will raise his own division of troops, numbering 10,000, for the purpose of controlling the situation in the provinces of Hu-Peh and Hunan. In addition the new viceroy has been permitted to cash a personal grant of $2,000,000.

An imperial edict today places all naval and military forces in the region of the Yang-Tse-Kiang under the control of Yuan Shi Kai, who is directed to inflict rigorous punishment upon the rebel ringleaders and to appeal to "the misguided and coerced rebels" to renew their allegiance to the state.

Yuan Shi Kai is expected to start tomorrow for Hankow to assume the viceroyalty of the district formerly known as Hu Kuang province.

Official reports minimise the importance of yesterday's fighting at Hankow, describing it as a preliminary skirmish which forced the rebels to retreat. Natives of Hankow claim that the rebels are deserting.

Alarm at Canton.

Canton, China, Oct. 19.—The provincial authorities here, alarmed at the revolutionary outbreaks in Wu Chang and Hankow, are making elaborate preparations to prevent any similar movement here. As an emergency measure the importation of large quantities of arms and ammunition has been ordered. The gunboat Kungwo was dispatched to Hongkong today to convoy a ship load of war stores to this city.

Refugees at Shanghai.

Shanghai, Oct. 19.—Six packed steamers arrived here from Hankow today, carrying refugees. The steamer Belgravia was occupied exclusively by foreign passengers, who were given free accommodations at the direction of the consuls in Hankow. The ship was so crowded that many of the passengers slept on the floors of the hold. Most of the foreigners were Russians employed in the tea factories and Belgian iron workers employed in the steel works, the Han Yang arsenal and on the Pekin-Hanow railway.

The refugees declare that the whole Yang-Tse valley from Hankow to Shanghai is in the hands of the rebels, with the possible exception of one or two of the larger cities to which provincial officials have retired with their available troops.

It has been insistently stated here that Kiu Kiang, 150 miles below Hankow, is under revolutionary control. This is denied, however, by foreign officials and by the representatives of the Chinese customs service.

Tell of Massacre.

Accounts of the revolutionary attack on Wu Chang as given by the refugees today, emphasize particularly the massacre of the Manchus in that city. In the slaughter neither age nor sex was regarded, and it is doubtful, the refugees say, whether a single representative of the Manchu race was left alive there. Similar slaughter of the Manchus followed in Hankow and Han Yang when those cities fell.

The run on the Imperial bank here continues, but the officials appear to have ample resources. They are now paying out for the first time the newly-minted dragon design dollars from the mint at Nanking, the provincial capital. Their reserve of Mexican dollars was completely exhausted by the demand early in the week.

Shanghai is a hotbed of revolution and rumors of plots and counter-plots are numberless. A formal appeal has been issued by the revolutionary agents here.

Funds From San Francisco.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct 19.—Contributions to the funds of the Chinese revolutionists continue to pour into the coffers of the local agents of the rebels. The headquarters of the Chunghwa republic report that $500,000 had been forwarded to Penany, where the executive committee of the young China party is now located.

A Chinese laborer, Le Hing Hong, yesterday laid a sack containing $1,000 in gold, his life savings, on the counter of the revolutionary office. He was given $2,000 in the paper currency of the Chunghwa republic. This currency will be redeemed in gold if the revolt is successful.

Money From Canada.

Tong King Chong, editor of a Chinese paper, reported the receipt yesterday of a check for $600 from Toronto, Can., and one for $45 from Arizona.

The Chinese Free Masons of Victoria, B. C., have sold their building for $50,000 and turned over the money to the revolution. All of the local Cantonese merchants have contributed to the fund.

YUAN SHI KAI, "MAN OF THE HOUR," IN CHINA.

After an eventful career in international relations under Li Hung Chang covering fifteen years, Yuan Shi Kai on Dec. 2, 1909, was dismissed, ordered to vacate all his offices and return home. He sent his family to the foreign quarter in Tien Tsin and filed to the same place immediately after. The prince regent, appreciating the effect on the world of this event and appreciating Yuan Shi Kai's alarm, sent a special message to Tien Tsin to reassure him. He returned to his family home at Wi Hui Fu in Honan, and until now has lived there a country gentleman's life.

Yuan Shi Kai was dismissed following the death of his sovereign protector, the late empress dowager, because he was an obstacle to the reappointment of the imperial patronage and power for the benefit of the numerous impecunious members of the prince regent's family and that of the new empress dowager.

Was For Reform.

It is not generally known that his paramount idea on the death of the former empress dowager and emperor was the reform of court practices, abolition of eunuch and female influences in the palace, rescue of the boy emperor and his education on western lines.

His dismissal was called the unadvised joint act of a hysterical widow, Kuang Hu's empress, and of an irresolute regent, Prince Chun. The latter flung the edict of dismissal on the council table for approval without chance of debate. The sweeping aside of the grand council showed Yuan Shi's danger.

A majority of the foreign ministers at Pekin regarded his dismissal as an event inviting revolution, and Sir John Jordan, British minister, together with W. W. Rockhill, then American minister, on Jan. 15, 1909, jointly made formal representations to China necessitating a declaration of policy by the regency.

Protected by Americans.

Yuan Shi Kai was given asylum by the British and American authorities who feared of his life, and these powers, since that time, have not failed to let China know that they hoped for his recall. Because of this, China, on the occasion of his acceptance of the appointment to Wu Chang, sent a special message to Senator Knox to announce the event.

Yuan Shi Kai's consent to return to office comes after refusal of at least two government overtures. The most important effect to coax him back occurred in 1910, when the government appointed Lang Shao Yi president of a board in Pekin as a conciliatory measure and sent him to ask Yuan to join in arranging currency loans and pacification of the opponents of the government's policy of industrial development, by the use of foreign loans.

He agreed to come back if the regent would guarantee freedom from interference by the imperial family, court and intriguing politicians. The regent could not then give such guarantee, and Yuan remained at home. Lang Shao Yi thereupon resigned.

from the Stephenson Milwaukee headquarters.

Resented State Probe.

Attorney Black said the trunk had been sent from the state because Senator Stephenson felt the legislative committee had no authority to pry into his affairs. The papers are now in custody of the senatorial committee.

More witnesses today told of expending sums of Senator Stephenson's money. M. C. Ring of Nellisville told of receiving $945, which he testified he had expended lawfully in the senator's behalf.

It probably will be several days before the committee resumes the line of testimony begun by Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris, who on Tuesday testified he had been informed Edward Hines, the lumberman, had helped to elect Senator Stephenson.

Cook to Testify.

Meantime Wirt H. Cook of Duluth, mentioned by Morris as his informant, has arrived here, and Robert J. Shields was instructed to come as soon as he is released by the senate committee investigating in Chicago the election of Senator Lorimer. A dozen other witnesses who are wanted to testify in connection with Morris' statements also have been asked to appear. Morris was released subject to recall.

Eight witnesses yesterday told of small amounts of money they had expended out of the Stephenson fund. All of them asserted they knew of no money being used corruptly, as charged.

One of the charges was that Senator Stephenson, while a candidate, paid money to other candidates to the legislature in violation of the state law. Thomas Reynolds, who was elected to the legislature which elected Stephenson, admitted he had received $260 because of his activity in the senator's behalf, but he declared he had performed the work before he himself became a candidate.

was considered possible that he would terminate it today.

Further examination of Talesman Edward C. Robinson was set for today. Robinson said late yesterday that he was opposed to unions because he was opposed to strikes.

Mode of Procedure.

The course of challenges, under California procedure, promises much work ahead before a jury is empaneled, regardless of the way the court may rule. The defense, which tentatively has passed seven talesmen as to cause but may return to some of them, will continue until the quota of twelve is obtained. Then the state under District Attorney John D. Fredericks, will go over those twelve, to see if any are to be challenged for cause.

Whenever one man is successfully challenged, another will take his place, and the defense will first examine him, followed by the state. When finally twelve men, all having escaped successful challenge for cause, are in the jury box, each side will have the privilege of peremptory challenge. Of these the state has ten and the defense twenty. The state will challenge first, then the defense, and so on alternately, until the state's ten peremptory challenges are used up.

This will leave the defense with ten challenges, to be used on other talesmen as they replace those peremptorily removed.

Pinch on Last Man.

In many instances, under this procedure, the court decisions show that the pinch comes on the last man, where all peremptory challenges of both sides are exhausted and challenge for cause is not allowed. All appeals thus far cited have been in such instances.

Beyond this, if at any time in the trial, reason is found or thought to have been found for challenge for cause, such challenge may be made. If it is granted, another juror must be found and the work of presenting testimony begun all over again.

Six theoretical court days have elapsed in the progress made thus far, but one was Saturday, with only a two-hour session and the first days' session lasted only about an hour and a half.

While new angles are developed daily in examination of witnesses, much of the questioning has become somewhat a matter of form and counsel for the defense took turns today, relieving each other of the wearisome work of interrogating talesmen.

Jurors Get Attention.

Efforts toward further comfort of jurors are being made by Sheriff Hammell. Nearly every talesman is over 60 years old. One is 68 and others are 65 or over. Because the trial is likely to extend to an unusual length, grave concern is being manifested to see that every possible aid to the comfort of these men is provided.

The long morning automobile ride through the parks is almost an institution, and brought the men today to the court room red-cheeked and refreshed. The chairs in the box are high backed, leather cushion affairs, in which almost any comfortable attitude may be assumed to lessen the monotony of sitting for hours. Two recesses are granted daily.

Singing, playing cards and the perusal of magazines and books pass the time between dinner at 6 o'clock and bedtime.

Should the health of any juror become affected during the progress of the trial all work done up to that point would go for naught.

SENATE COMMITTEE ASKS BRODERICK IF HE BRIBED HOLTSLAW

consin legislature and other legislatures?"

"No," replied Shields, "that is not true. I have gone to Madison at times during sessions of the legislature to get copies of bills pending there, but that is all. I did not appear before any of the legislative committee, or have anything to do in legislative matters."

Shields completed his testimony before the Lorimer committee late in the afternoon and departed for Milwaukee, it was said at his hotel.

Shields testified that C. F. Wehe of Chicago called him at Superior by long distance telephone in the latter part of April, 1911.

"Mr. Wehe asked me if I had read the testimony of a man named Burgess before the Helm committee at Springfield Ill. I told Mr. Wiehe that I had and that I knew Burgess."

Summoned by Wiehe.

"Mr. Wiehe asked me to come to Chicago," said Shields.

"What was the conversation between you and Mr. Wiehe, after you reached Chicago?" was asked.

Shields announced that Wiehe asked him if he (Shields) thought it would be possible to find some person who was aboard the train on which Burgess had met Edward Hines and Wiehe March 7, 1911, at which time it was charged that Wiehe had boasted of using money to elect Lorimer.

The witness said he found several men who had been on the train, and that he secured affidavits from three of these purporting to refute the testimnoy of Burgess before the Helm committee.

In securing the affidavits, related Shields, he went to Montreal, Moosejaw, Alberta, Seattle, Kansas City, West Baden and Humboldt, Iowa. At the latter point Shields saw Frank Gotch, the wrestling champion, who also had been on the train.

"Gotch told me the people in that section of Iowa were not very friendly to Lorimer and that he didn't want to become involved in the matter," said Shields.

Affidavit by Gotch.

"Finally, Gotch sent for his lawyer and his lawyer asked him if he had overheard any such conversation as that testified to by Burgess. Gotch said he had not, and his lawyer told him that there could be no possible harm in signing an affidavit to that effect.

"So Gotch signed an affidavit. His name completed the list of eight passengers who had been on the same car with Mr. Hines and Mr. Wiehe on the night of March 7."

Shields paid his expenses during this trip and some subsequent trips by drafts drawn on the Edward Hines Lumber company.

"Did you ever receive any compensation from the Edward Hines Lumber company for these services?" asked Senator Kenyon.

"No, I did not."

"What was your annual profit from the business of the Edward Hines Lumber company amounting to?"

"Well, my profits on the insurance business they give us is about $20,000 a year."

HEAR TALKS ON CONVICTS' HEALTH

Prison Congress Delegates Also Discuss Wages of Prisoners.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 19.—Tuberculosis among prisoners was the topic of discussion at the morning session of the American prison congress here today. The question of compensation for the families of prisoners was scheduled for discussion at the afternoon session. A paper by William H. Venn, parole officer for Michigan, strongly opposed the contract system. He said the state, municipality and the prisoner or his family and not a contractor should receive the profits of the convict's labor.

One of the most interesting contributions to the discussion was the report of Commissioner Eva Booth of the Salvation Army, chairman of the standing committee of discharged prisoners.

Baltimore was agreed upon last night as the meeting place of the congress of 1912, which will be held some time between Nov. 10 and 28.

"BLIND SQUAD" ON TRIAL IN CHICAGO

Officers Who Failed to Stop Gambling Face Commission.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Five patrolmen and three police sergeants, constituting the so-called "blind squad," who testified that they had not seen the open gambling at the American league ball park Labor day, were placed on trial before the civil service commission today. Counsel for the men agreed to admit that there had been gambling near the park.

The trial of the eight men on the same charges for which Lieut. Walsh and Patrolman McClellan were discharged, caused an interruption in the plan to question all commanding officers as to the general orders about gambling and vice.

LAURIER GOVERNMENT TO BE INVESTIGATED.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 19.—A commission will be appointed by the government to make thorough investigation of the business transactions of its predecessors. The Liberals were in power for fifteen years, and records of all their dealings are now in the hands of the Conservatives. The investigation will include fourteen departments of the government and will require about two years.

How to Have Red Lips!

The girl with red lips and pink cheeks may be thankful, for both denote health—vigorous, forceful, magnetic health, and while it may be impossible for some to attain owing to morbit states or health, yet a vast majority of seemingly healthy young women and men are almost colorless, because of a lack of red blood corpuscles. When the blood is improved and enriched with these red corpuscles, the weight increases and a beautiful tint appears in the cheeks, while the lips assume a healthy red color. Many physicians and beauty doctors prescribe three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets which are said to invariably increase the red blood corpuscles after a course of treatment lasting several months. The nervous system and general health also improve rapidly. The best physicians and apothecary shops supply this tablet in sealed packages.

CATARRH OF THE KIDNEYS NOT ALWAYS RECOGNIZED.

A Cold Settled in Kidneys, Causing Serious Trouble. Pe-ru-na Restores Health.

MR. JOHN N. WATKINS.

CATARRH of the kidneys is a very much neglected disease.

It is not until the disease has a firm hold upon the kidneys that the patient begins to realize that there is some derangement of these organs.

The slight backaches, the feelings of lassitude, and other warning symptoms of kidney disease are overlooked.

They are not serious enough to detain the patient from his regular work.

Even when he discovers that the kidneys are affected, he does not recognize the difficulty as being caused by catarrh.

Catarrh is sometimes so very gradual in its approach and its earlier symptoms cause such slight discomfort that it is not noticed.

However, when it is once firmly seated in the kidneys it becomes a difficult disease to exterminate

Indeed, catarrh of the kidneys is more serious than catarrh affecting some of the other organs of the body.

In the kidneys it is liable to terminate in Bright's Disease or diabetes, both of which are recognized as very serious ailments, if not fatal.

The thing to be done, when a cold or catarrh of the kidneys is discovered, is to take some internal, systematic catarrh remedy, one that relieves the catarrhal disturbances and thus removes the cause of the difficulty.

Such a remedy has been found in Peruna. It relieves catarrh, no matter where it may be located in the body — whether in the more exposed membrances of the nose and throat, or whether in the remotest part of the kidneys.

PE-RU-NA FOR KIDNEY DISEASE.

That Peruna is at once the safest and most reliable remedy for catarrh of the kidneys is proven by the many testimonials written by those who have experienced its benefits.

The testimonials given here are only specimens of the many testimonials on our records, pertaining to the relief afforded by Peruna in severe cases of kidney trouble.

Mr. John N. Watkins, 3431 A Crittenden St., St. Louis, Mo., writes:

"Among all the greatly advertised medicines for kidney and bladder trouble there is nothing which equals Peruna. I suffered for several years with this trouble, spent hundreds of dollars on doctors and medicine and all to no purpose, until I took Peruna.

"One bottle did me more good than all the others put together, as they only poisoned my system. Peruna cured me. I used it for four months before a complete cure was accomplished, but am truly grateful to you. The least I can do in return is to acknowledge the merits of Peruna."

Catarrh of Kidneys

Judge C. J. Park, R. F. D. 4, Greensboro, Greene Co., Ga., writes: "For a long time I was troubled with catarrh of the kidneys, and after taking Peruna I feel like a new man. I think it the greatest catarrh medicine of the age, and believe it will cure any case of catarrh on record."

Kidney Trouble, Weak Back

Mr. M. Broderick, 706 East 46th St., Chicago, Ill., writes: "I have been suffering from a weak back and kidney trouble for some time and have been able to find relief only through the use of Peruna. During the winter season I usually keep a bottle of your medicine in the house, and by taking a dose at night I am feeling fine the next morning.

"Some of my friends assure me that Peruna is equally as good for their various ailments, but I do know that for kidney trouble and suffering from a weak back it has no equal."

WEST END CHANGE IN WARD LINES

Transfer of Precinct From Seventh to Sixth Ward Advocated.

More Equitable Distribution of Voting Strength Would Be Result.

Many West end business men are in favor of redistricting the Sixth and Seventh wards so that the voters will be more evenly divided. They say that as it is now nearly all the men in business on Superior street live in the Seventh ward and will favor the change.

The new plan would take away about a third of the voters from the Seventh and give them to the Sixth which is half as large as the former ward. The Seventh ward is too large, anyway, a number of the men say, as it extends from Twenty-first avenue west to Central avenue in West Duluth. The first precinct should be placed in the Sixth ward they say. The change would place the dividing line at Twenty-fourth or Twenty-fifth avenue and would give each ward almost equal voting strength in the elections. It would also place all the business section in the Sixth ward.

The fourth and fifth precincts of the Sixth ward now have only 100 voters, whereas at one time they were among the most populous sections in the city and cast about 500 votes. Those precincts included Rice's Point which has since been occupied by railroad yards, docks and factories, thus reducing the vote in that section. Most of the voters have moved to the western end of the city, considerably reducing the vote of the Sixth ward. The men behind the movement are planning to have the change in effect before the next city election.

ADDRESS TO YOUNG MEN.

Rev. P. Wellander of Superior Advises Youths to Have Aim in Life.

Rev. P. Wellander of Superior addressed the gathering at the Swedish Mission bazar last evening held at the church auditorium, Twenty-second avenue west and Second street. He spoke on "Manly Men" and advised the young men of the audience as to their future course in life. He told them to always have an object in their daily course of action and that they should work for that main aim, if they wish to become men among men.

Mrs. J. J. Daniels, wife of the pastor of the Swedish Mission church, will address the gathering at the bazar this evening. Her subject will be "Winsome Christian Women," and the address will be given directly after the musical program arranged for the evening. The bazar will continue the remainder of the week and prominent speakers have been secured for each evening.

SIMONSON DENIES SCRUTINY OF LID.

The report that the United Temperance society was planning a meeting last week is denied by L. A. Simonson, chairman of the association. He said that nothing had been done the past two months as he has been out of the city too often and was unable to call a meeting of the society. The members did not plan a campaign for an investigation of the alleged violations of the Sunday closing law, during his absence nor are they planning one for the future, he says.

The committee of which Mr. Simonson is chairman consists of three representatives of each of the five temperance lodges at the West end. The society was organized several months ago because it was rumored at the time that a large number of saloon keepers and hotel proprietors were violating the Sunday closing law and the 11 o'clock closing order at night. The societies represented in the organization are the Lysglimt North Star and Morning Star lodges of the Independent Order of Good Templars, the Scandinavian Temperance society and the West end branch of the W. C. T. U.

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them with the New Drug

An eminent skin specialist recently discovered a new drug, othine—double strength, which is so uniformly successful in removing freckles and giving a clear beautiful complexion that it is sold by Boyce Drug Store under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first night's use will show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely. It is absolutely harmless, and cannot injure the most tender skin.

Be sure to ask Boyce Drug Store for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money back guarantee.

don and Senator Canestorp was made public here today.

Lieutenant Governor Gordon's reply indicates a state of mind in which he would not refuse to lead the forces opposed to Governor Eberhart in the next state convention. As he has been mentioned repeatedly by press and politicians as the logical candidate of the progressive forces and all others opposed to the present state administration, the statement of his attitude, the first made by him, is received with joy by his friends.

Since the lieutenant governor defied strong opposition and reorganized the senate along Progressive lines instead of along lines laid out by the interests, he has been brought forward as a prominent prospective figure in the next campaign. As the talk grew, the lieutenant governor became uncommunicative and he has up to this time persistently refused to discuss, not only the governorship, but state politics in general.

First Breach of Silence.

The reply to Former Senator Canestorp's letter is the first breach of the sphinx-like silence. The lieutenant governor not only indicates his receptive mood, but takes occasion to refer to the "arrogant machine-controlled methods of the party in Minnesota." He proudly declares that he is not afraid of a contest, nor would he be fearful of the result.

Sam Y. Gordon was called last year from the editor's chair in a country newspaper office to preside over the state senate. The place on the ticket was a concession to the county option forces and while the powers in control of Minnesota Republicanism last year knew of the Browns Valley man's Progressive principles, they were taken off their feet by the thoroughness with which he applied them in the appointment of committees. For the first time in years, Gordon's friends claim, the Minnesota senate was organized in the interest of the people, not of the interests.

The lieutenant governor's bold stand in the first instance made him solid with the progressive element in the state. He followed it out by eminent fairness in his position as presiding officer of the senate and his warm advocacy of progressive measures. While making friends with the Progressives he has incurred the enmity of the friends of the Eberhart administration, and a fight between him and the present governor for control of the next state convention would not be without warmth.

Former Senator Canestorp's letter and Lieutenant Governor Gordon's reply follow:

Senator Canestorp's Letter.

"Elbow Lake, Minn., Oct. 6, 1911.—Hon. S. Y. Gordon, Browns Valley, Minn.: My Dear Governor—I have been very busy attending to my affairs at home during the summer and have had no opportunity to meet and have a talk with you. So many of the newspapers have discussed your name in connection with the governorship that your friends in this section are anxious to know whether you expect to become a candidate for that office. We feel that a demand exists for a change in Republican leadership in this state, and in view of your excellent record as lieutenant governor you are regarded as the proper man to head the ticket next year. While you may feel the time is not ripe to formally announce your candidacy we believe that it is none too early to give some indication to your friends of what your plans are. The matter of campaign funds necessary to conduct a legitimate campaign may cause you to hesitate, but I feel certain that this question shoould not worry you as the people are well informed as to the issues before them and may safely be trusted to do the right thing at the proper time.

"Trusting that you will yield to the desire of your friends that you become a candidate and believing that you should definitely make known your intentions at an early date, I beg to remain, yours respectfully,

"OLE O. CANESTORP."

Lieutenant Governor's Reply.

"Browns Valley, Minn., Oct. 11, 1911.—Hon. Ole O. Canestorp, Elbow Lake, Minn.: My Dear Senator—I received your very kind letter of the 6th upon my arrival home today. In reply permit me to say that I have been solicited by many persons of high standing in various parts of the state to become a candidate for the governorship next year, but I have refrained from making a statement, preferring to delay my decision until I had had an opportunity to more fully ascertain the sentiment of the people throughout the state.

"I have come to the conclusion that there is widespread opposition to the present arrogant machine controlled methods of the party in Minnesota and that there is strong demand for a change, but I am not so sure that I am the man to lead the opposition in the governorship fight in the next state convention. I will say this, however, I am not afraid of a contest, but there is a great deal more at stake than the gratification of the ambition of any individual. The interests of the people and the party must be kept foremost in mind.

"In my opinion soon after the first of the year will be sufficiently early to open a campaign and if at that time I consider that conditions warrant it, I will announce my candidacy for the governorship in a statement of my position on the political issues in a manner that cannot be misunderstood.

"You are at liberty to make known the contents of this letter to any of my friends who may be interested. Very truly yours,

"SAM Y. GORDON."

Two More Bad Checks.

Two more worthless checks drawn on blanks of the Lantry Construction company, which has not had an account in a local bank for two years, turned up at the police station yesterday. One was passed on W. G. Holmes, saloon keeper at 123 West Michigan street, and the other on M. Rachlin of the Glen hotel. Each was for $16.50. J. H. Edwards and J. E. Adams are now in custody on charges of having forged the checks. The amount of those now on hand is $157.

SAWYER COUNTY LUMBER OPERATIONS TO BE LIGHT.

Couderay, Wis., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nearly all the Sawyer county lumber companies have started opening up their camps for this winter's logging operations. Wages are high and camps are filling up fast as men are plenty. From present indications, the winter's logging output through Sawyer county will be considerable less than which has been taken out the past winters, because of the large stock of lumber on hand in the yards and the slow market.

About 5,000 men will be employed in the woods through this section this winter, about one-third less than the usual number of men employed. Many of the camps will only use half crews this year. There will be about 75,000,000 feet logged in this county this winter, mostly all hemlock, balance hardwood and pine.

CULLOM MAY NOT SEEK RE-ELECTION.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Senator Shelby M. Cullom, on his way to Washington, announced to friends here he would be a candidate for re-election only on the condition that he was demanded by the people of the state.

"I do not propose to engage in any fight, or become involved in any split of the party," he said. "The people will have to make a noise loud enough for me to hear it before I will announce my candidacy."

HAUGE AGAIN ARRESTED

"Meter Inspector" Believed to Be "Doctor" and "Rental Agent."

Variety of Swindling Games Attributed to Man Thought to Be Insane.

The man who has been palming himself off in West Duluth as a doctor taking temperatures with a lead pencil, and as the owner of a rental agency in the West end, is believed to have been arrested this morning, in the person of Rasmus B. Hauge, known to the police before.

The charge placed against the "doctor" and the "rental agent" was obtaining money under false pretenses. It is claimed that he managed to secure several dollars in West Duluth under his "physician's" guise, and also to have induced several persons to make payments to him in the West end on the pretense that he had rooms to rent and needed an advance payment.

The police believe that the man is not mentally responsible. He was arrested a short time ago on a charge of trespass. He was making his way into residences on the hillside on the pretext that he was a meter inspector, but as far as was learned at that time he did not succeed in collecting any money. At that time he stated that he had been drinking and excused his actions on those grounds.

Hauge fits the description of the man who entered several West Duluth homes, and there seems to be little doubt in the minds of the police that he is the man wanted.

ARE CHARGED WITH BURGLARY

Two Young Men Accused of Having Broken Into Hardware Store.

Clifford Dwyer is on trial today before Judge Ensign of the district court charged with burglary in the third degree.

It is claimed that Dwyer, with George Oven, broken into the Johnson & Peterson Hardware company's store in the West end some months ago.

The men are being tried separately. Both have previous records in the police and juvenile courts. Both have served sentences in reformatories, it is claimed.

Oven is said to have served a sentence at Ionia, Mich., and Dwyer, it is stated, has put in some time at the institution at Green Bay, Wis.

Both have been arrested many times in Duluth and have from time to time been allowed their freedom under suspended sentence.

The police think that the men are the same who have at different times held up street car conductors in the city.

FORTY PILGRIMS WILL TRAVEL BURNING SANDS

In the presence of Imperial Potentate John F. Treat of Fargo, N. D., and officers and members of Minneapolis, Grand Forks, Fargo, Marquette and Superior Shrines forty candidates will Friday evening at the Duluth Masonic temple travel the hot and burning sands to become at the journey's end full fledged Shriners.

The initiation will be in the nature of a ceremonial and a general good time—save only for the candidates. They will be willing victims to the fun.

Two cars filled with Shriners from Grand Forks are coming for the doings. They are the officers and members of Kem temple of that city.

A big delegation is coming from Zuhrah temple, Minneapolis, and also from Crookston and other towns in the vicinity where there are members of the Grand Forks shrine. El Zagal temple of Fargo will be represented by a large delegation, as will Osman temple of St. Paul, Ahmed temple of Marquette, Mich., and Tripoli temple, Milwaukee, of which many Superior men are members.

Local Shriners will meet at the St. Louis hotel at 7 o'clock tomorrow to escort the officers and members of Kem temple, Grand Forks, to the local temple. They will meet at the same hotel at 1:30 to escort the members of the Minneapolis temple, who will arrive shortly after the noon hour. Local Shriners will appear in costume.

Imperial Potentate Treat will be a guest of Potentate W. D. Underhill of the local shrine while in the city.

IMPERIAL POTENTATE J. F. TREAT.

The class to be put through the ordeal tomorrow night will be perhaps the largest ever initiated by the local chapter.

BACHELORS PENURIOUS?

Only Two Duluthians Have Submitted to White Plague Tax.

Expected That at Least $100 Monthly Would Be Raised.

Duluth bachelors do not seem to have taken kindly to the voluntary tax of 50 cents a month for the benefit of tubercular children in the city.

Up to date Mrs. Florence Lee, visiting nurse of the anti-tubercular society, has received two responses to the 200 or 300 postal cards which were sent out.

The tax has nothing compulsory about it, but the object is so worthy that it was believed that the unmarried men of the city would gladly contribute 50 cents a month towards the work which is being carried on in this city. It was felt that that sum would work no hardship upon any man who has no one dependent upon him for support.

But those who are interested in the project state that the smallness of the number of replies is due to the fact that those who received the postal cards have overlooked them, probably putting them to one side and not thinking of them again. They take the charitable view that Duluth bachelors are not penurious to that extent, and still look for generous responses in their direction. It is hoped that $100 to $200 a month might be raised in this manner.

GRAND FORKS BOOSTER.

J. B. Wineman Says North Dakota City Is Model for Others.

J. B. Wineman, prosecuting attorney of Grand Forks, is registered at the Spalding today. Mr. Wineman is here looking up some legal matters.

"Grand Forks is one of the most prosperous towns in North Dakota," said Mr. Wineman today. "We are trying to prove a model for the other municipalities of the state. Our tax rate is comparatively low, and in addition Grand Forks is one of the best maintained cities in the Flickertail state. We are young in experience and also young in growth, but we believe we are on the right track. North Dakota has its greatest development to come and within the next few years it should develop far faster than the most enthusiastic optimist has dreamed of."

AFTER NET USERS.

Officers Seizing Nets on Apostle Islands.

Bayfield, Wis., Oct. 19.—There is considerable uneasiness in this locality among fishermen on the Apostle Islands over the action of Warden Gerhart is seizing nets of several fishermen alleged to have violated the laws. Gerhart and a lot of deputies are making the seizures.

Heretofore little effort has been made to reach the fishermen, but Mr. Gerhart stated that the law would be strictly enforced.

He and his deputies have confiscated thousands of dollars' worth of nets set out by fishermen around the island in violation of the law and they are much aroused as a result.

One of the principal industries here is fishing, scores of men throughout the island being engaged in this work, who bring their product to this city, and the people here are hostile toward Gerhart and his deputies on account of their activity.

RAILROADS

TRACKS DROP IN SINK HOLE

Traffic on Cuyuna Branch of Soo Line Is Blocked.

Ore Cars Go Down, But Rails Do Not Give Away.

Traffic on the Cuyuna branch of the Soo Line was tied up for several hours yesterday when an ore train, bound for the Cuyuna range, ran into a sinkhole near Lawler. The track at this point dropped several feet below grade for a stretch of several feet, but fortunately the rails did not give way.

The country through which the railroad runs has given the company no end of trouble from these sink-holes or places where the grade has been known to sink from ten to twenty feet into what appears to be a bed of quicksand. When the road was being built the contractors encountered these sinkholes and much trouble was experienced.

Nine ore cars went down into the hole while the train was in motion, and it is considered miraculous that a serious wreck was averted. Although the grade sank considerably, the rails still held up and the cars remained on the track. The accident occurred about 11 o'clock, and as soon as word could be sent back to the division offices in Superior a wrecker was sent to the scene. It is reported that the wrecker and derrick also came near dropping into the hole before the track was cleared.

The Cuyuna range train which is due to leave here at 2:30 p. m. was held until 3 o'clock, and then proceeded as far as Lawler. The track was fixed during the night and trains are now running over the line the same as usual.

ASHLAND WANTS CHANGE IN SERVICE.

Ashland, Wis., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Farmers living south of here are complaining of the Soo Line's train service into Ashland. They say that they can come to Ashland on the morning train, arriving here at 8 o'clock, and cannot return until 7:30 p. m.

The other alternative is to remain at Ashland over night, arriving here at 6:55 p. m. and leaving for home at 7:30 a. m. In other words, it means the loss of an entire day's time and the expense of staying over night here.

The Soo Line is distinctively an Ashland county railroad. It is the only road running through the county from north to south. It connects Ashland with every important center, from Butternut north. The Omaha connects Ashland with only one important center in the county, and that is Odanah. The Omaha and Northern Pacific pass directly from the city into another county. The Soo Line alone, runs clear through the county, passing through Highbridge, Mellen, Glidden and Butternut.

The Advancement association may take up the proposition of better train service between Ashland and the rest of the county.

DENY REPORT OF TELEGRAPHERS' STRIKE.

It was rumored in railroad circles today that a general strike of telegraphers on the Soo Line had been ordered at Chicago, but the report was flatly denied at the office of the division superintendent in Superior. What differences, may have arisen between the telegraphers and the management from time to time, say the officials, have been amicably settled.

CANADIAN NORTHERN BUYS POWER PROJECT.

MINNESOTA MAN GETS BRONZE CARNEGIE MEDAL.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 19.—Forty-seven bronze and twelve silver medals were awarded by the Carnegie hero fund commission at its fall meeting here as a recognition of heroism in saving human life or in attempts in which the life of the hero was jeopardized. In addition, cash awards were made for reimbursing loss, for relieving debt on homes and for the purchase of homes, for educational and other worthy purposes as needed, amounting to $53,036. Pensions to survivors amounting to $315 monthly also were issued.

Of the rescues, one of the most novel is that of saving a man from a wild animal. Of the others, thirty are from drowning, five from fire, two from runaway teams, three from trains, sixteen from suffocation in mines, sewer or well, and one each from an impending fall and machinery. Thirteen of the heroes lost their lives in the rescue work.

Among the awards was one to John Murdock of a bronze medal. He attempted to save boys from drowning at Clitheral, Minn., Dec. 1, 1910.

LIFE NOT A HAPPY ONE

Police Officers Have to Take Lot of Abuse, Says Judge.

Citizen's Interference When Officer Sat on Prisoner Not Warranted.

"Police officers have much to put up with and sometimes have to use prisoners rather roughly," said Judge Cutting in police court this morning.

"Their duty is made harder when citizens interfere, particularly without being fully cognizant of the circumstances."

His remarks were made in connection with the case of John Magnuson, who had been arrested on a charge of interfering with an officer.

It appeared that Patrolman George Wood had placed William Kenny and Arthur Robinson under arrest for drunkenness. Robinson is said to have started to fight and threaten to do various things to the policeman's anatomy, whereupon the latter had placed him on the sidewalk and was sitting upon him. It seems that Mr. Magnuson saw the latter part of the performance, but not the start, and that he "roasted" the policeman and wanted him to let Robinson go. He was discharged after the evidence had been heard, but the actions of the policeman were also upheld. Kenny got a suspended sentence and Robinson got $5 and costs or five days in the county jail.

SALOON ON FORT DEARBORN SITE

Historic Spot in Chicago Will Be Held By New Tenant.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—The site of Fort Dearborn, at Rush street and the Chicago river, marked with a marble tablet for the benefit of posterity, will be occupied by a saloon after Nov. 1.

The site was the scene of many bloody battles between the pioneer white settlers and the Indians when Chicago was a trading post, and has long been one of the city's historic show places.

The four-story brick building which now occupies the location was built in 1873, immediately after the Chicago fire, and recently was occupied by a wholesale grocery firm. The marble tablet was erected by W. M. Hoyt and will be allowed to stand, serving as an ornament to the outer walls of the structure to be converted into a saloon.

CAMPAIGN IS SYSTEMATIC

City Attorney Will Address Series of Meetings on Municipal Ownership.

City Attorney Bert Fesler is making a campaign throughout the city in the interests of the ratification of the issuance of $700,000 of bonds for the acquisition of a municipal electric light and power plant.

Mr. Fesler is a strong advocate of a municipally owned light plant and was one of those who helped secure the passage of the enabling act by the last legislature. Last evening he spoke before the Central Hillside Improvement club, this evening he will address the Oneota Improvement club at the Merritt school, and tomorrow evening he will talk municipal ownership before the West Duluth Commercial club. Ex-Alderman Waison S. Moore is also taking an active part in the municipal ownership campaign, and will also address the Oneota meeting this evening. Tomorrow evening he will speak before the Lakeside club on the same subject.

RED RIVER FARMERS INVESTING IN SHEEP.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Red River valley farmers will go into sheep-raising on an extensive scale during the coming year, a number of the progressive farmers having made purchases of sheep. J. W. Scott of Gilby returned yesterday from South St. Paul, where he made a purchase of 1,000 head, which he will turn loose on his farm, and over half of those are ewes.

E. Y. Sarles of Hillsboro, R. T. Kingman of Hillsboro, Anthony Stonehouse of Larimore, J. D. Bacon of Grand Forks, William Von Steinwher of Grandin, Clark Dalrymple of Casselton and other progressive farmers have adopted the sheep-grazing plan.

Last year Traill county had several good-sized herds of sheep, and they thrived exceptionally well, while in several of the middle west counties of the state the farmers have been engaged during the last year or two in sheep-grazing with very good results as a rule.

WILL DISCUSS BETTER ROADS

Fargo Commercial Club to Hear Addresses By Road Experts.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the Commercial club rooms this evening Fargo will discuss the good roads movement. The chief addresses will be by National Highway Commissioner Burrell, and State Engineer Atkinson of South Dakota. The delegation working in the interest of the Meridian line road between the Gulf and Winnipeg was unable to reach here but will come later when a second meeting will be held. Local autoists are greatly interested in the movement.

"CORNELL-I-YELL; YELL-YELL-CORNELL."

The Head of the Lakes Cornell association was organized Tuesday evening, starting out with fifteen members, at the home of Thomas Merrill, 2626 Greysolon road.

The organization is to be purely social in its character and aims, the main purpose being to bring students and former students of Cornell university, who happen to live in this region, closer in touch with each other. All who have been students at Cornell and are living at Duluth, Superior or on the ranges or anywhere within easy reach of the city are eligible to membership. Officers were elected as follows: President, Charles d'Autremont; vice president, Thomas Merrill; secretary, F. W. Hargreaves; treasurer, Clay Beckwith. Members will take turns at entetaining the association.

MARINE NEWS

ACCIDENTS ON STEAMER

Deckhand on Senator Struck By Hatch and May Die.

J. F. Thompson Accidentally Shot By James O'Connor.

Two members of the crew of the steamer Senator, which is fitting out for the grain trade this week at the Northwestern Fuel company's dock, met with accidents last evening and one may die.

A falling hatch struck Thomas Smith, a deckhand, and fractured his skull. In addition he suffered a broken jaw, dislocated hip and an injured knee cap. His recovery is doubtful.

J. F. Thompson of Buffalo, fireman, was accidentally shot by James O'Connor of Port Huron, Mich., wheelsman, last evening about 7 o'clock. Joseph Scott of Buffalo, also employed as a wheelsman on the boat, had a 32-caliber revolver and was showing it to the two men. O'Connor, understanding that it was not loaded, fingered the trigger and discharged the weapon. The bullet struck Thompson, entering below the lip. It knocked out three teeth and lodged in the back of the neck. The wound bled profusely before medical aid was summoned and Thompson was weak from the hemorrhage. It is not thought that the injury will prove fatal.

Both men were taken to St. Mary's hospital, where they are under the care of Dr. E. W. Fahey, marine surgeon.

Smith, the injured deckhand, is said to be from Belfast, Ireland, and has been in this country but a short time. Little is known of his relatives.

IN MARINE CIRCLES

John A. McGean, formerly manager of the Bessemer Steamship company, who resigned recently from the presidency of the American Linseed company, is now connected with the firm of Hanshaw, Fuller & Goodwin company of Cleveland. Mr. McGean was well known in the lake trade for many years.

The steamer Hary E. Harper, the fourth and last of the coal carriers built for the Harper Transportation company of Boston is on its way to the Atlantic coast from the Ecorse ship yards of Detroit. She took with her the whaleback barge Salem.

The Lake Superior Iron & Chemical company is actively engaged in shipping ore from Ashland to Boyne City, Mich. The Andaste cleared yesterday with a cargo of ore.

Nov. 20 is the date generally accepted by well posted lake captains and vessel owners for the close of navigation.

Repairs on the steamer J. H. Wade have been completed at the Cleveland shipyards.

It is expected that it will require about two months to complete repairs to the breakwater at the Portage Lake canal.

Excursion Boat Burns.

Saugatuck, Mich., Oct. 19.—The steamer Arundel, owned by the Crawford Transportation company, burned here yesterday and is a complete loss. During the excursion season the boat carried passengers between Chicago, Grand Haven and other Lake Michigan points.

DRINK HABIT CURED

Perfectly In Three Days

The Famous Neal Treatment Destroys Craving for Drink.

No Hypodermic Injections, No Bad After Effects, No Long Absence From Business.

This has been demonstrated in thousands of cases. In efficiency, rapidity of action, permanence and safety, the Neal Cure has no equal. It is an absolute antidote to alcoholic poisoning. It cures in only three short days. There are no bad after effects. Patients invariably leave the institute with good appetites, steady nerves and clear minds. The Neal treatment for the cure of the liquor habit is a scientific remedy and superior in results to all other so-called cures.

The Neal is a Physician's Cure for the drink habit; it is the most modern and perfect of known treatments, originated by a physician, compounded by a physician, and administered by experienced physicians. It never fails.

A written contract is given each patient agreeing to effect a perfect cure or refund the money at the end of the third day.

If you have a relative, or one who is near and dear to you, a friend or acquaintance who is drinking, speak to him kindly, urge him to go to the Neal Institute, corner Belknap and West Seventh street. You can call the institute by 'phone, either one, and make an appointment for an interview at the institute or in your home. Everything shall be sacredly confidential.

MAIDEN TRIP IS WATCHED

Schoonmaker an Experiment in Value of Still Bigger Boats.

Giant Freighter Easily Handled at Sheboygan and Duluth.

Marine interests of the lakes carefully followed the maiden trip of the largest of the big lake freighters, the Col. James M. Schoonmaker, which cleared here yesterday with a load of ore for Lake Erie. The practicability of vessels the size of the Schoonmaker has often been a subject of much discussion and the first trip of the new steamer is expected to settle it.

From reports received here from Sheboygan, where the Schoonmaker carried her first cargo of more than 12,000 tons of coal, it is understood that the big vessels was handled there as easily and unloaded as quickly as any of the large freighters now in use. The extra ten feet of the length to the Schoonmaker proved no handicap.

The vessel reached Sheboygan on Friday last and it was reported on Saturday noon that the last of her cargo had been removed, the unloading taking about twenty hours. The carrying capacity of the Schoonmaker is 14,000 tons, maximum, but only about 12,000 tons were taken to Sheboygan, owing to the fact that the cargo would have to be taken over the treacherous Limekiln crossing in the Detroit river, where a large percentage of accidents on the lakes take place. Under the present conditions, but few of the larger vessels attempt to carry capacity loads to Lake Erie ports because of the dangers at this point.

From Sheboygan, the Schoonmaker came to Duluth light for ore. She had no trouble here as the ore docks here were built with the idea that they might be used for steamers even larger than the Schoonmaker. Vessels the size of the Schoonmaker could not enter the Chicago harbor, and it is doubtful if they can do much business in the Milwaukee inner harbor. It was the coming of the 600-footers that necessitated the opening of the harbor of South Chicago and the harbor of Gary. The Schoonmaker is 617 feet long.

The sister ship of the Schoonmaker is now well under way at the Ecorse yards of the Great Lakes Engineering Works at Detroit. The new freighter will be ready for the trade at the opening of navigation next year.

REMEDY IS SUGGESTED

Ashland Should Relay Its Intake Pipes, Engineer Says.

City officials of Ashland, Wis., have written to John H. Darling, principal engineer under Maj F. R. Shunk of the United States engineer's office here, asking him if permission can be obtained from the secretary of war to prevent vessel anchorage in the vicinity of the Ashland intake pipe for the city water supply.

Mr. Darling expressed doubt that the war department would consider any such proposition and in answering a letter from City Attorney Cate of Ashland, suggested that a deep ditch be dredged and the water pipes laid there. The intake pipes which run out 3,000 feet from the ore docks at Ashland have recently been broken by vessel anchors, the first break being near the docks, and the water supply is now tainted with sewerage and unfit for use.

Mr. Darling suggests further that the pipes be laid in a new location, just outside of the government breakwater, where the pipes would be out of the way of anchors. The new location which has been suggested would also give a better supply of water. He also stated that should the present intake be relaid on the present course, a permit would be necessary from the war department in order to comply with Sec. 16, of the Act of March 3, 1899.

Mr. Darling cited to the Ashland officials instances in the Duluth and Superior harbor, where it was necessary to dig trenches thirty feet deep to lay pipes and cables so that they would be safe from vessel anchors. In his opinion, the war department will not sanction any move to prevent vessels from using their anchors while moving in, out or around any harbor. It is sometimes very necessary, he says, that vessels use their anchors in order to avoid collisions.

NO TRACE OF DERELICT.

Three Steamers Are Searching for Abandoned Steamer A. L. Hopkins.

According to word received by J. H. Darling of the United States engineer's office last evening from Capt. Brown of the Vidette at Ontonagon, the wreck of the steamer Hopkins, said to be afloat in Lake Superior in the Keeweenaw Point-LaPointe course, has not been found.

The Vidette covered a course yesterday ten miles square and running in parallel lines for a distance of eighty-five miles, but found nothing. The revenue cutter, Tuscarora, and the Gopher are today assisting the Vidette in searching for the derelict.

Barge Runs Aground.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—A coal steamer, the Robert Mills, ran aground off Grosse Point, north of Chicago, yesterday and because of its heavy load, was not expected to be lightered sufficiently to float before tomorrow.

The Robert Mills is a 256-foot coal barge. She is owned in Buffalo.

FLOUR RATES IN TANGLE

Eastern Trunk Lines Hold Out for Local Rate From Buffalo.

Flour City Line and Minneapolis Millers Appeal to Commission.

Although the Flour City steamer line is a reality and will very likely begin operation in a few days, the troubles incident to its organization are not yet over.

The claim of the Eastern trunk lines that the proportional of 9.2 cents now in effect East of Buffalo as applied to through lake and rail rates, should not be granted shipments over the new line and that the local rate of 11 cents from Buffalo to the Atlantic seaboard should apply may prove a bar to the proposed 20.2 cent rate from Minneapolis to New York. With the 11-cent rate effective from Buffalo East, a through rate of 22 cents is the best that can be figured on.

A complaint was filed with the interstate commerce commission yesterday by the Flour City line and the Minneapolis Traffic association, charging that the exacting of 11 cents from Buffalo cast by the Eastern trunk lines on through shipments via the Flour City line is discriminatory. The commission ordered that an answer be filed in the case within ten days instead of within twenty days, as is customary, and the Minneapolis people are hopeful that an early determination of the case may be obtained.

The Flour City line has filed a tariff fixing a 6-cent lake proportional on through shipments. The proportional rate on through shipments between the Twin Cities and Duluth is 5 cents. If the proportional rate of 9.2 cents east of Buffalo can be obtained, the through rate from Minneapolis will be 20.2 cents and from Duluth 15.2 cents. The attitude of the Eastern trunk lines renders it unlikely that the low rate will become effective this year. If the 11-cent rate east of Buffalo is paid, the through rate from Minneapolis will be 22 cents and from Duluth 17 cents, a reduction of 1 cent from the rates now effective.

The steamer Lackawanna, chartered for the Flour City line, left Buffalo yesterday and the Scranton is due to leave today. It is expected that they will take flour cargoes immediately on their arrival and the rate matter will be adjusted as soon as possible. A saving of 1 cent per 100 pounds on the through rate is important and the Minneapolis people believe that they can obtain the lower rate at least by next season.

DULUTH DREDGE BEGINS WORK IN THE BAD RIVER.

Ashland, Wis., Oct. 19.—Dredge No. 40 of the Northern Navigation company of Duluth is expected at Bad river today, to begin a dredging contract on Bad river.

Bad river has never been dredged. The river is quite deep in most places but bars form at the mouth and at several places on the river. The dredge will be taken on the village of Odanah, where the railroad and wagon bridges prevent further progress up the river.

Light draft tugs can go up the river now, but after the dredging is completed, the largest tugs will be able to go to Odanah.

Freighter Aground.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Although hundreds of tons of coal were dumped out of the freighter Robert Mills into Lake Michigan last night, the freighter is still aground on a sandbar off Grosse Point. The freighter went on the bar yesterday.

Case Is Appealed.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 19.—Capt. George H. Burnham, master of the stemer William Henry Mack, whole license was suspended for a year as the result of a collision between the Mack and Mitchell, which resulted in the sinking of the latter boat in Whitefish Bay, has appealed his case to Supervising Inspector Westcott of Detroit.

The masters of both vessels were held partly responsible by the local inspectors at Marquette, but by far the heavier sentence was imposed on Capt. Burnham. Capt. Westcott said on Monday that he would take up the consideration of the case at once.

HANDS WOULD BURN LIKE FIRE

Could Lay Pin in Cracks. Four Long Years of Eczema. Only Relief in Scratching. Used One Set of Cuticura Remedies. Hands Entirely Well.

"I can truthfully say Cuticura Remedies have cured me of four long years of eczema. About four years ago I noticed some little pimples coming on my little finger, and not giving it any attention, it soon became worse and spread all over my hands. If I would have them in water for a long time, they would burn like fire and large cracks would come. I could lay a pin in them. After using all the salves I could think of, I went to three different doctors, but all did me no good. The only relief I got was scratching.

"So after hearing so much about the wonderful Cuticura Remedies, I purchased one complete set, and after using them three days my hands were much better. To-day my hands are entirely well, one set being all I used." (Signed) Miss Etta Narber, R. F. D. 2, Spring Lake, Mich., Sept. 26, 1910.

No stronger evidence than this could be given of the success and economy of the Cuticura Remedies in the treatment of torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin. A single hot bath with Cuticura Soap and a gentle anointing with Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing cases and permit rest and sleep when all else fails. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are equally effective in preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands.

Although Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold throughout the world, a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book on the skin and scalp, will be mailed free on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 2B, Boston, Mass.

THREE NEW VESSELS FOR STANDARD OIL COMPANY.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 19.—The Standard Oil company has closed contracts for three new vessels and the largest of the three will be built at Lorain by the American Shipbuilding company. President James Wallace of the American Shipbuilding company is now in New York, where he closed the deal.

The new steamer will be for the lake trade and will cost close to $500,000. Work will begin within a few weeks and she will come out at the opening of navigation in the spring. The boat will have 380 feet keel, 52 feet beam and will be 28 feet deep. This will make her the largest oil carrier on the lakes.

KANSAS MAN-HUNT MAY END IN LYNCHING OF SUSPECT

Perpetrator of Bloody Murders Is Sought Far and Near.

Threat to "Send Others to Hell" Has Created Reign of Terror.

Ellsworth, Kan., Oct. 19.—After having slept only a few hours during the night, scores of determined farmers, armed with shotguns and rifles, today resumed the hunt for Charles Marzyek, the ex-convict who is suspected of having murdered the Showman family near here a few nights since as the victims lay sleeping.

So persistent have been the rumors that Marzyek has been seen in the neighborhood, that Sheriff Bradshaw, accompanied by a deputy, set out this morning in an automobile to assist in the man-hunt. The sheriff claims to have an important clew to the whereabouts of the ex-convict.

Both of the officers are heavily armed, as it is believed that Marzyek will not surrender without making a desperate fight. He is thought to be armed.

Fear a Lynching.

The impression prevails here that the farmers forming the man-hunting posse are in such a frame of mind that the suspected man would be summarily lynched should he fall into their hands. To obviate this possibility, the sheriff's officers are making a strenuous effort to capture Marzyek and spirit him away.

The humble farm home of James Vopat, the man who chiefly was responsible for Marzyek's being sent to the penitentiary and who subsequently married the prisoner's former wife, is a house of horror to all its occupants. Mrs. Vopat keeps her children huddled at her side, with a revolver or a shotgun ever within easy reach.

Vopat himself, whose testimony it was which sent Marzyek to state prison, goes about his farm too frightened to work, a revolver clutched in his hands, ready for instant use.

Terror Day and Night.

During the day Vopat and his family fear Marzyek is prowling about in the fields or in the sheds and stables awaiting an opportunity to slay them. At night they imagine he is peeping in the windows and listening at their doors.

Mrs. Vopat has stated that her former husband has sworn vengeance for real or fancied wrongs.

"He may come back," the terror-stricken woman told her brood yesterday, "but we will be ready for him."

William Showman, his wife and three children were slain with an ax in the hands of the person who afterwards registered at the Baker hotel in this city and fled during the night, leaving behind a bundle of clothing including a bloody shirt.

This was the finding of the coroner's jury, announced today, in the case of the murders of the five members of the Showman family, discovered last Monday.

The description of the Slav ex-convict, Charles Marzyek, is said to fit that of the man who left the bloody shirt in the hotel. The handwriting of "John Smith, Junction City," placed on the hotel register, is said to be idential with that in letters received from Marzyek.

Slavs in Terror.

The terror among the Slav families who were in any way associated with Marzyek's sentence to prison for wheat stealing, had not subsided early today although posses have searched the country for five miles in every direction from this city.

Ira Lloyd, the attorney who defended Marzyek in the wheat stealing case, said:

"I believe Marzyek will remain in the neighborhood until he completes his vengeance. After his sentence he told me that when he was released he would come back and kill the people who were responsible for his conviction and also their children.

"'I will put them all in hell,' he said."

Nine persons remain who fear his vengeance. These persons, all of the Slav's own race, are: James Vopat, Mrs. Minnit Vopat, who obtained a divorce from Marzyek immediately after his sentence and married Vopat nine months later; their two children, one 10 months old, the other 3 years; John Katke, father of the murdered Mrs. Showman, who testified against Marzyek; Mrs. John Katke and the three Katke children, Emile, aged 17, Annie, 18, and Mary, 20.

Served in Philippines.

Marzyek served in the Philippine war and after his return to this country deserted from the army. He has been in trouble since, for forging checks and stealing. Until he went to the penitentiary he was a constant fugitive.

GUILTY IS THE JURY'S VERDICT

Twelve Men Find for State in Case Against Toivo Ruohonen.

A jury in the case of the State against Toivo Ruohonen, charged with assault in the second degree, brought in a verdict of guilty last night.

Rouhonen, it was claimed, attacked John Grisdale with a knife during a fight on lower Lake avenue. At the time of the cutting, the men are said to have been more or less under the influence of liquor.

CALL AN EXTRA SESSION!

The Herald is very glad that the Bemidji Pioneer, the Redwood Gazette, the Anoka Herald and other live Minnesota newspapers have lately joined The Herald and the long list of newspapers that have been supporting it in its fight for an extra session of the legislature.

It is glad not only because these newspapers have plunged into a good cause—that of redeeming the state from its present ignominy—but for another reason.

If Governor Eberhart, through spunk or spite or pride or peevishness or any other silly little reason, hates to call an extra session because The Herald has demanded it, though he must know that it is his duty to call it and that it would have been his duty to call it even if no newspaper had expressed the wish of the people that it be called, he has an easy way out of his dilemma.

He can call the extra session because the Bemidji Pioneer demands it, or because the Redwood Gazette demands it, or because the Anoka Herald or any other newspaper in the list demands it, or because the people demand it.

We don't care how he does it, just so he does it. That will give the state a chance to climb out of the hole it is in now; and that's all The Herald asks.

AN UNJUST DISCRIMINATION.

The Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission is now applying a new and drastic law regulating weights and measures. This law provides for inspection of all places of business, and forbids under heavy penalty the sale or use of or having in possession false weights or measures.

As a first step in the application of this good law, the commission has decided that it shall not apply to wholesalers, and that their premises shall not be inspected.

Retailers, upon whom this ruling throws the full burden of obeying this law and supporting the expense of its enforcement, are indignant over this discrimination, and it seems to us that their indignation is fully justified.

The law, which plainly says that nobody shall sell false weights or measures, is to be construed to mean that wholesalers can sell false weights and measures but that retailers can't use them after they buy them of the wholesalers.

This ruling is the result of a protest by the Twin City wholesalers. If the first interest affected by this law is able to escape from its provisions by protesting against it instead of by having the law repealed, the retailers ought to get together and protest, too. Then maybe the law would be made completely a farce. Now it is being made only incompletely farcical.

BRYAN.

Mr. Bryan was quoted in a dispatch to The Herald of last evening as admitting that he never will be president, and as declaring that he "would rather go to his grave with the consciousness that he has done right, that he has done all in his power to give his country the best possible form of government, than to be president."

Clay said it first, and Clay and Bryan will rank much alike in history. Both were loved by an impressively large proportion of the American people. Both were disappointed in their ambition to gain the presidency.

Mr. Bryan probably is correct in saying that he never will be president. His place is fixed, nevertheless. He could hardly add much by being president to the love and honor accorded him in unstinted measure. He might detract from it. He has been right, as he saw the right, throughout his long and unusually useful career. Being human, he has made mistakes. But no thinking man, in all his public life, has charged him with being dishonest or unfaithful to the plain people to whom he early dedicated his life and energy.

THE DRUNKARD.

The drunkard is a good deal of a problem. He costs a lot of money in various ways. His family is likely to be starving or existing on public charity. When he gets drunk he is likely to break or burn something; and once in a while, when his liquor has given him unusual results for his money, he whiles the time away by murdering his family or some outsider. When he is just plain drunk he is likely to fight or be fought; and sometimes he steals or is stolen from—if he has anything left to steal. All these things mean expense to the public. There is the cost of caring for the poor whom drink has made poor; and there is the cost of trying and punishing the drunkard for being drunk or for committing crime, or somebody else for committing a crime against him.

Mostly, society isn't doing much toward the solution of this problem. In places it is trying prohibition, but that hasn't worked yet. In other places it is trying regulation, but that hasn't yet worked as it should, in part because it isn't aimed truly, and in part because those who should be helping to make it work are too busy working for prohibition to do their part.

The customary thing is to arrest the drunkard when he gets to be a nuisance, and to send him up for thirty days. That costs us money and doesn't help the drunkard at all. In fact it makes him worse, because pride, the drunkard's last hope, seldom survives a term in jail. That method of handling the drunkard has gone about as far as it should. It isn't possible to make it any more evident than it is that it is a mistake, and that it is heading exactly opposite to the right way.

Now the drunkard is a sick man. Drunkenness is a disease; and it is the only disease people are sent to jail for. True, it is probably a self-imposed disease, unless it is inherited. But so are many other diseases self-imposed because due to bad personal habits. Bright's disease and diabetes and hardened arteries and heart disease and other ailments are usually due to bad personal habits, too; but we don't put people in jail for getting these diseases. Yet it would do as much good as it does to put a drunkard in jail.

Other methods are needed, and society is getting around to them at last. Minnesota has a "state jag farm" which expects to put drunkards at work, feed them well, build them up and turn them out men. St. Louis county is considering the establishment of a "jag farm" which will do the same thing. And this is more like it. If there is any hope for a drunkard it isn't to be found in the jail. It is much more likely to be found in fresh air, nourishing food and hard work.

A committee appointed in New York to look into this matter reported recently that that city is spending $125,000 a year taking care of drunkards, and isn't doing them or society a bit of good. "As a result of all these expenses under the present system," it says, "there is a complete lack of accomplishment. There is no pretense even that the individual is helped; quite the contrary." So this committee suggested that something else besides jail be tried. And that's an important epoch in the history of this problem.

New York now has a law which promises well. The first offender against the law against drunkenness is not to be sent to jail to have his pride crushed. He is to be released with a sharp warning about where his course is tending, and the pertinent suggestion that his case is going to be watched. The second offender is to be placed on probation, in charge of probation officers. If these fail, and a third offense occurs, the guilty wretch is to be promptly dealt with. Not by sending him to jail, through, but by sending him to a hospital and then to an industrial colony—like our proposed "jag farm." Instead of jailers and thieves for his companions he will have sick people like himself and doctors and overseers.

And that, there seems little question, is the right way at last.

GOING IT STRONG.

It is the most natural thing in the world that California, after being for years a conspicuous example of a state governed by special privilege, should now become conspicuous as a state where the people have a freer hand than any other.

If you pull the pendulum far to one side, it stays there as long as you can hold it. When you can no longer hold of it it is bound to swing as far to the other side.

And the pendulum of political control in California has swung far indeed.

The fact that that state had adopted the initiative, the referendum and the recall was important, so important that it has generally obscured the equally important fact that while it was doing it it did it with all its might. California has adopted the most drastic system of popular control in existence. It is a question if it is not too drastic; certainly it is more drastic than would be considered wise to adopt in this state.

It should be made clear that direct legislation is not to supplant representative government, but to support it and make sure that it is representative. California has gone much farther than that.

The extremity of the laws adopted by the people of California lies in the percentages required to make petitions effective. It takes only 5 per cent of the people to propose a law or constitutional amendment for submission to the legislature, and only 8 per cent to propose a law or constitutional amendment to be voted upon directly by the people. But 5 per cent of the votes are required to institute the referendum, under which a law passed by the legislature must be referred to the people for their approval or rejection.

When 5 per cent of the voters propose a new law, it goes to the legislature, which must act upon it within forty days. The legislature cannot amend this law; but it can adopt a substitute. In that event both the original law and the substitute go to the people at the next election. If the legislature refuses to enact any law on the subject, the original law must be referred to the people.

These provisions are too drastic. They make it too easy for a small percentage of the people to flood the legislative machinery with measures which may have little chance of receiving the approval of a majority.

But to those familiar with the highhanded manner in which the Southern Pacific railroad and other special interests affiliated with it have lorded it over the people of California, there is no surprise in the fact that this new legislation is drastic.

The pendulum has simply obeyed the natural law that governs its movements.

There is no need of such low percentages. If measures of really vital importance are rejected by a legislature, it should be easy to get the signatures of 15 or 25 per cent of the voters to petitions to institute the initiative. If a legislature passes a really dangerous law, there should be no difficulty in getting 10 or 15 per cent of the voters to sign referendum petitions.

California has gone farther than it needed to go. But that it did is due to the arrogance of those who had come to think they owned the state; and the result should be a warning to those who are hugging the same delusion in other states.

WATCH THE PROFESSOR CAREFULLY!

The tobacco trust, commanded by the court to dissolve, comes into court with its plan of dissolution. It proposes to divide itself into fourteen "separate and independent" corporations. This is dissolution, right enough; but will the acid test of practice discover in it any good for the consumers?

The stock in these fourteen "separate and independent" corporations is to be owned, apparently, by the very people who now own the stock of the tobacco trust. There is a decided change of form, but no change of ownership.

Where is the gain to come from? Will these fourteen "separate and independent" corporations, owned by the same people who now control the trust, immediately begin a fierce competition, slashing tobacco prices right and left? Will the process reduce tobacco prices, say, back to where they were before the tobacco trust continued the war tax on tobacco after the government had repealed it, keeping the money for its own uses?

The independent tobacco men demand that the owners of the stock in these fourteen "separate and independent" companies be compelled to sell it, so that they may be made really separate and independent. But can that be done? Is there a court in the land which, except in a case involving the right of eminent domain, will compel a man to sell property which he owns and wishes to keep?

If the present attack on the trust problem is heading in the right direction, results to prove it are very slow in coming.

TAFT ON THE STUMP

By SAVOYARD.

The president of the United States is "swinging around the circle" in the enemies' country, and his future political career will depend on the success of his mission, which may be defined as an attempt to bridge the lurid chasm that separates Aldrichism and LaFolletteism. As a rule swings around the circle by our great men have not been attended with much profit. Stephen A. Douglas invented the practice when he was a candidate for president in 1860. In that campaign he addressed more of his fellow-citizens than any other American had theretofore spoken to, but he failed, as Seymour did eight years later when he took the stump in his own behalf.

Andy Johnson, when president, swung around the circle and made fervid appeals to the people to endorse his policy as against that of Stevens and Sumner, but one of his speeches was the basis for an article of impeachment and the electorate utterly repudiated him. American eloquence does not furnish anything equal to the wonderful pleas Horace Greeley made for amity and amnesty in 1872, but he was the worst beaten candidate for president that year in our history.

Garfield was the first presidential candidate who was elected after taking the stump to plead his cause, and he would have been disastrously defeated had Tilden been his competitor, and he would have been defeated even by Hancock if Grant and Conkling had not come to the rescue. In 1884 Blaine made the most brilliant stumping tour of our history, surpassing Douglas or Bryan, but he was beaten, as was Bryan, in 1896, 1900 and 1908.

Cleveland during his first term swung around the circle and was beaten for re-election, and Harrison repeated that history. While president he penetrated to the Pacific slope and made a series of wonderfully apt and happy addresses, but when nominated for reelection in 1892 he was overwhelmingly defeated. In 1896 McKinley did as Harrison had done in 1888, addressed great crowds that came from a distance to hear him from his front porch. Of all our itinerant statesmen Roosevelt was the most successful. He was constantly on the stump and during his tenure of office he was the most popular man who ever held the presidency of the republic, not excepting Washington, or Jackson, or Lincoln. And yet as an orator he was not to be mentioned in association with Andy Johnson even, certainly not with Douglas, or Blaine, or Bryan.

Roosevelt was one of the few presidents who dictated their successors. Washington himself preferred Hamilton as his successor to Adams. Jefferson dictated his successor, and so did Jackson, but Grant failed to choose his. Lincoln, had he lived and triumphed in a struggle with the radicals, Sumner, Stevens, and the others, would have been powerful enough to dictate to his party in 1868.

Had Roosevelt been neutral Taft would not have been the nominee of his party in 1908. Cortelyou would have swept the platter. He and his lieutenant, Hitchcock, had nearly completed the most perfect political machine the country ever saw. John Sherman had a fine machine when he was secretary of the treasury, and it would have nominated him if there had been no movement to give Gen. Grant a third term, but the Sherman forces were as raw militia to splendid veterans compared with the squad that was appointed to nominate Cortelyou. Roosevelt, an admirable politician, saw how it was, and scratched the name of his secretary of treasury off the string of entries.

Taft fell heir to Roosevelt's dignity, and it was supposed that he would pursue Roosevelt's policies, whatever they were; but it takes the hand of Ulysses to bend the bow of Ulysses. All the seven years of Teddy it was a breach of good manners to mention the word "tariff" in official circles. It was thoroughly understood that the president was a tariff reformer, all right. He had preached free trade in his writings but when he took on himself the official responsibility he let Pandora severely alone. It was a legacy Taft inherited and he was prodigal in his waste of the patrimony.

If Taft had known half as much about the tariff as Roosevelt knew, and if he had been half as much a practical tariff reformer as Roosevelt was a theoretical tariff reformer, he would have jammed revision down through both houses of congress, which would have composed the question for at least a decade, and he would have been as popular a president as Teddy himself. But instead of throwing himself into the arms of Dolliver, he leaned on Aldrich, and the job was botched. Then he perpetrated the awful folly of vetoing the half-baked wool bill of the Sixty-second congress, and Mr. Taft finds himself a poor swimmer in a whirlpool.

He is now become a standpatter, Cannon and Penrose, Pierpont Morgan and Wall street flock to him, and he is out West in a reactionary crusade against a progressive crusade. He will disastrously fail, though the office-holding trust at the South and the money trust at the East doubtless will be strong enough to renominate him in 1912.

The sun shines bright on the Democratic side of the hedge. Some time ago I read an exceedingly interesting narrative in two large volumes by an officer of the staff of the German army analyzing the art of war as practiced by Napoleon Bonaparte, and this officer adjudged Robert E. Lee the greatest soldier since the Corsican, because, while on the defensive, the Confederate commander never surrendered the initiative, which is the very soul of Napoleonic strategy—to grasp the initiative ever, whether on the offensive before Ulm, or on the defensive after Leipsic.

Well, the Democrats, being out of power, may be classed as the weaker party. But they hold the initiative. Will they surrender it? Sure they will if history is to repeat itself. And it will be next to a miracle if they don't subordinate the tariff to initiative and referendum, or some sort of octopus chase or other, or what not.

Their only chance for victory is to collar the tariff, propose Millsism as the reform of it, and let all other issues go to the devil until the country is emancipated from the slavery of a protective tariff.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writter, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

POT HUNTERS, NOT THE SETTLERS, ARE GUILTY ONES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The writer who signs his name "One of the Sports," in his letter to The Herald dated Sept. 28, implies that the settlers of this locality engage in and encourage the illegal slaughter of game. This is not the case.

There may be some who do so, but the majority try to discourage the needless slaughter and strongly oppose the traffic in protected game.

They do not oppose the enforcement of just laws, but they do oppose and protest against the invasion of their humble homes by the wardens, who, without search warrants or other legal authority, arrogantly invade their premises in search of contraband game.

The Constitution of the United States guarantees to every citizen freedom from unreasonable searches and seizures, but the wardens override this guarantee, arrogating to themselves rights superior to the constitutional law.

They protest also against being dragged into court and, without trial or protest, being forced to add their scant and hard-earned dollars to the credit side of the state's balance sheet; the only apparent charge being that they are trying to secure an honest living from the unclaimed resources of the land.

Such impositions on the inherent rights of the settlers should raise a chorus of protests that would echo within the walls of the state capitol.

We say, protect the game from the "pot hunter" and the senseless slayer, but give the settler a chance to get an honest and legitimate living.

G. W. R.

Grand Marais, Oct. 18.

ONE TASK FOR A FIFTH WARD ALDERMAN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Responding to the invitation of The Herald to speak of improvements needed in the different wards of the city, one thing that should be done as soon as possible is to fix up Railroad street from Fifth avenue west to Garfield avenue.

I am a teamster and know that this should be done at once. People who do not get down into that part of the city do not realize the amount of traffic down there. And it is constantly getting heavier. The water front is steadily building up and the travel between this city and Superior is growing right along.

More relief than can be imagined by the average person was given when Michigan street was paved from Eighth avenue to Twelfth avenue west and Garfield avenue from the viaduct to the Interstate bridge. But that is not enough. The improvement of Railroad street would not only take care of part of this traffic, but it would save considerable distance and in that way save time. Leaving Superior out of the calculations the people who have teaming to do along the water front are entitled to a good street. Railroad street is well named, running as it does through a network of tracks. For this reason safety devices and watchmen should be placed wherever needed to prevent accidents, and some lights should be installed. The railroads should stand that expense.

Railroad street is in the Fifth ward and if an alderman can do anything to bring about this improvement—and I do not see why he couldn't help a great deal—I think that the man who is elected from that ward should be asked how he stands on that matter.

Tourists Will Fail for This.

The Havana Post outdoes itself this year in its annual "tourist edition," the purpose of which is to set forth the advantages of Cuba and Havana as a place to spend the winter months when the chill settles down over the North while the sun shines warmly and flowers bloom and soft breezes blow in Southern latitudes. Havana has a lot of advantages of that sort to set forth, and the Post knows well how to do it. Its special edition is a fat, thick, broad volume in stiff paper covers, beautifully illustrated and abundantly furnished with attractively written matter about Cuba and Havana.

THE GOVERNOR'S PROMISE.

Bemidji Pioneer: Beginning with this issue, the Pioneer proposes to do everything within its power to convene the Minnesota legislature in extraordinary session for the purpose of passing a reapportionment bill.

Alone, this paper would be as weak as an infant; backed by the real might of Northern Minnesota, it will be as easy to win as if the New York baseball team with Mathewson in the box was playing against the farmer boys of Bena.

But don't make the mistake of thinking this is a trifling matter.

It means to you what the yoke of oppression meant to the sturdy patriots of '75 whose reply to a British tyrant's demand for taxation without representation was musket bullet and cannon ball.

It is to you a personal matter.

It is a personal matter because your representative in the senate of the legislature of Minnesota can't properly look after your interests; can't properly look after the interests of Beltrami county and can't properly look after the interests of any other part of his district because, under the present condition of affairs, he represents Norman, Mahnomen, Clearwater, Red Lake, Pennington and Beltrami counties with a total population of 58,889.

But Houston county residents way down in the southern part of the state are situated differently; they have a senator all to themselves and the total population of Houston county is 14,207.

Strikes home, doesn't it, when your senator has to look after 44,592 more persons than the senator from Houston?

And that is only one of many of the injustices of the present system of representation.

Senator James Boyle of Eveleth bears the burden for something like 89,000 persons.

Senator John Moonan, whose district is made up entirely of Waseca county, has a constituency of 13,666.

Representation in the house is just as unequal.

Is it any wonder that the South gets all the prizes?

Is it any wonder that the legislation which would mean so much for the general welfare of the North, and so much for individual efforts, never gets on to the statute books?

If you stop for a moment to ponder over just what a true representation means to the North, with all the problems which she faces on the verge of rapid development, you will begin to see that reapportionment is a relief worth fighting for.

Every newspaper can help a great deal.

Every citizen can help at least a little.

Here is what can be done.

Send the delegates to the St. Cloud convention ready to blaze out under the banner of the Northern Minnesota Development association that indignation which burns the souls of an oppressed people.

Let there be no mistake as to where the North stands.

Let this shout of the North go up from that convention:

"We want justice!"

That will mean that Governor Eberhart, awakened to the deep earnestness of the North, will find the moment opportune to redeem his pledge made at the Brainerd convention last December when he declared if a reapportionment bill was not passed, that he would assemble the legislature in extraordinary session.

It must be borne in mind that unless such a session is called, the North must continue without proper representation until 1917. The state Constitution provides that legislative districts are to be arranged after a federal or state census, and the next census will not be until 1915, which would put reapportionment up to the legislature of 1917.

True, it has been said that a legislature might have the power to redistrict at any time, but attorneys of high standing have interpreted it otherwise. Thus there is a conflict of opinion, and the plausible result is that the foes of reapportionment will use this as a club to beat down a bill at any regular session, and should one squeeze through, death, say the legal lights, awaits it in the supreme court chamber.

There is but one safe move, and that is, DO IT NOW.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1891.

•••E. H. Pearson of Saginaw, Mich., has invested heavily in pine timber in Wisconsin and Minnesota. A year ago he visited Duluth and neighboring localities looking up a site for a sawmill. Now that he has sold the West Side lumber property at Saginaw, he is considering the removal of the machinery, which was not included in the sale, to Duluth and erection of a mill.

•••Capt. Joseph Lloyd, Dr. McFadden and C. T. Le Tourneau, all of Duluth, have made arrangements to open a redstone quarry on Keweenaw Point, near the well-known Portage quarries. A dock about 500 feet long will be built.

•••Mrs. A. Miles and daughter have returned from an extended visit with friends and relatives in Wisconsin.

•••A final dividend has been declared on the Bliss & Elliott estate. This firm operated a sawmill at Barnum on the St. Paul & Duluth road and made a bad failure seven years ago. Assets showed that on the unsecured claims about 2½ per cent could be paid, but the firm had a contract for the purchase of stumpage from the St. Paul & Duluth. The largest creditor was the Security Bank of Minneapolis, which had a claim of $42,000. A trust was organized and Paul Blackman was chosen as trustee. He has since operated the mill with great skill, with the result that he has now been able to pay dollar for dollar all claims against the estate and has on hand about $25,000. This result has been achieved in the face of the fact that a judgment of $52,000 was secured against the trustee by the St. Paul & Duluth. The final settlement shows that in the course of seven years Mr. Blackman has made a profit of about $225,000.

•••K. O. Balstad of West Duluth has returned from a visit to Fergus Falls and vicinity.

•••Mrs. Maggie K. Taylor, mother of Mrs. C. A. Long, has returned from a year's visit on the Pacific coast.

•••The marriage of Fred W. Maynard, a young grain merchant of Duluth, to Miss Bessie Kelly of Minneapolis, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Kelly of Lake City, took place on Oct. 14, Rev. Dr. Shutter performing the ceremony.

•••The Keeley institute in New York, which was started a year or so ago by Duluthians, is a bonanza. A few days ago a dividend was declared, which represented a profit to the stockholders after paying them back what they had put in. From now on every dollar of dividends will practically be a gift to them.

•••Mr. Chapin, who has been with R. M. Newport & Son at St. Paul, will have charge of their business in Duluth.

•••E. S. Dodd, the trunk manufacturer of 1905 West Superior street has returned from a long visit in Minneapolis.

STATE AND THE RAILROADS.

Under Which Flag?

Hallock Enterprise: What is Governor Eberhart going to do in regard to calling an extra session to pass a bill increasing the railroad gross earnings tax? The movement started by the Duluth Herald is bearing fruit, and the members of the legislature have found that public sentiment is strongly in favor of such action and is steadily growing. Will Governor Eberhart stand by the people in their demand for an extra session, or will he be dictated to by the railroad interests?

If We Had a Governor, There'd Be No "Ifs."

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: Governor Eberhart says that IF the Sanborn decision is upheld, IF it don't snow before Thanksgiving, IF the Duluth Herald call off its dogs of war, IF the church people will attend to their own affairs, IF Senator Nelson don't run again, IF the "system" will let him, and IF the people really want it, he will call an extra session of the state legislature.

Or the Fur Will Fly.

Monticello Times: Jim Hill blames the ills of the day upon the newspapers. If there is one thing more than anything else which will make Jim Hill have the shivers it is the newspapers that are not dominated by him. He does not want publicity. All he desires is to work his schemes alone and in peace. Having made an increase in freight and passenger rates in Minnesota through an unfair and wrong decision of one of his judges he now scolds the newspapers for agitating the matter any further. But this subject will not be put off in any such manner. The people of Minnesota are going to have a 2-cent passenger rate and a decrease in freight rates or know the reason why.

Who Runs Minnesota?

Little Falls Herald: There is plenty of talk about an extra session of the legislature, and the splendid presentation of the needs of such a session by the Duluth Herald has stirred the people profoundly. It is not likely, however, that there will be any extra session. The pressure from the people would be so strong that some reform legislation would have to be enacted. And the "big fellows" are not anxious for any more legislation.

The Situation.

Long Prairie Leader: The following rates are now in effect at the depot: Rich people, 2 cents per mile; moderately well-to-do people, 2½ cents per mile; poor people, 3 cents per mile. Special notice to "Poor People"—in case you travel to North Dakota points, you will be given a rate of 2½ cents per mile after train passes the Minnesota line. Special notice to "Poor People" and to "Moderately Well-to-do People"—in case you travel to Wisconsin or Iowa points, the rate to you will be 2 cents per mile after train passes the Minnesota line.

It's Being Brought. Will You Help?

St. Cloud Times: Speaker H. H. Dunn, of the house, has been in St. Paul this week talking extra session of the legislature for the purpose of taking action on the railroad gross earnings tax. The speaker is said to feel alarmed that the increase in the passenger and freight rates by the railroads is going to hurt the Republican party. It very likely will unless the Republicans who are in control of the state administration do something to relieve the people from the extra burden that has been put upon them. However, the speaker, like a good many other Republican politicians, has not yet quite made up his mind just what they ought to do. Judging from his actions in the past there would have to be some very strong pressure brought upon the governor to induce him to call an extra session.

One of the Reasons.

Buffalo Journal: The Soo road hauls coal from Duluth through Buffalo to Minneapolis for $1.25 a ton, but charges $1.55 a ton for coal shipped from Duluth to Buffalo. On a thirty ton car the charge is $7.50 more if the car is set off at Buffalo than if it is hauled to Minneapolis and placed in the congested yards there. This is one of the reasons why manufacturing concerns cannot do business outside of the big cities.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: If a man could work for a million dollars he'd rather win ten on a bet.

The more often a girl has been engaged the more sudden each one can seem to her.

Young women know that fizz is much more appealing to men than the good wine under it.

A man gets excited about the way the government runs the country because it's mostly right.

A man comes back from his summer girl to try to win a living, and she to try to win a husband.

A Poor Stick, He.

He never drank, he never swore,
He never failed to shut the door;
He never risked the dough he earned
To speculate; he never turned
His head to see a pretty girl,
He never idly, like a churl,
Laid off a little now and then,
To sport a bit like other men.

He never stole, he never lied,
He never usurped nor occupied
A place in line that might belong
To someone else amid the throng;
He never got upon the car
Until the rest—with crush and jar—
Had forged ahead and got the seat
That he had lost from being sweet.

He never welched, he never made
An enemy because afraid
He might be wrong, and that the blame
Would rest on him with all its shame;
He never made a wee mistake,
Nor stirred the muck, with hoe or rake;
He never walked, he'd rather crawl,
He never, really, lived at all.

—Baltimore Sun.

Not Satisfactory.

Atchison Globe: A thirst for revenge is another kind which won't afford much satisfaction to the man who spends most of his time trying to satisfy it.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Popular Magazine: Stuart C. Leake, who has a lot to do with managing a big railroad in Richmond, Va., is noted as one of the best dancers in the South. One night something went wrong with the branch of the road over which Leake has supervision.

"Where in thunder was Leake?" asked the president of the road next morning.

"Leading a german," said the general manager.

"Which," commented the president, "was a dirty Irish trick."

Puck: The young man who had traveled began: "And there I stood with the abyss yawning at my feet."

"Was it yawning before you got there, or did it begin to after you arrived?" asked the young woman who has never been away, and then the young man found that he had just time to catch the last car.

Judge: "I had five proposals before I met you."

"That's nothing. I proposed to at least a dozen girls before I found one who was eager to have me."

Chicago Tribune: "Still in politics, Ruggles?"

"Yes; I've been in politics for twelve years, but I'm about to quit it."

"What's the reason for that?"

"Haven't you read the election returns?"

Catholic Standard and Times: Dubley—Of course, every young man thinks he'd be perfectly happy if he could only have his own way.

Wise—Yes, and the older he grows the happier he is to think that he didn't have it.

Life: The Mother—Now that Tillie is going to the young ladies' seminary she needs a new wardrobe.

The Father—How much?

The Mother—Oh, a couple of thousand.

The Father—Um. Don't educate her. No one will know the difference.

Friend—But don't your woman stars fight over their relative positions on the sign in front of the theater?

Vaudeville Manager—Not a word. I tell them that, in the event of a dispute, the older shall have the bigger electric light display.

Success Magazine: "Doctor, I've tried everything and I can't get to sleep," complained the voice at the other end of the telephone. "Can't you do something for me?"

"Yes," said the doctor, kindly. "Just hold the wire and I'll sing you a lullaby."

More to the Point.

Life: Henry C. Mott says: "I should like to see industries freed from perplexing and hampering laws."

And we should like to see the people freed from perplexing and hampering industries.

WOMAN'S REALM.

St. Paul's Episcopal church radiant with flowers and beautifully gowned guests, was the scene last evening of one of the prettiest weddings which has taken place in the city for several years. Miss Helen Margaret Ostram, niece of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Thomson, became the bride of Seth Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Marshall of 2605 Greysolon road, in the presence of a company of Duluth's society people which filled the church.

The decorations were carried out with elaborate skill from a plan worked out by Mrs. Thomson, until the place was a bower of beauty. Green and white were the colors combined. A dainty little green basket filled with lilies of the valley and pink rosebuds and large rosettes of white ribbon with streamers falling to the floor marked each pew of the center aisle leading to the altar. Here ropes of ground pine, palms and ferns were well arranged. Inside the altar railing the chancel was filled with the green and ropes of the vines were festooned from the arch above to the walls forming a graceful canopy over the altar. Two massive candelabra of carved gold from an old Italian cathedral held lighted candles on the altar and below in the nave the choir stalls had been removed leaving a large white carpeted space for the bridal party. A green-screened bower at either side hid the organ and the surpliced choir.

The choir composed of twelve boys led by C. O. Applehagen and the Scottish Rite Male Quartet sang for the processional "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," going down a side aisle to the back of the church to precede the wedding party to the altar.

The six ushers, Ned Congdon, Roy Ostram, Adam Thomson, John Savage, James Ireland and Charles Brewer, followed the choir and next were the bridesmaids, Miss Jessica Marshall, Miss Carolyn Marshall, Miss Irma Hartley, Miss Julia Hunter, Miss Swift and Miss Adams, gowned in white satin with over drapes of white chiffon with wide bandings of silver trimming, made en train. They wore wide satin bands in their hair and carried bouquets of pink roses in dainty sheath baskets held in the arms.

Miss Mary Paine as maid of honor came next. She wore a gown of blue chiffon over satin and carried white chrysanthemums. On her head she wore a pretty little Juliette cap of silver and silk with a chiffon veil which fell to the waist in the back.

The bride entered last on the arm of her uncle. She wore a handsome gown of white satin with an overdress of Duchess lace made with an extremely long court train, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Her bridal veil in cap effect fell to the hem of her gown.

Mr. Marshall, attended by Carson Agnew as best man, awaited the party at the foot of the chancel, where Dr. A. W. Ryan, rector of the church, read the betrothal service at 8 o'clock. While the bridal party ascended to the altar rails, Donald Alexander sang "O Perfect Love," written by A. F. M. Custance, and Bishop Edsall, bishop of Minnesota, read the marriage service proper. Before the benediction the Scottish Rite Male quartet sang "Before Thine Altar Throne," a beautiful number composed by Mr. Custance for the occasion.

At the close of the service the party left to the strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march, played by Mr. Custance at the organ.

Following the ceremony a small informal reception was held at the Thomson residence, 2005 East Third street, for the members of the bridal party and their intimate friends.

In the receiving line with the bride and groom and Mr. and Mrs. Thomson were Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Marshall and Miss Smith of Marquette, an aunt of the groom.

Mrs. F. W. Paine and Mrs. W. C. Agnew presided in the dining room and Miss Rebecca Bailey was at the punch bowl.

The rooms were tastefully decorated with flowers. In the living room American Beauties and graceful lilies added their beauty to the room, and in the sunroom, where the punch was served, white flowers were used. Bowls of yellow chrysanthemum buttons were placed in the music room, and the dining room was exquisitely arranged with white chrysanthemums, lilies of the valley and massive silver candelabra, with their white shaded candles. Yellow chrysanthemums were placed in the hall, and the wide verandas, carpeted in white and screened in, were pretty with sprays of autumn leaves and berries.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall left for a wedding tour which will last six or eight weeks, and later will be at home at 1914 East Second street. Miss Jessica Marshall caught the bride's bouquet.

BOXING BOUT FOR SUFFRAGE CAUSE

MRS. GUS RUHLIN.

Mrs. Gus Ruhlin is the organizer of the Women's Progressive Political league which has its headquarters at the Hotel Breslin in New York. Mrs. Ruhlin has not adopted the old time methods of working for votes. She has arranged that the first public function, given under the aspices of the new league, shall take the form of an all star boxing match. She does not care whether the other suffragette organizations approve of her methods or not. Mrs. Ruhlin is the wife of Gus Ruhlin, the former prize fighter, who was defeated by Jim Jeffries in his last big fight about six years ago.

SEES NO BENEFIT IN "VOTES FOR WOMEN"

MRS. PHILIP N. MOORE, President of the National Federation of Women's Clubs.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 19.—Mrs. Philip N. Moore, president of the National Federation of Women's clubs, who is in Detroit attending the State Federation convention, is not in sympathy with votes for women, according to an interview which the Free Press prints today.

"If a man wants to accomplish something, no matter what," she is quoted as saying, "How can he gain support or co-operation if he is exciting by going into his ward and pulling political wires?

"These (club women) are not bound by the political ties, but by common ideals and hopes and aims, all of which are for the betterment of humanity, for the happiness of their homes and their children.

"I wish women were not asking for the ballot. I wish there were another way for them to accomplish directly what they are doing in indirect ways now, but there's no denying it, the best women in the land seem to want the ballot, to feel that it is their right; and there is no use lamenting it—the ballot will be theirs soon, very soon.

"In my opinion, it only means doubling the vote we now have—doubling the good vote of good people, and that other vote which is not good. How are things going to be good? How are things going to be remedied in that way? I can't see how, although I admit the justice of the claims of women to be considered citizens in every sense of the word. As for the woman movement—it is the determining factor in the civilization of the future the world over. Nothing can stop it."

Y. W. C. A. ROUND TABLE.

Girls Form Social Club for Young Business Women.

Thirty three young women of the city have formed a social organization at the Young Woman's Christian association which they call "The Round-table." The first meeting was held last evening at the Y. W. C. A. building in the big homelike lobby, and the evening was pleasantly spent in a social way. The club is intended especially for the young business women of the city, but all young women interested are cordially invited to join. The meetings will be quite informal with a little program and social hour with sewing and fancy work to make the time count profitably materially as well as socially.

Last evening Miss Mabel Culkin read a humorous story and Misses Maude Matteson, Madeline Miller and Helen Coburn furnished a pleasing musical program.

Officers for the club were chosen as follows: President, Miss Marie Ceska; vice-president, Miss Anna Macfarlane; secretary, Miss Millie Older; treasurer, Miss Winnie Quigley; chairman of committees as follows: Membership, Miss Mary Salter; entertainment, Miss Anna Macfarlane; fancy work, Mrs. Robert Quigley; shirtwaists, Mrs. C. A. Smith; reception, Miss Woodward and refreshments, Mrs. Harriet Priest.

This club ought to fill a big place in the pleasure of many young women of the city and the membership is due to increase rapidly.

P. P. STUDY CLASS.

First Meeting of Year.

The Park Point Study class held its first meeting for the year this afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. H. J. Gude, 2340 Minnesota avenue. Miss Ballou was the leader for the afternoon and a pleasing program was given before a large number of members and guests.

HOBBS-MORGAN.

Former Duluthians Are Wedded in Minneapolis

The wedding of Miss Mildred Rae Hobbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert A. Hobbs, formerly of this city and Daniel David Morgan of Virginia, also formerly of Duluth, took place last evening at the Hobbs residence at 1932 Aldrich avenue, Minneapolis.

Rev. J. C. Faries, pastor of the Glen Avon Presbyterian church of this city read the ceremony in the presence of relatives and a number of friends from here.

The bride wore a pretty gown of white messaline with an over drape of white chiffon ornamented with pearl trimmings. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Hobbs who wore a gown of pink chiffon. Miss Myrtle Hobbs who has been the soprano soloist at the Trinity Pro-Cathedral here sang "Because" and "Perfect Life" the music for which was written by A. F. M. Custance. Mrs. J. E. Horak another sister of the bride was the accompanist.

The home was prettily decorated with flowers for the evening. In the front rooms pink dahlias and roses were used and in the dining room deep red roses were effectively arranged. Mrs. Robert Carley of St. Paul, formerly of this city and Miss Olive Colbrath also of Duluth, presided in the dining room and assisting in the other rooms were Miss Frances Eckhart and Mrs. E. M. Morgan and the sisters of the bride.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Morgan and son Robert of Youngstown, Ohio, parents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Morgan, Jr.; Mrs. Joseph E. Horak and daughter, Helen, Miss Earhart, Calvin F. How, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Moore, Mrs. Colbrath and Mrs. H. B. Arnold, all of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan will be at home in Virginia after Dec. 1.

ALEXANDER-BRACKETT.

Lakeside Girl Marries Boston Man.

Announcements have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Alexander of Lakeside of the marriage of their daughter, Verna Gladys to Tracey Fielding Brackett of Boston, Mass. The wedding took place Monday evening at the home of Dr. Chandler C. Alexander of New York and Mr. and Mrs. Brackett will reside at 59 West Seventy-sixth street, New York city, after Nov. 1.

LECTURE ON DRAMA.

Wilson G. Crosby to Speak Before Women's Club.

Wilson G. Crosby will give a lecture this evening on the Modern Drama at the new Unitarian church. This is the first of a series of lectures to be given on this subject before the Twentieth Century club this winter and it will be open to all interested in the subject. The hour set for the opening of the lecture is 8 o'clock and a general invitation is extended to the public.

Luncheon at Home.

Mrs. Theron H. Hawkes of 210 Tenth avenue east was hostess at a luncheon of eight covers yesterday at her home.

Luncheon at the Tea Rooms

Mrs. S. L. Reichert of 2315 East Fourth street gave a pretty little luncheon yesterday at the Panton & White tea rooms for Mrs. J. T. Hale of Deerwood, who was a guest in the city. Covers were laid for four.

Annual Banquet.

Forty members of the Greysolon du Lhut chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution were seated at the annual banquet of the chapter which was served today at the Spalding hotel. The pretty palm room of the hotel was used for the function with its long tables decorated with mountain ash berries and asparagus ferns. American flags were also used about the room and nasturtiums scattered about the tables added to the brightness of the scene.

Charles Keith, past president of the Sons of the G. A. R. was a guest of the chapter at the banquet and responded to a toast on the work of the chapters. Mrs. W. H. Burris, regent, presided.

Informal Musical.

Mrs. George R. Laybourn entertained at a delightful musical yesterday afternoon at her home 1432 East Fourth street for Miss Nora Harrison, who will leave soon for Washington, D. C., to resume her musical studies. Miss Harrison played a group of numbers which were very cordially received by the fifty guests present and Miss Glen Bartholomew sang several pleasing contralto solos. Mrs. A. B. Hilton gave an interesting interpretation of Kipling's "If" and responded with a pleasing little folk song for an encore.

Mrs. E. Frank Barker spoke interestingly on the "Relation of Modern Literature and Modern Music." She gave a short resume of the literary work and the musical work from the time of Ibsen and Wagner down to the present day. She spoke of the similarity of the work of these two well known men in their respective lines and said that the advance in music had been parallel to the advance in literary work.

Autumn flowers and ferns were well arranged about the house and Mrs. Barker presided at the punch bowl.

Children's Party.

Mrs. M. L. Fay of 2105 East Superior street will entertain at a children's party tomorrow evening for her grandchildren, Charles and Madeline Fay.

First Meeting.

The first monthly meeting of the Guild of St. James will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Bishop's club rooms of the cathedral hall. The purpose of the guild is to aid in the support of the St. James Orphange by different means, and women interested in the work will be welcome to join. The officers for the coming year are: President, Mrs. O. C. Hartman; vice president, Mrs. A. V. Ouellette; secretary, Mrs. E. A. Huot; treasurer, Mrs. J. D. Kenna. Mrs. Edward P. Kriemer of 119 Seventh avenue west is the chairman of the clothing committee and any one having donations for the institution are requested to notify her by telephone.

First of Course.

The first lesson in the course on "How to Study a Play" to be given by Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour at the Endion M. E. church will be held there tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Dinner Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth M. Nicoles entertained at dinner last evening at the Spalding hotel. Covers were laid for twelve.

Officers Named.

At the annual meeting of the Needlework guild yesterday afternoon the officers for the year were named as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. Albert H. Marshall; president, Mrs. Morton Miller; vice presidents, Miss Julia Ensign, Mrs. A. W. Hartman, Mrs. A. C. Gillette, Mrs. W. B. Silvey; secretary, Mrs. H. F. Williamson; treasurer, Mrs. E. W. Matter, and members of the executive committee, Mrs. R. N. Marble, Mrs. C. R. Keyes and Mrs. A. C. Gillette. The section presidents will be: Mrs. D. W. Stockling, Mrs. W. C. Sargent, Mrs. F. R. Kennedy, Mrs. C. R. Keyes, Mrs. J. J. Le Tourneau, Mrs. T. S. Wood, Miss Julia Ensign, Mrs. A. R. Macfarlane, Mrs. S. E. Catherall, Mrs. E. W. Matter, Mrs. W. B. Silvey, Mrs. I. T. Bunside, Mrs. D. C. Rood, Mrs. J. F. Dacey, Mrs. Henry Abraham, Mrs. W. F. Bailey and Mrs. T. D. Merrill.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. R. D. Handy and little son Mason, of 1922½ East Superior street have returned from a three-months' visit with relatives in Minneapolis and at Lake Minnetonka.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Stone left today for Santa Barbara, Cal., where they will spend the winter at their home there.

• • •

Mrs. S. F. Staples of 1023 East Second street returned last evening from a two weeks' visit in Little Falls, Minn.

• • •

THE EVENING STORY

MARY ANN

By Ada Roscoe.

She was only a boarding house drudge, with a great absorbing love for Tom Kennedy. And Tom was a pouter-breasted guardsman in a red shell jacket and long legs striped with yellow, on the end of which were shining boots and jingling spurs.

"Tom," said Mary Ann one evening, as they sat together in the little bed parlor shortly after they had met. "What's the matter, dear? You don't seem yourself."

"I hope I ain't vexed you," she continued, appealingly looking up into his big vacuous face.

"No," he said shortly, selecting a woodbine from a satin-backed cigarette case, one of her many offerings at the shrine of Mars.

"You do seem quiet." She took his rough hand and fondled it gently. "Has the sergeant been on to you?"

He shook his head and then took another big drink, as if to give him pluck. "Mary Ann," he began solemnly, and a premonition of evil smote her with a deadly fear. "How long have we been together?"

"Five months. Don't you remember, Tom? You met me at a dance, and started talking, and how Clara and Anna kept staring so. They couldn't believe their own eyes, could they?" She laughed shrilly. "You don't know how happy you've made me, Tom. I was always a lucky sort of girl, but I was never right down, real happy till you came along."

His face was still averted, and showed no signs of softening.

"What's up, dear? I'm sure it's me that's vexed you."

Her voice held a note of painful intensity. He threw away the stump of his cigarette.

"Five months, is it?" He paused irresolutely. "I was thinking it was somewhere about that time," he concluded feebly.

"Tom, you've got something on your mind, and you don't like to tell me. Don't be afraid of me—I'm only a little one." She nestled up close to him, raising her lips to be kissed. Sheepishly he stooped to press his lips to hers. "Now tell me, what it's all about," she demanded with a tiny show of proprietorship.

"I'm—I'm afraid we've got to part," he blurted out.

"Part! Oh, Tom, you're fooling me, ain't you?" she giggled foolishly.

"No! as I'm aware of," he pursued, with a miserable attempt at dignity. The color drained from her face, and her white lips twitched convulsively as she gazed on him horror-stricken.

"But—we—can't—part, Tom," she managed to gasp spasmodically. "You know we can't, dear, dear Tom!" She strove to fondle him, but he thrust her from him. "You're joking, ain't you? I never knew such a chap for larks," she sobbed, clutching frantically at this, her last hope.

"Look here, it ain't no good making a scene. 'Sides, how do you know but what a customer won't come in. We ain't bought the house, remember," he rattled on, trying hard to feel more like a man and less like a cur.

"But you said we should be married on the 'leventh."

"Oh, if you're going to turn narsty, I'm going." He strove to rise, but she held him by the sleeve.

"Tom, I want to tell you something." She stopped suddenly, then blushed a vivid red. "Never mind"—her voice trailed wearily—"just talk about yourself, Tom, like you always does."

"I don't feel like it tonight, Mary Ann," he responded, gloomily.

"Tom," Her voice sank to a low, broken whisper. "Have you seen someone you like better?" She gazed up into his stupid red face with a look of entreaty, and touched his gaudy jacket with its brazen buttons as thought it were a priceless gem.

"That's my business," he retorted, finding it easier to be brutal than penitent.

"Don't be cross, Tom. I didn't mean to upset you, but I've been that proud of you—and now—"

"Yes—yes, I know." He rose to his feet and looked into the mirror. There was no denying he was a handsome, stylish fellow, and he'd really wasted a lot of time walking out with this little fat servant. People had chaffed him about it—girls mostly. It was her blind adoration that had held him captive so long.

"He looked down at her little crouching figure, and smiled indulgently. She was not half a bad sort, and had trusted him implicitly. If she'd knocked about a bit more she would have known that smart guardsmen, standing six feet in their socks, don't throw themselves away on servant girls—at least, not often.

Then he rang for another pot of mild bitter and sat down again.

"Tom." She raised her head, and her face was lined and suffering. "I was silly to think that you would go on loving me. It wasn't to be expected. But you did love me when—when you talked so much of having me with you always, didn't you, dear?" Her voice was charged with pain.

"Of course I did." Somehow he had to answer thus to ease his awakening conscience.

"I'm glad of that—ever so glad, 'cus if you didn't, I should have felt lower than what I do now." She paused for a moment. "Kiss me fair on the lips, Tom. I want to forget your love's gone from me."

He obeyed her mechanically, but his lips seemed to touch burning coal.

"God bless you, dear—I shan't never forget you, and whatever happens—you know what I mean?" He turned his head away to hide the look of shame that rose unbidden. "I shall just keep me mouth shut for your sake."

Tom Kennedy pondered long and deeply over this last piece of unselfish renunciation, and he did battle with it valiantly, with the fixed intention of overthrowing it. But it was a mightly enemy, and proved his master, and he felt crushed and dissatisfied.

"It's very good of you," he said involuntarily.

Once more looking up, she smiled through her tears at the man who had wronged her, and at that supreme moment she wore the face of an angel.

"I shall love you, Tom, always—always. Now I think we'd best be moving." She rose unsteadily to her feet, this grotesque little waif born of drunken parents, who valued neither her body nor her soul, and held out her hand to him. "I ain't cross with you, Tom, dear, so don't think it. What's more, I couldn't be if I tried."

He took her hand in his, and his own trembled, violently at the contact. Then the dissolute soldier fell from his being like a lothsome shroud, and the real man behind stood revealed. Another moment and he had clasped her in his arms, and was half smothering her with kisses.

"I love you—girl—I love you," he cried hoarsely. "And no woman but you shall ever be my wife."

And today Mary Ann Kennedy declares she is the luckiest girl that was ever born, so we must take her word for it, as we pass on our way, knowing what we do of her life in the buried past.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA MAY BE THE OUTCOME

Plans Made for Greatly Enlarging Scope of Orchestra Heard at Y. M. C. A. "Pops."

The nucleus of a big symphony orchestra for Duluth is being formed this fall by Gustave Flaaten.

His orchestra, which became so popular last winter at the Y. M. C. A. pop concerts, with the addition of some professional musicians, is preparing the work for the year and seven symphony concerts will be given during the winter. A guarantee of $100 a concert was made last night at a meeting of the boosters' committee of the Y. M. C. A. to insure the success of these concerts and Duluth has the beginning of an orchestra which is destined to grow into a big symphony orchestra in the near future, it is believed.

The concerts to be given this year will be given at prices just sufficient to cover the expenses of paying the professional players and the other incidental expenses, and anything that is made over this amount will be used in bringing good soloists for the programs.

At a dinner held last evening in the dining room of the association building for this boosters' committee program for a series of "pops" or popular entertainments was outlined for the coming fall and winter.

About thirty were present at the meeting of this committee, which consists substantially of the same members as a year ago, when plans were made for the series of "pops" of last fall and winter. These entertainments were carried out with great success and to the eminent satisfaction of the committee. The committee intends to make the coming series even more attractive and, if possible, still more successful than those that were taken in hand a year ago.

Three of the entertainments will be entirely in the hands of the orchestra, which will be increased to about fifty pieces for each occasion. It is intended to bring a great deal of musical talent to the city from various parts of the country to assist with these concerts. The managers of the orchestra will arrange for the engagement of the leading attractions. The other entertainments will be absolutely free to the public. Tickets will be given away for the asking at the desk in the main office of the Y. M. C. A. Neither the Y. M. C. A. nor the orchestra plans to make any money out of the entertainments. Both are desirous of doing something to instill into the public mind a taste for the best that is to be had in the way of musical entertainment, and the Y. M. C. A., moreover, is anxious to call attention to some of its many activities.

Different members of the committee will have charge of the different programs of the series. The committee desires to hear from any of the glee clubs, singing societies, orchestras, or other musical organizations of the city, or from individuals, who can and are willing to help make this series the great success that it ought to be. The dates on which the various entertainments of the series are to be given, and those who are in charge, are as follows:

Oct. 24.—George Wilson and F. T. Dingman.
Oct. 31.—Guy Warren and Joe Horak.
Nov. 7.—M. F. Jamar, Jr., and Earl Hunner.
Nov. 14.—A. C. Kienly and D. E. Mapp.
Nov. 21.—Flaaten's orchestra.
Nov. 28.—Stanley Lamb and Palmer Bevis.
Dec. 5.—Albert Dormeyer and George Mills.
Dec. 12.—Flaaten's orchestra.
Dec. 19.—Floyd Fuller and C. F. How, Jr.
Jan. 2.—Flaaten's orchestra.
Jan. 9.—D. E. Giffin and E. G. Smith.
Jan. 16.—Roy Flaaten and B. F. Higgins.

SCORNED WOMAN CHARGES MURDER

Chicago, Oct. 19.—On the word of a woman who said he had refused to marry her, John Quzelec was held here today on a charge of having murdered Christ Nosak in Indianapolis, Jan. 20, 1908. Quzelec was first arrested on a charge of having assaulted Mary Dragis with a deadly weapon. When she appeared in court to testify, she accused him of the murder. Quezlec denied the charge, but was held to await the arrival of Indianapolis police.

KINDNESS BRINGS REWARD.

Minnesotan, Who Succored Sick Man, Is Given Fortune.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 19.—According to word from Spokane, Wash., F. B. Knapp, to whom Thomas Lynch, said to be dying in an Alaskan hospital, has bequeathed a fortune of $81,000 for kindness shown him several years ago, is now employed as a motorman for the Inland Electric system in Spokane. It. S. Knapp, father of the motorman, who was also named as beneficiary, has been dead for nine years.

A letter recently was received by a local paper asking that it locate F. B. Knapp and his father, R. S. Knapp, that the money might be sent them. In a message received last night F. B. Knapp tells the following story:

"My father and I lived near Ferris, Minn., in the winter of 1898. One day Lynch was brought in from the woods a very sick man. I took him to my home as there was no hospital, and I rode to Graceland, a small town, to get some medicine. We nursed Lynch for a while and when he got well, he went away. I never heard anything more from him. I suppose he appreciated our attention."

COAL LAND FRAUD TRUE BILLS ARE ASSAILED.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Indictments charging Albert Frost and others with conspiring to defraud the government of $10,000,000 in Alaska coal lands, were attacked on a demurrer before Judge Landis, in the United States district court by counsel for George A. Ball, one of the defendants.

The indictments, he argued, set up two separate offenses. One charge is that the defendants conspired to defraud the government of the "possession and use" of the coal lands by means of illegal filing of notices of location. Another charge is that the defendants defrauded the government of "title" to the lands by means of illegal applications to enter and purchase.

The coal lands of which the defendants are said to have sought to defraud the government are not described, said counsel. "The indictment does not state the number of alleged conspirators, nor how the 10,000 acres were to be divided."

FILES BRIEF IN THE RATE CASE

Attorney Durment Makes Move Before Supreme Court.

Washington, Oct. 19.—The fight of the states for unrestricted rights to regulate state rates on railroads was opened in the supreme court of the United States yesterday when Edmund Durment of St. Paul filed the first brief in the cases involving state rates. These cases have been set for oral argument on Jan. 8.

Mr. Durment was of counsel for the state of Minnesota when the United States circuit court for Minnesota held its state rates unreasonable. He will not appear before the supreme court as a representative of the state, but his brief represented his own views.

"FIXED" RACE IS ONE FORM OF GRAND LARCENY.

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 19.—Taking people's money on a "fixed" race is the same as grand larceny, according to the findings of the supreme court in a decision affirming the case of the state against John R. Dobbins.

Dobbins was a lieutenant of J. C. Maybray. He was convicted at Council Bluffs of grand larceny. He was accused of having beaten T. W. Ballew of Princeton, Mo., out of $30,000 on a "fixed" horse race at Council Bluffs. He was sentenced to an indeterminate term of five years in the penitentiary and has been at liberty on bonds, awaiting the outcome of the appeal.

This Kidney Remedy Gives Immediate Relief

In 1907 and 1908, I was taken very sick with kidney trouble and being afraid of Bright's Disease, went to a prominent physician at Libertyville, Iowa. After doctoring for some time without cure or benefit, I began the use of Swamp-Root and found immediate relief, which urged me to continue the use of the medicine.

After taking several bottles which I bought at Jericho's Drug Store, in Fairfield, I became a well man and can honestly say that I have never had any signs of Bright's Disease or a return of any kidney trouble.

I am so grateful toward Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root that I never hesitate to recommend it to any one I know who is suffering with kidney trouble.

Yours very truly,

LAY CORNER STONE OF FINE MASONIC BUILDING.

Washington, Oct. 19.—The cornerstone of what Sovereign Grand Commander Richardson of the Scottish Rite Masons of the Southern jurisdiction, declared would be the "most magnificent building in the world devoted alone to the use of Masonry" was put in place yesterday with elaborate ceremony. It is to be the national home of the supreme council of the Southern jurisdiction Scottish Rite Masons, and the cornerstone was laid with the trowel and square used by George Washington in beginning the United States capitol. Prominent members of the order from all parts of the United States attended the ceremonies.

ANDREWS TO BE HEAD OF NAVIGATION BUREAU.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Commander Philip Andrews, aide to the secretary of the navy, will become head of the all-powerful bureau of navigation in the navy department on Jan 1, succeeding Rear Admiral Reginald E. Nicholson, who will hoist his flag as commander-in-chief of the United States Asiatic fleet. Although Admiral Nicholson will be relieved of his duty as head of the navigation bureau the first of the year, he will not assume his new command until some time in March, when he will relieve Admiral Murdock, the present commander.

LA FOLLETTE'S NAME CHEERED AT SEATTLE.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 19.—Gifford Pinchot and Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington addressed a great meeting in the Grand Opera house yesterday and later spoke to the students of the University of Washington. When he closed with a eulogy on "that great and good man, Senator La Follette," the audience made a demonstration that continued several minutes.

TWENTY-NINTH MOHONK CONFERENCE OPENS.

Lake Mohonk, N. Y., Oct. 19.—The twenty-ninth annual conference of friends of the Indians and other dependent peoples opened here yesterday. Vice-President Sherman stated the objects of the meeting. He was followed by Francis C. Wilson, who described the exceptional position of the Pueblo Indians of New Mexico. Sicenl J. Nori, a Carlisle graduate, defended that institution and E. B. Merrett, a law officer of the Indian bureau, urged that the allotments of lands be expedited.

"PEN YAN BILL" DIES.

Original of Eugene Field's Poem Is Called.

Helena, Mont., Oct. 19.—William C. Buskett, aged 50, an old friend of the late Eugene Field, immortalized by that poet, in "Pen Yan Bill," for many years engaged in mining in Montana, died Monday in a Spokane hospital.

Mr. Buskett selected the name of the mine that gave him his poetical sobriquet in an odd manner. With his partner he had struck a rich lead, near Wickes, Mont., eighteen miles south of here, about twenty-five years ago. They could not agree upon a name and Mr. Buskett decided to leave it to the United States postal guide, a copy of which laid on the table in their cabin. It was agreed that he should close his eyes, open the book at random and place his finger on a page, the name under his finger to be the name of the mine. His finger rested on Pen Yan, N. Y., and the mine was named Pen Yan. It was a promising property for years but finally petered out.

A native of Missouri, Mr. Buskett had met Eugene Field in their younger days and once when in Chicago, while known as the owner of the rich Pen Yan mine, he renewed the acquaintance with Mr. Field, who was then furnishing a column for the Chicago News. Out of this old acquaintanceship grew the famous poem "Pen Yan Bill" beginning

"In Gallus old Kentucky, where the grass is very blue.
Where the liquor is the smoothest and the girls are fair and true,"—

BERGER DELIVERS ADDRESS.

Milwaukee Congressman Opens the Thief River Falls Campaign.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Congressman Victor Berger delivered an address here Tuesday evening at the Auditorium building. The lecture was presented as one of a series of attractions to be put on here this winter by an entertainment bureau. A moderately large audience, many of whom were farmers from the adjoining country, greeted the speaker and listened attentively to the address. Disclaiming any desire to be classed as an orator, he delivered what was considered by his auditors an able exposition of Socialism as understood in this country. He described himself as a historical Socialist and not a hysterical one. His speech was the opening gun in the local city campaign. The Socialists have placed a full ticket in the field and are working hard to elect all of their representatives.

The Quickest Cough Cure—Cheap, But Unequaled

A Whole Pint of it for 50c. Saves You $2. Does the Work Quickly or Money Refunded.

For quick and positive results, the pint of cough syrup that you make with a 50-cent bottle of Pinex, cannot be equalled. It takes hold instantly and will usually stop the most obstinate deep-seated cough inside of 24 hours. Even croup and whooping cough yield to it quickly.

The user of Pinex mixes it with home-made sugar syrup. This gives you a full pint—a family supply—of better cough remedy than you could buy ready mixed for $2.50. Easily prepared in 5 minutes—full directions in package.

Pinex soothes and heals the inflamed membranes with remarkable rapidity. It stimulates the appetite, is slightly laxative, and tastes good—children like it. Excellent for hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, and other throat troubles, and has a wonderful record in cases of incipient lung trouble.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of Norway White Pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Simply mix with sugar syrup or strained honey, in a pint bottle, and it is ready for use. Used in more homes in the U. S. and Canada than any other cough remedy.

Pinex has often been imitated, but never successfully, for nothing else will produce the same results. The genuine is guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. Certificate of guarantee is wrapped in each package. Your druggist has Pinex or will gladly get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

DISCUSSION OF LIGHTING

City Attorney Talks to Hillsiders on Municipal Ownership Question.

Club Members Take Part in Open Discussion Which Follows.

Between seventy-five and a hundred persons occupied all the available seats and some of the standing room at the meeting of the Central Hillside club last night at the Franklin school.

The meeting was called for the purpose of hearing an argument by City Attorney Bert Fesler in favor of giving the people the right to vote on the question of issuing bonds for the construction of a municipal electric light plant by the city. Mr. Fesler spoke for over an hour and a half and very vigorously insisted upon the obligation of the council to give the people a chance to vote on the question.

After recalling the fact that the Second ward had been the leader of the city in the fight for the purchase of the water and gas plant, and the services of their former aldermen, Evans, Harker, Carey and Krumsieg in behalf of municipal ownership, Mr. Fesler referred to Former Mayor Truelsen, also a resident of the Second ward, as a veteran in municipal ownership circles in Duluth and as the "best mayor Duluth ever had." It appeared repeatedly, in his remarks, that he looked upon the Second ward as the strongest municipal ownership ward in the city. He said the people could not be fooled, and could not be bought when they understood the facts on any public question, and the reason he and others were now holding meetings in different parts of the city was to make the facts plain and correct some misstatements of the opposition.

Watering.

He then went into what he called the "watering" of the capitalization of the electric light company and claimed that the records of the United States court in Duluth showed that in 1902, when the company was reorganized, "watered stock" to the extent of $476,591.08 was issued. He also claimed that again in 1906, when another reorganization occurred, $959,735.91 of water stock was issued, and gave for his authority certain verified reports of the company on file in the city comptroller's office. He claimed that these two sums, amounting to $1,436,326.89, was half the capitalization of the company. He then connected up the so-called "watered stock" with the cost of service to the people, by claiming that the reports to the comptroller showed they had charged 3 per cent depreciation on all the "watered stock" as if it represented property of some kind that could depreciate, and entered it as part of the expense of doing the business, and used it to pay dividends with. He claimed that the depreciation charge on the "watered stock," in the two instances given, since it was issued, had amounted to $272,639.82.

Another set of figures given, which he claimed he had taken from the reports in the comptroller's office, showed that the city would have been able to do the same business the Duluth-Edison company did last year, at an expense to the people of $168,000 less than was charged by the Duluth-Edison. He figured the saving principally in the depreciation charge on the watered stock, the saving of interest on account of the smaller capitalization and lower rate the city would have to pay, and the net profits of the company. He also claimed a saving would be made on part of the salary of the general officers of the company and in other minor items. He then claimed that, for these reasons, based on the business done by the Duluth-Edison company in 1910, the city would have made a saving of over 60 per cent of the cost of doing the business. Many other deductions were made from these figures, which the speaker claimed were to the advantage of the people.

Out of Politics.

Another reason the speaker gave for the city putting in its own plant was, as he termed it, that "it would get another public service corporation out of politics." The speaker was very positive in his assertion that if the city put in a plant of its own, it would take the electric light business out of politics, instead of getting it into politics. He claimed that the company was doing too much advertising in the newspapers and had too many politicians on its pay roll, for the good of the people. He said it was bad enough to have to pay such expenses back to the company in electric light bills, but the curse of it was that there was danger it would interfere seriously with public officials remaining loyal to their constituents.

He spoke of the "tax burden" argument against the city issuing bonds as "buncombe," because a city could hire a competent manager of an electric light plant, as well as a private company could, and as the city could save over $150,000 a year over the Duluth-Edison company on account of the saving in depreciation charges, interest and dividends that the company paid out last year, there was no danger. He cited reports from various cities to verify his statement, but referred to Tacoma, Wash., particularly because it is the same size as Duluth and it buys its power from a water power company at 1¼ cents a kilowatt, while the Great Northern Power company only charges 1 cent a kilowatt. He read a letter from the commissioner of light and water of Tacoma in which he said the city was furnishing consumers service at the maximum rate of 6 cents per kilowatt hour and that the city made a net profit of the total gross receipts.

Then reference was made to the charter to prove that if the city built a plant, it would have to get bids, and enter into a contract, the performance of which would be secured by a surety company bond, and then submit that contract to a vote of the people. In that way, he claimed the people would be protected against any danger from overrunning the cost of the plant and the whole enterprise would be put on a strictly business basis such as is approved by the best business judgment of the times.

"Lighting Talks."

Recent "lighting talks" of the Duluth Edison company were read in detail and the speaker claimed, by reference to the report of the city's consulting engineers and other documents, that many statements made were not true. He treated somewhat sarcastically the use of the words "folly" and "colossal folly" in recent "talks," saying that the "folly" referred to was giving the people instead of the aldermen the right to decide the electric light question.

Confidence in Press.

The speaker expressed his confidence that the press would treat the municipal ownership people fairly. He referred to the daily press as having repeatedly expressed sentiments editorially in favor of the referendum on local questions and, whether they were for or against municipal ownership of an electric light plant, they would favor giving the people the right to decide the question for themselves.

In closing he referred to the fight for lower rates, made by the council five years ago, and said that although the president of the company had then said that the company would go bankrupt if the rates were lowered, and although a committee of the Commercial club had unanimously reported to the same effect, the council then stood like a stone wall for the interests of the people, instead of the company, and everybody now commended the wisdom of their course.

He then referred to the present council, expressed confidence in its integrity and good intentions, and said that in his opinion they would give the people the opportunity to vote on the bond issue. He referred particularly to the Second ward aldermen and said he thought they would follow in the footsteps of their predecessors in the council in times past and stand by the people. In this connection, however, he said he thought the people should have confidence in and stand by their aldermen only so long as the aldermen had confidence in and would stand by the people.

Open Discussion.

After Mr. Fesler concluded, the meeting was thrown open to general discussion. Two or three speakers expressed dissatisfaction with the present management of the water and gas plant. President Evens spoke in a reminiscent way on his experience in the council in the fight with the Duluth Gas & Water company, and the elections that were then held, and Secretary Fider read a letter from Former Mayor Truelson favoring the municipal ownership of an electric light plant.

Barney Forrestal replied to Mr. Fesler's talk.

"If I were in the ring I should favor municipal ownership of the electric light plant, also, as I then would be sure to get my pickings," he said. "But why should we taxpayers make an effort to tie another millstone around our necks?

"We have lived in this city for years, and have aided in its upbuilding, and not one of us tonight would place a straw in the path of any movement that meant the welfare and progress of Duluth. But when anyone comes here and tells us that municipal ownership will cut our light bills down, and asks for our votes on that question, we want figures.

"Mr. Fesler has told us tonight that if we desire it, our aldermen will arrange it so that we can get municipal control. I do not doubt that in the least. If I were an alderman I should be glad to fix it also. These brainy, brilliant satellites come up on the Hillside and tell us what we must do, but they don't tell us why. Why—Why, that's what we want to know.

"We have municipal ownership in Duluth today and we, the taxpayers, know the results. When we want anything—not a favor, but what is actually due us—we must go to the high salaried officials of the municipality and ask for what we should be able to demand. And if we don't guard our words we are literally kicked out of the offices we furnish and support.

"Some time ago, I, as a member of this club, asked that a committee be appointed to investigate the conditions of the present municipally owned gas and water plant. The committee was named and now Mr. Evens says that they have nothing yet to report. I suggest that as Mr. Evens has been one of the 'ring' that he would be an eminently fit person to find out these facts and as a charter member I demand that some action be taken by this committee.

"It is very easy for these politicians to tell us what to do. Not for anything would I cast any aspersions upon our distinguished guest tonight, really it was very kind in Mr. Fesler to come and tell us what to do. This club was organized for the advancement of the city, not for silk-stocking delegates from other parts of the city to appear and tell us what to do."

Before Allowing an Operation

Please Read These Two Letters.

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before. Then after all that suffering Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored her health.

HERE IS HER OWN STATEMENT.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement—I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for several months without much relief, and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. To-day I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise every woman who is afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. Orville Rock, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Mich.

"There never was a worse case."

Rockport, Ind.—"There never was a worse case of woman's ills than mine, and I cannot begin to tell you what I suffered. For over two years I was not able to do anything. I was in bed for a month and the doctor said nothing but an operation would cure me. My father suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so to please him I took it, and I improved wonderfully, so I am able to travel, ride horseback, take long rides and never feel any ill effects from it. I can only ask other suffering women to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation."—Mrs. Margaret Meredith, R. F. D. No. 3, Rockport, Ind.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the letters are published without their permission, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: OCT. 22

Ezra iii:8-iv:5: Foundation of the Second Temple Laid.

CONNECTION.

They started from Babylon in March 537 B. C. and made their hard journey of 800 miles westward to Jerusalem, in time to erect an altar and offer sacrifice, in the seventh month, October, of the same year at the feast of tabernacles, now renewed after fifty years. They found the city and temple in ruins. With joy and sorrow and in fear of their enemies round about, they renewed the old ceremonies. Edomites, Philistines and Samaritans surrounded them and compelled them to live in the small towns near by. In Ezra ii:1-67 we learn how many had returned—42,360 in all, of whom 4,000 were priests, 74 Levites, 128 singers, 139 descendants of the ancient police of the temple and 392 of the Nethanim or Canaanites who had been made slaves. Twelve chiefs were over them, corresponding to the twelve tribes of Israel. Three inspiring men led them—Zerubbabel, grandson of their last king, Jehoiakim; Joshua, the son of Jozadak, the high priest, who had been carried into captivity with King Zedekiah; Seriah the priest, son of Hilkiah. Years afterward a complete register of these people was found.

Their idolatry was all gone. The moral significance of their nation engrossed their minds. One year later they assembled to lay the foundation of the new temple. The artisans who had never left the country aided them. The gifts of Cyrus and their own offerings and the stones from the surrounding quarries and the cedars from Lebanon went into the building. We have an account of the laying of the foundation in our lesson.

THE LESSON.

I.

Laying the Foundation, 8-13.

"Now in the second year of their coming unto the house of God at Jerusalem, in the second month, began Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Joshua the son of Jozadak, and the rest of their brethren the priests and the Levites, and all they that were come out of the captivity unto Jerusalem, and appointed the Levites, from twenty years old and upward, to have the oversight of the work of the house of Jehovah. Then stood Joshua with his sons and his brethren, Kadmiel and his sons, the sons of Judah, together, to have the oversight of the workmen in the house of God: the sons of Henadad, with their sons and their brethren the Levites. And when the builders laid the foundation of the temple of Jehovah, they set the priests in their apparel with trumpets, and the Levites the sons of Asaph with cymbals, to praise Jehovah, after the order of David king of Israel. And they sang one to another in praising and giving thanks unto Jehovah, saying, For He is good, for His lovingkindness endureth for ever toward Israel. And all the people shouted with a great shout, when they praised Jehovah, because the foundation of the house of Jehovah was laid. But many of the priests and Levites and heads of fathers' houses, the old men that had seen the first house, when the foundation of this house was laid before their eyes, wept with a loud voice; and many shouted aloud for joy; so that the people could not discern the noise of the shout of joy from the noise of the weeping of the people; for the people shouted with a loud shout, and the noise was heard afar off."

1. WORSHIP.—Worship went on with the work. We say "of course, they ought to worship when building the Lord's house." But every thing we do is building us and we are His house, His temple. So, Paul says that whether we eat or drink or whatever we do we must do it all just that way. The worship was carefully provided for and employed all the arrangements for worship that had been ordained. It was reverent, accurate, hearty.

2. LEADERS.—Those men whose names are given had a talent for their work. Leaders are always required for every enterprise. Philip of Macedon said that an army of deer led by a lion was better than an army of lions led by a deer. They had good blood in them—did those men. They were organizers. They robed the priests in suitable garments, probably from their own private purses re-established the ceremonials and revived the singing of the psalms of David.

3. PATHOS.—Joy filled their hearts as the priests blew their trumpets to call the people to worship and the descendants of Asaph, the famous old choir leader, brought out the clanging cymbals and the choirs sang antiphonally. The crash of song and instruments was magical in its effects and a prolonged shout rent the air. But pathos was mingled with their joy. Tears flowed, because it was the relief from a great tension, the fruition of many hopes and the beginning of a stupendous task. The old people, who had never left the country and remembered the former temple, contrasted the happy past with its throngs and its great men and a compact nation, the magnificence of the former temple and the wealth of those days, with the present situation. Then they had the ark of the covenant, the urim and thummim. They perhaps thought of the dangers ahead of these impulsive young men. So, loud wailing mingled with their joy. Many emotions were blended. It was a stirring time.

II.

Serious Hindrance. iv, 1-5.

"Now when the adversaries of Judah and Benjamin heard that the children of the captivity were building a temple unto Jehovah, the God of Israel; then they drew near to Zerubbabel, and to the heads of fathers' houses, and said unto them, Let us build with you; for we seek your God, as ye do; and we sacrifice unto Him since the days of Esarhaddon, king of Assyria, who brought us up hither. But Zerubbabel and Joshua, and the rest of the heads of fathers' houses of Israel, said unto them, Ye have nothing to do with us in building a house unto our God; but we ourselves together will build unto Jehovah, the God of Israel, as king Cyrus, the king of Persia, hath commanded us. Then the people of the land weakened the hands of the people of Judah, and troubled them in building, and hired counsellors against them, to frustrate their purpose, all the days of Cyrus, king of Persia, even until the reign of Darius, king of Persia."

1. TEMPTATION.—Help was offered which it would have been dangerous to accept. They wanted help, but this was not the right kind. It came from their enemies who simply wanted to get hold of the enterprise and control it. They were the mongrel race up in the northern kingdom, mixture of the Jews who remained when the nation was dismembered, and the foreign nations that the Assyrians brought from the east and planted among them. They were the Samaritans of the time of Jesus. They had a mongrel religion worshipping Jehovah and other gods.

2. RESISTANCE.—Some of the people might have thought it would be wise to accept that kind of aid, but the two leaders turned down the offer with scant courtesy and gave one reason that Cyrus had issued the charter to them alone. But they turned them away, in a curt way, with the implication that Samaritans were beneath them, and they did right. To have taken them in would have violated God's law as to mixed races and marriages and would have entangled them in the very idolatry which had caused their downfall and of which they had been cured. The decision saved the day. It was our victory as well as theirs.

3. EXPOSURE.—Two effects of this decision—exposure of the enemy and the creating of two parties. When the Samaritans were unmasked they began to jeer and sneer. They hired men to go over to Persia and create public sentiment against them; they bribed Persian officials and put a stop to the work till the reign of Darius. For fifteen years nothing more was done.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

The Samaritans having failed to either help or hinder in the rebuilding of the temple, founded a sacred city and sanctuary of their own on Mount Gerizim. About forty or fifty families of them remain at ancient Shechem to this day, and on the scarp of Gerizim they offer their yearly sacrifice.—Wright.

In the weary years criminations and recriminations at Jerusalem lowered the moral tone and cooled the zeal of the Jewish colony. But better days returned with the accession of Darius in the year B. C. 522, fourteen years after the return. Just and honorable, he became another Cyrus to them, and the second founder of the new state.—Geike.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. Why are work and worship necessary to each other?
2. What are "the uses of adversity?"
3. How can memory always stimulate hope?
4. At what point does dangerous compromise usually come in?
5. What are the dangers of the old?
6. What forms of idolatry prevail most among us?

Young Mothers

No young woman, in the joy of coming motherhood, should neglect to prepare her system for the physical ordeal she is to undergo. The health of both she and her coming child depends largely upon the care she bestows upon herself during the waiting months. Mother's Friend prepares the expectant mother's system for the coming event, and its use makes her comfortable during all the term. It works with and for nature, and by gradually expanding all tissues, muscles and tendons, involved, and keeping the breasts in good condition, brings the woman to the crisis in splendid physical condition. The baby too is more apt to be perfect and strong where the mother has thus prepared herself for nature's supreme function. No better advice could be given a young expectant mother than that she use Mother's Friend; it is a medicine that has proven its value in thousands of cases. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

WILL CANCEL ORE COMPACT

Steel Corporation Will Abrogate Great Northern Contract.

Reason for Action Is Withheld By the Officials.

New York, Oct. 19.—The United States Steel corporation will cancel its lease of the Great Northern ore properties, one of the largest leases of the kind which the corporation holds. The rumor, current in Wall street yesterday, was confirmed after business hours from official sources, which declined to be quoted. When the lease will be terminated, is undetermined.

The contract stipulates that it should continue until all the ore was exhausted, unless on January 15, 1915, the lease should be abrogated under the option reserved by the lessee, and in case so determined two years' notice should be given.

The Great Northern properties are estimated to include deposits of 300,000,000 tons of iron ore. Officials of the Steel corporation refuse to state the reasons for the cancellation of the big lease, and this phase is a matter of conjecture.

Increase Every Year.

No figures are available as to how much ore has been mined since the opening of the Great Northern property. The lease provides that the corporation mine 750,000 tons more each successive year, and that the specified amount of ore must be paid for whether it is mined or not. Under this provision the corporation would be required to mine 3,750,000 tons during the present year, or at least pay for that amount, which would mean $3,697,500.

The iron ore properties of the Great Northern were in 1906 transferred to Louis W. Hill, James N. Hill and Walter J. Hill as trustees, the 1,500,000 shares of beneficial interest in the trust equal to the number of shares of stocks held being issued Dec. 2, 1906, to Great Northern stockholders.

NO INTERVENTION IN DISSOLUTION

Independent Tobacco Interest Will Have Hearing, However.

New York, Oct. 19.—There will be no intervention by the so-called independents in the American Tobacco company's proposed plan of reorganization. The United States circuit court yesterday handed down a memorandum so stating, after the filing of a petition by counsel for three associations, stating their opposition. The independents, however, will be given an opportunity to present their objections at a public hearing Oct. 30.

The petition of the independents was filed in the name of the National Cigar Leaf Tobacco association, the Cigar Makers' Association of America, and the Independent Tobacco Salesmen's Association of America.

Opposition was based on the following allegations:

That the petitioners were vitally interested in the dissolution of the Tobacco trust.

That the plan, petitioners believe, is fundamentally defective in that it fails in substance and effect to conform to the requirements of the decree of the United States supreme court.

That adoption of the plan would not in any substantial sense restore free competitive conditions in the tobacco industry, nor remove the domination by the so-called tobacco combination.

TAKES HIMSELF TO INDIANA PENITENTIARY.

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 19.—A young man knocked at the gate of the Jeffersonville, Ind., state prison today, presented his commitment papers to the warden and announced himself ready to begin a prison sentence of from two to fourteen years. He is John Caldwell, 25 years old.

Caldwell was convicted of padding the pay rolls of the Indiana Steel company at Gary, and yesterday was sentenced here. He asked permission to deliver himself at the prison, and said he would pay his own way. Officials of the Steel company said they would vouch for him, and the court so directed.

BIG CROPS IN CARLTON

McKay Brothers Show How Farming Pays in Northern Minnesota.

Potatoes, 320 Bushels to the Acre, Oats 70 and Wheat 32.

Five rutabagas which were placed on exhibition in the lobby of the Hotel McKay today weigh 70 pounds. There are four of them to the bushel. They were raised on the farm of the McKay brothers near Holyoke, Carlton county, 30 miles from Duluth.

W. A. and George T. McKay have about 110 acres of their half section under cultivation and are engaged in dairy and diversified farming. This year they raised 320 bushels of potatoes to the acre. Their oats returned 70 bushels to the acre and weighed 32 pounds to the bushel.

The brothers tried wheat for the first time this year. Their crop ran 32 bushels to the acre. Fodder corn yielded 16 tons to the acre. A second cutting of clover had a stand of two and a half feet. In their dairy, the McKay brothers are getting an average of 5¼ per cent butter fats from the milk, the state requirement being only 3½.

Messrs. McKay have been at work on this farm for seven years and one or the other of them is on the farm all the time. W. A. McKay said this morning what he and his brother are doing can be accomplished by any man of average intelligence, who is not afraid of work, in Northern Minnesota, and that this section has more to offer the farmer than any other part of the Northwest, Canada included.

Y. M. C. A. WORK IN SOUTH AMERICA

Three Representatives of the Association Will Address Duluth Audience.

Sunday afternoon, Oct. 29, at the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A., three South America workers will tell of the work of the association in establishing branches there.

The three men who are to be here and tell Duluthians of the work in South America are Myron A. Clark of Rio de Janiero, Charles D. Hurrey, a traveling association secretary for South America, and John R. Mott, at present in New York.

The fact that a former Y. M. C. A. secretary in Duluth, B. A. Shuman, is secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Rio de Janiero, will make the visit of the South Americans of special interest here.

The men are traveling over the country on a lecture tour, telling the people of the larger cities of the work that is being done in South America.

WRIGHT FLIES WITHOUT ENGINE

Experiments End in Fall But the Inventor Is Delighted.

Manateo, N. C., Oct. 19.—Orville Wright twice broke the world's gliding record yesterday, remaining aloft on each occasion for 1 minute and 15 seconds. On the last of his five flights into the teeth of a 35-mile wind, he fell fourteen feet, but was unhurt. His machine was smashed.

Mr. Wright, despite the damage to the machine, was delighted. He felt that the day's experiments demonstrated his ability to remain in the air without the aid of a motor just as soon as certain alterations are made in the construction of the supporting agency.

The final flight was spectacular. Wright lost control of the aeroplane, with the result that the fall completely wrecked both wings on the right side. When the machine struck the ground it turned turtle and the aviator was hurled a considerable distance.

In the second flight the glider, for the first time since the trials began, stood horizontal and stationary for five seconds at an elevation of sixty feet. Finally it moved forward and downward and came to the ground, 200 feet to the north. This was the best flight of the day.

GARFIELD NOT TO STUMP IN OHIO

His Friends Say He Will Not Work for La Follette.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 19.—Ohio Progressive Republicans may be compelled to organize their campaign in favor of Senator La Follette without the aid of James R. Garfield. Some of his friends are claiming that the pledge adopted at the Chicago conference in behalf of La Follette is not binding, and in face of the fact that Mr. Garfield will depart in a few days for Mexico, believe the organization of the state will have to be made without his help.

Mr. Garfield, home from Chicago, made emphatic denial that he represented ex-President Roosevelt at that gathering, and as to his own attitude, said he stood by the statement he made at Chicago.

THREE KILLED WHEN AUTO HITS ENGINE.

Huntington, Ind., Oct. 19.—Sterling Dubbs, 24 years old, his wife and 3-year-old child were killed and George Bochtold was probably fatally injured here last night when an automobile in which they were riding collided with a Wabash engine at a grade crossing. The automobile struck the engine just back of the pilot.

Put Up Wire Grass.

Middle River, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Waite Grass Carpet company of Oshkosh, Wis., which has had a large crew of men at work here this summer cutting and stacking wire grass for their carpet factory at Oshkosh, have completed their stacking after having put up 1,200 tons of good grass which will now be baled and shipped.

Real surprise awaits you.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

PROMOTER IS FOUND GUILTY

Hunt Comparet Who Operated on Cuyuna Range Goes to Reformatory.

Man Accused of Serious Crime Refuses to Take Advice of Attorney.

Aitkin, Minn., October 19.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Aitkin term of district court closed Tuesday evening. Judge B. F. Wright presided. Among the cases of interest was the State vs. Hunt Comparet, alias J. W. Blake, who was sent to the reformatory for an indefinite period for issuing a check on an Aitkin bank in which he had no account.

Comparet, who is a cripple and well educated, pleaded his own case and made an eloquent plea to the jury. He claimed to be representing Eastern corporations and selling stock and made his headquarters in Deerwood, where he was engaged in promoting, on paper, an electric railway, which was to tap the Cuyuna range.

Howard Wooster, a burly negro, charged with mistreating a 14-year-old girl at a farm house where he had asked her for a drink of water, was found guilty and given an indeterminate sentence at Stillwater.

Ignores Attorney's Advice.

John Hynynen, a Finn with a family in the Old country, was found guilty of having carnal knowledge of a girl of 6 years. The girl lived on a farm adjoining his. He had no attorney and the court appointed one who told him to plead not guilty.

"No," said Hynynen, "I am guilty and I will take my punishment."

Henry C. Hanke of Minneapolis, the treasurer of Hennepin county, who has large interests on the Cuyuna range and near Aitkin, had a civil action in a land matter. The defendant claimed title by eighteen years' adverse possession and by a deed which he said was lost. The case was left to the court for decision.

SEEKING DAMAGES BECAUSE OF FIRE

First of Carlton County Suits Against Northern Pacific Being Tried.

Carlton, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case of Mons Ole Olson vs. Northern Pacific Railway company is occupying the attention of Judge H. A. Dancer and jury in district court here. Mr. Olson lives about four miles north of Wright station.

On or about July 1, 1910, a fire raged through the timber all through that district, burning hundreds of acres of pine and balsams, and among others burned were those of Mr. Olson, according to his complaint. He is suing to recover damages in the amount of $1,927.56. Numerous witnesses are being heard. Mr. Olson was on the stand for several hours yesterday. Attorney Spencer J. Searle has the case for the plaintiff and Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell represent the defendant company. There are half a dozen other cases from the same neighborhood against the same company. It is alleged that the origin of the fire was traced to the company's engines. The attorney for the plaintiff has offered to consolidated all the cases arising out of that fire, but the defense demurred to this, so they will be tried individually, which will draw the term out much longer than otherwise.

WISCONSIN WOMEN MISSIONARIES ELECT.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Officers were elected yesterday by the eastern conference, Women's Missionary society, connected with the English Lutheran Synod of the Northwest, as follows:

President, Mrs. H. K. Myers of Kenosha, Wis.; vice presidents, Mrs. A. F. Sperling and Mrs. A. W. Vogt, both of Milwaukee, and Mrs. L. M. Diehls of Janesville, Wis.; recording secretary, Mrs. William Eckert of Racine, Wis.; corresponding secretary, Mrs. George Hensing of Milwaukee; treasurer, Mrs. J. S. Wittenberg of Cedarburg, Wis.

The conference proper will be held tomorrow, closing the three-day session.

CROOKSTON YOUNG MEN IN POLITICS

Organize Progressive Club and Expect to Nominate Mayor.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—One hundred young men of the city have organized a Young Men's Progressive club to take a hand in municipal affairs. They have indorsed W. R. Lowe, now alderman from the Eighth ward, as a candidate for mayor. He may get the Republican nomination, but the Citizens' party may nominate Mayor McKinnon for another term though he has announced that he is not a candidate. However, if he is nominated it is probable that he will accept and make the run which would result in a very interesting contest as both men stand very high. However, it would be a clean fight as neither candidate would countenance any unfair tactics.

Polk County Corn Contests.

The annual corn contests begin in the public schools of Polk county today. Following the school contests will come the sectional contests Saturday and the county contests next Monday. From the exhibits in the county contests the Polk county entries in the state contest will be selected. Exhibits will also be selected for the land products show at St. Paul in December from this contest.

GREAT FLAX CROP FROM NEW GROUND

Two Men Harvesting Over $60,000 From Newly Broken Ground.

Dickinson, N. D., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The growing of 30,000 bushels of flax on 2,500 acres of land which has heretofore been productive of nothing better than prairie grass is the achievement of C. W. Colgrove of Minneapolis and J. B. Dickson of Mt. Vernon, S. D. The land on which this was accomplished is located in Hunn county, forty miles from the nearest railroad.

The problem of marketing the big crop is being solved through the use of tractor engines, hauling seven big grain tanks each trip, with a total capacity of 700 bushels. It will require over forty different trips with the same sized loads to market the entire product of this big new farm with Taylor, N. D., as the point of marketing. The value of the crop at the prevailing price is over $60,000.

Nearly Through Thrashing.

Thrashing operations on the big farms—there are two of them—are nearly completed. About 800 bushels of flax is being tarashed out each day, and with the operations in progress for a period of about two weeks already, there remains over three weeks more work to be done.

It was on April 17 of this year that the two men commenced breaking up the big tracts of land. Mr. Colgrove had 1,065 acres and Mr. Dickson had 1,400 acres. They are working together in the thrashing of the crop and in the marketing of the same.

G. W. Colgrove is a son of A. L. Colgrove of Minneapolis, and is a graduate of the University of Minnesota. He will plant 3,000 acres to flax next year.

FRAZEE RESIDENT TAKES HIS LIFE

John Smith's Third Attempt to Shuffle Off Meets With Success.

Frazee, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Smith, a middle-aged man, an old resident of Frazee, committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself with a revolver last evening.

The body was found in the Lucas' pasture near Town lake, by a boy who was bringing his cows home. The cause of the suicide is unknown, but it is thought he was mentally deranged.

This is the third attempt at taking his life. He leaves a wife and daughter, Mrs. Huntley.

CROOKSTON PAVING.

Last Block of Test Pavement Is Being Laid.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work was started today on the last block of Westrumite paving to finish a contract which was to have been concluded Sept. 1, but was delayed by inclement weather. The asphalt repair crew is also here for the annual repairs, though none are necessary after ten years' of wear aside from places where gas mains and sewer breaks necessitated cutting the pavement.

Upon the manner in which the new paving stands the wear and tear between now and next spring will the character of paving next summer be determined. If the Westrumite stands up, more will be laid next year, otherwise all the paving next spring will be asphalt. The first block of Westrumite laid on the new paving on Houston avenue is to be torn up and relaid owing to an unlucky mixture and the use of too heavy a roller which made the paving lumpy. Otherwise the new paving meets with very general approval.

BRAINERD WARRANT GOES TO PARIS AND RETURNS.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A city warrant of Brainerd, in its travels, was first cashed in Paris, France, then traveled to New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Chicago, Minneapolis and back to Brainerd into the hands of City Treasurer A. M. Opsahl.

BURDICK WILL NOT MAKE RACE

North Dakota's Lieutenant Governor Is Not After Governorship.

Munich, N. D., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—U. L. Burdick, lieutenant governor of the state, will not be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. He made emphatic announcement to that effect in a statement made public over his own signature yesterday afternoon.

The expense incident to the carrying on of a campaign and the statement that his entrance into the fight for the nomination would even more seriously entangle the factions of the Republican party and add fuel to the flames which might result in the retention of the governorship in the same column that it has been held in during the past six years, are the reasons given by Mr. Burdick for his decision not to make the race.

BLAME BLAZE ON BLIND-PIGGERS

Destruction of North Dakota Depot Connected With Illicit Liquor Sales.

Langdon, N. D., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The theory that the Great Northern depot at Easby was destroyed by incendiaries is entertained by Cavalier county officials and by special agents of the railroad company who are investigating.

The fact that the railroad's records were destroyed has a bearing on the outcome of three blindpig cases at Easby, hearings in which were held yesterday, one being dismissed, one being held, while the third case was taken under advisement. The depot agent had been subpoenaed and had been ordered to bring the records showing all shipments into Easby.

POSTOFFICE SAFE YIELDS TO YEGGS

About $150 in Cash Secured By Burglars at Minnewaukan, N. D.

Minnewaukan, N. D., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—About $150 was obtained by yeggmen who blew the safe of the local postoffice Tuesday night. They gained entrance to the building by cutting out the panels of the rear door, and the job was neat and clean. In blowing the strongbox nitroglycerine was used, and only one charge was necessary. The report was successfully muffled and no evidence of the safe blowing was discovered until yesterday morning.

The postoffice is located in a general store and considerable merchandise also was stolen.

LIBRARIANS TO MEET.

Annual Gathering of North Dakota Association at Jamestown.

Jamestown, N. D., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tomorrow the annual meeting of the North Dakota Library association will be opened here at 2 p. m. There will be five sessions before adjournment Saturday evening.

The principal feature of the session tomorrow will be the annual address by Dr. Max Batt of Fargo, president of the association. The other speakers Friday will be Miss Bessie Baldwin of Williston and National Secretary George B. Utley of the National Library association. In the evening the faculty of Jamestown college will tender a reception to the visitors.

KILLED BY AIRBLAST.

Phenomenon of Michigan Copper District Claims One Life.

Hancock, Mich., Oct. 19.—An air blast yesterday afternoon in the Quincy mine here dislodged tons of earth on the sixty-first level, burying Joseph Richards, aged 40 and killing him instantly. It took five hours to dig the body out.

An air blast is an underground disturbance peculiar to the Quincy. Old working collapsed, compressing the air in underground chambers until it explodes.

The shock shook Houghton and Hancock like an earthquake. Windows were broken in Hancock.

CHARGED WITH SLANDER.

Tolna, N. D., Woman Held for Talking Too Freely.

Lakota, N. D., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Helen Sumner of Tolna, N. D., has been held to the district court on the charge of making slanderous statements about Mrs. Arthur Deerh, a young married woman, who alleged the accused had traduced her.

MANY ARE REGISTERING.

Final Days Bring Many to South Dakota Registration Points.

Dallas, S. D., Oct. 19.—Nearly 5,000 homeseekers arrived yesterday during the day and evening to register for homes on the Rosebud reservation. It was the largest crowd to come since registration began. Dallas received 2,027 and Gregory 2,781. At Rapid City the registration reached several hundred.

Four special trains brought in additional crowds last night and today is expected to bring 5,000 more to the registering point.

Thus far the total registration is 39,392, according to figures given out by the government agents.

There was little excitement yesterday and the crowds were orderly.

GREAT NORTHERN RUMORS.

Report That Company May Extend Line Out of Thief River.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A party of Great Northern engineers have been in this city for a week surveying a connecting link between the Great Northern and the Soo road.

There are reports that the Hill road may run a line out northeast of Thief River Falls towards International Falls. The opening of the great tracts of rich level prairie lands in Eastern Marshall county almost up to the territory tributary to the northern city within the last year is going to compel some railway company to tap that fertile region. It is settled for fifty miles east of this city and is the greatest and best settled territory in the state today without any railway facilities.

LUNCHEON FOR WILSON.

Wisconsin Democrats to Honor New Jersey Governor Oct. 26.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 19.—More than 1,500 Democrats of Wisconsin will attend a luncheon in honor of Governor Wilson of New Jersey, here on Oct. 26 Senator La Follette was to have been present but has advised the officers it will be impossible. On the evening of the same day President Taft will be the guest of honor at a banquet in Milwaukee, attended by over 1,500 Republicans. He will deliver an address at the Auditorium after the banquet.

ST. PAUL MAN SLUGGED THEN ROBBED OF $27.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The police are wrestling with another highway robbery case. Walter Tydaetta of St. Paul claiming to have been lured to a lonely spot under the guise of being shown a lodging house was beaten and robbed of $27. He was unconscious several hours after being beaten before he was able to reach police headquarters with hi sstory giving his assailants chance to escape.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Janesville—The city of Janesville will vote at a special election whether or not it will purchase the Janesville Water company's plant, valued at about $300,000.

Madison—The Dane County Veterans' association at its annual meeting elected the following as officers: President, H. S. Farr; secretary, H. W. Rood; treasurer, W. J. McKay.

Oshkosh—The Fox River Valley Library association will hold its fourteenth annual meeting here Oct. 24 and 25.

Butternut—Farmers in the southern part of Ashland county who raised peas from seed furnished by a seed company, brought in their crop here last week. They were under contract to return the seed furnished them and to sell the remainder to the company at $1.40 per bushel. The average yield per acre was about eighteen bushels, and while the farmers were entirely satisfied with the terms of the contract, they say that by raising the ordinary field pea they can do much better.

Ashland — On or before the next meeting of the common council, Mayor Dodd will appoint a supervisor to succeed W. C. Knowles of the Sixth ward, who resigned to become register of deeds. Among those mentioned for the appointment are Tony Lodle, the well-known shoe man; M. H. Byrnes, superintendent of the John Schroeder Labor company; Ed. Bekken, the present city weighmaster, and Louis Berg, carpenter.

Madison—According to an opinion by the attorney general's department, legislative employes are not entitled to pay for Sundays. This opinion was handed down as a result of a request from Secretary of State Frear who recently became suspicious that the former practice of paying the eighty-four legislative employes and special legislative committee employes for Sundays was unlawful.

Racine—The police are still searching for the second story man who Tuesday night entered the residence of Frank K. Bull, the thrashing machine millionaire, and stole jewels valued at $1,500 belonging to Mrs. Benjamin J. Ward of New York, a guest at the recent Reid-Bull wedding.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Houghton—The funeral was held Tuesday of Gottlieb Zerbst, aged 52, an old resident of Houghton, who died Saturday night following an illness extending over eleven years. Mr. Zerbst was unable to work for the past decade. He is survived by his wife, three brothers and one sister, all of Houghton.

Calumet—Mrs. Susan Brown, aged 61, died early Tuesday morning, after a lengthy illness at the home of her son, William Thomas, on Amygdaloid street, Laurium. Other than her son no known relatives survive in the Copper country. The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon.

Hancock—A new Catholic parish was organized on Sunday at the old chapel on Quincy hill, where services will be conducted regularly by Father Kron at 8 and 10 o'clock a. m. Committees representing the various nationalities were chosen at a meeting held Sunday afternoon.

Houghton—At a statutory meeting of the Houghton county board of supervisors Tuesday, the report of the late Mine Inspector Peter Dawe was read. It showed a total of fifty-one fatalities in the Copper country up to and including Sept. 20.

Ishpeming—Mary Priscilla Sanders, the daughter of Fred Sanders, Sr., died Tuesday of diphtheria. She was 14½ years old. This is the third member of the family who has died during the past two weeks from diphtheria, her sister, Mrs. Belting, and niece, Dorothy Sanders, having passed away of the same disease. Her two brothers are now confined to their home with the same sickness.

Marquette—James Mooney, a young man from Prince Edward's Island, who has never learned the useful art of swimming, determined to make a short cut on his way from the city to the Dead river boarding house, by crossing the stream on a log in lumberjack style Monday evening. In the middle of the stream, where the water is deep, he lost his balance, and was going down for the third time when rescued by fellow boarders.

Negaunee—The funeral of the late Mrs. William Walton was held Tuesday afternoon from the First Methodist Episcopal church, Dr. J. G. Haller, the pastor, condicting the services. A delegation of members of the Ladies of the Golden Eagle society, of which the deceased was a member, attended the obsequies.

Mackinac Island—John Hoban, who died here, was a pioneer settler. Mr. and Mrs. Hoban came to the island in the year 1840, and had since resided here. For many years Mr. Hoban was the proprietor of the Chicago house, although in late years his sons have managed the business. The deceased had attained the age of 78 years. He is survived by eleven children, five boys and six girls.

Marquette—From the number of wolf pelts that have been presented at the county clerk's office this week, the animals must be easier than usual to catch this fall. John Schmit of Ely township brought in four Monday, which he killed in Tilden township, and Tuesday Rollin Ames, the Channing trapper, came to Marquette with three caught in Republic township.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Aberdeen, S. D.—Captain C. H. Stinchfield, civil war veteran, died on Monday at the soldiers' home located at Hot Springs. His body was shipped to Litchfield, Minn., for interment. Capt. Stinchfield was one of the old setlers of Columbia and Brown county. His death was caused from old age.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Arthur Wilson, shipping clerk at the Grand Forks Mercantile company, died at an early hour Tuesday at Michael's hospital, following a week's illness from kidney trouble. He resided at 2002 Cheyenne avenue. His wife and five children survive.

Minot, N. D.—A campaign for good roads in western North Dakota was started Tuesday by the Minot Commercial club which arranged to hold, Friday evening, Oct. 20, a mammoth good roads dinner. B. H. Burrell of Washington, D. C., highway engineer, is to give a stereopticon lecture on "Country Roads and Small City Paving."

Fargo, N. D.—Monday night, after a very short illness, Mrs. Mary Legross of Ada, Minn., died at a local hospital. She had been at the hospital only three hours when her demise occurred. The deceased is 72 years old and a long-time resident of Norman county, Minn., making her home at Ada during the later years of her life.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Dinnie brothers have completed the paving work in the alley between University and International avenues. Owing to the fact that nearly all of the merchants are having concrete laid over the rear end of their lots, filling between the buildings and the alley line, the work is taking more time than was originally supposed, but it is expected that it will be completed by the latter part of next week.

Sheyenne, N. D.—Ernest Egbert, who was working for R. B. Warren out on the reservation, was terribly injured by a heavy engine attached to a gang plow passing over his right hip and crushing it.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The Maple Bay Manufacturing plant, just purchased by the North Star Manufacturing Works company, incorporated, with F. S. Houghton, A. P. Clifford and Joseph Bell De Reiner, all of this city, at the head, suffered a $1,000 loss by fire Tuesday evening. The main building was completely destroyed by a blaze which started in the blacksmith shop.

Pierre, S. D.—Residents of the vicinity of the prairie dog towns of the western part of the state report warm October days to be "good hunting" for rattlesnakes, which seek the dog towns for winter protection. One man in Stanley county reports a "bag" of thirty in one day, and another in the same vicinity showed up with fifteen for his day's work.

Minot, N. D.—The George H. Webster theatrical exchange of Fargo, which owns seventy-six theaters in the United States and Canada, has bought the Arcade theater at Minot, and will take possession on Nov. 5.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Stillwater—Stillwater had its tag day Tuesday in the interest of the city hospital to provide additional funds for building. Approximately $1,500 was raised. The women board of managers, with about 100 assistants, made a complete canvass of the city in autos.

Fergus Falls—J. P. Johnson of this city, has taken the contract to erect a two-story brick office building for the Northern Light company at Wahpeton, and left for that place with five men Monday afternoon. He will begin work at once and hopes to have the structure enclosed before cold weather.

International Falls—Editor W. J. Murphy of the Minneapolis Tribune and son, E. J., came from that city Monday and are the guests of President E. W. Backus of the power company.

St. Cloud—Alexander Bisset, a farmer living east of the city, was fined $5 Tuesday by Justice Donohue for inhuman treatment imposed upon a sheep last week. On complaint of Secretary N. K. Hunt of the local Humane society, a warrant was issued for Bisset, charging him with hauling a sheep with its legs tied together rather than placing the animal in a crate in such a manner as to allow him to stand erect.

Moorhead—Leslie Welter, up to Monday evening, had shipped 167 cars of potatoes, and the season is yet young. Mr. Welter states that the market is the best in years on account of the quality of the stock.

Crookston—The date for the big cathedral bazar which was to have commenced Oct. 24, has been postponed until Nov. 20, and will last a week, as was planned.

Karlstad—Walter J. Hill, brother of President Louis Hill of the Great Northern railroad, is busy with a large crew of men on his farm at Northcote, Kittson county, building roads and digging ditches through his land.

Bemidji—As a result of recent negotiations, Miss Leah H. Berman becomes the active head of a new insurance company here and probably is the only young woman in Minnesota who is engaged in the general insurance business. Miss Berman is identified with the Bemidji Insurance Agency, Inc., just incorporated.

St. Cloud—H. J. Lieberman of Minneapolis, a wine merchant, appeared before Justice Donohue Tuesday upon the charge of selling impure wine in the city. He pleaded not guilty and the date for hearing was set for Oct. 30. The warrant was issued upon the complaint of W. G. Graham of Long Prairie, deputy pure food commissioner.

Owatonna—The board of directors of the Sognalaget, the great Norwegian organization which is to hold its next annual meeting in Owatonna, met in this city Sunday and commenced preparations for the big event. The Sognalaget meeting will be held on June 5, and 6, and will bring about 1,200 people to the city.

Mankato—The Northwestern road will run a special train from Tracy to Mankato on Taft day, Oct. 24. The train will leave Tracy at 6:30 a. m., arriving here at 9:55 a. m., and returning the train will leave Mankato about 4 or 4:30 p. m. The train will be run the old way, by way of Courtland and St. Peter.

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

Use Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and Your Gray Hair Will Quickly Vanish.

Gray hair is a mark of age, and nothing that can be said as to its beauty will offset the disadvantages of this mark of age set upon your brow.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy darkens the hair and restores it to its youthful beauty. Our grandmothers and their grandmothers before them used sage and sulphur for darkening their hair. Nothing has ever been found more effective for this purpose than these two time-honored remedies, but Wyeth, a modern chemist, has combined the two with other ingredients, which makes a delightful dressing for the hair, and which not only removes every trace of dandruff but promotes the growth of the hair. It also stops the hair from falling out, and makes it beautiful.

All druggists are authorized to refund the money if it fails to do exactly as represented.

Don't neglect your hair and don't resort to old-time hair dyes. Get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist today, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' use.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Special agent, Max Wirth, 13 West Superior street.

ENDS DYSPEPSIA IN FEW MINUTES

Heartburn, Gas, Indigestion and All Stomach Misery Vanishes.

There would not be a case of indigestion here if readers who are subject to Stomach trouble knew the tremendous anti-ferment and digestive virtue contained in Diapepsin. This harmless preparation will digest a heavy meal without the slightest fuss or discomfort, and relieve the sourest acid stomach in five minutes, besides overcoming all foul, Nauseous odors from the breath.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on each 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily understand why this promptly cures Indigestion and removes such symptoms as Heartburn, a feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, Belching of Gas and Eructations of undigested food, water brash, Nauseau, Headache, Biliousness and many other bad symptoms; and, besides, you will not need laxatives to keep your stomach, liver and intestines clean and fresh.

If your Stomach is sour and full of gas, or your food doesn't digest, and your meals don't seem to fit, why not get a 50-cent case from your druggist and make life worth living? Absolute relief from Stomach misery and perfect digestion of anything you eat is sure to follow five minutes after, and, besides, one 50-cent case is sufficient to cure a whole family of such trouble.

ECZEMA REMEDY ALSO WASHES PIMPLES AWAY

No remedy that I have ever sold for Eczema, Psoriasis, and all other diseases of the skin has given more thorough satisfaction than the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema.

A 25c trial bottle can be secured at once.

My patrons find that D. D. D. not only gives instant relief to the itching, burning skin, quickly driving out all the disease germs, but it is also the most delightful wash for the complexion they ever used. Absolutely harmless and pleasant to use, D. D. D. cleanses the skin of all minor impurities, such as rashes and pimples, over night, and leaves the skin clear and smooth as that of a child.

It is now generally known that there is nothing that can equal D. D. D. as a household remedy for all skin troubles, no matter what they are.

I, myself, am so fully convinced of the merits of this wonderful remedy that I will charge you nothing if the first full size bottle of D. D. D. does not make good every claim.

Better drop in and talk it over with me anyhow.

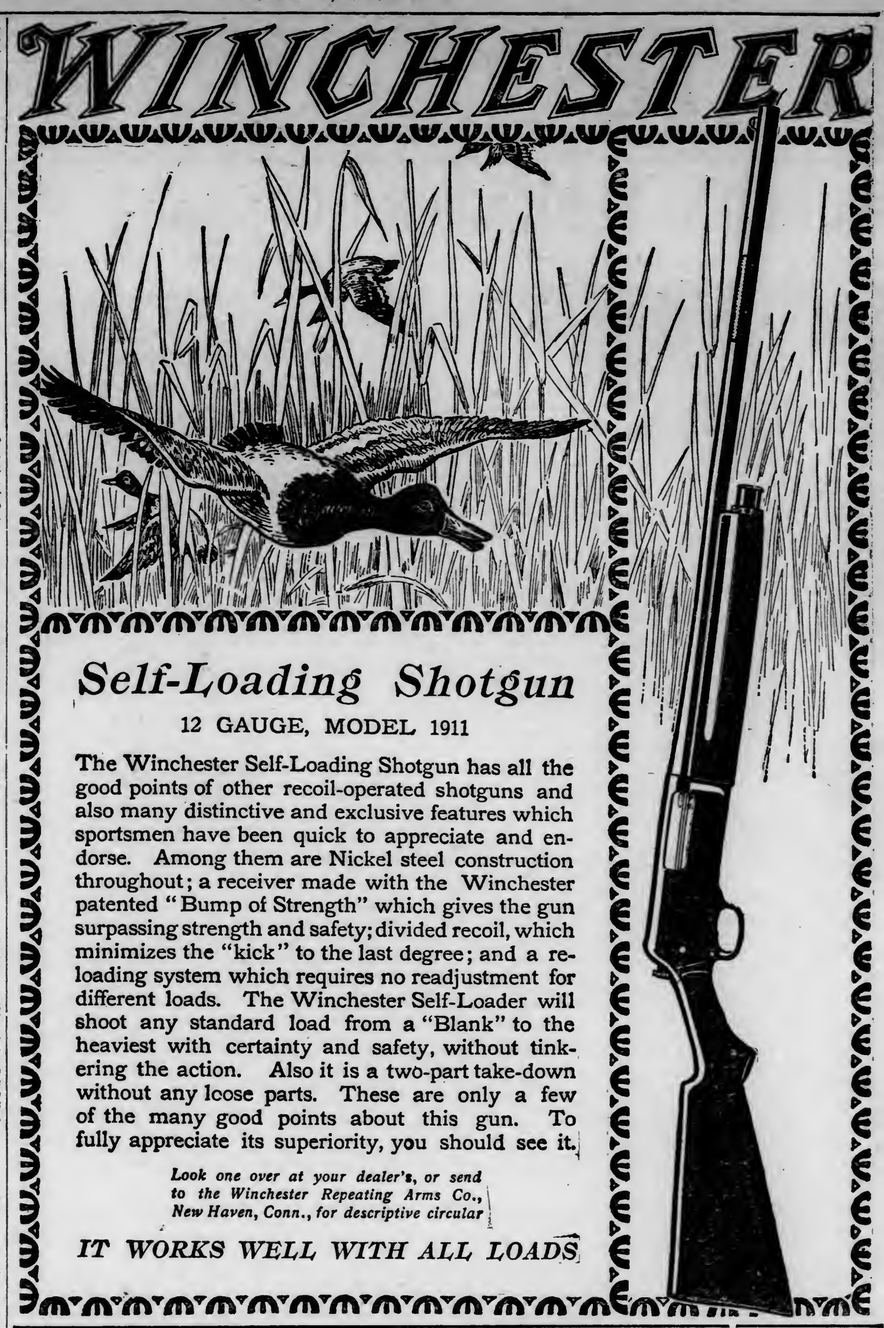

Wm. A. Abbett, 205 West Superior street, 902 East Second street and 101 West Fourth street.

Particularly the Ladies.

Not only pleasant and refreshing to the taste, but gently cleansing and sweetening to the system, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is particularly adapted to ladies and children, and beneficial in all cases in which a wholesome, strengthening and effective laxative should be used. It is perfectly safe at all times and dispels colds, headaches and the pains caused by indigestion and constipation so promptly and effectively that it is the one perfect family laxative which gives satisfaction to all and is recommended by millions of families who have used it and who have personal knowledge of its excellence.

Its wonderful popularity, however, has led unscrupulous dealers to offer imitations which act unsatisfactorily. Therefore, when buying, to get its beneficial effects, always note the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package of the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

For sale by all leading druggists. Price 50 cents per bottle.

Self-Loading Shotgun

12 GAUGE, MODEL 1911

The Winchester Self-Loading Shotgun has all the good points of other recoil-operated shotguns and also many distinctive and exclusive features which sportsmen have been quick to appreciate and endorse. Among them are Nickel steel construction throughout; a receiver made with the Winchester patented "Bump of Strength" which gives the gun surpassing strength and safety; divided recoil, which minimizes the "kick" to the last degree; and a reloading system which requires no readjustment for different loads. The Winchester Self-Loader will shoot any standard load from a "Blank" to the heaviest with certainty and safety, without tinkering the action. Also it is a two-part take-down without any loose parts. These are only a few of the many good points about this gun. To fully appreciate its superiority, you should see it.

WORLD'S SERIES CROWDS AND PLAYERS AS CAUGHT BY THE CAMERA MAN

CROWD AT THE FIRST GAME OF THE WORLD'S SERIES AT THE POLO GROUNDS.

DOYLE AND COLLINS.

DOPE IS BADLY TREATED IN THE PRESENT SERIES

Many Upsets Have Occurred in the Three Games Between the Giants and Athletics — Square Sport — Poor Old Bat Nelson.

(BY BRUCE.)

SAID the little man from Lakeside, What is this thing I hear about dope?" The man with the calabash pipe knocked the ashes out its bowl before he carefully answered, "It's something that sets people to talking." The red headed man butted in at this juncture and the tangle became involved and exceedingly complex.

Yes, just what is dope? It is something about somebody that appeals to the public mind. It is supposed to be inside stuff, plucked from the inner sanctum, so to speak, where solemn-visaged servants stand guard at the entrance. But sometimes the dear old dope is so far from the inside that we are inclined to wonder just where it originated.

Dope is something that we talk about in cigar stores, in the drug store, in barber shops, often in the business office, sometimes in "My office," and on the rear ends of street cars. Dope, is many sided opinions boiled down to a sharp point, like a huge log cut to a dazzling white flag staff, the shavings in the case of the reduced log standing for the useless opinions thrown off in arriving at the final stage of expert dope.

Dope often sits up and goes through all its little tricks with nary a slip. At other times it won't do a single little trick. When the dope is right, the owner is liable to turn to the audience and say, "I don't want to brag, but I would like to call attention to a few observations I made just the other day."

On the other hand, when the dope has been a very naughty little boy, the father to the thought as a rule says nothing further, going on the theory that the public very soon forgets.

The dope in the case of Marquard might have been right had the Rube, or Chief Myers, not made the mistake of serving Frank Baker with a fast, waist-high ball on the inside of the plate, in the second game of the series, played at Philadelphia. The dope was strong for the wide curves of the man who has been mystifying the batters in the National league the present season, believing these curves would baffle the sturdy and strong hitters of the Philadelphia club.

The dope might have been right, too, had Marquard served Baker with a curve on the third strike. Baker had two on him when the fast one on the inside came over, or started to come over. He had missed two of the beautiful curves of the Frenchman, and then the dope received a black eye through the waist-high fast one previously mentioned.

It is dope that we like to talk of, and there have been columns of it on the three games thus far played, and columns and columns printed before any of the games were played. It makes one heavy of head and dim of eye to read even part of the expert dope that has come before and with the series.

Right now the dope is that had Marquard given Baker one of his beautifully breaking curves instead of that waist-high fast one on the inside corner of the plate, Baker would never have hit that home run in the second game of the series and the Giants might have annexed two in a row.

Before the first game of the series started the New York brand of dope, and dope manufactured in other sections of the country, too, had it that the Giants would run wild on the Philadelphia catchers. So far Thomas and Lapp have grasped that particular specimen firmly by the neck and choked it into humble submission.

As we watch the playing of the series with breathless interest we observe those columns of dope rudely shattered. In some sorry cases the dear dope has been soundly spanked and sent to bed without even the least bit of cold supper. But in the defense of dope let us say that it is one of the interesting things in this tired old world, that it sends many of us to bed with light hearts, and has even convinced some barbers that they should take elocution lessons.

Gentlemen, let us all take off our hats to Mr. Dope.

JUST the other day a man from up the Copper country wrote to a man in this city that he had $1,000 to wager one way or the other in the coming wrestling match between Pilakoff and Ordemann. The man who received the letter from his friend in the Copper country, looked up some of the promoters and eagerly inquired for tips. He was told flatly that gambling was not permitted here.

So long as professional sport continues, there will be the croaker ready to cry fake without provocation. There are those whose innate natures are insincere and who from their cramped and narrow viewpoint are ready to declare that the old liberty bell is an imitation. There are men you meet around the camp fires of sport who are ready to say that professional baseball is crooked.

Wrestling and boxing come in for their share of abuse. In many cases it has been the fault of the promoters. In cases where the promoters are wise they will remove the temptations and thus reduce to the minimum the motives for fakes and underhand methods.

There have been chances to pull crooked money in Duluth through the miserable channel of the "sure thing" bet. This is quite below the method employed by the strong arm man. To the credit of wrestling in this city let it be said that betting has been frowned upon and positively prohibited. Thus the man in the habit of crying fake from that mean streak in his nature is robbed of a two-edged tool of destruction.

The man who had a roll to wager on the outcome of the Pilakoff-Ordemann match may be saved from losing it or prevented from winning a piece of velvet. But as the case stands he has probably a higher conception of wrestling as it is conducted here.

ONCE there was a king so confident of his divine will and so swelled on his own picture that he took his little throne room chair out on the sea shore and called the rising ocean names and dared it to come up and wet his royal anklets.

There was also an old woman, perhaps one of the mediaeval members of the pioneer order of suffragettes, who tried to sweep back the ocean with a broom that has seen better days.

Both of these persons had a stubborn and mulish disposition, it would seem, and were beaten one of those long Lester Park blocks before they started their little quarrel with the ocean.

But looking calmly and without the least prejudice at the laudable but equally stubborn methods of Battling Nelson to fight his way to that point where he can make Adolph Wolgast give him a return battle, we are compelled to believe that the Battler would prove equally successful trying to wash the tidal waves back with that old broom Ron Smith nearly wore to shreds last winter.

WHITE SOX WIN TITLE

American Leaguers Take Fourth Straight Game From the Cubs.

Mordecai Brown Knocked Out of the Box in Five Innings.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—With Walsh pitching splendid ball, the Chicago American league team yesterday won its fourth straight game from the Chicago Nationals 7 to 2, thereby ending the series for the Chicago championship.

Brown, who opposed Walsh in the first game of the series, started the game, but was replaced by Cheney after allowing eleven safeties, two of which were doubles, in five innings. The American leaguers out-hit the Nationals more than two to one, getting twelve hits off Brown and Cheney, while Walsh held his opponents to five.

The Sox started in the first when McConnell was hit by a pitched ball, went to second on Lord's single, advanced to third on McIntyre's long fly and scored on Bodie's out. Callahan singled, scoring Lord, but was caught stealing. The Cubs also scored in the first, Evers hitting safely and counting on Schulte's single to center.

Timely Hits by Sox.

In the third the Sox added two more runs. With Lord out, McIntyre doubled and Bodie walked. Callahan forced McIntyre at third and Tannehill singled, scoring Bodie. Zeider's hit to right scored Callahan.

Two more runs were counted by the Sox in the fifth on McIntyre's pass, Tinker's error, Bodie's grounder and Tannehill's double. The Cubs made their second run in the fifth when Goode, batting for Brown, singled, went to third on Evers' hit to center, and scored on Tinker's grounder.

The Americans scored their final tally in the sixth when Bodie was passed, stole second and counted on Callahan's single to right.

Officials of the National baseball commission, under the auspices of which the series was played, announced yesterday's attendance as 22,986, and the receipts at $17,006.50. The total attendance for the four games was 99,359 and the receipts $70,219.50.

LEAGUE HOCKEY TONIGHT!

JEFFERSONS vs. BIG DULUTHS
AUDITORIUM RINK. Game Called 9 p. m.

UNIVERSITY TEAM IS NOT PRACTICING ENOUGH.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The University of North Dakota football team is not getting the practice work that it had hoped for this week in preparation of the game of Saturday when the Hamline aggregation will be faced on the local gridiron. There has been a seeming failure to inject the right kind of enthusiasm into the scrimmage, which was evidenced last night when the Grand Forks high school made two touchdowns in scrimmage with the Flickertails.

Coach Dunlop is working hard to put the team into condition for the game but is not very hopeful at the present prosvects.

CROSBY TEAM MADE GOOD SEASON'S RECORD.

During the past season the Crosby baseball team has made a great record and has won the baseball championship of the Cuyuna range. The team has played twenty-one games, winning thirteen and losing eight. The team was made up of Crosby players and received good support during the season by the citizens of Crosby. A. E. Brink was manager of the team and handled it in a very creditable manner. Brainerd, Wadena, Duluth and Aitkin were among the teams played during the season.

BRYANT DEFEATS McGINNIS IN ROLLER SKATING RACE.

Frank Bryant, the speedy youngster who has held the roller skating championship of the Head of the Lakes for three years, last night demonstrated that he is still the fastest skater in these parts by taking the mile match race at the Auditorium from Johnny McGinnis. Bryant won the contest in 3:28.

The contest was a pretty one. Bryant led for a while and then McGinnis jumped into the lead on one of the corners. But in the spurt the champion showed his skill and speed and passed the flying McGinnis.

Saturday evening the second race of the series will be skated. In the event of a third contest being necessary, the man making the fastest time in the two races will have the choice of distance for the third race.

INDOOR LEAGUE FORMED.

Eight Clubs Organized Into Fast Head of Lakes Baseball Association.

An indoor baseball league yas formed last evening when a number of representatives of local teams met at the Y. M. C. A. building. The league is called the Duluth-Superior Indoor Baseball league, and will be composed of the following teams: Y. M. C. A., Catholic Athletic club, Cathedral High school, Young Men's Sodality, Big Duluths, Kenney & Anker, Great Northern Athletic club of Superior and the Young Men's Catholic club of Superior.

The games will be played at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, the gymnasium of the C. A. C., the Sodality hall, the Fairmont pavilion and in the Auditorium of the Young Men's Catholic club of Superior.

Ray Johns was elected president of the new organization, Carl Lingwall, vice president, and Brother Justus of the C. A. C., secretary and treasurer.

The first game will be played tomorrow evening between the Cathedral high school and the Big Duluths at the C. A. C. gymnasium. A meeting will be held Monday evening to perfect the constitution.

SAILOR HAS CHALLENGES.

Suter and Makie Are Anxious to Wrestle the Marine.

Otto Suter, the famous Cleveland welterweight wrestler, has written here in search of a finish match with Sailor Jack, the great little wrestler of this city. Suter wants to come here and meet Jack in a contest that will decide the welterweight championship of the world.

John Makie, who claims the lightweight championship of New England, and who hails from Norwood, Mass., has also written for a match with the sailor. Makie claims to have beaten all of the good boys in the New England states.

Messages are flying over the Northwest at the present time in an effort to locate Jack. He is wanted to meet Joe Carr here on the evening of Oct. 26, when Pilakoff and Ordemann will settle a question of ability on the mat.

ST. LOUIS TRAP SHOOTER MAKES GREAT RECORD.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 19.—C. G. Spencer, a local professional, made what is considered a remarkable record at yesterday's session of the Interstate trap shooters post season tournament by breaking 199 target out of a possible 200. He had a straight run of 144.

Spencer's work makes him high man in the contest for the year's high professional average. He is fifty targets down on 1,700. J. R. Taylor broke 193 and is second with a year's record of 1,649 out of a possible 1,700. Lester S. German of Wilmington, Del., broke 195 targets and holds a record of 1,647 for the year.

Jay R. Graham of Ingleside, Ill., featured the amateur shooting by breaking 189 out of a possible 200.

OLD RIVALS TO MEET.

Jeffersons and Big Duluths Will Hook Up in Hockey Game.

One of the very best hockey games of the present season is expected to be played at the Auditorium rink this evening when the Jeffersons and Big Duluths hook up in the second game of the regularly scheduled roller hockey contests.

Both the Jeffersons and Big Duluths have strong teams. Both teams have been practicing every day for the past week. Roller hockey has made a decided hit in Duluth and with the success of the league games assured it is expected that some very fast games will be played. As both the Jeffersons and Big Duluths are out for the flag, the contest scheduled for this evening should be a fast and interesting hockey game from the first referee's whistle.

The Jeffersons are said to have a strong team in the field, while the strength of the Big Duluths has been shown in some of the exhibition games played before the opening of the regular season.

Young Miller Matched.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 19.—Now that Henry Gehring, world's middleweight champion, has agreed to wrestle Walter Miller in a return match at the St. Paul Auditorium on the evening of Nov. 7, the question of a referee for the big contest must be settled. Steve Koen, the former St. Paul welterweight champion, worked as third man in the first Miller-Gehring match and Gehring undoubtedly will demand that he again referee. Miller is willing that Koen officiate, but, of course, that question will not be settled for a week or two.

GREEN ELEVEN TO FACE THE HUSKY CORNHUSKERS

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 19.—Minnesota coaches are working like beavers these days for the entertainment of the Cornhuskers Saturday and the task ahead of them calls for their full abilities and attention.

Minnesota is forced this season to take on the Nebraskans with a provisional team. Conditions at Northrop field are such that the team has not been picked and will not be picked until after the Nebraska game. The coaches are working for the conference season and not until after the struggle with the Cornhuskers will the material be fully sifted and the aggregation be able to get down to the real hard work of the year.

The slow development of green men has been further handicapped by the necessity of developing a quarterback. For the last two seasons Minnesota has had quick developing teams as the backfield was veteran, and a coach with a veteran set of backs can jump the line proposition and whip it into shape in short order if the material is present. But when it is necessary to build a line as well as a backfield the work becomes more or less of a task of herculean proportions.

Similar to 1908.

Three years ago Minnesota was faced with the same conditions and the same slow development indicated for this season. That was one of the most disastrous years in Gopher football, but at the conclusion of the work the players came into their own and gave Carlisle a historic beating. It takes time to whip a team into shape, especially if it is necessary to teach rudimentary football, then formations and then pound the speed and team play idea into the willing but ignorant candidates. This season the eligibility question was not settled until Oct. 6, one day in advance of the second game of the season. A football team must have the basic idea of the game well grounded into it before there can be any start toward team play or trick work. This work has been necessary at a time of the year in which the teams of 1909 and 1910 were getting the fancy touches and speeding up.

Injuries have cut into the Gopher practice season to a marked degree this year. Shaughnessy, a promising youngster, has not been in uniform since the South Dakota game. That was the first football game in which he ever participated. Lawler has a bad ankle and has not been able to work in scrimmage or signal work. He was a promising looking youngster, whose basketball experience and speed had made him look as though he might develop into a sensational backfield man.

Rosenwald was hurt in the South Dakota game and unable to work last week. Randall, a left guard on Sig Harris' team last year has just joined the squad, and Heller, the fastest charging forward on the second team last year, is getting into the work with vim and vigor. Lucium Smith, a player who was overlooked to some extent last year, is beginning to loom up. He has been switched all around in emergency positions, and in the Michigan game last year went in at the tackle position after Young was hurt, and played a creditable game. He is a good punter and dropkicker and is being developed along these lines.

Frank Lacks Pep.

Frank is a veteran whose playing lacks the ginger and dash he should exhibit. He is a big, strong, heavy chap who should show more aggressiveness, as he is physically fit to hold his own with anything he can encounter in conference circles. His basketball last winter should be a big help to him, but to be a first-class player Frank should get more life and decision into his work. He has played enough football to overcome his hesitancy and indecision, his weak point.

Aldworth and Tobin, candidates for end position, are a pair of youngsters catching the eye of Dr. Williams, and both are speedy and nervy in their work.

Morrell is back in the lineup, trying for center, but is meeting with a sharp candidacy on the part of McEwan. If Morrell should not make center again, it seems certain he will be able to land a guard position as he is using his experience to good advantage in the work. He is rounding into good physical condition, being overweight when he first "joined out." McAlmon and Hayward are working for positions in the backfield. McAlmon shows football sense and splendid speed. Hayward is good in open field footwork, and, like McAlmon, seems to take to football naturally.

Capron is showing marked improvement in the headwork of his football career. At the start of the season his weakness was an apparent inability to master signals and remember his place in formations. He was placed on the second team for a night or two and this acted as a spur on the youngster. He settled down to serious work and his improvement has been marked by its speed and thoroughness. Physically and speed considered, Capron leaves nothing to be desired. Rube Johnson is a candidate for quarter and is coming along rapidly. Lawler was also trying for this position and would have given any of the candidates a hard rub had not his bad ankle handicapped him. There is still time for him to get going and demand an accounting.

Pony Back Field Probable.

It seems certain that Minnesota is to have another pony back field so far as quarters and halves are concerned. Pickering at fullback balances up the weight fairly well, but it is still a pony back field, all save Pick weighing under 160 pounds. Minnesota has used pony back fields for two or three years and with a heavy, strong, speedy line it works satisfactorily. Stevens is not getting into his proper stride just yet, showing an uncertainty and slowness in starting that is worrying the coaches.

Another element lacking in Minnesota football this season seems to be the proper kind of fighting spirit. Powers, Frank, Stevens and Pickering should take the lead in spreading the old Minnesota sort of fighting vim. It was needed, and needed badly, in the major part of the South Dakota game.

The material is good and willing. The only handicap is the greenness of the men and this it will be hard to overcome before the November games of the schedule. The team has made material progress i nthe period since the South Dakota game and the endeavor has been to build up an aggregation capable of handling the Cornhuskers. The Cornhuskers have announced themselves as the best ever and a hard-fought game seems certain, but there is no paralysis of fear in the Minnesota camp. Great teams have come from Nebraska before, and gone home losers. The Gophers believe they can turn the trick again, even though the squad and the team is not working at present with the speed and certainty, marking this stage of the season for the last two years. The situation seems to call for a general get-together, a rally and a strong, hard fight. Once Nebraska is out of the way, there appears to be nothing in the way of another good chance for a western championship.

NEBRASKA WORKS HARD FOR GOPHERS

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 19.—Jumbo Stiehm and his Cornhuskers began the final work of preparation for the Minnesota game under conditions a bit discouraging. A soaking rain forbade the use of Nebraska's new gridiron for scrimmage purposes and Stiehm was compelled to bundle his squad into street cars and make the four-mile journey to the university farm. Herb Potter, running mate to Jerry Warner in the quarterback position, was the only regular absent from the drill. Potter was a bit bunged up in the bout with the Manhattan Aggies and was not permitted to get into the scrimmaging. Pracice is in the open at the farm, but a picket line was established and no strangers were permitted to even get close to the farm gridiron.

With ex-Captain John Westover and Prof. Fred Hunter, both football grads, to give assistance in the coaching, Stiehm devoted the first afternoon of the week to working out a series of new formations for special use in the battle with the Gophers. After nearly an hour of signal practice, the regulars tried out the new plays on the freshmen. Stiehm anticipated raggedness of play in the first actual test of the new formations and was not alarmed merely because the first team could register but one touchdown in the scrimmage drill. Another quota of new formation was given out in the Tuesday practice, while the Wednesday and Thursday sessions are to be marked by the stiffest scrimmage sessions of the season to date.

The line is the source of most of Stehm's anxieties. With two sets of sprinters available for the back field, the list including such speedsters as Owen and Ernest Frank, Racely, Warner and Potter, the Cornhusker instructor feels that the backs should render a good accounting. The bulk of the individual coaching, therefore, will be exerted toward drilling the forwards, who must smash Minnesota's formations before they get under headway or the Gophers' heavier backs may be found repeating their romp of a year ago, when the Cornhuskers were so decisively trimmed.

Mohawks Want Games.

The manager of the Mohawk football team has issued a challenge to any 120-pound football team in the city. The challenge is broad and states that games will be played at any time and at any place. All challenges for games printed in The Herald will be answered by the Mohawk manager.

Jeffersons and Broadways.

The Jefferson Athletic club football team will clash with the Broadways of Superior at Hislop park, Sunday afternoon. The members of the club will leave Third avenue east at 2 o'clock Sunday in a chartered car. All of the old players of the Jeffersons will be in the game.

McCoy Has Nerve.

New York, Oct. 19.—Norman Selby, better known as "Kid McCoy," is to lead another bride to the altar. It will be his eighth venture in thirteen and a half years. His latest wife is to be Mrs. Edna Valentine Hein, daughter of the mining head of the South American firm of Valentine brothers. Mrs. Hein's father is called the "Honduran king." McCoy was named as a co-respondent in a cross bill that Mr. Hein put in in answer to his wife's suit for divorce in April of last year.

Congressman Miller Sends Virginia Encouragement About Public Building.

Treasury Department Hopes to Have Plans Ready in Few Months.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—City Attorney Otto A. Poirier has received a letter from Congressman C. B. Miller relative to the progress being made to secure a postoffice building here. The appropriation was made by congress about two years ago. Last June Mr. Miller was informed by the supervising architect of the treasury department that the plans for the Virginia postoffice building were already drawn and only awaited the approval of the president and that work on the building would be possible in August or September of this year.

A few days ago Assistant Secretary of the United States Treasurer R. O. Bailey wrote Mr. Miller saying that the treasury department was now ready to take up the matter of drawing plans for the Virginia postoffice building and that, if nothing unforseen developed, it would be possible to have the plans drawn this month and advertise for bids in time to let the contract in January, providing the bids were satisfactory.

Start Work in Spring.

After the contract is let, said the secretary, it would probably be possible to begin construction work early next spring. The congressman replied that Virginia was entitled to quicker action than that and intimated that the people of this city were furious over the delay, which he was unable to explain. He said that since the appropriation for the building was made Virginia had trebled in population and that really conditions as to the postoffice were almost intolerable. The reply of the assistant secretary of the treasury is awaited with considerable interest in this city, but there is some encouragement in the recollection that Chicago succeeded in securing her federal building after waiting twelve years. Virginia has waited only two years and the plans for the new structure may be drawn this month.

FAMILY AFFAIRS AIRED IN COURT

Lithuanian Couple in Hibbing Are Telling of Their Differences.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—For a day and a half Judge Brady in municipal court has been hearing the assault and battery charge preferred by Mrs. Barbara Brady against her husband, Enic. The trial will probably be concluded today.

Both the plaintiff and the defendant are Lithuanians, speaking or understanding very little English. Brady, the defendant, has been in this country eighteen years he testified, but his knowledge of English notwithstanding, is poor. He took his present name after settling in the United States. Both sides have an interpreter who sits by the side of the opposing lawyers, R. S. Stratton for the complainant and S. C. Scott for the defense, and tells the attorneys whether or not the opposite interpreter was translating the Lithuanian questions rightly or not.

Mrs. Brady charges her husband with striking, choking and kicking her. Her husband, on the other hand, denies the allegations and charges his wife with intimacy with the star boarder, Mike Grazinskie.

The parties live at Brooklyn.

EVELETH MAY GET NEW ROAD

Possibility of Canadian Northern Building Spur Into City.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—R. C. Keith, engineer in charge of construction work on the Canadian Northern, while here yesterday stated the road might enter this city if suitable arrangements could be made. The main line of the new road runs but about two miles from the city and a spur track could easily be run to Eveleth. His remark that the road would probably enter Eveleth, was received here with much joy and members of the Commercial club will soon take up the matter with the head officials of the Canadian Northern road.

FARMERS AROUND COOK PROSPERING

Past Summer Was Unusually Favorable One in That Section.

Cook, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Messrs. Skott, Everson, Shellberg and Curtin are building the school house in Section 29.

A large timber wolf made its appearance at Miss Selma Souvalaine's cabin Tuesday morning and carried off one of her choice pullets in broad day light.

Miss Perneau and Mrs. Holter were in Cook yesterday.

Mrs. Herman Olson spent a few days in Virginia the guest of her daughter, last week.

The M. B. A. held a basket social at their hall in Cook, which, considering the condition of the roads, was well patronized.

More land is being cleared and broken in this vicinity than ever before.

The fine crops of the past year have given the farmers much encouragement.

Theodore Burtness thrashed 1,230 bushels of wheat and oats besides cutting a large crop of tame hay.

M. Savage, who lives a short distance west of Cook, had a valuable horse shot in the pasture last week.

Cook has two blacksmith shops now. Both having all the work they can do.

Mrs. Noble Beatty is very ill at a hospital in Duluth.

George Wikely made a business trip to Virginia Thursday.

The Little Fork hotel has a new landlord, Mr. Moore, formerly station agent here, having rented it for a year.

Mrs. Engwahl Twite and little son are visiting Mrs. Ole Holter for a week or two.

Alfred Holter is building a comfortable cottage on his claim west of Cook.

Miss Grace O'Hair has gone to Chicago to study music during the fall and winter.

Mr. E. Wulfsberg of Duluth held services in Cook Sunday.

Jacob Piel and wife, Ole Johnson and Amanda Skott spent Sunday at Alfred Holter's.

Fresh eggs find ready sale now at 25 cents a dozen. Butter is also higher.

Olaf and Gustave Haugan are working for Peter Johnson who manages Mrs. Wesling's stock farm west of town.

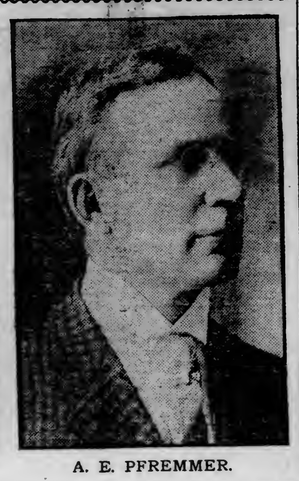

Hans Johnson is doing carpenter work for M. Savage on his farm.

Algot Anderson one of Cook's enterprising merchants has purchased a new automobile.

EVELETH COMMERCIAL CLUB BEGINS ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

JOHN J. GLEASON.

A. E. PFREMMER.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club are making an active campaign to bring many improvements to Eveleth. The most paramount question now before the committee is the agricultural colony which will probably be situated a few miles from Eveleth if suitable arrangements are made with the land department of the Iron Range road for a large tract of land. The members believe they will be successful in securing actual settlers as desired by the railroad people and the colony will soon become a reality.

Chairman John J. Gleason of the committee is a well known range booster and has been deputy county coroner for many years. He is also a great baseball fan and was a former member of a leading National league ball team. He has been engaged in the hardware business for many years.

Secretary A. E. Pfremmer of the committee though only a resident of this city for the past year has done much active boosting for the town. He is editor of the News and is well known on the range having made a strong race for judge of probate four years ago. He formerly resided at Hibbing.

WILL GIVE BANQUET IN EVELETH CHURCH

For Members of Queen Elizabeth Circle and Ladies of Sunday School.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Lewella Penrod tomorrow evening will give a banquet at the church in honor of the members of the Queen Elizabeth circle and the ladies of the Sunday school in the gymnasium in the basement.

Addresses will be given by Supt. Van Dyke of the Coleraine schools, Miss Millie Holder, secretary of the Duluth Y. W. C. A. and Principal Y. R. Boardman of the local high school. The latter will speak on "The Educational Value of Bible Study." Rev. B. D. Hanscom, pastor of the church, will preside.

The recently organized Catholic Aid Society of the St. Patrick church last evening gave a card party at the Elks' hall. Refreshments were served and a short program given. Rev. Father Hugh A. Floyd of Duluth, formerly of this city, was among the out-of-town guests.

The members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church have arranged for a fair Nov. 23 and 24, at Walonlahde hall. Suppers will be served, booths provided and entertaining programs consisting of instrumental and vocal music, recitations and readings, given.

BONDSMAN RELEASED.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Fleming has released Louis Fong from a $300 bond he gave for the appearance in court of Mrs. Stolberg, arrested for living illegally with Tom Condon, a railroad man whose wife recently arrived from Michigan and made complaint. Mrs. Stolberg said she was going to Duluth to work.

Judge Fleming warned her against having anything further to do with Condon and she was permitted to go. Mr. Fong was then released from further responsibility as to the $300 bond.

Acquitted at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case against Andrew Laxal, charged with fishing with dynamite and a net at Sand lake Sunday, was dismissed by Special Municipal Judge Fleming Wednesday afternoon. Laxal being able to show the court that while he was with Andrew Lanni when the latter dynamited fish and drew them from the water in his net, the defendant was merely hunting and had nothing to do with the commission of the infraction against the game law.

BANNER POTATO YIELD REPORTED

Ninety-One, Each Weighing Pound, Grown From One Potato.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.) — Ninety-one well-formed potatoes, each weighing at least a pound from one potato were grown this season by E. C. Chapman on his farm in Fern township, eighteen miles north of Hibbing.

Mr. Chapman is responsible also for the statement that in a single acre in his potato field he gathered 525 bushels. At present "Murphys" are bringing 65 cents per bushel wholesale. "If any man is in doubt about this he can go to my farm and see for himself, for the potatoes still lie where they were dug," says Mr. Chapman.

"I would advise every farmer in this part of the country to grow nothing but Early Rose potatoes, for they nearly always grow perfectly and because of their rapid growth are peculiarly adapted for our short, hot weather season. A year ago last fall I took first prize at the St. Louis county fair for my potatoes and will probably ship five bushels to New York to compete in the national potato show at that place."

Peanuts Grow Near Hibbing.

W. H. Dear of the contracting firm of Winston & Dear returned from his farm near Hibbing yesterday bearing a sprig of one of the peanut plants which are growing on his land in profusion. The sprig bears at least two dozen full grown and healthy looking "gubers."

SUES MILKMAN

For Alleged Damages From Cows Eating Plaintiff's Cabbage.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tony Lopaz of the Adams location wants $50 from Frank Danili, an Adams location milkman, for alleged damages to his cabbage patch done by Danili's cows, according to the complaint in his suit. The case was scheduled for yesterday afternoon in the municipal court but as Judge McGilvray, attorney for the defendant, was unable to be present, the suit was postponed. The defense, however, was ready for the case and Danili was compelled to pay court costs for the appearance of witnesses. Many witnesses have been secured and the case promises to be a novel one.

Eveleth Priest Good Walker.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Father Bilban of the Holy Family church proved to be a good pedestrian yesterday afternoon, when, after failing to secure train connections at Forbes, he walked six miles through the woods to the Canadian Northern camps where he caught the Missabe train bound for Eveleth. He had gone to Forbes to baptize a child.

FOR THE PUBLIC

New Formula Cures Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and Hoarseness in Five Hours.

Much is being done in these days to stop the ravages of consumption, but probably nothing has been so effective as teaching the public how to break up a cold and cure coughs, bronchitis, tonsilitis, etc., with simple home-mixed medicine. A laxative cough syrup, free from whiskey is the prime need. A cough indicates inflammation and congestion and these in turn are due to an excess of waste and poison in the system. A tonic laxative cough syrup rids the system of congestion, while relieving the painful coughing. Get the following and mix at home: One-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Shake the bottle and take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times daily. Give children less, according to age. Cut this out and save it for some friend.

J. C. FIELDER IS GIVEN SENTENCE

Two Harbors Confessed Thief Gets an Indeterminate Term.

Two Harbors, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—An indeterminate term of punishment in the state reformatory was given to J. C. Fielder, one of two men arrested here recently for wholesale thefts. He was taken to Duluth yesterday by Sheriff Nelson where after making his plea of guilty Judge Dibell gave him an indeminate term. His companion's case will come up later. Fielder made a confession which enabled the authorities to recover much of the property.

SUPPERS GIVEN IN TWO HARBORS

Women of Church and Baseball League Each Raise Money That Way.

Two Harbors, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tuesday evening the ladies of the Holy Ghost Catholic church gave a supper at Cooke's cafe. The supper was a great success, lack of space being the only drawback. It is reported that over $300 was taken in.

Last night a supper was given by the City league baseball boys in the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. Last year extensive improvements were made on the shop baseball grounds and the league went heavily in debt. It was hoped that last night's supper would clear the league of its debt, but only enough was taken in to raise two-thirds of the amount necessary.

A dance and supper was given by the Maccabees at the I. O. O. F. hall on Cedar street. A good-sized crowd turned out. Refreshments were served during the dance.

AURORA MAN HAS VERY CLOSE CALL

Nearly Suffocated By Fire in Saloon Below Where He Slept.

Aurora, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The saloon building known as the Albin Ilenda property on Jackson street was damaged by fire early this morning and George Lozaer, one of the occupants, lies in a critical condition, having been nearly suffocated by the smoke.

The fire was discovered at about 3 o'clock and had gained considerable headway. The origin is not known. Three streams of water were at once played on the flames and they were under control in but a few moments. The inside of the building was lined with steel. This is badly blistered and smoked and the woodwork charred but the building is not seriously damaged except near the window and door openings in several places where the flames broke through before the fire department arrived.

Overcome by Smoke.

The saloon was being operated by Matt Houdar and George Lozaer under a license granted to Joe Fugina. A license for one year, commencing Saturday, had just been issued to them by the village council. The young men occupied rooms over the saloon. Hudar was awakened but Lozaer was overcome by the smoke and gases originating in the fire under him and had to be carried from the building. He is being treated by a physician and will recover within a day or two. The upper part of the building was not much damaged, fire not entering many of the rooms.

The building was owned by the Satterler Liquor company of Duluth. Insurance was carried sufficient to cover the loss which will be near $1,000.

SELLING TOWN LOTS IN VIRGINIA ADDITION.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.) — The townsite of West Virginia, just east of the Canadian Northern shops, roundhouse and coal dock, was opened for the sale of lots Monday. No purchaser is allowed more than two lots, and as there are only 157 in all, the first day the demand for the best locations taxed the capacity of the sales force to handle the business. It is expected that upwards of 400 men will be regularly employed by the Canadian Northern at this point, a large proportion in West Virginia.

EVELETH CHARTER COMMISSION TO MEET AGAIN.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 19.—The members of the charter commission will hold their second meeting this evening at the city hall. An attorney and committees are to be appointed. Members of the commission have been studying the commission form of government thoroughly and new advocates of the latest manner of governing cities are being found. The new form of city administration is growing in favor daily.

Slugger Thomas Training.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph Thomas, formerly of this city, who recently fought a ten-round draw with Pal Brown of Hibbing at New Orleans, arrived in this city yesterday morning to start training for his proposed bout with Young Jeanette of Milwaukee, Nov. 16. He was accompanied by his manager, Al Delmont of Chicago, and will train with many Eveleth pugilists.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

Plain Griddle Cake Recipe

One quart flour (4 cups); one teaspoon salt; 4 full cups milk and two teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder. Sift flour, Calumet Baking Powder and salt well together. Add milk, making soft batter. Bake immediately on hot griddle, well greased. When full of bubbles, turn and cook other side. Add two or three tablespoons melted butter, if richer and shorter cakes are desired. With the use of Calumet Baking Powder no eggs are required.

SECRETARY WILSON HAS RESIGNED, SAYS WASHINGTON RUMOR

Washington, Oct. 19.—Rumors were in circulation today that Secretary of Agriculture Wilson has resigned to take effect Nov. 13, or as soon as the president may elect.

Secretary Wilson is en route here from Chicago. Former Representative Scott of Kansas, for some years chairman of the house committee on agriculture, and Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Hays, were mentioned as among those likely to succeed Mr. Wilson.

The report could not be verified.

ARRESTED IN PORTLAND ON INCENDIARY CHARGE

Former Bemidji Saloon Keeper Alleged to Have Been Implicated With Dumas.

Is Charged With Having Fired Blackduck Building for Its Insurance.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged with having bought a store building at Blackduck, Minn., then it is alleged, co-operating with Dr. Dumas of Cass Lake in having it burned in order to collect insurance money, Eddie Gerrald, formerly a saloonkeeper at Bemidji, was arrested at Portland, Or., yesterday and today is on the way back in charge of the sheriff of Beltrami county. His arrest is another link in the chain state officials are endeavoring to weave about the Cass Lake mayor and band of alleged incendiaries.

The capture of Gerrald was accomplished after a chase which led to Calgary, Alta., Vancouver, B. C., and ended in Portland, according to Fire Marshal Keller. The fire of which he is said to have been responsible, destroyed a small vacant building the night of April 17, 1911. Attorney General Simpson and the fire marshal believe they have sufficient evidence to show that Gerrald arranged with Dr. Dumas to have the place burned. The insurance has not been collected, however, because an investigation has been under way.

Gerrald Operated Saloon.

"Gerrald, with his brother, operated a saloon," Mr. Simpson said. "Soon after the fire he left Bemidji. We located him recently at Calgary, but when the sheriff arrived there we learned that he had gone to Vancouver. The sheriff followed, only to learn that he had moved again, this time to Portland. There we got him."

It is understood that more arrests are to follow soon, as a result of investigation of incendiarism in the northern part of the state.

Beat Innocent Man.

Frank Stupich got $5 and costs or thirty days in the county jail after he had pleaded guilty to assaulting Anton Smith in a Bowery lodging house this morning. It appears that the two sleep in the same place, and that Stupich got the impression that Smith had stolen a check belonging to him. Whereupon it is claimed that he beat Smith unmercifully, battering his face and body, assisted by a couple other roomers. When Stupich was searched at the police station his check was found in his pocket, where he had evidently placed it himself.

STARTS TALK IN POLITICAL CAMP

Canestorp's Support of Gordon for Governor Stirs Things Up.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Announcement was made here today of Lieutenant Governor Gordon's receptivity regarding the nomination for the governorship, and of the promise of support from Senator Canestorp.

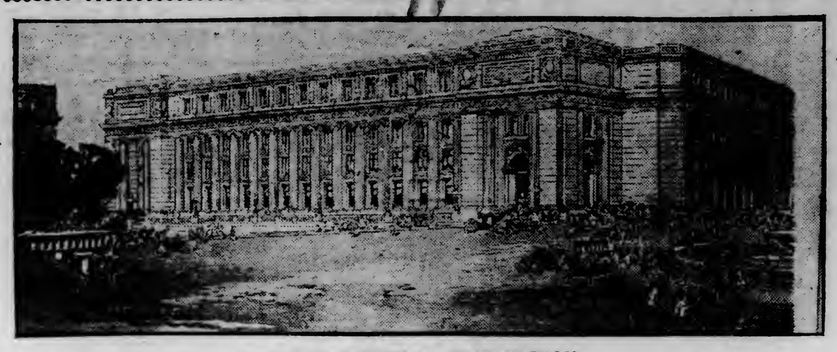

That the first show of support for Gordon should come from Canestorp has caused a small sensation in political circles. He is a relative by marriage of J. A. O. Preus and while in the state senate was an ardent supporter of Senator Nelson. He comes near controlling political affairs in Grant county, and lives in the same town as Representative J. A. Peterson, Governor Eberhart's brother-in-law.

CALVERLY CUP DONOR HERE

"Tom" Calverly, the donor of the famous Calverly cup that has been played for during the past two years by the golf teams of the Northland club of this city and the Portage Lake Golf club, is a guest of the Spalding today.

"That cup has given Houghton a lot of advertising," said Mr. Calverly today. "It has also promoted a friendly interest between the business men of the two cities. It is the fair play of the golf game that appeals to me. I expect that the cup will come into the permanent possession of the Duluth players, but after that Thomas F. Cole has promised to put up a cup that will continue the series between the two clubs."

GOING AFTER THE TOURISTS

Publicity Committee Will Map Out Campaign of Advertising.

Plan to Spread "It's Cool in Duluth" Gospel More Thoroughly.

The summer resort business, which assumed unprecedented importance in Duluth and vicinity this year, will be better developed next summer. The people in charge of summer resorts and the publicity committee of the Duluth Commercial club, which conducts the general advertising for Duluth and Northeastern Minnesota, will profit by the experience of this year in planning their campaign for next season.

At a meeting of the publicity committee of the Commercial club today, the summer resort business was discussed in a general way. It was agreed that more tourists came to Duluth or passed through the city during the season just closed than in any previous season, but that there is great room for improvement in methods of advertising and of taking care of transients and other summer visitors.

During the winter and early spring a list will be compiled and published by the committee, showing all the resorts in the vicinity of Duluth, the opportunities for enjoyment that each has to offer and the rates. All the information that can be obtained will be placed at the disposal of prospective summer visitors in order that they may know just what they may expect.

Duluth's summer climate received great attention during the past year. The bringing of the fact that Duluth has the greatest summer climate in the world before the people of other communities not so fortunate is one of the tasks of the publicity committee and it intends to discharge its duty in that respect more thoroughly next season.

CONNIE MACK HAS HITTERS

Records Show the Athletics Are Better Sluggers Than Past Teams.

No Pennant Winner of Past Decade Compares With Mackmen.

Philadelphia, Oct. 19.—No championship winner in the American or National league in the last ten years or more can compare with the Athletics of 1911 in hitting.

Not only do the monarchs of baseball rank alone as the master batsmen of modern baseball, but even taking the handicap of the foul strike rule and spitball pitching, they outstrip a large majority of the old-time clubs, says isaminger of the North American.

Of the seven regular players who are helping Mack win a fourth championship, six are batting above the .300 mark, the range being from Bris Lord's credit of .303 to Eddie Collins' brilliant figures of .363.

In addition, a catcher, who is used in regular rotation, and a pitcher, who has a regular turn on the knoll, are batting above the .300 mark, the range being above .300. The catcher is Jack Lapp and the pitcher Jack Coombs. Both are frequently used as pinch men. This gives Mack eight regular players who rank in the honor class as batsmen.

They are: Collins, .363; Lapp, 344; Baker, .335; Murphy, .325; McInnis, .320; Coombs, .310; Oldring, .305; and Lord, .303.

Barry Is Clean-Up Man.

The only regular Mackman not in the .300 class is Jack Barry, and Barry, next to Baker, is the most dangerous batsman in a pinch on the team.

A comparison with former pennant winners shows plainly that Mack has the greatest batting team in the history of the American league. No team in the National league compares with it since Frank Selee's great Boston team of 1897; but in that season there was no foul-strike rule to help the pitcher, as in recent years.

For the sake of comparison, Catcher Lapp and Pitcher Coombs will be omitted, nothwithstanding the fact that both take part in a great number of games. This leaves the Mackmen six .300 per cent swatters who are in the game every day.

The American league pennant winners will be compared first. In 1900 the White Sox won the championship with only one .300 per cent hitter. That man was Catcher Woods, who took part in a scant twenty-eight games. Not a single regular was in the honor class. The best showing was made by Dick Padden, who batted .284, yet the Sox were good enough to win the pennant.

The Sox repeated in 1904, with little improvement in batting, although in this year Fielder Jones and Third Baseman Hartman batted above the .300 mark. Connie Mack's first pennant was due to solid hitting. Five of the regulars batted above .300 and one of the catchers. Here were the big stickers:

	Games.	Pct.
Lave Cross	137	.339
Seybold	136	.317
Schreck	71	.317
Murphy	76	.313
Davis	128	.308
Fultz	111	.300

This was a phenomenal showing, but is, nevertheless, below the season's lofty figures. Boston won the flag in 1903 and capped this achievement by defeating Pittsburg in the world's series, yet Boston had only two regulars batting .300. They were Dougherty, with a credit of .332, and Parent, who hit .304.

In addition Catcher Farrell, in only seventeen games, hit .404, and Cy Young, in forty, batted .330. In 1904 Boston captured another championship, and this time did not have a single .300 swatter in its line-up. The leader was Chic Stahl, and he batted .298.

Six's Six's Victims.

Connie Mack won his second triumph in 1905 with less batting strength than in 1902. Not a single Mackman of 1905 hit better than .294, that mark being held by Harry Davis. This fact shows what a far superior batting team the Giants will have to face this season in case they win the National league pennant than in 1905.

The Sox's famous hitless wonders of 1906 knew enough baseball to win the championship, although they were weak in hitting. Not a man was anywhere near the .300 mark. The leader was Isbell, who had a scant .279 percentage.

Think of a team winning a pennant with an outfield batting this way: Dougherty, .226; O'Neil, .248; Jones, .230, and Hahn, .221. Yet the Sox copped in 1906.

Detroit in three years of pennant success never showed six regulars in the .300 class. In 1907 it had Cobb and Crawford. In 1908 both Cobb and Crawford remained in the .300 class, although their figures were much reduced. Ira Thomas joined the honor class that year with an average of .307 in 40 games, and was traded by Manager Jennings for his pains.

In 1909 Cobb hit .377 and Crawford .314. They alone were in the .300 class. It is an odd fact that while most fans regard Detroit as one of the greatest hitting teams ever organized, in the three years it won the championship it had no regulars to hit .300 besides Cobb and Crawford.

In 1910 Mack's youthful team began to dazzle baseball. It won the pennant with three regulars hitting .300. They were Eddie Collins, Dan Murphy and Rube Oldring. In addition, Jack McInnis and Amos Strunk, utility men, were above the .300 mark.

Since 1900 no National league pennant winner was as heavily gunned with demolishers as the Athletics of 1911. Brooklyn won the pennant in 1900 with a hard-hitting team. It had five regulars batting .300, but it was before the foul-strike rule. They were Daly, Kelley, Keeler, Sheckard and Jones.

Pittsburg won the championship in 1901, with Wagner, Clarke and Beaumont enrolled as .300 per cent hitters. In 1902 this trio was increased by Kitty Bransfield. In 1903 Bransfield dropped out of the .300 class, leaving Wagner, Clarke and Beaumont to again uphold the Pirates' prestige as hard hitters.

McGraw Lacked .300 Men.

The National league championship veered to New York in 1904, although McGraw didn't have a regular with imposing figures. The leader was Utility Man Jack Dunn, who batted .309 in twenty-eight games. McGraw's league and world champions of 1905 had Mike Donlin and Roger Bresnahan in .300 society, with Dan McGann and Browne just outside the line.

The Cubs began their wonderful winning career in 1906. They won the title in their league that year, with Frank Chance the only regular with .300 batting skill. In addition, Johnny Kling, the catcher, and Art Hoffman, the utility man, had .300 credits. In 1907 the Cubs repeated without a single .300 man, Chance was the highest with .293. Johnny Evers' percentage of plumb .300 was the best in 1908, when the Cubs took their third pennant.

Pittsburg re-entered the championship class in 1909, when it had only one regular batting above the cherished figures. He was Wagner, the eternal buttress of the team. Hans swatted .339. Last year the Cubs won their fourth championship with a modest batting team. Hoffman was the leader, with .325, and Schulte next, with .301.

This comparison shows that no championship club in either major league in the last eleven years can compare with the Athletics in hitting. Critics may assert that the only real gauge to a club's hitting ability is the team batting average, pointing out that a team with regulars batting .296, .297, .298 and .299 would be better fortified than a club having one man batting .309, another .301, the next with a .276 average and the next with a .260 percentage. This argument can be answered by the fact that the present team batting average of the Athletics is higher than any major league pennant winner since 1900.

BRAINERD YOUNG MEN ORGANIZE FOOTBALL TEAM.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Twenty-five young man have organized the Brainerd City football team and are training by doing gymnasium and outdoor track work. Walter Fall, the manager, is arranging a schedule of games with outside teams. Some of the best men in the game, college and high school graduates, have entered the city team and good games are expected.

Will Go to Antipodes.

Milwaukee, Oct. 19.—The Evening Wisconsin today says:

Johnny Thompson, the Sycamore Cyclone, will sail for Australia on Nov. 1, where he is scheduled to engage in five fistic contests under the management of Hugh McIntosh. Negotiations with Thompson were closed today by Andrews, McIntosh's representative.

Thompson has canceled all pending matches in this country.

Arnst After Durnan.

News has reached Duluth that negotiations are on for a sculling race between Richard Arnst, the professional champion of the world, and Eddie Durnan, the oarsman who defeated long John Hackett at Rainy River last September. There is a possibility that the race may be rowed somewhere in the Northwest.

Saylor Gets Decision.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 19.—Milborn Saylor, who two weeks ago won over Battling Nelson in a ten-round bout in Boston, got a popular decision over Ray Bronson in a ten-round contest here last night. After the fifth round Saylor had the better of the fight all along.

Ganzel Signs Contract.

All rumors and actual statements to the effect that big John Ganzel of the Rochester three-time pennant winning team of the Eastern league was going to sign up as manager of one of the major league teams, have been put to naught by the attaching of the signature of the successful pilot to a Rochester contract. Ganzel has signed for the next three years at a fat increase of salary, due to his phenomenal success in winning three flags in a row.

ANCIENT INDIAN MINERS.

Southern Workmen: The copper mines in the Lake Superior region were most important to the Indians. When we remember that they did not understand the smelting of ores we can appreciate the value of these mines. In them the native metal occurs both in small pieces and great masses. The Indians had only to dig away the earth and smash the rocks with stones, some of which they provided with a groove and attached to a handle by means of a withe around the groove.

Archaeologists have found that they also built fires upon the rocks and thus cracked them that they might more easily be smashed with hammers. One piece of copper propped upon poles over fifteen feet below the surface of the ground was found by explorers where it had been abandoned by the quarrymen. Weighing almost three tons, it was a monument to the industry of the North American Indians, who have too often been considered lazy, and who we must remember, had only the simplest tools with which to raise this heavy mass. One of their shafts which contained a mass of copper weighing several tons was twenty-six feet deep and the mass of copper had been raised several feet, probably the only means the Indians had of moving it being wedges and sticks.

These were exceptionally deep shafts, many others being smaller. In one place an area of about 400 acres had been worked over. Judging from the number of stone hammers or mauls found in a given bulk of the debris excavated from these ancient diggings thousands and thousands of the hammers must have been used, and may be found by clearing out the old workings.

WHEAT BULGE MAINTAINED

Closes of Day Vary But Little From Those of Wednesday.

Flax Goes Still Higher—Settled Spell of Dry Weather Is Needed.

Duluth Board of Trade, Oct. 19.—Wheat did not close at its very highest point today on any of the leading North American markets, as there was a little sagging towards the last, but it maintained, on an average, about all that it gained yesterday. Duluth December, which closed at $1.10½ yesterday, closed today at the same figure asked. October flax closed 2 cents up, November 1¼ cents up and December 3 cents up. Durum closed 1¼ cents up, rye ½c up, and oats and barley unchanged.

The morning showed the bulls steadily in control of the wheat situation. Liverpool closed with wheat unchanged to ¼d higher. The close on that market would undoubtedly have been considerably higher, if it had not been for more favorable weather reports from Argentina, where the much-needed rain had been received in the west portion. The strength in American markets yesterday affected the Liverpool market more or less throughout today's session. Poor grading at Winnipeg could not but have a bullish effect. But the main thing that put wheat up on the North American markets, to all appearances, was the fear of a crop shortage. The Northwest wheat crop is undoubtedly small, and in many places, especially in North Dakota, the thrashing is away behind time. Today there were reports of wheat rotting on the field in the shock. In some parts of the state, sleet fell today, and this was without doubt quite a hindrance to thrashing. Duluth December wheat, which closed yesterday at $1.10½, which was considered a very high price at the time, opened today at the same figure bid, and about noon was quoted at $1.10¾ bid.

Although the Northwest wheat crop this year is away below that of last year, in the yield, according to government figures, the wheat receipts at the Duluth market this year since Aug. 1 are away ahead of the receipts of the corresponding period of last year. This is due to the fact that the farmers rushed what wheat they had to market with much more haste this year than last. They expected reciprocity to carry, and many of them were anxious to get their wheat sold before the Canadian wheat flowed in to cut down the price. Another reason for the early marketing was the poor grading. Wheat of the poor grades does not keep so well as better grades of wheat. Another reason was that North Dakota farmers, on account of last year's shortages were in a hurry this year to get their wheat marketed, to pay their debts and other obligations. When farmers are hard up, they are eager to get their produce sold as quickly as possible.

During the morning, flax gave no promise of coming down. On the contrary it went up a little, although sixty cars were received and inspected. That is far larger than the usual number. But the receipts are away behind what they should be and most of the flax of this year's crop in the Northwest remains in the fields. The receipts have not yet caught up to those of last year, although the yield in the fields is so much greater. The demand is very brisk. October flax, which closed at $2.41½ yesterday, was quoted at noon at $2.42½ bid. November was up a cent at $2.39½ and December was up 2½c at $2.35. During the last four or five weeks there has been but one settled spell of good, thrashing weather, and at that time many of the farmers had to thrash wheat and put off the thrashing of flax. Rains have been so frequent that farmers have already dared to cut the flax for fear it would be wetted down in the fields, before there was time to thrash it. After flax has been cut, it will not stand being rained upon in the fields very much, as that is bound to result in rotting.

FLAXSEED.

The Paint and Varnish Record, Chicago, says:

"There is the usual demand for oil for immediate or nearby needs, but not much, if any, demand for futures. And if there were a call for the latter the crushers would not be able to fill it, for the reason that they have not been able to secure the seed with which to make the oil, or against which the oil could be sold, and in these days the crushers are not given to selling oil short—they must have an assurance that they will be able to obtain the seed before they are ready to dispose of oil.

"The price for raw oil in car lots in the Chicago market is 83 and 84 cents per gallon. This is the range which the crushers are quoting, some of them selling at 83 cents and the others at 84 cents. The prices for linseed oil have been changed more rapidly within the past month than for a long time, for the reason that the crushers try to make an effort to keep pace with the changes in the price of seed. The offerings of spot oil, with the crushers running their mills on new seed, has been enough to take care of the spot demand, but there is still the great bulk of the buying of seed and the manufacture of the oil to be done.

"Delayed movement in seed, due to rains, has hampered the crushers seriously. This has made it appear that the crop is small, when there is every reason to believe it is much larger than last year. But until crushers can see their way clear to buy the seed and until the market either has declines, or there is every reason to believe it will not decline, the crushers are sure to exercise more or less care in the selling of futures.

"A few sales of October forward oil have been made around the 79-cent mark, but contracting thus far has been very light and it is doubtful if a buyer could book a large order for future oil just now at any price. The situation must be cleared and it probably will within the next fortnight, in order for the market for futures to take on any activity."

Broomhall wired from Liverpool: "The strength in American markets yesterday and the continued poor grading of arrivals at Winnipeg led to outside buying and values were 'd to ¼d higher, but this strength was largely offset by the continued free offerings of new Platte wheat and the rain in the west of Argentine. The Buenos Ayres advance was due to American strength and shipments from there are expected to be double those of last week with more liberal Russian offers. Following the opening there was some disposition to cover on the advance in spot and an improved demand for cargoes, which are ½d to 3d advance, and prices gained an additional ¼d to ⅜d higher.

"Corn: After opening ½d higher, further advanced for the near month ⅛d. Support was due to the higher American offers and the strength in spot. European offers are small.

"Our Indian agent cables that the weather is dry and more rain is wanted for seeding."

A Minneapolis man wired: "There is only about 25 per cent of wheat thrashing dine in North Dakota and no flax cut yet. What wheat is left is being ruined by rain. Farmers have only 15 per cent of the plowing done. They have to do it all in the fall as they don't have time in the spring. It means reduced acreage of wheat next year. It is the most serious situation we have ever experienced."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Market Is Very Active But Price Range Narrow.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—It was nip and tuck today in wheat. Feeling was about evenly divided, many traders fighting for a continued advance, but seemingly an equal number struggling to bring about a reaction. The result was a market full of activity and with quotations almost at a poise. On the one hand, more liberal offerings were reported from Russia, and there were rains in Western Argentine. Commercial Indian sent word that moisture was badly needed, and Winnipeg complained of the lack of relief from poor grading of new crop receipts. The opening was the same as last night to ¼c down.

December started at $1.00⅞ to $1.01⅛, the identical change shown by the market taken altogether. A rally to $1.01⅜c followed. The May option at the time made a slight net gain.

Strength in exporters at one time at Winnipeg and Duluth helped prices here to advance. Sleet and rain in North Dakota had a similar effect. Eastern longs unloaded, however, causing a decline. Trade was steady with December at $1.01⅛, exactly the same as last night.

There were a good many resting orders to sell corn. Weather conditions adverse to shaking appeared to be regarded as affording an opportunity for profit-taking by longs. December opened ⅛c higher at 65¾c and fell back to 65½c.

Depleted stocks here and news of disappointing yields in Nebraska aided later in causing an upturn. The effect, though, did not last, and the close was easy with December ⅛@¼c net lower at 65⅝@65½c.

Absence of selling pressure allowed oats to harden a little in price. December started a shade lower at 47¾c, but then ascended to 47⅞c.

Strength in the market for hogs gave provisions a lift. Initial sales were 2½c to 10c up with January delivery $15.60 for pork, $9 to $9.02½ for lard, and $8.15 for ribs.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Prices Make Some Advance After Weak Opening.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 19.—After a weak opening prices advanced to highest levels on this turn and December wheat sold within ⅛c of the record price on this crop. During the late session profit-taking resulted in a moderate recession. December closed ⅛@¼c lower than yesterday and May unchanged to ⅛c lower. Local elevator stocks of wheat increased 710,000 bushels for five days. Carlot wheat receipts with comparisons follow:

	Minneapolis, today	385	week ago	354; year ago, 267; Duluth, today, 185; week ago, 221; year ago, 89. Winnipeg, today, 856; week ago, 630; year ago, 613.

December opened $1.10½ to $1.10¾, high $1.11⅛, low $1.10½, closed $1.10½@1.10⅝; May opened $1.14⅝, high $1.15, low $1.14½@1.14⅝, closed $1.14½@1.14⅝.

Cash wheat in excellent demand, especially the better grades. Mills and elevators bought freely. No. 1 Northern sold for ½@1c above the December contract. Closing cash prices: No. 1 hard, $1.12; No. 1 northern, $1.11@1.11½; to arrive, $1.11; No. 2 northern, $1.08@1.09½; to arrive, $1.07½@1.09; No. 3 wheat $1.05@1.06½. No. 3 yellow corn, 74c. No 3 white oats, 45½@46¼c. No. 2 rye, 93c.

Millstuffs—Shipment, 2,006 tons. Mills reported a fair business at steady prices. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $21.50@22.00.

The Cotton Maret.

New York, Oct. 19.—Cotton opened firm at an advance of 9@15 points on higher Liverpool cables, apprehension of killing weather in the belt and reports that the South had offered spots to Liverpool less freely this morning. Active positions sold about 13 to 15 points above the closing figures of last night, during the early trading or practically 26 points above yesterday morning's low records but at this level offerings were very heavy and the market later eased off from the best under realizing by recent buyers for a turn, reselling by covered bears, and heavy Southern offerings, particularly from the eastern belt.

Spot closed dull; middling uplands, 9.35; middling gulf, 9.60. Sales, 400 bales.

Futures closed steady. Closing bids: October, 9.01; November, 9.02; December, 9.18; January, 9.05; February, 9.11; March, 9.19; April, 9.25; May, 9.33; June, 9.37; July, 9.41; August, 9.35; September, 9.35.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Spirited Buying Movement Develops in the Final Hour.

Close Strong With United States Steel Showing Two-Point Gain.

New York, Oct. 19.—Decided irregularity prevailed in the opening range of prices of stocks today. United States Steel, which weakened yesterday on the report that it would cancel its lease of the Hill ore lands, was in unusually good demand and was soon forced up to a point above yesterday's closing.

Great Northern certificates lost 2⅛ and among the railroad stocks Reading, Canadian Pacific and Lehigh Valley with gains of a point or more, were strongest. American Beet sugar lost ¾.

Large amounts of stocks were put out at the higher range of prices and the market weakened materially. Union Pacific sold a point below yesterday's closing, Great Northern preferred 1½ and United States Steel and Lehigh Valley a sharp fraction and the whole market began to manifest extreme weakness on heavy selling.

The break was accelerated by a drop of 7 points in Great Northern Ore certificates which touched 40.

An unusually active selling movement this morning depressed the stock market after prices had been advanced generally. The selling was largely in the nature of a bear raid, which proved so effective that considerable long stock was forced upon the market. Announcement of the United States Steel corporation's decision to cancel its lease on the Great Northern ore lands was accepted as a bullish factor at the opening, and was largely responsible for heavy buying of United States Steel and other standard issues. The market encountered active selling on the rise.

Acute weakness of various specialties, notably American Car, which broke 4 points, alarmed holders of stocks. There was more general selling which depressed prices of some of the important issues substantially. The apparent absence of support encouraged the professionals to seek weak spots, and they uncovered stop loss orders at various points.

Talk of government proceedings against the corn products company led to increased sales of these stocks at sharp declines. Purchases by the short interest and a 2 point rally by Great Northern ore certificates, steadied the market before mid-day.

Bonds were heavy, especially American Tobacco 6's, which went down 1¼ to 111, making the week's loss 3 points.

Stocks were bought sparingly, but the movement upward was continuous and by 1 o'clock favorite issues had recovered to a parity with yesterday's closing or above.

The market closed strong. A spirited buying movement developed in the final hour and the best prices of the day were made by Steel, Reading and Lehigh Valley. There also was an increasing show of strength by the general list. Canadian Pacific sold 2¼ above yesterday's closing, Lehigh Valley 2½ and United States Steel 2. Great Northern ore certificates recovered about half the decline and there were also sharp rallies in other previously weak specialties, notably American Car, which rose 2½. The copper stocks moved up vigorously on the announcement of an advance in the price of the metal.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Streets, Alleys and Sidewalks, who were appointed as a committee for the purpose of hearing and considering the propositions for the vacation of Sixth alley from Twenty-fifth avenue east to Twenty-sixth avenue east, being the alley in Block 14, Longview addition and in Block 8, Williard's addition, did, pursuant to notice published by the city clerk, meet in the city clerk's office in the city hall in the city of Duluth, Oct. 9, 1911, at 3:30 o'clock p. m. at which time no one appeared in opposition to the proposed vacation.

The alley both east and west of this block has already been vacated and in the opinion of your committee the city has no interest in maintaining said alley except that a right-of-way be reserved for sewers, conduits and wires. We therefore recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Z. D. SCOTT,
WILLIAM L. BERNARD,
JNO. HOGAN,
Committee.

Resolved, That Sixth alley from Twenty-fifth avenue east to Twenty-sixth avenue east, being the alley through Block 14, Longview addition and Block 8, Williard's addition, is hereby vacated, reserving to the city and to persons or corporations holding franchises under the city, the right to construct and maintain sewers, conduits and pole lines for electric wires in the portion of said alley hereby vacated.

Alderman Scott moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Nay—Alderman Miller—1.

Passed Oct. 16, 1911.
Approved Oct. 18, 1911.

The resolution granting a transfer to Hans Johnson of liquor license from Brolin and Pernala at 709 West Superior street to No. 613 West Superior street was read and on motion of Alderman Curren action on the same was postponed for one week.

The ordinance submitted by Alderman Wharton by request entitled "An ordinance to repeal an ordinance entitled 'An ordinance granting a right-of-way to the Northern Pacific Railway company over a portion of Thirty-seventh avenue west in the City of Duluth,' passed Dec. 22, 1905," was read, and on request of the Committee on Ordinances and Resolutions was recommitted to said committee.

The ordinance submitted by Alderman Wharton by request entitled "An ordinance to amend an ordinance entitled 'An ordinance regulating the construction, alteration, repair, removal and inspection of buildings within the corporate limits of the City of Duluth, the protection of the lives of persons therein, and the protection of property against fire,' passed Jan. 8, 1906, as amended" took its second reading.

Alderman Wharton moved that the ordinance be now placed upon its final passage and the motion was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Alderman Wharton moved to amend the ordinance as follows:

1. By inserting immediately after the heading "Square Columns, Hennebique Type" the following:

"In the Hennebique type of column, where four (4) rods are used and the maximum spacing does not exceed twelve (12) inches, and in no case more than half the distance between two of the vertical rods, and the minimum area of the ties is at least .104 of a square inch in area, the following values shall not be exceeded:

"8,000 pounds per square inch on the vertical steel.

"500 pounds per square inch on the concrete.

"No allowance shall be made for the ties."

2. By inserting immediately preceding the heading "Formulae for Computing the Strength of Columns" the following:

"The above values for steel shall be used only for Bessemer or for open hearth steel and no re-rolled or bushel rail steel shall be used.

"The above values for concrete shall be used only for machine mixed concrete composed of one part Portland cement, two parts sand and four parts clean lake gravel or crushed trap rock or granite. For concrete of the proportions 1: 1½: 3, these values may be increased twenty-five (25) per cent. Sand shall be such aggregate as will pass a ¼-inch screen, whether contained in the gravel or sold as sand."

3. By inserting in the "Formulae for Computing the Strength of Columns" immediately after the line "Fs allowable unit stress on ties" the following:

"Then for square columns four (4) rod type,

"P=Acfc+Asfs."

4. By inserting at the end of Section 1 the following:

"When additional stories are to be added to work over two years' old an addition of 15 per cent may be made to the concrete values herein specified for columns."

The amendment was adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Mr. C. A. P. Turner, Mr. S. G. Collins and Building Inspector Kielley explained the provisions of the ordinance.

Alderman Wharton moved the adoption of the ordinance as amended and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

Alderman Hogan moved to reconsider the vote by which the so-called transient merchant ordinance was declared adopted at the last meeting of the council. The president ruled the motion out of order. On the suggestion from the president that in order to give interested parties who were present an opportunity to be heard relative to said ordinance the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to regulate and license transient merchants within the City of Duluth," was re-introduced by Alderman Wharton and referred to the Committee on Ordinances and Resolutions. Messrs. B. P. Neff, B. Silberstein, I. Freimuth and J. E. Foubister were heard in favor of ordinance and Walter Thompson in opposition thereto.

By Alderman Bernard:

Resolved, That the Board of Public Works is hereby directed to cause sidewalk to be constructed as follows:

A four-foot plank walk on the north side of Devonshire street, from twenty-five feet east of Pacific avenue to the westerly line of Wainank's addition.

Resolved Further, That said board is hereby directed to proceed in accordance with the provisions of the city charter to levy assessments upon the property benefited to defray the cost of said sidewalks, together with such other expenses as under the provisions of said charter may be assessed.

Resolved Further, That the cost of said sidewalks be paid out of the general fund.

Alderman Bernard moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Oct. 16, 1911.
Approved Oct. 18, 1911.

By Alderman Wharton:

Whereas, The owners of the adjacent property are constructing cement sidewalks on both sides of Wyoming and Juniata streets from Fifty-fourth to Sixtieth avenues east, and it is desired that the city's portion of such walk, being the portion between the lot line and the curb line, be constructed during the present season; therefore,

Resolved, That the Board of Public Works is hereby authorized to give an order to the contractor for said work for the construction of the city's portion thereof at a price of 13 cents per square foot, such cost to be paid out of the permanent improvement fund, it being expressly understood that such order shall not include the construction of such walks to the street line, but only to the avenue line; provided further that said contractor shall furnish to the city a bond in form approved by the city attorney for the maintenance and repair of said work for a period of five years.

Alderman Wharton moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Oct. 16, 1911.
Approved Oct. 18, 1911.

By Alderman Krueger:

Resolved, That the mayor of the city is hereby authorized to appoint a poundmaster for New Duluth for a period of one month, at a compensation of $25, such compensation to be paid out of the general fund.

Alderman Krueger moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Oct. 16, 1911.
Approved Oct. 18, 1911.

By Alderman Curren:

Resolved, That there is hereby appropriated from the general found the sum of $150.00, to cover the services of a special watchman for Park Point for a period of six months, the same to be paid on the monthly pay roll.

Resolved Further, That there is hereby appropriated from the general fund the sum of $90.00 to provide for a waiting room on the southerly side of the ship canal for a period of six months from Nov. 1, 1911, to May 1, 1912, such sum to be paid to John Anton for his building located at No. 713 Lake avenue south, in equal monthly payments, provided said Anton shall keep said waiting room lighted and open to the public from 6 a. m. to 11:30 p. m. each day during said period.

Alderman Curren moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Oct. 16, 1911.
Approved Oct. 18, 1911.

By Alderman Jordan:

Resolved, That the city treasurer is hereby directed to receive from the owners of the following described property the amount of the original assessment against the same as hereinbelow set forth as full payment of said assessment, provided the same are paid within fifteen days from the date of the passage of this resolution, and further provided that each of said owners shall at the same time pay the sum of $1.50, one-half the estimated cost of the publication of this resolution; said assessments being as follows:

"To the common council: Your committee on light and water, to which was referred the report on proposed municipal electric light and power plant by Oscar Claussen and Charles L. Pillsbury, consulting engineers, have considered said report.

"This is probably the most important question to the people of Duluth that has been under consideration by the common council since the acquisition of the water and gas plant by the city. For years wide differences of opinion have existed on this subject. Until municipal party conventions were abolished, platforms of all parties contained a municipal ownership plank. Since the advent of the primary system, no alderman has been elected except as a municipal ownership advocate, when any question of municipal ownership was actively under discussion by the people.

"For years the question whether the city should own and operate a municipal electric light and power plant has been before the council in different forms. In 1905, 1907, 1909 and 1911, the council unanimously recommended to the legislature that an enabling act be passed permitting the people of Duluth to vote on this question. The council appointed special legislative committees and paid out public money in sending them to St. Paul in order to secure the passage of such bills. After three failures to secure the desired legislation, there was widespread condemnation of the legislature for its refusal to pass the bill. At the last session of the legislature the bill passed. The local delegation was commended for its success and the passage of the bill was heralded as an evidence of the responsiveness of the late legislature to the recommendation of this council and the will of the people. The council immediately did its duty. Whatever criticism may have been justified by the delays of the legislature, none has thus far been deserved by us. Immediately upon the passage of the bill, we took up an intelligent and business-like policy. We went after facts. Competent electrical engineers were employed to make a report on the cost of installing a municipal electric light and power plant. Their report has now come in and it is our next move. Their report indicates to our minds that such a plant as we have need of at present can be constructed within the bond limitations of the enabling act.

"We conceive it is now our duty to take the next and final step, the one to which all our previous acts have tended, and the one which, if we do not take, will make all previous ones useless. We should now give the people the opportunity to vote directly on this question. This council has always stood for the right of the people to decide questions of local importance for themselves. In local matters there has never been any dissent in this council from our obligation to submit a question to the people, although as electors some of us have voted for and some against the question submitted. We have repeatedly and unanimously voted to submit charter amendments to the people, although some of us personally did not approve of them. In the same unanimous way, we have voted to submit bond issues to the people and then divided as individuals on election day. Likewise, in the opinion of this committee, we should now remain consistent with our records and make plain to our constituents, whether friends or foes of municipal ownership, that because this is a matter in which a powerful public utility private corporation is interested, we will not swerve from our settled municipal policy of confidence in the people to decide aright any question of large public importance, no matter how we, as individuals, may differ among ourselves. We must not fear to trust the very people who are responsible for us being members of this council.

"We believe it will be a good thing for all parties concerned to have this question decided by the people at an early date and at a special election, so that no personal political ambitions or possible charter amendments will obscure the issue.

"We therefore recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

"JOHN HOGAN,
"J. B. GIBSON,
"Z. D. SCOTT,
Committee.

"Resolved, That the city attorney is hereby instructed to submit at the next meeting of this council an ordinance providing for the issuance of $700,000 of bonds of the city of Duluth for the purpose of constructing a plant for furnishing to the city of Duluth and its inhabitants electric light, heat and power, the same to be submitted to a vote of the people of Duluth for ratification or rejection at a special election as provided by chapter 75, general laws of Minnesota for 1911."

Alderman Hogan moved the adoption of the resolution.

Alderman Wharton moved that action on the resolution be postponed for one week, and the committee stated that they had no objection to said postponement if it was so desired. The motion to postpone was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Light and Water, to which was referred communication from residents in the vicinity of Second avenue west and Seventh street, complaining that the arc light at said intersection was not lighted more than two-thirds of the time, have investigated said complaint and find from the Duluth Edison Electric company that they have had a great deal of trouble with said light, it being claimed by said company that the difficulty was owing to mischievous boys in the neighborhood turning the light off; that a change was made so that the light could not be turned off and then the light was broken. Said company has agreed to make an extra effort to see that said light is not interfered with, and in order that the city may co-operate with said company in said matter we recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

JNO. HOGAN,
J. B. GIBSON,
Z. D. SCOTT,

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS.

President Shartel appointed as the committee to investigate the voting machine proposition, Alderman Wharton, Makowski, Jordan, Curren, MacDonell, Bergstrom, Bernard and Krueger.

On motion of Alderman Curren the council adjourned.

H. W. CHEADLE,
City Clerk.

By Alderman Jordan:

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE ISSUANCE, FORM AND SALE OF CERTIFICATES OF INDEBTEDNESS, IN ANTICIPATION OF THE COLLECTION OF TAXES, AGAINST THE FIRE DEPARTMENT FUND, THE PRINTING AND SUPPLY FUND, THE LIBRARY FUND, THE LIGHT FUND AND THE PERMANENT IMPROVEMENT FUND OF THE CITY OF DULUTH, LEVIED IN THE YEAR 1911.

The Common Council of the City of Duluth do Ordain as follows:

Section 1. Pursuant to authority of Section 305 of the charter of the city of Duluth the council does hereby direct the issuance of certificates of indebtedness in anticipation of the collection of taxes levied in the year 1911, as follows: For the fire department fund to the amount of $34,000.00; for the printing and supply fund to the amount of $3,000.00; for the library fund to the amount of $5,000.00; for the permanent improvement fund to the amount of $20,000.00, said certificates to be made payable at the office of the city treasurer of the City of Duluth, August 1, 1912.

Section 2. Said certificates of indebtedness are hereby directed to be signed by the mayor, sealed with the seal of the city, attested by the clerk, and countersigned by the comptroller thereof.

Section 3. Said certificates of indebtedness shall be of the following form with the blanks in this form properly filled in:

"CERTIFICATE OF INDEBTEDNESS OF THE CITY OF DULUTH.

State of Minnesota,
City of Duluth.

No. ——— $1,000.

This is to certify that the sum of $——— was the whole amount embraced in the tax estimate for the ——— fund of the city of Duluth made in the year 1911, and that none of said amount has at this time been collected and credited to said fund, and that heretofore no certificates have been issued against said levy for said fund, and that this certificate of indebtedness is issued in anticipation of said tax. The city of Duluth hereby guarantees to the holder of said certificate that it will cause to be collected said tax so levied, and will pay upon surrender of this certificate to the treasurer of the city of Duluth on the 1st day of August, 1912, the sum of $1,000, with interest from the date hereof to the time mentioned therein for payment at the rate of 4 per cent per annum.

This certificate is one of a series of certificates in the aggregate sum of $———, issued under the provisions of Ordinance No. ———, passed Oct. 16, 1911, in pursuance of Section 305 of the charter of the city of Duluth."

Section 4. Said certificates of indebtedness, when so issued, may be taken up by investments from any of the separate funds of the city of Duluth in the manner provided by Section 306 of the city charter.

Section 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND AN ORDINANCE ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE REGULATING THE CONSTRUCTION, ALTERATION, REPAIR, REMOVAL AND INSPECTION OF BUILDINGS WITHIN THE CORPORATE LIMITS OF THE CITY OF DULUTH THE PROTECTION OF THE LIVES OF PERSONS THEREIN AND THE PROTECTION OF PROPERTY AGAINST FIRE," PASSED JANUARY 8th, 1906, AS AMENDED.

The Common Council of the City of Duluth do Ordain as Follows:

Section 1. That section 14 of title IX of part II of an ordinance entitled "an ordinance regulating the construction, alteration, repair, removal and inspection of buildings within the corporate limits of the City of Duluth, the protection of the lives of persons therein, and the protection of property against fire," passed January 8th, 1906, as amended, is hereby amended by adding thereto at the end thereof the following.

REINFORCED CONCRETE COLUMNS:

"In reinforced concrete columns, the ratio of length at least side of diameter of the reinforced core, including the reinforcement, shall not exceed fifteen (15). Provided, however, that if such ratio exceeds twelve (12), then a reduction in the stresses hereinafter allowed shall be made of such values in accordance with the best engineering practice.

"In figuring the strength of the columns, only the area within the limits of the ties, bands, hooping, spirals or wrapping shall be considered as effective area. The one and one-half (1½) inches of concrete that must in all cases be provided outside of the ties, bands, hooping, spirals or wrapping shall be treated only as a protection to the steel against fire and corrosion.

MINIMUM SIZE:

"No reinforced concrete columns shall be used whose least side or diameter, including the protection against fire and corrosion, in less than twelve (12) inches.

SQUARE COLUMNS, HENNEBIQUE TYPE:

"In the Hennebique type of column, where four (4) rods are used and the maximum spacing does not exceed twelve (12) inches, and in no case more than half the distance between two of the vertical rods, and the minimum area of the ties is at least .1104 of a square inch in area, the following values shall not be exceeded:

8,000 pounds per square inch on the vertical steel.

600 pounds per square inch on the concrete.

No allowance shall be made for the ties.

"In the Hennebique type of column, where eight (8) rods are used and the maximum tie spacing does not exceed twelve (12) inches, and in no case more than seven (7) times the diameter of the vertical rods, and the minimum area of the ties is at least .1104 of a square inch in area, and two (2) sets of ties are used, and one (1) tie in the form of a square inscribed within the outer tie, and the ends of the ties secured in the core in such a manner as will fully develop the elastic limit of the ties, the following values shall not be exceeded:

"8,000 pounds per square inch on the vertical steel.

"600 pounds per square inch on the concrete, and

"12,000 pounds per square inch on one and one-half times.

ROUND CORE COLUMNS:

For round core columns vertically reinforced and hooped with circular bands or spirals, the vertical rods shall not be less than four (4) in number nor the area of cross-section of each rod less than .06013 of a square inch, the spirals shall not be less than .0767 of a square inch in area of cross-section, and the spacing of the spirals, if such are used, shall in no case exceed one-fifth (1-5) of the diameter of the core, without reducing the values hereinafter given for the concrete in a ratio of fifty (50) per cent of the proportional increase in the spacing. Provided, however, that in cases where spirals or properly welded bands are used and there are enough vertical rods of proper area to give the same restraint as a grill, the spacing of the bands shall not exceed, for the values hereinafter given, seven (7) times the diameter of one such vertical rods. The following values shall not be exceeded for either of the foregoing conditions:

"12,000 pounds per square inch on the vertical steel,

"600 pounds per square inch on the concrete, and

"16,000 pounds per square inch on 2.4 times the volume of the hooping considered as imaginary verticals, provided that the spirals are continuous, machine-made and accurately spaced.

Provided, however, that if wire hooping is used, not less than five-sixteenths (5-16) of an inch in diameter (of 80,000 pounds ultimate strength and 50,000 pounds elastic limit), an allowance of twenty thousand (20,000) pounds per square inch may be used for the hooping, provided, that wherever said value is allowed said spirals shall be machine-made and provided with accurate spacers.

The above values for steel shall be used only for Bessemer or open hearth steel and no re-rolled or bushel rail steel shall be used.

The above values for concrete shall be used only for machine-mixed concrete composed of one part Portland cement, two parts sand and four parts clean lake gravel or crushed trap rock or granite. For concrete of the proportions 1:1-½:3, these values may be increased twenty-five (25) per cent. Sand shall be such aggregate as will pass a ¼-inch screen, whether contained in the gravel or sold as sand.

FORMULAE FOR COMPUTING THE STRENGTH OF COLUMNS:

"In computing the strength of the types of columns above specified, the following formulae apply:

"Let

"P Safe load.

"Ac Net area of concrete within the ties.

"As Net area of vertical steel.

"Fc Allowable compression on concrete.

"Fs Allowable compression on vertical rods.

"As Net volume of the ties figures as imaginary verticals.

"F's Allowable unit stress on ties.

Then for square columns: P-Acfc-|-Asfs; four (4) rod type.

For square columns: P-Acfc-|-Asfs-|-1.5 asf's'; eight (8) rod type.

For round columns: P-1.5 Acfc-|-Asfs-|- 2.4 Asf's'.

"Wherever vertical reinforcing rods are used in columns, such rods shall have their ends milled normal to the longitudinal axes, and such rods shall have full, perfect bearings at each joint, and such joints shall occur only at floors or other points of lateral support, and a tight fitting sleeve shall be provided at all joints of vertical reinforcing rods. Provided, however, that other methods of securing the continuity throughout the length of such columns of the vertical reinforcement thereof may be used, if approved by the Inspector of Buildings.

"In tall and narrow buildings, special provisions shall be made for the tension in columns."

"Where additional stories are to be added to work over two years old an addition of 15 per cent may be made to the concrete values herein specified for columns."

Section 2. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Passed Oct. 16, 1911.
Approved Oct. 18, 1911.

A GOOD INVESTMENT
1526, 1526½, 1528 East Third Street, being three houses with brick basement and having every convenience, on a lot 50x140 feet.
These houses are in good condition and have a rental value of $102.50 per month; are located in the best of neighborhoods and have always had good tenants.
This is a good investment as it pays a high rate of interest on the purchase price and requires but a moderate amount of cash to handle it.
It is a particularly good investment for a party looking for a comfortable home in a good neighborhood, as he can rent the other two houses for enough money to pay on the whole investment a higher rate of interest than the ordinary investment pays, besides getting his rent for nothing.
These houses are owned by a non-resident and as it is all the Duluth property he owns, wishes to close it out, which accounts for the cheapness of the price, which is $7,500.00.

WIRT COOK SAYS HE UNDERSTOOD HINES GOT STEPHENSON IN

Declares Daniel Haley Told Him About Shields' Work.

Duluth Man Denies Morris' Testimony Before the Senators.

Bench Warrant Is Ordered for the Superior Man.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 20.—The story that Edward Hines, the lumberman, helped "put over" the election of Senator Isaac Stephenson, and that Hines employed Robert J. Shields to work on the case both at Washington and at Madison, Wis., was repeated before the senatorial investigating committee today.

Wirt H. Cook, a lumberman of Duluth, Minn., declared he had secured the information from Daniel Haley of Duluth, another lumberman. This information was that Shields had had a falling out with Hines because Shields wanted $15,000 for the work and Hines refused to pay that much, saying Stephenson ought to pay half of it.

Shortly after hearing this, Cook testified, he met Shields on a train and asked him about the story.

Talked With Shields.

"We were talking about both the Stephenson and the Lorimer cases," said Cook. "I asked Shields how he came out with Hines in the dispute over the job at Madison. 'Oh, that's all fixed up,' said Shields. That's about all that was said."

Cook then related a conversation which he said took place between Hines and Henry Turrish in a hotel lobby in Chicago in May, 1909.

"Turrish asked Hines how he was getting on. 'Having a hard time,' replied Hines; 'for instance, there is Stephenson. After I had elected him, he goes down to Washington and votes for

HEARST SAYS HE IS A DEMOCRAT

Declaration Raises Question as to Independence League Status.

New York, Oct. 20.—William R. Hearst's announcement that he was back in the regular Democratic fold caused much speculation in political circles today regarding the fate of the Independence league. This organization was founded by Mr. Hearst and nominated candidates, supported by him, in the last national and state campaigns. The question now is to what extent, if at all, he will use it in coming political battles.

Mr. Hearst declared himself last night at the opening rally of the local fusion campaign in the first public address he has made since his recent return from abroad.

"I am speaking," he said, "as a good citizen, I hope, and also as a good Democrat. Mr. Murphy and his kind drove me out of the Democratic party five years ago, but the commendable course of the national Democracy has brought me back into the fold."

Fight Murphy and Tammany.

He declared that he would continue his fight against the "un-Democratic principles" of Tammany hall, but that the greatest benefit loyal Democrats could confer upon the national Democracy was to free it of the "hindrance and handicap of Murphy and Tammany hall."

Mr. Hearst's audience was composed almost entirely of Republicans and members of the Independence league, and his declaration caused surprise and widespread comment. The fusion movement here with which Mr. Hearst's adherents have allied themselves is opposing the regular Democratic candidates to be voted on this fall for the assembly, the judiciary and county officers.

GANG SHOOTS UP WYOMING TOWN

Two of Party Believed to Be Whitney Brothers.

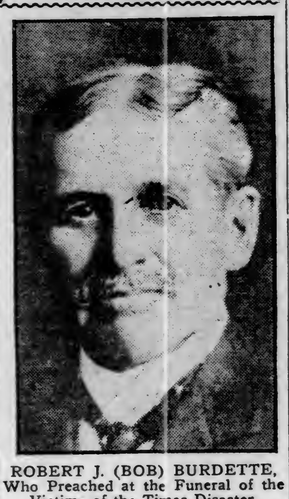

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 20.—A special from Cokeville, Wyo., says that five men rode into that town last night and for nearly an hour held the place at their mercy. It is believed in Cokeville that two members of the party were the Whitney brothers, who have been terrorizing parts of southern Idaho and western Wyoming and for whom a search is being made.

The men made their appearance first at the Wyoming saloon, and during their visit took a shot at the bartender. Going onto the street they ordered the residents to their homes, and while enforcing their orders with their firearms, shot Peter H. Anderson in the leg.

Later the visitors rode to the office of County Attorney Reynolds and fired several shots at him, but none was effective. Just before leaving town they rode to the Fuller saloon and fired a volley through the windows. So far as known no one was hurt.

Before the townspeople could organize for resistance the visitors rode away and today a posse is searching the country for them.

ORATION FIGURES IN M'NAMARA'S TRIAL

ROBERT J. (BOB) BURDETTE, Who Preached at the Funeral of the Victims of the Times Disaster.

CHALLENGED BY THE STATE

Venireman Who Holds to Gas Theory Objected to as Juror.

Judge in McNamara Trial Has Four Challenges to Decide.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 20.—The state challenged Venireman T. W. Adams at the opening of the McNamara murder trial today. The challenge was based on Adams' opposition to the death penalty. The court took the challenge under consideration, making four challenges now awaiting his direction.

Adams is a Socialist, and a portion of his examination was taken up in separating his political bias and his personal attitude toward the prisoner. The defense, under Attorney C. S. Darrow, resisted the challenge.

Darrow's examination was by way of attempted demonstration that a man who believes that gas destroyed the Los Angeles Times building still might be unprejudiced as to whether James B. McNamara is guilty of causing the death of Charles J. Haggerty, a machinist who lost his life in the Times disaster.

Believes Gas Theory.

"You believe the building was blown up by gas?" he asked.

"Yes," said Adams.

"But you have no opinion as to whether the defendant, by breaking a gas main or otherwise, caused the building to be filled with gas?"

"No."

The state takes the position that belief in the gas theory is virtually belief in the innocence of the defendant.

A few minutes later the state also challenged Talesman A. R. McIntosh because of his objection to the death penalty on circumstantial evidence. This challenge also was resisted by the defense. Implied bias was the formal ground for the challenge.

Defining the Issues.

Through the empanneling of a

MAY STRIKE ON THE ROCK ISLAND

Shopmen of That Company Have Wage Question to Bring Up.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 20.—Labor leaders here announced today that the five allied crafts of shopmen now on strike along the Harriman railroads are preparing to strike on the Rock Island system. A strike vote is being taken by the members of the various crafts in the federation, according to the announcement. The proposed strike would add between 5,000 and 10,000 men to the number already out.

It is said in labor circles that other roads are likely to be involved in the strike before it is settled.

"The trouble on the Rock Island system is not the same as the Harriman trouble," J. A. Franklin, president of the Boilermakers' union, said today. "There is a question of wage increase involved in the Rock Island trouble. The federation is interested the same as in the present strike, but it is incorrect to say that the Rock Island men are striking from sympathy."

Mr. Franklin said the wage question involved a sliding scale and was so complicated that it would be hard to say just how much increase is being asked at this time.

Know Nothing of It.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—At the office of President H. W. Mudge of the Rock Island system, it was stated today that the officials of the railroad company here had no intimation of an impending strike of shopmen.

BRODERICK FORGETFUL

Cannot Explain Letter He Wrote to Senator Holtslaw.

Lorimer's Lawyer Rouses Feelings of Senatorial Committee.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Counsel for the committee of United States senators investigating the Lorimer case, today unexpectedly produced a letter from State Senator John Broderick of Chicago to Former State Senator D. W. Holtslaw of Iuka in which Broderick specifically asked Holtslaw to keep an appointment in Chicago at 4 o'clock p. m., Aug. 28, 1909. The letter was dated Aug. 26, 1909, and bore Broderick's personal letter head.

Broderick admitted that the letter was authentic, but said he could not remember why he had wanted to see Holtslaw at that time.

Attorney Hanecy, for Mr. Lorimer, charged that the letter was in the hands of the prosecution at the time of the previous federal senatorial inquiry.

Hanecy Displeased Committee.

"The letter wasn't used then because it didn't fit in with the theory of the prosecution at that time," said Hanecy.

His protests became objectionable to some of the members of the committee and Senator Dillingham, chairman, interrupted.

"Do I understand you are charging members of this committee with secreting matters bearing on this investigation?" asked the chairman.

"I am not," said Hanecy; "but I do want the source of the information that is being brought before the committee. Witnesses and evidence are being suggested to counsel for the committee every day, and we cannot find out where the stuff is coming from."

Senator Johnson asked Hanecy to SEEK BACK TAXES FROM RAILROADS

Minnesota May Prove to Have $100,000 Coming to State.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 20.—Special to The Herald.)—That the examination of the books of railroad companies operating in Minnesota, now being made in Chicago by four assistants of Andrew E. Fritz, public examiner, will result in the discovery of from $75,000 to $100,000 in back taxes not reported by the railroads, either through clerical errors or otherwise, is the statement made by Mr. Fritz.

The men will be engaged on the work until early next summer, and probably before they leave Chicago will investigate also the books of express companies operating in Minnesota. The present examination of the railroad companies' books is the most extensive that the department has made, for the reason that in former years there was no money for the purpose.

The men are now engaged on the books of the Northwestern road. When they are finished they will take up in turn the St. Paul, the Burlington and the Rock Island.

DISPATCHES CONFIRM REPORT OF VICTORY OF CHINESE REBELS

Imperial Warships Retreat Down the Yangtse River.

Missionaries Are Warned to Leave the Country.

Pekin, Oct. 20.—Fears which had prevailed here since yesterday were confirmed last night by an Associated Press dispatch from Hankow which stated that the rebels were winning.

The message was sent from Hankow early this morning. It was carried by a messenger to the nearest open wire and was received here this evening.

Up to 6 o'clock tonight the government and the foreign legations were in the dark as to the developments in the South. The officials claimed that the absence of news was due to the fact that the minister of war, Gen. Yin Tchang, was holding the telegraph lines and not allowing any but his own messages to be transmitted. They stated that Gen. Yin Tchang had completed the organization of his forces and was rapidly pushing forward his troops, meanwhile contenting himself with reporting military details without furnishing details of Wednesday's fight.

Imperial Forces Concentrated.

It was expected that the concentration of the two imperial divisions had been completed last night at Kwangshua, seventy miles north of Hankow.

Official assurances were given that the outlook was now much improved,

ROASTS THE LEGISLATURE

State Board of Visitors Says Institutions Need Money.

Enlargements and Improvements Serious Question—Fire-Trap at Faribault.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Criticism of the legislature for neglecting to make appropriation for extensions to state institutions, and approval of the use of rattlesnake venom to cure epileptics are contained in a report to the governor by the state board of visitors. The first wallop at the law-makers is taken in the report, thus:

"As has been stated in our previous report, the hospital at St. Peter is overcrowded. Beds in both the small and large dormitories are as thick as they can be and permit of room to move about. For instance, one room 14 by 22 feet contained seven beds. This is a matter, however, that cannot be charged against the officials at the hospital. If the state does not supply adequate room, no blame can be attached except to those within whose authority the supplying of this need comes.

SNOW FALLS IN NORTH DAKOTA

Follows Cold, Drizzling Rain in the North Counties.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota's first snowfall of the year commenced this morning, with points in the northern district reporting heavy falls. At Park River snow began to fall at 9 o'clock, following a cold drizzling rain, and for two hours there was a very heavy fall with the temperature dropping slowly. Langdon also reported a fall of snow, but extreme eastern points close to the Red river had not had snow yet, though it was raining.

HERBERT L. SWIFT EXPIRES ON TRAIN

Death of Chicagoan to Be Investigated at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 20.—That the death late last night of Herbert L. Swift, aged 36, son of a wealthy Chicago packer, on a Chicago & Northwestern train was the result of a weak heart, is the opinion of Coroner H. L. Nahin of Milwaukee.

Young Swift was said to have been en route to the woods of Northern Wisconsin on a hunting trip. He was accompanied by Dr. A. V. La Forge, also of Chicago.

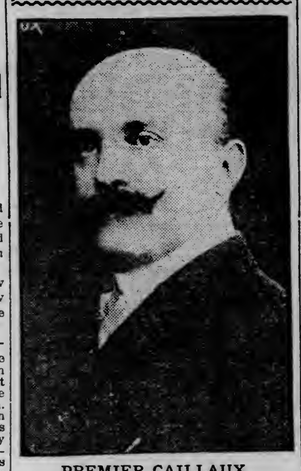

An effort was made to keep the death a secret. No one knew the identity of the dead man at the depot except Dr. La Forge, and he was so grief-stricken that he refused to talk. Coroner Nahin expected to investigate as to the cause of Swift's death today.

It is said young Swift was in a happy frame of mind when he left Chicago, and that he had arranged to spend at least a month in the Northern woods. Swift was interested in many business concerns and was president of a lumber and supply company of Chicago.

BAPTIST PASTOR IS ACCUSED OF MURDER OF FORMER FIANCEE

FRENCH PREMIER IS SOON TO BE MARRIED

PREMIER CAILLAUX.

Paris, Oct. 20.—Premier Caillaux is to marry Mme. Raineuard, one of the best dressed and most popular of the Paris smart set. Both Mr. Caillaux and his fiancee have been married before. The premier was twice married and twice divorced, having obtained the dissolution of his second marriage early this year, a short time before he became premier. M. Caillaux is 48 years old. The wedding is to occur early next week.

Rev. C. V. T. Richeson of Cambridge, Mass., Is Arrested.

Officers Wait All Night at Fiancee's Home to Seize Him.

Purchase of Poison Figures in Charge Against Him.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 20.—Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, pastor of a Baptist church in Cambridge, was arrested early today as a result of the police investigation of the death by poisoning of Miss Avis Linnell, his former sweetheart, and a student at the New England Conservatory of Music. The arrest was made at the home of Moses G. Edmonds, father of Richeson's fiancee, in Brookline.

Miss Linnell's death has caused a sensation because of the mysterious circumstances surrounding it. She is believed formerly to have been engaged to Rev. Mr. Richeson, but it is said the engagement was broken and the clergyman later became engaged to Miss Edmonds. Friends of the minister, however, have insisted in public statement that no engagement with Miss Linnell ever existed. Mr. Richeson steadily has refused to discuss the case.

The minister is a native of Rose Hill, Va., and has lived in Missouri. He is 35 years old.

TOO WET FOR THE BIG GAME

World Series Is Delayed Once More By the Weather.

Klem Expresses Doubt of Any Contest on Saturday.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 20.—For three days the rain god has prevented the Philadelphia and New York baseball teams from getting together for their fourth tilt for the premiership in the realm of baseball. Today opened as dark and gloomy as Wednesday and Thursday, and when the umpires saw there was no prospect of the weather clearing they decided to call the game off immediately. The game goes over until tomorrow.

Umpire Klem, after an inspection of the field, gave it as his opinion that there will have to be an early and radical change in the weather if there is to be a game here tomorrow.

Players Are Eager.

The players on both teams are anxious to play the remaining games as soon as possible. Manager Mack of the Philadelphia American league team smiled at the report that the delay had favored the New York team more than it had the Philadelphians. He pointed to the fact that the rest had enabled Baker, the best hitter in the present series, to recover from the wounds received by the two spikings from Snodgrass. Barry, he said, also had received a bump in New York, and the lay-off would benefit him.

Neither Manager Mack nor McGraw will announce their pitchers for the BANK ROBBED AT ELDRED, MINN.

Explosion Arouses Citizens, But the Yeggmen Escape With $1,000.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The State Bank of Eldred, ten miles south of here, on the Fargo line of the Great Northern, was entered and the vault blown open this morning at 2:15 by yeggmen, who got away with about $1,000 in cash. They stole a horse and buggy from a hotel barn and the horse returned at 7:40 with the empty rig.

Marshal Roberts at Fisher tried to stop three men in a buggy at 5:30, but they whipped up their horses. He shot several times but they refused to stop. The sheriff is scouring the county with an automobile.

Eldred residents were aroused when the explosion took place. It blew the front out of the bank building. The robbery was discovered a few minutes later and notice given to the sheriff and to all surrounding towns.

NORWEGIAN STEAMER RAMS GERMAN WARSHIP.

Kiel, Germany, Oct. 20.—The German battleship Hessen was rammed last night by the Norwegian steamer Argo. The damage to the battleship was very slight. The steamer's bow was crushed in, but she returned to Kiel unaided.

SAY MARZYEK ELUDED POSSES

Officers Continue Search for Alleged Wholesale Murderer.

Ellsworth, Kan., Oct. 20.—Posses today continued to search this and adjoining counties for Charles Marzyek, wanted in connection with the murder of five members of the Showman family.

Local officers do not believe that the man arrested last night at Newkirk, Okla., is Marzyek. Photographs of the fugitive were sent to the Newkirk officials, but early today no word had been received from there as to whether the man held has been identified as the missing Slav.

Many persons here now believe that Marzyek left for the South on a train several days ago.

Was in Denver.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 20.—That Charles Marzyek, sought as a suspect in the Ellsworth, Kan., quintuple murder case, was in Denver a week prior to the sextuple murder of the Wayne and Burnham families in Colorado Springs on Sept. 17, was the statement made to police officials today by Patrolman Louis Kratke. According to Kratke, Marzyek, whom he knew as a boy, hailed him on the street here about Sept. 10, Kratke being unable to remember the exact date.

Kratke's statement conflicts with the assertions of Marzyek's relatives here that letters had been received from Marzyek in Alaska so recently as to make it impossible for him to have returned in time to commit the crimes.

TAFT BACK IN WYOMING

Attendants Are Wondering About Receptions in Northwest States.

Itinerary of Supplemental Tour Is All Arranged.

Sheridan, Wyo., Oct. 20.—President Taft re-entered Wyoming today. He was met here by United States Senator Warren and Congressman Mondell, who will escort him through the remainder of the state. Although today marks the end of five weeks of traveling, the president still has several thousand additional miles to cover before leaving Pittsburg on his supplemental trip, details of which were announced last night.

Secretary Hilles and others close to the president are deeply interested in the receptions being planned for Mr. Taft in South Dakota, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

In the reception line on the station platform when the Taft train arrived was Curley, the Crow scout, who is supposed to have been the only man with Gen. Custer to escape in the Little Big Horn fight. Curley reported the

"KEEP MOVING" ORDER IS BEING OBEYED.

The amendment to the peace ordinance giving the police power to deal with the mashers who had been a nuisance in the downtown section seems to be just what was needed. The "move along" directions of the policemen on the beats is promptly heeded. Capt. "Tony" Fiskett stated today that since it went into effect he has not received a single complaint of women being offended by the men who formerly loafed on the main corners and curbs. The mashers appear to realize better than any one else that they will be promptly arrested if they do not keep moving.

EBERHART INVITED AFTER THE WEDDING.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—An invitation has reached Governor Eberhart to attend the wedding of Arnaud, the son of Baron d'Estournelles de Constant, and Mademoiselle Marguerite Koechlin, in Paris, Oct. 14, 1911. GARDEN FOR CHILDREN

"Won't Study Farming Until They Know What It Is" His Theory.

The lecture given last week by George H. Maxwell, homecrofter, has interested a number of West Duluth residents, and the school children also are planning active work on garden plans.

S. A. Foster, principal of the Irving school, said that he has always favored the idea of a small garden for both children and adults, not only for the commercial benefit derived from it, but because of the general education a boy or girl may receive.

"There are a number of young men," said Prof. Foster, "who would choose agriculture as their profession if they had some idea as to what it is. It is impossible to influence a boy to take a course in agriculture or forestry without first giving him an idea as to what he is taking. That the two courses are the best for young men at the present time can hardly be denied by any one acquainted with farming. There is nothing better in both the work and financial returns than scientific farming. But it is impossible to get the young men of our country interested until they first see the work done on a small scale. A boy takes medicine or engineering because he has seen men work at the professions. He has made up his mind on that one work because he has an idea as to what he is taking, and that is why we want the young men taught something about farming before we can tell them all to go 'back to the farm.'"

Plans for Next Spring.

Mr. Foster would have every boy taught how to handle a hoe and rake as soon as he is able. He has advised the students to have homecrofting as their main issue in the class meetings and to form some plan for next spring. He told them that if they like a small garden ten feet square, there is no doubt but that farm work would appeal to them. There is a big opening for boys now on farms all over the country and he advised them to talk the matter over with their parents and teachers during the coming winter. Mr. Foster plans to have a large colony of young homecrofters before seeding time next spring.

A meeting of business men from the ten surrounding states was held in Minneapolis this week to prove that the present educational system was entirely at fault and that they are planning a change for the entire West. The chairman in making his report showed that in Minnesota alone $14,000,000 a year was being spent so that out of 446,000 school children 99.6 per cent were being educated to be consumers and 4 per cent to be producers. The plan of the present meeting is to start a new movement to the farm and to give the student an agricultural education. "Agriculture and education" is the keynote of the convention and all the states to the Pacific coast will work to that end in the future. The plan of the business men is in line with the suggestion of Prof. Foster and is the same system that has been planned to encourage an interest in agriculture.

FESLER WILL TALK TO COMMERCIAL CLUB.

City Attorney Bert Fesler will speak at the West Duluth Commercial club this evening at the request of the members. A number of other interested citizens are also planning to attend and hear Mr. Fesler talk on the municipal lighting question. Mr. Fesler will answer all the questions that may be put to him. He will be accompanied by A. G. McKnight, who will also give a short talk.

The club will attend to any of the outstanding business and hear committee reports following Mr. Fesler's address. Several important matters are to come up and a campaign for the extension of Ramsey street will be renewed. All the citizens are eager to obtain the extension, and will do all in their power to have the council order it. Those living on Grand avenue were promised the new street when they paid for the paving of the former. A committee will probably be appointed to take the matter up with the council and the board of public works.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST SPREAD OF SMALLPOX.

The health department officials have completed a thorough examination of the Ely school at West Duluth, following the discovery of two smallpox cases in that vicinity. The students who had not been vaccinated were treated by the physicians and every precaution taken to prevent a spread of the disease. Five cases of smallpox have been discovered in that end of the city in the last few weeks, but the authorities state that there is no occasion for fear as it is believed that the situation is well under control.

Bridge Nearly Finished.

The new Canadian Northern bridge at Forty-ninth avenue west will be completed tomorrow, according to the foreman in charge of the work. The street cars are now running on both tracks and the finishing touches will be completed before the present week is over. All the planking has been laid and all that remains is the completion of the approaches and the south sidewalk. The planks have been laid crosswise following the agitation of the team owners started last week.

BOYS TAKE TO COOKING

Students at Industrial High School Enthusiastic Over Course.

Boys Have Asked for Special Course in Domestic Science.

A large number of boys at the Duluth Industrial high school have become so interested in the girls' departments that they they have asked for the establishment of a cooking class for boys. Many of the boys go camping in the summer and now want to learn the rudiments of the art of cooking.

Miss Walker, head of the department, said that she would be willing to teach the boys and thinks it a wise plan for them to learn. She has shown a number of them how to make fudge and rarebits in the past and believes that the study of plain cooking would be valuable to them. "Every boy should know how to cook and how to keep cooking utensils clean and in order," said Miss Walker. "At least the boys would begin to appreciate the home more after realizing the work their mothers have to do when they prepare the meals." Miss Walker cited the chefs and cooks in the largest cafes in the country as an example of man's ability to practice the culinary art and believes that men make much better cooks than women.

The girls' department is rapidly growing and with the new systems adopted the cooking classes have become among the most popular in the school program. The girls have been taught cleanliness as well as cooking and are also doing the work with economy in view and seeing just how cheaply a dish may be cooked. The girls are also practicing at their homes and have become very proficient in the work. Miss Walker has asked the mothers of the girls to allow them to practice at home in order that the parents may see just what the girls are being taught in the cooking department from day to day.

MRS. D. C. PRESCOTT DIES IN CHICAGO

Old Friends Receive News of Death of Former Duluth Resident.

Mrs. D. Clint Prescott, a prominent resident of West Duluth fifteen years ago, died today in Chicago where the family has lived for some years. She was about 65 years old.

Mrs. Prescott is well remembered in Duluth. She came here in 1891 with her husband, D. Clint Prescott, who was president of the Marinette Iron Works. He moved the plant to West Duluth at that time and established it in the building now occupied by the Union Match company. The family lived in West Duluth for about five years and Mrs. Prescott was very prominent, socially and in church work. In 1896, the family moved to Marinette and later went to Chicago.

Mr. Prescott survives his wife. William P. Morris of the Marshall-Wells Hardware company of Duluth is a nephew of Mrs. Prescott.

Oak Hall Clothing Co.

A STORE STOCKED FULL OF NEW SEASONABLE CLOTHING

Of guaranteed fine quality; the lowest prices at which it is possible to sell such merchandise; an immense and interesting selection that would be a credit to any store in America — these are Oak Hall advantages which, we believe, will make buying here profitable to you and a pleasure.

YOUR SUIT

AN ENGLISH OR AMERICAN MODEL?

A war for popularity is on this fall between these models. We're neutral. We offer a rich assortment of both styles. You're the one to "take sides." The principal features of each style are:

English Models—Coats have soft rolling fronts, closing with three or four buttons; sleeves narrow with small cuff; snug-fitting body; high, narrow shoulders; skirt short. Vests high cut and showing way above the coat. The trousers narrow in legs and close fitting at the thighs.

American Models—Coats have moderate, flat lapels, fronts closing with three or four buttons; sleeves fairly wide, without cuff; semi-form-fitting or loose body; wide shoulders, natural or slightly padded; rather long skirt. Vest is concealed or shows slightly above coat. Trousers fit closely over hips; legs are narrower than last year, but not "tight."

HUNDREDS OF SUITS FOR

$20 and $25

Extra fine fabrics and elaborate tailoring—Suits good enough for any professional or business man are here at these prices. Weaves are cheviots, English tweeds, pure worsteds, finished or unfinished, and other high-grade cloths.

SPECIAL, PRACTICAL BUSINESS SUITS $15

These actually are SPECIAL Suits. We specified a certain high quality to the makers, and got a special price by placing an immense order. Come and examine the fabrics, the workmanship and models; then see if you can get equal quality elsewhere for $18.

OAK HALL SUITS AND OVERCOATS

English and American models interpreted by the foremost designers of the country. These clothes are famous for their rich fabrics and perfect finish. Prices, $20 to $45.

OAK HALL BENCH-MADE CLOTHES

These garments have features all their own. Perhaps they fulfill your own ideas. They certainly meet the demands of many of Duluth's best dressed men. Prices, $20 to $35.

GILL SETS ENDURANCE AEROPLANE RECORD.

St .Louis, Mo., Oct. 20.—Howard W. Gill, in a biplane, broke the American endurance record here yesterday afternoon by remaining in the air 4 hours, 16 minutes and 35 seconds. The former record, made by the late St. Croix Johnstone, was 4 hours and 1 minute.

Gill ascended at 12:43:55 o'clock and descended at 5:06:30. His flight was principally over the field, but at times he flew over a triangular course of more than thirty miles.

P. O. Parmalee attempted to make a new altitude record, but returned to the ground because of atmospheric conditions, after having ascended 4,000 feet.

ALDRICH HAS NEW SCHEME

Revised Plan for Central Reserve Association Is Submitted.

Basic Principles Unchanged But Some Revisions Are Important.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Former Senator Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island has submitted to the National Monetary commission, of which he is chairman, a revision of his plan for monetary legislation. The commission may use it as the basis of its recommendations to congress.

The basic principles of the revised plan are substantially the same as those embodied in Mr. Aldrich's first proposal sent to the commission last January, which he said he expected would serve as a basis for national discussion. Important phases which then were unsettled and those which have since been evolved are treated in the recommendations now sent to the commission. Most of the questions are rehandled with great detail as the result of discussions and conferences which have been going on since the plan was suggested.

For Reserve Association.

The plan still provides for the organization of the National Reserve association, in which the United States government and the banks owning shares in the association shall be the only depositors. The plan of dividing the United States at first into fifteen financial districts remains unchanged. In each district the banks shall form local associations of their own, which in turn will be represented in the branches and finally in the central organization through a system of election of directors, which, it is said, will make it impossible for any section or set of bankers to control the whole.

To Provide for Bonds.

To provide for the $730,000,000 of 2 per cent government bonds now owned by the national banks and used as the basis of note circulation which are to be absorbed by the reserve association, the following plan is proposed:

"Upon the application of the reserve association, the secretary of the treasury shall exchange the 2 per cent bonds which the association will buy from the banks at par and accrued interest, for a new issue of 3 per cent securities, payable fifty years after the date of issue.

"The reserve association will pay to the government a special franchise tax of 1½ per cent per year on the amount of such bonds. As the government's actual interest charge on the 2 per cents is not actually 1½ per cent, since the banks pay back a half of 1 per cent as a tax when the bonds are used as the basis of note circulation, this will reimburse the government for the extra interest it will be called upon to pay as a result of exchanging the two's and three's."

One Obstacle Removed.

One effect of the exchange will be to enable the government to provide permanently for a large portion of the interest-bearing public debt at a net interest charge of 1½ per cent. This arrangement proposes a solution of what many financiers declared the greatest obstacle to the plan. It disposes permanently of the bond-secured currency without loss to the government and without imposing upon the reserve association the ownership of the $730,000,000 2 per cent bonds.

The association will agree to hold the 3 per cents for fifty years, but the secretary of the treasury after five years will have the option of permitting the association to sell the securities at a rate not greater than $60,000,000 a year.

Provisions for the election of directors have been changed in the revised plan with the idea of minimizing the possibility of control by any section or group. There still will be forty-five directors, six menbers ex-officio, the governor of the association, his two deputies, the secretary of the treasury, the secretary of commerce and labor and the comptroller of the currency.

Choice of Directors.

Each of the fifteen financial districts of the country will elect one director; twelve others will be elected by the shareholders; and these twenty-seven will elect to the board twelve additional members. These shall not be officers of banks, but may be directors in them, and who fairly shall represent the industrial, agricultural, commercial and other interests of the country.

In the organization of the executive committee of nine, upon which it has been said much of the active management of the association would fall, only one of the five elected members (the other four being the governor of the association, his two deputies and the comptroller of the currency, ex-officio), may be chosen from any one district. The whole board of directors may reserve to itself any authority it desires and is not bound to vest the executive committee with full control.

The original plan provided that the governor of the association should be appointed by the president of the United States from a list of names submitted by the board of directors, and that the president should also have power to remove the governor. The plan reserves the right of removal on a two-thirds vote of the board.

Admit State Banks.

One important change is the admission to membership of state banks and trust companies which conform to a required standard. A state bank or trust company to be eligible must conform to the same standard as national banks regarding the relation of its capital to the population of the community it serves, or regarding the reserves to be held against deposits, and must conform to a certain standard regarding examinations and reports.

Requirements for reserves to be held against deposits are made the same for national banks, state banks and trust companies, but the present reserve requirements of national banks are modified to the extent of requiring no reserves against time deposits except for the thirty-day period preceding their maturity.

This provision, which resembles those in the trust company laws of some states, is expected to make it more profitable for national banks to hold time deposits in competition with trust companies. Banks of all classes will have the full use of time deposits without reserve restrictions until thirty days from maturing time, when standard reserves will be required.

For Discounting.

A provision that the association shall discount for any member notes and bills of exchange arising out of commercial transactions, further is developed in the line of preventing the granting of loans upon securities. The notes and bills eligible for discount by the association are restricted to such notes and bills of exchange as are "issued or drawn for agricultural, industrial or commercial purposes and not for carrying stocks, bonds or other investment securities."

National banks will have the right to establish savings departments and to lend not more than 40 per cent of such deposits on any productive real estate, in loans not exceeding 50 per cent of the value of the property. Savings deposits in any of the banks in the association shall be subject to thirty days notice before withdrawal and shall be covered by a reserve of 40 per cent of that required for the 40 per cent of deposits in the same locality.

For the reserves of the association, it is proposed that 50 per cent of its demand liabilities, including deposits and note issues, shall be covered by government or other lawful money, and that whenever the reserve falls below 50 per cent the association is bound to pay a special tax which increases in rates in proportion to the deficiency.

Another provision specifies that any local association may assume and exercise the powers and functions of a clearing house. In this respect some clearing houses are expected to become local associations.

Local Examiners.

All local associations will be required to appoint examiners, which is a development of the movement for local clearing house examiners now being promoted throughout the country.

One criticism of the first plan was that there was no way to remove a bank from an association. It has been provided that a local association may suspend a bank which fails to maintain its reserves or comply with other requirements of the law.

It is also provided that the note issue of the association at all times shall be covered by at least one-third in gold or other lawful money. Any notes, however, issued in the excess of $900,000,000, either must be covered by lawful money in full or pay a special tax at the rate of 1½ per cent a year. Any notes issued in excess of $1,200,000,000 not covered by lawful money, will pay a tax of 5 per cent.

Mr. Aldrich, in transmitting the plan to the commission, said that the system of reserves and taxes provided is expected "to insure the maintenance of adequate reserves by the association and otherwise to provide such effective regulation of discounts and note issues as would enable the organization to respond promptly at all times to normal and unusual demands for credit or currency without danger of undue expansion or inflation."

Criticism by Dawes.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Former Comptroller of the Treasury Charles G. Dawes opposed the provision for governmental representation on the board of directors of the proposed Central Reserve association yesterday before the sub-committee of the national monetary commission created by congress in 1907 to devise a new currency system. He also criticized the plan of authorizing the president of the United States to appoint the governor of the proposed bankers' bank.

"I am opposed to governmental representation in the management of the proposed institution because of the opportunity it would give a national administration to inject politics into the affairs of the banks," said Mr. Dawes. "If we should have another Andrew Jackson president of the United States, the danger of politics in connection with the management of the institution would be great.

Greatest Power in Country.

"By the establishment of this bank you create the greatest power in the country. It would control credit, fix the rates of interest and be a tremendous influence in commerce. I simply make these minor objections to the Aldrich currency bill in an effort to have it made as nearly perfect as possible. I am in favor of every other provision of the bill."

George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental & Commercial National bank, Chicago, indorsed the central reserve plan and said opposition to the measure from small town bankers was disappearing as fast as the details of the proposition were explained.

SECURITIES COMMISSION SOON TO END ITS TASK.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Secretary Fisher left yesterday for New York, where he will attend a meeting of the railroad securities commission of which he is a member. This commission, which was appointed by the president about eighteen months ago to consider the general subject of railroad securities, now is prepared to enter on the final stages of its work. Especial attention has been given to the prices at which the stocks and bonds are sold and to the differences of regulations in the different states, as well as to the subject of foreign control.

SOLVE DIVORCE QUESTION.

Judge Says Courts Can Help Reach That Result.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—"A part of the answer to the divorce problem lies behind the judicial bench," declared Judge Richard E. Burke of the circuit court yesterday, in dismissing for want of equity two petitions for divorce that came up in his court.

"People can't get divorces in my court because they are thinking a divorce would be a nice thing to have in the family, or because either party to the marriage wants to find new worlds to conquer and the other is willing to see the other fields invaded" he added. "When couples agree to a divorce, and there is no statutory reason for it, the court ought to throw the cases off the calendar. That's what I will do, and I expect it to afford a partial answer to the easy divorce question."

GAMBLERS IN CHICAGO RAIDED

Assistant Police Chief Proves His Superior's Declarations False.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Assistant Chief of Police Herman Schuettler answered his superior last night in twenty minutes after he had been ordered by Chief of Police John McWeeny to prove his statements that there remained gambling in Chicago, and that he, the assistant chief, thought it could be stopped. The incident grew out of testimony by the two officials before the special commission which is investigating vice and its alleged connection with the Chicago police force.

Before that commission Chief McWeeny made the statement that there was no more public gambling in Chicago and that what small gambling remained could not be stopped. Following him the next day his assistant chief, Schuettler, contradicted his superior, saying that he thought gambling did exist and that it could be stopped.

"Produced the Eskimos."

Late yesterday the chief called his assistant to his office and ordered him to prove his assertions. Twenty minutes later patrol wagons were called for to carry twenty-four men from a room within a half a block of the city hall where the assistant chief's men had arrested them on charges of gambling. Among them was a young man who Schuettler said was the son of Mont Tennes, who the police official had declared was back of the gambling operations in Chicago.

Three more raids on alleged gambling places closely followed the first. In two of these arrests were made and nine men and a quantity of gambling paraphernalia were seized in one, while in another four men were arrested and race track gambling sheets and telephones were confiscated. In a third, the gamblers had fled, leaving many evidences of the character of the place.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Forbes Stock company in "Regeneration."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

The last matinee of the week for "The Regeneration," which is attracting so much interest at the Lyceum will be presented tomorrow afternoon at the Lyceum. This remarkable play of slum life is being splendidly played by Mr. Forbes and the members of his company. The play has never before been seen in Duluth and this week's audiences have watched it with great interest.

"Regeneration" will be presented this afternoon, tonight and the last performance will be given tomorrow evening. Sunday afternoon the first performance of "The Man From Mexico" Willie Collier's great success will be given by the Forbes company. Mr. Forbes will appear in the role of Benjamin Fitzhew the role created by Mr. Collier. The play is one long laugh.

TERESA LORRAINE,
With the Forbes Stock Company.

The closing act on this week's bill at the Orpheum, is causing quite a little comment in Duluth this week. "Rousby's Scenic London" is the name of the act, and it carries about the most elaborate electrical equipment seen at the Orpheum this season. Three views of London are shown, the first one showing some beautiful cloud effects. The most striking feature of the set is the manner in which several aeroplanes are shown flying through the clouds, while the performers sing a catchy aeroplane song. It is an English act and differs from the usual run of American attractions.

For next week at the Orpheum a triple headline bill is promised, featuring Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Crane, Charles F. Semon and Genero and Bailey. Knute Erickson, the Swedish comedian, will also jump from New Orleans to appear here next week. He will be remembered as "The Man From Sweden," and "Yon Yonson!"

Everybody has a queer experience some time in his life and the actor is no exception. Harry Thomson, comedian at the Empress this week in "His Honor, the Mayor," will back this statement with undisputable proof. Here is his story: "I was playing in a vaudeville theater on Broadway in New York city a year or two ago when politics was burning hot. The present Mayor Gaynor, who was then a candidate for the office he now holds, came to me one afternoon after the matinee and made me a proposition to stump for him during my week's stay in that city."

"I asked him what good he thought I could do for him and he replied, that he knew I was making a hit at the theater with my political act, and he thought that a word from me to his fellow citizens would surely aid his election. Well I stumped for him the last three days of the week. I left the town soon after and forgot all about the incident, but one morning I received a postal which read, 'Unofficial returns give me 15,000 majority.'"

Date Muffins

A New Way of Using Dates

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

The value of dates as a food is hardly appreciated. They are wholesome, nutritious, and when used in K C Date Muffins, make a recipe that is appreciated by the entire family.

K C Date Muffins

One-third cup butter; ¼ cup sugar; 1 egg; ¾ cup milk; 2 cups flour; 3 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; ½ teaspoonful salt; scant ½ pound dates.

Cream the butter, add the sugar and the egg, beaten light. Sift together three times, the flour, baking powder and salt; add these to the first mixture, alternately with the milk; beat thoroughly and add the dates, stoned and cut in pieces. To bake, have a slow oven until the muffins double in bulk, then increase heat to bake and brown quickly. Muffins baked this way will be light, appetizing and more easily digested.

This is only one of the many appetizing recipes found in the K C Cook's Book.

The wonderful K C Cook's Book is substantially bound and printed in nine colors, contains ninety tested and easily-made recipes by Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, of the world famous Boston Cooking School Magazine.

You can secure a copy FREE by sending the colored certificate packed in 25-cent cans of K C Baking Powder to the JAQUES MFG CO., Chicago.

Be sure to write name and address plainly. 30

IS STRANGLED BEFORE FAMILY

North Dakota Farmer Is Pinned Under Wagon and Killed.

Mandan, N. D. Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pinned to the ground by one end of a wagon which he was attempting to fix, Jacob Renner, living in the southern part of Morton county, met with death by strangulation yesterday. His wife and child made a brave attempt to save him and the victim himself tried to assist them by giving directions, but they were unable to release him.

ARM PARTLY SEVERED; WALKS TO PHYSICIAN.

Baudette, Minn. Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Emil B. Peterson, contractor and builder of this place, was the victim of a very serious accident yesterday afternoon. Mr. Peterson was trimming some large timbers at his planning mill for the Williams block when one of the timbers was caught in the saw and drew his right arm into the saw. It was all nearly severed between the wrist and elbow. He showed great fortitude by walking to the doctor's office where it was later found necessary to amputate the member just below the elbow.

GOVERNOR'S BROTHER IN LAUNDRY COMPANY.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Axel A. Eberhart, a brother of the governor, is one of the incorporators of a $250,000 laundry company in Minneapolis, according to papers filed with the secretary of state. H. J. Tremain and Oscar Dillon are the other incorporators mentioned in the articles.

Saturday Garment Sales Make This The Place to Buy Apparel

29.50 Smart Tailored Suits 24.50

Ladies' and Misses' Sizes.

—Every woman who selects her suit from this lot Saturday will make a $5 bill.

—Every garment in the lot is a regular $29.50 suit, taken from our regular stock—every suit is a stylish, new Fall model.

—The reason for the sale is this:

—The spirited suit selling of the past two weeks has reduced many lines to one or two models of a kind, causing what we term "broken lines," and in order to clear the stock to make room for new arrivals this sale is designed.

—Styles are plain tailored or trimmed, coats have guaranteed satin linings, materials are cheviots, broadcloths, serges and mixtures; all $29.50 values selling at $24.50.

New Coat Arrivals 14.95 to 25.00

—Almost daily the express brings new models in serviceable coats. Each new lot has different styles, reproducing the newest style tendencies of Paris. The ever popular double-faced cloths and novelty mixtures are shown in loose belted or fitted models, with the large storm or shawl collars and priced to suit all tastes at $14.95, $19.50 and $25.

—Apparel Salon—Second Floor.

Juniors' 15.00 Suits 9.95

Sizes 13 to 17 Years

—A suit-saving opportunity of unusual importance, for the miss of 13 to 17 years.

—For Saturday's selling we have gone through lines where the size range is somewhat broken and collected this lot of 25 stylish suits. They are made from worsteds and mixtures, the coats are satin lined and have notch or sailor collars, with all the wanted style touches to please the miss. Colors are navy, brown, gray and Copenhagen, sizes 13, 15 and 17, values to $15, closing Saturday at $9.95.

Juniors' Coats at 9.95

—Effective new semi-fitted models from cheviots, tweeds and mixture cloths, made with notch, convertible or shawl collars and yokes of self cloth, thoroughly tailored, sizes 13, 15 and 17, big values at $9.95.

Juniors' Coats at 12.50

—Attractive semi-fitted and loose models, plain tailored or with collars, cuffs and pockets of contrasting materials, made from cheviots, mixture or double-faced cloths, affording discriminating selection at $12.50.

A Sale of 75 Children's Coats

5.00 to 7.00 Values at 3.98

—A cancelled order from one of his customers left a well known children's coat maker with a lot of 75 pretty coats on hand. Rather than incur the expense of selling these over again he offered the lot to us at a very flattering price.

—The manufacturer's profit you get in this sale.

—The coats are pretty shaped or loose models, with Presto, storm or shawl collars, and are made from good cheviots and mixture cloths, many being lined throughout. The size range is from 8 to 14 years, and the coats are regular $5 to $7 values, but offered Saturday at $3.98.

Children's Coats 7.50 to 12.50

—Clever new models of chinchilla, cheviot, caracul, polo and novelty cloths, some plain tailored, others neatly trimmed, with the individual style touches that the girls like, sizes 6 to 14 years, priced at $7.50, $9.95, $12.50 up. — Apparel Salon—Second Floor.

Children's Wool Dresses 4.95 to 10.00

—Dresses designed for school wear, made to give long service. Many new one-piece and regulation Peter Thompson styles, with pipings, braids and emblems to give a touch of color. Red, navy and brown, sizes 6 to 14 years, at $4.95 to $10.

—Third Floor—Front.

Temperance Worker Cured--- Catarrh of the Stomach

MR. W. H. ROBINSON.

This prominent man, a sufferer for five years, paid out hundreds of dollars, but kept growing worse, and was pronounced incurable.

Then he was induced to try Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and only eight bottles effected a complete cure.

"For 5 years I suffered everything but death with what the doctors called 'Nervous Catarrh of the stomach.' I doctored with eight different physicans, of whom four pronounced my case incurable. I paid out hundreds of dollars to doctors and for patent medicines, but kept growing worse.

"My wife read one day what Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey had done for a minister. I have always been a temperance worker, and had no faith in it, but my wife insisted so I bought a bottle and took it according to directions. It helped me wonderfully. I have now taken 8 bottles and I call myself a well man. What 8 doctors could not do for me, 8 bottles of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey have done. As a medicine it cannot be praised too highly. I have written to you just as I would tell it to a friend, and as I have told it to many, and you can use it as you like." W. H. Robinson, Cincinnatus, Cortland County, N. Y.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

corrects the defective digestion of the food, increases the appetite, strengthens the heart, gives force to circulation, cures insomnia, brings restfulness to the brain and nervous forces and is remarkably effective for all throat and lung troubles. We have thousands of grateful patients who write us they have been cured after they were given up by doctors.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only whiskey that was taxed by the Government as a medicine during the Spanish-American war.

Sold by druggists, grocers and dealers, or direct IN SEALED BOTTLES ONLY—never in bulk. Price $1.00 a large bottle. Doctor's advice and an illustrated medical booklet sent free on request.

TIPS THE SCALES AT 825 POUNDS

Largest Woman in World Is Gertrude Burk of Chicago.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 20.—Miss Gertrude Burk of Chicago, largest woman in the world, weighing two and one-half times as much as President Taft, is visiting at the home of Mrs. H. W. Hayes in Alton, Ill.

Miss Burk is 22 years old, weighs 825 pounds, stands 5 feet 7 inches, and some of her measurements are: Arm, 28 inches; waist, 54; bust, 75. She wears No. 4½ shoes and No. 7 gloves.

When she was born Miss Burk weighed 15 pounds and at 8 years old she weighed 250. At the Hayes home she sits on two chairs placed facing each other.

Miss Burk goes through doors by turning sideways, and it is a pretty hard squeeze at that. The Hayeses have an iron bed which Miss Burk occupies and thus obviates the chances of her dreams being disturbed by crashing furniture.

Efforts have been made by showmen to get Miss Burk to exhibit herself, but she has never been tempted. Her parents left her an estate and she does not need the money.

NURSES SQUIRRELS.

St. Louis Dog's Family of Three Pups and Three Squirrels.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 20.—Sis got more than she bargained for when she found her family consisted of three pups and three squirrels, but she has continued to nurse them since their birth two weeks ago.

Sis is a black and tan dog belonging to Mrs. Annie Brown of No. 1937 North Broadway. The Brown family lived in St. Charles two weeks ago, and it happened that when the pups were born in the stable the squirrels were born in a tree in the yard at the same time. Within an hour after the squirrels were born their mother was shot by a boy in the neighborhood.

Mrs. Brown's son, Henry, aged 15, put the squirrels in the box with the pups and now Sis seems to think they belong to her. If any one attempts to pick up one of the squirrels Sis's growl comes as a warning note.

FOR SICK HEADACHE, SOUR STOMACH, LAZY LIVER OR SLUGGISH BOWELS

Turn the rascals out—the headache, the biliousness, the indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

ARE KILLED BY RANGERS

Forest Rangers Pit Their Skill Against Predatory "Varmints."

Poisoned Meats Are Found More Effective Than Guns.

Washington, Oct. 20.—One of the duties of Uncle Sam's forest rangers is to kill "varmints" that destroy cattle, sheep and other domestic animals. In the Western states, where bears, mountain lions, wolves, coyotes, wildcats and lynxes are plentiful, the annual damage from wild beasts runs into millions. Last year forest rangers killed 7,971 destructive animals. The reports, just out, show that 213 bears, 88 mountain lions, 172 wolves, 69 wolf pups, 6,457 coyotes, 870 wildcats and 72 lynxes fell before the rangers' guns.

In addition to their efforts after animals that are harmful to live stock and to game animals and birds, forest officers have made headway against the prairie dog, which eats one thirty-second as much as a sheep. The Biological Survey estimates that one grown wolf will destroy about $1,000 worth of stock a year, and that the average family of wolves will get at least $3,000 worth. The stock killed by wolves is principally cattle. Calves and yearlings are generally selected by them for slaughter, but if these cannot be readily had, cows and even full-grown steers are killed.

An old cattleman who was giving his experience to some forest rangers told of seeing a family of wolves tear flesh from a year-old steer as he ran bellowing across an open field.

Men on Foot New to Them.

"I was walking," said the cattleman, "when I came upon the wolves after the steer. I yelled to frighten them. The sound of my voice made every one of them, nine in all, stop and look. They did not know what to make of me, as they were used to seeing men on horseback, but not on foot. They quit the steer and came toward me. At first I wanted to run, but soon realized that they intended no harm. When about 300 yards from me they separated into two gangs and passed to my right and left and went on about their business. The poor steer was almost dead from fright and the loss of blood. His hind-quarters were badly torn."

It is said by stockmen that wolves in Wyoming kill from 10 to 20 per cent of the annual increase of the herds. In some sections of Montana they are just as bad.

"The problem of the extermination of predatory animals," said John A. Rhodes, a guard of the forest service, "is one that calls for determined and persistent labor along lines that are practical, at the hands of men who are accustomed to the country, thoroughly understand the habits of the wild animals and are familiar with the means of their extermination.

"Where hunters are employed the use of poison as a means of extermination stands first. Its advantage lies in the ease and rapidity with which it can be handled. Where the labor of a half dozen men would be required in setting and watching a line of traps, one man could easily cover the same country with poison. The greater the number of baits the greater the chances for killing.

"For bait fresh rabbit meat is the best, but if this is not to be had boiled ham, fresh liver, mutton or beef tallow, bacon or quail are fair substitutes. The quail, if broiled, and the breast meat used is almost equal to the rabbit. Never poison anything containing a bone. Never touch the bait with the hands or any other part of the body.

How to Prepare and Set Bait.

"Strychnine is the best poison. Ordinarily, as much as can be held upon the point of a large blade of a pocket knife will prove fatal to any animal. This quantity should be put in the center of a cigarette paper, the sides of which must be gathered together around the poison and the ends securely tied, forming a capsule. Dip the capsule in a can of melted mutton or beef tallow, using wooden tweezers to handle it with, and hold it there until it is well coated and then drop it into a long-necked bottle. When the bottle is well filled with capsules you cork it tight so that the contents will not be exposed to barn or house odors.

"Each of the poisoned capsules is put in a piece of meat, which, in turn, is dropped into a fruit jar and shut up tight. Every precaution must be taken not to touch the meat with anything that will leave an odor. Always drop the bait from a horse, leaving it in some place where coyotes or wolves cross or travel.

"Never dismount, but take particular note of the position of each bait. Deposit the baits in the afternoon and gather them up in the morning. Do not leave them out all day."

Hunters For Bounty Tricky.

The government employes claim that hunters who kill wild animals for the bounty do not exterminate, for the reason that they do not want to "kill the goose that lays the golden egg." They destroy male wolves and coyotes, but protect the females.

The professional hunter or trapper is tricky. Two brothers made a small fortune operating in different states. One lived in Arizona, where wolves are abundant, and the other in Wisconsin, where sheep are plentiful and bounties high. The man in Arizona shipped scalps to the one in Wisconsin, who, in turn, collected a bounty for each one from the county.

Vernon Bailey of the bureau of biology, in discussing the bounty system, said: "It has everywhere proved an incentive to fraud, and thousands of dollars are wasted annually in paying bounties on coyote scalps offered in place of wolves, and on scalps of dogs foxes, coons, badgers and even cats, which are palmed off for wolves and coyotes. In order to reduce this deception to a minimum the government has issued a 'key to animals on which wolf and coyote bounties are often paid.'"

WAS WIDOW OF COUNTERFEITER

Mrs. Clancy Throws Light on Mystery of Early Seventies.

Holton, Mich., Oct. 20.—Carrying since his death in 1882 a secret that reflected on the life of her husband, Mrs. Mary Clancy, who has just died at the home of her nephew, George Haskins, on her death bed divulged a story that back in the '70s puzzled the government secret service officials.

According to her story, she was married in 1868 in London to Robert Dale Clancy, a young engraver. Two years after their marriage they went to New York city, where Clancy found employment in a large engraving establishment. He fitted up rooms in the basement of their home and spent much of his spare time there. He told his wife he was making experiments that would result in great wealth for them both, and she never was allowed to enter the basement except with her husband. He had frequent visitors—men who came late and departed before daylight the next morning.

One night he came home very much excited and informed his wife that they were to move that night. He was joined by three men, who assisted in the packing of their household goods.

Clancy and wife took the train for Philadelphia. Her husband never left the new home till after dark, and seldom left at all. Some men visitors came to see him and they spent their time in rooms Clancy had fitted up in the rear of their residence. He always seemed to have plenty of money and never stinted her in any way.

In 1882 Clancy was taken ill with pneumonia and, realizing that he was going to die, gave his wife instructions about the workshop. He told her where to find a large sum of good money, and never to her knowledge did she handle any money that was not genuine. He told her to always keep the little chest in the workshop and never allow any one to know what was in it.

After his death, April 5, Mrs. Clancy was visited by a number of well-dressed men who offered various pretexts and threats in order to obtain possession of the chest. She refused to give it up and it has been with her all these years.

When opened, after her death, it was found to contain four plates from which to print money, many choice engravers' tools and paper like that on which money is printed.

One set of plates was for $10 silver certificates and the other set for fives.

Mr. Haskins took the contents of the chest to Washington, where he turned them over to the government authorities with a full explanation.

DEPOSITORS BEING PAID

By Former Bank President, Now Cotton Planter in Egypt.

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 20.—Eighteen years ago the Walla Walla Savings bank failed and depositors received nothing. Its president, J. K. Edminston, is gradually sending $100,000 from Cairo, Egypt, to pay every depositor in full.

The money is sent to Judge John Sharpstein of Walla Walla, former counsel for Edminston. At the latter's direction Sharpstein is locating every person who had money in the bank in the summer of 1893.

Widows and aged persons in poor circumstances are receiving their accounts first. By another year all claims will have been paid. Edminston has developed a cotton plantation in the Nile valley, Egypt, and from its net receipts come the funds he is sending to Walla Walla.

The former banker is now getting old and desires within a few years to return to this country, but will not do so until every cent of his indebtedness has been cleared.

MISSING FORTUNE IS FOUND IN OLD SKIRT.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 20.—Mrs. Herman Nicolay of Norwood, undressing for the night, in dropping her clothing to the floor heard a rustling in a petticoat.

She ripped it open and pulled out four certificates of deposits, one on the Brighton German bank for $5,200; two others on the same bank for $250 and one on the Union Savings Bank & Trust company for $1,000.

The petticoat had been the property of Mrs. Amelia Nicolay, the woman's mother-in-law, who died Aug. 2 but whose supposed wealth could not be found.

ANSWER TO D. A. R. FOES

Mrs. W. C. Story Gives Out Documents to Refute Slanders.

Will Again Run for President-General of the Society.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Veritas, a woman's magazine of this city, publishes documentary evidence as to the first and second marriages of Mrs. William Cumming Story of New York city. The evidence also bears on the date of the birth of Mrs. Story's first child by her present husband.

Mrs. Story was formerly president of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, and in 1909 and again in April, 1911, she made an unsuccessful run for the office of president general of the Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Her Character Was Attacked.

It now comes to light that on both occasions when Mrs. Story was a candidate for head of the D. A. R. she was made the object of secret attacks on her matrimonial record. These attacks, it is said, contributed largely, if not entirely, to her defeat.

The documents printed by Veritas, and which, it is stated, have been furnished by Mrs. Story herself, at the request of the magazine, include sworn copies of two marriage certificates, a divorce decree and a baptismal certificate.

What the Documents Show.

The documents show:

First—That Mrs. Story divorced her first husband, E. P. Price, in New York in 1878. It is charged that Mrs. Story's enemies said that Mr. Price obtained this divorce.

Second—That Mr. Price was dead before Mrs. Story married Mr. Story in 1881, two years and eight months after her divorce. It is said Mrs. Story's enemies alleged she was married to Mr. Story the day after her divorce from Mr. Price.

Third—That Mr. and Mrs. Story's first child, Allen Lawrence Story, was born on Sept. 2, 1882, twenty months after his parents were married.

Will again Seek Election.

The 70,000 members of the D. A. R. are expected to take a lively interest in the documents, inasmuch as Mrs. Story, so the World correspondent is informed, has consented to run again, in April, 1913, for president general of the society.

Members of the D. A. R. in Washington who are familiar with the details of Mrs. Story's candidacies for the president generalship in 1909 and 1911, declare that many delegates, who came to Washington to those congresses prepared to vote for Mrs. Story, were dissuaded from doing so by the recital of slanders which Mrs. Story is now publicly trying to disprove. One entire state delegation is said to have been approached and persuaded to desert Mrs. Story's standard.

New York, Oct. 20.—It was said last night at the home of Mrs. William Cumming Story, 119 East Nineteenth street, that it was true she had furnished the Veritas magazine at its request the documents as to her first and second marriage and the birth of her eldest son. When the dates mentioned in the Veritas documents were read to Mrs. Story's authorized representative they were pronounced correct.

FATE OF GIRL ANGERS PARIS

Not Spy, But Victim of German Officer She Spurned.

New York, Oct. 20.—A Paris cable dispatch to the World says: Paris has been considerably roused by the sentence of six months' imprisonment inflicted on Mlle. Renee Thirion at Leipzic as a French spy. The idea that she was a spy is ridiculed here. The girl comes of a good family, and her relatives assert that she has been the victim of a German officer she refused to marry.

The meagre report of her trial, which was behind closed doors, reads like a Sardou drama. The girl, who is very pretty, is said to have posed as a governess and to have obtained employment in influential families in cities near the frontier, where, it was alleged, she made love to German officers attracted by her beauty and intelligence, and extracted from them important military secrets, which they revealed when they thought they were going to marry her.

It is asserted by her friends that among the officers who wanted to marry her was one Capt. Schesmer, who was at the garrison at Wesmer. When she rejected his suit they say he had her arrested in Cologne last April as a spy in the employ of the French government.

The specific charge against her was that she had obtained from a German officer the secret mobilization plans of the German army.

CLAIMS TO BE SHOCKED

Russia Very Angry With Italy Regarding Seizure of Tripoli.

Had Intended to Have Hand in Dismemberment of Turkey.

New York, Oct. 20.—A special cable to the Sun from London sasy: For a power that cares nothing about Tripoli Russia is very angry with Italy. On the moral side she professes to be shocked to see Italy set out to seize territory just because she wants it. Yet there are very substantial reasons for her present displeasure.

They have only started work on the first of Russia's Black Sea dreadnoughts, which are destined to cope with Turkey or the successors to her estate. It will be three or four years before the fleet can possibly be a fighting force. Who will be the contemplated adversary in the Black Sea then? Russians believed that Turkey would last as long as that. Now they feel that Italy has struck too early and too hard a blow.

There is reason to believe that in the last twelve months Germany has been trying to come to terms behind Austria's back with Russia on the great question of the Turkish inheritance, leaving Austria to make what she can of the Bosnian business and to thrust her hand if she chose into the hornet's nest of Albania. The German chancellor declared soon after the Potsdam conference of the czar and the kaiser that the two empires were to adjust their interests in the near East. A strictly limited bargain on Persia hardly seemed to correspond to what was promised. France had in fact protested that the Turkish question affected its rights as Russia's ally. But since the beginning of the bargaining of recent months France has doubtless been made to see that if her financial stake as Turkey's chief creditor is protected she need not be seriously concerned over redistribution of territory.

Forgot About Italy.

Apparently in this projected reshaping of the map after Turkey should be dismantled Germany and Russia forgot altogether about Italy. Each seemed to think that she really did not matter. She was allied to one set of first class powers and friend to another set of first class powers, but was not herself quite first class. The imitative, characterless Young Turks took their cue from the two giants standing over her and thought to rehabilitate their own self-esteem by treating Italy as negligible. She rounded on them, and one of the results is that Russian diplomacy is kicking itself from mortification and annoyance.

Among the seers in international politics here it is believed that for some time back England has had a secret understanding with Italy which the two were ready to put in action should Germany seem to be succeeding in forcing her schemes upon the weak hands that are directing Russia's foreign policy.

Russia has known since last winter that England for reasons of her own has been pulling the props from under young Turkey. She was giving arms via Egypt to the Bedouin Arabs in the Yemen to fight the Turks in the south, and in the north was helping the Montenegrins with money to uphold the Albanians. Since Sir Arthur Nicolson took charge of the British foreign office a year ago the experience in the east of Europe at any rate has been to find English diplomacy silent, vigilant and aggressive.

Recognized by Napoleon.

Italy's claimsove rT ripoli seem to have been recognized as far back as 1807, and by no less a person than Napoleon I, himself. In fact, when Napoleon after defeating the Russians and Prussians signed the treaty of peace at Tilsit and repartitioned the countries he conquered, at the same time granting compensation to the dispossessed, he added some secret articles to the treaty. One of them was more or less as follows: "Victor Emmanuel I, king of Sardinia, will be offered the coast of Tripoli as compensation for the loss of Piedmont."

The offer was not accepted, but its significance is considered very great at present, as it proves that the emperor realized that Tripoli should belong to Italy as a necessary defense against possible enemies who threatened her islands in the Mediterranean.

Will Cost Italy $30,000,000.

It is roughly estimated that the occupation of Tripoli and Cyrenaica will cost Italy $30,000,000. This sum naturally includes the military expedition, as well as the necessary expenditure during the first three years of occupation, and as it is doubted whether the occupation of the vilayet is worth such a sacrifice, Prof. Halbheer of the University of Rome and head of the Italian archaeological mission at Tripoli has been asked by the Giornale d'Italia of Rome to furnish some information about the commercial and agricultural value of Tripoli and Cyrenaica.

The professor says that with the exception of small rocky and sandy regions the land is extraordinarily fertile. The lowlands along the seacoast are well cultivated, while the highlands up to the very borders of the desert are thickly wooded and covered with luxuriant vegetation.

Besides cypresses, which grow almost ninety feet high and furnish good timber, there are locust trees, junipers, elms and olives in great profusion. The olives grow wild and the fruit is not gathered by the natives except at Upsellata, where plenty of good oil is made. Olive trees are found near ruins of ancient cities, thus proving that they were introduced by the Romans, who cultivated the soil.

Grain Growing Plain.

The eastern portion of the highlands toward Bengazi is especially adapted to the growing of grain and cereals, as a large plain over fifteen miles long extends for about twenty-five miles and the stratum of humus is here very deep and there are several wells with good water. The professor thinks that artesian wells can be sunk with advantage. There are many fresh-water springs at Gubba, Sacharish and Meesen in the neighborhood of Derna, and these were in use since Roman times.

There are no wild animals in the villa yet, but small game is plentiful and the number of goats and sheep is extraordinary.

The professor admits that the Turks and many inland Arab tribes are hostile to Italians and he recounts the dangers to which the mission was repeatedly exposed owing to the fanaticism of the natives, who often threatened to shoot its members. And he recalled the murder of the American De Cou at Cyrene, thus showing that the natives are practically savage; but on the other hand as the Arabs hate the Turks and are unfavorable to Turkish rule, he concludes that very probably with time their hostility will be overcome.

Helper Weds Harvest Cook.

Davenport, Wash., Oct. 20.—John H. Deitrich, 28, and Miss Ida Biermann, 22, both of Spokane, were married in a cook wagon in Davenport by the Rev. N. S. Fiscus, who performed the ceremony in the apartment on wheels, which had been the scene of their courting during the days of harvest, just ended. The man was the cook's helper.

Daughters in Danger

There must be no guesswork about the treatment of pale, anaemic girls. If your daughter is languid, has a pale, sallow complexion, is short of breath, especially on going up stairs, has palpitation of the heart, a tendency to faint and a poor appetite, she has anaemia or lack of blood. Mistakes or delay in the treatment may result in such serious impairment of her health that she will be weak and sickly during the rest of her life.

Anaemia is a loss of richness in the blood which cannot be made good without careful, intelligent treatment. The disease occurs in over-worked girls and in those who overstudy or are under some strain. It may also be inherited from the mother.

Mrs. Lewis R. Borland, of Frazee, Minn., says: "At twelve years of age I was pale and sickly. Neighbors thought I was doomed to be an invalid, a burden to my parents and friends. My blood had turned to water and I did not have a particle of color. I was going to school at the time. I had dizzy spells with a feeling of fainting away. My appetite was poor and I ate just enough to keep me from starving. I got worse and could not study and had to give up school. I was in bed for a day or two at a time and was sick for a year. My people thought I was going into quick consumption and became alarmed. My mother knew of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and commenced treating me. I can remember the day father brought them home because I had but little faith in the pills. They proved the turning point in my life for I got well in a short time. I have never had to use the pills since nor to consult a physician in regard to my health. I can truthfully say that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People were the means of giving me my present good health."

The most satisfactory way to give the blood the elements which it lacks is through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. A thorough, persistent trial will make the blood pure and red.

Two booklets, "Plain Talks to Women" and "Diseases of the Blood," will be sent free upon request of any woman interested.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes, $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

ELY DASHED TO HIS DEATH

Daring Aviator Loses Control in Making Sensational Dip.

Body Is Broken When He Plunges to the Earth.

Macon, Ga., Oct. 20.—Eugene Ely, aviator, whose parents live at Davenport, Iowa, was killed at the state fair grounds yesterday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock, when his machine failed to rise from a sensational dip, and plunged with him fifty feet to the ground. He fell in the presence of nearly 8,000 persons to the middle of the enclosure of the race track, after almost clearing the machine by a desperate leap when he realized his peril. His body was broken in a score of places and he died a few minutes later, regaining consciousness just before the end long enough to mutter:

"I lost control—I know I am going to die."

Ely had made a flight in the morning, ascending to an altitude of 3,100 feet, and at 2:45 o'clock began his second flight of the day, rising from the track enclosure, which he circled for a few minutes, traveling about thirty miles an hour.

Leaped from His Seat.

As he was completing the circuit he made a dip, seemingly to startle the thousands beneath. The machine shot down with tremendous velocity and the crowd appaulded, thinking the aviator would rise, as he had done many times before. But Ely seemed to lose his grip on the lever, for the machine continued to plunge toward the earth, and he attempted to rise from his seat. In fact he released the lever altogether, and half jumped, barely clearing the aeroplane as it crashed to the ground. The machine was demolished and Ely struck with terrific force.

Ely left his wife in New York two weeks ago to come to Macon to give a series of flights for the Georgia state fair in his Curtiss biplane. He had been giving spectacular flights here for eight days, going up on one occasion in a rainstorm. He even offered to make a flight by night, painting his craft with phosphorus.

"So as to startle the natives," he told the fair directors. The officer declined for the reason that he wanted $1,000.

Before making his ascent yesterday afternoon, Ely told his attendants that he feared something would happen, and asked them to notify his wife immediately if it did, at St. Marbury hall, 164 West Fourteenth street, New York.

Ely's body will be taken to his old home at Davenport, Iowa, for burial.

About two years ago Ely attempted to make a flight at the driving park in Superior, Wis., but was prevented by a strong wind. Ely was the first man to alight on the deck of a warship with an aeroplane. During an aviation meet on the San Mateo county, Cal., track, Ely went from the aviation camp to San Francisco, about twenty miles, and alighted on the deck of the cruiser Pennsylvania, anchored in San Francisco bay. After holding a reception on board the warship, Ely flew from the ship back to the aviation camp.

Previous to this time, Ely had made a flight from the deck of a warship anchored in Chesapeake bay. Although the aeroplane struck the water as he left the ship, he managed to reach shore.

Ely was the only son of a prominent Iowa attorney. He first attracted attention as an aviator about two years ago in Portland, Or.

MAIL CLERKS COMPLAINING

Say Service Is Impaired By Overworking of Employes.

Political Future of Taft Linked With Postoffice Affairs.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Unless quick action is taken by the postmaster general to oil the paths being trod by mailmen in the Northwest, the administration can safely count on some hard knocks in the next election from the men who handle papers and letters.

As long ago as last winter, mailmen in this—the Tenth—division complained that they were being worked too hard and that not enough clerks were on runs to care properly for the mail. Since then, according to Carl Van Dyke, president of the mailmen's organization, fourteen of the old clerks on the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Chicago runs have been discharged and mail is now being "balled up" worse than ever.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has been appealed to, but has taken no action. An investigation was promised, but not made. As a result the clerks are ill humored and complaining because they are required to put in much overtime to work out the mail which clogs at the terminals.

Say Mail Is Delayed.

Alexander Grant, superintendent of the railway mail service for the division, declares that mail is being handled in good shape, but the men who do the work insist it is being delayed.

"Since the clerks of the Northwest started the congressional investigation last winter," Mr. Van Dyke said, "many have been dismissed. The result is that mail is constantly being held up. Wednesday night of this week several pouches of letters and sacks of papers were 'stuck,' containing several thousand letters. The ten men in the crew on No. 5, which carried the mail, were ordered to report for extra duty Thursday morning at the Minneapolis postoffice and sort the 'stuck' pouches and sacks. That mail was delayed more than a half day in transit.

"The postoffice department has promised many times in the last few months to investigate, but so far as we can learn, it has done nothing to make matters better. If, when the heavy holiday rush comes on, more men are not employed, conditions will be many times worse, and public sentiment will make the department act."

Taft Losing Ground.

All of which is charged up to Mr. Taft's cabinet member—Frank H. Hitchcock, postmaster general.

That the standing of the president is being weakened one way or another almost daily, in the Northwest, is apparent. If he is to "come back" out here, he has much ground to cover. Congressmen Steenerson, Volstead and Davis, all of whom have been in St. Paul during the last few days, do not say outright that if Taft is renominated they will have to go before their constituents on "their personal records" only, but they intimate it. It is generally conceded that congressmen whose districts are largely agricultural cannot well go before their people and espouse the cause of the president—that is, if they wish to return to the national capitol themselves.

LETHBRIDGE GETS FARMING MEETING

Farmers' Aid Bureaus Are Favored at International Session.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Oct. 20.—Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada, was selected as the 1912 meeting place for the International Dry Farming congress. Salt Lake City withdrew when the Canadians pledged their support for that place in 1913.

Delegate Herman Liedenfrost of Hungard invited the congress to Budapest in 1913. Foreign delegates, with the exception of the Canadians, caucused and decided to attend the Lethbridge convention next year to capture the 1913 meeting for Budapest.

Resolutions adopted favor county and district farmers' aid bureaus through state agricultural colleges and government experts located in every county; pledge the congress to the extension of the reclamation of the arid and semi-arid areas of all nations; urge the establishment of a $1,000,000 endowment fund; urge the national congress to take such action as will bring about an early survey of the unsurveyed portions of the public domain, and raise appropriations for the work and condemn irresponsible land locators.

LESS UNIVERSITY HOPS.

So Male Students at University of North Dakota Can Save.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the social program for the University of North Dakota, as announced by the faculty committee on dates, no provision is made for a leap year party, and several of the co-ed organizations promise to take the question up.

The number of dances has been materially reduced, this action being taken at the suggestion of President McVey, who declared his belief that it was proper that fewer big social affairs should be given so that the university male students might have an opportunity of saving their money. It was pointed out by him as a matter of economy, pure and simple, and met with favorable action at the hands of the date committee.

WANT AN AUTOMATIC COMPENSATION LAW.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 20.—An automatic compensation law, providing fixed amounts for loss of life and injuries, will be presented at the next session of congress by the Eastern Association of Railroad Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, which have concluded their convention after electing M. C. Carey, Port Huron, Mich., chairman of the eastern association, and W. G. Chester, Winnipeg, Canada, vice chairman. Rochester, N. Y., was chosen for the 1912 convention.

NELSON'S AWARD IS INCREASED

Judge Cant Fixes Damages for Ramsey Street Extension.

In a decision filed with the clerk of the district court yesterday, Judge Cant awarded N. F. Nelson, owner of the brick block at 5628 Grand avenue, $4,600 damages, in his appeal from the award of the board of public works in its condemnation proceedings for opening Ramsey street.

In rendering the decision, Judge Cant stated that in his opinion, Mr. Nelson had improved the property in good faith and not with a view of getting more money out of the city for it. The board of public works had contended that condemnation proceedings had been begun before Mr. Nelson had begun to build.

The award makes the total cost of the property, $8,750. Interest on this money must be paid from Nov. 14, 1910. The other awards by the court were $1,000 for lot 29, which adjoins the Nelson property, $1,100 for lot 30, $950 for lot 31, $700 for lot 32 and $400 for lot 33.

The first step in the matter of opening Ramsey street was taken March 21, 1910, when the city engineer was instructed to make a survey of the property needed. He was also asked to make an estimate of the cost of extension. On Sept. 10 following, the board of public works at a meeting awarded $4,000 for the entire property. Later the amount was raised to over $5,000. Property owners then appealed to the district court. The cases have been under consideration for some months.

Teller Gets Six Years.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 20.—Wallace Davis, former paying teller of the Fifty-third National bank of this city, who was charged with embezzling $1,500 of the funds of the institution, was sentenced to six years at Leavenworth, Kan., yesterday. Davis previously had pleaded guilty.

STEALS ANOTHER'S SHOES; HELD TO GRAND JURY.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—For stealing the shoes from the feet of Gjelmer Anderson of Climax in a local saloon, Charley Miller of Parkers Prairie was arrested yesterday afternoon and bound over to the grand jury on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree. The shoes he stole were worth about 10 cents more than his own, and both pairs were worth about 60 cents.

DULUTH MAN BUYS PINEY RIDGE RESORT.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Palmer,, a druggist from Duluth, has purchased the Piney Ridge summer resort on White Fish lake from E. C. Bane and will fit and equip it, adding boats and launches and doing everything to make it a popular place.

NEW BUTTER MAKER,

Also New Manager of Bemidji Co-operative Creamery.

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Important changes have been made in the management of the creamery operated by the Bemidji Co-operative company. F. H. Pendergast, treasurer of the company, has been chosen manager, succeeding A. P. Ritchie, and A. M. Jonas is the new buttermaker, C. H. Cleveland, who has officiated as buttermaker since the co-operative association took hold of the creamery, having resigned.

Mr. Pendergast will have the active management of the creamery, Mr. Ritchie being so busy with his own affairs that he could not give the time necessary for the active management.

A. M. Jones, the buttermaker, comes from Lowry, Pope county, where he had charge of a creamery for the Lowry Co-operative Creamery association, having formerly lived at Princeton. Mr. Lowry is highly recommended by the Creamery Package company.

SWEETHEARTS TO BE LIMITED

New Order Regulating Season's Hops at Naval Academy.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 20.—The academic board of the Naval academy has taken upon itself the duty of regulating the number of sweethearts each midshipman shall call his own. Word has been passed to the brigade that each member would be allowed to take three young ladies to the series of hops this winter and no more. The news caused great hilarity among midshipmen, and in some cases consternation. Heretofore each midshipman has been at liberty to take as many different girls under his wing as he liked. Some never were seen with the same young lady twice.

It is rumored that an order prohibiting flirting or "the ogling of girls" within the limits of the academy is to follow. This will also cause a great hardship on the middies. Ogling is a favorite pastime Sunday afternoon.

The order relating to the three-and-no-more young ladies, whose station in society, it is said, must be known to the officers or the members of the hop committee, was brought about by the recent case of Miss Mary Beers, daughter of the Yale professor, who was asked to leave the floor of the gymnasium because she was in the home of one of the officers here in the capacity of nursery governess.

$10,000 LOST AND FOUND.

Profuse Thanks of the Loser Is the Only Reward.

Santa Rosa, Cal., Oct. 20.—Baggagemaster Frank Stewart of the local Southern Pacific force picked up a wallet containing a draft for $10,000, some valuable papers, considerable money and several tickets to Italy from a baggage truck where it had been carelessly left by Marco Corsi, who was leaving on the train for New York with his family en route to his old home in Toscano, Italy. Stewart returned it to the owner and received only profuse thanks for his reward.

Soda crackers are extremely sensitive to moisture.

Before the advent of Uneeda Biscuit the only persons who ever tasted fresh, crisp soda crackers were the people in the bakeries.

Imagine their trip from bakery to your table; exposed to air and moisture—kept in grocers' boxes and finally in a paper bag on the shelf in your pantry. Could they be the same as they were the day they were baked?

Now that we have Uneeda Biscuit—we have perfectly baked soda crackers—perfectly kept.

No moisture can reach them—no contaminating influences can affect their flavor—their goodness is imprisoned only to be liberated by you for you when you open the package.

Always in the moisture proof package. Never sold in bulk. 5 cents a package.

DANGER IN THE "PUFFS"

Hair Workers Are Menaced By Bubonic Plague Germs.

Girl Contracts Leprosy By Wearing Infected Puff or Rat.

New York, Oct. 20.—That danger of leprosy and bubonic plague lurks in "rats" and "puffs" and that there are many children and young girls in this city and state who work in factories under conditions almost certain to cause painful and even fatal diseases, were assertions made by Dr. Charles Graham Rogers, medical examiner of the state department of labor, at the continuation of the hearing of the factory investigation commission.

In the course of his examination by Abram I. Elkus, counsel for the commission, Dr. Rogers was asked about factories in which white phosphorus matches are made.

"There are two of these factories in this state," he answered. "One is in Brooklyn and the other is in Oswego. Beyond question these are the most dangerous factories in the state. There is very great danger to employes who handle the matches and work over the phosphorus paste. The chief menace is a rotting away of the bones, particularly the jaw bone, due to the action of the white phosphorus.

Children and Women Menaced.

"Many women and children work in these two factories and in my opinion their employment should be prohibited. Although our present law says that children may do nothing in such places but pack the boxes, I am quite sure that they sort the matches. This exposes them to as much danger as threatens the grown men."

Children, he said, should not be allowed to work in calico print works, in pearl button factories, in gas mantle works, in potteries or in chemical factories of any sort. In one pearl button factory on Long Island, he testified, he found 160 boys and girls under the age of sixteen.

"Every worker that I examined in this place I found to be suffering with laryngitis or bronchitis," he said.

In factories where gas mantles are made, he went on, he had frequently found boys and girls in a state of intoxication due to inhaling the alcohol fumes arising from the collodion used in the making of the mantles. In some of the places, he said, wood alcohol was used.

"The inhalation of the fumes of this poison," he said, "causes total blindness in time, completely and permanently destroying the optic nerves."

Germs abound in the human hair factories in this city, Dr. Rogers testified, and he had found all kinds of bacteria, including what he firmly believed to be germs of bubonic plague. Workers in human hair, he said, were exposed to danger of tuberculosis, chronic gastritis, intestinal diseases and abscesses of the stomach. From 80 to 90 per cent of the employes in human hair factories are growing girls, he said.

Dangers to Puff Wearers.

"If a woman with an abrasion or a cut on her scalp were to wear one of these puffs," he continued, "and it happened that the article contained any of the germs I have mentioned, serious results would almost certainly follow.

"One medical man recently told me of a case of leprosy of a young girl in a nearby city caused by wearing an infected puff or rat."

The danger to employes in these factories, he asserted, lay in the fact that the workers swallowed quantities of fine, small hairs. Pus producing germs on these hairs, he explained, caused abscesses of the stomach if there was an abrasion of the stomach lining.

This evil, he declared, could be remedied at small cost by the installation of an exhaust ventilating system. The law at present makes it impossible to remedy the condition, he said, and added his belief that children should be prohibited from working in hair factories.

The only other witness was William F. Tibbs, a deputy inspector, who testified regarding a candy factory in this city where the conditions were, in his language, "dirty," and in that of Mr. Elkus, who seemed to be familiar with the premises, "filthy."

The inspector admitted that the washrooms were filthy; that there was a week's accumulation of dust and dirt in the factory; that the floors were so sticky that his shoes stuck to the floor; that the place was illy ventilated and unhealthy, and that the candy made there was meant to be sold to children.

Tibbs declared that he had no authority to order the place closed. He said that if power were given to inspectors to close such places for cause better conditions would result.

The next session of the commission is to be held in Troy on Oct. 28.

LAKE HAS VANISHED.

Pet Lake Stolen From Rockefeller's Cleveland Estate.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 20.—Some one has stolen John D. Rockefeller's lake. When he left Forest Hill for Tarrytown, N. Y., he had several acres of limpid water, forming an artificial lake in the southeastern portion of his estate. Today, with the exception of several small pools, scattered here and there in the mud that once formed the bottom, John D.'s lake has vanished.

Chief Stamberger of the East Cleveland police confessed yesterday he might find it necessary to go to Conan Doyle's works for pointers in order to solve the mystery.

It smacks almost of lese majesty, the lake having been there for "y'ars and y'ars." Many a time has John D. rowed himself about on its placid surface or angled for gold fish in its shimmering depths. And now it's gone. Speculation as to where the lake went is rife.

Some realists say the sun stole it; others say it was tapped by enterprising dairyman in the vicinity. The vanishing water uncovered a skeleton, the frame work of an old-fashioned, long-snouted Standard oil can. It had evidently been used at one time by Mr. Rockefeller as an anchor for his boat.

CANDIDATE TALKED INTO ASYLUM BY POLITICIANS.

Kingston, N. Y., Oct. 20.—An unusual situation has arisen in the town of Ulster, Ulster county, through the commitment to the Middletown asylum for insane of Edward J. Center of Sawkill.

Center was nominated for the office of town assessor. Politicians and joking friends talked politics to him until he developed insanity.

The election law provides for the filling of vacancies caused by the death declination or disqualification of a candidate, but the insanity of a candidate has neven been declared by a court to be a disqualification and the commitment of Mr. Center has deprived him of the power to sign a legal declination. Another candidate has been nominated and unless objection is made the nomination will stand.

MARRIAGES FOR MONEY

Names of Heiresses Mentioned in Scandal Which Stirs Berlin.

Count Hoped to Wed Onita Stewart and Pay Debts.

New York, Oct. 20.—A special cable dispatch to the World from Berlin says: The name of Miss Anita Stewart, who is now the duchess of Viseu, figured in the scandals unearthed in the trial of Count Bisbert Wolff Metternich, with which Berlin is ringing. Accused of being a forger and cardsharp, Metternich's defense is that he got into debt because he had every reason to believe he was about to marry a great heiress. He was in prison nine months while awaiting trial.

At his second hearing the count declared that he had a good chance to marry the wealthy New York girl who afterward became the bride of Prince Miguel of Braganza, now known as the duke of Vizeu. The statement was a surprise. No one was in court to deny it.

At the first hearing a mysterious New York widow with many millions was referred to but her identity was not disclosed. Now it is made clear that the rich woman could not have been the widow of the multi-millionaire James H. Smith, but was her pretty daughter.

Says Anita Was His But for Miguel.

Metternich's counsel, Dr. Alsberg, asserted:

"The proposed marriage between my client and Miss Anita Stewart was only prevented by the interference of the prince of Braganza."

He then called the prince "the greatest swindler and the most notorious cheat in the world," and added: "Surely, then, my client was a more suitable candidate for Miss Stewart's hand, since he had no criminal record behind him."

Metternich frankly asserted that he ran up debts he only expected to pay after Miss Anita Stewart was his wife.

A wealthy Spanish widow, said to have a home in America, who was another of Metternich's hopes, was proved by the evidence to be a myth. The "Donna Mercedes" existed only in the imagination of a Paris matrimonial agent who swindled Metternich out of advance commissions by stories about her and his chances to get her millions.

From the confused account of his proceedings in search of an heiress it became apparent that it was not Donna Mercedes but Miss Stewart whom Metternich hoped to meet at Frankfurt, when, in order to get there, he borrowed $300 from a demi-mondaine he had met at the Palais Danse to pay his expenses.

Several women of Berlin's night life testified that it was not unusual for them to lend money to gilded or titled youths, taking checks payable in a month for double the amount of the loan. Metternich's advocate insisted that it was no disgrace for a young man to be seen in such society.

Most young men of good family in Berlin, he said, could be found at the Palais Dense and he had heard that even the police president of the capital was not averse to visiting the place himself.

The Dolly Wertheim Romance.

The entire days were devoted to exposing scenes in the homes of Berlin's merchant princess, the use of whose money Count Metternich is said to have sought by means of an alliance with a daughter. The scandal at the Wertheim home was gone further into.

Count Metternich is a distant connection of the royal house of Hapsburg of Austria and a nephew of a German Ambassador, but had an income of only $7 a month, and yet managed to tread the giddy gilded path. Last week he told a sensational story about the home of Wolff Wertheim, Berlin's richest storekeeper after it was denied that he had ever been recognized as the engaged suitor of the young and beautiful daughter, Dolly Wertheim.

He declared that the girl's mother was willing to sacrifice even her child's virtue in order to gain a titled husband for her. A letter from Dolly herself was produced in which she states that her mother had told her she would rather see her the friend of a prince than the wife of a nobody. Another said that she might have extra-matrimonial relations with men as long as she did not have the same friends more than two weeks at a time and did not try to get married until she was twenty-two.

Wolff Wertheim followed his wife on the stand and denied that Dolly was ever betrothed to Conut Metternich. Lieut. Vetter, he said, was not only officially recognized as his future son-in-law, but on that account was receiving $250 a month from Frau Wertheim.

Lieut. Vetter indignantly contradicted this statement, and declared that the money he received was only a temporary loan.

Indignant because the defending counsel exposed the domestic affairs of the witnesses for the prosecution, the state attorney retaliated on some of the count's witnesses.

Veteran Soldier, Agent of Cupid.

His chance came when Maj.-Gen. Paull appeared. The old man was wearing a breastful of orders and decorations, including the Iron Cross, the highest distinction given for bravery in battle. He said he would have lent Metternich money at any time, and considered the count an honorable young man, who would make a splendid marriage on account of his great name. He added that he himself once had a marriage with a millionairess in view for Metternich, only the count was too young at the time.

The prosecuting counsel turned upon the witness and declared he was nothing but a professional marriage agent and dealer in decorations and orders, and left the army as only a captain.

White with rage, Paull swore he won the Iron Cross in the Franco-Prussian war; left the Prussian army as a major, became a colonel in the Peruvian army and a major general in the army of Honduras.

Attacks Count's Actress Wife.

The prosecution also attempted to turn the tables on Metternich by means of his wife, formerly Claire Vallentin, a well-known Vienna actress, who appeared tear-stained in court to defend her husband. The defense asserted that she was equal in value to a millionairess since her earnings on the stage amounted to as much as the interest on $2,000,000. The prosecuting counsel started to allege that most of the countess' money came from wealthy men in Vienna whose friendship for her was tolerated by the count. But the judge would not permit this, and even refused to allow witnesses to be called on that point.

Dozens of witnesses testified that it was customary in Germany for young noblemen without money to live on credit until they could make a rich marriage.

In his address to court, Dr. Alsberg declared that the prosecution had only been brought to avert suspuicion that a relative of the emperor of Austria had been kept in prison nine months for no reason.

In satirical comment on the case, the Deutsche Tageszeitung, the organ of the Prussian landed aristocracy, asserts that the best reason for believing that the count was never engaged to Dolly Wertheim is that she allowed him such liberties.

"Of course they never were engaged," laughs the paper. "Is it not the fact that in wealthy circles proper behavior only begins after the engagement is announced? Surely there can be no idea of an engagement where the girl is allowing her swain to get a daily insight into the innermost secrets of her toilette, and lets him play with her hair and lie for hours into the night at her feet while she sprawls on a sofa!"

INDIAN MAIDENS WORK AS CLERKS

Few Return to Reservation After Leaving to Attend School.

Denver, Col., Oct. 20.—Is is a far cry from the painted savage of the plains who is pictured for us in the wild west show to the civilized Indian of today, who has been well trained in efficient schools and is as well if not better able to earn a living as his white brother. There are many Westerners who have no conception of the business activities of the Indian of today, and it is an actual fact that Easterners could be still found by the score who believe that the streets of every city in the West are thronged with red men in full regalia.

The most effective way to dispel such illusions is to see some of these people at work in their offices. Working under the direction of the United States Indian service in this city there are three Indian girls whoare so modern in appearance that they would escape the notice of the casual observer. Miss Mary Finn, with her glasses and business-like air, betrays her Indian birth only by her olive skin and the slight hesitation with which she speaks English. She comes from the Chippewa reservation at Leech Lake, Minn., and has just finished a course at Haskell Institute, in Lawrence, Kan.

All Go To School.

"Every one on my reservation goes to school," she said with a faint smile when questioned about her home. I was almost first girl to go away from the schools there and out into the world. Since then all others wish to do same. That is well, for at reservation schools children go little further than fifth grade.

"After we leave school we must find employment. We are taught to do many things and we must put them in practice. The girls, many of them, enter offices of government, such as this, and after they have learned ways of the white people they are sent out to fill other positions. My work interests me more than anything else, for I feel that here I am helping my people. We receive letters from all over country asking for work and it is great satisfaction when we have placed some one."

Her face clouded when she was asked if the Indian girls had any difficulty in finding employment.

"Yes," she replied, "it is often hard," and it was easy to read the tale that she would not tell of hardships and indignities suffered because of the overbearing pride of many of the white race, who refuse to make a place for the red man in his struggle upward.

Many in Trades.

"My people find most employment in government offices, though there are many in other trades. In the city living in Montclair is an Indian carpenter and his family. Then there is Pedro, whom you have seen many times. He works for moving picture shows," and her smile was slightly contemptuous as she spoke of the man who earns a living by wearing full Indian dress and having his picture taken many times.

"On the reservation we wear Indian dress only to dance. On Fourth of July always there is dance, and white people come to see it. Other times we wear dress of white people. There are many white people on reservation. We like them to come. One lady missionary, Miss Colby, every one loves her. She teach lace work.

"Men on reservation fish mostly, so many lakes, and work also in lumbering mills. Some farm also. Girls learn sewing and housekeeping. When they leave school, very few go back to reservation. They wish to work for their people, but out in the world."

Miss Leah Summers, who is also working in the bureau, has more Indian blood than her friend and speaks in the guttural tones of her ancestors. She is the daughter of a chief of the Oneida tribe and comes from the reservation in Wisconsin. Like Miss Finn, she has little to say of her family. Both girls have identified themselves with the modern world and at the same time have cut themselves off from the past.

MISSING MAN IS IN WASHINGTON

Strange Lapse of Memory By Wealthy Ohio Miller.

Bellefontaine, Ohio, Oct. 20.—Benjamin G. Allinger, a wealthy flour mill owner of Quincy, after being mysteriously absent for ten days, has turned up at Stevenson, Wash., wondering who he is.

Chief of Police Vermillion of Lima has turned over to the family of Allinger a letter he received yesterday. The letter runs:

Stevenson, Wash.

To Chief of Police, Lima, Ohio:

Sir—I am writing you for any information you can give me regarding myself, the undersigned. My memory goes back only a few days when I found myself on a train out of Chicago, on the Union Pacific railway, with a ticket from Lima, Ohio, to Portland, Or. The only thing to tell me who I am and where I am from, is on the ticket I had, which was made out to Ben Allin or Ollin. If you can give me anything that will help as to who I am I will be very thankful.

BEN ALLIN.

Just before the letter came a telegram was received by a tailor at Sidney from a Dr. Pratt of Stevenson, Wash., to the effect that a man who had lost his identity had nothing to identify him except a suit of clothes hearing the label of the tailor.

It was in this way that the missing man was identified. His son and brother-in-law are now traveling across the continent to bring Allinger home.

Physicians say his is one of the strangest cases of the lapse of memory on record.

HOME CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

Do not waste time nor take chances of becoming a cripple or helpless sufferer from Rheumatism by trying to cure the disease with external applications alone. Such treatment sometimes gives relief from the severe pain, or may reduce the inflammation of a swollen joint or muscle, but the effect cannot be more than temporary. Each day the cause is allowed to remain in the system Rheumatism gets a firmer hold on its victim. Purify your blood of the inflammatory uric acid and then you will cure the disease permanently. The system will respond more quickly and surely to S. S. S. than any other treatment. This great blood purifier possesses the penetrating qualities necessary to drive out every trace of urate matter from the circulation and build the blood up to a nourishing and healthful condition. Only pure blood can overcome Rheumatism, and S. S. S. surely creates pure blood. Thousands have cured themselves of Rheumatism by using S. S. S., a medicine made entirely of roots, herbs and barks; no harmful mineral enters into its composition, and S. S. S. is therefore safe for any one to use. Write for our book on Rheumatism and ask for any special medical advice. No charge for either. S. S. S. is sold at drug stores.

EARRINGS IN BUSTLE.

Bustle Lost During Moving and Mrs. Ferris Was Excited.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 20.—When Mrs. John Farris had finished moving her boarding house, 4949 Fountain avenue, she looked for her bustle into which she had sewed her $1,000 earrings. She had intended to wear the bustle to her new address.

The bustle could not be found, and in a panic of fear she informed the police of the apparent theft. The police explained that it would be both a delicate and difficult job for them to recover the missing articles unless they should be pawned.

Twelve hours after reporting the gems as missing, Mr. Farris remembered that in the haste of moving he had kicked some object he had not recognized amongst some clothing that lay in a heap preparatory to being tied up. Nervously he dug into the bundle and triumphantly held aloft the bustle. The gems were safe.

KEEP CRIMINALS OUT OF FRENCH ARMY, IS CRY.

Paris, Oct. 20.—The murder by two soldiers of an aged woman living alone on a farm in the department of Sarthe has again raised a cry against Apaches in the French army.

Occasionally most brutal and cold-blooded crimes are committed in France by soldiers in uniform. Not long ago two soldiers were responsible for the death of a woman in a train. Investigation generally discloses that the murderers were convicts out on ticket of leave or men otherwise unfavorably known to the police. These men, once accepted as soldiers, are forced to serve their term in the army.

Baron D'Estournelles de Constant, senator for the department of Sarthe, has written a strong letter of protest to the minister of war. He says:

"The practice of accepting men with criminal records to be soldiers constitutes a grave danger for the French army and for the country at large."

A reform is likely to be instituted.

DOG CATCHER HAS BEEN BITTEN 2,000 TIMES.

Denver, Col., Oct. 20.—Herman Carn, official dog catcher of Denver, has received his two thousandth dog bite. Following his custom, he annointed the wound with carbolic acid and continued his work.

"Dog bites ain't nothin'," he remarked cheerfully. "Good deal rather have 'em than mosquito bites. There's nothing to this hydrophobia business. I've been bitten by thoroughbred bull dogs, French poodles, mangy yellow cure and stuck-up skyes and I'm still here."

Carn has kept a record of his bites. Only once, he says, did a dog seriously inconvenience him. That was when an ill-bred pup sank his fangs in Carn's nose.

Before coming to Denver Carn was a dog catcher in St. Louis.

BOY'S STORY FOUND TRUE

Emil Erickson Was Working to Earn Money for Clothes.

Woman With Whom He Was Living Unable to Provide for Him.

The pathetic story of little Emil Erickson, who aroused the sympathy of the officials at police headquarters yesterday when he was brought in to answer a charge of being a runaway, was found to be substantially correct upon investigation by Chief Troyer yesterday afternoon.

Emil said that he was an orphan and that he had been obliged to quit going to school in order to earn his own living, which he was doing by carrying water for a contractor at 75 cents a day.

The only inconsistency was that he stated that the woman with whom he was living near Woodland was his aunt. The chief found that she was no relation to the boy, and that her circumstances were such that she could ill afford to keep the boy in school. She explained to Chief Troyer that she had taken him out so that he could earn enough money to buy some clothes, as those he had were worn out and not such as he should be wearing to school. Her intention was, she said, to have him work a month, or long enough to get the necessary cash for a suit and some shoes.

Chief Troyer informed her that the boy would have to resume his studies and she appeared perfectly willing that he should do so, although she did not know how he was going to get the suit unless he already had sufficient wages coming to pay for them. The case appears to be a worthy one and it is believed that some charitable organization will provide the clothes when the matter is brought to its attention.

TERRIFIC FIGHT IN NEW YORK SALOON

Milwaukee Man Is Badly Beaten and Robbed of $1,500.

New York, Oct. 20.—John C. Golding of Milwaukee was found crawling on his hands and knees out of an uptown saloon by a policeman early today. Golding, who bore marks of a terrific encounter, told the bluecoat he had been assaulted by unknown men, when, where and how he could not say. And had missed cash and jewelry valued at $1,500 when he recovered consciousness.

Within the saloon the policeman found half a dozen broken teeth, shattered eyeglasses, a broken plate containing four false teeth, several small articles of jewelry and a trail of blood leading down two flights of stairs to the doorway.

The assailants have not been found.

Apple Fourteen Inches Around.

Grass Valley, Nev., Oct. 20.—An apple in the show window of C. H. Baker, taken from the orchard of Mrs. B. A. Penhall in the Barker tract, measures fourteen inches in circumference. It was taken from a tree that was planted forty years ago.

It is expected to furnish a cheap substitute for rubber from two bituminous minerals, called elaterite and tabbyite. The experiments are encouraging.

TWELVE DROWN IN NEW JERSEY MINE

Water Rushes in When Blast Weakens Log Partition.

Hibernia, N. J., Oct. 20.—Twelve men were drowned here today when a blast destroyed a partition between two shafts in the iron mines of the Wharton Steel company and let a great quantity of water, accumulated in an old shaft, flood the gallery where they were at work. All the victims are foreigners except David Slaight, foreman of the gang, who lost his life in trying to aid his men.

The accident occurred in a shaft where sixty men were at work. Between this shaft and the abandoned one was a partition of logs. A blast weakened this barrier so that it gave way before the water in the adjoining gallery.

In less than a minute the water was over the men's heads and they were obliged to swim through the darkness toward the opening leading to a higher level. Those who lost their lives were unable to swim. Slaight, the foreman, was in a position of safety when the deluge came, but rushed into the submerged shaft to assist the drowning men and was caught there with the other victims.

ROBINSON LEAVES DUBUQUE IN FOG

Aviator Plans to Get to Rock Island in Day's Flight.

Dubuque, Iowa, Oct. 20.—Hugh Robinson, the aviator, who is on his way from Minneapolis to New Orleans in a hydro-aeroplane, rose from here at 10:30 today. His start was delayed by a thick fog. Although the weather was far from clear when he left the ground, Robinson circled the city and then started South. His first stop is planned to be Belleview, twenty miles from here. He expected to reach Rock Island, ninety-nine miles from here, by night.

RODGERS SAVED BY ELY'S FATE

Aviator Makes Careful Inspection of Flyer and Finds Defects.

Waco, Texas, Oct. 20.—Aviator C. P. Rodgers' learning of the death of Eugene Ely at Macon, Ga., yesterday, caused him to make a minute inspection of his biplane today and probably saved him from death or serious accident, for he discovered damage that caused his departure from Waco to be postponed two hours.

The elevators and rudder wires were found to have been worn so thin that the aviator doubted whether they would last through today's proposed flight of 188 miles, from Waco to San Antonio. Repair work was begun at once and at 11:15 he resumed his ocean-to-ocean flight, starting from this city for San Antonio, Texas.

UTAH WOMEN IN POLITICAL PARTY

Put Questions, Including Recall, Up to All Candidates.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 20.—Twenty thousand women of Salt Lake City will put a ticket of their own in the field at the primaries Oct. 24 to select candidates for municipal offices.

The Women's Welfare league, a non-partisan organization, has addressed a number of questions to every candidate for office. The replies will guide the league in selecting the candidates it will support. The question propounded to candidates demand their attitude toward the enforcement of laws against gambling and vice, but the question which is causing deepest thought among the candidates is as follows:

"Will you voluntarily submit your

Lighting Talks

NUMBER 80 DULUTH, OCTOBER 20, 1911

What YOU Want

from an electric light plant, no matter who owns it, is good service at a fair and reasonable price. Isn't that so?

All the municipal plant agitators in Duluth cannot deny that the customers of the Duluth-Edison Electric Company are getting SERVICE THAT IS NOT SURPASSED ANYWHERE IN THE WORLD, at a price that is 26 PER CENT LOWER than the average price paid right now in the 160 leading American cities.

After inducing the Council to employ expert engineers to estimate on a municipal electric plant, and before their report was ready, the political agitators repeatedly told you that the plant of this company could be "duplicated" for less than $700,000. They also told you that a municipal electric plant would drive this company out of business—in their own words, "strangle" us.

Messrs. Claussen and Pillsbury, the engineers employed (for a fee of $14,000), in their report say: "In accordance with the instructions given to us verbally by the City Attorney" estimates have been made on (1) a plant to serve a territory EIGHT MILES SMALLER than that now served by this company; and (2) a much smaller plant to cost $696,743, which could not handle one-half of the present light and power business of this company. And they "respectfully suggest" that "IF THE CITY IS TO BUILD A PLANT AT ALL" (these are the very words of the report) it should be the smaller and inferior plant BECAUSE IT WOULD HAVE TO COMPETE WITH THE DULUTH-EDISON ELECTRIC COMPANY.

But what of that? The political agitators, who made a desperate attempt to stampede the Council last Monday night, are now busily engaged in nightly harangues to stir up passion and prejudice by charging this company with being "in politics."

The political agitators would turn what is now purely and strictly a business affair into a political machine. If it is "politics" for this company to tell the Council, just as we are telling YOU in these Lighting Talks, the TRUTH about this business—why, make the most of it.

This company's plant is not up for sale, and NO OFFER HAS EVER BEEN MADE FOR IT BY THE CITY OR ANYBODY REPRESENTING THE CITY.

The political agitators cannot deny that; they cannot deny our excellent service and extremely low rates; they cannot deny that we offer to light the streets at a lower price than a municipal plant could do it; they cannot deny that a municipal plant will increase the City debt and MAKE TAXES HIGHER; they cannot any longer deny that a municipal plant means competition, and that competition in such a public utility as electric light is criminally wasteful.

But they are after YOUR alderman. What are YOU going to do about it? Does he know what YOU want?

A WILLING SOIL.

Almost daily during the harvest season The Herald has had reports of yields from near-by soil that were remarkable—not only for this section but for any.

For instance, last evening there was a report of some of the yields of the McKay farm in Carlton county, which is the pioneer agricultural county of Northeastern Minnesota and has been producing wealth for a growing agricultural population for many years. Some of the items in this report were as follows: Five rutabagas weighing seventy pounds, four of them making a bushel; 320 bushels of potatoes to the acre, which is far above the average, though yields of 500 and more bushels per acre have been reported this year from Northeastern Minnesota; oats, seventy bushels to the acre and weighing thirty-two pounds to the bushel, the legal requirement; wheat, thirty-two bushels to the acre—a first trial of this crop; fodder corn, sixteen tons to the acre; milk yielding an average of 5¼ per cent of butter fat, the legal requirement being 3½ per cent.

And it is true, as one of the McKay brothers who operate this farm is reported as saying, that "what he and his brother are doing can be accomplished by any man of average intelligence, who is not afraid of work, in Northern Minnesota;" and that "this section has more to offer the farmer than any other part of the Northwest, Canada included."

Not all can become farmers; but if Duluth takes hold and arranges it wisely pretty nearly everybody can hope to have a small space of this rich soil on which to raise a large proportion or all of the family's food for the full year around.

GAME AND THE SETTLER.

We have been interested in the discussion in the Open Court of the killing of game by settlers to provide food for their families. The game laws, of course, run against the settler no less than the sportsman; but the situation of the two is so vastly different that if there ever is good excuse for winking at law violation it is when a settler who is carving a home out of the wilderness, and thereby is doing noble service to state and nation, kills out of season a bird or beast to add a little variety to the homely fare that furnishes forth his table.

Perhaps it wouldn't do to amend the law so as to exempt settlers from its provisions, though possibly a safe way to do this could be worked out. There is some danger that a few settlers might take advantage of their immunity to kill game for the market; though this is probably covered by the law prohibiting the sale of certain kinds of game.

But when a settler, who has none too fat a time of it at best in his early years of conquering a wilderness, kills a deer or a partridge or two and feeds his family with it, at least as much good has been done as when a rich city sportsman, hunting in the legal season, makes a killing for distribution among his friends in the city.

If we ran the game warden's affairs we shouldn't be too hard on the settler; and if we could figure out any safe way to exempt him from the provisions of the law we should suggest that the legislature enact that measure into law.

WRITE YOUR CONGRESSMAN.

Not long ago The Herald suggested that if you favor the parcels post you should write your senators and representatives in congress and tell them so.

The Outlook calls attention to the fact that those who are opposed to the parcels post are doing this in large numbers, and as congressmen are certain to be impressed if they get more letters against the parcels post than they get in favor of it, if you believe in the parcels post you should do your part toward getting it by adding one letter to the congressman's pile of letters favoring it.

Those opposed to the parcels post are likely to be more active in this work than those who favor it, for their interest in it seems to them more direct than your interest seems to you. In point of fact, your interest is quite as direct and strong as theirs, as you will see if you examine the situation.

Those writing against the parcels post are those whom the express companies are stirring up, and the wholesalers and retailers who fear that the parcels post will injure their business by opening the mails to the large city mail order houses. We think they are mistaken in this fear. The country merchant, in whose cause the wholesalers are acting, is quite as likely to benefit from the parcels post as the city mail order house. The parcels post will be open to him just as much as it is to the city merchant, and he will have the advantage of being nearer the customer, of having his acquaintance and friendship, and of being able to furnish goods quicker. Besides, he gives credit and the mail order house demands spot cash on the nail. He exchanges goods that are not satisfactory, and if you are "stung" by the mail order house you must swallow it. His goods are in sight whenever the farmer visits town, and the farmer customer of the mail order house must get his idea of its goods from the pictures in the catalogue, which aren't always thoroughly reliable.

But even if the country merchant were justified in his fears of the parcels post—which he is not—your interest is as great as his. If you have a parcel to mail now it must weigh less than four pounds or the postoffice won't take it, and it charges 16 cents a pound though it will carry eleven pounds to Europe or Asia for 12 cents a pound. If your package weighs more than four pounds, you must take it to an express company, which will charge you what it pleases. In a few states regulation of express rates has been attempted, but it hasn't gone far, and in most cases express rates are regulated by the express company's idea of what the traffic will bear.

If you had a real parcels post system you could mail almost any parcel, too small to go by freight, at reasonable rates. If you are a farmer you could mail butter and eggs and poultry and other produce to your city customers every day, and you could call up the village merchant and have him send out your groceries and dry goods by parcels post at small cost. If you live in town you could get your food fresh every day from your farmer friend in the country at prices low enough to please you but high enough to satisfy him—thus cutting out the middlemen's profits.

If you want the parcels post, the kind of parcels post that every other civilized nation in the world except this has had for years, write your senators and congressman and tell them so, and ask them to vote for a real parcels post.

ROOSEVELT AS A SPHINX.

Col. Roosevelt says that he proposes to be a sphinx in politics for an indefinite period henceforth. It is not as a sphinx, or as anything remotely resembling a sphinx, that we have come to know the colonel. It is a new role for him, and if he plays it as he proposes it will be a new illustration of the marvelous capacity of the man to adapt himself to whatever part his grim will assigns to him.

And he is playing it, right now, as strenuously as but lately he played the role of spokesman for the people on all subjects. Strenuous when in voice, his silence may be expected to be equally strenuous. At present his vocal performances are done with a pen, and are confined to his contributed editorials in the Outlook, where he discusses art, music, sports, literature and other non-political subjects with vehemence, skill and effectiveness.

If he can keep silent during the coming days of conflict, with his political followers arrayed in battle against his political heir and the reins of political control slipping through the gap into the hands of his ancient enemy the Democratic party, he is truly a more wonderful creation than we had imagined. And because of his performances in adaptability we are used to wonders from him. Nature or ancestry assigned to him the role of physical weakling; but he made himself a marvel of strength and endurance. Chance assigned to him the role of moneyed dilettante; but he made himself a champion of the plain people. A man who could do these wonders with himself perhaps can change himself from an untiring fountain of vehement opinions into a tomb of silence and mystery.

BACKWARD BACHELORS.

When Mrs. Florence Lee, visiting nurse of the anti-tuberculosis society, suggested that the bachelors of Duluth who have nobody dependent upon them should contribute 50 cents apiece a month toward the splendid work of fighting consumption in this city, we thought she had hit on a pretty good scheme, and we still think so.

But it was reported in the local columns of The Herald last evening that though two or three hundred postal card requests were sent out to likely bachelors of this city, up to date only two have replied with promises to contribute to this needed and effective public service.

Those who are interested in the project say that they don't believe this slight response is truly indicative of the amount of generosity there is among the bachelors of Duluth. Nor do we. Very likely it is true that being a bachelor tends to make a man selfish; but we can't believe that it makes for the kind of selfishness that ignores the need of the disinherited poor who cannot grapple with the dreadful peril of the White Plague without assistance.

It is much more pleasant to believe, as those do who are pushing this canvass, that it is merely a matter of oversight that will be corrected immediately.

THE TRUSTS AND TAFT SATISFIED.

Says the Los Angeles Express: "The trusts are seemingly satisfied with the Sherman anti-trust law as modified by the supreme court, and President Taft takes that same position."

Maybe you haven't thought of this before, but it is true. And being true, it is worth thinking about. The trusts, at this stage of the game, are not likely to be satisfied with anything that is going to afford much real relief to the people. And if the enforcement of the Sherman law, as modified by the supreme court, is going to bring about any real relief to the people—any better service or lower prices—there is no sign of it yet. Approval of it by the trusts doesn't give cause to hope that any will come.

The last party pronouncement on the anti-trust question is in the Republican national platform of 1908, which, after praising the Sherman law in the hands of "a wise and fearless national administration"—which meant the Roosevelt administration, of course—added these words:

> But experience has shown that its effectiveness can be strengthened and its real objects better attained by such amendments as will give to the Federal government greater supervision and control over and secure greater publicity in the management of that class of corporations having power and opportunity to effect monopolies.

These words were in the Republican platform, and it was on the Republican platform that President Taft was elected. That platform was devised in the days of Roosevelt control. Now that Roosevelt no longer controls, that plank is forgotten. The president says that the Sherman law is good enough as it stands and that it is not going to be amended; and the trusts, apparently, say "amen."

The fight against trust domination of the people is, at present, a vague groping in the dark. Two great trusts have been tried, convicted and sentenced under the Sherman law. Presently they will be going through the motions of dissolution, and there will be a number of corporations where there is now but one in each case. These separated corporations will be commanded to compete. If they do not compete there can be no gain, because a multiplication of corporations will increase overhead charges and therefore will increase the cost of their products to the people. If they do compete, there will be price-cutting and commercial war. Presently the weaker ones will go to the wall, as the weaker ones did before. That is the meaning and the result of competition, which is commercial warfare. Can the stronger survivors, then, be prevented from combining again, either secretly or openly? If they can't, where's the gain?

With this proposed solution of the trust problem President Taft and the trusts seem satisfied. There is to be no regulation of large corporations, no publicity, no limiting of stock issues, no move to make sure that the people are not compelled to pay dividends on watered stock. None of that for Taft or the trusts.

Should the people, in these circumstances, be contented to follow Taft and the trusts? Is the Sherman law, as it is now modified or as it may hereafter be modified by the supreme court, to be the final word in trust control? Is a legal hocus-pocus to be the only answer to the people's cry for relief from the arrogant exactions of the masters of money?

Somehow we think all these questions will yet be answered in the negative.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

NOT "TIGHT WADDISM" BUT CARELESSNESS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I regretted to notice in The Herald last evening that but two bachelors in Duluth had responded to the voluntary tax of 50 cents a month in the campaign which was started by Mrs. Florence Lee to raise additional funds for the relief of tubercular children of the city. The tax certainly would not be a burden upon any of them, and it would seem that the only way the lack of contributions can be accounted for is that the unmarried men have laid aside and forgotten the post cards sent to them. I trust that they will remind themselves of them and of the worthiness of the work to which the money is to be applied. Duluth should be willing to contribute several hundred dollars a month. Many of the young men of the city earn good wages and pay no taxes except those of an indirect nature. They should be willing to devote at least 50 cents a month towards such a good cause.

BACHELOR.

Duluth, Oct. 20.

THE OLD TIME HALLOWEEN.

Chicago News: "Hey, Skinny! Look at my ticktack! Ain't it a bird? I'm gettin' fixed up for Halloween best you ever saw."

This was what a boy was overheard to tell a friend of his own age at a North side playground several days ago. The youngster addressed had been in the city only two years. He replied:

"Why, kid, you don't know what it is to have a good time. Out in S—— we used to have a big Halloween—a regular time, but the cops here won't let you talk above a whisper. Say, we would steal all the gates in town, ring every doorbell along the streets, take wagons and carts out in the middle of the street and, believe me, we had some fun."

"I guess it is true that the kids in a small town get the most fun out of Halloween," said a Chicago business man who was born in a small town and lived there for a number of years. "Halloween doesn't seem to have the meaning here that it does in smaller places. I will not deny that the Chicago idea is the better.

"The most conservative manner of having fun was the usual one of dressing up in masquerade costumes, throwing corn at windows, ringing door bells and running 'tick-tacks' on windows. These 'tick-tacks' were made by notching the edges of a spool and running them across a window with a piece of string. They made an awful racket. Then some of the older crowd would steal wagons and carts and everything else loose and pile them up in the street, tip over an old building, perhaps, get a cannon and shoot it most of the night and otherwise make the evening hideous with their noise. Of course, they all ran in different 'crowds.'

"The fellows that were going with girls—that is, the high school crowd and boys of that age, usually had the girls come out for the evening and would have a 'deer hunt.' The girls would leave their homes, congregate at the home of one of the 'bunch' and hide. The boys knew only vaguely where the girls were to be and often passed most of the evening hunting them. When they were found a dance or party usually filled the rest of the night. And lastly came the crowd of old bachelors and fellows that really ought to have known better. They would build obstructions on the little public square that would take hours to tear apart. One crowd would get at one end of the street about midnight and shoot. The old town marshal, who was so fat he could scarcely walk, would waddle down to stop the noise, when another crowd at the other end of the street would start shooting.

"I think the greatest time that I ever witnessed, though, on Halloween was at a little college town. We had a town marshal who was serving his first term and he decided that Halloween was going to be a quiet one in the town. He appointed a number of deputies and early in the evening they came up to the campus to watch things start. They were not to wait long, as a bunch of fellows had hidden in a room during the day and shortly after dark came marching out on the fire escape with all of the college band instruments. They paraded to the president's home and gave a serenade.

"On the return to the college about 10 o'clock the boys carried away all of the signs and bicycle racks along the street. A hand cart left standing in front of a laundry was found pulled up to the top of the flagpole the next morning. The football team had just won one of the large colleges and was coming in about 11 o'clock that night. With their victory fresh in the minds of the students every one was going to the train.

"As was customary after the team returned its members marched to the campus, where a large bonfire was started with the signs, wheelbarrows and stands that had been brought along. Finally a wagon brought quietly by one of the fraternities was wheeled out on the campus and pulled over the fire.

"This was too much for the town marshal and his deputies. They turned in a fire alarm and started to scatter the thousand students on the campus. When the fire department arrived a sturdy lot of youths stood at the fire plugs and refused to allow the brave firemen to connect their hose. This caused a fight, in which a number of firemen and all of the deputies were considerably worsted and hustled off the campus.

"This is an insult to our welcome,' said one of the football men, 'and I propose we get the little German band and start out to make these deputies work,' which was accordingly done. They went through the streets and got the fellows out of bed who had turned in early. The latter came in their pajamas and night clothing and soon others of the crowd were stopping at their rooms long enough to slip on a pair of pajamas or a nightgown, when they all marched to the college restaurant. They continued this for a couple of hours, when they raided a chicken coop and finished the night with a fry."

To a Duck.

Wild bid of fear! What folly makes you climb
The crested clouds in altitude so high?
And in such haste? Why, you have
scads of time.
This apparition with a gun is I.

You silly bird! A license hold I tight
Also a gun which cost a lot to buy;
And, candidly, it has a perfect sight.
But what of that? 'Tis I.

You foolish fowl! I've shot a box of shells away
And not one feather made I fly.
You can afford to stick around all day.
This apparition with a gun is I.

True, But a Public Slander.

Chattanooga Times: The New York World says "there is a community of interests between brewers and farmers." There may be a sort of constructive community of interests between the two, but your "Uncle Joshuway" down in this neck of the woods isn't making any housetop profert of the fact. Sometimes he comes to town and connects with a stein or two of the "brewers' delight," but he preserves a very austere demeanor at the polls. In behalf of the glorious cause we desire to declare that The World's statement is a public slander, whatever it may be as an actual fact.

An Unpleasant Memory.

Nashville Tennesseean: It doesn't take much of a seer to understand why Winona, Minn., is not included in President Taft's forthcoming trip.

STATE AND THE RAILROADS.

A Challenge to the People.

Roseau Region: Nothing can be more harmful to an equitable adjustment of the question of transportation and other economic conditions in a state than vindictive legislation. To be vindictive is to be destructive. Conditions are being shaped so by the greed of the railroads in this state and by their friends entrusted with political influence and power, that the people will feel justified in their exasperation to go to extremes in demanding drastic legislation against these unscrupulous corporations. If the railroads of Minnesota are happy in their present state of boosted freight and passenger rates and if they feel reasonably secure from interference for the time being, their happiness and political entrenchment will be short lived. They have flung a direct challenge into the face of the people of the state for which they will have to answer when the people have swung into line for battle. In the very near future public sentiment will demand action on the part of those who have been entrusted with authority. Are the people of Minnesota such weaklings that they will permit the railroads to extort higher rates from them than from their neighbors to the west, south and east? We believe not. When this matter is put squarely before them as it will be, somebody is going to get a rude awakening.

Who Doubts It.

St. Cloud Times: R. C. Dunn is quoted in the Pioneer Press as saying that he heard a number of people say in regard to the raise in railroad rates that this sort of a thing would not have happened if they had had a man like Johnson for governor.

Rather, Who Makes You?

Monticello Times: What makes you pay 3 cents a mile when you travel in Minnesota?

It May, Indeed.

Cambridge North Star: Speaker Dunn and Representative L. C. Spooner are demanding that a special session of the legislature shall be called in the event that the United States supreme court upholds the Sanborn railroad decision which nullified the 2-cent fare law. Most of the people feel that something should be done along the line of raising the railroad taxes in order that these mighty creatures may be made to disgorge at least a part of their arrogantly acquired profits on imaginery stock values. It may turn out that this special session agitation will submerge the great issue of consolidated rural schools.

At an Extra Session.

Ada Herald: Just to show how the Great Northern and other railroads are treating the people of Minnesota we want to call their attention to the fact that in Montana the Great Northern is making a rate of one fare for the round trip to the state fair. Here the same railroad stuck the people for a fare and a third. Let us have that 6 per cent gross earnings bill passed without delay.

Unless They Come Down.

Nashwauk Herald: The exorbitant freight rates charged by the railroads in Minnesota, together with the additional robbery of extracting 3 cents per mile from the traveling public are beginning to grind on the nerves of the people and as a result pity the man who raises a voice against an increased gross earnings tax. The moment he does, the eyes of all Minnesota will be turned toward him, and he'll be marked as one who is railroad-controlled. The railroads are in for an awful grilling at the hands of the next legislature.

Who Owns Minnesota?

Madison Western Guard: At the present time Minnesota seems to be owned and controlled by the railroads and express companies. The people will soon rise in their might and demand a change that will give them somewhere near a square deal.

A Constructive Trust Program.

New York Globe: 1. Repeal the Sherman law.

2. Substitute a law that shall deal separately with the problems of organization and the conduct of the corporation after organization.

3. As to organization: Open the door on equal terms to large and small, subject to the proviso that no securities shall be issued except for $1 in cash or property, and the further proviso that there shall be nothing in the organization that shall lessen the likelihood of the appearance of rivals.

4. As to conduct: Define in detail reprehensible trade practices, such as rebating or underselling to compel a sell out, or the making of lower prices to customers who agree to buy nowhere else; then provide penitentiary punishment for the officers of corporations who violate this code.

5. Embody the new system in a general incorporation law to be raised by congress and compel the concerns engaged in interstate commerce to come under it.

This program, we believe, is self-explanatory. Nevertheless, a few words in elucidation.

The Sherman law should be repealed because its good is so commingled with bad that it is wise to begin anew.

It is essential to consider separately the problems of organization and of conduct after organization, for the things have no logical relation. The time to determine when a corporation is legally organized is when its papers are filed. The time to consider conduct is when it occurs.

Freedom to co-operate and to integrate is the basic law of modern civilization. When we interfere with it we strike at progress. But it may be demanded that there shall be no fraudulent securities sold and that one group of co-operating investors shall not molest or impede another group that wishes to compete.

It is difficult, but by no means impossible, to describe and list unfair practices meriting criminal punishment. Already a start has been made by the courts in their identifications of what is "reasonable" and what is "unreasonable." The common law furnishes models that will aid in drawing this section of the law. Moreover, it is absolutely essential, if reprehensible practices are to be stopped, to have explicit enumerations and identifications. They cannot be stopped except by the criminal law and the criminal law is nothing when it is not specific. Even now, in language that all could understand, there could be a precise statement concerning most of the trust practices as to which there is complaint.

Federal incorporation or license in some form is necessary because the states are not able to control interstate commerce and because no corporation is able to serve at once and respond to the divergent orders of forty-five divergent masters.

The Blossom.

Only a little shriveled seed—
It might be flower or grass or weed;
Only a box of earth on the edge
Of a narrow, dusty window ledge;
Only a few scant summer showers,
Only a few faint shining hours—
That was all. Yet God could make
Out of these, for a sick child's sake,
A blossom wonder as fair and sweet
As ever broke at an angel's feet.

Only a life of barren pain,
Wet with sorrowful tears of rain;
Warmed sometimes by a wandering gleam
Of joy that seemed but a happy dream.
A life as common and brown and bare
As the box of earth in the window
there;
Yet it bore at last the precious bloom
Of a perfect soul in a narrow room—
Pure as the snowy leaves that fold
Over the flower's heart of gold.

—Dr. Henry Van Dyke.

An Ideal Man.

Life: "What he needs," says the aggravated young woman, "is some one to give him a good snubbing—the kind of a snubbing that will make him feel mean and little and helpless. But I can't imagine who could snub him in a way to penetrate his colossal conceit."

"I know the very man," says the listener. "I know a fellow who works in the winter in a theater box office and in the summer is clerk in a summer resort hotel that is always crowded."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1891.

•••Arrangements are being made to get Prof. David Swing of Chicago to deliver a lecture in Duluth.

•••Mrs. William Dobson returned yesterday to her home in Fort Yates, N. D., after a visit of several months with her sister, Mrs. Jennings of this city.

•••Miss Nellie Orton's Daily Real Estate Record made its first appearance yesterday. She expects to publish the transfers and realty news on both sides of the bay.

•••Miss Bessie King, who has been visiting the family of Grant Pobjoys at West Duluth for several weeks, returned to her home in Baraboo, Wis., yesterday.

•••A. T. Scherer and Miss Lizzie Seymour of West Duluth will be married at the Spalding tomorrow evening. W. A. Lawson will be best man and Miss Minnie Ruddick bridesmaid.

•••Mrs. Dr. Maxwell is visiting at her old home, Remington, Ind.

•••So far this crop year Duluth has received over 13,000,000 bushels of wheat and has manufactured about 120,000 barrels of flour, and not two months of the year have yet passed.

•••The Duluth West End Evangel, No. 1 of which is just issued, is a new church paper started by Rev. E. E. Tyson of the Second Baptist church. It is to be issued monthly for the special use of the church.

•••Wina Powers, publisher of the Northwestern Odd Fellow, is in the city on his way to visit the lodges at Tower and Two Harbors.

•••The deal for the purchase of an armory site has been closed, the owners accepting $500 down, the city agreeing to pay the balance of $24,000 on May 1, without interest.

•••A deer was captured on the streets of Superior yesterday afternoon.

•••A barbecue will be held at Recreation park on Oct. 22 under the auspices of St. Marks' Methodist church.

•••A dispatch from Tower reports the drowning of William Kelly in Trout lake while duck hunting. He was in a canoe with his brother. They came upon a flock of ducks, and one of the boys reached for the gun while the other stopped paddling. The canoe capsized. John D. Kelly clung to the canoe while his brother was drowned. The latter was 22 years old and unmarried. His parents live at Jackson, Mich.

WAKE UP, MINNESOTA.

Farm, Stock and Home: From the Twin Cities to the awakening lands beyond Bemidji is a good day's journey behind the Iron Horse. The mists that hang over the falls of St. Anthony have scarcely stirred, and amid them the smokestacks of the milling district stand like dim specters when one crosses the river, drops off the car at the Union depot, and calls for a ticket to Northome. The sun rises, stands in the south, swings slowly toward the west, finally drops below the second or third generation of pines that have flourished and died since man set out to inherit the land; the shadows deepen, the sparks from the engine rush past the windows, and night shuts out the horizon before your station is called. And beyond you, reaching like a double thread through the forest, the steel highway runs eighty miles further before the end of the road is reached, and the traveler steps off at International Falls, where a water power, greater than that of St. Anthony's, has slipped out of the hands of the people after the common fashion of natural resources.

So much of prelude by way of correcting the notion popular in Southern Minnesota that Northern Minnesota doesn't cut much ice. International Falls is 338 miles by rail from St. Paul. Jamestown, N. D., is but six miles farther away, and if two men parted in Minneapolis, the one going to International Falls, the other to Chicago, the latter would have just thirty minutes in which to stroll about the Windy City before his friend could catch sight from the depot of the British flag flying over the custom house across the river from International Falls at Fort Francis.

Really this matter of mere size is an important one, for within the limits of this empire is going on the battle Prom Brainerd, the geographical center of the state, northward and eastward lie most of the state lands, nearly all the mineral wealth, a fair share of the waterpowers, and the still unused forests—a wealth exceeding that of Alaska, dribbling through the fingers of voters too intent upon scratching each other's political backs to realize that opportunity, the auctioneer, is lifting his hammer for the last time, while privilege stands impatiently waiting to make off with the possibilities of future years. When will Minnesota wake up!

All day long the hammer of the rails; all day long swiftly passing fields, now in the sere of the leaf, or swept clean of the harvest; all day long the acres untilled, the opportunities unrealized; the wasted effort, and the appalling waste of life. Fields producing half crops; houses and barns rotting into decay because of inattention and the lack of a dollar to buy paint, or, it may be because paint appears to be a luxury. All day long the sight of wasted effort—men tugging singly in the harness of toil at back-breaking and soul-wearing tasks. Horses straining in the furrow; women and children gazing with lack-luster eyes out of dim cottages where a rack-a-bones barn and a manure heap take the place of a neat garden and climbing roses on the wall.

Schoolhouses standing poverty-stricken, not for lack of wealth in the communities, but because the souls who built them saw nothing but four walls and an educational cramming system. All day long the acres on acres of dead land—the land that neither grows crops nor materially helps to carry the burdens of taxation—the speculator's land, hanging like a millstone about the necks of material progress! This is Minnesota to him who has eyes for the inner things of her life—he who has sat down in her pioneer homes, and has broken the bread and shared the burdens of her agricultural poverty.

Poverty! How is that? For Minnesota is rich, as I have just told you. But her riches are held in trust—some of them, it is feared, held for and by trusts that will fail to restore, now or hereafter, to the people their belongings unless Minnesota wakes up! Then there may be some hope in conditions as one sees them.

Minnesota is poor in that she has narrowed down her horizon to visions of the not-almighty dollars. She is poor because her children are well fed physically, but starved for lack of something beautiful in their home and school life. She is poor because her men and women tug and twist and wear themselves out in the harness of toil, without gaining time to enjoy the fruits of their labor. She is poor because she has spread her efforts out over hundreds of acres of land where tens would mean more of comfort and happiness. She is poor for the lack of men and women, and children. Poor because of the half-tilled fields and the waste places. Her very riches make all the greater her poverty.

A Hundredth Anniversary Edition.

The Buffalo Commercial fittingly celebrated its hundredth anniversary the other day with a special edition of unusual interest. Large, well written, well illustrated—it is an admirable exposition of the history and present prosperity of Buffalo and the Commercial. An interesting feature is a facsimile of the second issue of the Commercial, which was then known as the Gazette, published Oct. 10, 1811.

A Tenth Anniversary Edition.

The Houston Chronicle, which is one of the livest and most progressive newspapers of the South, puts forth a special edition of 156 pages to mark its tenth anniversary. The issue is unusually full of good things—admirably written, splendidly illustrated and crowded with well devised and artistic advertisements.

Can Anyone Answer?

Life: Suppose a producer of any commodity for sale should in any way within his power ill-treat all his customers. How long would it be before the producer would be in bankruptcy? —Judge E. H. Gary.

We frankly admit our inability to answer this question. The Coal trust, for instance, has been at it for some time without notable diminution of credit rating. It has been estimated that the coal supply would fail in about fifty years. Perhaps that will give the judge a clue to the information he seeks.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Boston Transcript: Marks—That Mrs. Gabbleigh is a perfect Amazon of a woman.

COLD

The beautiful fall weather continues, but if the weather man hasn't misread the signs, there will be a grand scramble of those who still cling to summer garb to get something more substantial tomorrow morning. A continuation of fair weather is predicted, but the cheering information that temperatures of from 25 deg. to 32 deg. may be expected is also handed out.

The weather was cold a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 6:33 and it will set at 5:12 this evening, giving ten hours and thirty-nine minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The high pressure centered over Alberta has caused a further drop in temperature throughout most districts west of the Mississippi river. Freezing weather prevails in the Rocky mountains, the Eastern slopes, the plateau region, and practically the whole Northwest. Light precipitation occurred over scattered portions of northern districts during either Thursday or last night. At the Head of the Lakes there will be more or less cloudiness and the weather will continue chilly during the ensuing thirty-six hours.

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Saturday:

Upper Michigan—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; cooler tonight in east portion; frost tonight, probably heavy.

Wisconsin—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; continued cool; frost probably tonight if clear.

Minnesota and North Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; freezing temperature tonight.

Iowa—Fair tonight with probably frost; Saturday unsettled with local rains in west and central portions.

South Dakota—Unsettled with probably rain or snow tonight or Saturday; freezing temperature tonight.

Montana—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; continued cool.

Upper Lakes: Light to moderate northerly to northwesterly winds. Cloudy weather tonight. Saturday fair.

free lumber. I have had a hard time trying to get him lined up right.'"

That Talk With Morris.

Cook was asked concerning a conversation he had with Lieut. Governor Thomas Morris in the office of Attorney McGordick in the Rookery building in Chicago. Paul O. Husting, a state senator, and Assistant Attorney General A. C. Titus, both of Wisconsin, were present, Cook said:

"Did you tell Mr. Morris that Stephenson and Hines each put up $55,000 to get the election and that Shields was paid to do the job?" asked Senator Heyburn.

"I didn't say that. What I did say was that Edward Hines raised about $100,000 or $115,000 to put over the election. The statement was based on what I'd heard about Shields."

"Did you tell Morris that Shields went to Washington before Stephenson's election in 1909, and brought back a lot of money?"

"I never made any such statement. All I knew about the whole matter was based on what I had heard."

Warrant for Shields.

A bench warrant for the arrest of Robert J. Shields of Superior, Wis., with instructions that he be brought to Milwaukee, was ordered issued today by the committee.

Shields' name has been repeatedly called as a witnesses, but he has failed to respond. Word came that he has completed his testimony before the Lorimer investigating committee in Chicago and was on his way to Milwaukee, but Senator Heyburn, the chairman, nevertheless ordered the bench warrant issued. It was said if Shields presented himself promptly the warrant would not be served.

Shields is wanted following testimony by several witnesses that he was active in Senator Stephenson's behalf. Lieut. Governor Morris testified that several witnesses heard Shields was employed by Edward Hines, the lumberman, to "put over" Stephenson's election.

Says Shields Worked Openly.

Richard J. White of Milwaukee resumed his testimony today concerning Shields' appearance at Madison, Wis., on March 4, 1909, when the legislature elected Stephenson after three Democratic assemblymen walked out. White said Shields openly was working for Stephenson's election. The witness, however, denied he had ever heard any talk of bribery.

White described how he went into the lobby after the election and there found some Democratic members calling Farrell to account for being absent. White said, to prevent a quarrel, he separated them and took Farrell away.

"In what way was Farrell trying to defend himself for being away?"

"I don't remember. He gave some reasons, but I don't recall what they were."

"What was your object in taking Farrell away?"

"Merely to prevent a quarrel."

Rejoiced Over Election.

"Did Shields say anything after the election?"

"Nothing that I recall. We rejoiced over it."

J. W. Stone, former state game warden, but now of Minneapolis, testified briefly yesterday. He told of having received $2,849 from the Stephenson campaign fund. Of this Stone gave $1,900 to various persons, including deputy wardens, for use in the senator's behalf, but he said he could not account for the remainder.

specify what difference it made where the information was secured.

Counsel for defense said it would show the purpose behind the information.

Had Withheld Names.

Broderick surprised the committee yesterday by candidly saying that purposely he had withheld the names of certain witnesses at the time of the previous federal investigation of the Lorimer election. Investigators for the committee were directed today to ascertain the names of any other witnesses whom Broderick may have neglected to mention in his testimony.

Broderick and State Representative Robert E. Wilson were the only witnesses before the committee yesterday. The records of Wilson's safe deposit box in the First National bank building, when submitted to the committee, showed that Wilson rented the box July 31, 1909.

St. Louis Meeting.

Senator Jones and Attorney Marble questioned the witness regarding telegrams sent to the legislators who met Wilson at the Southern hotel in St. Louis. One of these telegrams was addressed to Former Representative Charles A. White, asking the latter to meet Wilson in St. Louis at the time of the so-called bathroom episode. The telegram was dated July 14, 1909. The meeting in St. Louis occurred July 16, 1909. Wilson testified that he could not remember sending any such message to White.

"Then you disclaim all responsibility for this message to White?" asked Senator Jones.

"Yes."

"Now, isn't it a fact that this trip to St. Louis was arranged by Lee O'Neil Browne and that Browne sent the telegrams to those who were to meet you?" asked Attorney Marble.

"No, that's false," quickly replied Wilson.

"Well, then, didn't Mike Giblin, Browne's secretary, send those messages and arrange for these details of that meeting at the Southern hotel?"

"No, he did not."

Identified Letter.

Wilson identified a letter sent by him to H. J. C. Beckmeyer dated June 26, 1909.

Senator Kenyon asked the witness if it wasn't true the letter was written in 1910 and dated back after the White expose had occurred.

"No, that is not true," replied Wilson.

jury to try the case of James B. McNamara, indicted for murders resulting from the explosion of the Times building, still is a matter of weeks, definite progress had been made when court opened today toward defining the issues, principal and collateral, along which the battle will be fought.

After having concluded its examination for cause among eleven of the twelve talesmen in the box, reserving still, with the court's permission, the right to interrogate further H. Y. Quackenbush "about matters yet being investigated," the defense had emphasized by three challenges for cause that it would consider as hostile talesmen who not only were prejudiced against labor unions and their methods of operation, but those who firmly believe dynamite destroyed the Times building.

State Opposes Gas Theory.

The court is not expected to render its decision on these challenges until the state has had its opportunity to examine talesmen for cause. The prosecution therefore continued today its examination of T. W. Adams, and it was apparent by the line of questions, too, that the state deemed it essential that no talesman should serve who said a gas explosion caused the Times disaster.

The state, furthermore, in its examination of Adams, has revealed that it will consider unacceptable those talesmen in whose minds Socialistic views are imbedded, and who have been reading those Socialist newspapers or periodicals which champion the cause of the McNamaras, depicting it as a class struggle.

Is Up to Judge.

On top of the opposing theories of counsel as to how far a fixed opinion on the cause of the explosion affects a talesman's ability to give both sides a fair and impartial trial, are two sections of the penal code traversing an even wider field. While one section would disqualify a man for having a fixed opinion on issues involved, another section declares a talesman eligible if his opinions are based only on reading public prints, if he can set them aside.

On Judge Walter Bordwell, therefore, devolves the task of ruling on these distinctions in saying whether challenges for cause entered by the defense against George W. McKee, Otto A. Jessen and E. J. Showers shall be allowed. McKee and Jessen are against unions, and believe dynamite caused the explosion, while Showers believes dynamite placed through the instrumentality of labor unions was the cause.

May Hasten or Delay.

A ruling on these points will go far towards hastening or delaying the work of getting a jury, for if opposition to labor unions is held to be irrelevant to the case, or if opinions holding dynamite as the cause and based upon newspaper reading are considered as not affecting a talesman's ability to be impartial, the task of securing a jury, it is expected, will be accomplished in a short time. But if the contrary is held, many disqualifications are likely, for, judging by the talesmen thus far examined, it is thought many more talesmen will be encountered who have formed opinions as a result of reading in the newspapers and magazines.

Against T. W. Adams, who admitted yesterday that by reading the Appeal to Reason, a Socialist paper, he had formed the opinion that gas caused the explosion, the prosecution prepared early today to direct more questions to determine whether he would be a prejudiced juror. Adams, early in his examination, said that while he had an opinion on the cause of the explosion, he had never discussed it even with his neighbors.

Talk With Neighbor.

The state has confronted him with a statement by B. F. Bond, a neighbor of Adams, in which Adams is alleged to have outlined in a conversation the reasons why dynamite could not have caused the explosion, arguing that no big holes were found in the cellar of the building and furnishing other details to defend his theory that gas wrecked the structure.

While declaring that he did not remember discussing the subject with Bond, Adams admitted he often talked with Bond, that the statement as read by G. Ray Horton, deputy district attorney, represented his views at the time the alleged conversation took place, and constitutes his opinion of the subject at present.

The state has decided that it will not be necessary to bring Bond as a witness to impeach Adams, holding that the information is solely for the court to have to enable it to decide on the competency of a talesman.

This was the point the examination reached when court opened today. It was expected that during the day a challenge for cause would be lodged by the state against Adams or that a peremptory challenge later would be evoked against him.

Funeral Witnesses Barred.

That any one who attended the joint funeral of the Times victims, where sixteen coffins lay across the stage of a local theater, and heard the oration made on that occasion by Rev. Robert J. (Bob) Burdette, pastor emeritus of the Temple Baptist church, was not and cannot be a fair and impartial juror, was the position taken today by counsel for the defense.

It was announced that where it can be learned that a venireman sat through the services over the mangled remains of the victims of the fearful explosion and holocaust, during which scores of women shrieked and fainted under the stress of emotional feelings induced by the grim scene presented, and by the eloquence of the speakers, he will be challenged for cause.

Murderer Gets Off Easily.

Washburn, Wis., Oct. 20.—John Beureguard, once convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to life in state prison, escaped with a three-year sentence when he pleaded guilty to the charge of manslaughter in the third degree before the circuit court here.

next game. It is believed, however, that Bender, the Indian, will go in for the local team, and it is not improbable that Mathewson will pitch for New York. Methewson has made the statement that Ames probably would go in, but since the big fellow has had an additional day's rest, it is thought that McGraw will send him back against the Americans, and hold Marquard in reserve for the fifth game in New York. It is argued that Marquard has shown form equal to that of Mathewson, and with a home crowd to cheer him on he will do even better than he did in this city last Monday.

TAFT BACK IN WYOMING

news of the massacre of the Custer troops. Mr. Taft shook hands with him as he passed.

Supplemental Tour.

He will spend Nov. 1 at Morgantown, W. Va., and from there will got to Hot Springs, Va., for five days. He will spend only one day at Cincinnati, Nov. 7, when he will vote at the local elections.

From Cincinnati the president will go to Louisville, Ky., to spend Nov. 8. He will be at Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 9 and Hodgenville, Ky., to attend the Lincoln farm banquet Nov. 10. On Nov. 11 Mr. Taft will pay hurried visits to Nashville, Tenn., Suwannee, Tenn., to visit the University of the South, where Maj. Archibald Butt once went to school, and to Chattanooga, from where he will go to Washington.

Through Montana Snow.

Yesterday the president traveled across the state of Montana, his train at times running through fields of snow. The temperature at Butte yesterday morning was below freezing.

The president's welcome to Montana was non-partisan, but cordial. Governor Norris, a Democrat, and Senator Dixon, a Republican, were among the guests aboard the presidential train. Senator Meyers, a Democrat, sent a telegram of greeting.

The day was not entirely devoid of politics, for T. Arthur Marlow, the Republican committeeman for the state, Representative Pray and several other Republican leaders boarded the president's train and were in conference with Mr. Taft and Secretary Hilles. One subject discussed was a successor to Federal Judge Carl Rasch, who recently resigned. There are several candidates, but Mr. Taft did not indicate whom he favored.

Judge Rasch was appointed to the district court more than a year following his defense of Former Secretary Ballinger before the congressional investigation committee.

Talked on Arbitration.

President Taft made two addresses in Butte, one at a breakfast tendered him by the newspaper writers and a second at a theater. Peace was his theme at the latter place, and following his address, Senator Dixon announced that he was in favor of early ratification of the arbitration treaties between Great Britain and France. In several of his speeches the president referred feelingly to the recent death of Former Senator Thomas H. Carter of this state.

officers had been waiting outside of the Edmonds' home in Brookline for an opportunity to make the arrest.

No attention was paid during the night to the police attempts to gain admission to the house. The officers had no warrant for the pastor's arrest, and for a time the occupants of the house paid no attention to repeated rings on the doorbell, but finally someone disconnected the wires. Later the telephone also was disconnected.

Realizing that there apparently was no prospect of seeing the minister before daybreak, Deputy Superintendent William B. Watts of the Boston police department and Chief Inspector Joseph Dugan of the bureau of criminal investigation placed their men about the house in such a manner as to cut off every avenue of escape. After that the police waited until shortly before 8 o'clock, when Mr. Richeson was taken into custody.

To Be Married Oct. 31.

A day or two before Miss Linnell's death, cards were issued for the wedding of Mr. Richeson and Miss Violet Edmonds, which was set for Tuesday, Oct. 31.

Mr. Richeson went to the Edmonds home last Sunday night, almost immediately after he had been informed of the sudden death of Avis Linnell, who, it was said, was his fiancee.

From Sunday night until yesterday afternoon the minister denied himself to all callers and to every plea for a statement as to his relations with Miss Linnell.

The police of Boston last night discovered clews which they had long sought, and which led them to take summary action. Police Chief Dugan and Deputy Supt. Watts, at 1 o'clock presented themselves before the Edmonds home, which was completely surrounded by police.

Know Who Bought Poison.

"We have found out who purchased cyanide of potassium; we know when it was purchased and where, and we are going into that house to ask Mr. Richeson if he purchased the deadly drug and at the place in question. If he denies it he will come out as my prisoner and be charged with murder," said Deputy Supt. Watts to the newspaper men.

All night long the officers waited outside the house, as the occupants refused to open the door, and without a warrant the officers could not enter by force.

At daybreak evidences of life inside the house were observed. An hour and a half later Chief Dugan saw a maid at a kitchen window and asked her to say to Mr. Edmonds "that there are officers out here and that they want to speak with him; tell him that we don't want to break down the door, but that we must see him and shall wait here until he lets us in."

Admitted the Officers.

In a few minutes the maid motioned to the officers to go around to the front door. The door was opened, and Chief Dugan Deputy Watts, Sergeant Rutherford and Stenographer Hucker entered the house.

A few minutes later Watts signalled to the newspapermen that an arrest had been made.

Fifteen minutes later Chief Dugan and Deputy Watts issued from the house with Richeson walking between them. The minister stopped an instant on the threshold of the mansion to adjust his black fedora hat, then calmly, without sign or trace of emotion or worry, he walked easily down the path to the street.

Expelled From College.

Liberty, Mo., Oct. 20.—Rev. C. V. T. Richeson for several years was a student at William Jewell college here and was expelled in 1906, in his senior year, when he was detected cheating in his examinations. While in college he figured in one sensational incident when he refused to leave the home of a young woman who is said to have jilted him, until 2 o'clock in the morning. The matter was hushed up to prevent notoriety.

Missing Child Drowned.

Manitowoc, Oct. 20.—Floyd, the 9-year-old son of Mrs. Henrietta Smith of this city was found drowned here. He had been missing for ten days. The police officials for miles around conducted a thorough search and among other theories advanced by some of them was that of kidnaping. The boy's mother, however, scouted it from the beginning.

MILLIONS IN REAL ESTATE

Astor Holdings in New York City Have Value of $150,000,000.

Seven Hundred Parcels in the Choicest Parts of the City.

New York, Oct. 20.—The New York Times has obtained an authoritative statement of the realty holdings of the Astor estate in this city. It shows that the total assessed valuation of the property on Manhattan island owned by Col. John Jacob Astor, his cousin, William Waldorf Astor of England, and the estate of William Astor, the father of the present John Jacob, in which various members of the family hold interests, is $107,959,300. The Astor estate therefore is New York's largest taxpayer by a wide margin.

Of this enormous amount of realty scattered all over the city, William Waldorf Astor is the greatest holder, his possessions being assessed at $50,290,000. John Jacob Astor pays taxes according to the present tax records, on $41,202,800, while the holdings of the William Astor estate are assessed at $16,466,500.

Despite the increased assessments in recent years, it is safe to say that the entire Astor holdings are not taxed on much more than 60 per cent of what the holdings would bring at private or public sale, so that the marketable value of this $107,000,000 worth of property would doubtless reach $150,000,000.

These figures and a complete list of the holdings of the immediate Astor family have never before been made public. Beyond a few well-known holdings, such as large hotels, some office buildings and the private residences, the general public has had little definite knowledge of the extent or taxable value of the Astor estate.

700 Separate Parcels.

The list as now prepared shows nearly 700 parcels of real estate, much of it in the choicest parts of the city. It is difficult to say at first glance which is the more surprising, the magnitude and value of the holdings or the wide distribution of the properties. Every section of the city is represented, and in nearly every section a large part of the best properties bear the imprint, as it were, of the Astor name.

The Fifth avenue holdings are enormously valuable, so are the Broadway portions, many of the latter being in the Times Square district, where values have jumped miraculously within the last few years. Then there are blocks in the best apartment house district on the West side, and the East side tenement house area contains whole rows of houses from which a steady income flows into the Astor coffers.

The Waldorf-Astoria hotel stands out as the most valuable single piece of property held by the Astors on the tax books. The Thirty-fourth street half, owned by John Jacob Astor, is assessed at $8,360,000, while the Thirty-third street half, owned by William Waldorf, and which has just been transferred in trust for his son, Waldorf, is valued at $5,350,000, or a total of more than $13,000,000. The Hotel Astor, in Times Square, is assessed at $4,050,000.

The founder of the Astor fortune has been dead but sixty-three years, and the $20,000,000 which it was estimated he left has increased to many times that amount.

The figures from the tax books represent but a portion of the real Astor fortune. No estimate is made of the large holdings of the affiliated members of the family, the Chanlers, Van Alens, Jays, Draytons, Kanes, Langdons, Delanos, and others who inherited from time to time valuable portions of the old Astor estate.

The enormous growth of the estate is due in great measure to the marvelous growth of New York, and its business and residential expansion, which almost over night has made portions of the city hitherto deemed of little value worth millions.

How the First Astor Bought.

The first John Jacob Astor accumulated with wisdom and at a time when the city was in the infancy of its development. He bought large farms, on the East side, in the Greenwich district, and in Harlem. He was able to hold on to them, and what was worth a few hundred dollars an acre then is now valued at thousands for a city lot. The original John Jacob is said to have had a penchant for purchasing farms, and some of his friends, it is said, used to laugh at him for throwing away so much money on posture land far from the actual city limits. When he began accumulating New York real estate a story is told which illustrates the reason and method of his financial success. He sold a lot near Wall Street for $8,000, and the buyer, thinking he had a bargain, told Astor so. "Yes," replied Astor, "but while your lot is going up to the 12,000-dollar mark I can buy eighty lots above Canal street with the $8,000, and by that time they will be worth $50,000."

John Jacob Astor arrived in the city from Germany in 1784 without a cent in his pocket. His brother Henry, a substantial butcher on the East side, gave him some assistance. It was not long before Astor was embarked in the fur trade, and the great success he made led him, about 1800, to turn to New York real estate as the best opportunity for making more money.

He was always ready to loan money on good real estate security, and in the War of 1812 he reaped a harvest, as many of the mortgages were not paid and Astor acquired scores of valuable parcels at foreclosure for what would now be regarded as absurdly low prices. It is said that at one period he was the complainant in sixty different suits. This was the way in which he acquired about two-thirds of the valuable estate of Gov. Clinton in Greenwich village. For $75,000 he bought half of the estate and later lent money on about half of the remainder The debt was not paid and Astor got the land. A large portion of this old Greenwich estate is still owned by the Astors.

The leasehold on the Trinity Corporation farm that Astor bought from Aaron Burr in 1804 proved a regular mint for the Astor purse. Burr had leased about sixty acres on the old King's farm from Trinity, and when he fell in disrepute after the duel with Hamilton he was glad to turn it over to Astor, who paid about $60,000 for the lease, which ran until 1866. For every year up to that time all that Trinity got out of the property was a few hundred dollars on the original lease, while, with the increasing population, Mr. Astor, before he died, was making several hundred thousand of dollars a year.

From $20,000 to $8,000,000.

Most of the East side possessions of the Astor estate come from the old Samler farm, which John Jacob bought from John Samler and his wife Catherine for about $20,000 soon after 1800. It is now worth about $8,000,000.

The Broadway properties on which the Knickerbocker and Astor hotels stand were acquired from the Medcef Eden and the Cozine farms.

The Eden farm extended from the old Bloomingdale road, now Broadway, from Forty-second to Forty-sixth street, in a diagonal line, and west to the Hudson. Medcef Eden got into financial difficulties. Astor bought a one-third interest in the property, and finally bought in the whole farm for $25,000.

Just above this was the Cozine farm, extending from Fifty-third to Fifty-sixth street and from Broadway to the river. John Cozine inherited it in 1809, but for years it was tied up in the courts with judgments and mortgages. Astor held the mortgage at the critical time, and he bought in this valuable piece for about $23,000. The marketable value of the properties comprised in these two farms today would probably be between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000. A large part of the old Cozine farm is now owned by the Chanler heirs.

The Waldorf-Astoria hotel and all of the near-by Thirty-fourth street and Fifth avenue property once comprised the old Thompson farm. Half of the estate was bought by John Jacob's son, William B. Astor, in 1826 for $26,000, and when one lot in Fifth avenue, near Thirty-fourth street, was sold for $1,200 in 1841 it was regarded as a ridiculous price.

Mr. Astor also bought early in life a 13-acre farm overlooking Hell Gate, and there he had a handsome country residence near Eighty-eighth street and Second avenue, where the greater part of his closing days were spent and where Washington Irving lived while writing "Astoria," which related Astor's experiences in starting the fur business in the Far West.

William Waldorf Astor, writing a few years ago in the Pall Mall Magazine of the investments of the first John Jacob, says:

"These purchases were made with such judgment in the line of approaching expansion as frequently to be sold again after a few years for double or treble what he paid for them. One of these farms purchased in 1811 for $900 is now worth, with its improvements, $1,400,000."

EXPERIENCES OF AN ADVENTURESS

Further Proof That a Fresh Sucker Is Born Every Minute.

London, Oct. 20.—Any one who wants a plot for a sensational novel or play can find it in the report of the trial at the London sessions of Mrs. Ethel Campbell who was sentenced to seven months' imprisonment for obtaining $750 by false pretenses from some people whose acquaintance she made on a voyage from New Zealand to London. The story not only proves that the day of the adventuress isn't over yet, but it also furnished fresh evidence of the truth of the American confidence man's adage that a fresh sucker is born every minute.

Mrs. Campbell is only 23 years old, but she has managed to crowd a lot of experience into her life. It didn't all come out at the trial.

She was the daughter of a respectable auctioneer in a London suburb, who made a good living, but didn't leave much behind him for his children. When he died a few years ago his daughter Ethel's share of the estate was $300, a gold locket and chain and a gold bracelet. She also inherited about $5,000, from an uncle, but she soon ran through this money and in 1905 she was charged with stealing a purse from a house in which she was staying, but as it was a first offense she got off with a lecture. In 1906 she got off again, being bound over for stealing a registered letter containing bank notes.

After that she went to Australia, where she married a steamship purser. He couldn't keep his wife out of trouble, for in 1908 she was sent to prison for two months in New Zealand for obtaining money by fraud.

Finally, she tired of the Antipodes and announced to her husband that she had come into a big estate in England and that they must go home and claim it. He believed her and got the money together for the voyage. On shipboard they met a family named Foote, to whom she announced that she was the only child of the late Sir Richard Hunter, formerly lord chief justice of England, and that she was going to claim his estate, which produced an income of $2,500 a week. She also said that she owned a number of race horses which were being trained for her by Horatio Bottomley, a famous sporting member of parliament. Apparently, it never occurred to her shipboard friends to doubt her statements, for a glance at any reference book would have shown them that there never was a lord chief justice named Hunter.

As soon as the Footes were settled in London Mrs. Campbell called on them in a motor-car which she said she had bought for $4,000. Really she had obtained it on approval. She took them down to Brighton and on the way pointed out a magnificent country house which she said was hers. The next morning she came to their room at the Brighton hotel where they were staying as her guests apparently in great distress and announced that she had been robbed. To prove it she took them to her room and showed them boxes broken open and empty jewel cases lying about. Of course a little loan was imperative and she got a check for $750. She even had the effrontery to report the "robbery" to the police and give them a list of the "stolen" articles.

The Footes didn't suspect anything, however, until a week or two later when they noticed that Mrs. Campbell was wearing a piece of jewelry which she had listed among the stolen goods. When they drew her attention to this she owned up quite frankly and when the police were called in she admitted that there never had been any robbery.

Another of Mrs. Campbell's victims was the second officer on the ship she came home in. She persuaded him to give up his job and engaged him to act as her husband's secretary. He got his salary for three weeks and now he is looking for another job.

Have Beautiful Hair; Dry Shampoo Method.

The beauty editors of many of the prominent ladies' journals are advocating the use of the "dry shampoo" in preference to any and all methods for beautifying the hair. It is claimed that this method is superior to washing the hair and creates a clean, lustrous, wavy head of hair in a short time. No matter how dull and lifeless the hair, the following dry shampoo will soon work wonders if regularly used: With 6 ounces of powdered orris root, mix 2 ounces of antiseptic vilane powder. Keep in a tight jar or box and at night apply a tablespoonful, distributing it through the hair with the fingers. In the morning use comb and brush to remove, and all excess oil, dirt, dandruff, etc., will be removed with it. Men and women both use it with the utmost satisfaction. Obtain the ingredients of any well stocked druggist.

SNAKE WAS THREE CENTURIES OLD

When He Rattled He Could Be Heard a Mile Away.

Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 20.—The Arizona Democrat says: All rattlesnake records have been smashed to smithereens. Joseph Sponselor, who lives at the saw mill on the White Mountain Indian reservation, recently killed a snake with 103 rattles, which was as big around as his leg above the knee. Sponselor heard the snake rattle three-quarters of a mile away from his house and followed the noise until he discovered its source.

News of the killing of this Brobdignagian serpent was received here today in a letter from Mrs. Loretta Hanson of Mesa to her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Standage. Mrs. Hanson is spending the summer on the reservation and heard of the occurance through Sponselor.

One evening Sponselor heard a peculiar whirling noise which he could not identify. Taking his shotgun, he went out to investigate. He walked three-quarters of a mile before he found where the noise came from. A monstrous snake was angrily shaking a string of rattles more than a foot long.

Sponselor did not wait to find what the snake was rattling about, but blazed away. When the huge serpent was dead he approached and immediately was struck by the great number of rattles. Counting, he found 103.

The snake was so large and it had so many rattles that it was taken to the trading post and preserved in alcohol. It is still there, the wonder of all who see it. All agree that they have never heard of such a snake.

Old-timers in Phoenix, who were told this morning of the White mountain rattler, were naturally a little skeptical. If the snake really has 103 rattles, they say it exceeds all records. Vernon Clark says that he heard of one with forty-two rattles. Twenty is an unusually high number, found only upon the oldest and largest snakes.

Mrs. Hanson said in her letter that the rattle Sponselor killed must be over 300 years old. Evidently those believe in the White mountains that a snake grows only one rattle in three years. There is a common belief that the rattlesnake grows one a year, but experts say that this is a mistake. Often a snake will grow several rattles in a season, and when the string gets long some are frequently worn off or lost through accident.

STORMS MAKE APPLES DEAR

Large Numbers Blown From Trees in Orchards in the East.

Valencia Oranges Scarcer—Wax Beans Now Imported From Florida.

Firmness in the apple market is the main development of the produce trade since a week ago. This was due in large measure to recent storms in the East, from which section most of the apples now on the Duluth market are coming. Apples were blown off the trees in immense numbers and rendered unfit for shipping. It is not unlikely that there will be a further advance in the near future. Apples, however, remain the principal feature of the local produce market. They are still plentiful and of fine quality.

A new kind of apple, which has just arrived on the market, is the Colorado Jonathan, which comes in boxes. These are much finer apples than the Jonathans which come in barrels.

Valencia oranges are getting scarcer and have gone up 50 cents a box since a week ago. The California supply of Valencias is running very low. Moreover, there has been an increased Eastern demand for oranges, and this has helped to boost the price. Oranges are likely to remain high and to go higher until the navels arrive. This will be about the middle of November.

* * *

Malaga grapes from Spain are a new feature on the market. The California Malagas are gone. The Spanish Malagas are more expensive, not because they are better, but because they will keep better. They came in kegs, in which they are packed in cork.

There are very few peaches left and what there are will soon be gone. The last shipment received were from Washington state.

There are still a few Italian blue plums. These are from Washington and Idaho.

Tokay grapes are higher. These come from California, where an unusual amount of rain has stopped the shipments and made the market firmer.

There are no more home-grown wax beans. The home-grown were selling at $1.70 a bushel. The Floridas are bringing $2.50 a box, each box containing something less than a bushel.

GAVE UP MONEY UNDER THREATS

Wealthy St. Louisian Bought Silence of Woman for $30,000.

St. Louis, Oct. 20.—George F. Snodgrass, wealthy president of the Clearfield Realty & Investment company, who has been sued in the federal court by Mrs. Minnie A. Anderson of Chicago to recover money alleged to be due her in a real estate transaction, has filed an answer in which he alleges that Mrs. Anderson by threats obtained from him, since 1905, cash and valuable presents to the amount of $30,000, and that she demanded $15,000 additional on pain of causing him domestic trouble and exposure.

Snodgrass says he gave her the money to keep her silent. Mrs. Anderson says Snodgrass owed her several thousand dollars from a realty transaction.

Snodgrass, in his answer to the petition, declares Mrs. Anderson never was the owner of the property mentioned in her petition, but lived therein merely as a tenant of the Clearfield Realty & Investment company. He also alleges he first met her in August, 1902, when, he says, she claimed to be the wife of a man named Weston and that she was then 30 years old.

Through the acquaintance thus formed, the answer alleges, she received from him at various times between January, 1903, and January, 1911, large sums of money and valuable presents, including $25,000 cash.

"This woman has obtained money from me for years," said Snodgrass tonight. "I have paid the woman thousands of dollars, and have made her valuable presents and still she demands more. But it has come to a point where I've decided that my only course is to fight her demands openly. I've concluded if I don't do this I'll have her on my shoulders the remainder of my life." Snodgrass has two sons. He is 52 years old.

WILSON WILL NOT RESIGN

Secretary Makes Emphatic Denial of Washington Rumor.

Michigan Baptists and Iowa Presbyterians Attack Him.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, who reached here late yesterday from Chicago, denied rumors to the effect that he had handed his resignation to President Taft to take effect Nov. 15 or as soon thereafter as suitable.

"There is absolutely no justification for the 'rumor,'" he declared emphatically. "I have no thought of handing in my resignation any time soon."

The secretary visibly was annoyed by the rumor and immediately took steps to discover who had started it. The report was so circumstantial that it was published in the evening papers, although complete ignorance of the matter was expressed by the cabinet officers and officials of the department of agriculture. The fact that Secretary Wilson was on his way here from Chicago complicated the situation, but promptly on his arrival he entered a vigorous denial of the report.

Denied by Taft.

Livingston, Mont., Oct. 20.—When informed on his arrival here of the rumors that Secretary of Agriculture Wilson had tendered his resignation, President Taft announced that the reports were without foundation.

Want Him Dismissed.

Adrian, Mich., Oct. 20.—Michigan Baptists want President Taft to remove from office Secretary of Agriculture Wilson because of his appearance at the brewers' convention at Chicago. The annual state convention of that denomination adopted a resolution to that effect, and forwarded it yesterday to S. E. Nicholson, secretary of the Anti-Saloon league at Washington, for presentation to the president.

Resolution of Regret.

Burlington, Iowa, Oct. 20.—The committee on temperance of the Presbyterian synod of Iowa in session here, subbmitted among other resolutions one regretting that Secretary of Agriculture Wilson should recognize the brewing interests so conspicuously as to act as honorary president of the convention now held in Chicago. The ministerial relief committee reported the total receipts of last year at $259,225, being an increase of $20,183 over the previous year.

HEIRESS IS BORN TO THE GOULD-DREXEL FORTUNE.

New York, Oct. 20. — A daughter was born on Wednesday to Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., who was Miss Marjorie Gould.

The baby, heiress to a fortune of at least $30,000,000, is the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould and will be named Edith Kingdon Drexel after its grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. Gould were elated when they greeted the wee heiress, who was born in the splendid house at 1015 Fifth avenue which Mr. Gould presented to his daughter as a wedding gift. When the news of the new arrival went abroad in society messages of congratulation poured into the Drexel mansion.

The marriage of Miss Marjorie Gould to Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., took place on April 19, 1910. It was regarded as a tie between the vast banking interests of the Drexels and the industrial interests of the Goulds.

SEEK TO LEVY TAX ON RAILWAY TERMINALS.

Davenport, Ia., Oct. 20.—The League of Iowa Municipalities at its session here decided to appoint a committee of three which is to have complete charge of the prosecution of the suit brought some time ago by the secretary, Frank G. Pierce of Marshalltown, against the executive council, compelling the executive council to levy taxes on all railroad terminal and station property in the cities now exempt from taxation.

Mr. Pierce, in his report to the league claimed that the state law provides for the levy.

PARDON TO BE SOUGHT

Patrick Will Appeal to Governor Dix for Full Pardon.

Professes to Believe He Will Be Free By Christmas.

New York, Oct. 20.—Albert T. Patrick, who is serving a life sentence at Sing Sing for the murder of William M. Rice, is about to make what he terms his "final appeal" for liberty. Instead of having his case heard by the court of appeals at this term, he will go to Governor Dix. Patrick says he believes the governor will grant him a pardon when all the facts are made known to him.

George Francis O'Neill of 5 Beekman street, the medico-legal expert and personal counsel for Patrick, visited him in Sing Sing last week, and they agreed on a postponement of the court of appeals hearing until the November term.

Patrick said to his counsel that he expects to be with his family, outside of prison, by Christmas.

Mr. O'Neill, when seen at his office, said:

"I will in a short time make an appeal to Governor Dix to release Patrick, and I am sure the governor will do so, thus doing justice to this man, whom I think the most abused and maligned man of the century. That being the case, it will not be necessary to appeal to the court of appeals.

"As a medico-legal expert I have made a study of the whole testimony, especially the medical testimony upon which Patrick was convicted. I have always held that the testimony offered at the trial was the poorest kind of medico-legal testimony, and in this Prof. John H. Larkin, adjunct professor of pathology in Columbia university and expert in the employ of the coroner's office, agrees with me. He said that the testimony from a medical standpoint at the Patrick trial was a disgrace to the medical profession.

Contrary Testimony.

"The attack by Dr. Larkin on the theory that formed a great part of the basis for the conviction of Patrick was made after an autopsy on the body of Giovanni Ferrari, an old wine seller, who was found dead some time ago in a cellar uptown. Ferrari was killed by chloroform, and Prof. Larkin cites the condition of the victim's lungs to prove the medico-legal evidence offered as to the effect of chloroform on the lungs at the Patrick trial was wrong and contrary to the facts revealed in the Ferrari autopsy.

"In the testimony given at the Patrick trial it was declared that in cases of death by chloroform coextensive congestion of the lungs resulted. That this testimony is absolutely contrary to fact is proved, asserts Dr. Larkin, by the condition of Ferrari's lungs, in which large areas free from congestion were found.

The autopsy on Rice's body revealed a congestion extending throughout his lungs. This, according to expert testimony in the case, indicated that Mr. Rice had died from chloroform, and bore out the statement made by Valet Jones that this anaesthetic had been administered.

"After the autopsy on Ferrari by Dr. Larkin and Coroners' Physicians P. F. O'Hanlon and Timothy Lehane they all declared that the testimony offered at Patrick's trial had been proved faulty. On the occasion of this autopsy Dr. Larkin is reported to have said:

Poorest Kind of Evidence.

"'I have always held that the testimony offered at Patrick's trial was the poorest kind of medico-legal evidence; it was a disgrace to the medical profession. It was founded on a theory that does not hold water. That this is true is proved by the present case, in which death clearly resulted from chloroform. Here we found none of the coextensive congestion which was found in the lungs of Rice. Parts of the lungs, and large parts were normal.

"'Mr. Rice's body had been embalmed, and embalming causes congestion. Congestion may result from other causes also, and it is impossible to determine definitely just what cause is responsible for many cases of congestion of the lungs.

"'I have always held that the conviction on the testimony offered concerning this phase of the case was an outrage, and the best experts will deny that the evidence was correct.'

"Such is the unsolicited testimony of an expert," said Mr. O'Neill. "The cause of the differences of opinoin concerning the effects of the anaesthetic on the lungs is the fact that few cases of chloroform deaths are the subject of post mortem examination. Men learned in the medical profession have long agreed that the testimony in the Patrick case was entirely wrong."

Many other new points shattering the medico-legal testimony of the first trial will be introduced by Mr. O'Neill during his argument before Governor Dix, but he refused to discuss them at this time.

Asked if Patrick would welcome the finding of Valet Jones and his brother, upon whose testimony he was convicted, Mr. O'Neill said:

"I am endeavoring now to put matters in such shape that I may hunt the Joneses."

Loosens Tight Coughs.

Home-Made Cough Syrup.

Here is the cheapest and most powerfully effective cough cure known to medical science. Buy of your druggist (or have him order it from the wholesaler), two and one-half ounce of essence mentho-laxene. In the package is full directions for making a splendid laxative, curative cough syrup. This amount makes a full pint at a saving of from $2 to $3 as compared with ordinary labeled cough syrups, and it is really better to cure because it rids the system of the cold and cough by its laxative action.

It is no trouble to make, just buy the mentho-laxene and make a syrup according to directions accompanying. This is the formula:

Essence mentho-laxene..2½ Ozs.
Granulated sugar syrup.13½ Ozs.

Directions tell how to prepare the syrup at home. It is certainly a blessing for old people and loosens the tightest cough in an hour, while children like to take it, and it prevents pneumonia, fever and other complications by its tonic and laxative action; fine for any throat or lung trouble, and you can actually feel it working and penetrating the tissues of throat and lungs with its curative properties.

"LARK" IN STEALING BOAT

For Honeymoon Trip Costs Man a Year's Liberty.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 20. — Elton Longmere is a name with a romantic ring to it, and the possession of it told a romantic story about his nomadic honeymoon in the wilds of British Columbia with his beautiful young bride before Judge McInnes in Vancouver, B. C., in pleading guilty to a charge of stealing a motor boat.

Longmere, who told the judge his home was in Dayton, Ohio, from which city he had come less than a year ago, fell in love with a Vancouver girl and they went on a gypsy honeymoon on Nelson island. He said he stole the motor boat for a lark and made a trip in it on the Frazier river with his girl-wife, from whose arms he was torn by the heartless police.

The Vancouver courts look on such larks much differently than do courts on this side of the line, so the Ohioan was sentenced to jail for one year. The parting between the bride and groom of two weeks in court was touching.

SNAKE CHOKES CHILD INTO INSENSIBILITY.

New Philadelphia, Ohio, Oct. 20.—A blacksnake five feet long, coiled several times around her neck, nearly killed Lillian Porcher, aged 8, of Port Washington, near here, while she was at play during recess at school.

The child was choked unconscious and is in a critical condition. A teacher pulled the snake from the child's neck and killed it.

The little girl and a companion were playing in a building in the school yard when the snake dropped from the rafters and coiled around her neck. She tried to dash the reptile to the ground but it gripped tightly and she fell struggling.

The other child danced up and down in horror and screamed at the top of her voice. This attracted the teacher. When the latter entered the building the Porcher child, black in the face, was unconscious. The teacher seized the snake by the neck and unwinding it, whipped it to pieces against a wall.

EARNINGS IN BUSTLE.

Result of Trying to Find Money of a Recluse.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Believing that Charles Cardinal, a recluse, who committed suicide last summer, left $10,000 hidden somewhere about his old home near Amenia, neighbors have almost destroyed the house in their search for the money. A complaint has been made to the authorities here and the searchers will be warned away.

Cardinal, who was 60 years old, cut his throat with a razor on July 4. His suicide, friends say, was due to disappointment in love. A relative from Connecticut has been appointed administrator of the estate, but he has not been able to get any trace of the old man's money. The chimney of the old home has been pulled down, floors pried up, walls and ceiling torn out, and the house is now practically a wreck.

Deneen Hurt Again.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 20.—Governor Charles S. Deneen, recovering from a broken leg, slipped while coming down the state house steps last night, and the injured leg was wrenched. The incident will delay his recovery somewhat, physicians announced.

NEW ERA FOR UNIVERSITY

Dr. John Walker Powell Says Future Growth Will Be Intensive.

Inauguration of President Vincent Most Impressive in Its History.

"The inauguration of Dr. George Edwin Vincent as president of the University of Minnesota was one of the most impressive events in the educational history of the West," said Dr. John Walker Powell, who returned today after representing the alumni on the inauguration program.

"Indeed a representative of Yale remarked that only once has anything to compare with it been seen in the country—the Yale Bi-Centennial. Forty college and university presidents, as well as representatives of a hundred other colleges, universities and learned societies, sat upon the platform or took part in the exercises. The academic procession, more than a quarter of a mile in length, consisting of the faculties of the university and the learned dignitaries in cap and gown, with the purple, crimson, blue, green, and white hoods of their various degrees, was an impressive sight.

"The most dramatic moment of the day was when President Emeritus Northrop, beloved of all, in a voice choked with emotion greeted his successor as a personal friend in whom he had the highest confidence and for whose success he entertained the greatest hopes, and the two men clasped hands in the presence of the vast audience, who cheered them to the echo.

"President Vincent's inaugural address was a masterly exposition of the ideals of a modern university and its relation to the life of the commonwealth. He paid an eloquent tribute to his predecessor, recalling Emerson's dictum that every institution is the lengthening shadow of a great personality. Through all the coming years, said he, the University of Minnesota will be the lengthening shadow of Cyrus Northrop.

First "Prexy."

"Dr. William W. Folwell, the university's first president, was not forgotten. His presentation of greetings from the faculty, of which he has been a member for more than forty years, touched every heart, and brought him a rousing ovation. It takes a truly great man to yield the reins of government of any institution and work loyally and zealously under one's successor. This is what Dr. Folwell did in 1884. The university owes more than most men realize to his breadth of vision in the beginning. He talked in millions when everyone else thought in tens and hundreds, and to his influence in no small degree does the institution owe its present almost inexhaustible endowment. Dr. Folwell holds a place in the hearts of the alumni second only to that of President Northrop, and it was a great joy to do him honor on this occasion.

"Another matter of great interest was the presence on the platform of Bishop John H. Vincent of the Methodist church, father of the new president.

Torchlight Procession.

"The torchlight procession of alumni and students on Tuesday evening was a sight never to be forgotten. Nearly 7,000 men and women were in line. The myriad lights weaving to and fro were as the columns countermarched, were wonderfully beautiful. After the alumni entered the grandstand on Northrop field, where thousands of citizens were already seated, the undergraduates passed in review before them. Then the young ladies of the gymnasium classes performed evolutions with Japanese lanterns. When these in turn had entered the grand stand, the cadet corps went through a series of evolutions with their torches, ending by spelling out Dr. Vincent's name in lines of light upon the field. The evening closed with an exhibition of fireworks, ending with a set piece presenting the portraits of the three presidents of the university, Drs. Folwell, Northrop and Vincent. The occasion was an enjoyable one to every alumnus, for many old friendships were renewed. Every class from the beginning of the university was represented, with the exception of the two earliest, '73, which numbered originally but two, one of whom survives but was not able to be present, and '74, which has been entirely obliterated by death. One member of the class of '75 was present, two of '76, and the later classes by increasing numbers. The college songs and class yells warmed the heart of every grad., and the whole occasion could not fail to quicken the college spirit in all who participated.

Marks New Era.

"Taken altogether, the inaugural exercises will serve to dignify the university in the eyes of the people of the state and of the nation at large in a way that can scarcely be measured. Few of our citizens realize the possibilities of this great institution, or the duty which we owe to it and to the man whom we have called to guide its destinies. The inauguration of President Vincent marks a new era. The past twenty years have been a period of extremely rapid physical growth. Students have multiplied by hundreds and provision has been necessary to care for them. Dozens of new buildings have been erected, at great cost. The faculty numbers nearly as many as did the students at the beginning of this period.

"The era upon which the institution is now entering will be one of intensive rather than extensive growth. President Vincent is qualified in an unusual degree to guide the university through such a time. His quick and accurate judgment, his frank and kindly spirit, his open-minded readiness to see all sides of a question, cannot fail to draw all his colleagues closer together, while his plea for 'team-play' appeals to every one as manifest common sense. At the same time his rare ability as a public speaker and his inexhaustible energy will enable him to bring the institution before the people of the state and to keep in touch with them in a most beneficial way. With it all, he is an educator of wide experience and of the most progressive ideals, and the university under his leadership should become one of the great educational forces of America."

CLEANED UP.

Chicago News: "I have brought back your cook book, Mrs. Wagstaff," said Mrs. Cumback, "and now, if you are not using it I'd like to borrow your vacuum cleaner for a day or two, so I can clean up our house a little without attracting my husband's attention. I've always cleaned our house from top to bottom in the old fashioned way, but my husband says if I ever do it again he'll get a divorce. He flies into a passion if he sees the house torn up the least bit and he made himself so ridiculous last spring and humiliated me so much that I'm really afraid to start house cleaning.

"He had warned me several times that he wouldn't have any more house cleaning, but I never thought he was in earnest and at the usual time I hired a woman and we went to work. We began carrying things out of the house and spreading them on the lawn or hanging them on the line. Mr. Cumback happened to come home just as we got started and he went across the street and hired old Timberlake to help him and the two of them began carrying out of the barn.

"Our barn has been used for a storehouse for years and it's full of worthless old junk, and those silly men began carrying all that truck out and making the greatest fuss you ever saw. They brought out an old rusty cook stove that we used when we were first married and Mr. Cumback began painting it green with red stripes, while Timberlake was hanging some moldy horse blankets on the line. The neighbors were all standing around and laughing. I told Mr. Cumback he ought to be ashamed to be such a goose, but he just looked at me in that severe way he has when he is doing something foolish and reprimanded me so that everybody on the block could hear.

"'Let the neighbors indulge in their ribald mirth,' said he. 'One of the first lessons taught me by my sainted parents and my beloved Sunday school teacher was that the barn should be thoroughly cleaned every spring. A clean barn is the hallmark of respectability. If my neighbors haven't sufficient pride and selfrespect to keep their barns tidy, that's no reason why I should neglect my duty.'

"Just then the woman began beating a rug that was hanging on the line, and my husband brought the cow out of the stable and tied her to a tree and began thumping her with a piece of rubber hose till the poor beast bawled. I was so angry that I could have cried, for the Crumps and all the neighbors were bent double laughing. I begged my husband not make a fool of himself any longer, but he merely lectured me in a way that made my blood boil.

"'Unless a cow is thoroughly groomed,' he said, 'you can't expect her to give liberal returns for her feed. I have had some correspondence with Governor Hoard and other eminent dairymen on this very point, and they all insist a cow needs celaning far more than a rug does.'

"All this time that crazy Timberlake was carrying bales of hay out of the barn and piling them on the grass and dusting them carefully, and if a stranger had passed he'd have thought the place was a lunatic asylum. Then my woman went on a strike, saying she wouldn't stay there to be laughed at, for she was a respectable and refined person with a reputation to keep up. I just sat down on the well curb and cried harder than I ever did since I was 9 years old.

"Mr. Cumback sat down beside me and said he was ready to compromise. If I would agree to quit my house cleaning foolishness, as he called it, he would carry the stuff into the house and put it where it belonged. If I persisted in my work he and Timberlake would take that old barn to pieces and put it together again and furnish entertainment for the whole town.

"What could I do? I had to give in. Now my only chance of giving our house a cleaning is to do it on the sly, a little at a time. So if you will lend me your vacuum cleaner you will be doing me a great kindness. And at the same time I'd like to borrow your new egg beater, as mine is out of order."

THE GYPSY'S RIGHT TO STEAL.

Gypsy Lore: The Basque gypsies' variant of the Egyptian legend is worth quoting: "During the flight into Egypt, Joseph, exhausted by the rapidity of the march as well as by the weight of the Child Jesus, intrusted him to a traveler who was following the same route.

The obliging traveler, however, to satisfy his rapacious instincts, stripped the child and returned him almost naked to Joseph. Jesus rebuked the thief gently, but in consideration of the service he had just received granted to him and his descendant the right to take five sous at a time for an object of equivalent value. The simultaneously obliging and thievish traveler was an ancestor of whom, it appears, the modern gypsies boast."

ELIMINATE PRECINCTS

Voting Machines Would Reduce the Number of Voting Divisions.

Manufacturers Claim Annual Saving Would Pay for Machines.

The installation of voting machines in the city would eliminate fourteen election precincts in Duluth, according to the calculations of those who have been investigating the subject at the city hall.

The city now has forty-three precincts and the saving which would be made in this manner would be considerable, amounting to from $3,000 to $3,500 a year. In recent elections there has been some complaint that part of the precincts were getting too large and that some changes would be necessary. Under the law precincts equipped with voting machines could have up to 600 voters. As the polls are now open until 9 o'clock in the evening for all elections, primary and general, all would have an opportunity to do their share towards electing the officials. And when the polls are closed the returns could be canvassed in an hour, as the number of votes for each candidate is recorded by the machine. All that would be necessary would be to copy the figures.

The company having the sale of the machines is willing to make the city what it claims is a very good proposition, giving easy terms. The firm will agree to give the city ten years in which to pay for the machines. They are sold at $650 each, and for twenty-nine precincts they would cost a total of $18,850. For them the city could issue ten bonds of $1,885 each and bearing interest at 4½ per cent per annum.

In this way the city would be paying for the machines with the saving which would be made through their use and each payment would be less than the amount saved in this manner, it is claimed. Averaged up the annual interest charge would be $466.54. The saving would come in the reduction of the number of election precincts and the consequent reduction in the number of the election officials and the saving in the time of canvassing the vote. Under the present system this takes many hours, for all of which the officials are paid. The figures for the costs of the election have been taken from the reports of the city comptroller.

The council committee, consisting of one alderman from each ward, which was appointed to investigate the voting machine proposition, has looked over the situation thoroughly. All of them expressed themselves as satisfied that the purchase of the voting machines would be a good thing for the city, and it is expected that the committee will so report to the council next Monday night.

CHILDREN HOLD FAIR

Pupils of St. Louis County Schools Have Exhibit of Produce.

Only Winners of Local Contests Eligible for Duluth Show.

The best of the vegetables grown in the county by boys and girls of the rural schools are on exhibition today in County Superintendent of Schools N. A. Young's office on the ground floor of the courthouse.

The entrants are those who have taken either first or second prizes at the contests recently held at the school houses throughout the county under the auspices of the county superintendent and the Duluth Commercial club.

In order to stimulate interest in the raising of vegetables the Commercial club last spring furnished the seed. The contests at the different school houses and the present one are the results of the giving of free seed by the Commercial club.

Eager interest has been taken by the children of the county in the contests and some of the exhibits are fully as good as were the samples shown in the St. Louis county exhibit at the Minnesota State fair.

The exhibition is public and every one is invited to attend.

The boxes containing the produce began to come in yesterday and Assistant Superintendent Ink is busy arranging the vegetables on long tables for public inspection. The exhibit was thrown open to the public this afternoon.

Tomorrow afternoon the vegetables will be scored and the winners announced. Cash prizes are to be given the winners.

Bread is included in the contest and many girls from different parts of the county have examples of their art on exhibition. Some of the loaves are a little the worse for travel but for the most part they arrived in fairly good shape.

The prize winners in the present contest will have their exhibits sent to Minneapolis for the state exhibition which takes place on Oct. 26 to 28. Prizes are offered for the best corn, clover, bread, dairy products, potatoes, onions, beets, carrots and other produce.

The Entrants.

The entrants in the present contest are:

Floodwood—Harold Wilder and Werner Swen, corn; Gusta Belden and Otto Yaker, early potatoes; Arthur Jurvelin, late potatoes; Lincoln Kespohl and Lempi Ylitala, table beets; Tilda Valtonen and Gladys Chaunard, carrots; Annie Kattenen and Willie Mustenan, rutabagas; John Raihata and Raymond Wolfe, cabbage; Margaret Moore and Harold Wilder, pumpkins; Olive Paquette and Clara Casey, bread.

Adolph—Francis Gulbranson and Edgar Wentzleff, corn; Carl Hall and Francis Gulbranson, early potatoes; Edgar Wentzloff and Alder Nordstrom, late potatoes; Albert Schilling and Victor Boehl, cabbage; Rose Miller and August Anderson, pumpkins; Ruth Rose and Jennie Boehl, bread.

Arnold—Mabel Ostby and Ida Carlson, corn; Hilda Gustafson, early potatoes; Harold Holmerud and Ida Carlson, beets; Clarence Holmerud, cabbage; Olive Kenny and Olga Larson, pumpkins; Maude Voulter and Mabel Holmerud, bread.

Feet So Sore Couldn't Walk Down Stairs—

TIZ Cured Her Quick

If you have sore feet, tired feet, sweaty feet, lame feet, tender feet, smelly feet, corns, callouses or bunions, read what happened to Mrs. Crockett, of Jeffersonville. TIZ DID IT. Mr. Crockett says: "After the second treatment she walked downstairs one foot at a time. She had not been able to walk downstairs before in past five years, except by stepping down on each step with one foot at a time. This is remarkable. Send five more boxes.

No matter what ails your feet or what under heaven you have used without getting relief, just use TIZ. It's different. It acts right off. It cures sore feet to stay cured. It's the only foot remedy ever made which acts on the principle of drawing out all the poisonous exudations which cause sore feet. Powders and other remedies merely clog up the pores. TIZ cleans them out and keeps them clean. You will feel better the first time it's used. Use it a week and you can forget you ever had sore feet. There is nothing on earth that can compare with it. TIZ is for sale at all druggists, 25c per box, or direct, if you wish, from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

THRASHING IS DELAYED

Latter Part of October Finds Red River Valley Work Behind.

Fortunately Unthrashed Grain Is Stacked, Which Will Prevent Loss.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.—With from 20 to 25 per cent of the thrashing yet to be done, the weather damp and the last of October approaching, there is considerable anxiety regarding thrashing the balance of the crop. Most of the grain that is unthrashed is safe from the elements, being in stack.

In Eastern Polk county, Red Lake and Pennington counties, all of Roseau and a good share of Marshall and Kittson counties the grain is all stacked. There is less plowing done than last year by 50 per cent at this time, but just about the average amount for this season of the year. Last year practically all the land was plowed except what was left for summer following on spring plowing.

There was a considerable amount of very early plowing done this fall, and on this plan a very large acreage of winter rye was sown. There was also the largest acreage of rye ever sown in this section on stubble land.

Stubble to Catch Snow.

The stubble will catch the snow giving the rye good protection during the winter, and there has been sufficient rain to start it well. Where the land is in good shape seeding on stubble is considered all right, but on run down land rye is sown. This stubble-sown rye decreases the acreage to be plowed to a considerable extent.

CO-OPERATION WILL BENEFIT FARMING

Business Men, Educators and Farmers Must Work to That End.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 20.—After two days spent in the discussion of methods to improve agricultural conditions in the Northwest, the first conference of the committees on agricultural development and education of the state bankers' associations of ten states came to a close here last night. A permanent organization was formed which will hold conferences annually.

Joseph Chapman of Minneapolis was elected president and Charles Frost of Minneapolis, secretary. The president will name as an executive committee a representative from each state represented at the conference and this committee will select the meeting place for next year.

The keynote of the conference was that the only way in which agricultural conditions in the Northwest can be improved is by intelligent co-operation by the business men, the educators and the farmers.

E. G. Holden, superintendent of the Ames, Iowa, Agricultural college, during an address yesterday, urged a more practical education, both for the youth and the mature man. He told of the excellent results achieved in Iowa by the testing of seed corn, and commended Minnesota for the strides it had taken in promoting agricultural education.

Generation's Greatest Work.

"The movement," he said, "to increase the efficiency of the farmer is the greatest one of the generation. If any man ever needed a diploma to practice any profession, it is the farmer."

The bankers received with enthusiasm Prof. Holden's recommendation that each county have a superintendent of agriculture.

A. D. Wilson, in charge of the farmers' institute work at the Minnesota state agricultural farm, told of the work being accomplished in this line. The bankers were urged to assist the state in spreading the principles of scientific farming.

Addresses along the same line were given by Dean A. F. Woods and C. G. Schulz, superintendent of public instruction.

STANNARD'S DEATH RELATED IN COURT

Maid Formerly Employed By Mrs. Stannard Tells About Stannard Dying.

Ontonagon, Mich., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sensational testimony given yesterday by Miss Grace Hammes, aged 17, and good-looking, formerly employed as a maid by Mrs. Laura Stannard, who is on trial here for causing her husband's death by strychnine poisoning, is being attacked by the defense today.

As court opened this morning Attorney O'Brien for the defense started a grilling cross-examination of the pretty maid in the attempt to remove from the minds of the jury some of the damaging allegations the witness made yesterday on her direct examination.

Again today the courtroom was crowded. The accused, accompanied by her two young daughters, closely followed the attempt of counsel to break down the testimony of the state's chief witness.

"Let the Damn Fool Cry."

Miss Hammes during her direct testimony yesterday telling of Mrs. Stannard's action when told her husband was sick, nervous and crying said:

"When I told Mrs. Stannard that her husband was crying,' said the witness, 'she replied: 'Let the damn fool cry.'"

"When I told her the man was awfully sick and wanted somebody to go for the doctor, she said that his son Alvah, 17 years old, could go for the physician if he wanted to. Alvah went into his father's room and Mrs. Stannard said: "Alvah, I want you to go for the doctor.'

"Alvah went to the barn. When he returned to his father's room, Mrs. Stannard asked him if he hadn't gone for the doctor.

"What was his reply," asked Attorney W. A. Burrett for the prosecution, but counsel for the defense objected and the question was withdrawn.

"What did he say about dying?" asked Attorney Burrett.

"He said he would not live long," replied the girl.

Describing Stannard's condition, she said:

"The muscles of his arms and legs were jumping and he was lying on his back and vomiting. He would straighten out and rest on his head and shoulders and his heels.

Stannard Feared Poison.

"When I went downstairs I saw Mrs. Stannard in the kitchen. Mrs. Goard came and Mrs. Stannard went with her to Mr. Stannard's room. When I next went to the room, Mrs. Stannard and Mrs. Goard were there. Mr. Stannard was in a convulsion. Mr. Stannard asked for a drink of water, but when Mrs. Stannard handed it to him, he said: 'Hell, I don't want it, it's poisoned.' Mrs. Goard then got Mr. Stannard a drink and he took it. The doctor came about half past eleven.

"At half past four when I next saw Mr. Stannard he was dead."

"Where did you get the coffee you gave Mr. Stannard for breakfast?"

"Mrs. Stannard had put the cup in the warming oven."

"What was in the cup?"

"Milk."

"How full did you find it?"

"Right to the top. When Mr. Stannard gave the cup back to me it had been emptied down to a quarter of an inch of the top."

HE RIFLES LETTERS FOR SCHOOL MONEY

Staples Young Man, Employed in Postoffice, Gets Into Trouble.

Mankato, Minn., Oct. 20.—After being shadowed here for two days by Postoffice Inspectors Egge and Beaty, Earl Arundel, a student at one of the local business colleges, was arrested by the inspectors on the charge of rifling registered letters at Staples, Minn., while he was employed in the postoffice at that town last summer.

After being placed under arrest Arundel was taken before United States Court Commissioner Benjamin Taylor and given his hearing. When confronted with the theft of money from registered letters Arundel admitted his guilt, and stated that he had taken in the neighborhood of $275. This amount he handed back to the inspectors.

Arundel's Plan of Robbery.

Arundel's plan was to open a registered letter and remove part of the money and then seal up the package and send it on to its destination. For instance, if $10 had been sent, Arundel would open the letter, remove $5, change the wording of the letter to correspond with the amount he had left, and then seal up the package.

When the number of kicks became increasing in number the inspectors got busy.

In court Arundel stated that he took the money in a weak moment to help him through school. In default of $1,000 bonds Arundel was taken in charge by Deputy United States Marshal George Wells, who took the prisoner to the Todd county jail at Long Prairie, where he will be confined to await his trial.

Previous to this, it is said, that Arundel, who is 21 years of age, was a model young man.

TOO ARDENT LOVER BEING RESTRAINED

Denied Privilege of Marrying Girl, Makes Threat, Causing Arrest.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fred Battenberg is spending ten days in jail here to cool his ardent love for Miss Julia Barrette, aged 15, and his threats to wreak vengeance upon her family for refusing the two the privilege of wedding.

It is said that when Mrs. Barrette refused to hear of her young daughter marrying Battenberg the latter threatened to shoot the whole Barrette family and kill himself.

He was arrested and given ten days in jail to cool off, but vowed vengeance when he got out and another warrant was sworn out and if he shows any signs of carrying out his threats he will be sent to jail for a longer period.

AMERICAN SUFFRAGETTES ORGANIZED IN MILWAUKEE.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 20.—The American Suffragettes is the name of a new organization which was launched here yesterday and its first step in Wisconsin is to "bust the trusts," as explained by Miss Mary Swain Wagner, an Eastern suffragette, who has been working several months in Wisconsin in the interest of woman suffrage.

Miss Wagner was elected president of the new organization: Miss Josephine Kulzick, first vice president and Miss Martha C. Helde, secretary.

"The American suffragettes," said Miss Wagner, "will adopt all progressive and aggressive methods. We shall have charge of the lectures of Mrs. Pankhurst in Milwaukee and other cities in Wisconsin and hope to set the pace for a lively campaign."

THIEF RIVER FALLS WINS COURT ACTION

Former Health Officer Who Sued for Wages Cannot Recover.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Watts yesterday decided for the defendant in the case of Dr. Visaunet against the city of Thief River Falls. The suit was brought to collect $204 for services as city health officer, but it developed that the law upon which the mayor had appointed Visaunet had been repealed in 1901 and no city ordinance had ever been passed providing for the appointment of a city health officer. Thus, though the services had been performed, it was all work of charity.

ROBBED OF CASH; SHOVED FROM CAR

Argyle, Minn., Box Car Tourist Gets Tough North Dakota Deal.

Ardoch, N. D., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Robbed of his cash and shoved from the top of a boxcar while the train was moving at the rate of about twenty miles an hour, Victor Gordhammer of Argyle, Minn., escaped with his life although he was seriously injured.

Gordhammer had boarded the train at Grafton late at night, and was seated on top of one of the cars when two men approached him. They covered him with a big revolver, and Gordhammer was compelled to surrender about $90 in cash. Then, to save themselves from arrest, they shoved their victim off of the train when they saw the train crew members approaching.

DULUTH WOMAN'S SISTER IS DEAD

Mrs. J. W. Whitesides, Wife of Ironwood, Mich., Physician, Is Called.

Ironwood, Mich., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. J. W. Whitesides, wife of Dr. J. W. Whitesides of the Oliver Iron Mining company hospital, passed away at the family apartments at the hospital yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Whitesides' condition has been considered serious for some time and every means was used to keep her alive. She has suffered with heart trouble for several years. A specialist from Chicago was called here about two weeks ago, but nothing could be done to save her. Mrs. Whitesides leaves a father and mother at Bessemer, Mr. and Mrs. Fouinier, and a sister, Mrs. Croze of Duluth.

Dr. and Mrs. Whitesides came to Ironwood from Bessemer about five years ago, Dr. Whitesides being the head doctor of the Oliver Mining company here.

The body will be taken to Elizabeth, Ill., for burial, the old home of Dr. Whitesides.

MINING MAN FALLS, WRENCHING HIS BACK.

Cuyuna, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—While at the Kennedy mine of the Rogers, Brown Ore Co., inspecting a lower level with Chester D. Tripp, the general manager, and Capt. Anderson, the superintendent, H. J. Kruse stumbled into a raise used for ventilating purposes and fell twenty feet in the darkness, wreching his back and spraining his ankle.

PEMBINA COUNTY TEACHERS MEETING.

St. Thomas, N. D., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Pembina County School Teachers' association has fixed upon Nov. 17 and 18 as the dates for the annual meeting here. The executive committee of the organization is composed of County Supt. Burley, Supt. J. Stolliker of Drayton and Supt. A. J. Mustain of this city.

Valuable Item For Men.

Health and strength hitherto unknown will be felt surging in rich red blood through the arteries and veins and life's greatest ambitions may be realized as never before, if the following special treatment is followed by those men, and women, too, who are stricken with that most dreaded of all afflictions, nervous exhaustion, accompanied with such symptoms as extreme nervousness, insomnia, cold extremities, melancholia, headaches, constipation and dyspepsia, kidney trouble, dreadful dreams of direful disasters, timidity in venturing and a general inability to act naturally at all times as other people do. Lack of poise and equilibrium in men is a constant source of embarrassment even when the public least suspects it. For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full, bounding health and all the happiness accompanying it, the following home treatment is given. It contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs whatever. Mix it at home and no one will be the wiser as to your affliction.

The treatment is simple, thorough and correct. Leading druggists supply the main tinctures, extracts and essences in one-ounce bottles, ready to mix. Get three ounces syrup sarsaparilla compound, mix with one ounce compound fluid balmwort, and stand two hours. Add one ounce compound essence cardiol, and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom), Shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at bedtime.

The ingredients are used for various prescriptions.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Menominee—Peter Magnussen and William Bresnahan, two young men who hired a rig from a livery and cleared out after an accident in which the carriage was badly damaged, have satisfied the claims of the liverymen and returned to Menominee.

Escanaba—The Escanaba Pulp & Paper company has been organized here with a capital stock of $50,000. The incorporators are W. S. King, P. L. Utley and J. J. Cleary. The new company will take over from the Escanaba Traction company the control of the pulp mill now being built on the Escanaba river.

Marquette—Edward J. McCarthy, formerly of Marquette has resigned his position with the auditor general's department at Lansing to accept a position as state manager of the casualty department of the Southern Surety company of St. Louis, Mo., with headquarters in Detroit.

Negaunee—Robert J. Wise, general secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, and Messrs. Clarke and Warmkessel, member of the high school faculty, started the class work for foreigners in Negaunee Tuesday evening. It opened with fifty students, including four or five foreign born girls.

Marquette—Charles Irich of Sidnaw, shot a white buck deer about one and three-fourth miles southwest of that village Wednesday. The animal was pure white with the exception of a few gray spots on the neck. It had six points on each horn and weighed about 200 pounds.

Calumet—Mrs. Nicholas Rautio, aged 22, died at her home at No. 4 location, Wolverine, Wednesday, after an illness of two weeks of typhoid fever. The deceased was born in this city and was extensively known in Calumet. A husband and two children, the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christian Dyni, and several brothers and sisters survive.

Hancock—The Mohawk fire department has abandoned its plan to hold a hammer and drill tournament for Keweenaw miners, and until 1912 supremacy among the several towns of the county will remain undecided.

Laurium — Thomas McGoey, the Grand Forks aviator, who has made a number of successful flights in the past two or three months, will make two flights at the Laurium Driving park Sunday afternoon. The first will take place at 2 o'clock and the second at 5 o'clock. McGoey and his manager have already arrived in this city.

Hancock—The little 15-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Domatrovich of Franklin was seriously burned about the arms, shoulders and neck by companions. Youngsters were striking matches when the Domatrovich child joined them. His playmates accidentally touched a match to his skirts and the child rushed into the house, a sheet of flame.

Houghton—Margaret, the 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brunette, Jr., of Hurontown, died Wednesday of bronchitis. The funeral took place Thursday afternoon from the home, Rev. W. G. Prout of the Hurontown Methodist Episcopal church performing the ceremony. Interment was at Forest Hill.

Calumet—Miss Irene Farnham of Laurium has just been elected president of the junior class of the literary department of Northwestern university, one of the largest universities in the country in point of attendance. Her election is considered a signal honor. Miss Farnham is a graduate of the Calumet high school of the class of 1908.

Ishpeming—Miss Elizabeth Dwyer of this city and Alfred Baker of Escanaba were united in marriage Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock at St. Paul's church, the Rev. Mr. La Mott reading the marriage service in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the bride and groom.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Minot, N. D.—Drew H. Lord, aged 67, formerly a member of the firm of Lord & Horton, contractors, and director in the Second National bank, died at his old home in Northfield, Minn., last Wednesday. Mr. Lord succumbed to an attack of heart failure.

Grand Forks, N. D.—As evidence of what is being done in the way of fire drills in the local schools the Central school was cleared of pupils in a drill Wednesday morning in just fifty seconds.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—A thrilling rescue is reported from the northern boundary of the Rosebud Indian reservation, by which a father saved the life of his son by shooting and killing a runaway horse.

Grand Forks—While at work on a pole on International avenue Jerry Cronan, a lineman for the Red River Power company, was severely burned on both hands and had a narrow escape from serious injury or death.

Minot, N. D.—The license fee for pool and billiard halls has been reduced to one-third of the present charge by the city commissioners. Previously the pool and billiard halls paid a license fee monthly of $5 for the first table and $2 for each succeeding table. This fee will now be charged quarterly instead of monthly.

Elgin, N. D.—Sunday was an important day with the local congregation of Congregationalists. A meeting was held in the Northern Pacific depot, which was procured for the occasion and steps taken to perfect an organization.

Aberdeen, S. D.—Walter Stillson, the 3-year-old son of Rev. Mr. Stillson, instructor in the Plain View academy of the Seventh Day Adventist settlement, one and one-half miles south of Redfield, was run over Tuesday by a Northwestern passenger train. The left arm was severed just below the shoulder and the left side was crushed in. His condition is very critical.

Fargo, N. D.—While in the country Tuesday afternoon, two miles north of the A. C. Chief Bowers and Detective Overby of the local police department came upon a red fox. Both men took a shot at the animal and succeeded in bringing him down. The animal was skinned and the fur is in elegant condition.

Jamestown, N. D.—Railroad men state that business on the Jamestown and Northern branch was never better in the history of the road than at present. This is both for freight and passenger traffic. There are numerous extra freights each day and long trains of empties are sent north from Jamestown to handle the increased grain and other traffic that come from the line and various branches.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Cambridge—Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Sandstrom, resident of Isanti township for thirty-two years, passed the fiftieth milestone of their married life on the 13th, and a surprise party was given in their honor that afternoon at their home southwest of the village.

Fergus Falls—Jason T. Kidder has received notice of the death of his uncle, Melvin Brotherton, which occurred in the state of New York Oct. 6. Mr. Brotherton was a sailor on the Great Lakes in early life and later a successful farmer. He is the last save one of a family of eleven children.

Cambridge—The resignation of Miss Mabelle Lawson from the Northwestern telephone office will take effect Nov. 1 next. Miss Ivy Wallin of East Cambridge will take her place. Miss Lawson will move to St. Paul with her parents.

Crookston—The funeral of Z. J. Boucher, the Great Northern engineer of this city who was killed in an accident between Neche and Portage la Prairie Tuesday, was held this morning at 10 o'clock from St. Anne's church, Father Tapin officiating.

Aitkin—Richard Frederickson, son of John Frederickson of Thor, died in a Brainerd hospital Oct. 13 from blood poisoning. He was a young man of 21 years and was working at carpenter work. He had a sore lip, and in holding his mouth full of nails while lathing, contracted blood poisoning. He lived but four or five days after he was taken sick. The funeral was held at Thor Monday.

Rochester—Herman Ludwig, aged 27, a carpenter, was instantly killed, and Julius Wolters, aged 43, also a carpenter, was seriously injured on Tuesday afternoon when a rafter on which they were standing on the partially completed barn on the farm of Ed Straw, near St. Charles, suddenly snapped.

Mankato—Blue earth county farmers have received nearly $2,250,000 for milk sold to their local creameries in the last six years, according to figures compiled by the state dairy and food department.

Brainerd—The Brainerd opera house will soon be resplendent with electric lights placed at the entrance to the theater. Above the door will be an arch composed of eleven lights, and at each side of the portal will be a cluster of ten lights, making thirty-one electric lights blazing at the entrance doors.

Mankato—The grand jury reported two indictments on Tuesday, one against J. N. McGinley, who is accused of manslaughter in the first degree for the killing of Quinn, and John Drexel, who is charged with forgery and grand larceny committed, so it is alleged, at Barnesville.

Little Falls—The Farmers' & Merchants' State bank of Royalton has filed articles of incorporation in the register of deeds' office. The new bank, with a capital of $15,000, which will open on Nov. 1, will occupy the rooms formerly used by the State bank of Royalton. The board of directors is composed of: A. R. Davidson, J. K. Martin, R. K. Carnes, J. H. Russell and A. A. Fitch. The officers of the bank are: President, A. R. Davidson; vice president, J. K. Martin; cashier, A. A. Fitch.

St. Cloud—The Princess Theater Circuit company of this city has closed a deal whereby it becomes the owner of the Grand theater at Brainerd. The deal was closed at Brainerd Tuesday by President Frank E. Nemice of the Princess Theater Circuit company. The company now owns three houses, the one at St. Cloud, the one at Little Falls and the latest acquisition at Brainerd.

Faribault—Herman Kalk, a farmer living near here, assaulted William Beech, striking him over the head with a shotgun. The victim of the assault was brought to the hospital here and may not recover. Kalk was arrested and held in default of bail to await the result of an operation on his victim.

Winona—Harris B. Gary, 89 years old, a pioneer railroad man of this section and one of the best known Masons in Minnesota, is dead at Marshall. In 1854 he came to Minnesota and settled at Winona, joining the Masonic lodge a few years later. He was an engineer on three different roads in Minnesota.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Ashland—The report of A. M. Katon, superintendent of the Ashland county poor farm, shows that there were seventeen male inmates at the poorhouse in September.

Hudson—F. J. Carr was elected president of the Bank of Hudson to succeed the late Harold L. North, deceased. Mr. Carr has been cashier of the bank since May, 1899.

Madison—Senator J. S. Donald, Mount Horeb, Republican candidate for secretary of state, has filed an expense account of $9.82 covering items from Oct. 2 to 14.

Fond du Lac—The increase in the valuation of the water plant since Feb. 1, 1910, will be decided by the state railroad commission at a hearing to be held in Madison Nov. 17. The valuation of the plant one year ago was $320,000, but the terms of the sale to the city provide that the commission must fix the increase in price since that time. Upon the conclusion of the Madison hearing the city will take over the plant.

Madison—Walter Wellman, now at the home of his brother here, says that he will retire from ballooning and active monoplane work to engage in business in New York.

Grand Rapids—Isaac P. Witter, president of the Bank of Grand Rapids, while horseback riding was thrown from his horse. His collar bone was fractured.

Manitowoc—Mayor Stolze has been asked by the council to appoint himself a member of the water works board and may accept. The council previously refused to confirm the appointment of Martin Gorgenson, Socialist. Other members are Democratic and Republican.

Madison—Over 1,500 cadets will make up the University of Wisconsin corps of cadets, the largest regiment ever enrolled at this institution. Capt. Olin H. Ball, Thirteenth United States cavalry, is the new commandant. Weekly talks on military topics are a feature of the commandant's work. An engineering detachment is the latest addition to the university regiment. A hospital and signal corps is included.

Marinette—A. C. Templeton, former president of the Templeton-Harrett company, who was accused by the Farmers' Merchants bank with having obtained money on false pretenses, was found not guilty in the circuit court, and discharged.

Manitowoc—Manitowoc will get no aid from the government for its harbor. Further, no harbor of refuge will be established here unless the city undertakes the project itself. Refusal of the city's petitions for government assistance to maintain the harbor and for a harbor of refuge is based upon the fact that the government has at a great cost created a commodious and adequate harbor here.

HILL WILLING TO CONCLUDE ORE COMPACT

Great Northern Chairman Says Steel Trust Plan Suits Him.

Declines to Tell What Will Be Done After Deal Ends.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—James J. Hill, chairman of the Great Northern railway directorate, made it plain today that if the United States Steel corporation wants to cancel its lease of the Great Northern Ore property in Minnesota it is welcome to do so.

On his return from Washington today he was asked:

"Do you think that the United States Steel corporation can afford to let up on the Great Northern properties, after the big sums spent by it in developing them?"

"If they can afford to do so, we certainly can," he replied. "Now, I don't want to talk about it," he added. "If the Steel corporation wants to cancel its lease, that's its privilege. The ore is there—the stuff to make steel of."

"What will you do if the lease is cancelled? Will you operate the mines and sell the ore in the open market?" he was asked.

"We are not going to cross any bridges until we come to the river. We are not going to say what we are going to do," he replied with a twinkle in his eyes. Then, as he turned to his desk he added as an afterthought:

"Outside of our properties, the Steel corporation has not enough ore to run it for twenty-five years."

THE SPORT.

Chicago News: "I know what you are and what you're here for before you say a word," cried Mrs. Griggs, contemplating the sad eyed man at the door. "You're another of those broken down sports and you've been asking Mr. Griggs for assistance and he has sent you out here to whitewash the lawn or turn the well upside down, or something equally foolish, and then he'll give you a meal ticket. My husband is too good hearted and because he is silly over sport all the has beens run to him for help."

"You do me an injustice, ma'am," said the sad eyed man, reproachfully. "I am neither a has been nor a broken down sport. It is true that I am temporarily embarrassed as an outcome of my erroneous belief that Wolgast would lose in the recent little session out in California, but misfortunes of that kind are likely to overtake the best of men and they do not relegate them to the has been class."

"You certainly have a fine collection of large words. You might be a teacher in a university. What is your business?"

"Until recently I was instructor in modern history in a Western college. My position seemed secure and I was looking forward to a long career of usefulness and commensurate emolument, but upon a most unfortunate day I engaged in an argument with the president of the institution touching the relative merits of Johnson and Jeffries. He contended, with the fatuous bigotry of an essentially narrow minded man, that Johnson is the greatest fighter of any age, while I exhausted all my resources of logic and eloquence to convince him that Jeffries, at his best, was in a class by himself.

"I still cling to the theory that had these two men met a few years earlier, before Jeffries softened his tissues by idleness and the consumption of deteriorating beverages, the result would have been a vindication of the white race. This patriotic attitude of mine cost me my position. The president of the college was a man of hot temper and in the course of the argument he smote me on the nose and I felt it due to my manhood to chastise him. I recall, with pride that may be pardonable, that it took all the members of the faculty to pry me off him. He had strong influence behind him and he so worked upon the trustees that they called upon me for my resignation."

"I don't blame them a bit," declared Mrs. Griggs. "It served you right. The idea of a professor in a college arguing such foolish things! But you men are all the same. Mr. Griggs is the mildest and best tempered man in the world, and wouldn't hurt a stray cat, and yet when there's a prize fight anywhere he comes home with an armload of newspapers and reads every line about the disgraceful affair, and if the result of the fight doesn't suit him he acts as though bees had stung him. But what did he send you out here to do? To paint the wheelbarrow or wash the dog?"

"He said he had a single harness that needed oiling badly, and informed me that you would show me where it is."

"That's just like him! We haven't had a horse for two years, and never expect to buy one, and I don't see what good it will do to oil that old harness that's falling to pieces in the barn! How much did he promise to pay you?"

"He said he had several jobs for me, and when I have attended to them he will buy me a ticket to Tulsa. I am extremely anxious to reach that town as soon as possible, so that I may form a true estimate of the prowess of Morris, who is matched to fight Flynn on July 4. The popular opinion seems to be that Morris is greatly overestimated by his friends, and while I am inclined to that view myself, I have learned that hasty judgments are—"

"Oh, for goodness' sake," exclaimed Mrs. Griggs, "let me show you that harness!"

MECHANICAL LIGHTNING CALCULATOR.

London Globe: The clerical staffs of many of the big insurance companies have of late years been considerably reduced by the employment of mechanical calculators.

One of these, the invention of a German, is a compact little affair resembling a music box. It may be made to perform almost instantaneously the most portentous sums in addition, subtraction, multiplication by one or two factors, division, squaring and cubing. It is required, for instance, to multiply 521,975 by 924. The first factor is set by touching little knobs representing 521,975.

To multiply by the other factor you turn a handle four times, push along a slide one place and turn the handle twice, then push the slide another place onward and turn the handle nine times. The long multiplication is now done without the possibility of error so far as the machine is concerned and the dial shows 491,544,900. In the same mechanical way may be done all the other arithmetical processes.

NEWS OF THE WEST END

WILL STAND BY BERNARD

Republicans of Seventh Ward Inclined to Break Party Lines.

Say Democratic Alderman Has Good Record and Should Be Retained.

Although nothing has been done as yet by the Republicans of the West end regarding the coming aldermanic nomination, nearly every one in that vicinity is talking politics, and prospective candidates. No meeting has been announced for the gathering of the voters and the discussion of the candidates. It is expected that a meeting will be held some time next week, when an organization will be perfected and a Republican candidate announced for the general election next spring. A large number of prominent men interviewed deny the report that a meeting is to be held this evening or that any action is to be taken this week.

George M. Peterson, secretary of the Duluth Grocers' association, has been mentioned as a strong Republican candidate, and will probably accept the party nomination if he is the only one indorsed. He will file for the primary election, he said, if he is the only Republican candidate in the field. He does not want to enter a primary contest.

Whether he will receive the support of the entire Republican party in the West end is doubted by a number of the old residents, who say that, despite party affiliations, they will support William Bernard, the present alderman, who is a Democrat. He has secured all the improvements they wanted in the past two years, and they now feel that they are under obligation to him to a certain extent.

"It is no more than right," said S. W. Hill yesterday. "We have secured everything we asked from Mr. Bernard, and it is up to us to stay by him, now that he has announced his intentions of running again. I, as well as many other business men on Superior street, have promised him our support, regardless of party lines, because Mr. Bernard is a good man and we know what he has done for the people of the West end. We plan to tell whatever man goes out on the Republican ticket that he cannot have our support in the coming election. We gave our support to the present alderman when he helped us obtain the improvements we fought for the past two years. He did as we asked him to do, and it is no more than right that he should receive our support in the future."

A large number of Superior street business men feel the same way, and it is generally understood that the coming election will be visibly without party lines. Besides Alderman Bernard who has announced his intention of running for re-election, there will be a Socialist candidate, Edward Blackwood, who has already received the support of his party, and Bert Wheeler, who will be asked to make the run for the Prohibition party in the Seventh ward.

Surprise Party.

Mrs. L. J. Hallquist, 2826 West Huron street, was pleasantly surprised last evening at her home by the members of the Rebecca Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church. She was the recipient of a large electric lamp given by the members of the guild for her good work as president during the past year. Refreshments were served and the evening was spent in music.

MEN'S CLUB BANQUET.

First Dinner of the New Organization Attracts 100 Members.

The first banquet of the Men's Club of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church was held last evening at the church parlors, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. About 100 were present and the banquet was followed by several short talks. W. L. Smithies, Rev. J. A. McGaughey and Rev. Erickson addressed the gathering. J. J. Moe acted as toastmaster during the evening.

The club was started about a month ago and with last night's addition now has sixty active members. The plans of the club are to get the men of the parish together occasionally and talk of the most important issues of the day. Social entertainments are also planned by the members and are to be given alternately with the business meetings. Rev. Erickson is president of the organization.

PASTOR'S WIFE TALKS ON "CHRISTIAN WOMEN."

Mrs. J. J. Daniels gave an interesting talk last evening on "Winsome Christian Women" at the annual bazar of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. The talk was well received by a large audience and was followed by a short musical program. The bazar has been a success throughout the week and has been attended by large crowds every evening.

This evening Rev. J. H. Stenberg of the First Norwegian Lutheran church will speak on "Developing Power of Christianity," and an interesting address is promised. Tomorrow evening Mrs. Henry Nelson will speak on "A Mother's Hope" and will close the bazar as it is the last address for the week.

West End Briefs.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Abrahamson returned yesterday from a short wedding trip to Iron River, Wis., where they visited relatives of the bride for the past two weeks.

Mrs. S. W. Hill, 2215 West Third street, who was taken to the hospital early in the week to undergo an operation, is convalescing rapidly and will return home Monday.

Mrs. C. P. Cunliff, 2008 West Fourth street, is entertaining this week for her mother, Mrs. M. Laughton of Thomson, Minn.

The old store at 1817 West Superior street is being torn down and a large two-story brick building will be built in its place as early as possible.

Miss Emma Aune, 129 North Twenty-fourth avenue west, left for Virginia, yesterday, where she will spend the next week visiting a number of her friends.

Mrs. L. J. Hallquist, 2826 West Huron street, entertained the Rebecca Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church at her home last evening.

Rev. T. C. Hoverstad of Minneapolis addressed the Men's Society of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church at its meeting in the parsonage last evening.

Miss Myrtle Craig, 1812 West Third street, returned home yesterday after spending the past two months with friends and relatives in Seattle and Portland.

Carl Hostem addressed the North Star Lodge, No. 11, at Sloan's hall last evening. He is lecturing under the auspices of the Independent Order of Good Templars in this district and was well received by a large audience. He will speak at Two Harbors tonight.

The Epworth League of the First Swedish M. E. church will give a basket social this evening at the church parlors, Twentieth avenue west and Third street.

ONEOTANS HEAR TALKS

Fesler, Moore and McKnight Carry Campaign to West End.

City Attorney Discusses Municipal Lighting in Carefully Prepared Address.

City Attorney Bert Fesler spoke again last evening on the municipal lighting question, this time addressing the Oneota Improvement club at the Merritt school, Fortieth avenue west and Fifth street. The meeting was attended by about 100 members of the club and the address was followed by a general discussion and short talks by Watson S. Moore and A. G. McKnight.

Before advocating the ownership of a municipal plant, Mr. Fesler first gave a long history of the present Duluth Edison Electric company, showing just how the corporation grew and the methods employed by the officials of the company.

In going into the history of the Duluth Edison company Mr. Fesler claimed that the records of the United States court in Duluth showed that in 1902, when the company was reorganized, "watered stock" to the extent of $476,591.08 was issued. He also claimed that again in 1906, when another reorganization occurred, $959,735.91 of water stock was issued, and gave for his authority certain verified reports of the company on file in the city comptroller's office. He claimed that these two sums, amounting to $1,436,326.89 were half the capitalization of the company.

"Watered Stock."

He then connected up the so-called "watered stock" with the cost of service to the people, by claiming that the reports to the comptroller showed they had charged 3 per cent depreciation on all the "watered stock" as if it represented property of some kind that could depreciate, and entered it as part of the expense of doing the business, and used it to pay dividends with. He claimed that the depreciation charge on the "watered stock," in the two instances given, since it was issued, had amounted to $272,639.52.

The above is what he termed "watering" the capitalization of the electric light company so that the public would not know what the returns of the concern really were. Another set of figures which he said were taken from the comptroller's office showed that the city would have been able to do the same business the Duluth Edison company did last year at an expense to the people of $168,000 less than was charged by the Duluth Edison.

One of the main reasons why the city should put its own plant in was, as he termed it, that "it would get another public service corporation out of politics." He was positive in his assertion that if the city would build its own plant, it would take the electric light business out of politics instead of putting it in, as some people have claimed.

He called attention to the fact that the company had reorganized many times without any change of officers. The name of the firm was even changed, he said, to make the unthinking public believe that the corporation had sold out, but the same officers have been in charge all the time. The plant has been reorganized five times, said the speaker, and the last time with an increase of over $1,250,000 in its capital.

Some Comparisons.

"On Jan. 1 the capitalization of the lighting company was $3,013,717.05, the street railway was $3,300,000, and the combined bond issue of our gas and water departments was $3,350,000," he said. "The electric company is valued the same as the combined gas and water departments or the street car company. All they have is two miles of underground wires, a station valued at $2.,,000 and aerial wires probably worth $1,000 a mile. Now, figure how the street car tracks are laid, the large barns and street cars. Then you can realize where a corporation has been making money on the public. The gas and water departments have pipes through the rocks all over the city, have large reservoirs and stations. It is ridiculous that we should pay interest on a plant that is equal to our street railway company or the combined gas and water departments. The interest on the $272,000 which was 'watered' was out of your pockets, and is to be saved for you if a municipal plant is built. If we should have the same business they have had last year and receive the same income, we would have the same amount left with an excess of $168,000, which is equal to 66 per cent of the amount necessary to do business. The city would have no use for an income as large as that, and would either make numerous extensions or reduce the rates for the following year. The city would save besides the large depreciation charges, enormous salaries paid to the officials of the Edison company. We would hire a competent man to manage the department as well as a private company can, and run it just the same way, without necessitating an extra tax burden, as has been the cry of the officials of the company the past few months. The dividends alone that are now given out would pay for the running of the plant."

"Lighting Talks."

Mr. Fesler read reports from many cities. Not one city has been compelled to issue any extra bonds to pay for a deficit, as has been claimed by the 'Lighting Talks" of the Edison company, he said. Most of the reports read denied the statements made by the "Lighting Talks" and some of the municipal managers were indignant in their letters because they had been misrepresented in the press. The Seattle commissioner denied every statement and compared the true conditions in Seattle with those given out in the Duluth Edison "Lighting Talks."

Jacksonville, Fla., earned the past year over 4S per cent of the plant's value and 147 per cent of the city's first investment, said the speaker. They have made over $305,000 and the money has been used by the city in its work and has helped lower the general tax rate to the citizens. The electric company in Seattle was charging 20 cents per kilowatt hour in 1902 and has now come down to 5 cents owing to the fight made by the municipal plant. There is no politics in the Seattle department, and all the men employed have secured their positions through civil service examinations, said the speaker.

"What I am here for tonight," went on Mr. Fesler, "is to give you the true side of this situation. All you have been hearing in the past has been from the opposition and it is only right that you should hear our side of the fight. After the council has voted on the ordinance allowing you an extra election then you can investigate and make sure of the situation for yourselves. We want the people to vote because there are more of you and your aldermen, although they are honest men of integrity, have not the brains of the entire ward and we want the true opinions. If you do not want the plant you can vote that way at the election. Of course, a number of men will come to you and tell you not to vote for the plant. You must remember that the Edison company will not sit back, but is coming out to fight and will do all in its power to kill the plan. Five years ago at the request of the council, and after a long fight, the rates were reduced, even though the officials claimed that they would go bankrupt. It is up to you now to stand like a stone wall as did your council in that famous gas and water fight. The same arguments came up then as are coming up now and they were easily overcome as history shows."

W. S. Moore Speaks.

W. S. Moore followed Mr. Fesler with a short talk claiming that the "Lighting Talks" have been fooling the people in the past and that it is up to them now to wake up and act. His talk was full of wit and sarcasm.

"I do not know much about Seattle except that Ballinger lives there and that the mayor has been recalled, but I do know that their city plant has been making money for them. We will have a better plant because our equipment will all be modern and new, and our plant will be managed by as good a man as they have now. There are a number of good men all over the country and why will they not come here if we offer them a thousand more than what they are getting now. It is ridiculous to say that the plant will not be managed right. You cannot lose because rates will be cut in the fight that will take place. It is merely a matter of bookkeeping for you because the Edison company has said that they will compete and that means cutting rates to get the business. At least you are finding out all about the Edison company and their inside workings that you never knew before. Get the situation out of politics for you very well know that $2.,000,000 will easily turn your aldermen's head. Remember the man that yelled out 'Quit' when politicians were making offers for his vote. 'You may reach the point where I may be tempted.' Why is the company afraid of an election? If their methods are all right and they know it why should they fear an investigation that is inevitable before the public vote is taken. Take their advice and see your alderman before Monday and tell him you want a chance to vote."

A. G. McKnight then followed with a short talk telling the audience not to mind the company's talks and to go ahead and work for their own good. Alderman Bernard and Alderman Gibson both told the audience that they were with them in this fight and would work for their benefit in the campaign. A short discussion was then held by the members of the club and the different speakers.

CHURCH WOMEN WILL HOLD CLEANING BEE.

A cleaning bee will be held this afternoon at the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, by the women of the parish. The church has been repaired during the past month and the women will arrange the interior fixtures. Special services will be held next week when Rev. J. A. McGaughey will be installed as the pastor of the church, and the women plan to decorate the interior of the church preparatory to the installation services.

NORTH DAKOTA JUDGES GET HONORARY DEGREES.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several prominent North Dakota jurists were made honorary members of the Phi Alpha Delta law fraternity at a meeting held here last night, the honored jurists being Judge C. F. Amidon of Fargo, Chief Justice D. E. Morgan of the supreme court, Judge B. F. Spaulding, Judge C. J. Fisk of the supreme court, and Attorney Roger W. Cooley of Grand Forks, late of St. Paul, and Attorney B. G. Skulason of Grand Forks.

The banquet following the conferring of the degree took place at the Hotel Dacotah, and was attended by a number of prominent guests of the local chapter.

PETITION FOR GAS AND WATER MAINS

Preparations Being Made for Pavement on East Fourth Street.

Gaps in the water and gas mains on East Fourth street will be filled in this fall so that there may be no bar in that respect to the paving plans for next year.

At the meeting of the board of water and light commissioners yesterday, petitions were presented for the laying of water and gas mains in Fourth street from a point between Sixteenth and Seventeenth avenue to Eighteenth avenue east and from the west line of Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues. The petitions call for the laying of 744 feet of 6-inch water and 4-inch gas mains. There will be considerable rock excavation.

With the completion of the contracts this fall, the water and gas mains will be installed in all the district in which paving is planned. The pavement will be extended from Sixth avenue east and will be one of the big contracts next year.

MAKES COLDS OR GRIPPE VANISH

Most Severe Cold and Grippe Misery Relieved in a Few Hours.

You can surely end Grippe and break up the most severe cold either in head, chest, back stomach or limbs, by taking a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, mucuous catarrhal discharges, running of the nose, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, without interference with your usual duties and with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

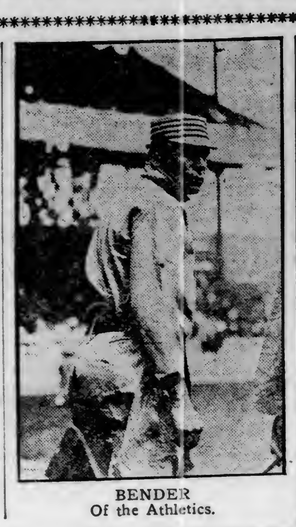

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

OLD KING BASEBALL DUE TO GET THE DREADED HOOK

Let Us Deal in Dope While the Sweet Game Is With Us--Breakers Ahead for the Gophers.

(BY BRUCE.)

BASEBALL has only a few more days to remain with us the present season. The husky hands of winter sport are already pushing our great summer game off the sport stage. Just at the present time the subject of baseball is one that is filling the minds of millions of fans, and therefore while the days of its rule yet remain let us talk of it some more.

Yesterday a man who has been fortunate enough to follow the work of many of the teams of both the big leagues the present season, was giving his views on the situation. He believes that the Athletics are the class of the two leagues and that it will be through the work of two pitchers, hurling the games of their careers, if the Giants win.

Going over almost every position on the two teams he gives the class to the Mackmen. As to the inability of the Giants so far in the series to steal on Thomas and Lapp, he says that players don't run the bases wild in a world's series, as they can't afford to take the chances that would be taken in the ordinary game, which is quite true

Many who have picked the Giants to win the present series admitted in making their choice that the Athletics were the class of the two. But many of those favoring the Giants banked on the twirling of Mathewson and Marquard. Mathewson has come through with some of the stuff the fans favoring the Nationals looked for, while Marquard has been somewhat of a disappointment.

There are many who believe the brilliant Frenchman will come through today, if he is pitched, and will win a game from the hard hitting winners of the American league pennant. In that case the New York followers also believe Matty, after his rest, will mount the mound with renewed strength and vigor and will take another game from the Athletics.

Some hold the hunch that McGraw is going to send Red Ames into the box to try out his snake-like curves against the murderers of Mr. Reach's production. It will be remembered that on the last Western trip of the Giants, the final dash of the season that won the gonfalon for the Manhattanites, the pitching of Ames was one of the bright and distinct features of the Giants' playing.

The auburn haired gent held the Pirates to one hit and also pitched a great game against the wilting Cubs. At St. Louis he also pitched a fine game. If Ames should be put in the box and should succeed in taking a game from the confident American league team, the performance would restore confidence in the hearts of the faithful followers of John McGraw and would also give the scrappy little leader of the Giants two of his first string twirlers to fight through the last games with.

Right now the case of the Giants looks forlorn. The Athletics have shown a remarkable and almost amazing ability to clout whatever is offered them. Their hitting is just as astonishing to the baseball world as the hitting the Athletics did last season against the Cub pitchers. Once a team starts the hitting habit in a series it is awfully hard to stop them.

Most of the dope has been badly mixed to date and with two more games to be played at the least there may be some further surprises. But it can be said that throughout the country, with the possible exception of the case of some of the most partisan of the New York team fans, there is the feeling that the series is over already as far as the general result is concerned.

Had Matty won the second game there would be confidence in the New York camp. Had Marquard won the second game and Matty lost the third, there would have also been a feeling that McGraw had one pitcher upon whom he could depend. Rallies and reversals of form are not startling strangers in baseball, for one of the sweet sides of the dear game's personality is its ability to be coquettish and do the wholly unexpected. Ames might go in and win. A hundred things may happen between this time and the playing of the next game. Baseball is a game of startling uncertainties. Let us all watch and be mightily interested.

JOHNNY RAY, famous around the country as the co-star in "A Hot Old Time," and who is at the Orpheum the present week, hit upon the scheme of carrying baseball players when he was putting on big shows. He carried them in the chorus and got up ball games at many of the big cities where the show played. Thus were the stars of the show enabled to gather a nice bit of coin and also the Two Rays were enabled to get a lot of first class advertising.

Eddie Kohl and Don Marion were with Ray for some time. Wouldn't Don Marion make a cute little chorus man? Johnny Ray has for a number of years been deeply interested in city baseball at Cleveland, and it will be recalled by the fans here that most of the best ball players that have been with the Sox for the past three seasons have been boys graduating from the city league of the Forest city

DOWN at the university there is a feeling of worry and doubt over the outcome of the Nebraska game. There have been other years when the Cornhuskers have been a thorn in the side of the Gophers. Back in 1902 the bad men from Nebraska under the leadership of John Westover came to Minneapolis with blood in their eye and won from the Williams charges. That was the season "Bummy" Booth had the Cornhuskers in charge.

It is said that the men from the state placed in the seething glare of publicity by William J. Bryan, firmly believe they will be able to trim the Gophers in the game of tomorrow and are coming to Minneapolis with one of the strongest teams in the history of the Lincoln school.

The game tomorrow afternoon may either make or break the university team for the season. In the case of a win the Gophers will have passed through the hardest stage of the season with success. In the case of defeat it will mean that the team has not arrived and that it will have to be rehabilitated before the contests with Wisconsin, Illinois and Chicago.

A win against Nebraska will mean very much for the Gophers at the present time. The team of the present season is practically an unknown quantity and the Cornhuskers will be the means of showing just what can be expected of the rather untried team at Minneapolis.

PAL BROWN IS MATCHED TO BOX BATTLING NELSON

Pal Brown, the pride of Hibbing, reached Duluth at 8 o'clock this morning, conveying the interesting information that he is to fight Battling Nelson a twenty-round fight on the evening of Nov. 6, the fight to take place at New Orleans.

The little Hibbing fighter slipped up home to close up some business. He will return to New Orleans some time next week and resume active training for the biggest fight that he has ever been matched in, since he started his meteoric career, some two or three years ago.

Never has any fighter appeared in better condition than the battler from the iron range. His skin is clear and his eye bright. He looks heavier than he did before he left these parts, and it would seem that Pal is going to develop into a full fledged lightweight, which will bring him into the class of the leading fighters of the 133-pound mark.

"The weather down there sort of got me," said Pal in the Herald sporting office today. "I didn't have my wallop and I didn't feel like fighting. I am feeling much better at the present time, for I am getting used to the climate. A fellow has to get used to the brand of hot weather they have down in that country.

"I think I had the best of Thomas in the first fight, but I am not kicking any. In the second fight I had him on the ropes and he was all in. Even in my second fight with Thomas I did not feel as good as I have in other fights. That old heat stuff kind of got to my wallop.

Battler Not All In.

"This boy is one who doesn't think Battling Nelson is all in. Believe me he is one tough fighter yet. If I get to him I think I will beat him. I am going to train mighty hard for that fight and I will be in the very best of condition."

Pal has one of those fuzzy wuzzy hats. He has also the expression of one who has been treated to the very best things of life—the best things and the things that are best for one. His blue eyes open wide with enthusiasm when you ask him what he thinks of New Orleans. He says the Southern people sure do know how to treat a little stranger from the cold outside.

Tommy Andrews, the well known Milwaukee sporting authority, the same boy who made the trip to Australia with Clabby and several other American fighters, is booking bouts for Brown.

Andrews has some very good fights lined up for the Hibbing boy in the event that Pal gets by with the Nelson battle, or in the event that he makes a good showing in the contest with one of the toughest men who ever existed in this mundane sphere.

From what Brown said today it is very probable that most of his fights of the future will be made at the 133 pound mark. The boy is growing and is becoming stronger and more rugged, though the little Hibbing kiddo was never a weakling, no, not by any means.

Down at New Orleans Brown is getting boys to box with. With a manager to see that he gets boxing and some means to train right, he has the prospects of a great future and may develop into one of the greatest of the lightweights.

McGRAW IS CENSURED

New York, Oct. 20.—The national commission yesterday censured John McGraw, manager of the New York National league club for his conduct during the Philadelphia-New York game here last Tuesday and notified him that a repetition would result in removal from the field, disbarment from all further world series games, and a heavy fine. First Baseman Merkle of New York was fined $100 for improper language.

The national commission has made public this letter to McGraw, dated Wednesday:

"In the discharge of its duty to maintain order and discipline in the series now in progress for the championship of the world, as required by the rules and regulations, jointly enacted by the National and American leagues on Feb. 16, 1905, for the control of this event, the national commission has taken official cognizance of your unwarranted conduct and language while passing from the coacher's line to your team's bench during the last few innings of the game played on the Polo grounds on Tuesday, Oct. 17, 1911.

"Notice is hereby served on you that a repetition of this misconduct on your part will at once be called to the attention of the umpire in charge in the game in which it occurs, with instructions to remove you from the field, and the commission will disbar you from all subsequent games. In addition to this penalty, a severe fine will be inflicted upon you.

"The commission will not permit a manager or player to influence by word or deed the public against an able and conscientious officer of the game, and unless decisions are accepted by you in a spirit of sportsmanship, you will be dealt with as indicated in this letter. Respectfully,

"AUGUST HERMANN,
"B. B. JOHNSON,
"T. J. LYNCH,
"National Commission."

The letter to Merkle, signed by the same men, reads:

"You are hereby notified that a fine of $100 has been imposed against you by the national commission for using improper and indecent language in the game played on the Polo grounds in New York city on Tuesday, Oct. 17, 1911, and you are warned that a repetition of this offense will result in your disbarment from the remaining games of the present world's series by the commission."

FOOTBALL

THE INDUSTRIAL ALUMNI of West Duluth vs. DULUTH CENTRAL

SATURDAY, OCT. 21, at ATHLETIC PARK

Game Called at 3 o'clock
Admission to All, 25c. All Come.

FAST GAME WON BY BIG DULUTHS

In the second regularly scheduled game of the roller hockey league season, played last evening at the big Auditorium rink, the Big Duluths won from the Jeffersons by the score of 8 to 0. Despite the fact that the boys from the East end were somewhat outclassed, the game was fast and exciting, and pleased a large audience.

Dennis and McInnis were the stars for the winning team. In the first half Dennis played a whirlwind game, scoring all of the three hung up by his team. In the second half McInnis came back strong and scored three goals, after Swanstrom had put one into the net. Dennis made the last score of the evening, adding to the great game he played in the first half.

The Big Duluths did the best playing the team has shown the present seasen, and is expected to be a contender for the league championship The line-up:

	Position.
Mullin	g	Hake
Baker	lw	Swanstrom
Dryer	p	Erickson
B. Thatcher	c	McInnis
A. Thatcher	rw and c
Wiggins	rw	Dennis

Referee—Ray Fenton. Timekeepers—Swenson and Holgate.

James Quits Game.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 20.—William A. James, former catcher for the Kansas City American association team, will practice law in Columbus. He has retired from baseball forever, he says. He was drafted by the New York National league team four years ago shortly after he graduated from law school. He was farmed out to Columbus and afterwards sold to Kansas City. A week ago he came to Columbus.

Carter After Bryant.

Roy Carter of St. Paul has issued a challenge to Frank Bryant, roller skating champion of the Head of the Lakes, stating that he will meet the Duluth boy in a mile or a four-mile contest.

Tommy Murphy Wins.

New York, Oct. 20.—Tommy Murphy of New York defeated Phil Brock of Cleveland in a ten-round bout here last night. Murphy excelled at infighting and had the better of the first seven rounds.

Where Is the Sailor?

Wireless messages were flashed out of Duluth last night in an effort to locate the missing marine, the famous Sailor Jack. The sailor is wanted here to wrestle next week, and local promoters are anxiously trying to locate him.

BOTH TEAMS CONFIDENT

Football Elevens of Minnesota and Nebraska Ready for Big Game.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 20.—With the university campus echoing with the din of the inauguration ceremonies, the football candidates secreted themselves behind the bleak walls of Northrop field and went through the most exhaustive and painstaking practice of the year. Coaches said last night it was the longest work-out chronicled on the field for several years.

At 9 a. m. the freshmen and college contingent started work on the field and kept at it all morning. At 11 o'clock members of the first brigade reported to Dr. Williams in the Armory, and for two hours were quizzed in the signals and formations. Then, after lunch and a little rest, the entire crowd was back at 3 o'clock, and until 5:30 fought and tugged on the field.

Half-Hour Scrimmage.

Scrimmage was called late in the afternoon and for a solid half-hour it was give and take, up and down the field. The varsity lineup was the same as on previous days of the week, with the exception of the right end position and a little shakeup in the back field. Aldworth, who has been holding down the right wing, was replaced by Walinder, and Capron worked at quarter, with Capt. Pickering at fullback. There was again evident the inability of the backs to handle punts, and on nearly every kick by the collegians the ball was fumbled or allowed to strike the ground and roll hither and thither until finally captured.

Toward the middle of the game the varsity managed to push the ball down the field and finally hammered it across the goal for the only score of the afternoon. Another dash of cold water was cast upon the Gopher prospects when the jinx that has been pursuing Frank Lawler, doubled up his weak ankle late in the day and again consigned him to the hospital list. The ankle was injured last week and only yesterday he was pronounced fit to engage in scrimmage. Rosenwald was again out in uniform, but no chances were taken on further injury to him and he spent the time in kicking practice.

Nebraska Is Ready.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 20.—Practice at Nebraska has been behind closed gates all week, and Coach Jumbo Stiehm has been devoting extra time to developing and polishing offensive plays. The line is working better than at any time this fall and does not seem in very serious need of hard training. Former Capt. John Westover has been assisting the head coach in getting the Cornhuskers ready for the battle with Minnesota. The former Cornhusker star has given his main attention to the line. He expresses an opinion that the Nebraska forwards are the best lot that has been ready for a Minnesota game in several seasons.

It is certain that the forward pass will be used a great deal by the Cornhuskers on Saturday. Stiehm has several deceptive formations for his fling and should cause the Gopher defense a great amount of worry. It is believed here that Williams has been preparing his team in defensive formations which are calculated to block the forward flings of the local eleven.

Two Sets of Backs.

The fast bunch of material in the backfield of the Cornhuskers will permit Coach Stiehm to use a large amount of play, end runs and forward passes being in predominance. The Cornhusker coach is of the opinion that his men can win only through playing the open game for all it is worth. With a double set of backs and two fast quarters he will be able to give Minnesota a large bunch of rapid-fire plays that should tax the Gopher defense to the limit.

So smoothly are the Cornhusker plays working in secret practice this week that the whole team and the coaches are feeling sure that the Cornhuskers will score on the Gophers, not only once but twice, and, perhaps, more. Never in the history of the new game at Nebraska have plays gone off so well for the Cornhuskers on the offense. The scores against the Kansas Aggies and Kearney Normalites prove that the Nebraska attack was virile and effective at all times. These showings make Cornhuskers confident that there will be wonders worked by the Nebraska offense in the game at Northrop field Saturday.

MORAN AND DRISCOLL.

Owen and Jim Will Fight for English Featherweight Title.

London, Oct. 20.——At last articles for the contest between Owen Moran and Jim Driscoll have been completed and the famous boxers will contest for the featherweight championship of England. The last obstacle, a slight one, was raised by Moran respecting the bandages. As was anticipated, however, this was a matter easily settled, and the conditions of the articles now call for soft bandages to be used and to be affixed to the satisfaction of the referee. The important duties of that office will be undertaken by Eugene Corri, and the contest will be decided in London on Saturday, Nov. 18, when the men are due in the ring at 5 p. m.

Indoor Baseball.

The Kenney & Anker indoor baseball team will meet the strong aggregation of the Cathedral high school this evening. The game will be played in the Catholic athletic club gymnasium and gives promise of being one of the best of the early season games.

AUTO DRIVER IS KILLED

Sioux City, Iowa, Oct. 20.—"Billy" Pearce, a well known automobile driver, driving a Colby racing car at a mile a minute on the south turn of the Woodland park track, was killed instantly last evening when his machine crashed into the fence. Pearce was practicing for the race which opens today. A bursted tire is supposed to have been the cause.

The accident happened after he had circled the track once and was starting on the second lap. The time caught for the first mile was slightly more than one minute and with the second time around he was seen to increase his speed. When the car reached the south turn it swerved and crashed into the fence.

Pearce, who was a principal contender in the Indianapolis 500-mile race, was dead by the time spectators had reached him.

Death was caused by the ribs on the left side of his body pentrating the heart. The racing machine was damaged badly and the fence for a space of twenty feet was destroyed.

CENTRAL TO PLAY WEST DULUTH TEAM

The alumni of the West Duluth Industrial high school will meet Duluth Central at Athletic park tomorrow afternoon. All efforts to schedule a game with one of the Minneapolis high school teams failed. The game with the alumni of the West Duluth school should be one interesting and fairly close, for there are some very strong players on the team that will oppose Central.

Following is the lineup of the two teams:

Industrial.		Central.
McHood	re	Harris
Sympson	rt	O'Brien
Unenski	rg	Goetz
McCormick	c	Osman-Solheim
Brayden	lg	Osman-St. Clair
Sailer	lt	Currie
Dykens	le	Mars
Dunleavy	qb	McClaran
Briggs	rh	Kerst
Leon	lh	Crassweller
Brooke	fb	Brown

Subs—Blais, McMillan and Little.

WELLS FINALLY MATCHED.

The Bombardier to Meet Moir for the English Championship.

London, Eng., Oct. 20.—There isn't a chance now that Jack Johnson will meet Bombardier Billy Wells or any other white man in England or France. That has been settled definitely, despite the fact that London still hears rumblings from Paris to the effect that Wells will cross over the channel and settle the question with the big Galveston man in the French capital. Wells settled most of the discussion himself the other day by affixing his signature for a battle in London with Gunner Moir, the big man who not so long ago walloped Wells into an insensible state in the ring, but still didn't get the championship belt because the contest was not decided in the National Sporting club's arena.

LYNCH ISSUES OFFICIAL BULLETIN.

New York, Oct. 20.—President Lynch of the National league has announced approval of the following contracts and releases:

Contracts—With Boston, Jay Kirke; with Brooklyn, S. R. Higgins, Hub Northern, Albert Malloy, Elliott, E. Dent, Jude Daly; with Chicago, Clarence Marshall, 1911-12; with Cincinnati, J. C. Benton; with New York, George Burns.

Releases—By Brooklyn to Atlanta, Walter Miller; by Chicago to Louisville, J. A. Rowan.

Mr. Lynch announced that in a former bulletin the releases of Pitcher Baker by Philadelphia should have been given as to Birmingham.

Brainerd to Play St. Cloud.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 20.—The Brainerd high school will play St. Cloud on Saturday. The St. Cloud high school eleven is a fast bunch of players, heavy weights and full of steam. Last Saturday Brainerd played havoc with Staples to the tune of 115 to 0.

ON THE IRON RANGES

CLAIMS MAN AS HUSBAND

North Dakota Woman Alleges Hibbing Man Is Missing Spouse.

Confronts Him With Relationship, But Man Denies Her Charges.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—After thirteen years separation, Mrs. Ida Stow of Voltaire, N. D., says she found her husband in Hibbing yesterday afternoon. The woman is positive the man is her husband, although, according to eye witnesses of the meeting, the man would neither deny nor affirm the relationship but stood like a graven image while Mrs. Stow accused him of one time being her husband and the father of her four children. The eldest son, now 32 years of age, and living at Voltaire, was 19 years of age at the time of his father's disappearance and Mrs. Stow is positive that he can identify his father also.

The man accused of being Silas R. Stow, once a South Dakota farmer, is now employed at the offices of the Oliver Mining company and said to be using the name of R. S. Wots. "Spell R. S. Wots backward and it gives you S. R. Stow," says Mrs. Stow. Wots is rooming on Sellers street and is regarded by the mining company as a first class employe.

Mrs. Stow arrived in Hibbing a few days ago. Accompanied by the man who had located the supposed Stow here. She went to the offices of the mining company early in the afternoon and asked to see Wots. When he held his visitor, according to Mrs. Stow h turned pale and had nothing to say. "Won't you shake hands with me, husband?" Mrs. Stow asked Wots. He gave her a limp hand, saying the while, according to her, "I don't know you."

She says, however, that she recognized him at once. After a few more questions the woman left the offices. She said this morning that she intended to bring no action against Wots as she "was through with him forever. I only want my eldest son to see him," she said, "and then I don't intend to ever let him see my face again."

Mrs. Stow said that her husband has a brother who is a district judge in Timber Lake county. His name is A. W. Stow and at one time he practiced law at Minneapolis.

Woman Showed Great Pluck.

The tale that Mrs. Stow tells of the hardships, sufferings and trials that she experienced during the first years of her husband's absence demonstrates what an indomitable woman can do. Left on a rented farm near Ahaaraka, N. D., with four children, the eldest of whom was 13 years of age, she supported herself and family for four years by taking in sewing as she almost immediately was compelled to leave the farm. During all of this time she kept the four children—three boys and a girl—in school.

"Mr. Stow left me to visit with relatives in Superior, Wis.," said Mrs. Stow. "The first Christmas that he was gone he sent us all gifts. That was the last we ever heard of him until yesterday."

It seems that the Stows had claimed a homestead in North Dakota. Mrs. Stow thought at first that she could prove up and not live on it on the grounds that she was a widow. As she could not prove this supposition, she was advised by the land office that to retain her claim she would have to live on the place for five years. Soon after she sold it and with the proceeds moved to Voltaire where she built three houses, renting each at $20 per month.

Mrs. Stow is a comely and buxom woman whose hair has become totally white. Her troubles have deeply seamed her brow.

A BALD-HEADED WOMAN

Shorn of Her Crown of Beauty, Loses in Love and Marriage.

Hair is certainly most necessary to woman. Who could love and marry a bald-headed woman? What charms could one array to offset such a disfigurement?

A woman's goal is usually love and marriage. Her crowning glory is her hair. The loss of her hair mars her beauty, happiness, and success. Yet, right here in Duluth, there are thousands of women who are neglecting or injuring their hair to such an extent that it is only a matter of time when it will be utterly ruined.

Many women destroy the beauty of their hair through thoughtlessness or ignorance of certain facts. They use curling irons over-heated, or to excess, which destroys the natural oil of the hair, causing it to split, break, and come out. They do not shampoo their hair often enough, or too often. They use soaps or preparations which contain ingredients positively harmful to the scalp and hair.

As a result of such treatment, dandruff is created, the hair losens, loses color, falls out, and baldness commences, unless proper and prompt precautions are taken in time. Then again, microbes and certain diseases bring about unhealthy scalp and hair conditions.

Almost any woman may rid herself of dandruff and diseased scalp and hair if she will but use the right remedy. We have that remedy, and we will positively guarantee that it will either cure dandruff and baldness or it will not cost the user anything.

That's a pretty broad statement, but we will back it and prove it with our own money. We will return your money if you do not find that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is an entirely satisfactory remedy that will promote hair growth and overcome scalp and hair troubles; that it will grow hair even on bald heads, unless all life in the hair roots has been extinguished, the follicles closed, and the scalp is glazed and shiny. It gets its name from the fact that it grew hair in 93 out of 100 cases, where it received a thoroughly hard, impartial, and practical test.

We want you to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic at our risk. You surely cannot lose anything by doing so, while you have everything to gain. You had better think this over, and then come in and see us about this offer. You will be well repaid for your visit to our store. Remember, you can get Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street.

BANGOR MEN ARE AFRAID OF PAPER

Employes of Biwabik Property Object to Signing Personal History Blank.

Biwabik, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Objecting to signing the personal history blanks provided by the Bangor Minning company, similar to those used by the Oliver Iron Mining company, about 300 employes at the Bangor walked out. The men claim the paper in question is a waiver of personal injury but the company contends it is a personal history blank the same as used by the steel corporation.

The company is hiring other men but the disgruntled employes claim it will be difficult to find men who will sign the blanks in their present form.

HUGE TRESTLE NEARLY BUILT

Canadian Northern Has Almost Built Span Across Silver Lake.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Canadian Northern railroad has completed its trestle work two-thirds the distance across Silver lake and the bridge will be ready for work trains in ten days or two weeks.

An immense filling must be made in the east end of Silver lake, extending 100 feet from the library building and along most of the east shore of the lake, to give room for a twenty-five-foot boulevard for the city and to make a foundation for the tracks of the railroad and depot building. It will require several weeks to complete this work so that it will be impracticable to build the new passenger depot this fall.

WET WEATHER MAY PREVENT PAVING

Contractors at Virginia Are Working Under Considerable Difficulty.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Contractor Bartlett has completed the laying of concrete base for bitulithic paving the entire length of Mesaba avenue south and is making good progress upon other streets. Contractor P. McDonnell of Duluth has completed the paving of Lake Boulevard with creosote blocks and is paving Walnut street, the concreto base having been laid for several days.

Rainy weather has interfered with rapid work during the past few days. It is doubtful whether the paving contractors can complete their work this fall, though they are pushing things as rapidly as possible with large forces of men. Contractor Butler still has Wyoming and Virginia avenues on which to complete the laying of cement curb and gutters.

GILBERT HIGH TO RENDER PROGRAM

Question of Educating Negroes Will Be Subject for Debate.

Gilbert, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Athenian, the girls, and the Gopher, the boys, literary societies of the local high school, will render a joint program at the high school tonight. These joint programs will be given every six weeks during the school term and are open to the public. The program to be given tonight follows:

Chorus, "Dixie," school; reading, Miss Ina Beldo; essay, 'The Best Solution of the Negro Problem," Abraham Cohn; music, Girl's Glee club; reading, Miss Viola Kieren; essay, "Booker T. Washington," Miss Ophelia Johnston; music, selected; reading, "The New South," Clinton Bent; original Negro story, "Breakin' up de Match," Timothy Shean; debate, "Resolved, That the education of the Negro should be industrial rather than liberal." Affirmative, Harold Rutherford, John Nolan; negative, Mary Burns, Mary Erb; music, selected.

DEMAND FOR HOMES.

Many New Dwellings Are Being Built in Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ten new residences have been started here within a couple of weeks and half as many more are planned and work on them will begin within a week or ten days.

The demand for residences and flats is as large as it was a year ago, when a large number of houses were constructed. It requires months, for a new arrival in the city to secure a suitable house or flat and frequently ten or twenty people are after a desirable residence when it is known that it will be vacated shortly. Most landlords have a waiting list of from half a dozen to two dozen applications.

COLERAINE NEWS NOTES.

Ladies' Aid of Methodist Church to Have Sale.

Coleraine, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church will hold a sale of fancy articles and give a chicken pie supper in the Falk building, Saturday, Oct. 21.

The Greenway high school and Marble high school football teams will contest for honors at the Coleraine Athletic park, Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

The Five Hundred club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Case Downing at Taconite and a very pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by those present.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Dinwiddie have moved from Grand Rapids to Coleraine, where they will make their home. Mr. Dinwiddie is employed with the Iron Range Coal & Ice company.

A. H. Grimpo and F. Provinske of Bovey were in Duluth, Tuesday on business connected with the reciprocity proposition.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Armundson on Hartley avenue.

Mrs. R. Boynton and other local talent are practicing for an entertainment to be given around Thanksgiving for the benefit of the public library.

FIFTH CANDIDATE FOR TREASURERSHIP

John M. Bradich Also Would Like to Handle Eveleth's Money.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—John M. Bradich has announced his candidacy for the city treasurer for which City Treasurer William J. Davey, Alderman Edwin K. Medlar, Frank C. Cerveny and Capt. William Burke are also aspirants.

Efforts are being made to induce County Mine Inspector Walter H. Harvey to run for alderman in the Third ward, now represented by Alderman George W. Milligan, who is a candidate for municipal judge. Oscar A. Enderich, Joseph Francel, L. Massucci, Contractor Martin Finucan and Matt E. Kiley are the avowed candidates for the Third ward aldermanship.

The Italian Political club and the Austrian Educational society will hold a mass meeting Sunday afternoon to discuss political issues of the day.

MAKES RESTITUTION.

Eveleth Man Overpaid on Check Has to Make Good.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Erick Aho yesterday afternoon in municipal court before Judge Neil McInnis was compelled to pay Frank Masero, $16.20, the difference between Aho's check of $1.80 and $18 that Masero paid the defendant in cashing the check. Aho claimed the check, but Masero had witnesses testify that he had received the difference of $16.20 by mistake and had refused to return the money.

ART CLUB INTERESTED.

Eveleth Organization to Participate in Coming Election.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the Eveleth Art club are planning to take an active part at the coming election, Nov. 7, on the matter of choosing a library site. The club members are strongly in favor of the half block bounded by B and Adams avenues and Pierce street, endorsed by the library board, Commercial club and heavy taxpayers.

Women are privileged to vote on library members and will cast their ballots on the library site question, Nov. 7.

INSPECTS COMPANY F.

Maj. Eva Looks Over Eveleth's Military Aggregation.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Company F. was inspected by Major H. Eva of Duluth last evening. The equipment of the local company was thoroughly examined and the militiamen put through their drills with Capt. Roy M. Cornwall, First Lieut. Fergus R. Ellsworth Ellsworth in charge. Many friends of the militiamen attended the inspection.

EVELETH'S DELEGATES TO ST. PAUL ANTI-FIRE MEET.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Treasurer Walter J. Smith, Peter Peterson, Matt Prettner, Ephraim Johnson and Capt. Thomas H. Day have been appointed by Mayor Jacob Ruppert to represent this city at the State Fire Prevention congress at St. Paul, Nov. 8.

In complying with Governor Eberhart's request that a day be set apart for cleaning up the premises here it is likely the matter will be taken up by the Commercial club.

CHISHOLM MAN IS FOUND GUILTY OF ASSAULT.

Chisholm, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—In municipal court Jalo J. Kekoni was found guilty of assault upon Roberts who delivers the Duluth Herald in Chisholm. The case was hard fought on both sides and attracted much attention. The jury returned a verdict of guilty after deliberating a few minutes. The other cases against Kekoni, one for assault and the other for threats to kill the Roberts boy, were dismissed.

GRANDMOTHERS USED SAGE TEA

To Darken the Hair and Restore Gray and Faded Hair to Its Natural Color.

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair and are fast following suit.

The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready-to-use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. As a scalp tonic and color restorer this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers.

This remedy is sold under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

If your hair is losing color or coming out, start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur to-day, and see what a change it will make in a few days' time.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Special agent, Max Wirth, 13 West Superior street.

NEED PLACE FOR STORING TUBERS

In the Absence of Warehouse Lake County Farmers Sell.

Two Harbors, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The rain interfered with potato digging but the crop is about completed. Tubers are being sold for immediate shipment at 50 cents a bushel, but all who have the means of storing the crop are doing so, believing there will be a sharp advance over these figures. There is a dearth of storage room for potatoes with the result that many are compelled to accept whatever the market price happens to be at time of digging.

Ed Sorensen has sold his restaurant to Emil Meyer who took charge of it Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. Sorensen after straightening up their business affairs left the first of the week for Wadena county where near the village of Menagha they own a farm and expect to make a home thereon for the present at least. Emil Meyer, the new owner, since coming here has been engaged as sausage maker.

RAISES MANY TUBERS.

Forbes Farmer Reports 300 Bushels Per Acre.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.) — Peter Mobroten, a Forbes farmer, was here yesterday with a large load of potatoes and reports he had grown 300 bushels of tubers on an acre, the best yield since he started farming, fifteen years ago. He is one of the pioneer farmers of the county and now has over 400 bushels of rutabagas which he is shipping to range points. He has shipped over 300 bushels of potatoes to commission houses at Duluth from whom he reports he has received satisfactory prices.

COMPLICATED POINT,

Involving National Treaty, at Stake in Lake County.

Two Harbors, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge of Probate William E. Tracy is confronted with a novel point in deciding the question whether the Austro-Hungarian consul or a cousin of the decedent shall be entitled to the estate of Joseph Sankovich, alias allen, said to have been a native of Austro-Hungary, who owned property in Lake county. The consul claims the right to the administration under what is known as the "favored nation clause" in a treaty between the United States and Austro-Hungary; the cousin under his power of attorney.

Moritz Heim of St. Paul appeared for the consul and Benjamin M. Goldberg of Duluth for the cousin of the decedent under a power of attorney from the heirs-at-law objected to the granting of administration to the consul and asked that it be granted to the cousin. The court reserved judgment.

FINE CEMENT FLOOR IN HIBBING FIRE HALL.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—What is believed to be one of the finest apparatus floors in the country is being laid in Fire Hall No. 1, adjacent to the village hall, at the instance of the board of water and light commissioners.

By Sunday the work will be completed. It was commenced two weeks ago and progress was necessarily slow on account of the hall being constantly in use as a room in which to keep the apparatus. Before the work was commenced several of the larger cities were communicated with and invariably the reply was, notably from New York and Chicago, that concrete had been found to make the very best flooring possible for a fire hall.

BURT-SELLERS BRAKEMAN SQUEEZED IN ACCIDENT.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Brown, employed at the Burt-Sellers pit as brakeman on an ore train, was badly squeezed when the engine of his train jumped the track Wednesday night. He is now at the Rood hospital with a badly bruised back. It is expected that he will be confined at the institution for at least two weeks.

ANNEXATION PLANS ARE NOT DISCUSSED.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Alice village council last night did not take action upon the question of annexation to Hibbing, as expected. The petitions circulated in Hibbing and Alice to that end will probably be presented and considered at the next meeting.

ALLEGES THEFT OF TROUSERS AND COIN.

Ely, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—James Farrel had Samuel Ellis arrested on the charge of stealing his trousers from a boarding house and abstracting the money in the pockets. The garment was found in Ellis' room minus the money but he denies the accusation and will have a hearing today.

CAMPBELL OF EVELETH MAY RUN FOR CONGRESS.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Campbell, a well known traveling man of this city, is thinking seriously of running for congress. The two local men who will probably enter the race have no fears of Congressman Miller's strength.

Much Game Near Chisholm.

Chisholm, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.) — Hunters who have roamed the woods north of here during the past few days report stories of big game which are almost unbelievable. A few days ago Postmaster Train saw six deer at one time near Shell lake and last Sunday J. H. McNiven saw six deer near the same place and found many evidences of the presence of moose.

Railway Men Visit Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—General Agent C. W. Kieswetter, General Freight Agent J. B. Hanson, of the D. M. & N. railway, of Duluth, T. H. Lang, manager of the Standard Oil company and C. G. Longbotham, general agent for the C. and G. W. railroad at Duluth were Hibbing visitors yesterday, making a tour of the range towns.

Boyle to Address Elks.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—At Duluth next Wednesday Senator Boyle will make an address at the Elks' gathering and while absent from this city also plans to attend the Nebraska-Minnesota football game.

Tree Injures Woodsman.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 20.—John Reeda, employed at George Cochran's logging camp near Bena, was brought here by John Rice Thursday suffering from a broken leg, the result of being crushed by a falling tree. He is being treated at St. Benedict's hospital. Amputation will not be necessary.

Eveleth Football Notes.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual alumni-high school football game will be played tomorrow afternoon with the high school team strengthened by the addition of Coaches John S. Peoples and Abe Feldman.

The high school second team and the Hibbing high school second eleven will play here tomorrow.

DISPATCHES CONFIRM REPORT OF VICTORY OF CHINESE REBELS

and the ultimate triumph of the government was certain.

A rumor was current that the rebels had cut the railroad behind the imperial troops and captured Siaokan, thirty miles north of Hankow.

Another native report was that the rebels held the railway tunnel at Sinyang Chow, about 100 miles north of Hankow.

Attempts to establish wireless communication between the capital and Hankow have thus far been fruitless.

Soldiers Threaten Mutiny.

Rumors of disaffection among the imperial soldiers in Yun Nan are reported in consular dispatches from there. Both the modern troops and the local regiments threaten to mutiny because they have not been paid, and refuse to march against the rebels in Sze Chuan. The viceroy is said to have withdrawn the ammunition from the troops and to have fortified his yamen.

The French consul at Yun Nan received a letter signed "War Minister of the Revolutionists," recommending that foreigners leave the country while yet there was time. In consequence the missionaries have been warned by couriers and are preparing to leave.

A Mohammedan rebellion is reported imminent in Kan Su, the scene of the Mohammedan revolt of 1858-75.

The belief is strong here that a serious defeat of the government forces would have such an effect upon the country generally that it would fall into the hands of the revolutionists.

Telegraph Lines Down.

Shanghai, China, Oct. 20.—The following message from Admiral Winsloe, the senior British naval officer at Hankow, sent by wireless from a British vessel off Hankow, was received here this morning:

"All telegraph lines to Shanghai and Pekin were destroyed by fire last night for a distance of a mile beyond the settlement."

Another wireless message dispatched from Hankow at noon today and retransmitted over the land lines at Kiu-Kiang, reaching here at 4 o'clock, says that the government troops retreated up Seventy Mile creek while the Chinese warships withdrew down the river out of sight. The revolutionaries claim a great victory.

Warships Have Retreated.

Still another message says that the revolutionists at Hankow claim a great victory over the imperials. They declare that they captured the riverside and the railway station, after which all the Chinese warships retreated with the exception of one cruiser which seceded to the rebels.

The retreat of the imperialists at Hankow is confirmed in other dispatches from Kiu-Kiang, which state that the Chinese gunboats are retreating to Kiu-lang. The conduct of the rebels at Hankow is reported to be exemplary. Martial law is being enforced.

Today's advices of rebel successes at Hankow caused great jubilation among the Chinese here. Previously they had been downcast.

much more than fill the building to its capacity. The dangerous insane are not a class to be overcrowded with any degree of safety. I think we will all confess that it was with some degree of trepidation that we entered this building for the first time. We knew the men were allowed free range in open wards, and we had also seen some of the men acting like caged wild animals in cells at Stillwater. We found them, however, comparatively quiet."

Commenting on the school for the deaf at Faribault the report says it was well that the legislature appropriated $180,000 for a new dormitory building, and deplores the fact that girls must remain in Mott hall during the coming winter.

Faribault Hall Fire Trap.

"The hall is a veritable fire trap if flames ever get a good start," the report continues. "It is, however, well equipped with exits and means of escape, and the children have been trained in fire drills. At the last fire drill—the close of last year's school—the building was emptied of its occupants in four minutes."

The school for the blind at Faribault, the report says, "does not in small details seem to be what might be desired. Piano tops, for instance, in the music rooms were covered with dust and dormitories were not as neat as they could be. Of the school for feeble minded and colony for epileptics at Faribault, the board says the place is terribly overcrowded, and although the legislature did make provision for some enlargements and additions, they were insufficient. A new institution is urged.

"Humanitarianism," the report adds, "especially so far as custodial and uninfluential wards of the state are concerned, is a subject legislatures give too little consideration. The time of legislators is ever crowded with matters of importance that are being vigorously urged by people of influence, either individually or collectively, and the care of the state's custodial wards is therefore apt to secure but secondary consideration.

Last Appeal Not Met.

"Our board put the needs of the state's custodial wards up to the last legislature in as strong language as we could use, and with statistical proofs. In that the results from our recommendations were far from satisfactory, would seem all the more reason we should make this same subject a prominent feature of the next legislative report, with possibly, also, a request that the governor give the subject prominence in his legislative message.

"As stated in a recent report to the board members, rattlesnake venom is being used as an experimental treatment for men epileptics at the Faribault colony. It is perhaps early yet for the management to make any statement as to results. Certainly, they say, no harm has been done, but as to ultimate beneficial results the question is still open. The experiment of giving the treatment to women patients is yet to be tried."

MANY SEEKING DITCHED LAND

Reclamation of Lands Near Thief River Falls Brings Many Homeseekers.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Every train reaching this city over the Soo and the Great Northern unloads many land and home-seekers. The local real estate agencies have bought autos and hired all the livery rigs in the city to care for the seekers and still the land-hungry people swarm out east into the promised land, which has been recently brought into market by reason of the construction of the great drainage ditches. The land thus redeemed from danger of excessive moisture is rich beyond belief. Remarkable stories are told of the great yields of grain on land which one year ago was lake or swamp.

The farmers, who for years have fought the spring and summer floods which were no greater than elsewhere in the state but which had no possible chance to flow into outlets but simply evaporated, are this season reaping their reward. Their lands are free from danger of flooding and their highways are the best in the country.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN SWEARS OFF TAXES.

New York, Oct. 20.—J. P. Morgan appeared at the department of taxes yesterday to swear off a portion of his personal taxes. Mr. Morgan had registered enough to reduce his assessment of $500,000 to $450,000. It was shown by Mr. Morgan that he could be held for only the latter amount. Last year Mr. Morgan's assessment was for $400,000.

Calumet Child Fatally Burned.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 20.—The 1-year-old daughter of John Mattilo of Calumet died yesterday of toxaemine poisoning, caused by scalds sustained when the little one tipped a bowl of boiling soup over her body Wednesday.

WOMAN'S REALM.

Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour opened her course of lectures on "The Art of Reading a Play" this morning at the Endion Methodist Episcopal church, before one of the largest lecture audiences which has been seen in Duluth for some time. Her subject was handled in a pleasing manner and the hearers were delighted with the morning's lesson.

Mrs. Seymour outlined in a general way the plan for her winter's course, telling of the development of the drama and dramatic work from the earliest plays down to the present time. She spoke of the form of the old Grecian plays and of the English plays, and the various stages through which the drama has passed up to this time, when the stage represents a picture frame and all of the work is "in the picture."

The drama, she said, may be either sociological or psychological, and she said that the drama was more closely related to architecture and music than literature.

"A play," she said, "should be read not as a poem, for its literary value alone, but for its structure. The chief thing in learning to read a play is to learn to visualize the scenes, and not simply read the words as they are written, no matter how beautiful they may be.

"A play is built up with every part closely fitted into every other part, as a building or as a symphony is built up. It is planned out first and then built up part by part closely fitted together, with every part depending upon every other part."

Mrs. Seymour will take up the modern plays this winter which are either being played now or will be this winter for the first time. The plays to be given by the band of Irish players who are attracting so much attention in this country will also be studied.

This is the first time for several years that Mrs. Seymour has conducted a class in Duluth. Her work in St. Paul and Minneapolis, where she has had very large classes, and a great deal of other club work in various lines, have kept her too busily engaged there to allow time for a Duluth class, and the women of the city are glad to be able to take advantage of this opportunity to have a leader of so much ability to speak on so interesting a subject..

FOR PASTOR AND BRIDE

Members of First Christian Church to Hold Reception.

A reception will be held this evening at the First Christian church, corner of Fifth avenue west and Fourth street in honor of Rev. Ray E. Hunt, pastor of the church and his bride. They were married last week and have just arrived in the city and this function has been planned that the members of the church and their friends may have an opportunity to greet them. The pastors of the various city churches and their wives are cordially invited to be present this evening.

In the receiving line with the guests of honor will be Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Risdon and W. S. Austin.

An informal program has been arranged, Mrs. Kelley Compton and Miss Jean Wanless will sing, Miss Violette Flaaten will play a piano solo and Clyde Cordner will give a reading.

DRAMA TALK.

W. G. Crosby Speaks Before Twentieth Century Club.

"The Modern Drama," the subject taken up by the Literature department of the Twentieth Century club for their topic this season, was the subject of a lecture given last evening by Wilson G. Crosby at the Unitarian church before the members of the club and their friends.

He spoke of the various authors that will be taken up in detail and touched upon their work. He said that the different forms which the drama has taken from time to time succeed each other by the same laws governing other arts. That modern people in any art are those who remain in the closest touch with their own age, project themselves into the future and help establish the standard of the next age, was his claim.

Those dramatic writers who typify most distinctly this modern spirit, according to the speaker, are Shaw and Galsworthy, in England; Hauptmann, in Germany; Van Hoffmansthal, in Austria; and Rostand in France. Each of these men was briefly considered with some others in relation to modern drama as a whole.

THE EVENING STORY

ANDERSON'S REASON

By G. S. KEMP.

I am not a writing man, but I believe I can set down the facts of this peculiar affair so that they may interest you. I have some right to clear Anderson's character now, for I was the only one who resolutely declined, in the face of the most damning proof and of his own admission of guilt, to believe that he was other than a clean and straight man.

There never was a man I admired more, so you can imagine how the props of life seemed to have been knocked from under me when I arrived at the office one morning to hear that Anderson had been arrested an hour before.

"Robbed the safe," one of my fellow clerks told me. He mopped his face with his handkerchief. "Fancy Anderson of all men. Last man I could."

The four other clerks started in to talk loudly at that. My own mind was fogged, but out of the haze I could see clearly but one thing—the drawn and white face of Miss Barclay, the typist. A fine girl she was, and is. She came up to me now, her hands working pitifully. "It is a dreadful mistake," she said to me.

"I never heard anything so ridiculous," I told her. "Anyway, I am going down to the police station to hear what is said, if I get sacked for being absent. He is my best friend and—"

"And my future husband. I am going, too."

Anderson pleaded guilty. Guilty—that clean straight friend of mine. The thing was incredible. I heard Miss Barclay whisper, "No, no." I patted her arm, but she paid no heed to me. Her eyes were on that tall figure in the dock. P. C. 410 X then began to recite the result of his investigations. He found that the safe had been opened, and that a quantity of notes and gold, amounting to $275 had been extracted. A seal from the end of a watch chain had been found within the safe, broken off apparently, and when he arrested the prisoner the seal fitted his chain. On the prisoner was found one of the missing notes. Prisoner was in bed when he was arrested.

"Then how could the note be on him?" asked his worship.

"I found it in his pocket after he had dressed, your worship."

"H'm. Has prisoner a key to the safe?"

"He has, your worship."

"I see. That will do. Call James Parker."

Parker, the caretaker testified to having seen prisoner enter the office at 8:30 the previous evening. He left at 8:45 and Parker then closed the office. He found the safe broken open in the morning, and recognized the seal as that worn by Anderson. This ended the proceedings, and Anderson was committed to the sessions, of course. When he turned to leave the dock his eye caught mine.

"Cheer up, Jack," I cried. "I don't believe it." He threw back his head proudly, and smiled in his winning way. Just for the fraction of a second his eyes rested on Miss Barclay's face, but she did not smile. She might have been carved in stone. Then he disappeared. A constable warned me to be quiet or go out, so we left. For a little while neither Miss Barclay or I spoke. Then I cried:

"Well, old Jack may say he did it, but I don't believe it. And if he did he had a good reason."

"Good!" she flashed. "Good!"

"You are not going back on him?" I gasped.

"No! He is still to remain your friend?"

"Please heaven—yes. Old Jack is no criminal at heart. He is a white man. You don't think with me?"

"I am glad it happened now. Two months hence we were to have been married, and—oh, I can't believe it either. Only—he says he did, so I don't know what to think. I can't think. But I can't marry him."

"Then God help old Jack," cried I.

"Oh, you are so loyal," she cried. "I must be loyal too. It is all a mistake, Mr. Benson. There never was anyone like him—so good and kindly and brave. I won't believe it till he tells me he did it."

"Good!" said I.

Anderson was sentenced to three months' hard labor when the sessions came round. His hearing, I think helped to get him off lightly. Before these three months were up, Miss Barclay had turned dead against him.

"We were all deceived in him," she said. "You have no idea—" Then she broke off.

"What do you know—or think you know?" I asked her.

"I am not to say. I never wish to hear of him again."

She left the office two days later, and it was with a heavy heart that I met the old chap when he left prison. He was drawn and white, and his mouth twisted queerly when he smiled to me.

"So," he said—"so you've had faith in me?"

"Did you doubt it?"

"No. I know you. What of Nan?" I suppose my face showed the truth. He smiled. "Doesn't want to see me, eh? But she will. I quite understand how she feels. Think of it. The shame of it. Three months in that place." Then he grew calmer. He intended to write to Nan Barclay that evening, but we met her in the street. He stopped, and her face flamed.

"How dare you?" she said.

"I want to say—"

"Say nothing, please. I wish never to see your face again." Then she passed on. "May heaven forgive you," said Anderson. When he rejoined me his face was gray. "I might have been spared that," he said hoarsely. He stayed that night with me and left next morning, saying no word to any one.

For just about three years I heard no word of Anderson, nor did I meet any one who had. Two years after he disappeared I married the dearest little woman in the world. She did not know Anderson, but she was a friend of Nan Barclay's, and Anderson's old sweetheart sometimes came to visit us. But Anderson's name was never mentioned. So I was surprised when Jess referred to him one night after Miss Barclay had gone.

"I've just found out all about him," she told me. "If Miss Barclay's information is correct, he was a pretty kind of rascal."

"See here, Jess—"

"Wait a bit, dear. Did you know he was a gambler? Visited a gaming club when you thought him abed? Had a heavy gambling debt to meet, and met it the night before he was arrested? You didn't know that?"

"I don't know it now. Who says so?"

"Miss Barclay."

"Where did she get her information?"

"From her brother. It was to him the money was paid. He showed her two of the notes that were missing. She burnt them herself." At that moment—I trace the finger of Fate here—one of the office fellows came to my door. "Say," he said, "your old friend Anderson's coming along the street. He didn't recognize me, and I came to you because—"

"All right, all right," I said; "I'll get my hat. I rushed out just in time to catch Anderson. He was terribly shabby. "Staying here now?" he asked. He did not take my hand.

"I'm married now. Come in, old boy." He glanced down at his clothes and shook his head. "Now, no nonsense," I added.

"I've gone to pieces, old man."

"The pieces can be put together again." He came at length into the house and when I introduced Jessie his lip trembled. I saw his bare soul.

"I congratulate you both," he said. "You were the more favored of Fortune old chap. I—"

"You'll come and have a bath," I told him. Later he told us of his struggle. He got a place and somehow one gave him away. The same thing happened, again, and he grew desperate. Without references places were hard to get.

"When I remembered the old days and the position I held," he said, "I raged at Fate. And I got shabby—a shabby man is a beaten man—and so down I went. I've tried hard—and I've got a quarter." He laughed harshly. "So I came here, hoping perhaps to see her for a moment—at a distance. It was madness, but there's the fact. Afterwards—well, I'm tired of it, old man. I've gone under."

"Oh, how could she? How could she?" breathed Jessie. She gave me a meaning look and left the room. Anderson and I chatted of old days. Half an hour later Jessie called me from the room "for just a moment." When I went out Jessie pushed someone in. I heard Nan Barclay's voice say: "Oh, my dear, my dear." Jessie shut the door.

"I went for her," she said. "She had to come."

"Yes," said, "I know you." I laughed and kissed her.

Anderson was very cold at first. She put her arms around him. "Oh," she said, "if only I had trusted you and let you explain."

"Explain! Do I need to explain? Surely not to you. Well, it is too late now." He put her arms from him and rose to his feet.

"Oh," she cried, "can't you see there's been a mistake? Don't make it harder for me than it is."

"Harder," he said. "Harder. Me! Did I not ruin myself to save you? And you tell me—"

"Listen," she cried. "Listen! You thought that I—that I was the thief, and you tried to save me. Is not that so?"

"And were you not," he said, wonderingly. "I saw you hurry from the office that night. I had left a paper I wanted badly, and I went for it. As I went forward you hurried away. I called you, but you boarded a car. I went upstairs, found the safe open—and that." He showed her a locket.

"It is mine," she said.

"Yes, and the safe was empty. I knew what had happened. I knew it instantly. You told me yourself your brother was a scapegoat. He was in trouble, and you stole for him. You stole, knowing you might be suspected—almost certainly would be. I saw it all, so I pocketed the locket and broke off my seal. Fortunately I found one note. I took that. I had diverted suspicion from you."

"But could you not have pocketed the locket and left no trace?"

"Only two of us had keys. We should both have been suspected, and you might have been found guilty. I dared not let you run the risk. That is all. Only you turned from me and rejected me after. Well, it is all over now."

"No," she said—"no, I was not there, Jack."

"Not there?"

"No. My brother was. Rupert was the thief. He was a clever amateur actor, and he borrowed some of my clothes, the locket and a hat from me for some rehearsals, he said. He was about my height. Then he impersonated me, watched the caretaker go, and slipped upstairs. I do not know when he took impressions of my keys, but he had duplicates. No one would have challenged him had he been seen, but he was not. He left the locket to incriminate me. He meant to flee and let me face it—I could have proved an alibi—but when you pleaded guilty he stayed."

Anderson's face grew steadily grimmer as he listened to the story of how the young man had persuaded his sister against speaking to him.

"I want to meet that young gentleman," he said when she had finished.

"He is dead, Jack. He went to America six months ago. I've had a letter tonight. He was injured in a street accident, and before he died he confessed the truth."

There was silence in the room for a little while.

"I've gone to the bad," said Anderson at length. "I'm not fit to touch you. I've seen the seamy side of life. But I'll come again the man I was before. Then I'll ask you to help me—"

"I'll help you from now," said Nan, and her arms went around him.

The Art of Hand Shaking

By MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

When Frances Folsom Cleveland was the first lady of the land and the pride of the American public, she shook hands with so many admirers at White House receptions that it was stated she had to wear a larger glove than before her marriage.

Anyone who has gone through the ceremony of shaking hands with several hundred people at a public function knows that there are many varieties of hand-shake.

There is the limp, flabby hand which has no grip; there is the hand which seizes yours in a vise-like grip and crushes it until bones and ligaments ache; there is the cordial hand which carries the heart with it.

From time to time there is a caprice in hand-shaking. A year or two ago young women affected an upward lift of the arm and a jaunty shake of the hand which was rather embarrassing to old-fashioned ladies who had never learned to lift the hand when offering it to a friend.

At present many girls not only use this peculiar form of salutation in shaking hands, but have a way of saying "How do you do?" with a rising inflection and an air of indifference which, if they knew it, is really funny. A great deal of tact is required in adapting any salutation to the occasion.

In private life in this country the hand is not always given except to intimate friends and relatives. Many persons content themselves with a bow, or even a nod on meeting. But an extended hand is the more cordial manner of salutation. Ordinarily it should be left to the older or more distinguished one to make the proffer of the hand. Men and women in this country, as in France, seldom extend the hand unless there is a great difference of age and position, or much intimacy of relation. Whenever the hand is given it is not necessary to draw off the glove, as some attempt to do, with a great deal of fuss and consequent embarrassment.

Giving and Taking

By MARGARET WATTS DE PEYSTER.

It is a great thing to learn how to give and take—to give presents, kindly advice, a warm welcome to friends, and to know how to receive such things with a good grace and in such a way as will be acceptable to the donors.

Most of the people with whom one comes in contact do not evince much interest in other people's affairs troubles or woes, but that is no reason why every kind-hearted girl should not return real interest and good-heartedness for the opposing virtues. Try it and see how it works.

Only those who cultivate the spirit of true kindliness, who do their best to help their sisters and brothers, know what a feeling it brings to those who practice it. Those who do a kind thing graciously will know how to accept a well-meant action or advice graciously. They learn how to give and take.

It is very comforting some times to unburden oneself to a friend, even if it is only to recount a trifling annoyance. If one is met by a sympathetic look or touch of the hand, what a load of bricks seems to disappear. Patience must be the keynote with those who seem ungrateful—a spirit of resentment must not be shown even if felt, for that would not appear gracious.

A hard working clergyman once sent a birthday gift to one of his former parishioners for four consecutive years, and never had an acknowledgment. Later, he met the man who had received all the gifts, who felt so supremely uncomfortable that he was hardly able to meet the minister's eye. The clergyman was not in the least put out, he only said quietly: "I wanted to see whether you had received the presents; if they have pleased you it is your gain; if not, then neither of us suffer." This was real graciousness. The man never failed after that to send the minister a present on every birthday.

Be Charitable

By VIRGINIA HARLAN.

This does not necessarily mean that you are to give all your pocket money to the poor. You need not forego the pretty blouses you have set your heart on, or wear last season's hat in order to be charitable.

There is another and far rarer charity—that which refuses to speak ill of another person. It is the deep founded belief of every man that girls have only two topics, dress and scandal, and unfortunately, to a great extent this is true.

Girls do love scandal. They don't mean any harm when they criticize absent friends and acquaintances, but the injury they may do is incalculable. An idle word uttered in jest has ruined many a life and broken many an engagement which might have ended in a happy marriage. So don't talk scandal.

Never mind if you have a piece of exclusive information which your friends would love to hear. Keep it to yourself; be charitable. Remember that once you have spoken an unkind word you can never recall it.

Furthermore, don't listen to scandal. If your friends indulge in it, don't join in. You need not disapprove openly, for that requires a courage which you may not possess, but you can keep silent. In time you will find that personal remarks are not made when you are present. Your influence will have a good effect, and, though you may not realize it, you will be more respected and loved.

ALBENBERG'S

CREDITORS WILL MEET.

Financial Affairs of St. Louis Hotel Will Be Reviewed Wednesday.

Next Wednesday there will be a meeting of the creditors of the St. Louis hotel, at which time they will decide just what steps to take to adjust the company's affairs.

J. T. Michaud, manager and one of the proprietors of the hotel, stated today that there was nothing further to say than to state that the date of the meeting of the creditors had been set and that the creditors would decide what action was to be taken.

The news that the hotel was in any financial trouble came as a surprise to many who believed the hotel was doing a prosperous business. Just how much involved the hotel company is, will probably not be known until after Wednesday.

THAT HILL ORE LEASE

Terms Show Foresight and Shrewdness of Railroad Builder.

Royalty Would Amount to $5 Per Ton By Year 1946.

Local mining men are not surprised at the report that the United States Steel corporation has decided to cancel its lease on the Great Northern ore properties. It is the consensus of opinion among them that the lease was a remarkably shrewd move on the part of James J. Hill. Some say that the Duluth officials of the corporation were opposed to the lease from the start, but were overruled by Eastern interests.

One local mining engineer, who has considerable inside information on the subject, said today that in his judgment there was absolutely no room for doubt that the Steel corporation would cancel the lease at the first opportunity.

The Steel corporation or rather the Great Western Mining company, for the lands are leased to the Steel corporation in the name of that company, has the option of withdrawing from the lease in the year 1915. If the withdrawal is not made in that year, the lease will continue until the ore bodies are exhausted from the lands leased.

If the Steel corporation mines as much as the minimum amount for which it must pay each year under the terms of the lease, according to the findings of experts, the ore in the lands leased will be exhausted in the year 1947. If no more than the minimum is mined, and new ore is discovered in the mean time, the life of the lease will of course be prolonged, that is, if it is not relinquished in the year 1915. The Steel corporation may surrender the lands on Jan. 1, 1915, if it so desires, upon written notice, given to the trustees at St. Paul two years previously. The notice, therefore, must be given on or before Jan. 1, 1913.

"Without doubt it seemed best in 1907 to make this lease," from the standpoint of expediency," said the local man referred to above today. "It seems to me that the same considerations now point toward cancellation. Under the terms of the lease, the corporation by the year 1946 will be paying more than $5 royalty for the ore mined under this lease. The royalty paid by most companies is 75 cents to a dollar. You see what this means in a competitive market.

Interest on the Ore.

"A most peculiar provision of the lease is the increase of the royalty, year by year, by an amount equal to 4 per cent interest. Why the Steel corporation should pay interest on the ore, before it gets it, is more than I can see; yet so the lease provides, beginning with the year 1907.

"Ore containing 59 per cent of iron, when dried to drive off hygroscopic moisture, is the base on which all royalties are computed. For the year 1907 such an ore was to pay a royalty and freight to Lake Superior amounting to $1.65 a ton, and of this sum 80 cents was to be freight. This latter sum is fixed for the entire period of the lease, on all ores of whatever grade. Annually after 1907, the amount paid as royalty is to be increased by a sum equal to 4 per cent interest on the original royalty. Beginning at the base of 59 per cent dried, the royalty rises or falls $.0482 for each per cent of iron in the analysis. Ore containing 49 per cent metallic iron, dried, is fixed as the minimum merchantable standard, and if the lessee ships ore of a leaner grade than that, the lessee is to pay a flat rate of $1.10 combined royalty and freight. This provision is continuous.

Freight Rates.

"At present rail freight rates from all Mesaba range points to Lake Superior ports amount to 80 cents a ton; but in case there shall be any change in these rates at any time during the term of this lease, whatever amount is subtracted from the freight rate is to be added to the royalty paid, making the sum of the two the same as when the freight rate is as at present. A reduction in freight rates would thus benefit the holders of the Great Northern Ore certificates, for whose benefit the royalties are paid to the trustees.

"Thus far the Steel corporation has not mined its minimum, or any amount near it. The total of the minimums up to the year 1910 was 7,500,000 tons. The total amount mined up to that time was less than 2,000,000 tons, leaving a deficit of more than 5,500,000 tons. Without doubt, however, by the close of the year 1912, the Steel corporation will have caught up with the minimums.

"If the Steel corporation has announced, or does announces at this time, its intention to abrogate the Great Northern orelands lease, it will be, I think, on account of the attitude of the government and of the references to ore monopoly in the report of the commissioner of corporations. No annulment can come before Jan. 1, 1915, so that, so far as general conditions are concerned, the announcement at this time of the intention to forfeit can have but one cause."

Include 39,000 Acres.

The leased lands include about 39,000 acres scattered for a distance of about seventy-five miles along the Mesaba range from township 59-14 to a point west of Grand Rapids.

The Financial American says: "When the Hill ore land lease was signed, W. E. Corey, then president of the Steel corporation, refused to put his signature to the document on the ground that he thought it a bad bargain and did not want to be on record favoring it. One of the chief geologists of the corporation also advised against the lease."

Dow, Jones & Co. of New York reported today that the Great Northern Ore certificates had lost 4¼ points on the rumor that the Steel corporation was going to cancel the ore land lease.

FARGO NEWSPAPER SOLD.

The Fram, a Norwegian Publication, Changes Hands.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A deal was closed here today whereby The Fram, one of the largest Norwegian papers in the Northwest, was sold. A corporation headed by H. H. Aaker of Fargo bought the paper.

A. Trovaaten, former manager and editor, retired. It is understood that it will stand for the candidacy of R. H. Aaker, who has already announced that he is in the race for governor.

WISCONSIN PROGRESSIVES TO MEET ON DEC. 5.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 20.—State Senator A. W. Sanborn, Ashland president of the Wisconsin Progressive Republican league, and Thomas Mahon, Eland Junction, secretary of the league, announced that the next meeting will be held in Milwaukee Dec. 5. It is the intention of the leaders of the league to have the candidacy of Senator La Follette for the presidency indorsed at this meeting.

INTO LONG TROUSERS

Duluth Like a Large and Growing Boy, Says J. F. Treat.

Imperial Potentate Says It Won't Long Remain in 100,000 Class.

"Duluth is no stranger to me," said Imperial Potentate J. F. Treat of Fargo today at the St. Louis. "I was here some twenty-nine years ago when you had a lot of brush and some few houses. But then I have been coming down to Duluth very often since then. I like to boost. Naturally it does the most good, but in the present case I am not boosting, simply telling the truth, when I state that Duluth in some ways is one of the most remarkable cities we have in the West.

"The city is in the very infancy of its growth and has not realized its own vast possibilities. It is truly a wonderful city, but its prospects are much more brilliant than the material progress that has been realized in the past. Duluth is a city that is gathering its strength, like the strength that is coming to a large and growing boy, and with unlimited possibilities opening in this rapidly developing north country, I don't see how the city is going to remain in the 100,000 class very much longer."

As the Imperial Potentate, Mr. Treat is the most prominert figure at the present time in the national shrine. His presence here for the fall ceremonial adds dignity and distinction to the initiation work of the shrine that will be performed at the Masonic temple this evening.

In addition to the presence of Imperial Potentate Treat, Charles Ovenshire of Minneapolis, ceremonial master of the imperial divan, will be here, as well as a number of shriners from Fargo, St. Paul and Minneapolis, Milwaukee and other cities.

There is a large delegation of shriners from Milwaukee who have come to take in the ceremonial of this evening because they want some suggestions and ideas for the shrine work in Milwaukee. Duluth is considered to rank very high in shrine work, and for that reason the presence of so many outsiders can be taken in the light of a compliment for the local shriners and the officers.

It is expected that there will be from 600 to 700 shriners at the meeting this evening. It is believed that about 200 of these will be from outside points. The meeting will probably be one of the largest and most distinguished that has ever been held by the local order.

This morning Imperial Potentate Treat was taken for an automobile ride about the city by Potentate Underhill of the local shrine and a number of the Duluth shriners. This afternoon it is planned to take a boat ride around the bay in the Plowboy, should the weather permit.

The ceremonial this evening will bring the stay of Imperial Potentate Treat practically to a close, as he plans to leave early tomorrow morning.

Incoming delegates were met at the train with a band this morning, and escorted to the St. Louis hotel.

MINNESOTA STREAMS ARE RUNNING HIGH.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 20.—According to measurements made by the United States geological survey, the streams of the state are running high and the ground is soaked.

The Zumbro river at Zumbro Falls is at the sixteen and one-half-foot mark, the highest record since the establishment of the guaging station three years ago. This is eleven feet above low water. The Cannon and Root rivers are also high.

A WORD REGARDING OUR PRICES

A store which carries high-grade goods is often known as "high priced" without in any way deserving the term. It is the penalty for keeping the best. We have now and then noticed this in our own case, although the goods, if compared, grade for grade, will average lower in price than elsewhere. Second grade goods never masquerade here as "the best" and the public should never forget that we have a reputation of which we are very jealous and that we expect to be in business next year, and some after that.

"SHIELDS THREATENED TO SHOOT ME," SAYS COOK

Duluth Man Testifies at the Stephenson Inquiry.

Tells of Conversation With the Man From Superior.

WIRT H. COOK.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 20.—That R. J. Shields of Superior, Wis., threatened to shoot him if he did anything "to hurt" the Superior man, was the feature today in the testimony of Wirt H. Cook of Duluth, Minn., before the senatorial committee that is investigating alleged bribery in the election of United States Senator Isaac Stephenson.

Cook testified to having had a conversation with Shields at a hotel in Chicago, subsequent to a conversation between the same two men on a train between Chicago and Duluth. This conversation was not mentioned until it came out in answers to cross-examination.

"What was said at the hotel talk?" asked Chairman Heyburn.

"I don't like to say," replied Cook.

"The committee insists upon your telling," urged the chairman, and Cook finally said:

"Shields said if I did anything to hurt him he'd shoot me."

Cook denied he had made many of the statements which were attributed to him in the previous testimony of Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris. He declared he never had said he had information about bribery in the election.

"Morris and the rest told me more than I had known," said Cook. "All the information I had was of 'what was told me was what somebody else had heard said.' I told them if they wanted to get it right, why didn't they question Shields. I endeavored later to induce Shields t, tell all he knew, but could not induce him."

COPPER STOCKS MAKE GOOD GAINS

Most Bullish Day Red Metal Shares Have Had for Weeks.

The copper bulls at last roused themselves from their long-continued lethargy today and initiated a vigorous and successful campaign against the bears. Nearly all of the shares closed at substantial gains.

Not for many weeks has the copper market had such a bullish trend as it showed this morning. There was nothing in the openings to give promise of this, though many of the openings were fairly strong. What started the rise was probably the better feeling that followed the increase of the market price of electrolytic copper. Moreover, many good, dividend-paying stocks have for a long time been on the bargain counter, and there have been so many "snaps" that it is not surprising that those who have money in hand, ready to invest, have been waking up to the fact that there are opportunities on hand now that may not be repeated for years. There was a better feeling also on the New York exchange, where the general stock list showed a great deal of strength. Bulls seemed to be encouraged by the prevailing belief that changes would be made by the Steel corporation in respect to the control of the ore situation, and that this would obviate the danger of prosecution under the anti-trust law.

Among the copper quotations of the day were the following: Amalgamated, yesterday's close, $52.75; today, $53, $52.75, $54, $53.75, $54, $54.50; Butte Ballaklava, yesterday's close, $3.62½ bid, $3.75 asked; today, $3.56¼; Butte Coalition, yesterday, $14.87½ bid, $15.12½ asked; today, $15, $15.26, $15.75, $16; Calumet & Arizona, yesterday, $42.25 bid, $48.50 asked; today, $48.50, $49, $49.25, $50; Giroux, yesterday, $3.75 bid, $3.93¾ asked; today, $3.93¾, $3.87½; Greene Cananea, yesterday, $5.81¼ bid, $5.93¾ asked; today, $5.87½, $6, $6.25; North Butte, yesterday, $24.50 bid, $24.75 asked; today, $24.75, $25, $24.75, $25.50; Shattuck, yesterday, $16 bid, $16.50 asked; today, $17; Keating, yesterday, $2.25 asked; today, $2.25 asked; Butte & Superior, yesterday, $8.50@9; today, $8.62½; Cactus, yesterday, 16@18c; today, 16@18c, 17c.

CHARGE OF DRUNKENNESS CHANGED TO BURGLARY.

Joe Blake was arrested this morning on a charge of burglary. He is accused of stealing a $50 overcoat from Charles Bennett, a bartender.

Blake was taken in custody last evening by the police for drunkenness and while at the station, another man was brought in and charged with being the man wanted in connection with the theft of the overcoat. The proprietor of a pawnshop, who had been called in to identify the prisoner, accidentally happened to see Blake and pointed him out as the man who had stolen the garment and had tried to pawn it. The charge of drunkenness against Blake was changed to burglary.

FOLK INVITES CLARK TO STRIFE

Wants Primary to Test Their Strength in the State.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 20.—War has been declared between the Clark and the Folk factions in Missouri. Former Governor Joseph W. Folk has openly defied the speaker to test their respective strength in the state primaries. In reply to the public declaration of defiance, Speaker Clark merely reiterated his statement that he has "never begun a conversation about running for president; never wrote a letter asking any one's help, and never spent a cent for it" in his life. Further than this he refuses to be quoted.

GAMBLING AS A BENEFIT.

Idaho Daily Statesman: Gambling is allowed in the Nevada state penitentiary at Carson City, and it is looked upon as a veritable necessity by the prison authorities, according to Deputy Warden Baker, brother of the warden of that institution, who recently visited Boise and a few days ago inspected the Idaho penitentiary.

"How do you amuse your men?" he inquired of Warden Snook. The latter replied that the prison library was a good one and that all sorts of magazines and papers are sent out by societies and kindly disposed persons on the outside who take an interest in the prisoners. This mental pabulum appeared to meet the demands of the intellectual hunger of every class of prisoners, thought Mr. Snook.

"Well," observed Mr. Baker, "we have something at the Nevada prison that beats a library all hollow for real, live, up-to-date, exciting amusement. And as far as engaging a convict's interest is concerned it is the best ever. Why, lots of our prisoners say they have more fun there than they ever had anywhere else before they became guests of the state."

"And what is this wonderful system?" asked Mr. Snook.

"It's gambling," replied Mr. Baker, "gambling in all its devious forms. The prisoners run their own layouts and there are favorite games run by favorite bankers. And right here is the strangest part of it all. There never has been a crooked game run in the penitentiary by these convicts. Murderers, highwaymen, thieves, pickpockets, burglars, criminals of every type, reach a common ground of honesty in the gambling as it is conducted there. Few cases of cheating among players have ever been detected, and it is an unwritten law among the prisoners that shady deals will meet with universal ostracism. The games are on the square, and in that are better than many of the games run in other places that are known as legitimate.

"The tastes differ and there is some form of gambling to meet every taste. Faro and roulette are the favorites, but chuckaluck, Klondike, craps, poker, fantan, lottery and other whirls of chance have their share of patrons. What is known as the 'high brow' element prefers whist, as it involves personal skill.

"The games are run just like an ordinary game. Prison money used in the regular prison transaction and equivalent on its face value to real money, redeemable on the order of the prisoner possessing it or checkable against the books of the institution, is used. It is just like a bunch of ordinary man playing for chips representing various values in a poker game and redeemable on the banker.

"No prisoner has ever been known to welch a gambling debt, and loaded dice have never been exposed in the course of the practice.

"The prison authorities thought at first that they would try it as an experiment, and it has worked out so well that I don't think it ever will be abolished. A man can't play to excess or lose an unusually large sum of money, because he only gets so much prison money anyway. No credit is allowed for gambling. But they satisfy the passion for play that exists in almost every man, and the excitement and amusement which they derive from the harmless games combine to actually benefit them. The games add the incentive of playing for real value, so that they possess gambling interest. The only profits of the bankers come in the way of a legitimate percentage. We find that this system does more than anything else to occupy a man's mind, wipe out his worry and brooding, and at the same time no harm is done."

One of the bitterest political battles ever waged in the history of Nevada was over the abolition of gambling.

RINGING THE CANES.

"There isn't a cane on the board that you can't throw a ring over and the rings are five for a nickel or eleven for a dime. Come along now and get your cane."

The canes, seventy-five or a hundred of them, stand upright a few inches apart in five parallel rows in a rack, with their heads projecting above the top board, says the New York Sun. A counter runs along the front of the little booth in which the canes are found, the cane rack at the back, but so near to you that it seems as if dropping rings over the canes would be easy; but it isn't, or not very easy.

An the canes? Some with curious silver plated or nickelled heads in strange designs; and canes with china heads, blue and white; strange canes in great variety.

"They're five rings for a nickel, or eleven for a dime," says the cane man, "and there isn't a cane there tht you can't put a ring over. Come along now and try 'em," and a man who never had tried 'em, though he had often stopped to look, stopped now and bought some rings.

There was only one cane there that he really wanted, a plain bamboo stock without a head, over in the back row of the rack; but in a minute another man got that and walked away with it.

"Can't you put up another bamboo?"

"Why certainly," said the cane man, a very pleasant gentleman, and he took one from a bunch on the floor and set it in a hole in the rack's back row, but not where the other had been; this new cane he placed directly in front of the tosser, where it would be handy for him, and then the man began tossing.

But he didn't ring it, and then the cane man jabbed it down two or three inches deeper in the hole to make it easier; but still, though he tossed ring after ring and the cane was so near, he failed to ring it. In the course of his throwing he did ring, over in those back rows, two other canes with small heads; one with a blue china head and one with a brown china head, but he hadn't yet got the bamboo. And then the cane man helped again.

He had thrust the bamboo lower in the rack in that last row back and that had made it easier, and now he lifted it out of the back row and placed it in a hole one row further front, and then after tossing a few more rings the tosser actually ringed the bamboo, the identical cane he wanted.

And then for the first time clearly the tosser took notice of the arrangement of the canes in their parallel rows from front to back. The grand and wonderful canes with the big and marvellous heads were all right there in the front row almost where you could touch 'em, and certainly there wasn't a cane there that a ring wouldn't go over, but to ring 'em wasn't so easy as it looked. And the next row back had heads a little smaller, and so they went back in rows of canes with heads of diminishing sizes to the last row at the back. The canes were not just stuck in the holes any way they had happened to be picked up, but varied as they were in appearance to the eye, they were arranged as to sizes in order, and, simple and old as this arrangement is, it was really to this tosser a discovery.

"Why, they're graduated strictly!" he said to the cane man.

"Why, certainly they are," said he. "If they were not we couldn't make a living."

And with that the ring tosser and the cane man parted with feelings of mutual esteem and satisfaction, and then the tosser took account of stock. He had three canes, which had cost him a quarter, and it seemed a good many canes for him to bring away for that money, but the bamboo cane was just a three foot section cut from the tapering end of a bomboo pole, and you know about what that would cost, while the two canes with the china heads were made each of the slender tip end of a bamboo pole, painted brown, and with the china head stuck on the thicker end, and you know about what these canes would cost by the gross.

So as to that matter the tosser might feel quite easy, he hadn't robbed anybody. He had had a lot of fun for a quarter, while in it all there was nothing saddening to the man behind the counter.

CRITICISM.

Chicago News: "My aunt has been visiting me for several moons," remarked Stormaway. "She's going away tomorrow and I want to make her a little present. I thought a nice book would be about right, so if you have anything of a highly moral nature that would appeal to an old lady, dish it up."

"There's nothing wrong with 'Paradise Lost,'" replied the bookseller. "That's a standard work and most old ladies swear by it, whether they read it or not. I have a beautiful copy of that book and will make a low price on it."

"You seem to think I have a grudge against my aunt," objected Stormaway. "I want you to underestand that she and I are on the best of terms, and I'm not planning to give her a book in order to carry out a vendetta. When I was a boy I had read 'Paradise Lost' as a punishment when I played hooky or went fishing on Sunday and I used to beg my father to burn that book and wear out a red elm club on me. There may be literary fans who like Milton's guff, but I doubt it. I don't believe any man in full possession of his faculties could read three cantos of that stuff without wanting to set fire to the town hall. I like prose and I like poetry, but I'll be hanged if I like a cross between the two, and I won't ask my aunt to read anything that I draw the line at myself. If you haven't anything better than 'Paradise Lost' I'll go down to the city attorney's office and try to trade him out of a copy of the municipal ordinances."

"Oh, don't get excited. We have all sorts and conditions of books, and it'll be funny if I can't find something that will make your aunt feel twenty years younger. Here's a copy of Mrs. Heman's poems. My wife, whose opinion on literary matters is worth consideration, as she has had several poems accepted by the Johnson County Vindicator, has a high opinion of Mrs. Hemans, and says she delivered the real goods."

"You can't work off any gold bricks or that sort on me, Mr. Quagmire. I read the literary encyclopedia a good deal, and it happens that I was reading a long story about Mrs. Hemans just the other night. There was something wrong with that woman, for her husband left her and the neighbors quit borrowing things from her. I read that article aloud, and my aunt pretty nearly threw a fit, she has such a horror of domestic scandals of all kinds. She comes of old Puritan stock, my aunt does, and she still thinks that people should be burned at the stake if they get too swift. So you can imagine what would happen in my humble home if I bought a copy of Mrs. Hemans and offered it to that strictly virtuous old lady."

"Well, here's a copy of Wordsworth. There are no flies on Wordsworth. His moral character was above reproach and the highbrows say his poetry is the real thing. Some insist that he was the greatest of English poets. My wife indorses him strongly, and I have a great deal of respect for my wife's opinions, as she has contributed for years to the Johnson——"

"Oh, hang the Johnson County Vindicator. You never get through talking about that fool paper, which would do better if it would print more news and less hogwash. But Wordsworth won't do. He was a tiresome old fraud, always writing about trees and haystacks and primroses and such things. There is not any action in his poetry at all. I used to have to read it when I went to school and it set my teeth on edge as though I had been eating green apples.

"Now, here's just what I want—'Harry Tracy, the Bandit; or, Tracked to His Doom.' Why didn't you show me this in the first place? An old lady'll read a book like that and have something to preach about for the rest of her life. Wrap it up for me and charge it, and don't let me hear another word about the Johnson County Vindicator."

NO RESULTS.

Chicago News: "I wish," exclaimed Mrs. Turnover, "that you would put away your everlasting novel and paint the front screen door. I put new wire on it myself, and you should be willing to put on a coat of paint on it."

"What's the use of painting a screen door?" asked Turnover, wearily. "One of the weak points of your character is this vulgar fondness for display and ostentation. We should be thankful to have a screen door of any kind. Are you satisfied with a good serviceable screen door that would be counted a blessing by thousands of less fortunate women? No, you must have your husband leave his book in order to paint it, and convert it into a gaudy affair that will attract the attention of passers-by and cause them to say that we are trying to live above our station. Nothing is more disgusting to refined people of artistic temperament than the sight of a flashy screen door."

"Oh, dear me! You are the most provoking man that ever lived in this world! You are getting worse and worse all the time! It used to be possible to induce you to help a little about the house once in awhile, but now you won't do a thing but read novels and argue. The idea of a man of your age reading that silly detective story!"

"It has become a practice with people of superficial mental capacity to sneer at detective stories, but it would be better for you and other women if you wasted less time on screen doors and other trifling things and devoted some attention to literature. The wise man gathers information from all sources. He may enjoy the essays of Bacon, but he does not sneer at the love stories of Mrs. Georgie Sheldon. He may appreciate the profundity of Charles Darwin and still be able to admire the author of 'Old Sleuth.' Nobody will question the greatness of Macauley, yet he had a passionate fondness for the wildly sensational literature of his time, and he fairly reveled in the broadsides describing the execution of criminals."

"Oh, bother Macauley, whoever he was! I hope he didn't pester his wife with long winded arguments when she asked him to lend a hand about the house."

"If there was any pestering done, probably Mrs. Macauley, was responsible for it. Men of literary inclinations and attainments have nearly always been unfortunate in their wives and other women folk. The average woman sees nothing in a book but a certain number of pages. She cannot understand that a book may seem a sacred thing to her husband, whether he writes it or merely reads it.

"There was Thomas Carlyle, for instance. He was one of the intellectual giants of his time and he was married to a woman who considered a cabbage more important than a whole public library. While he was writing his 'Sartor Resartus' she was always coming to the door of his study and asking him to sprinkle paris green on the potatoes or get down on all fours and pull weeds out of the carrot bed. She had a voice that used to jar the unfortunate man out of his chair when she came to the door or the window and shrieked at him.

"John Milton was another victim of unappreciative female. He had a houseful of daughters and they were always bothering him, asking him to go out and kill a rooster or fix the alley fnce or paint a screen door. Just imagine that divinely gifted man trying to get action on his immortal poem and being disturbed by a lot of silly women who wanted him to put up a new clothes line or saw the horns off the family cok! Charles Dickens also had a wife who was more interested in mutton stews than in the monumental fame her husband was achieving. I could name a dozen more—"

"You don't need to. You can sit there and read till you have apoplexy and I'll paint that screen door myself."

Advertising has made "oaks" of many businesses that were simply acorns.

YOUNG MANILA WOMAN A LAWYER.

Manila Times: From Manila arrives a sweet girl graduate of the law, Senorita Maria Francisco. First of her sex in all the Philippine islands, she brilliantly passed the examination, and Thursday morning took the oath before the supreme court which makes her an advocate.

On Oct. 12 next she will be 22. She was 11 when she went to the Colegio de San Pablo, she was 18 when she was graduated from the Liceo de Manila as a bachelor of arts, to begin immediately the study of law at the Escuela de Derecho. Forty-four students entered the examination, and of the thirteen who passed she was third, and came within an ace of being bracketed with the two leaders.

Senorita Maria's sister, Filomena Francisco, is a licensed pharmacist and manager of a drug store on Calle G. Tuason, Sampaloc. The future of the young lawyer is already provided for. She will first enter the office of Mr. Del Pan, and then that of the firm of Felipe Buencamino.

JENNY GEDDES.

London Chronicle: Of the memories that gather around St. Giles's cathedral none is more cherished by the Scotsman than the story of Jenny Geddes. Charles I., determined to force Episcopacy, commanded that on July 23, 1637, the English church service should be read in every parish church in Scotland. On that Sunday a great crowd gathered in St. Giles, and when Dean Hannay, in a surplice, began to read the prayers such a commotion ensued that his voice was drowned. One voice, however, rose above the din—Jenny Geddes, "Out! Out!" she cried. "Does the false loon mean to say his black mass at my lug?" And seizing her stool she threw it at the head of the astonished dean. There followed such an uproar that the service had to be abandoned.

In modern and more peaceful times this event, momentous in its outcome, has been commemorated by two memorial tablets in the cathedral. One is to Dean Hannay, the other, erected by Lord President Inglis, is to the memory of "a brave Scotswoman, Janet Geddes, who on July 23, 1637, struck the first blow in the great struggle for freedom of conscience, which after a conflict of half a century, ended in the establishment of civil and religious liberty."

GET BACK TO THE SOIL

That Is Advice of Judge Cant to Two Youthful Prisoners.

Urges Them to Turn Farmers After Term in Reformatory.

"If you young men would face about, quit the use of liquor and go upon a piece of land some where, it doesn't matter where, and live on it and work upon it, you could be of some use to yourselves and the community, said Judge Cant of the district court this morning in sentencing Lawrence Berry and Henry Burke to the state reformatory at St. Cloud, Minn.

The men, both under 25 years of age, had pleaded guilty to breaking into an engine house owned by Contractor George King and stripping the engine of the brass. The brass they sold to a junk dealer for $2. It was worth in the neighborhood of $40, it is said.

The men claimed that they were drunk at the time they committed the crime. They said that they had been out for several days and after running out of money they began casting around for an easy way to get more.

Both men admitted that they had been arrested about five times each. Sometimes it had been for drunkenness and other times the offense had been more serious.

Judge Cant gave them some wholesome advice as to their duty to themselves and told them that a trip to St. Cloud and the discipline of the institution would help them to get a more serious view of life.

A pathetic feature of the case was the fact that although the mothers of both boys are sorely in need of financial help, neither boy had contributed to their support in some time. One of the boys admitted that at the present time his mother is very ill at home. The other mother, after doing all in her power to get a suspended sentence for her son was in court to hear the final disposition of the case.

NELSONS HELD TO GRAND JURY

Brother and Sister Have Examination on Charge of Shoplifting.

Oliver and Annie Nelson, the brother and sister arrested early in the week on a charge of shoplifting in the downtown department stores of Duluth and Superior, were bound over to the grand jury after a preliminary examination in police court yesterday afternoon.

They were arraigned on two complaints, one sworn out by the George A. Gray company and the other by Stack & Co. The bail of each was fixed at $750 in each case. County Attorney Norton appeared for the state and Attorney McKeon for the defendants, neither of whom went on the stand.

During the progress of the examination the girl kept her face covered with her hands and was in tears most of the time. The couple are said to have used a pasteboard box of the kind handled by tailoring establishments, with a large slit in the bottom, in their operations.

PROGRESS ON WOODLAND SEWER

Board of Public Works Approves Plans and Sends Them to Council.

The board of public works acted to be given during the winter and the Woodland sanitary sewer at its meeting at the city hall this morning and will submit it to the council Monday evening. That body will likely direct the board to advertise for bids and award the contract subject to its approval.

The estimated cost of the sewer is about $60,000 and when completed it will be one of the biggest ever built in Duluth. It will drain an extensive area, starting at Woodland and having its outlet into the lake near the foot of Thirty-third avenue east.

PRINTING HOUSE LOSES.

Supreme Court Rules in Farmers' Institute Annual Case.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—To the board of administration of the Minnesota Farmers' institutes belongs authority for having the Farmers' Institute Annual printed, according to an opinion handed down by the supreme court today, and the Syndicate Printing company, which does the printing for state departments, is not entitled to the work unless the board of administration awards it.

The Syndicate company brought suit against the board of administration in the Ramsey county court, to enjoin it from letting a contract for the work to another firm, claiming that its contract with the state entitled it to the job. In reviewing the case, the supreme court holds that there are two conflicting statutes on the books, one giving the state printing commission authority to contract for the annual, and one giving the board of administration authority to let the contract. Continuing, it said, in an opinion written by Justice Bunn:

"If, therefore, the two acts are inconsistent, Chapter 221, being the latest expression of the legislature on the subject, operated as a repeal by implication of the previous inconsistent law and must be given effect."

The lower court decided in favor of the board of administration and the supreme court affirms the decision.

BEING TRIED FOR BURGLARY

Clifford Dwyer Found Guilty —Partner Now Faces Jury.

George Oven is on trial today before Judge Ensign of the district court, charged with burglary in the third degree. Oven's partner, Clifford Dwyer, was tried yesterday and found guilty.

The men were accused of breaking into a West end hardware store and taking a number of trinkets. They were arrested at Detroit, Mich.

It is the opinion of the local police that the two men are the same who at different times recently held up street car conductors, taking from them the money they had collected from passengers.

Chief Troyer is of the opinion that the men used the revolvers which they took from the Johnson-Peterson Hardware company's store, to hold up the conductors. Another thing that leads the police to this belief is the fact that an automobile was used on one occasion to get away, and it is known that Dwyer is a chauffeur.

Both men have been arrested at different times and both have reformatory records, although not in this state.

KEROSENE EXPLOSION.

Nearly Claims Whole Family Near Warren, Minn.

Warren, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The farm house of John L. Skurdahl, three miles west of Warren, was burned to the ground this morning. Mrs. Skurdahl was lighting the fire with kerosene which exploded. The fire caught in her clothing badly burning her, also the house. The whole family of several small and grown-up children and the father were in bed and barely had time to escape from the house without being burned.

Mrs. Skurdahl was brought to the Warren hospital and is not expected to live.

Will Examine Nurses.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Announcement is made by Governor Eberhart of the appointment of Miss Lina Holl of St. Paul as a member of the state board of nurses, to succeed Miss Grace Watson, resigned. The board examines applicants for license to work as trained nurses.

LARGE SUMS ARE WANTED

Many Personal Injury Actions Filed Against Oliver Iron Mining Company.

Suits Aggregating $25,000 Are Begun With Filing of Complaints.

Personal injury actions which aggregate $25,000 were filed today in district court against the Oliver Iron Mining company.

Matt Kerpin asks $10,000 for injuries alleged to have been sustained while he was working for the concern at the Hull-Rust mine, Hibbing. He claims that he was not warned as to the time of explosions and that as the result of a discharge of dynamite close to him he suffered the loss of the use of one ear. He also claims to have sustained a severe nervous shock.

Valentine Skarja, through his guardian, Harry DeChambeau, is suing the same company for $5,000 for alleged negligence on the part of an engineer in the employ of the company. Skarja was employed as a brakeman and while trying to couple two cars together his hand was caught and crushed between the cars.

Mike Sabaly wants $5,000 for injuries alleged to have been sustained while working about a steam shovel at the Hull-Rust mine. He was hit by a defective jack-screw and several ribs broken, he claims.

Joseph Chipack asks $5,000 for injuries which he claims he sustained to his back when he slipped and fell against an ore car. He claims the company did not furnish him a safe place to work.

RAILROADS

SOO LINE AGENTS IN CONFERENCE.

J. P. Gehrey, district passenger agent of the Soo and Harry T. Duffy, traveling agent, returned this morning from Waukesha, Wis., where they attended a meeting of all of the Soo Line passenger representatives. The meetings were held Tuesday and Wednesday, the purpose being to discuss the passenger business and means of improving it in every way possible. The Commercial club of Waukesha, Mr. Duffy reports, gave the visitors a cordial reception.

TRAIN STOPS ON BRINK.

Track Walker Discovers Dangerous Washout on Soo Line.

Owen, Wis., Oct. 20.—The Velvet special, southbound from Duluth on the Soo Line, narrowly escaped a catastrophe yesterday when it passed over the Poplar creek bridge at Atwood, eight miles below here on the new Spencer cutoff. Five minutes after the train passed over the bridge 200 feet of filling of the approach gave way and the track slid into the ditch. A track walker discovered the washout and a stock train of thirty cars, following close behind the Velvet special, was stopped at the brink of the slide. It backed to Owen and flagged a Soo passenger train that followed twenty-five minutes later.

AMONG RAILROAD MEN

Homer S. Gray, traveling passenger agent for the Illinois Central lines is in the city today.

W. L. Hathaway of Minneapolis, traveling passenger agent for the Rock Island, is in Duluth.

G. W. French, traveling freight agent for the New York Central lines with headquarters here, has returned from a long trip through the northern Michigan country.

ATTACK ANOTHER TOWN IN TRIPOLI

Italians Bombard and Occupy Part of Benghazi.

Benghazi, Tripoli, Oct. 20.—The Italian fleet under Rear Admiral Aubrey bombarded this city yesterday and landed 4,000 men, who, after a brisk battle occupied a portion of the town. The greater part of the troops camped on the beach last night. The Turks refused to surrender and made a stubborn resistance.

Cholera Among Italians.

Berlin, Oct. 20.—Edward Mygind, an experienced and reliable correspondent of the Zeitung am Mittag, cabling his paper from Jerba, an island belonging to Tunis and where he escaped the Italian censorship, says that the Italian losses in nightly skirmishes in Tripoli are considerable and that the Italian assertions that the Turks and Arab allies are discouraged and intend to surrender are pure humbug. Cholera, he states, has claimed many victims among the Italian troops and the residents of Tripoli.

Mygind adds that only 20,000 Italian troops have been landed on the Tripolitan coast and that there is no thought of an advance into the interior before the present army has been reinforced.

WILL TALK TO LUNCH CLUB

City Attorney Bert Fesler is conducting a systematic campaign of education on the subject of municipal electric lighting. Tonight he will speak at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club. The Saturday Lunch club will hold a meeting at the Commercial club at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and Mr. Fesler will speak. Watson S. Moore, another warm advocate of the municipal lighting plant, will speak at the meeting of the Lakeside club tonight.

COSTLY CHERRY TREES.

James Scully Wants $500 for Six and Use of Land.

The returns from cherry trees in St. Louis county must be large and the ground on which they are grown very valuable, for by cutting down six cherry trees and depriving the owner of the use of a small part of his orchard land, Emil Carlsen is being sued in the district court by James Scully for $500.

In his complaint Scully claims that in May, 1907, he took a homestead on the St. Louis river. He planted cherry trees, planning to make an orchard a feature of his farm.

In January, 1910, Emil Carlsen, in order to make room for piling pulpwood, cut down six of the trees, claims the plaintiff, and used the site for his wood.

Scully now claims that the trees were worth $20 each and that the use of the ground was worth the difference between $120 and $500, for he is suing for the latter mentioned sum.

CLEVER THEFTS OF DIAMONDS

A former State street Jeweler, who is now a member of a jewelers' protective association and travels over the entire world in search of diamond and gem thieves, was in Chicago several days ago and during his conversation told some of the interesting methods used by the expert thief to steal jewelry, says the Chicago Daily News.

"Of course," he said, "we all know of the fellow who travels along with the diamond salesman for a month or more ostensibly carrying another line, but in reality only awaiting a chance to make away with the salesman's trunk. This fellow works a long time for a haul and is usually a topnotcher, as diamond salesmen are naturally suspicious of any chance acquaintance. This crook, however, is a polished fellow, tells good stories, drinks good drinks, smokes good cigars and is generally agreeable and well liked.

"He does not push his presence on the salesman, but manages to run into him numberless times, and by various methods of his confederates usually has considerable important appearing mail meet him wherever he goes. Then some day the salesman packs his trunk after finishing a sale and starts it for the express office. On the way it disappears; it is either taken from the platform or picked up somewhere and the thief is gone.

"Women make good diamond thieves, too, as dealers must not take chance of offending a customer, lest she be a rich man's wife or daughter, whose trade if obtained regularly would amount to thousands a year. Any woman well dressed and possessing a certain amount of refinement can see the entire stock of almost any dealer in the country. When she is clever enough she can get a stone or piece of jewelry during her inspection.

"One New York woman came into a large store and asked to see some unset diamonds. The proprietor of the store waited on her and showed her a large collection of fine stones. She displayed a monster roll of bills and was about to purchase an expensive jewel when she asked whether her husband could see it. 'Why, certainly,' replied the proprietor. 'We will send it over to him now.' The woman hesitated, and finally asked whether they would hold the stone until that afternoon and she would make a deposit of $10 on it.

"This appeared perfectly proper to the owner, but when she left two valuable stones were missing. The woman was hailed, taken to police headquarters and searched. The gems were not found on her, and in her indignation she threatened to bring suit against the proprietor. He was sure she had taken the stones, but in his profusion of apology offered to give her the one she had been looking at and at the same time refund her $10. This was better than a suit and the loss of all of the supposed friends of the woman, thought the dealer. She accompanied him back to the store, and while there, watched by detectives, made her way up to the case where she had stood before and slipping her hand along the under edge recovered the two missing stones, stuck there in a little ball of chewing gum.

"The detectives did not know positively at that time whether she had taken anything from the counter, but decided to keep further watch over her. At another store several days later while she was inspecting gems a stone was dropped on the floor "accidentally," and this also was lost. Gum on the front of the shoe had got this one. The woman was arrested and confessed that she had swindled nearly every dealer in New York with her gum trick."

"One of the most ingenious thefts was made in Berlin, where a fellow walked into a general jewelry store knowing the owner had a fine diamond. The thief wore an expensive diamond himself and went into the store apparently to have an old German watch repaired. He started to talk of diamonds and exhibited his own as a choice stone. He was shown the other stone by the dealer. They discussed diamonds in every phase until the watch was repaired, when the stranger started to pay for the repairing. He exhibited a large roll of bills and purposely overpaid. During the slight confusion of counting his money and paying for his watch he had substituted the genuine diamond for a paste stone, which was being carefully wrapped up and placed in its box by the dealer while the stranger was sauntering out with his watch.

"The dealer saw a slight carbon spot in the paste jewel just as he was closing the box, and knowing his own jewel to be flawless hurriedly examined the stone and apprehended the thief before he was a half block away, secure in the thought that he was safe.

"He was taken to the store and every particle of clothing removed and he was searched thoroughly, but the missing jewel could not be found. More through curiosity at the old time watch than anything else, one of the police called in, opened the back of the case and found glittering up at him from the main spring the lost jewel. The thief confessed and got a heavy sentence.

"There are thousands of these kinds of cases, but the big gem thief usually gets caught or his conscience goes back on him," said the gem thief sleuth. "The majority of the really big fellows that I have ever seen are as fine cut men as one would find anywhere; their personality is usually of the best, but with a bad streak in their makeup somewhere."

HOME AGAIN.

Chicago News: "The Budsingers have returned from Europe," said Mrs. Jamesworthy, in a casual way. "I met Mrs. Budsinger this morning and she says they had a grand time."

"Yes, and I met Budsinger," replied Jamesworthy, "and he started in to bore me with a long story about a voyage up the Rhine or the Vesuvius or some other cheap John river. I headed him off right away, telling him I'd be ashamed to be seen paddling up and down the pauper creeks of Europe when we have the real things in rivers here at home. When I want a voyage of that kind I'll choose some good American river. Old Budsinger was gnashing his teeth, he was so anxious to tell me about his experiences in Europe, but I wouldn't stand for it."

"But they had a grand time, Mrs. Budsinger says, and the cost was surprisingly low. Just think! Mr. and Mrs. Budsinger and the two children made the tour of the continent and it cost only—"

"I don't care what it cost. I see what you're driving at, Mrs. Jamesworthy. Since you met Jane Budsinger you are frantic to go to Europe next year, but the best thing you can do is to forget it, for that's one thing I won't consent to do while I have a drop of blood in my veins. I'm going to sell my life as dearly as possible this trip, Mrs. Jamesworthy, and you can't lug me off to Europe unless you chloroform me and put a shawl strap around me. I believe in standing up for home industries. I expect to take you and the children for an outing next summer, but you can bet your earnings it won't be to Europe."

"You must admit that it gives people a kind of distinction to make a tour of Europe."

"It doesn't do anything of the kind. It makes a man an outcast, an Ishmael, with the hand of every fellow citizen raised against him. You should have seen Budsinger this morning. He came teetering down the street just panting to bore people with a story of the things he saw. He ran up against some old mountains in Greece or Switzerland, or somewhere, and he was bound and determined to describe them. And he had some photographs that he tried to bluff people into looking at, but everybody sidestepped him. You should have seen the prominent citizens and leading business men dodging him as though he had just escaped from the pesthouse. He did manage to corner a few victims, but as soon as he mentioned the dinky mountains or fourflushing rivers he had seen they began to abuse him, just as I did, telling him that they wouldn't be found dead among such scenery.

"That's the sort of distinction his trip abroad has given Budsinger. He's a marked man. If he was a leper, wearing a bell, he couldn't be shunned more that he will be from now on. he last I saw of him this morning he was begging a policeman to look at his photographs, and the cop looked as though he was going to send for the hurry wagon. I wouldn't be in his shoes for a lac of rupees, and I came home congratulating myself that I had a wife with no globe trotting ambitions. Yet as soon as I step into the house you begin your campaign for a trip to Europe. It's enough to make a man's reason totter on its throne."

"Your reason must be used to tottering by this time," said Mrs. Jamesworthy. "When I suggest a thing or hint at anything you might say in so many words that you approve or disapprove. So much oratory is geting on my nerves. Well, I won't think about a trip to Europe any more. And now that I make this sacrifice so cheerfully, won't you take one to the lecture at the music hall tonight?"

"Oh, jumping ginger!" groaned Jamesworthy. "So you've been leading up to a lecture all this time? And you know how I hate lectures! I'd rather have my teeth pulled by a tinsmith's apprentice than go to a lecture! Let's compromise and go to the moving picture show and see the James brothers robbing a train!"

DR. JOHNSON PICKED FRUIT.

Pall Mall Gazette: The return of the strawberry season was always heartily welcomed by Dr. Johnson, for, as he once declared, "of strawberries and cream he never could have too much." Fortunately he sometimes had opportunity to indulge his taste to the full, for his friend, Dr. Taylor, of Litchfield, whom he contrived when possible to visit at strawberry time, was rather a noted fruit grower, and when at his house it was, as Johnson said, with gusto, "Strawberries and cream. Toujours strawberries and cream!"

A voracious eater at any time, Johnson's appetite for fruit was almost limitless. Mrs. Thrale tells us that he used often to eat half a dozen peaches before breakfast, and that frequently she had heard him complain that never in all his life had he quite as much in all fruit as he desired, save once. The exceptional occasion was during a visit to Lord Sandy's seat at Ombersley. The exact quantity he then devoured has not been recorded, but he was accused of clearing a whole wall side.

In 1910 the United States produced two-thirds of the world's output of petroleum.

A PAGE OF FUN

HER EXHIBIT.

Going to exhibit at the horse show this year?
Yes, I've entered a couple of gowns.

TOO SHARP.

The leaves are beginning to turn, my child.

Why don't you put some of that stuff on them that you put on your hair.

It Follows.

"DO you know what is being whispered around about Senator Blank this morning?" asked Jones as he stopped Smith.

"No, Blank is all right. They can't have anything on him."

"Can't, eh? You just wait."

"Wait for what?"

"They say he's gobbled up five thousand acres of Government land."

"You don't mean it!"

"And he may be impeached."

"Dear, dear me!"

"And there's the man you thought was all right!"

"Yes, I thought he was all right, at least up to a month ago. Then I saw him in a ten-cent moving picture show and began to have my doubts. Of course, that did it."

JOE KERR.

Making an Egg Stand on End.

AIRING THE DOG.

The Nurse—Are you going to take the children out in the automobile today, ma'am?

Mrs. De Swell—Oh, no, not today. I think Fido needs some air today.

CLEVER.

"Mrs Proud is tickled to death with the way she fooled the customs inspectors."

"How did she do it?"

"She didn't buy a thing abroad."

PLAIN EVIDENCE.

"Binks is a pushing sort of fellow, isn't he?"

"I should judge so by his performances with the baby carriage and the lawn mower."

As It May Be.

THERE was war.

The commandant at Fort Defiance took a long squint through his glasses and then called out:

"Bring here my aviator. There is a body of the enemy approaching, and I want to give them a jar."

The aviator appeared and saluted.

"Do you see the enemy?"

"I do."

"Go aloft and drop a hundred pounds of dynamite on his head!"

"But, sir, the wind is wrong."

"I say go up."

"And my engine is out of repair."

"You must go."

"And the propellor has lost a blade."

"Don't you hear me!"

"And my gasoline tank leaks."

"S'death, sir!"

"And the dynamite may drop on my head instead of the enemy's. Let us rather send him word that if he doesn't go back we'll run him down with a moving van."

JOE KERR.

NO ECONOMY IN THIS.

Dobbs—My wife made a new departure last January.

Wobbs—How was that?

Dobbs—Why, everything was so cheap after the holiday rush that she determined to buy a lot of gifts for use next Christmas.

Wobbs—Fine idea.

Dobbs—Oh, I dunno. I asked her about the things the other day and she said she wore 'em all out long ago.

New Football Rules.

SHOULD the ball be kicked into the grand stand, and a fan pocket it and walk off, the game must be decided a draw.

Should a young lady start to cross the field to see her sister just at the moment of a rush, all the players must stop dead still and look their prettiest.

There must be no intention of hitting a rival player with the fist. He must have his eyes blacked or his nose broken by accident.

In piling on to a player who is down with the ball under him remember to work your knees into his kidneys and spine. This will only make an invalid of him, instead of being the victim of a murder.

Should the ball be kicked over the fence into Smith's yard, and should Smith's bulldog object to its recovery, the players will rest until Smith comes home.

If a collision between two players sends them both to grass, the first one to recover can chew the other's ear.

The right tackle must hereafter keep his eyes on the game, instead of peering about to see if his best girl is present.

At least two ambulances must be stationed at the gate. If no one is hurt in the game they can be used to carry the umpire off.

No contracts for tombstones to be made in advance.

Those having sons or brothers in the game are asked to restrain their tears.

Friends and relatives of the deceased are asked not to crowd forward and interrupt the game.

The press agent will see about all obituaries, and should be supplied with photographs.

LUCKY FOR THE GUIDE.

Winks—Dobbins didn't enjoy his hunting trip up in Maine a little bit.

Dinks—What was the trouble?

Winks—Why, after he started into the woods he found out that his guide's life was insured in the very company of which Dobbins is president, and he didn't care to shoot at a thing after that for fear it might be the guide.

ANOTHER YARN.

And you were once the tattooed man in the circus?

Yes, mum.

And once you were caught in a rainstorm and all your colors ran together? Poor man! Were you out of a job long?

No, indeed, mum. Dat very night I went around to de melodrama and got a job as a "deep-dyed villain."

Towed into Port.

"I HAVE always wanted a chance to prove myself a hero," said the drummer for the shoe house, "and I surely thought it had come to me one day last August at a Long Island summer resort. I was fishing from the end of a long wharf when a young and handsome girl fell overboard."

"And you leaped after her?" was asked.

"I ought to have done so."

"Most surely. What did you do?"

"Reached down my fish pole until she could seize the end of it, and then towed her about 200 feet to land."

"But she thanked you just the same?"

"I—I don't think she did. You see, I had to tow her through reeds and mud."

"But she said something?'

"Y-e-s. When she crawled out of the mud she turned on me to observe that I was no hero. It sorter knocked me flat."

"Well, you weren't a great big hero, but.——"

"And she said something else."

"Oh."

"She said that instead of being a hero I was a tow-boat!"

JOE KERR.

STICKLERS.

I think a politician should not be the dictator of the people, but the people's servant.

Oh, not servant. They stick with us too long for that.

The End

HE entered the lobby of the hotel with a sad look on his face, and was at once asked if he was in trouble.

"It's more of a sorrow," he replied with shakes of the head.

"Somebody sick?"

"Worse than that."

"Wife or children dead?"

"No, not that. Gentlemen, five years ago I captured a small frog in a pond and made a pet of him. Rather strange pet, but we got to love each other. He came to know his name—Nero. He knew me from all others. He grew from a little feller to an old socker. Yes, I got to love that frog."

"And he's been stolen?"

"No, not stolen."

"Got back to the pond, then?"

"No, not that. Last night."——

"Well, what about last night?"

"That's it, you know—that's the sorrow of it. Last night that frog he ——he—."

"He what?"

"He croaked!"

JOE KERR.

BURNED UP.

The fly screens have been put away,
The ice cream freezer, too;
And the electric fan is still,
It has no work to do.

And soon, with scuttle in my hand
I'll in the cellar peer
And, probably, shall find my coal
Was all burned up last year.

MYSTIFYING.

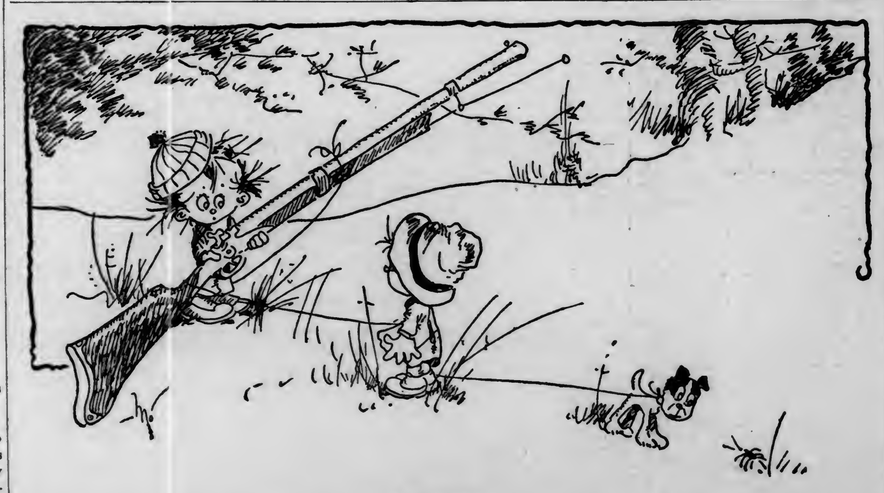

"I don't understand this game of golf."

"What's hard about it?"

"Why do they hit the ball?"

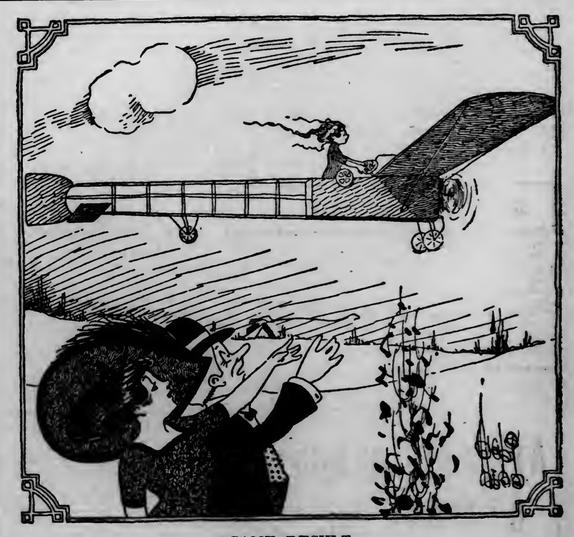

"That's the game."

"So it seems. But why can't they just as well carry it along? They are going that way anyhow, and it would save them all the trouble of looking for it."

A WONDER.

The Hunter—"Wot? Did I ever kill a hippopotamus! Say kid, oncet I shot into a flock of hippopotamuses and brought down nineteen!"

SAME RESULT.

I heard her husband was going to Reno to get rid of her.

He did intend to, but he changed his mind and decided to buy her an aeroplane.

WHEAT HAS AN ADVANCE

Another Bullish Day Ends in Advance of ¾ of Cent.

Flax Also Higher—Due to Strong Demand and Wet Weather.

Duluth Board of Trade, Oct. 20.—Wheat closed at a bulge, bringing it to a point that broke all records made since the subsidence of the excitement that followed the defeat of reciprocity. Duluth December closed at $1.11¼, ¾c higher than yesterday. Flax also closed strong. Duluth October gained 1½c and December ½c. November lost ½c. Durum closed ¼c off and oats ¼c up, barley 2 cents up, and rye unchanged.

Wheat continued its upward career this morning. Wet weather in the American and Canadian Northwest, with snow in many places, while the thrashing is still largely to be done, could not but give the market a strong uplift, notwithstanding lower cables from Europe. Liverpool wheat closed unchanged, but the earlier reports were bearish, on account of more liberal shipments from Argentina and Australia. Rain has been needed in both of those countries for the growing crops, especially in Argentina, but the drouth in that country has been largely broken. Both in America and Canada the grading has been very poor. "A sample came in this morning that would do for nothing else than hog-feed," one Duluth broker remarked. "It was largely water and some of it was actually sprouting." Wheat was bullish during the morning at Chicago, Minneapolis, Duluth and Winnipeg. Some of the brokers made liberal sales early in the day in anticipation of a break, but the break did not occur, and later in the day they made haste to buy again. Duluth December, which closed yesterday at $1.10½ asked, opened today at $1.10⅜, but about noon it was quoted at $1.11¼ bid.

Bad weather conditions bulled flax, as well as wheat. This happened in spite of the fact that each day's receipts are considerably ahead of the receipts of the corresponding day of last year. Yet the total receipts of the Duluth market since Aug. 1, 1911, which this morning were 789,050 bu., were away behind the total receipts during the same period last year, which were 942,056 bu. Yesterday 60 cars of flax arrived and today 44 cars. These are fairly heavy arrivals yet if there should be a general snowfall in North Dakota within the next few days, the flax crop would be so hopelessly wet down that a large percentage of it would never be thrashed and taken to market at all. The demand for flax is good and shipments are brisk. This morning the total number of bushels in the Duluth elevators was reported at 163,000 in round numbers, showing a decrease of 20,000 bu in the last five days. Notwithstanding its high price, flax is bought up so quickly by the crushers that there is no chance at all for it to accumulate in the Duluth elevators. Duluth October flax, which closed yesterday at $2.43½ bid, opened today at $2.45, rose during the morning to $2.47 and about noon was quoted at $2.45½ asked.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Price Advances on News From the Northwest.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—With snow and rain in the Northwest impeding thrashers and spoiling wheat still in the field the cereal today made a fresh advance in price. Parts of North Dakota and Minnesota suffered from the downpour, and there was an even worse situation across the line in Canada. Moreover, world shipments from countries outside of North America were at a low ebb, and although cash demand was slow cash quotations were firmly held in all directions. The crowd paid little heed to an improved outlook in the Argentine, or to a similar condition in Australia. Opening figures were the same as last night to ¼c lower. December started at $1.01 to $1.01⅛, the same change it made by the market taken altogether. A quick advance, however, to $1.01¾ followed.

Excellent flour trade, especially Southwest, led to a further sharp advance. So did pessimistic thrashing advices from the Canadian prairies. The close was nervous with December 1@1⅛c net higher at 1.02¼@1.02¾c.

Scattered investment buying made corn firm. Offerings were decidedly scarce. December opened a shade lower to ⅛@¼c up at 65⅝c to 65½@⅝, and rose to 65⅞c.

Scarcity of old grain brought about an additional ascent. The close was strong at 1¼@1⅜c up at 66¾c for December.

Notwithstanding a little wavering at the outset, oats gathered strength from corn. December started ⅛c down at 47¾c and then advanced to 48c.

Lack of selling pressure kept provisions steady. First sales were 5c off to 2½@5c up, with January delivery $15.52½ to $15.55 for pork and $9.05 for lard and $8.15 for ribs.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Trading in United States Steel Again of Heavy Volume.

Opinion That a Large Pool Was Manipulating the Market.

New York, Oct. 20.—Trading was unusually active at the opening of the market today, with especially large transactions in United States Steel and Union Pacific. Within the first few minutes 50,000 shares of United States Steel changed hands, the price being forced down from 60 at the opening to 59½ as against yesterday's close of 59⅞. Union Pacific gained ½ at the outset, but under heavy pressure fell to slightly below yesterday's close. American Smelting lost 1¼. Baltimore & Ohio and American Car and Foundry advanced a point.

A pause occurred in the realizing sales of United States Steel after the market had absorbed 65,000 shares in fifteen minutes. Other important stocks also were under considerable pressure. Union Pacific fell from 163 to 161¾.

Transactions in United States Steel again reached very heavy proportions and the copper stocks, after remaining comparatively inactive for months, once more took a prominent position in speculation. Extensive selling, which depressed the market in the early trading, was largely due to realizing following yesterday's abrupt rise, although the steel shares were subjected to pressure from the bears.

The movement had its inception in the copper group, spread to United States Steel, and ultimately gathered in the active railroads. Amalgamated Copper, Utah Copper and Tennessee Copper sold 1 to 1½ above yesterday's closing, and American Smelting ½, after it had rallied from 64¼ to 66. United States Steel was bought in enormous amounts and showed more activity in the rise to 60⅜ than in the previous decline to 59¼. One block of 7,500 shares changed hands at the top figure, and there were many individual transactions of thousands of shares. Speculative sentiment was perplexed and the opinion gained currency that a large pool was manipulating it. Bonds were irregular.

The market closed strong. Union Pacific, Reading, United States Steel and the copper stocks rose from 1 to 3 points above yesterday's closing. Some of the less active representative stocks and various specialties advanced even more.

BABY SLEEPS ALL NIGHT LONG

Mr. W. H. Longworth, Pastor, Orient Congregational Church, Orient, N. Y., writes:

"I just want to write a word of appreciation of your baby food. Our boy is one year old, weighs 25 lbs., and has never had a sick day since we began feeding him Mellin's Food. At three weeks of age his mother's milk did not seem to agree with him. So we began giving him Mellin's Food, and from that day he never kept us up one hour at night. He has not even ever had the colic."

Mrs. R. M. Jones, Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

"I am using Mellin's Food and our baby is gaining steadily in health and weight. Previous to using Mellin's Food I tried a number of other foods, but none of them agreed with him, he kept losing in weight all the time. I am happy to say that Mellin's Food has restored our baby to perfect health."

OBITUARY

Former United States Senator Abram P. Williams of California died at his home in San Francisco, aged 79 years. He was a brother of O. J. Williams, and uncle of N. M. Williams of New Richmond, Wis. He was a forty-niner in California, and reputed to be several times a millionaire. He is survived by an invalid widow. The body will be taken to his birthplace, Fairfield, Me., for burial.

Mme. Catherine Berton, intimate friend of Victor Hugo and Charles Dickens and widow of the late Col. Jules Berton, French consul in San Francisco, is dead at the home of a friend in Berkeley, Cal. She was 80 years old.

SCARCITY OF FANS.

Where are the football fans? Out of 100 tickets for the Nebraska-Minnesota football game which will be played at Northrop field tomorrow, which have been offered for sale at the Northern Pacific city ticket office, not one was purchased.

Although the passenger traffic between Duluth and the Twins is as heavy as usual, according to C. P. O'Donnell, there seems to be a scarcity of fans. Mr. O'Donnell sent the tickets back to Minneapolis this afternoon.

MINOT STATE NORMAL CASE HEARING POSTPONED.

Minot, N. D., Oct. 20.—The hearing before the supreme court on the writ of injunction prohibiting the state normal board from starting work on the normal school on the ground that the constitutional amendment is invalid, has been postponed from Oct. 24 to Nov. 3.

This postponement has been arranged through a stipulation between John Greene, chief counsel for the Minot forces, and Attorney General Miller, who is making the attack on the amendment.

BISHOP PREDICTS GOOD TO CHINA

Sidney C. Patridge Tells of Conditions in That Empire.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 20.—"The foreign powers are waiting to seize the outside provinces of China, but the central part of the country will remain a complete union under the reorganization that is coming," asserted Rev. Sidney C. Patridge, Episcopal bishop of Kansas City, here today. Bishop Patridge spent seventeen years in China as a clergyman, returning to the United States only a few months ago.

"The revolutionary movement," he continued, "is a welcome one, as almost any change in China will be a benefit to the people, who are held back by ancient customs and corrupt officials.

"The leaders of the struggle are men who have been educated outside their own country, and who are fighting the present conditions with no definite purpose, perhaps, except that they see the need of a change."

PUTS O K. ON ALDRICH PLAN

Prof. Laughlin of Chicago University Talks at Hearing.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Prof. J. L. Laughlin of the University of Chicago, chairman of the executive committee of the National Citizens' league, organized a year ago to promote sound banking laws, today expressed himself in favor of the Aldrich central reserve system when he appeared before the sub-committee of the national commission holding public hearings in the West.

The committee will conclude its Chicago hearings late today, after hearing John V. Farwell, president of the National Citizens' league.

"Business men are more interested in sound banking laws than in any other reform," said Mr. Laughlin. "In a panic, the first man hit is the business man, whose loans are cut off when he most needs to borrow.

"The essential defect of our currency system is the rigidity of credit. We have an antiquated banking system, if what we have can be termed a system. The requirement for a lawful reserve limit in banks is perhaps the chief cause of the inelasticity of currency and causes panics more than anything else."

We will meet and beat any price from mail order houses. What is the use of buying something you never saw and then pay express. 'Nough said. Zenith Music Co., 6 East Superior street.

VAUDEVILLE ACTOR ARRESTED

Louis Fayette Caught at International Falls on Burglary Charge.

In the arrest today at International Falls of Louis Fayette, an actor in a 10-cent theater circuit, the local authorities believe that they have apprehended the burglar who broke into the residence of Anna J. Larson, Twenty-fourth avenue east and Second street, last August.

Detective Terry, who has been on the trail of Fayette, arrested him at International Falls and wired Chief Troyer this morning that he would bring the prisoner to Duluth on the first train.

Fayette is accused of stealing valuables worth $160 and including the following: Gold bracelet, valued at $40; watch worth $28; gold chain, valued at $16; rings, costing $34; spoons, valued at $56; and other miscellaneous articles worth $26.

Fayette has been appearing in vaudeville as a crayon artist.

LESTER B. ELWOOD WAS WORTH ABOUT $35,000.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 20.—The will of the late Lester B. Elwood has been filed for probate and special letters of administration have been issued to Deda M. Elwood, William B. Sweete and Eldridge C. Cooke, named in the will as executors.

The estate is valued at $35,000, of which $10,000 is city property and the rest personal property. The will gives $500 to a sister, Mary Elwood, and the balance to the wife, Deda M. Elwood, in trust for minor children, Catherine P. Elwood and Lester B. Elwood, Jr.

SOUTHERN COUNTIES MAY GET SOME FLOODS.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to George Ralph, state drainage engineer, unless conditions change before freezing weather comes, most of the southern and southeastern parts of Minnesota will experience some heavy floods next spring. The Mississippi river below Winona is higher than it has been in ten years, and some small streams are out of their banks and overflowing the lowlands.

EVELETH ARMORY SITE DEED AT THE CAPITOL.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Draft for $1,000 and warranty deed to a lot on which it is proposed to build an armory have been received at the office of Governor Eberhart from the city of Eveleth. According to a law passed at the last session of the legislature, a draft on the state treasury for $10,000 may now be issued to build an armory. This amount probably will be forwarded to Eveleth within a few days.

EAU CLAIRE ARSON CASE IS DISMISSED.

Eau Claire, Wis., Oct. 20.—The preliminary hearing before Judge McBain in municipal court in the case against Albert Hauert of this city, charged with arson, resulted in the dismissal of the action and the discharge of the defendant by the court.

The state put on only one witness and the defendant presented no defense at all.

Mrs. Schmahl Resting Well.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Julius Schmahl, wife of the secretary of state, who was operated upon at St. Luke's hospital yesterday morning, is resting fairly well today. As the operation was only intended for temporary relief, her condition can be said to be but little improved.

Funeral of Dr. Jackola.
The funeral of the late Dr. John Jackola took place yesterday from the Masonic temple under the auspices of that order, of which he was a member, his home lodge being at Everett, Wash. The services were conducted by Rev. Alexander Milne and interment was at Forest Hill cemetery. A large number of friends attended the services. The pallbearers were John Saari, H. C. Haig, J. O. Nolander, A. H. Schwartz, S. J. Thomsen and D. Bolz.

Fullerton Praises Janes.
S. F. Fullerton, deputy state fire marshal, paid a high compliment to Assistant Attorney General Janes, who conducted the state's case against Dr. Dumas at Bemidji. Deputy Fullerton is at the St. Louis. He declared that Janes' address to the jury was a masterpiece and held the jurors tense with emotion. Since the conviction of the Cass Lake mayor on the charge of arson Deputy Fullerton has been on his fish farm near Spooner. He is en route to St. Paul.

Failed to Obey Officer.
Henry Hanson didn't stop when Patrolman Fallon signaled to him this morning and he was arrested on a charge of violating the traffic ordinance. He pleaded guilty in police court and paid a fine of $5. The court advised him to stop the next time he is directed to do so by an officer.

Charged With Assault.
Seely Palmer, a fireman, was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of having assaulted his sister-in-law. He entered a plea of not guilty and his trial was set for Thursday morning. He was released on his own recognizance.

Falls Down Stairs.
J. R. Levin, janitor in the building at 18 Third avenue west, fell down the stairs in the building this afternoon. He was cut on the head, but not seriously injured. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital.

Neighbors in Court.
Matt Snyder was arraigned in municipal court this morning on a charge of having assaulted W. Finn, a neighbor. He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for Monday afternoon. The trouble is said to have occurred over some chickens owned by Finn, claimed to have been running over the Snyder premises at Lakeside.

Fined for Firing Rifle.
Matt Mattson pleaded guilty in police court this morning to discharging firearms in the city limits. He admitted that he had fired a rifle near his home on the outskirts of West Duluth, but said that he was drunk at the time. He got $5 and costs or five days

Wolvin Returns.
R. M. Wolvin, manager of the new Flour City line of independent steamers has returned from Buffalo, where he has been arranging for the launching of the new enterprise. Mr. Wolvin was somewhat reticent with reference to the plans of the new line, but stated that the Lackawanna was on her way to Duluth for her first cargo.

ROBERT BERNHARDI WILL BE SENT TO ASYLUM.

The mystery of Robert Bernhardi, the young man who was picked up Tuesday evening in a dazed condition, has been partly cleared since he has begun to talk. He was an interne at the Wisconsin university hospital and his father, Eugene Bernhardi, lives on Fleet street in Milwaukee. He will be sent to the Mendota insane asylum as he is mentally deranged.

TWO MEALS FREE AND THEN THE ROCK PILE.

The Public Welfare association will shortly adopt a new system of caring for the city transients who are out of work and in want. Rev. Harry Milford of the Superior Mission, will assist in the work. An investigation is to be made of each man who applies for aid and if deserving he will receive two meals free. This new plan is to be in conjunction with a large woodyard or rockpile where the applicants for charity will be put to work before they are given aid.

Will Send Delegates.

Mayor Crumpton has been invited to attend in person or send a delegate to the first national conference on civic and social center development which will be held at Madison, Oct. 25-28 inclusive. Mayor Crumpton said yesterday that he would be unable to attend but would probably send a delegate. Many prominent speakers in the country will attend including Governor Woodrow Wilson, Senator Moses E. Clapp and Mrs. Mary L. Starkweather.

Attorney Resigns.

W. B. Kellogg, attorney for the Douglas County Business Men's association, which was formed several months ago to look into the city and county affairs, resigned this morning. He said that he will not be connected with the organization anymore and that it will probably disband in the near future owing to a lack of funds.

THE ONE BEST PLAY IN DRAW POKER.

New York Sun: "One of the prettiest plays I ever saw in poker," said a veteran player in the smoking room of his club while the party was waiting for two or three others to come in and make up a game "was in Cincinnati several years ago. It was at the wind-up of a contest that had lasted over twenty-four hours.

"When we began playing there were six at the table and not one of the six had less than $1,000 in his immediate possession. Some of them had more than that, so that when the decisive final deal came there was nearly $10,000 in sight, and only two men playing, each with the firm determination to get the whole pile or go broke. The four others had retired when they had to, for not one in the party quit the game while he had anything left to play with.

"It wasn't a prearranged tournament, as such big games frequently are. I had met Gillian on the boat from Louisville, and we went to the same hotel when we came ashore. Starkey arrived by train from Pittsburg and O'Donnell from Cleveland the same day, and they came into the dining room just as we were seating ourselves. At another table sat Tom Whaley, whom I had not met previously and who was a plunger. He joined us later.

"In that party it was inevitable that a game should be proposed, and Gillian suggested that we go to Ed Farrell's place and play. Up to that time Farrell had had a good reputation as a square player, but there had arisen a feeling in the fraternity that he was developing tricky ways, and Storkey spoke of it bluntly.

"'But Gillian said, 'I reckon he knows this crowd too well to try anything crooked, and if he does there isn't much chance of his getting away with it, especially as he can't be called any better player than some of us at least.

"The smile with which he spoke was returned by some of the others, for Gillian himself was reckoned one of the best poker players living at that time. It was he who at the finish made the play I spoke of, and in my estimation it fully justified his reputation. It was a legitimate play too, though there was a marked card in the deck and he knew that he was going to get it in the draw. Moreover, it was the ace of clubs and he had the three other aces in his hand before the draw.

"Sounds fishy, doesn't it? Well, listen.

"As I said, the game had lasted over twenty-four hours. It was early Monday morning when Whaley put up the remainder of his pile on an ace full against two two card draws. Of course there wasn't anything else for him to do but although he beat Farrell, who did not better in the draw, Gillian had caught his fourth nine and of course took the pot.

"O'Donnell and Starkey and I were already out of the game, and Starkey had gone away in disgust; but I was interested enough to wait for the finish, and Whaley and O'Donnell were both as curious as I was.

"Gillian had the larger pile of the two, when the struggle narrowed itself down to a duel, but Farrell had nearly $4,000 in front of him, and he had said earlier in the game that if he lost his original stake, $1,500, as I remember, he would go no further.

"I had reason to think Gillian had put in all he could raise at the time, so a finish was likely to come at any time, for they were both playing boldly.

"I had not been able to see anything out of the way in either man's play, nor had any of the rest of us, I believe, or the game would not have gone on. So it came as a surprise to me when I saw the faintest possible nick on the margin of one of the cards in a new deck which the darkey had just brought and which Farrell had taken for the deal. We were using a new deck every few minutes, so that the carpet was entirely covered with the old ones that had been thrown away, and Farrell had just called for this one.

"I presume that the average player would hardly notice such a mark, but I knew perfectly well that Gillian would not overlook it, and I had curiosity enough to watch the position of that card in his hand, and there was a small bet, a call and a showdown, I saw that it was the ace of clubs. It was plain to me therefore that either of the players would be able to tell that ace from the back.

"The next deal was Gillian's. The marked card did not appear either in the deal or in the draw. Farrell put up the usual ante, $1 call $2, and Gillian came in, but Farrier did not raise. He merely made good and called for three cards. Then when Gillian took one and bet $5 he threw down his hand and assembled the deck for a new deal.

"I watched him closely, as all the others did, and I am bound to say that I did not detect any indication of stacking the cards. The fact that I did not detect it gave me the highest possible opinion of his skill, for as he laid down the deck after dealing off five cards apiece I saw that the next card, which of course would go to Gillian in the draw, unless he should stand pat and not call for any, was the marked ace.

"It did not seem possible to me that this could be an accident and I was prepared to see some heavy betting if Gillian should fall into the trap that had evidently been set for him. If it were a trap, as I felt assured, it certainly had been well contrived.

"The heavy betting followed. Gillian raised it $5 when it came to his turn and Farrell went back at him with $10 more. Then for half a dozen rounds they raised and reraised, increasing the bet each time, till Gillian made it $1,000 more to play.

"Even at that Farrell did not hesitate. His answer was to shove his whole pile forward.

"If I had needed any confirmation of my suspicions before that I would have found it in that bet. It was as clear as day to me that Farrell had dealt Gillian a strong hand, which moreover would be greatly strengthened by the ace of clubs, and that he had dealt himself something that would beat that hand. Seeing it as plainly as I did, I wondered at what seemed to be Gillian's blindness in allowing himself to be led on, and I looked anxiously to see what he would do.

"What he did was to study a long time. He was a slow player always, taking plenty of time to consider each situation as it arose, and the betting in this deal had taken a good deal longer to do than I have taken in telling it, especially as there had been considerable mouth play.

"But after some minutes, which seemed like an hour to me, he covered Farrell's bet. The result therefore would be that he would drive Farrell out finally or that he would himself be seriously crippled, for Farrell had won until there was hardly $1,000 difference in their piles.

"He said nothing as he counted out the chips necessary to call Farrell's bet, but he looked steadily at Farrell, when he said, 'You may give me three cards.

"I have seen a good many poker surprises in the game of poker, but I don't recall anything that ever surprised me as much as that did. On the face of it, it looked like idiotic play for a man to stand half a dozen raises, and finally bet $4,000 or $5,000 on a single pair, and I was not the only one who looked at Gillian in amazement, thinking we must have misunderstood him.

"Even Farrell, seasoned player as he was, seemed almost confused, as he repeated, 'Three cards, did you say,' and Gillian smiled broadly as he replied, "That's what I said.' Then he added, 'Deal them slowly, please,' and leaned forward, watching Farrell's fingers so closely that it would have been impossible for him or anybody else to juggle the deck successfully in giving off those three cards.

"It all came to me in a flash then. Gillian had three aces in his hand, and knew that the fourth was coming to him in the draw, but he also knew that Farrell knew it, and that he had prepared a straight flush for himself.

"By taking three cards he would leave himself still with three aces with several chances of being beaten. Of course it was possible that Farrell had dealt himself the straight flush pat, in which case four aces would be no better than three.

"He had figured it out, though, that it was more likely that Farrell intended to draw one card. In that case, not being sure whether Gillian would take one or two cards, he would have stacked the deck so that either the second or the third card would make the straight flush, and by taking three Gillian secured both of the cards, either of which would have beaten him.

"Of course, there still remained the chance that the fourth card, which Farrell would get if he should draw one, might make either a straight or a flush, but the odds against that were worth taking. In any event, he had taken the only course possible to defeat Farrell's plan, supposing that the deal was crooked.

"There couldn't be anything more but a showdown, for Farrell was all in, and when the two hands were laid on the table face up I saw that I was right. Farrell had the seven, eight, nine and ten of hearts, and had not bettered in the draw. Gillian had drawn the six and jack of hearts and the marked ace of clubs.

"There was nothing to be said among poker players who knew the game and knew one another as well as we did, and no one offered a remark. Farrell bore himself with as much composure as if he had not known that he was convicted in our eyes of having tried unsuccessfully to play a neat trick, and Gillian forebore to make any comments.

"We all had an early breakfast at Gillian's expense, and then I for one went to bed."

NO ACTION.

Chicago News: "I wish you'd take the hammer and some nails," said Mrs. Turnover, "and fix the garden fence. The top board is broken down and Trapley's cow is just waiting for a chance to jump over and eat all our vegetables."

"It is a most unfortunate thing," replied Turnover, "that you are of such a suspicious nature. You are always accusing others of harboring base designs. I don't suppose the idea of invading our garden ever occurred to Trapley's cow, which appears to be a highly conservative and respectable animal. That board has been off the fence all spring, and if our neighbor's cow had contemplated trespassing upon our domain the damage would have been done long ago."

"Oh, of course, you will sit there and talk and talk till the last dog is hung, rather than devote five minutes to fixing the fence," said Mrs. Turnover. "Now that you have another blood and thunder novel it is useless to ask you to turn your hand to anything about the place."

"This is not a blood and thunder novel, my dear, although the cover has a somewhat sanguinary aspect, presenting as it does the picture of three men weltering in their gore. It is true, also, that a triple murder occurs in the first chapter, presenting a problem which baffles the police of one of our large cities. This riddle seems beyond solution until the reader is introduced to that great master sleuth, Hawkshaw Hemingway, who proceeds to demonstrate that the law can circumvent and overwhelm the craftiest criminals. Step by step he marches toward the greatest triumph of his career——"

"Oh, bother his career! I'd fix that fence myself a hundred times over rather than stand here and argue with you, but I never could drive a nail."

"That fact in itself presents an interesting problem, my dear. Why can't a woman drive a nail or throw a stone with reasonable certainty of hitting the thing she aims at? I remember discussing this matter with my Aunt Maria a long time ago, and she held that a woman could throw as straight as a man. We both got rather excited over the argument and adjourned to the yard to see my aunt give a demonstration. She picked up an old doorknob and said she was going to hit a fence post about twenty feet away. On the other side of that fence post my next door neighbor was down on his knees, pulling weeds, and was concealed from view by a patch of sunflowers. Hearing our voices, he raised his head to see who was talking, and that doorknob caught him on the nose. He was a passionate man, of abnormal physical strength, and he came over and wrapped himself around me before I had time to explain anything.

"Why can't a woman drive a nail? Are there physiological, pathological, biological or any other logical reasons for this phenomenon? If you will hand me that large brown volume from the upper shelf——"

"I feel more like handing you the rolling pin," declared Mrs. Turnover. "If ever there was an exasperating man in this world, his name is Turnover. I've been working all spring in that garden so that we'd have vegetables for our table, and now that it's threatened with destruction I can't get you to nail a board for me!"

"You forget that there are laws provided for just such a catastrophe as you dread. If Trapley's cow should be so lost to the first instincts of a lady as to break into our garden and destroy things, the statutes touching trespass will amply cover the case. Trapley will be liable to severe penalties. But there is no danger. The cow is unquestionably a perfectly well bred and refined creature——"

"There's the brute in the garden now!" shrieked Mrs. Turnover.

UNLOADING RIGGING ON PITTSBURG DOCK NO. 7 ESTABLISHING RECORD

COAL CARRIER DISCHARGING CARGO.

BROWN HOIST CLAMS IN OPERATION.

During the week there was established at Pittsburgh Coal company dock, No. 7, what is believed to have been the fastest unloading time for vessels on the Great Lakes.

The three new rigs installed last year by the Brown Hoisting company of Cleveland and of special design were officially tested. The tryout was an acceptance test and following it, the equipment was formally taken over by the coal company.

Two 10,000-ton boats were unloaded in twenty-one hours and ten minutes, with the three rigs working. It is possible that some of the docks having four bridges have beaten this record, but there is no doubt as to the record for docks with only three bridges

Dock No. 7 was started in the spring of 1910 and was completed during the winter of that year. It is considered to be equipped with the most modern and efficient coal handling equipment on the lakes.

ON "NERVES" OF SAILORS

"The Flying Dutchman of Lake Superior" Keeps Bobbing Up.

Phantom Lumber Vessel Can Never Be Found When Sought.

The derelict Hopkins, "the Flying Dutchman of Lake Superior," is "getting on the nerves" of navigators.

The Hopkins not only refuses to be found, but persists in bobbing up in sight of passing steamers which are unable to tow her in. So far she has successfully eluded her pursuers and from all that could be learned today, she is still afloat in the vessel course between Keeweenaw Point and La Pointe.

Capt. Brown of the government yacht Vidette attempted to look for her yesterday in the vicinity where she was reported to have been seen by Capt. Bailey of the steamer W. E. Corey, but turned back on account of the heavy sea which was rolling. The United States Training ship Gopher is out today with the Vidette looking for the wreck. Capt. Guy E. Eaton of the Gopher stated before he left the harbor that he did not intend to return until the wreck had been either sunk or towed in.

J. H. Darling of the United States engineer's office today tried to get into communication with some of the officers or directors of the Lake Carrier's association, to ascertain if the association would give the war department assistance in removing this dangerous wreck from the course of navigation. Up to a late hour this afternoon, Mr. Darling had not obtained anything definite in the way of information as to what the Lake Carriers would do in the matter.

Th Hopkins was abandoned on Oct. 2, her crew in a sensational rescue being taken to Ashland by the steamer Dinkey. The ship was sighted on Oct. 6 by the Barth, on Oct. 9 by the Stadaconna, on Oct. 10 by the Winnipeg and on Oct. 17 by the Corey. Between Oct. 16 and 18, the Gopher, the Vidette and several tugs patrolled the lake between the Apostles and Ontonagon, the Vidette under orders to tow the wreck to shelter, the tugs after several thousand dollars salvage. Wreckage was found but no trace of the hull was run across. As last sighted by the Corey, it constituted a very serious menace to navigation and would send to the bottom any boat that might strike it. Lake captains say that the wreck could not be seen in time at night to avoid a collision.

Capt. Albert Swenson of the local hydrographic office today received word from Capt. John Tower of the steamer James H. Reed of the Pittsburg Steamship company fleet stating that a floating cabin, painted white and green, presumably from the derelict Hopkins had been sighted by him at 2:15 o'clock on the afternoon of Oct. 18 on the vessel course between La Pointe and Keweenaw Point, about twenty-two miles west of Portage canal, 88 miles from La Pointe and 48 miles from Eagle River. The cabin emerged about four feet above the water, said Capt. Tower and was floating in a northeasterly direction at a rate of about one-fourth mile an hour. He could not discover any name on it and said that he did not consider it necessarily a menace to navigation. The floating cabin may have been the same object seen by Capt. Brown of the Vidette on Oc. 13. He sent to Mr. Darling a report of having sighted a part of a boiler house, painted white, presumably from the Hopkins.

SIGHTS FLOATING SPAR.

Steamer Bradley Makes Interesting Discovery Off Michigan Island.

Ashland, Wis., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. Matthew Mulholland of the steamer M. A. Bradley, which took a cargo of coal to Ashland from the lower lake ports, sighted a spar, presumably from the floating wreck of the derelict Hopkins off Michigan island Tuesday night.

The Charles Neff, an old time lumber carrier, brought a load of hard coal to the P. & A. dock yesterday. She will take a return cargo from Duluth to the lower lakes.

STEAMERS WILL BE KEPT IN GREAT LAKES TRADE.

The Montreal Transportation company has announced that it will not send any of its grain carrying steamers beyond Kingston for the remainder of the season. Grain taken from Fort William to Kingston will be sent on from the latter port to Montreal by barge. The steamer Rosemount is now en route to Montreal with her last through cargo of the season.

MUSKEGON HAS DEEPEST HARBOR ON WEST SHORE.

Muskegon, Mich., Oct. 20.—C. H. Starke Dredge & Dock company of Milwaukee, has completed the Muskegon harbor improvements, giving the harbor entrance a uniform depth of 21 feet, the deepest on the west shore of Michigan. The original contract amounted to $20,000 and called for the removal of 110,000 cubic feet of sand, but it was found necessary to remove over 143,000 feet of earth and the contracting firm will receive $25,000 for the job.

STEAMER MILLS IS RELEASED.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—The steam freighter Robert Mills of Buffalo, N. Y., which has been aground for two days off Grosse point, was floated yesterday afternoon after part of her cargo of 3,000 tons of coal had been lightered. The steamer apparently was undamaged.

Grain Shipments.

Notice has been given at the local hydrographic office that bouys have been established in Allouez bay in about twenty-five feet of water to mark the eastern limits of the dredged channels opposite the south end of the Pittsburgh coal dock, No. 5 and opposite the south end of the Omaha freight wharf.

New Buoys Established.

Two steamers, the Sonora and Edwin F. Holmes cleared today with grain cargoes for Buffalo. Three boats arrived from lower lake ports light for grain. They were the Black Rock, and the S. S. Curry, which are at Elevator D and the J. J. H. Brown, which lies at Elevator E. The steamer Senator, which fitted out for the grain trade, left light today for Fort William to take on a load of grain for Buffalo.

International Meet.

Preparations are now being made for the international convention of the Seamen's union, which will be held in Baltimore for ten days beginning Dec. 4. A referendum vote for the delegates will be held on Oct. 30. It is not known who will be likely to go from this district.

Will Load Lumber.

Port Huron, Mich., Oct. 20.—The steamer Adiramled, which was sold at marshal's sale two weeks ago, cleared last night for an upper lake port to load lumber, after having been in the drydock for repairs. The Adiramled has been idle nearly all the season.

IN MARINE CIRCLES

A new wireless station has been erected at Port Arthur. It is located on the hill, northwesterly from the city water tank, according to information given out by the Canadian minister of marine.

Temporary repairs were made yesterday to the steamer Emperor, which ran aground at the Soo and she left for Port Colborne to discharge her cargo.

It is understood that the White Transportation company of Buffalo is figuring on buying the steamer P. E. Runnels, owned by the Spence Brothers of Cleveland and also chartering three other vessels for the remainder of the season, to be used in the lumber trade.

A breakwater is being built at Port Burwell, Lake Erie. A portion of the substructure has already been placed, extending out into the lake 900 feet beyond the present piers. At its outer end a fixed white lantern is maintained.

The lighthouse on the east end of Long point, Lake Erie, has been equipped with telephone connections with the Bell exchange at Rowan.

The yacht Czarina burned to the water's edge Monday night in Lake St. Clair. Four men narrowly escaped death.

The wreck of the United States dredge Maumee, which lies in the Cleveland harbor, will probably be removed next week. The wreck is marked by red lanterns, forward and aft.

WOMAN RAISES POULTRY.

Mrs. Reginald Stonestreet, wife of a well known Nashville physician, bears the unique distinction of suddenly becoming a full-fledged poultry raiser, says the Nashville Tennesseean. Her remarkable success in the face of many handicaps is due to a certain talent which she is just finding belongs to her and which, for lack of a better name, might be called "chicken talent." Mrs. Stonestreet has cleared something over $1,000 on chickens during the last twelve months, and so rapidly has her ambition developed that she has purchased a larger home in the country near Nashville, where she will this summer start a poultry farm.

Such farms are creating a good deal of attention throughout the East and North, and even in the South several well-known poultry men are learning the value of pullets and cockerels. But so far as can be learned Mrs. Stonestreet is the first woman in the South to start into the poultry business on her own account. She has purchased a residence surrounded by several acres of land near Glendale Park, and soon she will start a well conducted, up to date poultry yard in this city. The place will be known as "The Park Poultry Yards," and it is the intention of their owner to make it within the next few years one of the most famous places to poultry enthusiasts in the South.

When asked by a reporter the other day how she managed to make such a success of it all the woman with the chicken talent replied:

"Oh, I don't know how it was. Somehow I just had good luck and learned from the first, and then I always have loved chickens, and of course that's half the battle. I used to live on a farm in Carthage when I was a girl and we had a good many chickens, like all our neighbors. While I did not get much knowledge about chickens myself, I used to hear my mother talk and absorbed her old fashioned ideas and ways of looking after them. And, by the way, while I am raising my own chickens by modern methods, most of them my own, I still use some of the old fashioned things my mother tried and found good.

"See that big white hen over there? Well, she got mighty sick a few months ago and I was dreadfully afraid I would lose her. Somehow she seemed to me to be having a fully developed case of bronchitis and I just started in and treated her like my husband treats his patients when they have the same trouble. The upshot of the matter was that the hen got well. I've had a lot of experience like that with my chickens and I never allow any set method worked by chicken raisers affect my own.

"I am getting my first hens ready for exhibition at the state fair. I mean to go in for a generous share of the prizes too, and at least it won't be my fault if I don't get them. Why, I am feeding my large pullets and cockerels on raw meat several times a day. Raw meat, you know, makes a chicken strong, just as it does a human being, and I want my chickens to be noted for their health as well as their beauty. The baby chickens of course are fed on milk.

"Evidently the diet is agreeing with the chickens, as they are about as fat and beautiful a lot of White Orpingtons as can be found."

Mrs. Stonestreet says she intends to raise White Orpingtons altogether in her poultry yards at first. She has lately purchased five pullets and a cockerel from England of this breed, paying a large sum for the lot. When the reporter suggested that it was a good deal to pay for them she replied:

"Why, just a bit. I have two hens, Nancy and Edo, each worth more than that. But the English lot is extra fine and I am depending on them to start a strain of poultry which will lead poultry raising in the South."

Mrs. Stonestreet began her poultry yard in a small way and with no particular intention of making more than a hobby of it. She purchased an incubator and set 150 eggs. The incubator hatched 112 chickens, and when they were broiling size their enterprising owner sold ninety-eight of them for 50 cents each. With the money received from this sale she purchased another incubator and set 400 eggs. Out of the 400 eggs set 325 hatched, and two months later she had all told in her chicken yard 650 broilers. The sale of these broilers gave her enough money to start into the business on a larger plane, and instead of going in for quantity Mrs. Stonestreet began the experiment of raising only full-blooded poultry.

The result is that while she has not so many chickens, every one of the pretty fluffy white fellows is worth a good deal. Their eggs alone sell for $1 apiece and so great is the demand for them that she keeps a little book called her "waiting list," which at present has several dozen names of farmers all over Tennessee, Alabama and Kentucky who want a dozen or so to start a strain of the famous White Orpingtons.

The young poultry raiser, though a pioneer in the business, is very optimistic. She expects to make $50,000 in ten years on White Orpingtons, and out of that sum will spend not more than $10,000. In other words, she expects to clear at least $40,000 in ten years on chickens! And she is not going about it in a vague, haphazard way either. She is allowing for loss and panics and the like. And if you wonder how she is going to make all that money she can bring out a bit of paper and within a few minutes you can see for yourself just how the enterprise is to be worked.

"The Park Poultry Yards" are to be opened up in October, just in time to receive the lot of fine stock now on its way from England. While their owner has kept in personal touch through correspondence with other noted poultry raisers, she intends running things along methods of her own. So far her success has been so remarkable and her optimism is so great that it is probable this Southern woman pioneer chicken raiser will make herself famous before she gets through.

DENY THEY RECEIVED OFFERS FOR HELP TO ELECT STEPHENSON

Two Wisconsin Legislators Are Examined By Senators.

Shields Denies Everything Cook Said About Him.

Superior Man Appears Before Bench Warrant Is Served.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 21.—The conduct of legislators at the time Senator Isaac Stephenson was elected on March 4, 1909, when the absence of three Democratic members gave the senator a majority, was inquired into by the senatorial investigating committee today.

Peter F. Leuch, an assemblyman who was opposed to Stephenson, said he had been asked to remove his opposition, but declared no bribe offer had been made. He was not one of the three Democratic absentees. The five weeks deadlock, Leuch said, was due partly to the pending legislative investigation of Stephenson's $107,000 expenditures at the primaries.

John T. Farrell, one of the Democratic absentees, testified he was eating dinner outside of the capitol building at Madison when the roll was called and Senator Stephenson was elected.

"It has been charged that you received money for absenting yourself. Is that true?" asked Senator Heyburn, the chairman.

"It is not true; nor did any one offer me anything to absent myself."

Shields in Denial.

Robert J. Shields, mentioned in previous testimony as having been employed by Edward Hines, the lumberman, on several occasions, denied before the investigating committee yesterday that he had assisted improperly in the election of Senator Stephenson.

He denied that he had anything to do with any agreement whereby Hines and Stephenson were each to contribute $55,000 to "put over" the election, or that he received $7,500 or any other

MONEY COMMISSION MEETING IN ST. PAUL

Sub-Committee, Headed By Vreeland, Hears Currency Views.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Congressman E. B. Vreeland, head of the sub-committee of the National Monetary commission, Congressman Prince, Former Congressman Bonynge and Secretary Wickham arrived here today from Chicago to meet business men and bankers to talk over the currency reform.

No meeting for the purpose of taking testimony will be held during the day, but instead the local association of commerce has arranged for an informal dinner at the St. Paul hotel this evening at which it is expected a large number of business men and bankers will be present to give their views of the money question.

After meeting here the committee will go to Minneapolis.

WEEKS MORE OF LORIMER INQUIRY

Broderick's Admissions Are Regarded as Very Important.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Failure of the attorneys for the committee of the senate which is investigating the election of a United States senator, William Lorimer, to find Attorney Marble yesterday, left the prospects of developments in the investigation uncertain when the committee met today.

Following the conflicting testimony of State Senator John Broderick yesterday, the testimony of several witnesses who have been called in connection with information he gave is awaited with interest by those watching the case.

It was said today the hearing would continue for several weeks.

Broderick Changes Story.

Despite his previous assertions to the contrary, Broderick was forced yesterday to admit that he sent for Former State Senator D. W. Holtslaw of Iuka, following the election of Senator Lorimer in 1909. Broderick's admission was made after counsel for the committee unexpectedly produced a letter from Broderick to Holtslaw, in which Broderick asked the Iuka man to meet him in Chicago at 4 o'clock p. m., Aug. 28, 1909.

Holtslaw, in a confession made in the summer of 1910 said he was paid $2,500 by Broderick for Holtslaw's vote for Lorimer. Holtslaw declared that this payment was made in Chicago after Broderick had written him to come to Chicago. Broderick not only denied that he had made such a payment, but insisted that he had never sent for Holtslaw. The Chicago senator said that Holtslaw just happened to "drop in," while on a business trip to Chicago at the time it was charged Holtslaw came to get the alleged Lorimer money.

Counsel for the senatorial committee said that Broderick's admission, in their opinion, was the most important development that thus far has marked the hearings in Chicago.

PLAYWRIGHT'S WIFE ALLEGES CRUELTY

BOOTH TARKINGTON.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 21.—Mrs. Booth Tarkington, wife of the novelist and playwright, today filed suit for divorce in the superior court of this county. She charges the defendant with cruelty and asks for the custody of their 5-year-old child.

RELIEF FOR TALESMEN

Restrictions on Men in McNamara Case Are Slackened.

Court Does Not Meet, But Attorneys Keep Hard at Work.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 21.—Some thirty veniremen rejoiced today at being at liberty out of doors instead of locked up under the care of bailiffs in the McNamara murder case.

There was no session of court today, but it proved a busy day for nearly every one connected with the trial.

Agreement of opposing counsel to proceed in examining talesmen without a full jury box enabled Judge Walter Bordwell to excuse all veniremen not already in the box until opening of the court Monday morning, and only the six talesmen left at the conclusion of court yesterday were under restraint today. Of these six, however, it is considered more than possible that two or perhaps three will find themselves on the jury.

Those who have been passed for cause by both sides were:

Seeborn Manning, rancher; F. D. Green, orange grower; Robert F. Bain, carpenter.

It is possible that all of these will become members of the jury, no animus against any of them of either side being apparent.

Some to Be Questioned.

A. R. McIntosh, challenged by the state because of his opposition to infliction of the death penalty on circumstantial evidence, will be questioned by the court before he is held or excused.

George W. McKee, who says he is firmly convinced that the Los Angeles Times was blown up by dynamite,

ROBINSON TAKES FEW DAYS OFF

Aviator Decides to Rest Awhile at Rock Island, Ill.

Davenport, Iowa, Oct. 21.—Aviator Hugh Robinson, who yesterday flew from Dubuque to Rock Island on his trip from Minneapolis to New Orleans, expected to rest today and to devote his time to repairing his hydro-aeroplane, which has a leaky tank. He has not yet determined when he will continue his flight.

Robinson has established a record for aeroplane mail carrying. When he alighted here he had flown about 373 miles from his starting point, being in the air only about six hours altogether, and carrying in all 1,000 pounds weight of mail and other messages.

Robinson is suffering from a slight attack of indigestion and this caused him to decide to rest for a day or two. He expects to fly to Keokuk during his next day's flight, stopping at Muscatine and Burlington on the way.

COUPLE FOUND DEAD AT DETROIT, MICH.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 21.—Policemen found Joseph Best, aged 38, dead, and Miss Julia Budwick, aged 20, dying in Best's room late yesterday. They evidently had taken poison. There was nothing in the room to throw light upon the tragedy.

ALL EAT PIE EXCEPT TAFT

Presidential Diet Is Limited on the Sly During Trip.

Executive Reiterates Determination to Enforce Trust Law.

Edgemont, S. D., Oct. 21.—President Taft was up before 7 o'clock this morning to make the first speech of his three days' tour of South Dakota, the first Insurgent state in which he has traveled since leaving California. The president spent last night in New castle, Wyo., and left there at 5:30 a. m. for this city. His day's program calls for stops at Custer, Deadwood, Lead, Sturgis and Rapid City.

The president's train last night was surrounded by Wyoming National guardsmen. Mr. Taft did not retire until nearly midnight.

The president is in the best of health and is standing the trip remarkably well. His voice is holding up splendidly. Speaking in the clear air of this hilly country, President Taft can be heard a block away.

No Pie for Taft.

Undoubtedly the president's health largely is due to the diet which has been prescribed for him by Maj. Thomas L. Rhoads of the army, his official physician. Mr. Taft probably does not know the extent to which his food supplies are limited, but so far he has not complained.

His fellow travelers in the private car, Secretary Hilles, Maj. Butt and Maj. Rhoads, are taking something of an advantage of their chief in this respect. For instance, the president is denied all pastry. Yesterday for luncheon the cook baked a savory hot apple pie. Everybody in the car knew about it—except the president. Then, when the midday meal was ended, the conspirators retired to one of the staterooms where a table had been set for the pie. They feasted royally on the masterpiece in pastry while the president sat, alone and neglected, in

"FORTUNE" FROM ALASKA IS FAKE

Heirs of Thomas Lynch Get Word That Dims Their Hopes.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A cablegram from Fort Gibbon, Alaska, to the Dispatch today caused great disappointment to the many heirs of "Thomas Lynch," who have made themselves known since the publication of a letter dated at Weare, Alaska, and purporting to have been written by Thomas Lynch, leaving $84,000 to R. S. and F. B. Knapp, Minnesota friends. The cablegram said: "Hospital records show no such name. Amount of estate seems fabulous for locality. Probably fictitious."

The Lynch letter, dated at Weare, Oct. 1, and postmarked fifteen days later on a Spokane, Pasco & Seattle railway train, stated that probably Lynch was dying in the hospital and wanted to leave his fortune of $84,000 to R. S. and F. B. Knapp, who had befriended him years ago at Ferris, Minn.

MISSIONARIES GIVEN WARNING OF REVOLT NEAR PEKIN SUNDAY

Chinese Government Gets Little Hope in News From Rebellion.

Rebels Have Seized Fresh Towns—Ominous Feeling at Capital.

Pekin, Oct. 21.—There was little in the news of the revolution received today to reassure the government or relieve the general feeling of uneasiness.

The missionaries in this province have been warned by students that there will be a revolutionary outbreak near Pekin tomorrow. Considerable credulence is attached to the warning, as similar advance information had reached the missionaries at Wu Chang prior to the rising there.

Evidently trouble is brewing in Tien Tsin, and a telegram from there contains the ominous statement that the yemen of the viceroy at Tsi Nan, the capital of Shan-Tung province, had been burned.

Have Seized I Chang.

Consular reports from I Chang, which has been isolated for some days, confirm earlier rumors that the city is in the possession of the revolutionists. Thus far there has been no disturbance in I Chang, with the exception of an agitation on the part of 15,000 coolies employed on railway construc-

ROCK ISLAND NOT AFRAID OF STRIKE

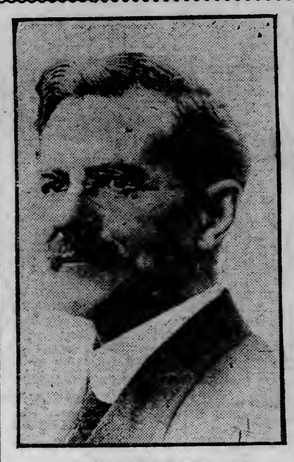

Vice President Melcher Says Men Do Not Want to Quit.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Vice President F. O. Melcher, in charge of the operating department of the Rock Island railroad lines, declared today that the new wage schedule offered the shopmen, who are taking a strike vote, would not affect the earning power of these men.

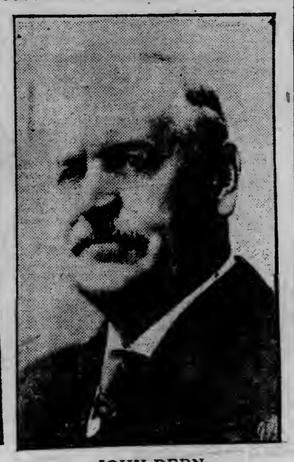

"It was charged that in the schedule which we presented to the shopmen's committee, the overtime was abolished," he said. "This is untrue. Our new scale is as high as the old one. The committee demanded the acceptance of its schedule, which called for an approximate increase of 10 per cent, but we did not give it serious consideration and its members went back to Kansas City without any definite agreement.

"If a vote is being taken we are not alarmed. The men do not want to strike and I believe the result will show this. We are in good condition to cope with a strike situation, however. About 10 per cent of our engines are stored because of laxity in cotton shipments. They are ready for use at any time."

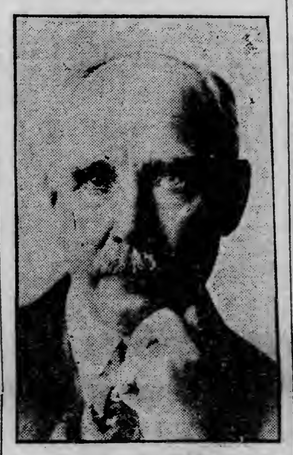

LEADERS IN AMERICAN MINING CONGRESS

J. F. CALLBREATH, JR., Secretary.

JOHN DERN, President.

D. W. BRUNTON, Director.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—The American Mining congress will meet in Chicago Oct. 24. It will meet for five days and among the speakers will be President Taft, John Hays Hammond and Secretary Fisher. The purpose of the meeting is to bring together the best intelligence of the mining world in a deliberative convention, through which the efforts of this organization may be directed into those channels where its service will bring greatest benefit to the mining industry. John Dorn is president of the congress; James F. Callbreath is secretary and D. W. Brunton is one of the directors. President Taft is to speak on the 28th. It was to permit his presence that the previous dates for the session in September were canceled and the meeting postponed until this month.

The subjects with which the convention will principally occupy itself are: The prevention of mining accidents; workmen's compensation for the victims of mining accidents; the prevention of waste of the natural resources and conservation of the energy which now contributes to coal production; general problems of the bituminous coal mining industry as intensified by the demand for better protection to miners and the conservation of fuel resources; Alaskan questions; the public lands question of the West as it affects the mining industry.

SAFETY DEVICE BY WRIGHT BROTHERS

New York, Oct. 21.—The Wright brothers, Orville and Wilbur, have perfected a discovery expected to add vastly to the safety of aviation, a special dispatch to the Herald this morning from the Wright camp, Kill Devil Hill, N. C., says. According to the dispatch, Orville Wright stated that the device was one for the automatic controlling of gliders and power driven aeroplanes to keep such machines at proper balance in the air.

GET EVIDENCE THAT REV. RICHESON WAS MURDERER OF GIRL

Boston Police Learn of Circumstances That Implicate Him.

Pastor Is Reticent and Apparently Unmoved By Charges.

Avis Linnell's Mother Talks of His Relations With Daughter.

Boston, Oct. 21.—Rev. Clarence Virgil Thompson Richeson, pastor of Immanuel Baptist church of Cambridge, awoke today somewhat refreshed, to begin his first full day in the county jail on Charles street, where he is to remain until Tuesday, Oct. 31, the date which had been set for his marriage to Miss Violet Edmands, daughter of Moses Grant Edmands, a wealthy resident of the Chestnut Hill section of Brookline.

Instead of being married on that day, however, the minister will appear in court on a charge of murdering his former sweetheart, Miss Avis Linnell, a student at the New England Conservatory of Music, and a Sunday school teacher at Tremont Temple.

Police Seek Evidence.

Today the police commenced their work of gathering evidence in the case. The delivery of the poison to Miss Linnell and the identity of the person with whom she dined last Saturday evening are matters of vital interest being inquired into.

Chief of Police Dugan claims to have learned that Mr. Richeson dined last Saturday at the home of Mrs. Frank R. Riley of Somerville, a member of Immanuel Baptist church. According to the police, Mrs. Riley has said that on this occasion Richeson threw himself on a couch and exclaimed that he had lost a dear friend, and that she had died in convulsions. The police wish to know how the minister knew this friend died in convulsions.

Telephoned to Her.

The police also are working on statements made by John F. Danskin of Cambridge, to the effect that his wife heard Richeson telephone to Miss Linnell at the Young Woman's Christian association building to meet him Saturday.

In his cell Richeson remains cool and reticent. He has made no statement. A member of his church said today that at the services at that church tomorrow a statement from Richeson

LOAN COMPANY MEN INDICTED

Purvis and Others Accused of Conducting Lottery By Mail.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 21.—Charged with using the mails to defraud and to promote a lottery whereby they secured nearly $500,000, Richard Purvis, president of the Southern Loan & Trust company of this city, and three other officers of the same concern were indicted by the federal grand jury here yesterday.

It is charged the company sold loan contracts and that in buying a contract the investor really was purchasing a lottery ticket.

The company is in the hands of a trustee in bankruptcy, who hopes to realize between $100,000 and $150,000 from assets.

MORE RAIN IN PHILADELPHIA

Mack Says World Series May Not Be Resumed Monday.

Fans Who Went to See Fourth Game Return Home.

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—The fourth game between the Philadelphia Athletics and the New York Giants for the baseball championship of the world, which was scheduled to be played here last Wednesday, was postponed today for the fourth time, and under the rules will be played on Monday or the first clear day.

Rain fell heavier today than at any time since the present wet weather set in last Tuesday night.

Umpires Klem, Connolly and Dineen, under instructions from the National commission, went to Shibe park at 7:30 o'clock this morning to make an early decision so that an announcement could be made in New York and other Eastern cities within easy reach of Philadelphia. The umpires agreed before they left their hotels that there could be no game.

PREPARE TO SAIL FOR CHINA COAST

Naval Forces in Philippines Get Supplies Aboard Ships.

Manila, P. I., Oct. 21—Local merchants received notice from the naval authorities today to deliver at once all food supplies which have been contracted for in behalf of the marines stationed here. It was announced that this assembling of supplies was a precautionary measure in view of the possibility that the entire force would be dispatched for emergency duty in the fireign concessions at Hankow.

That the naval authorities regard the present disturbance in China as likely to be of long duration, is indicated by the fact that the collier Abernda, which sailed this week for Shanghai, took ammunition for a long campaign.

WRIT ISSUED TO RAILROAD

Flour Rate From Buffalo to New York Set at 9.2.

Unique Procedure Goes Over Head of Commerce Commission.

Washington, Oct. 21.—An alternative writ of mandamus was issued today by the commerce court against the Lehigh Valley road to show cause by Oct. 25, why a rate of 9.2 cents should not be exacted on flour and grain products from Buffalo to New York City. The Minneapolis millers are fighting for reduction of the present 23-cent rate from Minneapolis to New York.

The proposed freight rate on flour from Minneapolis to New York city is 5 cents from Minneapolis to Duluth; 6.3 cents via the Flour City line from Duluth to Buffalo, and 9.2 cents from Buffalo to New York. This makes a rate of 20.5 cents a hundred pounds from Minneapolis to New York city, 2.5 cents a hundred pounds less than recently was proposed by the Western lines.

Raised the Rate.

The Flour City line is a new and independent corporation in lake traffic. Prior to its advent into the traffic the Lehigh Valley and other Eastern lines accepted a 9.2 cent rate on

THIRTY-SIX PILGRIMS CROSS SANDS TO MECCA

Banquet and Initiation as Climax to Shriner's Day.

High School Girls Open Eyes of Many Visiting Potentates.

There are thirty-six new Shriners in Duluth this morning.

After a rough and perilous journey over the hot and burning sands of the Orient which was accomplished only after a great deal of difficulty on the part of the candidates, thirty-six newly created Shriners last evening sat down to a well appointed banquet with Imperial Potentate Treat of Fargo, N. D., officers of many outside Shriners and the officers and members of Aad temple, the local chapter.

It was a big night fro local Shriners. The ceremonial is said to have been the biggest and most successful ever held. Graced by the presence of the imperial Potentate, the imperial first assistant ceremonial master, Charles E. Ovenshire of Minneapolis; officers of Ahmed temple, Marquette, Mich., El Zagal temple, Fargo, N. D., Kem temple, Grand Forks; Tripoli temple, Milwaukee; Osman temple, St. Paul, and Zuhrah temple, Minneapolis, the ceremonial just over will be labeled in the archives as the biggest, grandest and best yet.

It was a day and evening of fun. The visitors and locals figuratively took off their coats and waded knee-deep in the sea of whole-souled amusement, and it was with reluctance that a lot of tired but happy Shriners sought their homes during the wee hours of early morning.

Many Visitors.

There were more than 100 visitors. These, together with the very large membership of Aad temple, made the attendance impressive—at least to the candidates. Thirty-six shaking candidates who knew they were in for it, shivered through the vaudeville entertainment that was held previous to the serious business of the evening, the initiation.

The fun began yesterday morning when the visitors began to arrive on the morning trains. The trains were met by local Shriners in costume. To the music of a band, the visitors were escorted to the St. Louis hotel which was the central down-town headquarters of the mystics.

Grand Forks sent the largest delegation. Two special cars were required to carry Potentate C. A. Hale and twenty nobles and the coaches seemed small, for Shriners out for fun need lots of room.

In the afternoon the men from outside were given a ride about the harbor by the locals on the steamer Plowboy. The several points of interest were visited and the men from outside were pleased at what they saw.

Beginning from the time of the arrival of the visitors in the morning there was not a dull moment all day. The evening celebration was, of course, the best and most appreciated and the outside nobles were loud in their praises of the entertainment furnished by the members of Double "A" and a "d."

"We cannot express our appreciation too strongly to Potentate Underhill and the nobles of Aad temple for the cordial reception they have given us," said Potentate Hale of Kem temple. "They have certainly done things up brown."

Custance Outdoes Himself.

Prior to the ceremonial, there was a drill by the Arab team of Aad temple and a vaudeville performance given by girls from the high school under the direction of A. F. M. Custance. Clad in harem skirts and in black and white witches' costumes, the girls did several singing and dancing turns that took the men by storm. It was probably the cleverest turn ever staged by Aad temple's master stage manager. Mr. Custance has arranged many entertainments for the Masonic order in the past, but he outdid himself last evening, and left the visitors amazed and not a little envious by the musical performance given by the young women.

Assisting Imperial Potentate Treat and Potentate Underhill of Aad temple, were Potentates Fred Lake of Zuhrah temple, Minneapolis; M. A. Baldwin of El Zagal temple of Fargo, N. D.; C. A. Hale of Kem temple, Grand Forks, N. D., and E. B. Swygart of Osman temple, St. Paul.

The Candidates.

The list of candidates is as follows: Bert J. Armstrong, Alexander Armstrong, George T. Ayres, Laurence P. Berger, Charles A. Bronson, Frank A. Carlson, Aldridge E. Daggett, W. C. Dolan, George Eddy, Robert Freeman, Arthur M. Frazee, Warren E. Greene, Franklin M. Greer, James H. Gordon, Arthur J. Gorman, Jean Heitmann, Herbert C. Holbrook, Charles Helmer, James A. Leckey, Walter T. Leonard, Daniel McIntyre, James S. Matteson, Charles Morse, William J. Nicholas, Elias C. Perry, William J. Rashleigh, Ira M. Roadman, Cloud L. Saxer, William H. Sell, Hans Sorenson, William G. Studley, Anton Tanelg, Caleb B. Waymire Wallace J. Wyman, Frank L. Young, James A. Robinson, C. C. Carpenter, James A. Crawford, William C. Hilbert, Robert A. Kerr, Pentecost Mitchell, Philip A. Thomas and Mason W. Burt Jr.

The nobles of Kem temple who attended, were: "Potentate C. A. Hale; Nobles S. S. Titus, C. C. Gowran, F. D. Cameron, W. S. Whitman, Carl Nelson, A. E. Logan, J. B. Wineman, J. W. Pomeroy, N. B. Black, John Woods, George Keenan, E. J. Lanber Dr. M. G. Williamson, Miles Strieker, J. S. McNish, L. Stinson, H. Johnson, George Wilder and Fred Parsons.

ANOTHER GREAT CURE BY DOCTOR MITCHELL

READ IT!

Mr. Fred Talbot Tells the Public of His Cure.

Mr. Talbot, 5112 Pope street, Duluth, tells a reporter of a great cure Dr. Mitchell performed on him. He had been told by several physicians an operation was the only thing that would save his life. He said "I know the knife is dangerous. No one can predict the final results where the knife is used. Hearing of Dr. Mitchell and the wonderful cures he is making, I consulted him. He said he thought he could cure me. I started treatment after days of suffering from systematic catarrh, which seemed to attack all the organs, destroying or impairing the tissues and making them unable to perform their duties as excretory and secretory agents, causing much misery and distress and grew worse from day to day. I am positive that Dr. Mitchell saved my life when all others had failed. I have talked with many sick people since my cure last winter and I am telling every one I see of his wonderful work. No physician or surgeon can do his work—it is a gift, a natural gift, that is all there is to it. While getting treatment I saw and talked with many people in his office. They were all getting better. Everyone spoke in the highest terms of praise for him. I believe there are thousands suffering from pain and disease who could be cured if they would get this treatment. I saw one man who came 900 miles. He told me he had been doctoring for five months for sciatica without getting any better; could not walk without a pair of crutches; cured by Dr. Mitchell in six weeks. I believe his name was Mr. Ide and he lived in West Duluth at one time. Dr. Mitchell invites the afflicted from all quarters to come to him and be cured. He is curing the worst cases of nervousness, muscular weakness, brain fag, female troubles, dyspepsia, heart disease, rheumatism and all blood and nerve troubles. If you do not get to consult him the first time you call, do not give up; call again, for he is a busy man. Advice is free. Office, 300, 300½ and 301 Columbia building."

amount as his share in such work.

The witness admitted he was paid about $700 to cover his expenses in working for Stephenson at the primaries in 1908 and that he was present at the joint session of the legislature on March 4, 1909, when three Democratic members absented themselves and thus gave Stephenson a majority. He said he did not know the Democratic members were absent until after the election.

Previous to Shields' appearance, Wirt H. Cook, a lumberman of Duluth, testified he had a talk with Shields on a train between Duluth and Chicago late in 1909. Having in mind a story told him by Daniel Haley, another Duluth lumberman, that Shields had a dispute with Hines because, he, Shields was to receive $15,000 "for doing a job at Madison," but only got $7,500 for it, Cook testified that he had asked Shields "how did you come out on that Madison job?" and Shields had replied "that's all settled."

Shields on the stand said he never had made such a remark.

Denied Threat to Shoot.

Shields also denied the testimony, "Shields told me he would shoot me if I did him any harm."

During the examination Charles E. Littlefield counsel for Senator Stephenson, referred to a conversation, the details of which had been given by Cook. Cook testified that in May, 1909, in a hotel lobby in Chicago, he overheard Hines say to Henry Turrish, Cook's partner: "I am having an awful time. For instance, there is Stephenson voting for free lumber, and after I elected him, too. I have had a terrible time getting him lined up. It also seems hard to get those Southern Democrats in line." Attorney Littlefield called attention to similar testimony given by Cook in the Lorimer case and wanted to know if Cook wasn't referring to Hines' attitude toward Southern Democrats and not toward Senator Stephenson. Cook declared Hines referred to Senator Stephenson.

It is probable Hines will be called to testify within a few days.

Shields Not in Custody.

Shields appeared in Milwaukee after Senator Heyburn, chairman of the committee had ordered a bench warrant issued for him, but he came before the warrant was received. He was not taken into custody.

"It is charged that you secured Senator Stephenson's election through the use of money. Is that true?" Shields was asked.

"It is not true."

"Did you ever work with Hines to secure the senator's election?"

"I did not."

"It is charged that you went to Washington to induce Mr. Stephenson to secure his election through the use of money."

"That is not true. I have seen Senator Stephenson to talk to only once in twenty-five years and that was five years ago. I never saw him in Washington except from the gallery of the senate."

"Did you have any difference with Hines over any amount you were to receive for distributing $100,000 in connection with the election?"

"Never."

"Of Course Not."

"Did you ever tell Cook that you would shout him or kill him if he ever did you any harm?"

"Of course not."

"Hines claimed, didn't he, that he was responsible for the election of Senator Stephenson?"

"He never said so to me."

"Didn't you ever talk with Hines as to the senator's election?"

"Not before his election."

"Have you any stock in any of the Hines companies?"

"Yes, some."

"How long have you had it?"

"For more than a year."

Cook testified he had endeavored to induce Shields to tell all he knew about Stephenson's election, and Shields had promised to call on him, but Shields denied he had ever been invited to call on Cook.

Presence at Madison.

Explaining his presence at Madison when Stephenson was elected, Shields said he was there partly on other business and only incidentally in Stephenson's behalf. His interest in the senator, he said, was in fact that he had worked for him at the primaries and he wanted to see him elected.

Senator Pomerene questioned the witness about the inability of a legislative committee to find him when he was wanted to testify in a previous state investigation or the Stephenson charges. Shields replied he was at West Baden, Ind., and could have been found.

When Shields left the stand he was told to remain in attendance for possible further questioning.

Towne On the Stand.

Silas A. Towne, one of the three Democratic assemblymen who absented themselves when Senator Stephenson was elected, was then called

When he declared he could not remember in detail what he did after he left the session, Senator Heyburn subjected him to severe questioning.

"Do you mean to say that you regarded the election of a senator as such a trifling matter that what you did at the time was not worth remembering? When the suggestion of bribery was connected with your being absent, didn't you try to recall what you did in an effort to defend yourself."

Towne declared he did not consider the bribery charges as worthy of denial.

MORE RAIN IN PHILADELPHIA

grounds when the umpires made their decision, but when he arrived and took a look at the wretched condition of the field he said it appeared to him that it was doubtful if a game would be played Monday, unless the rain soon ceased.

The wet weather is giving the manager of the Philadelphia team an opportunity to catch up on his correspondence, which has been unusually heavy since his club won its second game from New York.

Reported at Grounds.

The members of the Philadelphia team reported at the grounds as usual today and were excused until Monday morning at 10 o'clock, when they will try to get some much-needed practice, if the weather permits. Reuben Oldring, the center fielder, returned to Mount Vernon, N. Y., where his sister will be buried tomorrow. He expects to join the team Monday. Oldring, who arrived early today from Mount Vernon, said his mother was very ill.

As soon as the game was officially postponed Manager McGraw of the New York team released his players until Monday morning and they scattered in all directions. Most of them left for New York at 11 o'clock.

Fans Go Home!

Two days postponement also enabled hundreds of out-of-town people who have been here since Wednesday to see the fourth game, to go home over Sunday.

grain products from Buffalo to New York city. Subsequently the Lehigh Valley, in common with the other Eastern lines, exacted a charge of 11 cents a hundred pounds from Buffalo to New York city in addition to dockage and loading charges at Buffalo.

It was averred in the statement to the commerce court that the granting of the injunction for the writ of mandamus will make no difference in the revenues of the Lehigh Valley, as it will continue to receive the 9.2 cent rate from Buffalo to New York as its proportion of the rail-lake-and-rail rate from Minneapolis to New York.

The Minneapolis millers agreed to give bond as security to the defendants in the action until the case shall have been determined. There will be no disturbance of the rail rate structure, the idea of the appellants being merely to reestablish lake competition and to have the same proportion of the through rate applied when the traffic moves over the Flour City line as it is accorded when the traffic moves over connecting lines which are controlled by the Eastern trunk railways.

Procedure is Unique.

The procedure is unique, inasmuch as it apparently goes over the head of the interstate commerce commission. The reason for this action is that a large amount of flour is now moving from Minneapolis to New York City, and it is desired by the shippers to secure the advantage of lower than existing rates on the shipments.

Only a few days ago a complaint was received by the interstate commerce commission of the present rates from Minneapolis to Eastern destinations.

Under the law the complainants have the right to appeal to the commerce court for a writ of mandamus to compel the railroads to accept a reduced rate pending a determination of the reasonableness of that rate by the interstate commerce commission and by the courts.

It is likely that the commerce court will determine within a few days whether the alternative writ of mandamus shall be made permanent.

GET EVIDENCE THAT REV. RICHESON WAS MURDERER OF GIRL

will be read by the clergyman who is to occupy the pulpit.

It has been the police theory that Miss Linnell received the poison from some person she met Saturday afternoon. The police say that Mr. Richeson called Miss Linnell by telephone Thursday, and according to a woman from whose home Mr. Richeson was in the custom of telephoning to Miss Linnell, the minister said:

"Well, I'll see you Saturday afternoon. It seems a long time to Saturday."

Died in Y. W. C. A.

Miss Linnell, who was 19 years old and a student at the Conservatory of Music, was found dead in the bathroom of the Young Women's Christian association home here. At first the police believed she had committed suicide, but later developments indicated that she unknowingly had taken cyanide of potassium sent her by some other person, in the belief that it would remedy her embarrassing physical condition.

For several days, the police inquiry made little progress, but information that Mr. Richeson had purchased cyanide of potassium at a drugstore in Newton, led the officials to decide upon his arrest.

Miss Violet Edmands, for whose marriage to Mr. Richeson on Oct. 31 cards had been issued, is a daughter of Moses Grant Edmands, a millionaire. These invitations were recalled yesterday. The Edmands family, however, maintains faith in Mr. Richeson, and the only announcement in connection with the withdrawal of the cards is that the marriage had been postponed.

The setting of Oct. 31 as the date for a further hearing of Mr. Richeson developed a coincidence in the fact that the day is that on which he was to have been married. But neither the announcement of the date, nor any happening in connection with his arrest, seemed to disturb the prisoner.

Confronted by Druggist.

Even when faced by William Hahn, the Newton druggist, who declared that Richeson had purchased cyanide from him a week ago Tuesday—the minister was unperturbed apparently. As Hahn was shown into the room at police headquarters, Richeson stepped forward and shook his hand. It was noticeable that the druggist was more moved than the accused man.

Facing the clergyman, Hahn, who has known Mr. Richeson for several years, told how Richeson walked into his store Tuesday evening, Oct. 9, and said:

"I've got a dog at home that is creating a disturbance. She will be a nuisance unless I can kill her soon."

Mr. Hahn said that he responded to Richeson, "I never knew you had a dog," and that Richeson replied that he kept it in his room.

Inquiry by the police where Mr. Richeson roomed developed the presence only of a male dog owned by the landlord, who said that Richeson had never owned a dog during the eight months that he had lodged there.

Chloroform "Too Slow."

Hahn said further that he suggested chloroform to Mr. Richeson, but that the minister wanted "something that will work quick." Cyanide of potassium was mentioned as acting instantly, and the druggist said he gave Richeson enough to kill three dogs, but the minister asked for more and the preparation finally amounted to enough to poison ten men.

As Mr. Richeson turned to go, Hahn says the clergyman reminded him of his coming wedding to Miss Edmands, and said:

"Don't forget to come," adding "It must seem mysterious to you about my buying this, but you can keep a secret."

This story, brought to Chief Inspector Dugan of the Boston police by Hahn's attorney, led to Richeson's arrest.

Circumstances Against Suicide.

Under other circumstances Miss Linnell's death might have been dismissed as a suicide. The powder the police believe she accepted trustingly as a corrective for her condition, was taken while she was seated in a chair in her bath room. When found in a dying condition her feet were in a tub of hot water, and by her side was a change of clothing. These circumstances induced Medical Examiner Timothy J. Leary to change his first verdict to one of murder.

Police investigation developed the statement from a young woman attached to the Y. W. C. A. home that when Mr. Richeson was notified by telephone of Miss Linnell's death he showed little interest, but asked:

"Did Miss Linnell say anything before she died?"

The answer was that she did not.

While the accused man was being taken to Charles street jail from the Tombs, his rooms in Cambridge were being searched by police inspectors with the object, they said, of finding the remainder of the cyanide which Druggist Hahn says the minister purchased of him. The result of their search is unknown.

Girl's Mother Talks.

Hiannis, Mass., Oct. 21.—"Thank God, I believe no mistake has been made."

With this exclamation, Mrs. Edgar Linnell, mother of Avis Linnell, received the news that Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson had been arrested for the alleged murder of her daughter. Mrs. Linnell, later, however, voiced the belief that Mr. Richeson was not accountable.

"He must have been out of his mind," she said, and then told of the peculiarities of Mr. Richeson, which she noticed when he was a caller at her home.

"Mr. Richeson, whom I loved as a son even before he became formally engaged to Avis, worried us often by attacks which he had at our house," she said. "Although they did not appear to be serious, they left him in a highly nervous state, and he was often forced to leave the table because of them. He worried about this trouble and once broke the engagement with Avis, giving his physical condition as the reason. Their engagement was renewed, however, and Avis, I firmly believe, was engaged to him when she died."

Sang in His Choir.

Between Mrs. Linnell and her daughter, Mrs. Vida McLean, the story of the acquaintance of Avis Linnell and the young pastor was told. Avis was a singer in the Baptist church choir when Mr. Richeson assumed the pastorate there four years ago. She was only 15 years old, but the new minister showed marked attention to her and within a few months was calling at the Linnell home.

"At first I objected," said Mrs Linnell, "but only because I thought Avis was too young. I liked Mr. Richeson and thought him an admirable man, and finally consented when Avis told me that he loved her and that they were engaged. The wedding was set for the last of October, but Mr. Richeson's attacks troubled him and he broke the engagement, saying he would renew it if he found his physical condition warranted. He became engaged to Avis again, but they had never set a date after the first, I believe.

Met Him Last Week.

Mrs. Linnell told of visiting Boston last week, when she saw Avis and also met Mr. Richeson.

"My little girl seemed in the best spirits and appeared happy in her relation with Mr. Richeson," Mrs. Linnell said, and added that the minister told her that reports that he was engaged to Miss Violet Edmands of Brookline were untrue.

"So gay and light-hearted did Avis appear that day that one would think the child had not a care in the world," said her mother; "her music lessons were delightful to her and everything was pleasant. Not a word or sign did she give to indicate her condition."

Repaid Education Money.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 21.—Miss Patsy Felts of Independence, Mo., who has been asked by the Boston police as to the past life of Clarence V. T. Richeson, is seriously ill at the home of her sister here. Some years ago Miss Felts became interested in Richeson, who was then attending William Jewell college at Liberty, Mo. She loaned Richeson money to complete his education. Since his ordination as a minister Richeson has paid back the loan, according to Miss Felts' relatives.

TEN HURT IN CRASH ON OHIO TRACTION LINE.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 21.—Two Cleveland, Southwestern & Columbus interurban cars collided head-on in a fog just outside the city today. Ten people were injured, one seriously, but none fatally. Ben Meyers of Lenox park sustained three broken ribs and a fractured skull. Both cars were demolished.

JUDGE GROSSCUP FINALLY RESIGNS

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Judge Peter S. Grosscup of the United States circuit court today forwarded his resignation to President Taft. He asked that it become effective next Monday.

Judge Grosscup's resignation has been delayed several weeks in hopes of reaching a settlement in the foreclosure proceedings of the Chicago & Milwaukee Electric road. Today he declined to await further developments and transferred hearing of the case to Judge George A. Carpenter.

"I have nothing to say about my plans for the future," said Judge Grosscup. "I will resume my private practice."

Lighting Talks

NUMBER 81 DULUTH, OCTOBER 21, 1911

The Political Game.

The engineers' report on a municipal electric plant read before the Council last Monday night is only half of the report. It ends with these words: "For operating costs and rates—see Part II." That "Part II" HAS NOT BEEN SUBMITTED TO COUNCIL.

Where is it? Has it been held up? WHO is holding it up? and WHY? Is it of no public interest, is it of no importance to know how much it would cost to operate such a plant? Is it not rather of the very greatest importance? Perhaps YOU can easily afford to buy a $700 automobile; but before doing it wouldn't YOU stop long enough to consider how much it would cost you to maintain and operate it?

Why were the municipal ownership politicians notified that the engineers' report had come, and everybody else kept in the dark?

Why the attempt to stampede Council? to get action on the half-report, without any deliberation? Have YOU seen the report for which $14,000 of YOUR money has been spent? Why not have it printed in the newspapers so that you can see it? Why not have the WHOLE report and study it a little bit before acting on it? Should this important question be decided in the haste of passion, or by the calm light of reason?

Their own engineers' report, you see, rather discredits the honorable gentlemen who told you that the Duluth-Edison Electric Company's plant could be "duplicated" for less than $700,000, and also that we would lie down and die (or submit to be "strangled," was it?) as soon as a municipal plant was built.

The three or four honorable gentlemen who are nightly addressing the public on "watered stock" are just as sadly mistaken. Why are they telling you that? TO BEFOG THE REAL ISSUE, that is why.

The honorable politicians have not adduced one fact or one figure to controvert the TRUTH that our lighting rate is 26 PER CENT LOWER than the average rate of all the other leading American cities, and that a municipal plant cannot meet our rate without swelling enormously the City debt and making taxes enormously higher. They CANNOT controvert that TRUTH.

But they are after YOUR alderman with all the political pressure they can exert. Are YOU going to remain silent about that?

Read the next Lighting Talk in Monday's Herald.

COMMISSION FORM LIKED

Eveleth Charter Commission Studying Working of Idea in Mankato.

May Send Committee to Southern Minnesota City to Inspect Working.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the charter commission last evening at the city hall the charters of several cities in this state were examined, the Mankato charter being thoroughly read. Judge J. C. McGilvray who was instrumental in having the present charter commission appointed applied for the position of attorney for the commission. It is likely the appointment will be made at the next meeting of the body.

To Hear Authorities.

Professors of economy of the state university have been invited to deliver addresses here during the winter on the commission form of government and many hav applied. The addresses will be given at the high school and the speakers are assured large audiences. The Mankato charter which is now being studied embodies the commission form of government, Mankato being the first city in this state to adopt that form. The commission plans to send a committee to Mankato to study the working of the new form of city government there.

ITALIANS AND INDIANS FIGHT

Chippewa Brave and His Brother Are Badly Cut During Fracas.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff Riley and deputies are scouring the country around Ball Club searching for some Italian section men who engaged in a fight with some Chippewa Indians a few nights ago, during which Charles Drumbeater, a redskin, and John Drumbeater, his brother, were badly cut, the former's condition being critical.

It is reported here the section men procured some whisky and inviting four squaws to their quarters plied them with the stuff, the whole party becoming intoxicated. Four Indians, hearing of the affair, visited the scene of the orgy and demanded the squaws. A fight ensued durng which knives were used by the Italians, then all the Italians fled, pursued by the redskins.

McINNIS TALKS ROADS.

County Commissioner Tells of Troubles of Board.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Discussing road matters here yesterday County Commissioner Neil McInnis admitted the troubles of members of the county board were many, and it was impossible in a newly developed country to carry on permanent road building.

The commissioner said that in his opinion the county was doing pretty well in the matter of building roads. He said that $225,000 was appropriated for road building for this year and $260,000 for next year. He thought that showed a liberal disposition and commendable progress. Mr. McInnis stated that the board is not given proper credit for the work being accomplished in the way of building up a system of public roads, and while there are odds and ends of road building in the county and lots of them, the board is working out a system which will eventually connect all the main points with excellent roads, and out from that system will extend branches to every part of the county where roads are necessary. In spite of the big appropriation everything cannot be accomplished at once, said the commissioner, but the board is doing all that can be done under the circumstances. He admitted that, perhaps, not enough permanent road construction is going on.

CHISHOLM NEWS NOTES.

Current Happenings Gathered in the Range Village.

Chisholm, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. George L. Chamberlain, superintendent of the Michigan state hospital at La Peer, was here Thursday, the guest of his sister, Mrs. Willard Bayliss.

The ladies of the M. E. church tendered a surprise party at the church parlors last Monday afternoon to Mrs. Keast, who is about to leave for her future home at Breckenridge. Refreshments were served and Mrs. Keast was presented with a cut glass berry bowl.

Dr. Nelson lost his valuable pair of English bull pups last week but was fortunate enough to locate them the other day at Hibbing, the dogs being recognized as the doctor's by a friend who happened to see them on the street.

Eighteen Odd Fellows came from Hibbing Tuesday evening and assisted the local lodge in first degree work.

Judge Freeman went to Minneapolis Monday to attend the inauguration of President Vincent of the state university.

Mrs. F. H. Bradfield and daughter arrived this week from Houghton, Mich., and have rented the Pierce residence in the north part of town and will remain during the winter with her son, Mr. Bradfield is bookkeeper at the Rood hospital.

A number of the little playmates of Miss Harriet Lewis gave her a surprise party Friday, Oct. 13. Games were played and dainty refreshments were served to the guests. The self-invited guests presented their hostess with a beautiful gold bracelet.

The K. of P. lodge held a smoker at their lodge rooms Monday evening in honor of E. I. Casey. Harry Austin on behalf of the members presented Casey with a handsome watch fob and charm to commemorate the event. The K. of P. lodge has decided to hold social sessions during the winter at regular intervals, to which members of the family will be invited and social entertainment provided.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Gale of 311 Olmstead street, St. Paul, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jessie, to S. W. Goldenberg of Chisholm, formerly of Minneapolis.

PAPER MILL WORK MAKING PROGRESS

Grand Rapids Plant Going Ahead With Its Big New Buildings.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)——Work on the buildings being erected by the Itasca Paper company is progressing. The concrete foundations are about complete. The smokestack, which is to be 225 feet high, is about one-third up. It is being built of concrete, reinforced with steel rods.

The steel girders over the coal pocket are being put in, and the steel and brick work is being put in wherever things are in readiness for them.

This basement is a monstrous affair. There is close to 500 lineal feet of the immense foundation walls, which average about twenty feet high from the base, and the excavation for the basement, the work of putting in the walls and hauling the sand and rock, crushing the rock and preparing for the walls represent a large amount of work. The work was all done by the company and they employed, as far as possible, local labor.

The company is also putting new roofs on the beater room, the wood room and the grinder room, and the work is well along.

Building Potato Warehouse.

The foundation of the potato warehouse is completed. Contractor J. S. Lofberg, who had the work in charge, started to break ground for the new structure last Monday. The foundation consists of a concrete wall ten inches thick, lined with hollow tile brick with a three-inch air space between, a construction which will make the new building impervious to frosts. The brick work will start at once.

All of the brick used in the construction of the building will be the brick saved from the fire which destroyed the magnificent brick block of Hughes & Co. last May.

WARBA IS GROWING.

New Village Near Grand Rapids Building Up.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Real progress is being made in Warba, the new village fifteen miles east of here. A couple of new buildings have been erected, and there are others planned. A three-story brick hotel is being built by the Fitger Brewing company. The new building is now up, the brick work being completed, and it is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy by the first or the middle of next month. The new building is 34 by 60 feet, three-story brick with a full concrete basement. It will be used in connection with the old hotel which the brewing company purchased some time ago, and the combined capacity of the new institution will be about sixty rooms. The old portion of the hotel is now running, and is in charge of J. W. Du Puy.

O. M. Hall, one of the old timers of Warba, is erecting a building which will be used as a poolroom with a dancing hall in the second floor. The new building will be 28 by 40, and will be ready for occupancy soon.

The sawmill of the Warba Hardwood company is running every day and lumber piles are going up in large numbers.

HIS FIRST CAMPAIGN FOR EVELETH OFFICE

JOHN M. BRADICH.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—John M. Bradich, for many years a resident of this city, is making an active campaign for city treasurer. This is his first campaign for a city office. He is a member of many societies and is very public spirited.

ALMAR DRIFT IN PAINT ROCK

Cross-cut Being Run From Drift Following Soapstone Wall.

Tower, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—News comes from the Almar iron mine today that paint rock has been encountered and that the formation continues to be highly encouraging. It is the general belief here that it will not be long before the ore body will be reached.

The heading in the drift shows soapstone, slate and graphite, the slate lying between the soapstone and the graphite. The graphite is showing very red. A cross-cut has been run from the drift about eighteen feet, and the soapstone wall has again been encountered. Paint rock from the drift was brought here today and excited much interest. The contact in the cross-cut is highly colored with hydrated iron.

Going upon the indications at the head of the cross-cut Capt. Kelley, the superintendent of the Almar, has determined to follow the soapstone wall to the north or northeast.

SHEEP CLEARING LAND.

Itasca Farmers Find Animal Great Browsers.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—An industry which is not only proving profitable, but is doing much to assist the farmers carrying it on to clear their land in this section is sheep raising.

E. H. Dorothy has twenty-two, and he says it is surprising how much brush they will kill in the course of a summer, and how little it takes to feed them. They will thrive in a pasture which is too bare for other stock, and will eat the leaves off small trees and brush clear to the top. Once the leaves are eaten off the brush dies, with the result that there is easy clearing another year.

Judd Romans and C. K. Mundy also are prominently identified with the sheep raising industry in this section. They say that they are surprised that more farmers do not have sheep, as the clearing they help to do alone, not to mention the fleece and mutton they produce, is well worth keeping them for.

DIES OF PNEUMONIA.

Mrs. Julia Heaton of Grand Rapids Is Called.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Julia Heaton, aged 67 years, died Thursday of pneumonia, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Cook, with whom she had been making her home for the past five years, after an illness of about two weeks.

Mrs. Heaton leaves two daughters, Mrs. James Cook and Mrs. J. T. Wall of this city, and two sons, living at Gatzke, Minn., and at Muntello, Wis.

The funeral was held this afternoon from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cook.

GREAT POTATO YIELD

Reported at Lake Pokegama, Near Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A banner yield of potatoes is reported from the farm of Niles & Alton, four miles south of Grand Rapids on Pokegama lake. Five acres of the spuds which had been dug up to yesterday produced 1,800 bushels, or at the rate of 360 bushels to the acre. There are twelve acres in the field, and they give every promise of yielding as well as the first five acres harvested. Twelve potatoes taken from their field weighed twenty-one pounds. The potatoes are the variety known as the Carmen No. 2.

Mr. Alton is state high school inspector, while Mr. Niles is a well-known local feed and hay dealer.

TWO BIWABIK WEDDINGS.

Mining Man and a Banker Become Benedicts.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. S. J. Williams of B avenue and Capt. John Moon, formerly of this city, now of Biwabik, were recently married at Virginia by Rev. A. E. Carswell at the St. John's Episcopal church. They will make their home at Biwabik where Mr. Moon is captain at the new Williams mine. The couple are very well known, having both resided in Eveleth for many years. Mr. Moon has also resided at Hibbing and is well and popularly known on the range.

Father J. B. Culligan of the St. Patrick church of this city officiated at the marriage of Miss O'Hara to P. McGovern, both of Biwabik at Biwabik this morning. The groom is cashier of a bank at Biwabik while his bride is well-known here and at other range points. The couple left for a two weeks' visit at Detroit and other large cities.

CURRENT VIRGINIA ITEMS.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—City Attorney O. A. Poirier spent the week hunting in the northern woods.

E. F. Zimmerman of Cowen & Zimmerman, Duluth, was in the city Thursday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Greeley, formerly of Pine City, have settled in their new home on Central avenue. Mr. Greeley will be the president of the new Virginia State bank, which will open for business some time next month.

Rev. R. W. Wilcox of the Methodist church of Virginia, spoke in the Methodist church at Eveleth Friday evening on Sunday school work.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris J. Brennan of Pine county are the guests of Judge and Mrs. J. H. Fleming. Mr. Brennan is deputy sheriff of Pine county and a brother of Mrs. Fleming.

Rheumatism Advice

Gives Prominent Doctor's Best Prescription—Is Easily Mixed.

"Get one ounce of syrup of Sarsaparilla compound and one ounce of Toris compound. Then get half a pint of good whiskey and put the other two ingredients into it. Take a tablespoonful of this mixture before each meal and at bed time. Shake the bottle before using." This is not new in this city as many of the worst cases of rheumatism and back-ache have been cured by it. Good results come the first day. Any druggist has these ingredients on hand or will quickly get them from his wholesale house. Any one can mix them.

PEACEMAKER IS CUT WITH KNIFE

While Trying to Separate Combatants, One of Whom Is Badly Cut.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Playing the role of a peacemaker proved painful for John Narkovich, bartender in a Pine street saloon, last night when he jumped across the bar and tried to separate a couple of Austrians who were fighting, as he sustained a bad cut in one arm.

The combatants were armed with knives. Joe Larcarwan was badly cut and had to be taken to a hospital where it is reported he is in serious condition. Joe Usinich, who did the cutting is in jail and will have a hearing as soon as his victim's condition warrants. The row grew out of Usinich trying to borrow $5 from Lacarwan.

Judge After Knife Wielders.

A. Antello and John Raditch were fined $100 and costs and $25 and costs, with the alternative of ninety and thirty days in the county jail, respectively, for carrying concealed weapons. They live in the French location and were arrested after a chase Thursday night. Judge Brady has announced that he is determined to put an end to the carrying of knives and revolvers at the mining locations and whenever any infractions of the law covering the matter are brought to his attention he will impose severe sentences.

GIRLS' WELFARE IS FREELY DISCUSSED

Banquet to Members of Queen Esther Circles Held at Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The banquet given last evening in the gymnasium of the M. E. church by Miss Lewella Penrod in honor of the teachers of the Sunday school classes and members of the Queen Esther circle, was well attended. The gymnasium was prettily decorated. The program opened with a selection by the high school orchestra. A violin solo was given by Leslie J. Tobin, while vocal solos were rendered by Misses Jane Mulligan and Edith Helgeson.

Rev. H. A. Wilcox of the Methodist Episcopal church of Virginia, who spoke in place of Supt. Van Dyke of the Coleraine schools, who could not appear, gave a very interesting and instructive address on "What a Girl Can Do."

Miss Dykman of Hinckley, secretary of the State Queen Esther circle, spoke along fraternal lines about "Queen Esthers," while Miss Maud Severance of the Northwestern Deaconess Home, Duluth, gave an interesting talk on "The Larger View" dealing in an optimistic way on the work to be done in religious and charitable movements. Miss Holder, secretary of the Duluth Y. W. C. A., wired her inability to be present. Principal V. R. Boardman of the local high school gave a talk on the "Educational Value of Bible Study." Rev. B. D. Hanscom was toastmaster.

was under interrogation by the court at the close of yesterday's session. He is not wanted by counsel for the defense, who assert that James B. McNamara, their client, could not have dynamited the building and caused the death of Charles J. Haggarty, for which he is being tried, because the building was blown up by gas. They therefore challenged him and are waiting for the decision of the judge. McKee says he has no opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant.

A. C. Robinson, after being challenged because of his opposition to conviction on circumstantial evidence, was held by the court, the challenge being disallowed for the time.

Five Were Excused.

T. W. Adams, Ernest F. Decker, F. J. Shower, Otto A. Jessen and H. Y. Quackenbush all were excused upon challenges for indirect bias. This is the closest the state could come, under California statute, to formal challenges, because each man said he would not inflict the death penalty upon circumstantial evidence, and Judge Bordwell's efforts to learn if this was their real state of mind, seemed to reveal that it was.

The work of whipping into shape great masses of evidence under preparation by each side was continued today. Assistant District Attorney W. Joseph Ford has been absent from the court room for two days, working steadily on the state's evidence. The defense has devoted week-ends to the same task and much other time outside of court.

Problem About Witnesses.

A problem faced by the two sides lies in the summoning of witnesses. While many of these live in California and are subject to subpoena, probably more live outside the state, and so far as the law concerns itself with them, may come or stay at home as they please.

Instances already have been found where persons willing to testify some time ago will not do so now. Each side, however, asserts that no real difficulty has been encountered in this direction, and that it will have all the witnesses it needs.

Only the barest outlines of the position to be taken by opposing counsel have been made known officially. Each side claims to be in posession of various surprises, and in some instances the same evidence will be used by the state and by the defense in an effort to demonstrate the diametrically different theories.

A Model Ten-Acre Farm

How you can secure a Ten-Acre Truck, Fruit and Poultry Farm and make no payments for a year at—

PARKLAND

Our New Addition to SUNNYSIDE GARDENS

NEAR SUPERIOR, WISCONSIN.

You Cannot Make Anything of Yourself, or for Yourself if You Do Not Take Advantage of Your Opportunities.

Our New Addition Consists of Thirty-Two 10-Acre Farms, and for the Purpose of Developing Parkland Rapidly We Are Making the Following Special Offer on Every Other Tract in the New Addition.

A purchaser must agree to clear, stump and plow two and a half acres on his tract this fall, and plant it next spring. Under these conditions he will not have to make any payments on the land until September 1st, 1912, which will give him a chance to take off the first crop before any money is paid in; then you start and pay $10 down and $10 per month until the land is paid for. If, however, you are so situated that you cannot do this work yourself we will agree to clear, stump and plow two and a half acres on your tract for $50. This amount can be paid us in three payments—$25 down, $12.50 in thirty days and $12.50 in sixty days. We will further agree if you cannot farm your land the first year to furnish the seed, plant, care for and harvest the crop, taking two-thirds of the crop for our work and allowing you to turn your one-third in as first payment on your land.

There are fifteen tracts set aside for this special offer at a price of $500 each, with interest on deferred payments at 6 per cent per annum, and eight of them have already been spoken for. At the present time we have a crew at work clearing up the tracts sold, and if you wish to avail yourself of this offer you must act at once, as there is very little time left to clear up the land and have it plowed before cold weather sets in.

After these tracts are taken the only way you can secure one will be by making regular monthly payments right from the start.

Parkland Is an Ideal Location for Truck, Berries and Poultry

There are four very essential things that are necessary to the success of truck farming, namely: Proper climatic conditions, the right kind of soil, convenient location to good markets, and Parkland meets these requirements in every respect.

Our soil is especially adapted for truck farming, and our markets are all that could be asked for; growers near Superior received better than $500 per acre on berries this year.

Parkland is located four miles from the city limits of Superior, and has a rock-ballasted level wagon road almost to it. The village of South Range is but three-fourths of a mile from Parkland, where there are two railroads with several trains daily to and from Superior and Duluth, with good schools, churches, stores, etc. There is absolutely no rocks or waste land to be found at Parkland, and a spring-fed creek, the banks of which are sloping and not broken, runs through several of the tracts.

PUT THE BAN ON SMOKING

West Duluth W. C. T. U. Starts Campaign to Deprive Boys of "Makin's."

Committee Will Watch Youngsters and Report—Dr. L. W. Kline Talks.

If the West Duluth W. C. T. U. had its way, a strict ban would be placed on smoking among boys who attend the public schools at West Duluth.

A campaign against the use of the "vile weed" among school children was inaugurated last evening at the meeting of the union at the Irving school. A committee was appointed to make observations among the students of the Irving school and to report what they see.

Mrs. Alfred Jaques, secretary, talked to the members saying that the reason that the children, especially boys, are falling behind in their studies, is that they do not take care of their bodies.

Principal Foster who attended the meeting suggested that the younger boys smoked mainly because they saw their older companions doing so.

Dr. L. W. Kline of the Duluth normal school was one of the principal speakers of the evening. In his talk on "Corporation of Parents and Teachers," he suggested the abolition of desks and benches in schools and the installation of tables and chairs for the children below the third grades. The reason for his suggestion was that the children needed more space for action and should not be so confined as under the present system.

Dr. Kline also advocated the cooperation of the parents and teachers for the benefit of the child as well as the parents and teachers themselves. In the past mothers were in the habit of leaving their children in the teacher's hands after they left for school, he said. Dr. Kline would have the mothers know what is being done and have them help the teacher understand each child from a mother's view as well as her own.

WANT STREET OPENED SOON

Council Will Be Petitioned to Order Ramsey Street Extension.

A petition is being circulated in West Duluth and has already been signed by 500 residents, asking the city council to open Ramsey street as soon as possible. J. J. Frey, chairman of the extension committee, is at the head of the plan and expects to have 1,000 names before evening. The business men of West Duluth favor the opening of the street and are planning to do all in their power to have the council pass on the plan.

Yesterday a record was taken of the passenger traffic that goes by the proposed street and it was found that 1,700 people used the road during the day and over 500 after 7 p. m. They all claim that the street would be the most widely used thoroughfare in that section of the city and are therefore determined in their efforts.

Judge W. A. Cant made the award yesterday on the property affected by the new street after a suit filed by N. F. Nelson, one of the owners. When the board of public works heard that their awards had been overruled and raised about 30 per cent they said it would be impossible to open the street on account of the great expense. That is why the West Duluth citizens are now planning to petition the city council as a last resort.

Mr. Nelson was awarded $4,600 damages by Judge Cant in his decision yesterday. The present decision is the result of a number of appeals beginning first with the award of $4,000, then $5,000 and finally $5,750.

NO REASON TO FEAR SMALLPOX

Cases Discovered in West Duluth Are All Under Control.

The smallpox scare that has been prevalent in West Duluth the past week is now practically over, the health officers who have been working in this end of the city say. The department has worked all week to prevent the spread of the disease and have quarantined several homes whose inmates were exposed. A number of the children who were at first thought to have contracted the disease are being watched and the officers are doing all in their power to have normal conditions by the first of next week.

The three cases discovered in the Irving school district and that two at the Ely school are the only cases developed. As a result of the discovery 500 students were vaccinated the past week in West Duluth. A number of the schoolrooms were fumigated this morning and several homes were placed in quarantine where the parents objected to having their children vaccinated.

Principals Foster and House of the Irving and Ely schools respectively, said this morning that there would be no more danger to the students after this week and that everyone can feel safe in coming Monday morning. All that have been excused for a few days pending the investigation are also expected to attend school beginning next week.

BOYS DAMAGE HOUSES UNDER CONSTRUCTION.

Rev. W. O. T. Sievers, pastor of St. Stephen's Lutheran church, reported yesterday afternoon that boys had cut several holes in the porch of the new home he is building at Fifty-seventh avenue west and Nicollet street. They also damaged the door and stole several small pieces of lumber from the grounds.

The report is only one of a numbber that the west Duluth police have received the past few days about the destruction of property in that vicinity. Windows, doors and porches have been mutilated and lumber has been stolen wherever new houses are being built. The police are planning to investigate and watch the offenders for any more of their work. Arrests will be made if anyone is caught mutilating property.

DISCUSSION OF LIGHTING

Municipal Problem Is Subject of Address By City Attorney.

The municipal lighting question was brought to West Duluth last evening when City Attorney Bert Fesler addressed the Commercial club at its regular Friday meeting. He reiterated his statements made the past few days, giving the history of the Duluth-Edison company and various reports from the comptroller's office.

He spoke at length on the "watered stock" of the corporation and the methods he claimed were employed by the company to show a lower rate of dividends to the public. He also discussed the "lighting talks" showing where he claimed, the writer had made false statements in giving the records of other municipal plants in the United States. He cited Spokane, Seattle, Holyoke, and Jacksonville, as cities that had made good with their own plants and gave official figures to prove his statements.

Mr. Fesler then told the audience that he was speaking merely to give the city's side of the situation and to inform the citizens correctly of the present conditions. He closed by saying that all the administration wanted was the vote to go before the people to let them decide for themselves.

DISTRICT CONVENTION OF KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

The district convention of the Knights of Pythias was held Thursday evening at the castle hall of the Kitchi Gammi lodge in West Duluth, and was attended by representatives of nearly all the lodges in the district. The reports read at the meeting show that the lodges are all in a most prosperous condition.

Addresses were made by Grand Chancellor Fred S. Atwood, Past Grand Chancellors James A. Wharton and Frank L. Young besides a number of other local officers. The meeting was a successful one throughout.

Rev. L. D. Newland Will Speak.

Rev. Lorenzo D. Newland will preach at both services tomorrow at the West Duluth Baptist church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Grand. The morning topic will be "An Inheritance—the Southbound," and the subject announced for the evening service is "The Crisis." Rev. Newland will give a special evening address at 6:30 p. m. to the B. Y. P. U. and music will be furnished by the Young People's choir of the church.

COPPERS EASE OFF A LITTLE

Today's copper market was rather uneventful. The most interesting feature was that while there was some reaction from the bulge that took place yesterday, these losses were not by any means equal to yesterday's gains, giving evidence of a much stronger undertone to the market than has existed for some weeks. The reports from the London copper market showed good buying there. On this side of the water there was an increase in the activity of the copper metal market. The New York Sun Financial said today that on Friday one of the largest quantities of raw copper that was ever disposed of in a single block was sold by the producing interests in one deal. There was no encouragement, however, from the general stock list of New York, which was weak during most of the session. There many of the brokers were inclined to be pessimistic on account of President Taft's declaration that he would continue to prosecute the trusts under the Sherman law.

The following were among the copper quotations of today: Amalgamated—Yesterday's close, $54.50; today, $54.12½, $53.62½, $54.12½, $53.50, $53.12½. Butte Ballaklava—Yesterday, $3.50 bid, $4 asked; today, $3.50, $3.56¼. Butte Coalition—Yesterday, $15.75 bid, $16 asked; today, $15.50, $16. Calumet & Arizona—Yesterday, $49.75 bid, $50 asked; today, $49@$50, $49, $49.25. Greene-Cananea—Yesterday, $6.12½ bid, $6.25 asked; today, $6.18¾, $6.12½, $6.31¼, $6.50. North Butte—Yesterday, $25 bid, $25.25 asked; today, $25.50, $25.25, $24.50, $25. Shattuck—Yesterday, $16.62½ bid, $17 asked; today, $16.50, $17. Cactus—Yesterday, 16@18c; today, 16c, 18c, 16c, 17c.

James J. Hill is quoted as saying that the Steel corporation cannot get enough ore outside the Great Northern properties to keep it going twenty-five years.

WEST END

CAMPAIGN TO BE STARTED

West End Property Owners Hope to Interest Others in Charter Change.

Propose Provision for Payment of Special Assessments in Installments.

Another meeting of the Twenty-seventh avenue property owners will be held next Wednesday evening at the voting place, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street. The committee appointed to interview the city charter commission will report and a resolution will then be passed.

The movement of the Twenty-seventh avenue property holders to create a permanent fund for paving and the improving of the street has interested all the West end clubs and an amendment to the city charter is now planned by which a fund will be created so that improvements may be made and paid for by the installment plan.

The new plan has been commended by city officials as it would now permit the cost of paving to be distributed over several years instead of compelling the owners to pay the greater part of their assessment before the beginning of the work. In this way there would always be less opposition when an improvement is suggested and it would insure the improvement of many more streets, they claim.

The West end clubs plan to make the movement a city affair and to get all the citizens in Duluth interested. At the meeting next Wednesday evening a campaign will be started to secure the assistance of the other sections of the city. The charter commission will then be asked to draw an amendment covering the desired change and it will then be put up to the voters of the city.

Cummings Favors Plan.

County Commissioner Joseph Cummings and a number of other city officials have had the matter under consideration for several months and will attend the meeting next Wednesday evening. They have suggested a number of improvements the past few years but have been unable to get them through on account of the lack of funds. This new plan, they think, will interest the property owners more in the improvement of their streets and easily enable them to better the present conditions.

"The condition of the streets at the present time, is deplorable," said Mr. Cummings. "A system must be worked out that will give the property owners time to pay for their improvements. The city has now passed the stage of the boom period, and all properties have now a good solid value. The present charter provision makes property owners hesitate before parting with their money without seeing what they are going to get for it and they cannot very well be blamed."

Under the present law it is impossible to improve a street without the property owners first raising cash equivalent to 30 per cent of the cost of the improvement. The money is usually in the hands of the city for several months before the work is started. This condition has been a detriment to the improvement of many streets as a large number of the citizens are not able to raise the money on immediate demand without first mortgaging their property.

THIS DOESN'T LOOK LIKE "HARD TIMES."

The monthly report given out yesterday by the Clyde Iron Works shows that the company contracted and did more business in the past month than any month since it has been in business. The output of the firm has been the largest for any one month and from present indications it is probable that the present month may possibly exceed that of September.

The plant gives employment to about 400 men throughout the year. The company does contract work for the building of iron structures and specialties.

TALKS ON VALUE OF CHRISTIAN EDUCATION.

One of the best addresses heard at the West end for a long time was delivered by Rev. J. H. Stenberg, pastor of the First Norwegian Lutheran church, last evening at the Swedish Mission bazar at the church parlors, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. The subject of his address was "The Developing Power of Christianity," and he gave the audience a clear conception of the value of a Christian education and the difference it will make in a man's character. He cited John Bunyan as an example of a purely Christian educated man and what he was able to do in educating the people of his time and all the generations that followed. Mr. Stenberg is an eloquent speaker and was well received by the large audience.

The last lecture of the week will be given this evening by Mrs. Henry Nelson on "A Mother's Hope." The bazar has been a successful one and has had a list of the best speakers during the week. All the articles will be auctioned off this evening before the closing of the bazar.

MANY LOTS IN PIEDMONT DIVISION ARE SOLD.

The Western Realty company reports the sale of thirty-one lots to John D. Johnson in the Piedmont division, just above the boulevard in the West end. This division was put on the market early last spring and every one of the 110 lots has been sold up to the present time.

The company also reports a continued activity in the lands in the Whiteface and Walhalla regions, where there there is considerable excitement at the present time owing to the recent discovery of iron ore. Carl G. Anderson of the West end bought a quarter section this week from Albert M. Johanson, who is selling all his holdings in that section.

Entertains Friends.

Miss Anna Seaberg of 2724 West Fourth street entertained last evening for a number of her friends in the West end. The evening was spent in games and music and a light supper was served during the latter part of the evening. Those present were: The Misses Hildegarde Peterson, Elveria Larson, Myrtle Sullivan, Ruth Jacobson, Esther Olin, Cora Cyr, Marie Cyr, Elsie Peterson, Emma Christopherson, Hilda Nelson, Lillian Bergman, Elsie Seaberg, Margaret Bodreau, Anna Seaberg, and the Messrs. Earl Elliott, Edward Johnson, Erick Johnson, William Quesnell, Dennis Mealey, Albin Seaberg, Hjalmer Paulson, Harry Seaberg, Ernest Swanson, Albert Olin, William Nelson, Carl Hanse and Goldwin Braudscomb.

West End Briefs.

The Young Ladies' Society of the Swedish Baptist church, Nineteenth avenue west and Third street, met yesterday afternoon at the home of Hilda Landstrom, 612 North Twenty-first avenue west.

Miss Freda Flink of Alester, S. D., returned yesterday to her home after spending the past three months at West end. She was called away on account of the serious illness of her sister.

Mrs. J. Jernberg, 2105 West Third street, her daughter, Thelma, and sister, Miss Anna Engstrom, returned yesterday afternoon from Two Harbors where they attended the funeral of their cousin.

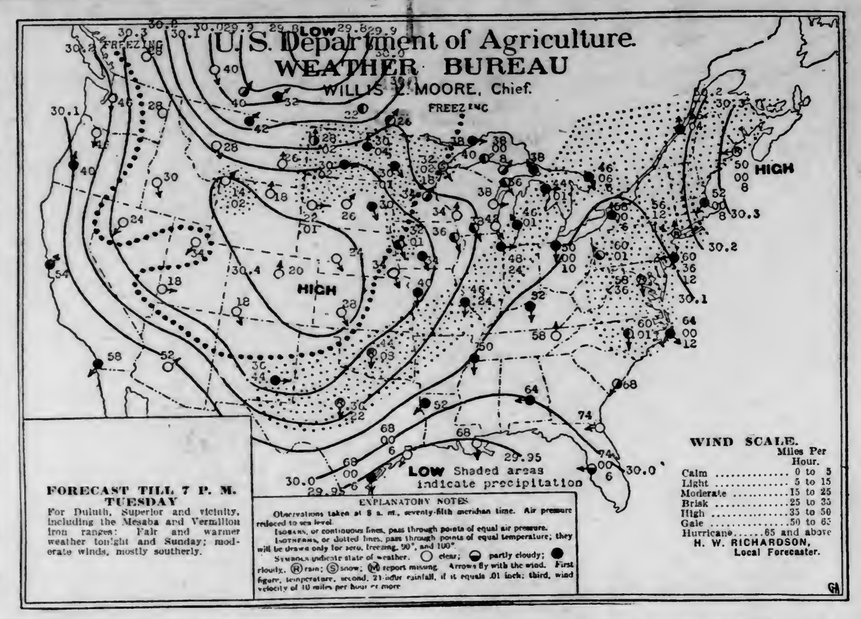

A basket social was given last evening by the Epworth League of the First Swedish M. E. church at the church parlors, Twentieth avenue west and Third street.

Mrs. M. Laughton of Thomson, Minn., will leave early next week after spending the past few days with her daughter, Mrs. C. P. Cunliff, 2008 West Fourth street.

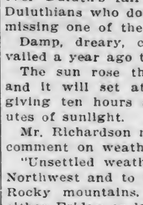

The North Star lodge, No. 11, of the I. O. G. T. is holding its annual bazar at Sloan's hall this week. A special tableau has been arranged for this evening.

The Evangelistic campaign of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, will close this evening after a most successful week. Rev. Rinsinger of Waterville, Minn., assisted in the work with Rev. M. E. Fish, pastor of the church.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

WARMER

The mercury dropped to the freezing point this morning and there is a pronounced wintry touch in the air, but the end of Indian summer is not yet. The weather man promises fair and warmer weather for tonight and tomorrow. Visitors rave over Duluth's fall weather and the Duluthians who don't appreciate it are missing one of the best things in life.

Damp, dreary, cold weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 6:35 and it will set at 5:11 this evening, giving ten hours and thirty-six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Unsettled weather continues in the Northwest and to the eastward of the Rocky mountains. Rains fell during either Friday or last night over North Atlantic states, the Lake region, the Missouri valley and Southwest, principally in connection with the depressions centered over the Gulf of Mexico and Saskatchewan. The low pressure over the latter district has caused quite a decided rise in temperature over Northern Montana, Alberta and Saskatchewan. This increase in warmth will probably reach the Head of the Lakes tonight. Chilly weather continues over the Rocky mountains. Eastern slopes and most of the Northwest.

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Upper Michigan—Generally fair tonight and Sunday.

Wisconsin—Fair tonight and Sunday; frost tonight in east portion; rising temperature Sunday and in west portions tonight.

Minnesota—Fair tonight and Sunday; warmer tonight and in east portion Sunday.

Iowa—Fair tonight and Sunday; warmer tonight and in east and south portions Sunday; frost in southeast portion tonight.

North and South Dakota—Fair tonight and Sunday; warmer tonight.

Montana—Fair tonight and Sunday; cooler in north-central portion tonight.

Upper Lakes—Moderate westerly and southerly winds; generally fair weather tonight and Sunday.

the observation end of his car, wondering what had become of his staff.

When He Finds Out.

Every day that pie is on the menu there is a lot of tiptoeing and the word is passed along the line to "stand by" and prepare for something "like mother used to make." Some day Mr. Taft is going to discover the low deceit practiced upon him, and there is going to be an awful row, say those accompanying the president.

Enforce Trust Law.

Newcastle, Wyo., Oct. 21.—President Taft again made it clear in a speech here last night that it is his intention to enforce the Sherman anti-trust act, no matter how much offending combinations call for mercy.

"The supreme court," said Mr. Taft, "has rendered two decisions, one against the Standard Oil company, requiring it to be broken up and disintegrated into parts, and the other against the American Tobacco company. There are other companies that are charged in the same way. Some of them are coming in voluntarily to divide themselves up, and just as we are about to reach a proper and successful administration of the law, we begin to find that there are some people that object to the administration because of the fact that we are prosecuting those trusts and we are enforcing the law.

Damned Whether or No.

"It is a case where the administration is going to be damned if it does and damned if it does not. Our understanding in the administration is that when the president lifted his hand and swear to defend the Constitution and enforce the law, it meant something, and when there was a law on the statute books for twenty years to suppress these combinations against interstate trade, to monopolize and to interfere with that trade, and to control prices, that it was his business and the business of all under him to enforce the law, and that is what we propose to do, no matter whether we be damned or not.

"The prosecution of these great combinations that have been engaged in trying to prevent competition must go on until either the law is repealed or the law is enforced, that no combinations shall exist which shall be able to prevent competition and establish a monopoly, and that is the policy which the administration has adopted and one it intends to carry through."

Only Few Hundred.

The president spoke only to a few hundred persons. Newcastle is the smallest town in which he has stopped more than a few minutes on his present trip.

The president spent yesterday traveling in Northern Wyoming. He started at Sheridan in the morning with the thermometer down around 25, and stopped for the night at Newcastle. For hour after hour the president's train passed through country half covered with snow and at times the clouds overhead spit snow enough to make a blizzard look imminent. Mr. Taft's speech here was begun just as snow began to fall.

At Sheridan the president was taken for a three-mile ride to Fort McKenzie. It was cold enough to make buffalo robes and heavy overcoats comfortable, and Mr. Taft stopped a few minutes in post headquarters to get warm. He spoke there in the tabernacle under canvas to several thousand people on peace and arbitration.

Terrible Suffering

Eczema All Over Baby's Body.

"When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema, and at sixteen months of age, his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask or cloth over his face and tie up his hands. Finally we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few months he was entirely cured. Today he is a healthy boy." Mrs. Inez Lewis, Baring, Maine.

Production of Gold Bricks Expected About December 1.

The gold mill machinery at the "Arizona Mascot" mine rapidly is being installed and the buildings soon will be completed. The Lake Superior & Nevada Development company now expects gold production to begin Dec. 1.

To date, thirty-one carloads of machinery and material for the gold mill and power plant have been received at Crown King. Thirteen more carloads are on the way and still seven more will be shipped early next month. This means that over fifty carloads of machinery and material will be used in the installation of the 100-ton plant, or a couple of entire freight trains on those Arizona mountain railroads.

Crude oil for the De La Vergne engine will be piped from the station to the mine. This engine, alone, will cost the company $17,500.

The feature of the past week was the transportation of the tube mill from Crown King to the mine. Although but one of many pieces of machinery, the tube mill, complete, weighs twenty-three and one-half tons. The tube, alone, five feet in diameter and twenty-two feet long, weighs five tons.

It took clever work to load and transport the unwieldly tube. To help the big motor truck keep its balance, three tons of castings were laid on the front end, but, even then, the vehicle sat down on its tail and raised its front wheels, like monster paws, up in the air when one end of the tube was loaded. Finally, the other end was loaded onto the trailer and the procession started over the mountain road for the mine. There are sharp turns and places where there is a steep descent for nearly a mile to the bottom of gulches. Extreme care was required to keep the motor truck and big machinery from taking a trip down the mountain side. The distance from station to mine is four miles and it took two days to make the trip.

MISSIONARIES GIVEN WARNING OF REVOLT NEAR PEKIN SUNDAY

tion, who demand payment of their wages in silver, which cannot be had.

The national assembly will convene here tomorrow. As there is a sentiment in this body unfriendly to the throne, the approaching deliberations are looked forward to with some anxiety.

In view of the possible spread of the rebellion, the foreign legations are taking the necessary military and commissary precautions in this city and at Tien Tsin for the protection of the legations and the citizens of the respective countries which they represent.

Serious News Withheld.

There is no doubt that more serious news than that of the defeat of the government troops by the revolutionists at Hankow Wednesday has been received at Pekin but not published.

There are persistent rumors that Admiral Sah Chen Ping's flagship was sunk or captured. It is reported that the rebels are now holding Hwangchow, at the narrowest point of the Yang-tse-Kiang river, and that they are also in possession of I-Chang and the railway near Kwangshui.

The result of Wednesday's fighting has caused a general feeling at the foreign legations that the situation is now critical.

Seeking New Loan.

The diplomats met yesterday and considered China's foreign financial obligations. The government has requested a postponement of the payment of the Boxer indemnity installments, and is eagerly seeking a new loan.

A belated telegram from Chang-Sha under date of last Wednesday, states that the fall of the city is imminent. The rebels are reported to have posted heavy artillery in a strong position in the hills north of Canton.

"SERVICE THE TEST OF LIFE"

Prof. S. F. Halfyard of Grand Forks Will Address Men's Meeting.

The regular Sunday afternoon meeting at the Y. M. C. A., in which the Men and Religion Forward Movement is co-operating this year, will be addressed by Prof. S. F. Halfyard of the University of North Dakota at Grand Forks. Prof. Halfyard is the professor of philosophy in the university and one whose name is widely known throughout the central section of the United States as an authority in his department.

He is brought here in order that he may speak at the meeting, and his message will be one of interest to the men of this city. The meeting is open for all men. While in the city he will also speak in the pulpit of the M. E. church Sunday morning and evening.

CONVICTS STRIKE IN SING SING SHOP

Men in Knitting Department Refuse to Go to Work.

Ossinning, N. Y., Oct. 21.—A prisoners' strike developed in Sing Sing prison yesterday when 156 convicts in the knitting shop refused to continue work, declaring themselves dissatisfied with existing conditions. Head Keeper Connaughton told them they must work or be locked in their cells, but they maintained they were being oppressed and would prefer the latter alternative. Accordingly they were locked up.

Warden Kennedy is in Omaha attending the national gathering of prison wardens.

WANTS ISSUE SUBMITTED

Lakeside Club Favors Giving Citizens Opportunity to Vote on Lighting Project.

Watson S. Moore Delivers Address on Municipal Ownership.

The Lakeside club last evening went on record as favoring the submission of the issuance of $700,000 of bonds for the acquisition of a municipal light and power plant to the vote of the people.

The club passed a resolution to the effect that the council should pass an ordinance, drafted by the city's legal department, authorizing the issuance of the bonds and that the matter should be submitted at a special election. The club believes that the aldermen should enact such an ordinance and if the issue is ratified by the voters that the council should proceed towards the acquisiton and operation of a municipal plant.

The larger part of the evening was devoted to a discussion of the light and power plant proposition, Watson S. Moore, former alderman of the First ward, delivered a lengthy address upon the subject. He outlined the history of the Duluth-Edison company in Duluth, told of its operations and of its capitalization, covering the ground in a manner similar to that of City Attorney Bert Fesler, who last evening spoke of the same matter before the West Duluth Commercial club. The exponents of municipal ownership consider it significant that all party lines seem to be obliterated in the campaign which is on for the acquisition of the plant, pointing out that Mr. Moore is as staunch a Republican as Attorney Fesler is a Democrat.

Following the address of Mr. Moore the club had a general discussion in which the majority of those present took part and showed an active interest. The resolution favoring the submission of the bond issue was then passed.

A committee consisting of A. A. Bush, Dr. H. E. Webster, health commissioner, and James A. Wharton, alderman of the First ward, was then appointed to take charge of the question of grade crossings.

The club also took up the matter of the removal of billboards from the eastern suburb. It is claimed that they are altogether too numerous and are so unsightly as to be a decided detriment to the neighborhood. It is stated that some of the billboards were to have been removed by Oct. 1 but that they are still up.

DULUTHIANS HAVE FINE TRIP

Zenith City Party Returns Enthusiastic Over Touring the East.

After an interesting trip through several Eastern states in an automobile owned by R. B. Knox, William Clifford and Napoleon Grignon have returned enthusiastic over touring the East.

The three men say that it was the best trip ever taken. The big Franklin in which they took the trip worked beautifully and, as the chauffeur did the driving, the men devoted their time to the enjoyment of the scenery.

The trip took about three weeks. The car was shipped to Buffalo, where the tour began. The state of New York was thoroughly covered, as well as several of the other Eastern states. The party kept away from the big cities, preferring to make the smaller places and enjoy the country riding.

The roads were good, it is reported, and the trip was made thoroughly enjoyable thereby.

URGES CURB ON COURTS

Roosevelt Says Judges Must Be Answerable to the People.

Ex-President Talks of Relation of Judiciary to Progress.

New York, Oct. 21.—The judiciary of the United States must be brought within the control and answerable to the well thought out judgment of the people, in the opinion of Theodore Roosevelt, who spoke last night on the "Conservation of Womanhoom and Childhood" before the Civic Forum.

This control, in Mr. Roosevelt's judgment, should be "exercised more cautiously and in different fashion than the control by the people over the legislature and executive, but the control must be there."

Control of judges, Mr. Roosevelt said, was but half, although by far the more important part, of a program which should be carried out for proper conservation of manhood, womanhood and childhood. The first half of the program, he said, consisted in placing upon the statute books of nation and states, legislation to remedy existing defects.

Favors Children's Bureau.

Mr. Roosevelt advocated enactment by congress of the bill providing for a bureau to be known as the children's bureau and to gather, classify and distribute accurate information on all subjects relating to the welfare of children. He urged working women to organize as workingmen now are organized.

Experience in the last twenty-five years, the speaker declared, has shown that while the people may be aroused to sound and high thinking and their legislative and executive officers try to carry out their purpose, yet that the whole movement for good may come to naught because certain judges, certain courts, are steeped in some outworm political or social philosophy and totally misapprehend their relations to the people and the public needs."

He continued:

"I am entirely aware that no matter how carefully I guard what I have to say, no matter how cautiously and exactly I state the bold facts and truths that we shall all recognize, I know that what I say will assuredly be misrepresented by certain persons with a deliberate purpose of misleading honest and conservative citizens into belief that I am advocating something radical and revolutionary and destructive of our governmental system, and that I am making an 'attack on the judges;' but I feel that it is my highest duty to speak plainly on this subject so vital to our welfare.

Regard for Judiciary.

"I have the very highest regard, the highest respect and admiration for the judiciary. I believe the courts have rendered our people incalculable service. I criticize the decision of judges only by adopting as my own the language used about these same decisions by the highest judges in the land; by, for instance, the present chief justice of the United States supreme court, Justice White, by Justice Holmes, by that great and upright servant of the people, the lamented Justice Harlan, by the supreme court of the state of Iowa, and the supreme court of the state of Washington. I have never taken a position in advance of that taken by Abraham Lincoln.

"I most emphatically believe that we have been wise in giving great power to our judges. But I also most firmly believe that like any other power, this power can be abused, and it is a power from which the people have merely temporarily parted and not one which they have permanently alienated."

In the last twenty-five years, Col. Roosevelt said, the courts of New York once or twice have approved what proved well-nigh unsurmountable obstacles to needed social reforms.

Right of the People.

"I for one hold that if a majority of the people, after due deliberation, come to champion such social and economic reforms as these we champion tonight," he continued, "they have the right to see them enacted into law and become part of our settled governmental policy, and I shall never abandon the effort to see this view triumph.

"I am asking you to declare unequivocally that it is for the people themselves to say whether or not this policy shall be adopted, and that no body of officials, no matter how well-meaning, nor personally honest, no matter whether they be legislators, judges or executives, have any right to say that we, the people, shall not make laws to protect women and children, to protect men in hazardous industry, to protect men, women and children from working under unhealthy conditions, or for manifestly excessive hours, and to prevent the conditions of life in tenement houses from becoming intolerable.

"It is, I believe, an advantage to have fixed in the court power to state that a legislative act is unconstitutional, but only provided that the power is exercised with the greatest wisdom and self-restraint.

Safety in Self-Control.

"I believe that the only ultimate safety for our people is in self-control; not in control from the outside. I not not believe in snap judgments I do not believe in permitting the determination of a moment to be transmitted into a permanent policy; but I do believe that serious, sober well thought out judgment of the people must be given effect; I do believe that this people must ultimately control its own destinies, and cannot surrender the right of ultimate control to a judge any more than to a legislator or an executive.

"One word in closing. What I have advocated is not revolution. It is not wild radicalism. It is the highest and wisest kind of conservationism."

Suffragettes Disappointed.

It is the usual custom for speakers at the Civic Forum to answer questions from the audience after they have finished. This had been promised at the opening of the colonel's speech, but to the disappointment of scores of persons, including a group of suffragettes, the privilege, owing to the lateness of the hour, was not granted. When this was announced, the suffragettes jumped upon chairs and the press tables shouting "Votes for women! Votes for women!" and the colonel's retreat from the stage was made in a din of the suffragette cries.

One suffragette worker on the stage pinned a large rosette on Mr. Roosevelt's breast, with a banner bearing the legend "Women want the ballot."

CLAIMS ROOSEVELT'S MAGAZINE IS FAVORED.

New York, Oct. 21.—A preliminary injunction pendente lite, restraining Postmaster General Hitchcock from sending the Review of Reviews by freight while other magazines are being sent by fast passenger mail express, is asked by J. P. Cotton, on behalf of the Review of Reviews. The United States court reserved decision.

District Attorney Wise opposed the motion and denied the petitioner's insinuations that the postmaster general was actuated by personal motives in putting the Outlook, of which Theodore Roosevelt is an editor, on the express trains.

How well we recall the days when mother would say: "Here, get the fine toothed comb. I must scratch your head, it is full of dandruff." And Oh, the agony of the next two hours. How we hated it. There was no use in remonstrating. We were obliged to submit our tender scalps to that scratching and digging which left a hurting in each individual hair and scalp raw, tender and perhaps bleeding.

Poor soul, she didn't know what else to do. The germ origin of dandruff had not yet been determined. But the dirt and dandruff was a reality, it was there and must be gotten rid of. There was no such thing as a sanitary hair-dressing and the fine toothed comb was the most effective eradicator "mother" knew. And what did she accomplish? Nothing, absolutely nothing but the temporary removal of the scale-like accumulation and the infliction of pain and discomfort.

What does "mother" do now?

Instead of that torturing and hair-destroying comb she keeps on hand at all times and insists upon every member of the family using regularly and intelligently

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

The Original Dandruff Germ Destroyer.

Unlike the comb, Herpicide is effective. Far from being a discomfort, it's use is a delight. The feeling of cleanliness and self-assurance following an application of this remedy commends it to all, young and old, men and women. Properly applied, Herpicide works down around the root of the hair where it destroys the germ life that causes dandruff. This permits proper nourishment to reach and strengthen the hair which becomes vigorous and luxuriant and ceases to fall out. Itching of the scalp, which is so disagreeable, stops almost instantly.

Newbro's Herpicide contains no grease, does not stain or dye and possesses a most delicate and exquisite odor.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

At a meeting of the sophomore class in the auditorium Wednesday, the members planned a cane rush with the freshmen. The rush, if agreed to by the freshmen, will be held in connection with the annual freshman-sophomore football game. A rush was held by the classes last year on the vacant lot near the high school and the sophomores were returned victors.

The class dues of the sophomores were fixed at $1 for the year and Treasurer Dan Brown urged all members to have their payments up-to-date. Several new yells are being worked out and much class spirit is in evidence.

A Poe program was presented by the members of the Freshman-Sophomore Literary society, at the regular weekly meeting of the club Thursday afternoon. Lucille Elder and Doris Mallet recited "The Bells" and "The Raven"; Wanda Bergevon read Poe's "Tell Tale Heart," and Milton Stickles read an essay on the life of Poe. R. D. Brackett discussed Poe's literary ability and private life. President Holdren announced the program for the next meeting and appointed committees for the reception Friday in the high school gymnasium.

A WARNING TO MANY

Some Interesting Facts Regarding Health Statistics.

Few people realize to what extent their health depends upon the condition of the kidneys.

The physician in nearly all cases of serious illness, makes a chemical analysis of the patient's urine. He knows that unless the kidneys are doing their work properly, the other organs cannot be brought back to health and strength.

When the kidneys are neglected or abused in any way, serious results are sure to follow. According to health statistics, Bright's disease which is really an advanced form of kidney trouble, caused nearly ten thousand deaths in 1910 in the state of New York alone. Therefore, it behooves us to pay more attention to the health of these most important organs.

An ideal herbal compound that has had remarkable success as a kidney remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy.

The mild and healing influence of this preparation is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of cures.

If you feel that your kidneys require attention, and wish a sample bottle, write to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and they will gladly forward it to you absolutely free, by mail.

Swamp-Root is sold by every druggist in bottles of two sizes—50c. and $1.00.

DEWEY VISITS HIS SAVIOR.

Hero of Manila Bay and Civil War Gun Pointer.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 21.—That Admiral George Dewey, hero of Manila bay, laid aside his shoulder straps Friday of last week and was the guest for a night of an aged pensioned seaman who had once saved his life, became known here on Thursday. In a little three-room cottage Admiral Dewey sat far into the night fighting over old battles with Martin Watrous, a gun pointer on the Mississippi during the Civil war. In 1862 Dewey was a lieutenant on the Mississippi. During an engagement he was about to be cut down by a Southern sailor with a cutlass. Watrous was directly behind Dewey and shot down the Confederate. Watrous said he had not seen the admiral since the close of the war, although he had received letters from him occasionally.

SIX HURT IN PUSH BALL GAME AT CHAMPAIGN.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 21. — Six players were injured in the annual push ball contest between sophomores and freshmen, and one of them, it is feared, was injured internally. Roger Bischener of Rockford, a freshman, was the player most severely hurt. Two thousand students participated and the contest, which takes the place of the class rushes, was watched by a crowd of townspeople.

BIG MONTH AT LYCEUM

Fine List of Attractions Will Keep Duluth Theater Patrons Amused.

Entertainment to Suit All Tastes During Next Thirty Days.

The next month will be perhaps the busiest month ever experienced at the Lyceum theater.

From now until Nov. 30 the program for the Lyceum teems with good things.

The schedule arranged is of wide scope and is suited to all tastes. There is some sort of an entertainment for everybody. The program includes everything from Nordica down to an athletic entertainment, which, by the way is just as interesting to followers of athletics as is Nordica to lovers of good music.

There are sixteen distinct attractions. Some of them are here but for one performance and others are here for seveal days.

The big month of entetainment begins Oct. 27 and 28 with "The Fortune Hunter" with Fred Niblo and Josephine Cohan. Then comes that old favorite, "Checkers," on Oct. 29; followed by Walker Whiteside in "The Magic Melody," Oct. 30 and 31; George Damerel in "The Heartbreakers," Nov. 1 and 2; "The Three Twins," Nov. 5; "The Gamblers," Nov. 6 and 7; the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, Nov. 10 and 11; the Normanna chorus, Nov. 12; Harry Lauder, Nov. 14; an athletic tournament, Nov. 15; Nordica, Nov. 17; Howe's Travel festival, Nov. 18 and 19; George Sidney, Nov. 20; "Sten Stensson, Nov. 24; "Madame Sherry," Nov. 24 and 25, and Harry Bulger with "The Flirting Princess," Nov. 30.

NEW REVOLTS IN MEXICAN STATES

Part of Federal Army Revolts—Reign of Terror in Sinaloa.

El Fuerte, Sinaloa, Mexico, Oct. 21.—Revolting federal soldiers under Col. Augustin Beltran, together with what appears to be a new rebellion on the part of Gen. Juan Baldernas, former revolutionary chief and erstwhile self-constituted governor of Sinaloa, have caused a reign of terror in this state.

Col. Jose M. Ochoa, chief of rurales, with 250 men left here to occupy Sinaloa.

The revolt of the detachment commanded by Beltran grew out of the failure to receive pay due. Bandernas and his assistants are said to be concentrating in Culianenan men, arms and ammunition to offer resistance to any federals who may come into the state to pacify it.

Demands Surrender.

City of Mexico, Oct. 21.—A special to El Heraldo from Cuatla, Morelos, says that Emiliano Zapata has appeared before Cuatla and in a pre-emptory message to the chief of the federal garrison, demanded its surrender. The federals were preparing to fight.

Near El Mango, the rebels fired upon a passenger train, killing Postal Agent Amates. A few miles further on near Cascada the locomotive plunged through a burned bridge, killing the engineer.

Prisoners Cheer Madero.

Monterey, Mexico, Oct. 21.—Standing in the exercise room of the penitentiary here, a cell of which he himself occupied for a time a little over a year ago for opposing the rule of Diaz, Francisco I. Madero was cheered roundly by hundreds of prisoners whom he addressed yesterday. At a luncheon given him Madero condemned the government of Reyes in Neuvo Leon.

COUNTY FAIR GETS WORST BLOW OF ALL.

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 21. — Fate struck the Mecklenburg county fair again last night when, by means of fire, it wiped out every exhibit building on the grounds just three days before the date set for the opening. The first blow to the enterprise came with the announcement of the tragic death of Aviator Ely at Macon, after he had been advertised as a drawing card. The fire was of unknown origin.

SENSATIONAL CHARGES MADE BY YOUNG GIRLS.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Investigation of the disposition of wards of the juvenile court took a startling turn when two girls, sisters, neither over 15 years of age, made grave charges against a woman in whose care they had been left by the juvenile court probation officers. The girls charged the woman with teaching of the grossest immorality. Neither was allowed to finish her story, and they were directed to tell their story to the federal authorities and state's attorney.

The tales were a climax to a series of sworn statements charging dangerous laxity in the probation system of the juvenile court, and accusing scores of persons to whom the wards were given in custody, with neglect and wrong-doing.

Crowe promised to leave.

New Submarine Record.

Newport, R. I., Oct. 21.—All records for submergence of submarine boats of the United States navy have been broken by the Salmon, which, with nineteen sailors and two officers on board, descended in Narragansett bay to a depth of 144 feet and remained there for ten or fifteen minutes. The previous record of 125 feet was held by the Octopus.

'ECZEMA ITCHED SO I COULDN'T STAND IT'

Began by Little Pimples. Scratched Until Blood Came. Kept Getting Worse. Could Not Sleep Nights. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and the First Day They Relieved Itching. In 3 Weeks Eczema Cured.

"I suffered with eczema on my neck for about six months, beginning by little pimples breaking out. I kept scratching till the blood came. It kept getting worse, I couldn't sleep nights any more. It kept itching for about a month, then I went to a doctor and got some liquid to take. It seemed as if I was going to get better. The itching stopped for about three days, but when it started again, was even worse than before. The eczema itched so badly I couldn't stand it any more. I went to a doctor and he gave me some medicine, but didn't do any good. We have been having Cuticura Remedies in the house, so I decided to try them. I had been using Cuticura Soap, so I got me a box of Cuticura Ointment, and washed off the affected part with Cuticura Soap three times a day, and then put the Cuticura Ointment on. The first day I put it on, it relieved me of itching so I could sleep all that night. It took about a week, then I could see the scab come off. I kept the treatment up for three weeks, and my eczema was cured.

"My brother got his face burned with gunpowder, and he used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The people all thought he would have scars, but you can't see that he ever had big face burned. It was simply awful to look at before the Cuticura Remedies [Soap and Ointment] cured it." (Signed) Miss Elizabeth Gehrki, Forrest City, Ark., Oct. 16, 1910.

Although Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a liberal sample of each, with 32-page booklet on the skin and hair, will be sent, post-free, on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 17B, Boston.

TAXING RAILROADS IN MINNESOTA.

The Herald's fight for an extra session of the legislature to increase the share of state taxes paid by the railroads is based on its charge that railroad property in this state is grossly undertaxed.

Figures are not entertaining, but to prove its case once more it is necessary for The Herald to ask its readers to bear with it while it presents a few. If not entertaining, they are illuminating and instructive.

The railroads of Minnesota pay a tax of 4 per cent on their gross earnings in lieu of all other taxes and assessments.

Other property pays its proportionate share, apportioned according to valuation, of the expense of running state, county, city and school district, together with its proportionate share of the expense of public improvements like streets and alleys and sidewalks.

According to the Statistical Abstract of the United States for 1910, the value of railroads and their equipment in Minnesota for 1904—the latest figures published by the government—was $466,734,000.

Assessing that at 40 per cent of its value, as the custom is with real estate, we find that the assessed valuation of railroad property if it were taxed the same as other property would be $186,693,600. Taxing it at 2½ per cent, the average for the state,—though much of this property lies in cities where the rates are higher than that,—and it would yield in taxes $4,667,340.

In 1904, the year to which these figures apply, the railroad taxes received by the state were $1,974,070.19; which was $2,693,270 less than the railroads would have paid had they been assessed and taxed as above—which is the way other property is assessed and taxed.

In 1910, after the gross earnings rate had been raised from 3 per cent to 4 per cent, the railroad gross earnings taxes for that year were $3,650,568.93, which is $1,026,771 less than they would have paid on the valuations of 1904 if the railroads had been taxed as other property is taxed. These figures do not take into consideration the fact that railroad property has increased largely in value since 1904. Nor do they take into consideration the fact that while railroads do not pay a penny of the cost of local improvements, except in the few cases where the large cities have compelled them to agree to do so, other property must pay its full share of the cost of such improvements, together with the part that would have been borne by the railroads if they were not exempt.

Next year the state tax rate—the rate paid by the merchant and banker and laborer—will be largely increased, and it will be the highest in nearly forty years.

But the railroad tax rate will remain precisely the same, and it will remain the same until the legislature and the people change it.

If it is not increased at an extra session of the legislature next winter so the people can vote on it next year, it cannot be increased until 1915, because the next session of the legislature is not until 1913 and the people cannot ratify an increase proposed at that session until the general election in 1914.

There is another fact about these railroad taxes that must not be overlooked. About a third of the railroad gross earnings tax of 1910 came from the earnings of ore-carrying roads, most of it from two small railroads in St. Louis county. The revenue from this source fluctuates, and this year it will be much lighter because the ore movement is lighter. Besides, the rates that produce these earnings are under attack before the interstate commerce commission, and they may be reduced; which would greatly curtail the state's revenue from railroads, throwing an additional burden on the owners of property other than railroad property.

The railroad gross earnings tax should be increased at an extra session of the legislature.

WHAT KILLS SPORT.

Mr. Roosevelt, in an editorial in the Outlook, points out clearly what it is that kills sport in this country — commercialism and the lust of greed, which makes promoters think more of the money they are to make than of how they make it, and less of the honest entertainment of patrons of sport than of pandering to morbid appetites for brutality in order to "get the money."

New York has a boxing law, ostensibly intended to foster clean boxing contests and to eliminate brutality and "faking." It has been deemed more profitable by the promoters of boxing to abuse the privilege thus conferred than it would be to keep within the reasonable provisions of the law; so greed has overreached itself, and the law is likely to be repealed.

Milwaukee always countenanced "the boxing game" until its promoters so abused their privilege that now there is a revolt against it in that city; and its end is near.

Says Mr. Roosevelt: "Vigorous training of mind, body and soul in manly sport is a first-class thing; to obtain rest and enjoyment by looking at other men practice an interesting sport is entirely proper; excessive indulgence in the latter type of amusement, however, with the consequent distortion of the perspective of life, is of course noxious; and enjoyment in looking on at a sport because it is cruel, or is dangerous to the lives of those taking part in it, is thoroughly vicious and demoralizing. In theory all these statements are axioms; but the fact that New York now permits the existence of a highly commercialized variant of the prize ring, and, above all, the fact that the brutal slaughter attendant upon motor-racing is not merely permitted but extravagantly enjoyed throughout much of the Union, ought to warn us that it is high time to reduce these axiomatic theories to practice. * * * Commercialism, though sometimes inevitable, is always an unhealthy element in any sport, and when it becomes the chief factor in continuing the sport's existence, it is time for that sport to be brought to an end."

And that's the truth; and it points out clearly why it is that while sports like baseball and football, that have not been soiled by unrestrained commercialism, are on the gain, sports like boxing, which have become nothing but adjuncts to the grossest kind of commercialism, are on the way to extinction. What kills sports in this country are things like these: hippodroming a wrestling match to affect bets or to prolong the contest to please spectators; rigging a horse race to win bets; catering to the lowest brute instincts by making prize-fights brutal and to the greed of promoters by faking them.

The sporting element in Minnesota has tried for several years to induce the Minnesota legislature to enact a law that will permit limited boxing contests. The chief thing that has made it impossible to pass such a law is that the sport has become so grossly commercialized and brutal that outlawry is merely its just portion; and outlawed it probably will be henceforth.

There is a way out of this, if those interested in clean sports want to take it. If to the limitation already proposed, for instance, to boxing contests in the measure that has been laid before the legislature, there be added the further limitation that no admission shall be charged, there will be a real test of just how much of the clamor for a boxing law is from a legitimate love of clean sport, and how much of it is pure commercialism of the sort that is degrading to any sport it touches. Those honestly wishing to have boxing encouraged as a clean, manly form of sport and exercise will consent to that limitation. Those who are pushing it so they make money out of it in more or less indecent ways will oppose it.

NO FORUM FOR THE PEOPLE.

The Kansas City Star points out a curious thing in city government. That city and this city and other cities build schools and other public buildings which are in actual use only a small proportion of the time; but when the taxpayers want a place to discuss public questions they are told to "hire a hall."

The taxpayers are hiring halls every year when they pay the taxes needed to maintain the expensive plant of public government; but when they wish to use a part of this plant for anything except the specific purpose for which it was created, their own hirelings and servants scornfully bar them out of their own buildings.

The school buildings in Duluth are in use about 15 per cent of the time. The rest of the time they are idle. Yet each school building has spacious halls which the people might use of an evening for neighborhood clubs, lectures, social gatherings and discussions of public questions. The public is getting but small use of an expensive plant; yet its use for quasi-public purposes is forbidden.

One excuse is that of expense; but the expense would be small and could easily be met by membership dues in the organizations which could use the school buildings in the evening. Another excuse is that some of these discussions might drift into politics. That's a mighty poor excuse. No harm, and much good, would come of it if these discussions did drift into politics. Politics is public business, and if it has come into disrepute it is solely because the people have let it drift into the hands of professionals who have soiled it. Any movement that looks toward getting all the people interested in politics, and making politics a matter of wider public discussion, tends to take politics out of the hands that have made it a stench, and therefore it ought to be encouraged—even to the length of permitting the use of school halls by the people for political discussion.

The rule against public use of public buildings isn't rigidly adhered to in Duluth, it is true. Wednesday evening the Hillside Improvement club used the Franklin school for a discussion of the municipal lighting question. Thursday night the Oneota Improvement club used the Jerome Merritt school for a similar purpose. These cases are exceptions to the rule; but there aren't exceptions enough to warrant a statement that the rule has been repealed.

Perhaps it is because there isn't enough public demand for such uses of the school buildings. In that case the public should make its demands heard. But if it were generally known that the use of school buildings would be permitted for discussions of public questions, the demand would be greater.

Greater use should be made of the school plant. It should be available always to the people for such uses as these two clubs have made of these two schools. The people should form more of such organizations as those which secured the schools for this purpose, and more of other and broader organizations for the discussion of anything that is of public interest, from municipal lighting to home-crofting, and from books and art and music to city-building.

LET THE PEOPLE PICK PRESIDENTS.

Senator Cummins of Iowa announces that as soon as congress opens he will press his bill for a legalized presidential primary, in the hope that he can induce congress to take action in time for the coming campaign.

It will be interesting and instructive to watch the fate of this measure. If Senator Cummins is able to bring it to a vote it is going to put a lot of statesmen up against the guns in a way some of them won't like.

It is pretty hard to make an argument against the presidential primary; and it is just as hard to justify a vote against it. The forefathers devised the electoral college on the theory that the people were not capable of electing presidents. The people brushed that theory aside, and today the electoral college exists merely as an empty form. The people can and do elect their presidents directly.

Perhaps on the same theory, presidential candidates are nominated by national conventions composed of delegates sent from state conventions composed of delegates sent from county conventions composed of delegates sent from local caucuses manipulated by local politicians. That's a pretty long process, and whatever impulse of the public will that may have accidentally difted into those local caucuses is highly diluted by boss control before the climax of it is reached.

What the voter really wants to decide is not what local politicians shall get or keep petty power, not what local figureheads shall gain the honor of going to a convention, but which particular candidate for the presidency shall get the delegation from his state; and the only way to give the voter the right to indicate his choice is by the adoption of the presidential primary.

If the Cummins bill comes to a vote, the line of division will be illuminating. Those in favor of the old condition of boss rule will of course vote against the measure. Those in favor of the new deal of popular rule will vote for it. La Follette Republicans and Wilson Democrats will be for it. Reactionary Republicans and reactionary Democrats will be against it.

A SUCCESSFUL MAN.

Says the Emporia Gazette, William Allen White's paper: "Elder C. R. Rice of Hartford, who came to Kansas fifty-odd years ago and rode the Emporia circuit, was in town today. He is a hale, hearty, happy man in his seventies, and is one of the most successful men in the West. He has neither wealth nor fame; yet he has brought comfort and joy and usefulness to thousands of his fellow men. He has reared a family that is carrying on the work he started. Two of his children are in the Methodist ministry—both are doing worthy work. This good man and his wife have given their lives for others. They are happy in their old age. The test of life is its effect upon old age."

Elder Rice—peace of soul and happiness of mind and many years to him and to his like wherever they live—never preached a more powerful sermon or a better one than there is in this little item of news in a Kansas paper.

Seeking only to serve, this man reaped abundance—not of fame or wealth but of things far richer and more abiding: peace, content, joy in living, the love and respect of his fellow men. Seeking only to give, he received in overflowing measure—again not wealth or fame, but again something far better: a happy old age.

Have you ever stopped to think much about how it is going to be with you when you are old? Of course you have thought much of whether you will have enough to eat and a place to sleep outside the poorhouse; but have you thought of what there will be to fill your mind and heart and soul when you are old and your days are spent and there is nothing left—except what you have provided against old age by your manner of living—but to wait for the end?

If you spend your life seeking fame or wealth you may get either or you may get both without finding peace and happiness when your brow is wrinkled, your back bent and your steps feeble. There are all too many examples of the bitterness that comes to those who seek always to serve themselves, whether wealth or fame is their aim. The case of Elder Rice—bless his noble old heart, we can see him now, though we never set eyes on him; and he reminds us of and takes the form of Dr. C. C. Salter, whose death a whole city mourned a few years ago—the case of Elder Rice teaches that success in life is not alone in getting riches or fame or laying away the wherewithal for physical comfort in old age. Many who have gained some or all of these things have, in the last analysis, made miserable failures of their lives.

But in serving others, in working that others may be happier and better and more contented, you are building an old age of peace and joy and contentment; an old age full of rich resources and tender memories and love and honor and respect.

The man who gives his life to the pursuit of wealth or fame—which most fail to gain and which the rest find no solace in the loneliness of old age when they get them — finds his occupation gone when they are gained or when the feebleness of age puts an end to his chase. With his occupation goes his hold on and interest in life. And what has he left to fill the places of these things which have been everything to him throughout his career?

The wise person—man or woman—will think ahead into old age, and will build now so that it may be peaceful and happy and free of bitterness.

MORAL—BUILD WAREHOUSES.

The local markets report a sharp drop in the price of potatoes. The reason given is the true one—that farmers, lacking storage facilities, are forced by the coming of frost to hurry their product to market. A congested market means falling prices; and often it means a surplus to spoil for lack of demand. Later, as the night follows the day, comes a period of higher prices which hurt the consumer and profit the producer nothing whatever—unless he has access to warehouses where his surplus crop can be stored until he is ready to market it.

The moral is plain: more storage warehouses, so that the supply may be regulated in accordance with the needs of the market, to the end that prices may be more uniform. This will benefit both producers and consumers.

THAT MAN ROOSEVELT.

We are inclined to be a little peeved at the Colonel. Yesterday we discussed with awe the possibility of a sphinx-like Roosevelt with nothing to say on political subjects. Last night he made a talk in which he advocated closer control of the judiciary by the people. Not as it is proposed to control executive and legislative offices by the recall, but in some other way which he does not define. This is not only a political subject, but a delicate one; and the ex-president's remarks on it were anything but sphinx-like.

In fact when he advocated closer control of the judiciary by the people, enforcing greater responsibility to the people and greater responsiveness to the people's will, he talked like the old Roosevelt, and not at all like a political recluse self-condemned to silence.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

OPPORTUNITIES AT HAND.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I wish to make a few statements through the columns of your paper in behalf of the agricultural advantages of Northern Minnesota. For the past seven years I have made frequent trips by train over the Great Northern, and have been especially attracted by the country known as the Floodwood district which includes the Island farm, one of the best and most modernly equipped farms in the Northwest. Recent developments such as the opening up of a large number of farms in all directions from Floodwood have made me more partial to this particular part of Northern Minnesota. These farms have large, well-kept buildings and crop that would please the most skeptical.

A few weeks ago, while in Floodwood on business, I had the extreme pleasure of looking over the country quite thoroughly. Through the courtesy of Joseph C. Fogarty I was introduced to a number of farmers and talked with them on their own land and saw their crops of oats, wheat, barley, potatoes, corn, rutabagas, cabbage, head lettuce, strawberries, raspberries, currents, gooseberries, hay, (clover, red-top and timothy.)

We drove in all directions from Floodwood on well graded roads as smooth as a pavement, and apparently as hard. The land lays almost level, just enough slope for good drainage. The soil is a black muck, underlaid with clay loam, slightly mixed with gravel, just the proper soil for the above mentioned production.

This land can be easily cleared. It costs considerable to clear it, but in comparing this country with a prairie country, will say that the expense of clearing is far over-balanced by the fact that the farmer has fuel and building materials in abundance and can spend the winter months cutting ties, cord wood, and pulp wood for the market, thus giving him employment the year around.

This is also a wonderful dairy country; clover, timothy and red-top grow in profusion. Floodwood and the Island farm both have fine creameries run by modern machinery. It is not an unusual sight to see a string of farmers' rigs lined up awaiting their turn to unload their dairy products.

I shall expect to see as fine and as compact a settlement of thrifty, prosperous farmers around Floodwood as you would find in any part of Minnesota.

Young man, save your money and invest it in a piece of this splendid land and in a short period of time you will have a possession of which you will be justly proud.

A PROGRESSIVE CITIZEN.
Duluth, Oct. 21.

Prodigality.

Boston Traveler: Vice President Sherman's public utterances are seldom taken seriously; and yet his latest attack on conservation is worth noticing, because it is a typical expression of the spendthrift carelessness that has squandered and destroyed natural resources worth incalculable millions. Mr. Sherman insists that all the usable forces of the air, earth and water should be used "to lighten the burdens of this generation," without regard to the future.

"I believe," he says, "that each new generation is equal to the task of discovering some new thing to take the place of any exhausted natural resources. I am willing to give the coming generation credit for being as smart as we. I believe they will find fuel. It may be that they will invent appliances to squeeze out of the air the thing that will light and heat the homes."

In other words, take no thought of tomorrow. Spend all your money today, and trust in your ability to earn more when it's gone. Live up to your income, be happy and comfortable, and don't bother about life insurance, for your children will doubtless be just as clever as you are, and can take care of themselves.

Go ahead and chop down all the trees, for the next generation may discover a new substitute for wood. Use up all the coal, for surely men will find other ways of warming themselves. Let private corporations gobble up all the iron and copper, and make money while they've got a chance, for American enterprise and ingenuity will find something just as good when they're exhausted. And what if all our waterfalls are fenced in and harnessed by enterprising capitalists? We may find out how to turn rain into horse power, and sunlight into kilowatts.

Verily, "Sunny Jim" is the prodigal son of conservation.

Bills By Aero, Checks By Land.

Ellis Parker Butler, the humorist, whose forthcoming book, "The Adventures of a Suburbanite," is now on the presses of Doubleday, Page & Co., received one of the postal cards sent out by that house over the first aeroplane mail route starting from Nassau boulevard, Garden City. Making a parody on the wording of the aeroplane greeting, Mr. Butler in due course sent a reply to Doubleday, Page & Co. at Garden City. In one corner of his postal card, where on the aeroplane card was a picture of a soaring monoplane, was a drawing of a turtle, in another corner was a picture of a snail, and his reply read:

Your postal card dated September 28, 1911, reached me on October 2, 1911, at 10 a. m.

HASTE MAKES WASTE.

ELLIS PARKER BUTLER.

P. S.—Hereafter please send bills by aeroplane route, checks by regular mail.

Doubleday, Page & Co. sent the card to Postmaster General Hitchcock as a souvenir, for Nassau boulevard is less than twenty miles from Mr. Butler's Flushing home.

The English Sense of Humor.

Cincinnati Times-Star: "Englishmen have a very good sense of humor. But it isn't the same sort of sense that Americans have," said Arnold Daly recently. It does not transpire whether he referred to George Bernard Shaw. It was Mr. Shaw who ended a friendship which had lasted for years by the declaration that "Daly's conversation reminds me of some American railroads. It passes through a pleasant country, rich in natural resources. But it completely lacks terminal facilities." In any event Daly is credited with telling a story to illustrate the English habit of thought.

"An American in a strange town," said he, "stopped a man on the street.

"'Do you know where the postoffice is?' he asked.

"'Yes,' said the second man, and walked on. By and by he began to think that he had been insufferably rude to a stranger, and so he turned on his heel, and ran after the stranger and caught him and, puffing said:

"'Do—you—want—to know where is the postoffice?'

"'No,' said the other man, walking on.'

A Good Demonstrator.

Harper's Weekly: The car had wheezed slowly along, until finally Jobleigh grew impatient.

"Look here, my good man," he said to the demonstrator, "I don't want an old snail of a car like this. I want some speed."

"But just think of the economy of a car like this," said the demonstrator.

"Economy?" retorted Jobleigh. "Where does the economy come in? It costs just as much to run as any other car, doesn't it?"

"Yes," replied the demonstrator, "but think of what you'll save on fines."

STATE SOIL SURVEY NEEDED.

A. J. McGuire in Farm, Stock and Home: An article has recently been going the rounds of the newspapers in Northern Minnesota telling of a man who bought 40 acres of land from the state at one of the land sales and found that thirty-six acres of the forty was water. This man "put up a holler" and asked for his money back, but was told that the deal was closed and no money could be refunded.

Whether or not this report is literally true or exaggerated, it is true that the state land department has not got an adequate record of its land and the land offered for sale. A prospective settler should be able to go to the land department office in St. Paul and get accurate information relative to any tract of state land on the market. This information should give the location of the land as to roads, markets and schools, character of the land surface and of the soil and amount of timber, if any.

Every prospective settler should see the land and the country before buying, but it should not be necessary for him to go to the time and expense of seeing state land that would not be of any use for him to buy and the state land office should be able to give this information beforehand. The next legislature should make provisions for a complete survey of all its lands and then put only such land on the market as can be farmed and there should also be a provision that the land bought should be farmed and not held for speculation. Land withheld from use is a burden to any community, whether country or city. The man who wants to farm a piece of land now and will farm it, is worth ten buyers who think they may want to farm at some future time. There is enough of speculation in lands without the state adding to the abuse. Let us have a survey of the state's lands and its disposition put on a base that will tend to the greatest public good.

There is a very great area of swamp soil in Northern Minnesota. The greater part of this swamp area is known as "muskeg," a peaty soil, formed from the growth of moss. Analysis of this soil shows it to be low in lime, phosphoric acid and potash, three important elements to plant growth. The use of commercial fertilizer is advocated to put this soil in condition for growing crops, but just how far these soils can be built up by commercial fertilizers is yet to be determined. Barnyard manure seems to give more immediate results. In different places it has been observed that stable manure, when applied on these peaty soils, gives good results. Grass especially timothy and alsike clover, will grow on this kind of soil when it is once started, but other crops have been uncertain. If stable manure will supply the deficient elements of plant food in peaty soil it will mean much in the reclamation of this kind of land, and from general observations is more valuable than commercial fertilizer.

More Light From Wall Street.

Indianapolis News: The Financial World notes in Wall street a great hostility to Attorney-General Wickersham. Big Business, and Little Business, which runs with it, are greatly outraged that "a corporation counsel" should be so perniciously active in office—and active, too, against the very people with whom he formerly was on at least speaking terms of acquaintance. He is doing a very reprehensible thing—actually trying to put in effect the interpretation of the anti-trust law recently given by the United States supreme court. Of course, he is sworn to enforce the law; but Big Business recognizes that there are two enforcements of law, and it did not expect Wickersham to give the "real" kind. The Financial World says:

"There is no doubt that Mr. Wickersham's effacement as cabinet officer would please influential interests in New York. But what will they gain by it? The president himself, in his Detroit address, was even more radical than Mr. Wickersham. Should his antagonists secure Mr. Wickersham's scalp, the trust issue would remain a living and baneful force as long as the Sherman law is on the books. * * * We suggest that the trusts are too modest in asking Mr. Wickersham to get out. They should demand the resignation of President Taft forthwith. He, too, has been very indiscreet."

And that is exactly what Big Business proposes to do. It proposes to control the Democratic party and defeat the "G. O. P." simply because the president refuses to do its bidding to "let business alone." It would try to defeat him with some other Republican if any other than La Follette had any show. So, finding no relief within the ranks of their old political allies, they propose to capture the traditional enemy, put a "safe and sane" man at the head, and in a glorious counter-revolution retake Washington. We shall be surprised if the good, old rock-ribbed element in the Democratic party sits by and sees this capture. It is the great menace that faces the Democratic party at this time. If it is taken by Wall street it will lose certainly. The Wall street papers give the warning. Let it be taken.

Evening at the Farm.

Over the hill the farm boy goes;
His shadow lengthens along the land,
A giant staff in a giant hand;
In the poplar tree, above the spring,
The katydid begins to sing:
The early dews are falling;
Into the stone heap darts the mink;
The swallows skim the river's brink;
And homeward to the woodland fly the crows,
When over the hill the farm boy goes,
Cheerily calling,
"Co', boss! co', boss! co'! co'! co'!"
Farther, farther, over the hill,
Faintly calling, calling still,
"Co', boss! co', boss! co'! co'! co'!"

Now to her task the milkmaid goes,
The cattle come crowding through the gate,
Looing, pushing, little and great:
About the trough, by the farmyard pump,
The frolicksome yearlings frisk and jump,
While the pleasant dews are falling;
The new milch heifer is quick and shy,
But the old milk cow waits with tranquil eye,
And the white stream into the pail flows,
When to her task the milkmaid goes,
Soothingly calling:
"So, boss! so, boss! so! so! so!"
The cheerful milkmaid takes her stool,
And sits and milks in the twilight cool,
Saying, "So! so, boss! so! so!"

To supper at last the farmer goes,
The apples are pared, the paper read,
The stories are told, then all to bed,
Without, the crickets' ceaseless song
Makes shrill the silence all night long;
The heavy dews are falling.
The housewife's hand has turned the lock;
Drowsily ticks the kitchen clock;
The household sinks to deep repose,
But still in sleep the farm boy goes,
Singing, calling—
"Co, boss! co, boss! co'! co'! co'!"
And oft the milkmaid, in her dreams,
Drums in the pail with flashing streams,
Murmuring, "So, boss! so!"

Push vs. Pull.

Philadelphia Times: President Taft was to speak at a convention some time ago, but until a few minutes before he entered the hall he had thought of no subject. His eye fell upon the sign at the door—Push—and he determined to make that his theme.

"Young men," he finished, "let your motto always be that word which is on the door. Let that raise you to a position of trust, and that only!"

As all eyes were turned to the place designated a rapidly growing chuckle could be heard over the room. The sign on the inside read "Pull."

A Gentleman.

Come wealth or want, come good or ill
Let young and old accept their part,
And bow before the Awful Will,
And hear it with an honest heart.
Who misses or who wins the prize,
Go, lose or conquer as you can;
But if you fall, or if you rise,
Be each, pray God, a gentleman.

—Thackeray.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

The Wings of a Dove.

The young lady sang very sweetly. It was an old song that many of us had heard before and it reiterated the sentiment, "Oh for the wings of a dove! I would fly away and be at rest."

Would the young lady have accepted the wings of a dove, think you, gentle reader, if they had been presented to her? Would any of us accept them and do we really want to fly away anywhere else? To put it painly, would we be any more contented if we could quit our regular spheres of life and work for good and all and take something else, somewhere else? It is on these vital considerations that I have a word to say.

There is a good deal of discontent in the world. Multitudes of people are at war with their environment. They think they could be happier in this occupation or in that. They flit from place to place, from Europe to America, from Maine to California, trying to find a spot in which they can be happy. What would the railways and the steamship lines do without the restless travelers who yearn for Norway one month and for New York the next, and for Palm Beach at the first sugestion of cold weather? You have seen the discontented faces of these nomads.

One fallacy of such restless endeavor lies in the fact that no real Garden of Eden exists on this earth. You will not come upon Utopia no matter where you are. The dove may fly north, south, east or west, or straight up into the blue, but he is not out of the range of cold winds or drenching rains or burning sun. And I fancy that if we mortals travel to land's end we shall not find the location that has no drawbacks. It is remarkable how, right through life, the moonlit lake must be viewed to the buzz of mosquitoes.

I would hate to risk the experiment of changing places with any other worker. This occupation or that may seem full of attraction but I am pretty sure that no one job represents unalloyed delight. There is apt to be some sort of fly in the most savory ointment. Phillips Brooks, looking out of his study window, saw a laborer passing and remarked to a friend, "I suppose that fellow thinks I have a very easy time in here, but I confess I envy him his freedom from care." You have noticed that a sort of balance is almost always apparent in the lives of men as regards their blessings. Not all kinds of roses grow in anyone's front yard.

Moreover personality remains the same in any place or work. Men may be shifted geographically or vocationally without any temperamental alteration. "Who cross the sea change clime, not mind." If I growl about the fogs of London, I shall scarcely be happier amid the smells of Naples. And he who succumbs to the disagreeable features of one profession is quite apt to be equally repelled in another.

No one need be completely satisfied with his lot. No one should cease constant effort toward betterment. This is no counsel to moral stagnation. But the wise man will avoid a restless discontent. It is a great deal worthier to conquer the obstacles of the situation in which life places one than to sigh for sweet release. Pray then for a victorious life rather than for an easy one. Longfellow is right:

We have not wings, we cannot soar;
But we have feet to scale and climb
By slow degrees, by more and more,
The cloudy summits of our time.

THE PARSON.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "Does your course of home reading include the profane authors?"

"No, I don't need 'em. I belong to a golf club."

Chicago News: Employer—We want a diplomatic, tactful, smart office boy.

Boy—Well, I used to send sister's beau away when she didn't want to see him.

Chicago Tribune: Upgardson—You know what the poet says about a woman: "If she will do 't she will, and there's an end on 't."

Atom—Yes; but that isn't the end on 't; she keeps on talking.

Harper's Bazar: Father—You mustn't cry for it; wait till you are older.

Tommy—Then I'll be too old to cry.

Philadelphia Record: Newlywed—Why don't you get married, Singleton? Married life is one grand, sweet song.

Singleton—My voice isn't educated up to it.

Detroit Free Press: "What a poor young man needs is a thrifty, economical wife."

"You talk like an animated home journal. What a poor young man really needs is a rich, liberal wife."

Harper's Bazar: Oldblood—My family came over with William the Conqueror.

Newblood—Well, mine went over to see George V. crowned, and I guess it cost a lot more.

Washington Star: "Any accidents during your automobile journey?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Chuggins, "we made the entire journey without any kind of a breakdown. Such a thing couldn't happen except by accident."

Boston Transcript: Marks—If you had to live your life over again would you marry the same woman?

Parks—You just bet I would. I know what she is, and women are too uncertain for me to experiment with another one.

Puck: "My father persuaded me to take a course in domestic science."

"And how do you like the course?"

"Well, it looks like ordinary kitchen work to me. If my suspicions are confirmed I shall drop the course and make father buy me a $50 hat."

Boston Transcript: Generous Offer—He—I told your father I could not live without you.

She—And what did he say?

He—Oh, he offered to pay my funeral expenses.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: When a young woman doesn't mind getting stouter, she began mighty thin.

The only time most people crave outdoors exercise is during indoor working hours.

To have strong views on a subject all a man needs is to be ignorant enough about it.

Your own baby never howls like a little fiend; the blessed angel only tries to express itself.

A man needn't worry about carrying off a proposal to a girl, for the first thing he knows she will have it all done for him.

Our Excited Canadian Cousins.

New York World: It would seem that the anti-American craze in Canada had reached the last stages of absurdity. At Ottawa the Overseas club and the newspapers are making violent protests against any scene of American valor or heroism in moving-picture shows, and want British valor instead. Unfortunately, the duty on British films makes them come high, and the new Borden government will be asked at once to remove this duty. Have our Canadian cousins no sense of of the ridiculous?

Family Trouble Averted.

Los Angeles Record: Arthur K. Miller and his family, who arrived at the Alexandria Tuesday with a dog, a cat, a squirrel and a parrot, came to California in order that they could care for the pets without having to provide quarters in their home. Family trouble has thus been averted.

•••T. P. Chapman is moving from West Duluth to New Duluth, where he will have the management of a sawmill.

•••George D. Jewell of West Duluth has returned from a trip through the wheat districts of Minnesota and North Dakota.

•••Charles Gagnon has returned to West Duluth from a two weeks' visit to his land near Ely.

•••D. R. McKinley of West Duluth is moving over to Wisconsin, where he will put in the winter getting out cedar.

•••This afternoon John B. Sutphin, Charles B. King, M. R. Baldwin, John J. Costello and F. B. Daugherty organized a company for the manufacture of dynamite, blasting powder and other high explosives. It will be called the Duluth Powder company and will have a capital of $25,000. Charles B. King is to be manager. It is intended to locate the plant near the mouth of Knife or Sucker river.

BILL CHANDLER, DEMOCRAT

By SAVOYARD.

Some time in the late '50s of the last century, after the death of the Whig party and the overthrow of the Know-Nothing party, many thousands of old Whigs of the South were practically without a party, though most of them, like Archibald Dixon of Kentucky, followed Henry A. Wise into the Democratic party. One Jordan Clarke, the John Temple Graves of that day, made announcement in a Memphis paper that the famous Parson Brownlow of Tennessee had concluded to become a Democrat, whereupon Brownlow of Tennessee made emphatic and indignant denial in a remarkable pronunciamento that contained things like these: "I may consent to be a member of your party when Democrats cease to lie, steal, and drink mean whisky. I perhaps will consider the thing when Napoleon III, emperor of France, and Alexander II, czar of Russia, shall voluntarily abdicate their crowns to become members of the United States senate from the territory of New Mexico. I will advise about it when Queen Victoria shall apply to some justice of the peace in Kansas for a divorce a vinculo matrimonii from Albert, prince consort." And there were other ensanguined stipulations to the same effect.

And now there are rumors deep laden with the portentous tidings that Bill Chandler is to become a Democrat. Mr. Chandler is the one citizen of this republic who made a president of the United States "by his lone self." On the night of the presidential election in 1876, when even the head of the Republican ticket made a speech of surrender, and everybody else, including Chandler himself, had given it up, Mr. Barnum, the chairman of the Democratic national committee, addressed a thoughtless and a fateful note of inquiry to the New York Times, a Republican newspaper, asking for returns from the election in South Carolina, Florida and Louisiana. That note was shown to Bill Chandler. In such a situation as was thus presented to such an observation as his, Bill Chandler is the most adroit, the most resourceful, and the most audacious man in the world. As quick as a flash his nimble mind discovered that the Democrats were not quite absolutely assured. So he wrote a half dozen lines claiming 181 electoral votes for Hayes and the election of the Republican candidate, and signed Zach Chandler's name to it as chairman of the Republican national committee, who was then fast asleep in Chicago, having gone to bed utterly defeated and humiliated. The next morning the Republicans took heart, claimed everything, and subsequently they stole everything—all because Bill Chandler was not in Tibet, or Tophet, when Barnum sent that momentous inquiry to the New York Times.

Though born in Yankeeland, it may be opined that, like Daniel Webster and Benjamin F. Butler, also natives of New Hampshire, Chandler is neither Puritan nor Pilgrim, but Scotch-Irish. Be that as may be, he is of Whig antecedents, and reckless as the statement may seem, stranger things have happened than the advent of William E. Chandler into the Democratic camp. A son of William Lloyd Garrison became a Democrat, and Garrison himself, who had championed the "tariff of abominations," lived to champion absolute free trade, the repeal of all tariff duties, and the abandonment of all custom-houses.

A great grandson of Roger Sherman, grandson of Samuel Hoar, son of E. Rockwood Hoar, was a Democratic member of congress from Massachusetts twenty years ago. So was a son of John A. Andrew, the great war governor of Massachusetts, and so also was a son of Edward Everett. But Edward Everett, like Daniel Webster, Rufus Choate and Robert C. Winthrop, was a "Cotton" Whig, whereas the Hoars were "Conscience" Whigs. And right here it may be remarked that there is tradition that Henry Cabot Lodge narrowly escaped mugwumpery and it is the mere whim of casuality that he did not become a Democrat, and the same may be said of Theodore Roosevelt, who was cruelly, though not fatally, bitten by the tarantula of mugwumpery in 1884. There is a story, and a prosperous anecdote it is, that it was the admonition of the late William C. P. Breckinridge that saved both Roosevelt and Lodge to the G. O. P., but it is a little too strange to command full credence.

Bill Chandler is a Harvard man, and therefore he is of the blue blood, by training, at least. At the age of twenty he was admitted to the bar and appointed reporter of the state and supreme court. He was repeatedly a member of the state legislature and once speaker of its house of representatives. Lincoln appointed him judge-advocate-general of the navy department and Johnson made him assistant secretary of treasury, an office he resigned in 1867 when the quarrel between the president and congress became intensely bitter. He helped make the present Constitution of New Hampshire in 1876. That winter he went down to Florida and reversed the vote of that state by taking it out of the Tilden column, where the people had put it, and throwing it into the column of Hayes, where 't was the column of figures absolutely necessary to "elect." Garfield appointed him solicitor-general, but the senate, for some reason or other—his work in Florida, doubtless —rejected him, the senate being a tie, —politically, with old Dave Davis president pro tempore and holding the balance of power. Subsequently he was secretary of the navy in Arthur's cabinet. In 1889 he took his seat in the United States senate, in which body he was conspicuous twelve years.

His administration of the navy department was successful in that it was a great improvement on that of the twenty years just preceding; but it was not until Cleveland came in that John Roach was made to take his hand out of the public crib. There is this to be said of Chandler, that in matters of pecuniary meum et tuum he is thoroughly honest, and he will not allow any stealing by anybody if he can prevent it. It is that mainly that makes him so cordially hated at home and in Washington.

In the senate Chandler was not exactly the stormy petrel that La Follette is, but he was aggravating to a degree. He was the most vigilant member, ceaseless and untiring in industry and activity. If there was any graft on deck he was mighty apt to detect it, all he saw he exposed, and a great deal of it he defeated. If there was any political mischief a-brewing, certain it was that he promoted it. From the day Ben Tillman made his vicious and ignoble assault on Cleveland and Carlisle, Chandler was his friend and boon companion, and Chandler's other friend and boon companion was Cabot Lodge. But Chandler was a valuable public servant in that he kept the senate on edge every sitting he attended.

If my observation was of any account, Chandler would not have put on sackcloth and covered himself with ashes if Bryan had been elected in 1896. Immediately after the inauguration of McKinley he became an insurgent. So far as I remember he was the last member of either house of congress to advocate the coinage of silver as a full legal tender currency. He appealed to nature as authority, and cited that for any given period of a series of years the production of silver was practically 16 to 1 of gold in the element of weight, which was nothing in the world but a reiteration of Bryan's contention that a bushel of wheat and 412½ grains of standard silver were always and everywhere of equal value.

The Republican platform of 1896 contained a plank that was a pledge to send a commission to Europe to plead with statesmen and financiers to rehabilitate silver as a money metal on a parity with gold. That plank was inserted to counteract the defection of Teller and Stewart and for the benefit of Wolcott. They might as well have offered to send a commission over there to ask Europe to join with the United States in a declaration that "hants" exercised a material influence on the social, political and spiritual affairs of mankind, and they would have done that, too, had they thought there was a vote in it.

When Chandler made his speech it was on the proposal to raise the commission, which was done with a solemn face. My old friend James B. McCreary of Kentucky was one of the commission, and he was the only man in the world who took the thing seriously; but then he would have entered upon the "hant" expedition with equal gravity. Of course nothing came of it but a junket, and silver dropped out of our politics with a dull thud.

But Chandler, a natural born Insurgent, kept it up until the Boston & Maine railroad pitchforked him out of the senate and gave his seat to one of its attorneys. Subsequently Chandler ran with Roosevelt in the mighty octopus chase. Daily and diligently he fetched and carried between the White House and Tillman and Bailey until Teddy put him in the Ananias club. The late Midas Harriman did not live to "get even" with Midas Ryan. Will Chandler ever get even with Roosevelt? You bet he will, if Teddy affords the chance.

And Chandler is to be a Democrat! Well, well, well!

Woman's Happiness

The highest point of woman's happiness is reached only through motherhood, in the clasping of her child within her arms. Yet the mother-to-be is often fearful of nature's ordeal and shrinks from the suffering incident to its consummation. But for nature's ills and discomforts nature provides remedies, and in Mother's Friend is to be found a medicine of great value to every expectant mother. It is an oily emulsion for external application, composed of ingredients which act with beneficial and soothing effect on those portions of the system involved. It is intended to prepare the system for the crisis, and thus relieve, in great part, the suffering through which the mother usually passes. The regular use of Mother's Friend will repay any mother in the comfort it affords before, and the helpful restoration to health and strength it brings about after baby comes. Mother's Friend is for sale at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

IN THE LITERARY WORLD

WILL LIVINGSTON COMFORT,
Author of "Routledge Rides Alone" and "She Buildeth Her House."

THE LIFE OF BRET HARTE. With Some Account of the California Pioneers. By Henry C. Merwin, author of "The Life of Aaron Burr," etc. Illustrated. Boston: Houghton-Mifflin company. $3 net.

Among the interesting facts brought out by this unusually readable biography are these: Bret Harte wore, in his early manhood, "loud" clothes; he looked somewhat Hebraic, and rightfully since he was a quarter Jewish. But these things are not half so interesting as the life of this great American author who has crystallized into permanent literature one of the most picturesque and romantic epochs in American history, nor as the atmosphere in which he lived and which his limpid writings breathe—the atmosphere that produced Ah Sin, Jack Hamlin, Bret Harte and their associates. A glance at the chapter headings gives a hint at the pleasure in store for readers of this book: The Pioneer Men and Women; Pioneer Life; Pioneer Law and Lawlessness; Women and Children Among the Pioneers; Gambling in Pioneer Times, etc. The rest is about Francis Bret Harte, who lived in and wrote of—though the "of" is superfluous—these times and these people. In such a biography a review of the conditions surrounding the camps of pioneer California is indispensable; and the author gives a liberal and highly entertaining one. Mr. Merwin is a careful and painstaking workman—and, lest that give the impression that he plods, it should be added that his literary style is vigorous and breezy.

THE MARRIAGE PORTION. By H. A. Mitchell Keays, author of "The Road to Damascus," "He That Eateth Bread With Me," etc. Boston: Small, Maynard & Co. $1.35 net.

We are not quite sure what the author is trying to get at with this book, but in case she is merely trying to write a good story and put a good deal of real life in it, it is fair enough to say that she has done both. The people in it are strongly individual and piquantly clear-cut. It is a brilliant piece of character creation, with the ardor of passion—not ways to be left—warming it, and with an odd mixture of pagan desires and spiritual aspirations inspiring it. The author has a peculiar faculty of illuminating the littlenesses and the bignesses of her people, and a very frank way of treating delicate subjects—frank, but usually in good taste. There are compact and effective phrases, like this: "Intellectual tramps—women who padded their limp minds with indiscriminate culture as eagerly and unconsequently as a pig regales himself in his trough."

David Windsor, a fine, strong man, has loved Adela Cleave most of her life, even when she entered a marriage that left her in three weeks a widow. She, however, "could adore many men and love none," or so she thought. She trifled with Dr. Kilburn, to whom she had carried on a platonic correspondence, and with Julian Ware, a butterfly of passion who flitted from flower to flower of womanhood, and awoke just as he was about to despoil a sweet and innocent young woman—another man's wife—whom he had taught to love him. Kilburn's wife is an unusual fiction character—her husband's mistress, a good deal of a beast, and the whole a rather terrible picture of frank sensuality. The scenes are laid in a college town, and there are interesting details of college town politics and gossip.

The story will perplex and entertain.

ACROSS THE LATITUDES. By John Fleming Wilson, author of "The Land Claimers," etc. Illustrated. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. $1.25 net.

These are stories of the sea—good stories, too, gripping stories with the sting of the salt gales in them and the majestic mightiness of the ocean. Mr. Wilson has the gift of imagination and the power of swift, absorbing narrative. Many readers are familiar with his work, which appears often in the Saturday Evening Post, but some of the tales in this volume were first published.

THE LOG OF THE "EASY WAY." By John L. Mathews, author of "The Conversion of Wade," etc. Illustrated from photographs. Boston: Maynard & Co. $1.50 net.

Just before getting married Mr. Mathews built a little "shanty-boat" and then embarked with his bride on the days of their marriage on the raging water of the Chicago drainage canal, there to begin a voyage that continued down the Illinois river to the Mississippi and then down the Mississippi to New Orleans. They spent a honeymoon of four or five months in idyllic enjoyment, and now Mr. Mathews tells about it. They were young, eager, impressionable. They found adventures in plenty, and new experiences galore; and these are in this entertaining book. Through it you come to know as if at first hand the life of the river world, which is a different world with interests all its own. You meet storeboat keepers, traveling traders, medicine men, fishermen, junk collectors and junk thieves, "shanty-boat" dwellers and many others. As you drift you become intimately acquainted with currents, eddies, sandbars, caving banks, storms —all the little individual characteristics of the river route. It makes very interesting reading.

THE NAVIGABLE RHINE. By Edwin J. Clapp. Boston: Houghton-Mifflin company. $1 net.

With a view to solving the problem of how to make use of our own waterways, Mr. Clapp, who is instructor in political economy in Yale university, has made an exhaustive study of the Rhine, to show how Germany has solved problems that this country must solve if it does not care to be left at the mercy of the railroads. The book gives a detailed description of water transportation on the Rhine, the story of its development, the basis of its prosperity and an analysis of its commerce in 1907. There are many illustrations, together with an excellent map of West Germany and its water and rail transportation routes. The final chapter is a comparison of transportation on the Rhine and the Mississippi, an explanation of the decline of traffic on the latter river, and suggestions for its restoration. It is an earnest and thorough and thoughtful work that should be of high value.

This is one of the series of prize essays on economics due to offers of awards made by Hart, Schaffner & Marx of Chicago.

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF AN ELDERLY WOMAN. Anonymous. Boston: Houghton-Mifflin company. $1.25 net.

Here is a quaintly interesting perspective of life from the viewpoint of old age, with philosophy, humor, pathos and common sense illuminating it. It is of "old age" that the author writes chiefly; of reaching it, of the shock of finding one's self there, of the new relationship that it establishes with one's children, curiously a reversal of the old; and of the vexations it offers to those who refuse to recognize old age when they come face to face with it. Its spirit is well expressed in this quotation: "For the motto of all devoted sons and daughters is, 'Nag mother to death, if necessary, but don't let her overdo.'" The nagging consists, be it explained, of loving and irritating watchfulness to prevent mother from doing as she likes for fear it will tire her. Old people will like it, and it would do many young people good to read it and get the viewpoint of their elders.

THE ROAD. By Frank Saville, author of "The Pursuit," etc. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. $1.25 net.

An American company is building a railroad through the Balkan peninsula. The hero is an engineer on the work, and the heroine is daughter of the man in charge for the company, which he is the head. Italian secret societies, conspiring with Turkish powers, are subtly blocking the work, using among other instruments a beautiful Italian girl who enticed to his death the man whom the hero succeeded on an important and difficult part of the work. The situation is full of peril and romance, and in working out the story Mr. Saville makes the most of these elements, and so weaves a highly entertaining tale.

THE HOUSE ON THE MALL. By Edgar Jepson, author of "The Admirable Tinker," "Lady Noggs, Peeress," etc. New York: G. W. Dillingham company. $1.25 net.

A precious set of villains, strong in resources and stable devices, is operating a large business in crime, with headquarters in a mysterious house in London. Their head is the interesting novelty, deftly worked out, of a triple personality. There is a detective, so in a way it is a detective story; but the detective does not shine. There are murders, but the author delicately arranges it so that the reader is glad they are murdered, so the crimes do not offend. There is plot and counterplot, villainy of an uncommonly clever sort, and excitement in plenty from first page to last. Mr. Jepson, who is an English author that is always entertaining, has written mostly in a lighter vein which plays through this story, greatly relieving the background of crime that it illumines.

HARMONY HALL. A story for girls. By Marion Hill, author of "The Peterson Twins." Pictures by Robert Edwards. Boston: Small, Maynard & Co.

This is a lively and entertaining story about Harmony, Allegra and "Gappy" Hall and their family. Left poor by a father's financial and mental collapse, they had to struggle, and Harmony chose to become servant to a funny old maid with a sharp temper, a parrot and a large heart. Meanwhile Harmony wrote extraordinarily good stories that brought an editor to her kitchen with the offer of a good position. From that the fortunes of the Hall family mended rapidly, and telling about it makes interesting reading that is enlivened by humor.

THE SULTAN'S RIVAL. By Bradley Gilman, Boston: Small, Maynard & Co.

This is a story for boys, and it relates the thrilling adventures of Bob Laurie of Boston, who had gone to Europe for a month's vacation after passing a part of his entrance examinations for Haward college. The failure of a chum to meet him in Madrid caused Bob to take a trip to Cadiz. Here he met a mysterious stranger, who said he was the king of the Saharas and was accompanied by a young Englishman named Lankester Diggles. The latter told Bob that in London he met the khedive of Morocco, the younger brother of the sultan, and that the khedive proposed to start an insurrection against his brother in order to get the throne. The king of the Saraha had fitted out a ship with armies and ammunition and was about to sail for the Morocco coast. The king wanted Bob to join the expedition. He refused, but on his way back to his hotel he was suddenly seized and carried on board the boat after being knocked unconscious. When he awoke he was in the hold of the boat which had put to sea. As they reached the Moroccan coast the boat was struck by a tidal wave and wrecked. Bob and Diggles and a wonderful parrot owned by the latter reached shore, only to fall into the hands of savage Arabs, while the king and the crew perished. The rest of the stay deals with the experiences of Bob and Diggles with the Arabs, their escape across the desert of Sahara, and finally their arrival at the white-walled city of Morocco, called Marrakesh. There they were captured by the khedive and had other exciting experiences, ending with their rescue by Kaid McKenzie, a Scotchman, who acted as general-in-chief over the sultan's forces. The kaid was in search of the plotting khedive and he did not delay in sending the boys to Saffi, where they secured passage on a steamer bound for Gibraltar. It is an interesting and well written story.

THE DUTCH TWINS. By Lucy Fitch Perkins. Boston: Houghton Mifflin company. $1.

This is a charming new book for small children. The story of "Kit" and "Kat" (Christopher and Katrina) is very simply written, with abundant play of wholesome humor. It is quaintly and spiritedly illustrated by the author and, in an enjoyable way, will give children an excellent idea of Holland and how young people are brought up there.

Of Books and Writers.

To give the "verdict of history" in advance seems to have been one of the notable faculties of Gideon Welles, whose "Diary" covering his service as secretary of the navy under Lincoln is published by Houghton Mifflin company on Oct. 28. This faculty is commented on as follows by John T. Morse, Jr., in his introduction to the diary: "Naturally, however, it is the sketches of the leaders which have the most interest, and which best illustrate the shrewd and just perception of Mr. Welles. Take, for example, McClellan. In the procession of admirers which heralded the advent of this military savior none blew a more confident trumpet than did Secretary Chase. Later when the savior had lamentably failed to save, Mr. Chase not less vehemently denounced him, calling him 'an imbecile, a coward, and a traitor,' and summoning Mr. Welles to cry amen. But that gentleman recalled that he had set an interrogation mark against the name of the hero at the time of his first introduction, and said that, having afterward avoided the error of exaltation, he would not now fall into the injustice of damnation. During the time when Chase was lauding McClellan, nineteen out of every twenty loyal Northerners were of the like mind; later at least seventeen out of every twenty sympathized in some measure with the condemnation. All the while Mr. Welles is from time to time setting down in his diary such an average and temperate valuation as may be found in almost any modern history."

In his book on "The Navigable Rhine," just published (Houghton Mifflin company), Edwin J. Clapp of the economic department of Yale university, makes an illuminating comparison of the transportation facilities on the Rhine and the Mississippi rivers. He points out that the principal defects of the river transportation in America are the antiquated floating stock we use, our lack of river harbors with proper provision for contact between the rail and water carriers, the decentralized organization of our transportation, and above all, the hostility of our railroads—their determination not to act as feeders and distributors for the rivers. The remedy for all these defects should be sought in Germany, on whose rivers, particularly on the Rhine, water transportation has reached its highest stage of development.

Mrs. Kate Douglas Wiggin, whose new story "Mother Carey's Chickens" (Houghton-Mifflin) is one of the leading books of the season, returned to New York for the winter last week from her country place at Hollis, Maine, in order to attend the rehearsals of her play, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," which two companies are to take on the road during the coming season.

The Houghton Mifflin company report that the demand for Henry S. Harrison's novel, "Queed," continues unabated, and the editions have now reached a total of 83,000 copies.

The scene of Mrs. H. A. Mitchell Keay's new novel, "The Marriage Portion," (Small, Maynard & Co.) is said to be Cambridge, and many of the characters in the story are said to find their prototypes in familiar figures in the University and its surroundings.

Mr. John L. Mathews, whose new book, "The Log of the 'Easy Way'," a record of his honeymoon trip of five months drifting down the Mississippi river, is just published by Small, Maynard & Co., is at present pursuing his studies of river life in the interior of that almost unknown South American land, Colombia. He and Mrs. Mathews left this country some months ago for the western coast of Colombia and after a journey over the mountains to the high plateau in the interior are to take the long river journey down the Magdalena river.

Octave Thanet (Alice French in private life) is an enthusiastic clubwoman, but that she has no use for the woman who neglects her home is evident in her new book, "Stories That Stand Well" (Bobbs-Merrill). Several of the stories have to do with household problems, and treat them with sound sense and rich humor. The mishaps and successes of her heroines will make every housewife laugh in sympathy.

Wells Hastings, whose novel "The Man in the Brown Derby" (Bobbs-Merrill) has just been published, has an objection to autobiographical details. He says that the important thing about any man is his philosophy and not the wart on his nose. Perhaps that is why he has succeeded in making the hero of his new novel so attractive in spite of said hero's hands, which are crimson—marked in this way from birth. But the book-lover who is persistently inquisitive for the author's life history has ascertained that Wells Hastings is 33 years old, has a wife and two little daughters, is a graduate of Yale, a director in four manufacturing companies in New York and Massachusetts, a dyed-in-the-wool American, boasting ancestors who came over in the Mayflower, and that he breeds and exhibits English sheep-dogs as a hobby. With Brian Hooker, his classmate at Yale, author of the libretto of the $10,000 prize opera, "Mona," Wells Hastings wrote "The Professor's Mystery," one of the popular novels of last spring. "The Man in the Brown Derby" is his first attempt single-handed, and it promises to eclipse "The Professor's Mystery" in popularity.

When Molly Elliott Seawell was asked the other day how she came to write "The Jugglers," the novel which is to be published immediately by the Macmillans, she replied. "The characters had long been floating in my mind. They took possession of my house like a swarm of uninvited guests and I had to provide for them. One day, in December, 1910, I suddenly remembered a story I had read about the Paris Commune. A young man with a wife and children was condemned to death by the Communards. In the next cell to him was a priest, who said to him that no effort was made to identify the condemned and if he, the priest, let his beard grow, he could easily pass for his neighbor, and could easily pass for his neighbor, and offered to die, that the young man might be saved to his family. This sublime offer was refused and in the end both escaped, but it seemed to me that it would be more dramatic if the sacrifice could be made unknown to the one meant to saved by it. The power of the situation appealed to me. I said to myself, 'That is why all these people have descended upon me—they certainly mean to do something startling.' 'The Jugglers' was begun that very day."

The story of a man's life in order to be of interest and value to the general public must touch intimately things which concern the public—vital politics, international questions of policy, public men and men of letters. If the biographer has been brought into intimate relation with these and has seen things from the inside, then his story will go a long way to prove that biography is the most popular branch of literature. Fiction scorners historians, economists, literateurs—all will be eager to see what an eye witness has to say.

Such a biography is that of Henry Mayers Hyndman which is published this week by the MacMillans, under the title "The Record of an Adventurous Life." Active in politics, one of the ablest leaders of the Socialistic party, a wide traveler, an intimate friend of many men of letters, Mr. Hyndman has had a varied career and the story of it he himself tells it in his crisp and direct language is not encumbered with a dull or unprofitable page. England, America, the islands of the South Sea, India and Australia have all been the scene at one time or another of his activities, while numbered among the prominent men with whom he has come into contact and to whom he devotes entire chapters in his book are Mazzini, Marx, Clemenceau, George Meredith, William Morris and Lord Randolph Churchill.

Among the Magazines.

The first of a series of articles by John A. Fitch on "Steel and Steel Workers in Six American States, Lackawanna—Swamp, Mill and Town," appears in the October issue of The Survey, in which it is said editorially: "We are now prepared to pass from impressions and known but fragmentary facts, to a demonstration that the evils which were found in the Pittsburg steel plants three years ago are to be found in other great centers of the industry." Other articles in this issue are "Work Accidents and The Farm Hand," by Don D. Lescohier of the Minnesota bureau of labor, who shows that the substitution of power machinery for hand labor has made agriculture a hazardous industry; "Slav Farmers on The 'Abandoned Farm' Area of Connecticut," by Alexander E. Cance of the investigating staff of the federal Immigration commission; "The Syrian As An American Citizen," by Louise Seymour Houghton; an interesting account of a self-supporting summer outing for boys of settlement clubs, "The South End House Caddy Scheme," by Charles F. Ernst; and an analysis of "England's Revolutionary Strike," by Prof. Graham Taylor, head of Chicago Commons, who was on the scene and personally interviewed the chief leaders of and participants in the strike.

If your family is worth the best you can afford in house and food and clothes, is it not worth the best reading as well? And the best reading—best for boys and girls, best for men and women—is to be found in the Youth's Companion. Of stories alone the Companion will print nearly 300 in 1912. With all the rest of the paper thrown in, and counting the glorious long serial stories, they cost the subscriber less than a cent apiece. Moreover, you will look long before you will find stories so varied and interesting—stories of coolness in the face of peril, strange adventures with creatures of the forest and the sea, moving stories of life's obscure heroisms, stories breezy with good-natured humor, quaint and curious character sketches. Now is the time to subscribe, for you will receive free from the time your $1.75 is received all the issues for the remaining weeks of 1911, containing the opening chapters of Ralph D. Paine's great serial story of the Boxer rebellion, "The Cross and the Dragon." And there is the gift of the Companion Calendar for 1912, "On the New England Coast," lithographed in ten colors and gold.

The monthly grist of Popular Mechanics Magazine in the November number amounts to 302 articles and 285 illustrations. Science, discovery, invention and disaster are forces ceaselessly at work. Tireless eyes have watched their activities and trained minds have sifted the results and wrestled with the problems they introduce. Disasters always leave a question—if not several questions—in the public mind and on the consciences of experts, and again and again reveal the presence of an unknown quantity—an unconsidered element. H. H. Windsor's editorial on the destruction of the "Liberte" deals strongly with this phase of modern development. Other accidents are discussed in the November number: The Pennsylvania flood is graphically portrayed by eleven unusual illustrations; a page view shows the ramming of the "Olympic" by the British cruiser "Hawke" and the sixteen aviation fatalities of the month are described. "Fortune Hunters of the Air Lanes," Victor Lougheed calls the characters he etches in flattering style. The list includes Beloit, Latham, Paulham, Farman, Curtiss, the Wright brothers, and others. According to the writer nearly all sprang from obscurity to fame through aeronautics. The aerial postal service, experimented with in both England and the United States, is discussed.

The November Smart Set leads off with a novelette by Louise Winter which presents a rather unusual study of a woman. "A Brigand in Love" is the title of the story; but whatever piratical acts the woman in this narrative commits she offsets at the last by a monumental sacrifice which, it is safe to say, not one woman in 10,000 of true maternal feeling would ever make, whatever the strength of the compelling motive. Seuman MacManus tells a delightfully breezy tale of Irish life and adventure, "Kilgannon of the Sword," and Olive M. Briggs recounts in "Mademoiselle Mimi" a delicious story of Italy and the making of a grand opera star. "The Worthless Cheque," by Elliott Flower, is a crackerjack tale of a business deal and the clever girl stenographer who engineered it. "The Alluring of J. Wedgewood Ware," by Ellen McDougall, is a humorous tale of New York Bohemian life. H. W. Richards tells in "Mimosa" a good story of a wonderful horse race. Louise Closser Hale begins in this number a new department which she calls "The Trunk in the Attic." This is a plea for the revival of the obsolescent art of letter writing; and after bewailing the decline of what was once a real art, she outlines a competition with prizes which the magazine will conduct this winter.

In the issue of Harper's Weekly for Oct. 14 Abraham Cahan writes upon "Stolypin and the New Terror." Upon the title "America and Tripoli" James Barnes tells of a forgotten incident in our relations with the North-African province which is now being attacked by Italy. Robert Shackleton presents the experiences of one of the survivors of the battle of Sadowa, as told to him by Ferdinand Federowski. "Why Motorcars Cost So Much" is the title of an interesting article by Harold Whiting Slauson. Madge C. Jenison tells of "Germany's Tramp Workmen." Thaddeus S. Dayton writes upon "Rear Estate and the Motor-car," and many drawings, with fiction, humor, and the usual financial and editorial features go to make up this number.

The World's Work for November is a country life number. It contains a collection of the experiences of men who have made a success of farming in all parts of the country. Who wouldn't like to be a farmer if he could live in Iowa and unlock the state's treasure houses in the manner described by James B. Weaver, Jr. Does the occupant of the city flat excuse his purchase of an automobile by pleading the necessity of a spin to the country after supper for fresh air? The Iowa farmer is not slow to take the hint. With him it is change of scene. Stand aside, for here they come every evening after supper down 10,000 highways—"Bill" at the wheel, and by his side "Dad," "Mother," and the remaining household. No delay for elaborate toilets, with shirts open at the throat, bared heads and sleeves rolled back, off they go twenty to thirty miles, to town and back, forgetting for two blissful hours in their careening joy-wagon the heat and fatigue of the day. The editors of the World's Work sent out a series of questions to a thousand prominent business men, asking their opinions about the effect of congressional investigations, of tariff discussions and of the recent supreme court decisions on business. Here is a consensus of the replies received: As regards the effect on business of the congressional investigations, opinion is almost equally divided. As regards the effect of tariff discussion and legislation, as might have been expected, there is a large preponderance of opinion that this discourages business. It is noteworthy that the largest number think that the supreme court decisions have had no effect on business conditions or a good effect.

Gen. Funston's account of his "Capture of Emilio Aguinaldo," in the November Scribner, reads almost like a chapter in some highly sensational novel of adventure. Its impression is made by the surprising nature of the plot involved, and the desperate character of the expedition that succeeded in putting an end to the war. Its success brought Gen. Funston his promotion to a brigadiership in the regular army.

"The Bawlerout," Forrest Halsey's dramatic novelette in the November Young's Magazine, presents a heroine absolutely new to fiction. "Miss Sullivan" has all the elements of a noble woman with the instincts of a general. She can face men in any battle—and usually conquer them—but her tender though practical heart will never voluntarily hurt a mother. "Why will men have mothers?" she asks when circumstances, and her pitiless position as the "Bawlerout" in a loan shark firm, compel her to wound the gentle little mater of the indiscreet hero. This hero, like many a youth in modern life, endangers his position and even his future by borrowing to pay a debt assumed for a friend. The "Bawlerout" appears at the bank where he is employed to do her duty, but is confronted by two women who love him—his mother and his frivolous, pretty sweetheart. The invincible "Miss Sullivan" is vanquished and lets the culprit go undenounced. The occasion, however, demands that she bawl out someone, so she selects the president of the bank, a crafty, near-pious soul, and her arraignment, though in a picturesquely different vernacular, is fully as stirring as was that of Marc Anthony. A beautiful friendship springs up between the childlike mother and the motherless girl, and through this friendship the hero—well, it's never fair to tell the ending of a charming romance. In "The Bawlerout" Mr. Halsey has created live characters with whom the reader laughs and weeps, hopes and despairs, and at the last rejoices.

There is something more than coincidence back of the fact that it is the advertised businesses that succeed, and the unadvertised businesses that fail.

A few Duluth parties are attending the Minnesota-Nebraska football game in Minneapolis today, but most of the Duluth enthusiasts of the game are waiting for the Chicago game which is to be the biggest of the season to be played in the Minneapolis park.

Fall house cleaning has claimed a good deal of the attention of society matrons so the affairs given have been of rather an informal nature with few exceptions.

Weddings

St. Paul's Episcopal church radiant with flowers and beautifully gowned guests, was the scene Wednesday evening of one of the prettiest weddings which has taken place in the city for several years. Miss Helen Margaret Ostram, niece of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Thomson, became the bride of Seth Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Marshall of 2605 Greysolon road, in the presence of a company of Duluth's society people which filled the church.

The decorations were carried out with elaborate skill from a plan worked out by Mrs. Thomson, until the place was a bower of beauty. Green and white were the colors combined. A dainty little green basket filled with lilies of the valley and pink rosebuds and large rosettes of white ribbon with streamers falling to the floor marked each pew of the center aisle leading to the altar. Here ropes of ground pine, palms and ferns were well arranged. Inside the altar railing the chancel was filled with the green and ropes of the vines were festooned from the arch above to the walls forming a graceful canopy over the altar. Two massive candelabra of carved gold from an old Italian cathedral held lighted candles on the altar and below in the nave the choir stalls had been removed leaving a large white carpeted space for the bridal party. A green-screened bower at either side hid the organ and the surpliced choir.

The choir composed of twelve boys led by C. O. Applehagen and the Scottish Rite Male Quartet sang for the processional "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," going down a side aisle to the back of the church to precede the wedding party to the altar.

The six ushers, Ned Congdon, Roy Ostram, Adam Thomson, John Savage, James Ireland and Charles Brewer, followed the choir and next were the bridesmaids, Miss Jessica Marshall, Miss Carolyn Marshall, Miss Irma Hartley, Miss Julia Hunter, Miss Swift and Miss Adams, gowned in white satin with over drapes of white chiffon with wide bandings of silver trimming, made en train. They wore wide satin bands in their hair and carried bouquets of pink roses in dainty sheath baskets held in the arms.

Miss Mary Paine as maid of honor came next. She wore a gown of blue chiffon over satin and carried white chrysanthemums. On her head she wore a pretty little Juliette cap of silver and silk with a chiffon veil which fell to the waist in the back.

The bride entered last on the arm of her uncle. She wore a handsome gown of white satin with an overdress of Duchess lace made with an extremely long court train, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Her bridal veil in cap effect fell to the hem of her gown.

Mr. Marshall, attended by Carson Agnew as best man, awaited the party at the foot of the chancel, where Dr. A. W. Ryan, rector of the church, read the betrothal service at 8 o'clock. While the bridal party ascended to the altar rails, Donald Alexander sang "O Perfect Love," written by A. F. M. Custance, and Bishop Edsall, bishop of Minnesota, read the marriage service proper. Before the benediction the Scottish Rite Male quartet sang "Before Thine Altar Throne," a beautiful number composed by Mr. Custance for the occasion.

At the close of the service the party left to the strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march, played by Mr. Custance at the organ.

Following the ceremony a small informal reception was held at the Thomson residence, 2005 East Third street, for the members of the bridal party and their intimate friends.

In the receiving line with the bride and groom and Mr. and Mrs. Thomson were Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Marshall and Miss Smith of Marquette, an aunt of the groom.

Mrs. F. W. Paine and Mrs. W. C. Agnew presided in the dining room and Miss Rebecca Bailey was at the punch bowl.

The rooms were tastefully decorated with flowers. In the living room American Beauties and graceful lilies added their beauty to the room, and in the sunroom, where the punch was served, white flowers were used. Bowls of yellow chrysanthemum buttons were placed in the music room, and the dining room was exquisitely arranged with white chrysanthemums, lilies of the valley and massive silver candelabra, with their white shaded candles. Yellow chrysanthemums were placed in the hall, and the wide verandas, carpeted in white and screened in, were pretty with sprays of autumn leaves and berries.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall left for a wedding tour which will last six or eight weeks, and later will be at home at 1914 East Second street. Miss Jessica Marshall caught the bride's bouquet.

Announcements have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Alexander of Lakeside of the marriage of their daughter, Verna Gladys to Tracey Fielding Brackett of Boston, Mass. The wedding took place Monday evening at the home of Dr. Chandler C. Alexander of New York and Mr. and Mrs. Brackett will reside at 59 West Seventy-sixth street, New York city, after Nov. 1.

The wedding of Miss Mildred Rae Hobbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Adelbert A. Hobbs, formerly of this city and Daniel David Morgan of Virginia, also formerly of Duluth, took place Wednesday evening at the Hobbs residence at 1932 Aldrich avenue, Minneapolis.

Rev. J. C. Faries, pastor of the Glen Avon Presbyterian church of this city read the ceremony in the presence of relatives and a number of friends from here.

The bride wore a pretty gown of white messaline with an over drape of white chiffon ornamented with pearl trimmings. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Hobbs who wore a gown of pink chiffon. Miss Myrtle Hobbs who has been the soprano soloist at the Trinity Pro-Cathedral here sang "Because" and "Perfect Life" the music for which was written by A. F. M. Custance. Mrs. J. E. Horak another sister of the bride was the accompanist.

The home was prettily decorated with flowers for the evening. In the front rooms pink dahlias and roses were used and in the dining room deep red roses were effectively arranged. Mrs. Robert Carley of St. Paul, formerly of this city and Miss Olive Colbrath also of Duluth, presided in the dining room and assisting in the other rooms were Miss Frances Earhart and Mrs. E. M. Morgan and the sisters of the bride.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Morgan and son Robert of Youngstown, Ohio, parents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Morgan, Jr.; Mrs. Joseph E. Horak and daughter, Helen, Miss Earhart, Calvin F. How, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Moore, Mrs. Colbrath and Mrs. H. B. Arnold, all of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan will be at home in Virginia after Dec. 1.

Miss Bessie Newton, a Duluth girl, and Robert M. Kelley, a member of the Forbes Stock company, now playing at the Lyceum theater, were married Wednesday morning by Judge Glipin in probate court.

Mr. Kelley, who makes his home in Oakland, Cal., is well known in theatrical circles, and has been in Duluth for some time with the Forbes company.

Miss Myrtle Franklin of this city and Albert Theissen of St. Paul were married Thursday evening at the parsonage of St. John's English Lutheran church, Rev. J. E. Shewell officiating.

Events of Interest

Mrs. J. D. Morrison was hostess to the young women of Trinity pro-cathedral this afternoon at her home, 2131 East Superior street.

The members of the B. P. O. E. No. 133 were hosts at the first of the "Elks' dancing parties" for the winter Tuesday evening at the hall of their clubrooms on West First street. About seventy-five couples danced to a delightful program played by La Brosse's orchestra. It was an informal affair, no invitations having been issued, but proved a pleasant opening of the winter's series. The dances given by this club last season were so popular that the present series has been eagerly awaited. The committee in charge of these affairs is composed of N. B. Morrison, F. G. Mason, E. M. Kelley, A. E. Wegman, Dr. Hanson, A. O. Knudson and Robert Kidd.

The next dance of the series will be held on Nov. 21.

A delightful meeting of the guild of the Mission church on Park Point was held Tuesday afternoon at the church with Mrs. George Bonham as hostess. During the afternoon, Mrs. Morrison and Miss Sheegren read and Mrs. Corn Hilliard Fuller and Miss Winnie Thomas sang. Dainty refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Peterson of 1831 West Second street entertained a number of their friends Sunday afternoon and evening, the occasion being their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. They were the recipients of many pretty presents. The rooms were prettily decorated with roses, carnations and ferns and during the evening several fine musical selections were rendered.

The home of Rabbi and Mrs. W. Kissin was the scene of a large surprise party Monday evening. The affair was in the nature of a farewell party for Mrs. Kissin will leave tomorrow for St. Paul, where she will be joined a week later by her husband and they will make their home there. Seventy women were present and presented the guest of honor with a handsome set of cut glass dishes.

Mrs. Renwick B. Knox of 1314 East Superior street was hostess at a dinner party for six Thursday at her home in honor of her sister, Mrs. Brice of Eau Claire, Wis., and Wednesday evening she gave a small bridge party at her home for Mrs. Brice.

Mrs. William White entertained at luncheon Thursday at her residence, 1718 East Superior street. Covers were laid for twelve at a prettily appointed table.

Mrs. A. Fitger of 629 East First street gave a prettily appointed luncheon yesterday at her home for a number of friends.

A dancing club has been formed among a number of children for Saturday mornings. Miss Bertha Wilson will chaperone the class with Prof. Leo as dancing master.

Among the visitors at the Island Lake Inn this week were: Mrs. Edward Windom, Mrs. C. S. Wilson, Mrs. R. M. Marble, Miss Myra E. Harris, Miss Elsie Overman, Jack Plotnisky, Joseph Jr. C. W. Fitzgerald, H. Brown, Frank Woods, M. M. Boyce, M. E. Koas, Charles Stein.

Miss Adelaide Roos was hostess at a party Thursday afternoon given in celebration of her birthday anniversary. Her guests were:

Misses—
Beatrice King,	Elvira Roos,
Alice Saxine,	Muriel Smith,
Margaret Rutherford,	Ruth Saxine,
Alma Robinson,	Margaret Wahlgren,
Linnea Bjorkman,	Esther Brown,
	Madeline Roos.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth M. Nicoles entertained at dinner Wednesday evening at the Spalding hotel. Covers were laid for twelve.

Mrs. S. L. Reichert of 2315 East Fourth street gave a pretty luncheon Wednesday at the Panton & White tea rooms for Mrs. J. T. Hale of Deerwood, who was a guest in the city. Covers were laid for four.

Mrs. Theron H. Hawkes of 210 Tenth avenue east was hostess at a luncheon of eight covers Wednesday at her home.

Mrs. George R. Laybourn entertained at a delightful musical Wednesday afternoon at her home 1432 East Fourth street for Miss Nora Harrison, who will leave soon for Washington, D. C., to resume her musical studies. Miss Harrison played a group of numbers which were very cordially received by the fifty guests present and Miss Glen Bartholomew sang several pleasing contralto solos. Mrs. A. B. Hilton gave an interesting interpretation of Kipling's "If" and responded with a pleasing little folk song for an encore.

Mrs. E. Frank Barker spoke interestingly on the "Relation of Modern Literature and Modern Music." She gave a short resume of the literary work and the musical work from the time of Ibsen and Wagner down to the present day. She spoke of the similarity of the work of these two well known men in their respective lines and said that the advance in music had been parallel to the advance in literary work.

Autumn flowers and ferns were well arranged about the house and Mrs. Barker presided at the punch bowl.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Frain of 1504 London road celebrated their twelfth wedding anniversary last evening at their home. Red carnations and sweet peas were used in decorating the rooms. The evening was spent in playing cards, for which the prizes were won by Mrs. Percy Lawson, Mrs. A. E. Paul, Mrs. J. Krinklaw, Percy Lawson and Sid Mayer. The guests were:

Miss Lena Lieberman, 404½ East Fifth street, entertained at cards Monday evening at her home in compliment to Miss Sadie Lieberman, who will leave shortly for Chicago. The high scores were won by Miss Delia Fox and Miss Sadie Lieberman. Other players were Misses Minnie Averbrook, Mamie Levine, Martha Fostoff, Hattie Mackowitz, Delia Fox, Freda Wenberg, Ethel Heller; Messrs. Walter Wieland, Paul Phillips, James Pierce, Ben Carsener, Walter Toben, Ben Sanders and Henry Azine.

An elaborate wedding dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Pfeifer, 212 East Third street, Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Dodier of Chisholm, who were married Wednesday morning in their home town.

The dining room was artistically decorated in yellow and white festoons in white satin ribbons, chrysanthemums and carnations being used in carrying out the color scheme. The ribbons were extended from the chandelier to the four corners of the room. Covers were laid for the bride and bridegroom, Miss Bea Nolan of Ironwood, Mich., Neil Fleming, Miss Mona Crellin, William Alguire, Master Andrew Alguire of Chisholm, Mrs. O'Donnell, Arthur O'Donnell, besides the host and hostess.

The bride was Miss Ida Alguire, a sister of Mrs. Pfeifer, and Mr. Dodier is a bookkeeper for the Oliver Iron Mining company at Chisholm, in which town they will be at home after Nov. 25.

Thursday evening the bridal party were entertained at a dinner in their honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anson Alguire of Superior, Mr. Alguire being an uncle of the bride.

A reception was held last evening at the First Christian church, corner of Fifth avenue west and Fourth street in honor of Rev. Ray E. Hunt, pastor of the church and his bride. They were married last week and have just arrived in the city and this function was planned that the members of the church and their friends might have an opportunity to greet them. The pastors of the various city churches and their wives and a large number of friends called.

In the receiving line with the guests of honr were Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Risdon and W. S. Austin.

An informal program was given by Mrs. Kelley Compton and Miss Jean Wanless, who sang, Miss Violette Flaaten, who played a piano solo and Clyde Cordner gave a reading.

Might Not Be Alive
McMinnville, Tenn.—Mrs. Ocie Jett, of this place, writes: "I don't believe I would be living today, if it hadn't been for Cardui. I lay in bed for 27 days, and the doctor came every day, but he did me no good. Finally, he advised an operation, but I would not consent, and instead took Cardui. Now I am going about the house, doing my work, and even do my washing. Cardui worked wonders in my case. I am in better health than for five years." Cardui is a strengthening tonic for women. It relieves pain, tones up the nerves, builds strength. Try it. At your druggist's.

NORMAL NOTES

The addition to the normal school has been completed, and the training department which had been occupying temporary quarters during the interval of waiting, has been moved into its new location.

The first two of the three floors are occupied by the kindergarten and the grades, the third being given over to the normal department and affording a laboratory for the experimental work in psychology and a lecture room for the use of the superintendent of the training school. Quarters for the manual training work are situated in the basement. The new part realizes one of its purposes in separating the pupils of the training department from the students doing the regular work of the school, and in this way providing a condition more nearly approximating the schools in which the students will be called to teach, as well as eliminating the danger of mutual disturbance. It also permits the acceptance of a larger number of pupils than has heretofore been possible.

Features of the new building will be the ventilated cloakrooms in which air is driven through the wraps in the regular process of ventilation, the toilet rooms on each floor, the sanitary drinking fountains about to be installed in each room, and the telephone connections with the various rooms.

ISLE OF PINES!

I have said many times in this space that "I know" about the Isle of Pines. Why shouldn't I know? I have been going there, spending my winters there, for seven years. Groves are in bearing and now shipping that I saw planted. I know personally most of the people on the Island. I have rode horseback, muleback, wagoned, buggied and automobiled all over the Island day in and day out. I know the land. I know the good land and I have bought the best land. I know every foot of my land. If you buy land of me you run no risk whatever. I am selling in 10 and 20 acre tracts, on easy terms.

I can tell you all about it because I KNOW.

CLUBS AND MUSICAL

WEEK'S EVENTS IN CLUBDOM AND THE MUSICAL CIRCLES

Minneapolis Orchestra Concerts Will Be Next Big Musical Event—Needlework Guild Distribution—General Club Notes.

THE next big musical event of the concert season will be the visit of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra and its eminent conductor, Emil Oberhoffer, on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 10 and 11. Three concerts will be given. Friday night, Saturday afternoon and Saturday evening. There will be a special school matinee on Friday, Nov. 10, at 4 o'clock, and this matinee for the young people will be in charge of a committee of ladies, under the direction of Miss Carlotta Simonds.

At these concerts the reorganized Oratorio society, known as the Duluth Festival chorus, conducted by Horace W. Reyner, will take place. Mme. Luella Chilson Ohrman, soprano, will be the soloist. Mme. Ohrman is a stranger to Duluth, but here is what Glen Dillard Gunn, in the Chicago Tribune had to say about her Chicago recital: "Mrs. Chilson-Ohrman's recital proved the surprise of the present concert season, since it served to make Chicago music-lovers acquainted with a voice of exceptional beauty and purity, and an art of unusual sincerity and sympathy."

"Vocally Mrs. Ohrman is mistress of splendid resources. She possesses a soprano voice of exceptional range, of an unfailing beauty and purity of tone, which, however, is not devoid of the warmth which makes direct appeal to the sympathetic."

The committee in charge of these concerts, Stephen H. Jones, T. W. Hugo and Horace W. Reyner, feel that the Minneapolis Orchestra's following in Duluth is so large and their musicianship being so well known that nothing need be said in praise of the organization but to simply place before the readers of The Herald the programs which will be played in Duluth, Nov. 10 and 11.

PLANS FOR BALL.

Charity Dance Will Be Most Elaborate Affair This Year.

THE annual charity ball, which will be given Tuesday evening, Nov. 28, at the Spalding hotel, for the benefit of the Children's home, promises to be one of the most fascinating, beautiful and satisfactory balls ever given for this institution. The board of directors is united in the effort to do all things possible to bring about this result.

The president, Mrs. T. J. Davis, has appointed the following special committees for arrangements for the ball:

Decorating—Mrs. A. C. Hubbell, Mrs. H. H. Myers, Mrs. C. G. Lum, Mrs. T. F. Cole and Mrs. C. S. Wilson.

Printing invitations—Mrs. C. S. Wilson, Mrs. F. D. Day and Mrs. H. H. Myers.

Music—Mrs. J. N. McKindley and Mrs. G. Herbert Jones.

Advertising—Mrs. W. H. Hoyt and Mrs. G. Herbert Jones.

Hotel—Mrs. A. C. Volk, Mrs. C. H. Bagley and Mrs. H. H. Myers.

The decorating committee met with the chairman, Mrs. A. C. Hubbell this week, and completed the plan of decoration. It is a secret plan, but never before has such a unique and beautiful background been evolved for the perfect blending of colors. The scene will be worthy of all the new gowns being ordered, and the decorating committee will be busy from this day until the evening of the ball completing their elaborate scheme. Nothing is too much trouble and the impossible becomes easy under the compelling thought of the necessities of life to be provided for a small army of homeless little children.

The following women constitute the board of directors: Mrs. T. J. Davis, Mrs. S. R. Holden, Mrs. J. N. McKindley, Mrs. H. H. Myers, Mrs. Van Loo, Mrs. W. C. Winton, Mrs. M. La Fay, Mrs. J. H. McLean, Mrs. J. H. Crowley, Mrs. G. Herbert Jones, Mrs. A. C. Volk, Mrs. W. H. Hoyt, Mrs. T. F. Cole, Mrs. C. S. Wilson, Mrs. A. C. Hubbell, Mrs. G. S. Oliver, Mrs. C. G. Lum, Miss Hoatson, Mrs. F. D. Day, Mrs. D. C. Rood and Mrs. C. H. Bagley.

NEEDLEWORK DISTRIBUTION.

Money and Clothes Given Deserving Families By Duluth Women.

RESULTS of the Needlework guild roundup which was held Tuesday and Wednesday at 2 East First street, were most gratifying to those in charge. Nearly 3,000 new warm garments for babies and grownups were collected by the section presidents and their members, and they have been distributed among charities and homes where they will do the most good. The garments were all turned in on the first day of the roundup and the work was greatly facilitated by this promptness.

Besides the garments, $63.80 was contributed by different members of the sections. For the disposition of this amount a guild committee will consult with the visiting nurse of the Associated Charities, and with her will decide on articles necessary in a sick room to be purchased by the guild and used as "loan articles" by the nurse in her work among the poor.

The guild is divided into sections with its various section presidents, and the garments collected by them were as follows:

Mrs. Morton Miller (garments)	217
Mrs. A. M. Miller	165
Mrs. D. W. Stocking	176
Mrs. W. C. Sargent	141
Mrs. F. R. Kennedy	164
Mrs. C. R. Keyes	182
Mrs. J. J. Le Tourneau	104
Mrs. Thomas Wood	141
Miss Julia Ensign	180
Mrs. A. R. Macfarlane	151
Mrs. S. E. Catherall	54
Mrs. E. W. Matter	295
Mrs. W. B. Silvey	176
Mrs. I. T. Burnside	312
Mrs. D. C. Rood	128
Mrs. J. F. Dacey	47
Mrs. W. F. Bailey	137
Mrs. Henry Abraham	63
Mrs. Thomas D. Merrill	125
	2,958

The garments were divided among the various charitable institutions as follows:

Anti-Tuberculosis League	73
Associated Charities	264
Bethel Home	213
Children's Home	520
Glen Avon Aid society	106
Humane society	316
Salvation Army	210
St. Anthony's Guild	134
St. James' Orphanage	547
St. Luke's hospital	78
St. Mary's hospital	78
W. C. T. U., West Duluth	419
	2,958

DULUTH CLUB NOTED.

"Musical America" Writes Warmly Praising the Matinee Musicale.

AN interesting account of the matinee musicale of Duluth is given in the special fall issue of the Musical America, the most important musical publication in the United States.

Officers, programs for the year and the work of the club in general are outlined in the story which is headed "Club Women Rule Duluth Music. 'Matinee Musicale' Principal Factor in Providing Inspiration for Progress—American Composers Well Represented in Its Programs."

An extract of the account is as follows:

"The object of the club is to advance the interests and promote the culture of musical art in Duluth and to improve the musical culture of the members. Representatives are sent to the National Federation of Musical clubs as well as to those clubs that give exchange recitals. Efforts will be made this year to double the membership of the organization."

The Schubert club of St. Paul and the Thursday Musical club of Minneapolis were the only other Minnesota clubs spoken of.

CLUB NOTES.

Twentieth Century Club Activities for the Coming Week.

THE regular meeting of the Executive board of the Twentieth Century club will be held Monday morning at the library club room, promptly at 10 o'clock.

Other meetings of departments of this club for next week will be as follows:

Monday evening the second meeting of the Evening Shakespeare class will be held at the club room of the library at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Bertha Wilson will be the leader for the evening and all people wishing to joint this class should attend at this time as the reading of the play "The Merchant of Venice" which the class will take up for its first study this season will be commenced.

Art Department.

Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the club room the Department of Art of the club will hold its second meeting for the year. The subject for consideration will be "Rembrandt's work, his religious subjects, pictures of local interest, Night Watch and his portraits. Mrs. George R. Gebauer is chairman of this department and any one interested will have the privelege of attending whether a member of the club or not.

Neighborhood House.

The regular sewing classes will be held Saturday morning at the Neighborhood houses at the regular hours.

Roundtable Club.

THIRTY-THREE young women of the city have formed a social organization at the Young Women's Christian association which they call "The Roundtable." The first meeting was held Wednesday evening at the Y. W. C. A. building in the big homelike lobby, and the evening was pleasantly spent in a social way. The club is intended especially for the young business women of the city, but all young women interested are cordially invited to join. The meetings will be quite informal with a little program and social hour with sewing and fancy work to make the time count profitably materially as well as socially.

Miss Mabel Culkin read a humorous story and Miss Maude Matteson, Madeline Miller and Helen Coburn furnished a pleasing musical program.

Officers for the club were chosen as follows: President, Miss Marie Ceska; vice-president, Miss Anna Macfarlane; secretary, Miss Millie Older; treasurer, Miss Winnie Quigley; chairman of committees as follows: Membership, Miss Mary Salter; entertainment, Miss Anna Macfarlane; fancy work, Mrs. Robert Quigley; shirtwaists, Mrs. C. A. Smith; reception, Miss Woodward and refreshments, Mrs. Harriot Priest.

This club ought to fill a big place in the pleasure of many young women of the city and the membership is due to increase rapidly.

Church Supper.

UNDER the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of Bethesda Norwegian Lutheran church, dinners and suppers will be served Oct. 24, 25 and 26, at the Foresters' hall, Fourth avenue west and First street, dinner from 11:30 to 2, and supper from 5:30 to 8 p. m. The proceeds go to the new church building fund.

D. A. R. Representatives.

MRS. O. H. CLARKE and Mrs. William A. McGonagle will represent the Greysolon du Lhut chapter and Mrs. J. L. Washburn the Liberty chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the Minnesota D. A. R. annual conference to be held in Minneapolis next Thursday. The meeting will be called at 9:45 o'clock at the First Congregational church at which time gifts from individuals and from chapters will be received for the Sibley house.

Normanna Concert.

THE usual fall concert which the Normanna Male chorus has in previous years rendered, is now being arranged for, and the program promises to be both entertaining and instructive.

Arrangements have been made to secure the Lyceum theater for the occasion and the date has been set for Sunday afternoon, Nov. 12.

The Normanna chorus has secured the assistance of a similar male chorus in Superior and as the combined choruses will total about sixty-five men, it will afford the people of the city an opportunity to attend an entertainment such as is seldom given here.

Although the work of the chorus is the study and keeping before the public of Norwegian song and music, it is also well acquainted with several good English numbers, some of which will be sung at the coming concert.

One of the features of this concert will be the first public appearance in this city of Miss Shannon, well known in musical circles as a grand opera singer of wide repute.

Miss Shannon, who but recently came to the city, and is now located here permanently, has been connected with several musical organizations and opera companies. She was for some time in charge of the musical department of the State University of Washington, and leading soloist with the San Francisco Opera company, the Stuart Opera company, and the Egan Opera company. She comes with excellent recommendations and will be a valuable addition to the musical fraternity of the city.

A large orchestra under the leadership of Jens Flaaten has been arranged for. Gustave Flaaten will lead the chorus singing.

Other features are being prepared and the full program will soon be announced.

The male chorus committee having the arrangements in charge consists of: George Thrane, L. Hannam, G. Sodahl, Joseph Solem and B. Sande.

STUDY CLASS.

Matinee Musical Study Members Will Meet Monday.

THE Matinee Musical study class will meet with Miss Simonds at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at her studio, 207 Temple building. Mme. Fannie Bloomfield Zeigler's program will be studied preparatory to the concert which she will give here Nov. 4 before the members of the club.

Theosophical.

THE Theosophical society holds its regular meetings for members Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 8 o'clock in the lodge rooms, No. 28 Winthrop block, First street and Fourth avenue west. Commencing Oct. 29 an open study class will be conducted afternoons at 3 o'clock by Alice L. Booth. Subjects to "be announced later. The meetings are open to the public.

Nordica's Good Nature.

MME. LILLIAN NORDICA is noted for her sweetness of disposition. It is said that she has never been known to lose her temper. In fact, the diva gives as her recipe for the preservation of youth and beauty, "Keep good natured." Her own adherence to that motto was strikingly shown at an afternoon concert which she gave in Washington, D. C., a few months ago. There was a small sized riot at the theater, owing to there having been more standing room sold than the house would allow, and when Mme. Nordica arrived, an excited group of women surrounded her as she stepped from her carriage and volubly entreated her to see that they got their rights." The diva was helpless for a moment, then a brilliant thought struck her, and she smilingly invited them all in at the stage entrance and there disposed in the wings they enjoyed the concert; and there is now a small colony of female enthusiasts in that city ready to champion any cause Lillian Nordica may advocate. It is safe to say that if suffrage ever gets in, and Mme. Nordica still wants, as she is said to, a senatorial toga for her husband, George W. Young, that she can count on their votes.

Mme. Nordica will sing at the Lyceum, Friday evening, Nov. 17.

Drama Club.

THE regular meeting of the afternoon Modern Drama club will be held at the club room of the library Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. The reading of Ibsen's "Rosmersholm" will be taken up with Mrs. H. P. Bjorge as leader. The books of the play which were ordered by the librarian have arrived and the members of the class will be able to obtain them at the library by applying to Miss Earhart.

Lester Park Club.

THE regular meeting of the Lester Park Literary society will be held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert C. Dryer, 1927 North Sixtieth avenue east, with Mrs. K. A. Ostergren as leader.

Current literature will be "Some Prominent Women Character," in which each member is especially interested. Mrs. Ostergren will talk on "Women and Economics," and Mrs. David H. Williams will give a review of Olive Schreiner's book on "Woman and Labor." Mrs. Harriet Carey's report on the recent State convention will be heard.

Oh! Where did you get that hat? At P. J. Blain. Where is that? Down by the furnaces, 201 South Fifty-seventh avenue west.

CLARUS GRAVES WINS.

Literary Society Holds Oratorical Contest at Cathedral High School.

At the sixth meeting of the La Salle Literary and Dramatic society of the Cathedral high school, a contest in oratory was held among the members of class B with the result that first honors were won by Clarus Graves.

Next week a similar contest will take place among the members of class A. The six best in each contest will compete for first honors in the society the week following.

The other members who qualified in this week's speaking contest were: V. Fitzgerald, J. Sullivan, F. Kelly, W. Fitzgerald, G. Walker and E. Killeen. The speeches of the successful candidates showed marked oratorical ability and careful and assiduous training.

It has been the purpose of the society, from its incipiency to keep before its members at all times only the very highest ideals. With this in view, it has tabooed any effort on the part of the frivolous-minded to introduce into the workings of the society what would be entertaining only, rather than cultural and instructive. This has resulted in a remarkable degree of improvement in the oratorical efforts of the members, and in the literary work required of them.

Of the other numbers on last week's program, the following were the best: Essays by H. Ryan and A. Scanlon, an origiral story by E. Dillon and an original poem by G. Wagner.

Six Edison records given away free to every owner of an Edison machine. Call at the Zenith Music House, 6 East Superior street, for particulars.

CAT ROBS OFFICER OF MACE AND CHASES RAT.

Springfield, Ohio, Oct. 21.—Patrolman Clarence Fischer of the Springfield night force was robbed of his mace and a Thomas cat was the thief.

The robbery took place at 4 o'clock in the morning at Main and Yellow Springs streets. No trace of the mace or cat has been seen since.

Fischer was standing on a corner when the cat approached and he stroked it with his hand.

The strap on the handle of his club slipped over the feline's head.

Just at that moment a rat ran across the street and the cat bounded after it, jerking the mace out of the officer's hand.

Down the street the rat fled, hotly pursued by the cat. Fischer was distanced in the running.

Rat and cat disappeared under a house, and that was the last seen of them.

AIGRET NOT FASHIONABLE NOW

Seems to Have Been Abandoned to Women Who Wear Diamond Earrings With Their Morning Toilet.

Collier's Weekly: Recently in several cities—Boston, Washington, Philadelphia, Charleston and New York, as well as at the college boat races and games, and the polo tournaments—excellent fields for observation—I have been scanning the trimming and decoration of women's hats. I wished to see for myself to what extent those who gown themselves smartly are wearing that tribute to ruthless vanity, the aigret, to furnish which the small white heron, usually referred to as the egret, is slaughtered to be robbed of its nuptial plumes.

My first adventure in millinery, on one of those occasional brilliant sunshiny days which make March endurable in New York, was a stroll up Fifth avenue from Twenty-sixth to Forty-ninth street, with side excursions into Thirty-fourth and Forty-second streets. The avenue was thronged with shoppers, for the radiant afternoon followed a period of storm, and everyone rejoiced at the opportunity to escape the house. It looked a holiday-making crowd— cosmopolitan and therefore typical New York—a fitting occasion for my purpose.

Not only did I walk up to Fifty-ninth street and back again to Twenty-sixth, but I paused at the windows of the most fashionable shops to note what was being shown.

I confess to my delighted surprise at the comparatively few aigrets in evidence on either the hats of the women I met or on those exhibited in the shop windows.

I noted, too, and with some masculine perplexity, that the women whose hats bore aigrets were not, as a rule, the best dressed; were, more often, rather slouchy of gait and floppy, as to appearance generally.

For the Unstylish.

This phenomenon further urged me to explorations in regions where the modish standard is not so high; so another day found me touring Fourteenth street and Sixth avenue. Here to my amazement, both on the women and in the shop windows, I found more aigrets and near-aigrets that I had on Fifth avenue and its immediate shopping district; and, as on the avenue, it seemed as if every woman whose hat flaunted the wondrous bird of paradise plumage was much bejeweled.

As the results of my first New York observations and those of my second in May and third in September were equally those of the other cities visited, my natural supposition is that women do dress in best taste have with widespread unanimity dropped the aigret—a conclusion in which I am endorsed, I find, by highest feminine authority.

It is, indeed, a fact that at the most fashionable mill'onary shops in New York one sees almost none of the latest models adorned with this bird's plumes; the aigret is a back number, and, like the bird of paradise, seems to have been abandoned to women who wear diamond earrings with the morning toilet.

The Price of Vanity.

Women who have been deaf to the appeals of the Audubon society and thousands of bird lovers hearken to the mandate of fashion, and at the eleventh hour comes hope that we may yet save the egret from extinction. For years it has been mercilessly slaughtered on its nest for the plumes which are worn only at the breeding season. It is untrue that these plumes are gathered from the ground in the molting season, as the butchers assert. I have several times been at the great rookeries in Venezuela, on the Apure and the Orinoco rivers; have discussed the subject with men who made white heron killing a season's work. The birds are killed in their rookeries, on their nests with their young, at which time they are quite easy of approach, and the section of the back, from which the nuptial plumes grow during the breeding season, cut out entire—vanity's scalp lock. At the molting season this plume has lost its quality and value, and the feathers gathered from the ground are inferior and have slight, if any, commercial worth.

"Work for Women."

But the birds' safety is by no means assured; fashion may change next year, and the fiendish activity of milliners' agents begin anew. The life of this heron rests absolutely and solely with women. If, whether it is fashionable or not, they refuse to wear the remains of this lovely bird slaughtered for their adornment, the millioners will not use it on hats, and their mercenary agents will not kill it.

How women can resist the appeal which has been so frequently made to them by the Audubon society and others it is impossible to explain on any score other than that their advertised desire to take part in the progress of things is base pretense. Manifestly they place decoration of a hat above preservation of one of God's richest bird gifts.

Women weep over a lame cat or wring their hands at the side of a fallen horse, but they go on buying the plumage of the beautiful birds which are killed merely to gratify their vanity. It seems to me to be strictly up to the women who are so active these days in looking for "work for woman" to lay this subject before their sisters with a plea for evidence that they can be helpful instead of maudlin.

The cheese of the slaughter of egrets, birds of paradise, terns, and other plumage birds is at the door of woman; let her clear herself.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Sophomores Win the Annual Cane Rush With the Freshmen.

Second Big Mass Meeting of Football Rooters Is a Success.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the annual cane rush between the freshmen and sophomores last Saturday, the sophomores took all the honors. The first rush resulted in a victory for the first year men but the "sophs" took the second by a margin of ten hands. The final rush resulted in a tie. Carl Hall, the freshman who was injured in the rush has fully recovered. It was a peculiar accident and Hall had a narrow escape from death through suffocation.

In the wrestling matches the work of Lynn featured. Armstrong was the only freshman who succeeded in getting a fall. Lynn won both the lightweight and special events.

The heavyweight boxing match was the most exciting event of the day. Harris, a sophomore, having been proclaimed the victor over Andrews of the freshmen.

Bennett and Carlson, both sophomores, defeated Welsman and Brandemeir, respectively, in the light and heavyweight boxing bouts. Jimmy Potts, the well known pugilist, refereed the matches.

The sophomore civil engineers met last Monday and besides completing their class organization for the year, formed a club for furthering good fellowship among the members of the engineering department. The new club will devote much energy toward awakening a deeper interest in engineering subjects, the engineering college, and the university as a whole, according to one of its members. They choose for a motto, "Dig Brothers, Dig."

The senior class elected its officers for this year last Saturday. W. Mare Frazer was elected president; Josephine Crary, vice president; Hildur Linton, secretary, and Fay Doherty, treasurer. Each candidate was nominated by appropriate nomination speeches and a total of 130 votes were cast.

Cadet Col. Ray Whittier has his plans almost completed for the forming of a signal corps which will take charge of the signalling in future sham battles and maneuvers of the cadets. The corps will be composed of ten or twelve men to be chosen from the engineering school as it is thought that this work will be of value to them in their chosen profession.

Bib and Tucker, the society of freshmen girls, was organized at a meeting of the senior girls in Shevlin hall last evening.

It has become a tradition at Minnesota to declare the man whose name appears the oftenest on the list of invitations to the Women's League Sunlight dance, the most popular man in school.

The dance this year will be held Nov. 11 in the University Armory with music furnished by the University band. Each girl of the league submits six names and the committee will select three from that list. In accordance with custom the girls will wear "middy" blouses.

Wednesday afternoon on a muddy field the freshmen teams of the Beta Theta Pi and Phi Kappa Psi fraternities clashed in an exciting game. The Beta team was the heavier but the lighter team held its own.

Old fashioned football was played almost entirely. The Phi Psi's made a safety in the last quarter but the Betas say it was an error and that the 2-0 score is only a nominal victory for Phi Psi.

The members of the Beta fraternity entertained the Phi Psis at an informal smoker and feed in the Beta lodge after the game.

The second big mass meeting of the year was held in chapel Friday noon. George Gamble presided and many loyal rooters were present. The words "We must beat Nebraska" were taken up as the slogan. The band and bugle corps were on hand and led the students in the varsity songs. Ralph Johnson and Ted Anderson led the yelling. Johnny McGovern addressed the meeting with an enthusiastic football speech which was followed by talks from Prof. Burton and the assistant manager of athletics, Harold Hull. It was a lively meeting and did much to create spirit for the Nebraska game.

Arvid Paulson, who appears this week in the musical comedy, "The Three Twins," at one of the local playhouses, was at the university Friday afternoon and read selections from Swedish literature. Mr. Paulson is a reader of great power and presented some of the finest posterpieces of writers like Tegner and Frodig.

A total registration of 112 has been reached in the extension department of the college of education. This department is open to all high school graduates, but the greatest number enrolled are teachers who wish to obtain university credit. Courses are offered in mathematics, English, psychology departments under the regular teachers in those subject.

The inauguration festivities in honor of President Vincent came to a brilliant close Thursday evening with a reception in the armory held by President and Mrs. Vincent for the official guests and delegates at the ceremonies of the faculty, alumni and students. Receiving with the president and his wife were ex-Governor and Mrs. Lind, Governor and Mrs. Eberhart, ex-President and Mrs. Northrop and President and Mrs. Judson of Chicago. The effective decorations arranged for last Wednesday remained with some additions, and the presence of the cadet officers, in full dress uniform added to the beauty of the scene. At the agricultural college Wednesday evening over 1,000 people were banqueted. Everything was served in country style with no French words on the bill-of-fare.

"If Adam Had Never Been Introduced to Eve, Girls," as sung by Grace Cameron at the Orpheum this week, and many of her best song hits can be had on the Edison record at the Zenith dissolution sale.

GRAND REGENT COMING.

Royal Arcanum Members in Duluth Will Welcome State Officer.

Members of the Royal Arcanum in Duluth are looking forward to next Tuesday evening, when they will entertain their grand regent, S. K. Swenson of Albert Lea, Minn.

Accompanying him will be the grand secretary, S. C. Horton of Minneapolis, and Past Grand Regent W. H. Williams of St. Paul.

All members of the order will greet them in the Maccabee hall on Lake avenue and, as it will be the first visit of Regent Swenson to the Head of the Lakes, plans are being made to show him something.

First German M. E.—At the First German M. E. church, Fifth avenue east and Sixth street, the pastor, Rev. W. A. Weiss, will preach at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school will meet at 9:30 a. m., and the Epworth league at 7 p. m.

St. Stephen's East End Branch—At St. Stephen's East End branch, Fourth avenue east and Fifth street, there will be services Sunday morning conducted in the German language.

* * *

First Church of Christ, Scientist—At the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Ninth avenue east and First street, services will be held at 10:45 a. m. and 7:45 p. m., the subject being "Probation After Death." The regular Wednesday evening testimonial meeting opens at 8 o'clock. The reading room in connection with the church is located at 411 Alworth building, and is open to the public daily except Sunday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

* * *

St. Paul's Lutheran—At St. Paul's Lutheran church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, there will be morning services, commencing at 11 a. m. The services will be conducted in the English language by Rev. A. Salveson of Crookston, Minn., a former Duluth pastor. Sunday school meets at 9:45 a. m. Rev. E. Wulfsberg is pastor of the church.

* * *

St. Andrew's Chapel—At St. Andrew's Chapel, Park Point Mission, Twenty-eighth street and Lake avenue, the Sunday school and Bible class for ladies meets at 3 p. m. There will be an evening service with an illustrated address at 8 o'clock. The speaker is Rev. Arthur H. Wurtele. Music is under the direction of Miss Margaret Gude.

* * *

St. Stephen's German-English Lutheran—At St. Stephen's German-English Lutheran church, Sixty-seventh avenue west and Raleigh street, there will be services Sunday evening, conducted in the English language, commencing at 7:45 o'clock. Rev. Walter Sievers is the pastor.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NOTES

The subject to be studied in Christian Endeavor societies in their meetings to be held Sunday, Oct. 22, will be "Lessons I Have Learned From Things" and the reference given by the United society to accompany the subject is in Jeremiah xiii, 1-10, and Matthew xxii, 15-22. Meetings will be held in all local societies using the above topic. The following meetings have been reported to the local union press committee:

The First Presbyterian society holds its regular meeting at 6:45 p. m. in the Sunday school room of the church. The leader for the week will be Miss Grace Wiltse.

The Westminster Presbyterian society will be led in the regular meeting at 6:45 p. m. by the president, William Ritchie. The meeting will be in the parlors of the church.

The Union Church Disciples' society will meet at 7 p. m. in the K. P. hall under the leadership of Miss Julia Wurzbach. A special program of music will be rendered.

The Lakeside Presbyterian society will meet at 6 p. m. in the Endeavor room of the church. Miss Rose Taylor will be the leader.

The regular Sunday afternoon meeting at the poor farm will be in charge of the society of the First Presbyterian church. It is expected that a large number of the young people of this society and their friends will be in attendance. The party will leave for the poor farm on the incline car leaving Superior street at 2:30 p. m.

On Tuesday evening of the past week the executive committee of the local union met for a business session in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church. The meeting was in charge of C. J. Hockin, president of the union. Among other matters of interest the invitation of the Westminster Presbyterian society, inviting the union to hold the next quarterly rally, was read. The members decided that they would accept the invitation and Dec. 8 was decided upon as the date for the rally. Mr. Hockin and the social committee are arranging for a good program of music and speakers. President Hockin has announced his appointments to the various committees for the coming year. The chairmen are as follows: Good literature committee, Charles Downer; missionary committee, Clyde Wilson; program committee, Miss Mabel Pryor; lookout committee, Miss Anna Hicken.

On Monday evening of this week the Lakeside Presbyterian society held an executive committee meeting and outlined its plans for the coming winter. It is planned to make this year the best year the society has seen. The social life of the society will not be neglected, this committee having arranged to give a Halloween social Friday evening, Oct. 27, to which all members and their friends are invited.

WILL DULUTH BECOME CITY OF HEALTHFUL HOMES OR ONE WHERE FILTHY TENEMENT TAKES ITS TOLL?

Housing Problem in Zenith City Now at Crucial Stage.

No Big Congested District, But Some Plague Spots Are Found.

By Courtenay Dinwiddie.)

What would you think of a man with a knife wound who kept applying arnica, without taking out the knife? It is just as sensible to deal with poverty, disease and other sources of misery and crime without trying to eliminate the real underlying causes. I cannot imagine anything more likely to make a child become an invalid, a pauper or a criminal, than to be brought up in wretchedly insanitary home surroundings, without even a decent back yard in which to play.

Duluth should count itself most fortunate that it has not the worst housing conditions in the country. The provisions of its ordinances for sanitation and ventilation, etc., in housing, are practically negligible. For that reason, in spite of the generally wholesome atmosphere of the city, there do exist some conditions of insanitation and overcrowding that are about the worst I have ever seen, and there is no remedy for them under the present laws and ordinances. To cover up such conditions is criminal. They should be known to be remedied. A city is its own best advertisement and the policy that merely "boosts" it without attempting to make it the best possible is most short-sighted.

Since public interest in good housing was stimulated by the visit of Mr. Ball, the housing expert, last June, the Associated Charities and other agencies have been co-operating with the health department in making some study of houses in different parts of the city.

These observations show that housing condition in Duluth are not bad as a whole, but that in some places they are wretchedly insanitary and that the city is tending, just as every city does, without proper regulation, to create slum and tenement districts, breeders of sickness and vice. The accompanying pictures afford some illustrations of this.

The first photograph is that of a backyard which has been the only playground for several children this summer and which is used as a combination of a sewer and refuse heap. The picture speaks for itself, but it might be well to add that the roofs are rotten from the slops which have been poured on them daily and have run down under the house. There is no toilet in the rooms shown in the picture although connections could be made to the sewer in the street. In the above on the left are found some bad conditions of overcrowding this summer.

Home For Three Years.

The second photograph shows a basement room which was occupied by a man for three years until he moved out recently because of a toilet put in overhead. The standing puddles of water on his floor were a little too much even for him. The place is dark even at midday and seems under-ground although as a matter of fact most of it is above the level of the ground. The walls and floor are all rotten from dampness and the only sources of light and ventilation are a tiny door, 2 feet by 4 feet, 4 inches, and a miniature window, 1 foot, 9 inches by 2 feet, 5 inches. The ceiling is a bare 6 feet, 5 inches from the floor.

The third picture is that of an interior basement bedroom, without windows, but with a transom into the next room, which is also a bedroom. The transom lets in a little light, but no air. Note the double bed and the little crib in this room, which leave barely enough space to walk around. On the side from which the picture is taken the door leads into an almost pitch dark interior toilet, which ventilates only into the kitchen and bedroom. The walls of all of the rooms were literally covered with flies. Would space permit I could give many other examples of wretched housing conditions, some of them even worse than those shown above.

The Remedy.

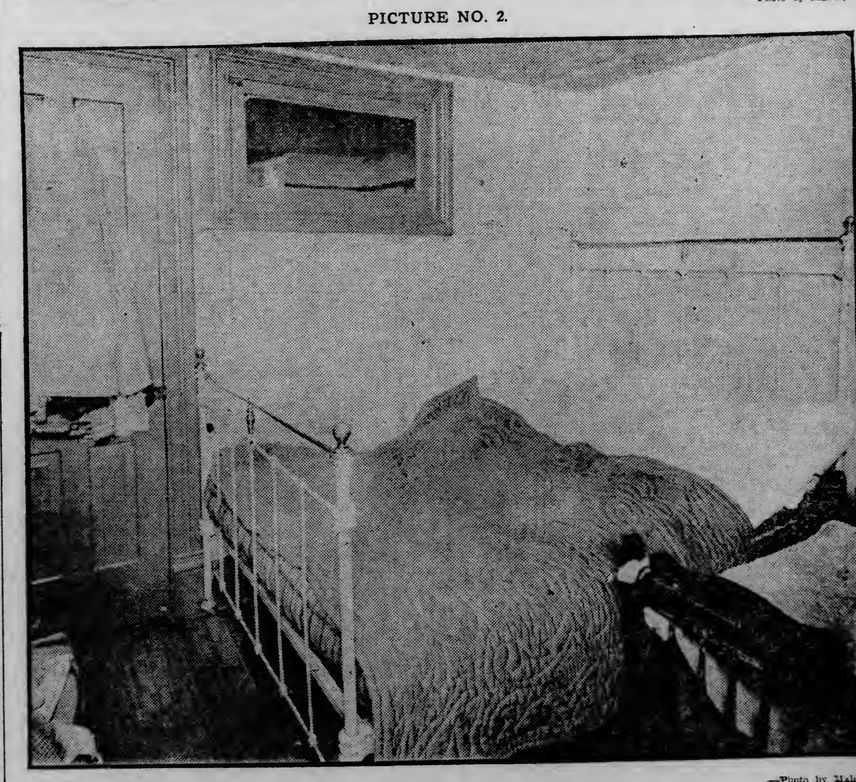

The only remedy for such conditions is periodical inspection by an officer who is backed by the authority of a thorough going modern housing ordinance. Such an ordinance will first of all provide that only sanitary, well-lighted and well-ventilated houses may be constructed. The provisions by which this can be accomplished are too numerous to be dealt with here. In addition, such an ordinance, to be effective, must give the city authorities full power to require places which do not conform to the ordinance, to be vacated and kept vacant until they do so conform.

Those interested in securing good housing have been in communication with a number of cities which are dealing with this problem and with the National Housing association and its staff of experts. Copies of the ordinance recently adopted at Columbus, Ohio, which is said to be one of the best and most up-to-date, have been received and other ordinances will be secured. The Commercial club and Associated Charities are both keenly interested. Various churches are beginning to take up the matter and the social service committee of the Men and Religion Forward Movement plans to lay special emphasis upon good housing as one of the first measures for the common good which the different churches and church organizations should use every effort to secure. Charles T. Jerome of this city has also given us great assistance from time to time, in many ways.

Disease, Poverty and Crime.

Bad housing means disease, poverty and crime. Good housing and sanitation are among the most important factors in securing efficient workers and freedom from disease and vice, in keeping children of the city from growing up in the gutter to be drunkards and criminals, and in making sturdy men and women out of them. They are without exception the greatest physical assets that any city can have.

A thoroughly good housing ordinance can be secured now if all those interested will urge it so that the council may know that it really has public support in adopting one. If we wait the pressure of business will force those building new houses to compete with the lowest level allowed under the law. In a few years the steel plant will be completed and there will be a large influx of population and much money invested in houses. We will then have bad housing fastened like a cancerous growth upon the city, and the best that we can then do to remedy it will be a compromise. Every loyal citizen can help to secure action now by expressing his opinion freely to his friends, to the city officials and to the common council.

La Follette Plans Incomplete.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Senator La Follette announced in a statement yesterday that no plans have been completed for a campaign speaking tour in November, although he hopes to be able to make several progressive speeches before congress meets.

JESSIE VEIN LIKELY TO BE ENCOUNTERED SOON

Miners at North Butte Are Buying Stock in Anticipation.

Three Important Anaconda Mines Are Closed Down for Repairs.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the course of a few days the North Butte company will start cross-cutting from the 2,800-foot level, and those who are quite familiar with the mine are of the opinion that not more than a week, and possibly not over a few days, will elapse before the Jessie vein is encountered. It runs close to the shaft and there seems to be no doubt that it will be intersected from the 2,800-foot level before it is on the 2,400-foot level. Diamond drill operations carried on from the Diamond mine many months ago revealed an immense body of rich ore and the officials of the company do not disguise the fact that they anticipate one of the richest bodies of ore ever uncovered in a Butte property when the Jessie vein is cut. Little information can be secured as to the exact progress of the work on the 2,800-foot level, but the fact that some miners who have been working on that level have been buying the stock is a pretty good indication that something more than the usual run of ore is expected.

Mines Closed for Repairs.

The Badger State, the Never Sweat and the High Ore are three of the important mines of the Anaconda company which are closed down at the present time for repairs or improvements. The Badger State, which is one of the richest mines in the district has been closed due to the cylinder head of the engine blowing out, but it is only a question of a few days until a new cylinder head is put in and operations will go on as usual. Just as soon as the accident occurred orders were given for the casting of a new cylinder head. The High Ore will start about the first of the month with ore hoisting under the compressed air system. This mine has been down nearly two months to allow the necessary changes. The Never Sweat is down in consequence of gases making their appearance on some of the levels from the fire, which has been burning for years and which had been pretty well bulkheaded in. The leaks are being closed up, but it may be necessary to erect new cement walls.

Wiring for Electric Cars.

The work of wiring the various mines of the Anaconda Copper Mining company for the operation of electric cars has advanced to such an extent that soon after the first of the year at the latest there will scarcely be any horses or mules used underground for haulage purposes. The task of stringing all the wire necessary is an immense undertaking, but when once the electric cars are in operation there will be a very noticeable reduction in the cost of operating expenses through this change alone. To start with the Anaconda company recently placed an order for one dozen electric locomotives and they are all to be delivered not later than the last of December.

Consolidating Forces.

The work of getting the office force of the various mines under one roof and under one head is about completed. An additional story has just been finished to one of the Anaconda company's buildings in the central part of the city and the clerks have all taken possession. By the first of the coming month everything will be in shape to handle all the reports of ore shipped out and supplies purchased from the one office. This will mean another reduction in cost of operating expenses, as up to the present time every mine had its own separate set of clerks and office men scattered about in different buildings.

The Gagnon Shaft.

Before the first of the year the new three-compartment shaft of the Gagnon mine which is being sunk to the westward of the old shaft will be completed. It is now down to a depth of a little over 2,100 feet and the depth to be attained is 2,300 feet. Great care is being taken in the building of this shaft and it will be one of the best and most substantial to be found in any mine in the country. The old shaft is an inclined one and the new one is perpendicular. As depth is being attained connections are being made with the main workings of the mine, but it is not intended to use it except as an auxiliary in case of necessity and for ventilating purposes. The old shaft is now being used for ventilating purposes as all the ore being mined has been hoisted for some time through the original shaft with which connection was made within a few months after being purchased from W. A. Clark.

Tuolumne.

The shaft of the Tuolumne mine will be sunk to a depth of 1,800 feet by the first week in next month according to the present rate of progress being made. A station will be cut on the level and it is believed some very rich ore bodies will be opened. The richest ore being taken from the mine is coming from the 1,500-foot level and the ore body is more than twenty-two feet wide with an average of 10 per cent in copper with fine silver values. On the principle that the ore on the 1,600-foot level is much richer than that found on the 1,200 and 1,400-foot levels, it is contended by the officials that the ore on the 1,800-foot level will be richer than that uncovered on the 1,600-foot level. This has been the experience of the North Butte company. New steel ore bins having a capacity of 1,000 tons have been installed at the collar of the shaft and as the new spur of the Butte, Anaconda & Pacific railway runs right to the mouth of the shaft the ore is dumped directly into the cars.

Butte-Central.

The Butte Central Copper company has given up for a time the cutting of a station at a depth of 1,000 feet on account of the soft condition of the ground. Sinking was carried on down to a depth of fifty feet below the 1,000-foot point, but still the ground was found unsuitable and it was decided to take the pumps up to the 800-foot level and discontinue further sinking for a time. Mining is being principally carried on the 300-foot level and the quality of ore being hoisted is just as good as when the rich body on that level was opened up more than two months ago. A car a week is going to the Washoe smelter and from the returns all expenses are met and the treasury surplus increased. Supt. McConnell says that work on the proposed concentrator will be commenced in a few weeks and that it will have a capacity of 300 tons a day.

Independent Smelter.

The persons who started the boom for the erection of an independent smelter have not received sufficient substantial encouragement to get down to a business basis on the proposition, and some men who were expected to have materially assisted in the financing of the project are not disposed to put up any money, unless they can see some return in sight, so the scheme is practically dead.

Old Glory to Dissolve.

The Old Glory Mining company, which was organized seven years ago, has applied to the district court for permission to dissolve the organization on the ground that its interests have been disposed of and their is therefore no further reason for its existence. It is stated that all indebtedness has been paid off and the decision to dissolve was reached at a recent meeting of the shareholders at which 49,999 shares of stock were represented out of a total capital of 50,000 shares. The directors who are to wind up the affairs of the company are J. Benton Leggat and B. E. Calkins of this city and Lewis A. Packland of San Francisco.

The Anaconda's Dividends.

There appear in different publications from time to time articles questioning the fact whether the Anaconda Copper Mining company is earning its dividends. A very thorough investigation made on a basis of copper selling at 12½ cents a pound is quite convincing that the company is more than earning a $2 dividend on an average production of 20,000,000 pounds a month. It is true that the company could not pay dividends from its earnings with copper at 12½ cents eighteen months ago, but the merging of the different companies and the big reduction in operating expenses through the use of electricity, the closing up or two and three shafts and hoisting ore through one shaft where formerly three were used, together with the centralization of the office forces of the different companies, means that the company is putting copper down in New York considerably under 9 cents a pound. Further investigation leads to the conclusion that in six months, with the aid of other economies not yet fully brought into force, the cost per pound laid down in New York will be about 8 cents. It is an undisputed fact that the mines of the district were never more economically managed than they are today, and when all the properties are hoisting ore by compressed air operated by electricity a still greater reduction in cost is certain.

Butte-Ballalava.

The Butte-Ballalava company expects to start sinking the shaft from the 1,400-foot level to a depth of 1,600 feet within the next week. On the 1,200-foot level the vein is being drifted on and some good ore is being uncovered. On the 1,400-foot level the ore so far mined is not as rich as that found on the 1,200-foot level. The ore being shipped runs from 4 to 6 per cent copper.

MILLION SPENT TO PROVE MINE

Great Northern's Ore Body Has Grown Richer With Depth.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 21.—After spending upward of a million dollars in development, the Great Northern Development company's land on Copper Mountain in the Copper River country in Alaska is a proved property. The great ore body has grown richer with depth, despite the prevailing tendency of the deposits of the region to show their greatest values on the surface, like the famous Bonanza, for instance, which is known as a freak deposit. At the Bonanza there is in sight in high grade ore some $5,000,000. Copper glance has been found in other parts of the world, but not in train load lots, to send out two trains per week for two years or more. That is what the Bonanza has been shipping and what it can ship for the next eighteen months.

The ore is found in greenstone and limestone contact, following the pronounced fissuring of that contact. In the Great Northern on Copper Mountain there were oxidized iron deposits on the surface. E. F. Gray who has opened the mine and on whose faith in it Ryan & Phillips, the controlling owners, have made their huge investment, believed that these deposits at one time contained copper which had leached downward.

The mine is opened 1,200 feet down and the values found on each level prove Mr. Gray right and the theory based on conditions in the Bonanza wrong.

Work has begun on a mile and a half of tram from the mine to the mill, and a second tram will be built from the mill to the flats, to connect with fourteen miles of railroad joining the property with the Copper River & Northwestern railroad at Strelna. A big concentrator will be built this winter and in another year the Copper Mountain property should be furnishing tonnage for the railroad. Oil fuel will be used to operate, as it will at Kennecott to run the Bonanza concentrator.

WORK ON SMELTER IS TO BEGIN SOON

Site to Be Decided By Shattuck at Early Date.

Douglas, Ariz., Oct. 21.—"There is no doubt but that work on the new smelter will begin here within a short time," said L. C. Shattuck to a Dispatch representative. "The time has not been definitely set—that is up to the board of directors. But all preliminaries have been arranged and the size will probably be decided upon within a few days. After that things will move lively and the smelter will be constructed as fast as the best skilled workmen can build it.

"How many men will we employ? That's hard to say just now and conditions, of course, will depend, but you know it takes several hundred men to keep a smelter going and we'll probably be doing business on as large a scale as any of them.

For the purpose of inspecting several proposed sites for the Shattuck Arizona Mining company's smelter, L. C. Shattuck, resident director, and John Olsen, manager of the concern, spent a portion of Saturday here, motoring down from Bisbee.

"We are unable to announce the site of the smelting plant," said Mr. Olsen, when questioned. "I could not say at present whether the site between the Copper Queen and Calumet & Arizona smelter, suggested some time back, will be the one chosen. That is up to our board of directors. Just when the work will be started I am not in a position to say."

In speaking of the company's mine at Bisbee, Mr. Olsen said that a force of thirty-three men is working at this time developing the mine. No ore is being taken out except that removed in actual development. A new ore strike adds much to the value of the property, the first body of ore on the 400-foot level having been opened within the last week. This ore body is identical in character with other bodies on the property and has a similar high grade. It averages 16 to 18 per cent copper.

If a store could be run without buyers, it would not be necessary to advertise.

ACTING FOR LEWISSOHNS

J. Parke Channing Takes Options on Lands in Upper Michigan.

Victoria Reports Disclosures of Unusually Rich Copper Ground.

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 21. — (Special to The Herald.)—Options running to J. Parke Channing have been taken on several tracts of mineral lands lying immediately west of the Isle Royale Copper company and in the territory embraced by the old Montezuma, South Side, Naumkeag and Dacotah companies. Mr. Channing is presumably acting for the Lewissohns, who are at the present moment showing a decided interest in the Lake Superior field. This particular acreage has received only limited attention in years past. Drill borings disclose several copper bearing formations in the approximate horizon of the Quincy and Hancock lodes, and its location with respect to the mineral area of this district is such as to offer more than the usual promises.

Victoria.

The Victoria Copper Mining company reports a disclosure of unusually rich copper ground in the nineteenth level east drift, and a continuation for more than 500 feet of excellent copper values in the same direction on the eighteenth level. The twenty-second level is in similar ground to a more limited extent. Shaft work in the new No. 6 shaft sunk on the eastern extension of this formation is progressing favorably and a depth of 75 feet has been attained. The lode is here well formed but thus far without values.

Algomah.

The Algomah Mining company is sinking and drifting in the ore body opened near the sandstone contact, and in the western limits of the property is drilling the sixth hole of a series designed to give a geological cross section of this acreage. The work in the shaft and drift is showing a little ore.

Winona.

The Winona Copper company has levied an assessment of $1 on its outstanding share capitalization. The call will yield $166,667. Development work confined to the territory commanded by shafts Winona No. 4 and King Philip No. 1 is disclosing commercial copper ground and has reached a depth of approximately 1,500 feet. The new stamp mill is being re-equipped with tube mills to effect a closer saving demonstrated in trial tests, and in other departments other improvements are being made to this same end.

St. Louis.

The St. Louis Copper company has cut into copper ground at a depth of 150 feet in the shaft. The disclosure at such shallow depth is particularly encouraging, and not without important bearings on the future of the Old Colony and Mayflower companies operating in the territory next north.

Keweenaw.

The Keweenaw Copper company is confining all activity to shaft work in the Kearsarge formation, and will soon get into the zone tapped by the diamond drill and which yielded an excellent core of copper rock. At a depth of 1,200 feet the shaft was still in poor ground though it cannot be said with any positiveness that this is the true situation in this formation to this depth as the lateral openings are far too limited to reveal conditions beyond the immediate vicinity of the shaft. The company recently located a promising lode near the mouth of the Montreal river but is not doing anything there at the moment.

Indiana.

The Indiana Mining company has called an assessment of $1.50 to provide additional working capital. The call will bring in $120,000. Shaft work is in progress at two points. The older and deeper sunk on the famous felsite bed is down over 350 feet and at about 1,000 feet may be expected to come into the copper zone disclosed in the exploratory campaign. The newer shaft is just started and sinking in one of the several lodes lying between the Winona and Evergreen beds.

Isle Royale.

The Isle Royale Copper company is showing the same good results first netted under Calumet & Hecla management, increasing its ground reserves in the Isle Royale lode, conducting exploratory work in the Baltic formation and at the same time making a small profit on the operations. The most important recent developments here are in the deep No. 2 shaft, where excellent ground is coming in in many of the laterals below the twenty-first and particularly the twenty-third and twenty-eighth levels south.

MANY ARE WORKING ON CUYUNA RANGE

Mining Promises to Be Very Active During Coming Winter.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work at the mines of the North Cuyuna range is being carried on steadily, and gives every evidence of giving employment to many men during the winter season. Drills dot the horizon, and as each of these employs five men, all paid good wages, the exploration work tends to increase in a large measure the general total of wages paid out by the mining industry of Crow Wing county.

At the Kennedy mine of the Rogers-Brown Ore company, at Cuyuna, 225 men are employed. Ore is hoisted daily, and the stock pile to be accumulated in the winter season will excel in size the one of last year, which ran about 110,000 tons. The Kennedy has shipped so far this season, according to the records of the Soo ore dock at Superior, 123,500 tons of ore. Capt. Lanyon of Duluth is in charge of the mine which the Cuyuna Mille Lacs Iron Ore company is establishing in section 3, 46-29. Lumber and material are being hauled out daily and quite a camp of buildings clusters around the shaft work. The Meacham shaft has been sunk a depth of 256 feet and then work was temporarily stopped. Some say the Meacham mine did not feel like pumping dry its shaft, the deepest in the vicinity, and keeping the others near by dry.

Armour No. 1 Shaft.

At the Armour No. 1 a level has been cut at 300 feet and considerable work has been done at the level established at 200 feet. A site for a pumphouse is being cut on the 300-foot level. At the Armour No. 2 mine the plat has been cut and drifting is going on at the 168-foot level for a pumphouse. Large Prescott pumps will be installed in this mine and the Armour No. 1. The Inland Steel company's main shaft is said to be down about 195 feet. On the south range the points of interest are the Section 30 mine three miles south of Deerwood, where work has started on the cement shaft, and the Barrows mine of the M. A. Hanna company of Cleveland, Ohio, four miles south of Brainerd, which shaft has now attained a depth of about 60 feet. Projected railway construction work is attracting additional interest in the south range. At Deerwood, Guthrie & Co. of St. Paul have secured the contract to lay the five-mile spur from Deerwood to the Section 30 mine, and work will soon be commenced. Until the new line is built the old gravel pit line will be used, cars switched down to that point and their contents teamed to the Section 30 mine. The Soo has forty men at work ballasting its tracks near Deerwood.

MINING IN THE BLACK HILLS

Bismarck Company Building 500-Ton Mill Adjoining Wasp Property.

Deadwood, S. D., Oct. 21.—Officers and directors were chosen for the coming year by the Bismarck Consolidated Mining company, formerly the Globe, at the annual meeting held in Chicago. The directors are Fred B. Hitchings, Deadwood; W. T. Upton, H. K. McEvoy, Chicago; Nicholas Hampe, Rock Island, Ill.; M. P. Richardson, Janesville, Wis. Hitchings was chosen president and general manager; Nicholas Hampe, vice president, and Martin H. Kendig secretary and treasurer. The company is building a 300-ton mill adjoining the Wasp No. 2 property on Yellow creek.

James McLeod and Del Canfield, who have been operating the Golden Summit property at Hill City on a lease, have acquired full possession and title to the ground and plant by the lapse of a year after the sheriff's sale. The Golden Summit is one of the richest properties in the Southern hills and is comparatively a surface mine. It has never been developed below the 120-foot level, but to that depth has yielded many thousands in high-grade gold ore.

Reorganization of the Imperial Gold Mining company is in progress and it is hoped to have its affairs straightened out soon. The work is being undertaken by Attorney R. P. Stewart of Deadwood, who successfully conducted the reorganization of the Reliance Mining company last year. The Imperial has been idle for nearly two years now. It owns a large acreage in the Bald mountain district and a mill in Deadwood.

A new strike is reported on the Roosevelt group of claims on Elk creek where Frank Ames of Lead and associates are developing. Starting on the outcropping, they sunk a shaft thirty feet and the bottom of the shaft now shows the ledge clear across. It is a free milling proposition of high grade gold but will not be developed until the shaft has been sunk 200 feet. The ledge has been developed at other points on the property and is shown to be of sufficient size to make it valuable.

SMALL INCREASE IN PRODUCTION

Claimed That New Copper Output Will Not Be Overwhelming.

The Engineering and Mining Journal says: "One factor, or supposed factor, in the present condition of the copper market has been the more or less general expectation of a large increase in production, supposed to be imminent. This was to come partly from Utah, but largely from the new mines of Arizona. In Utah it is true that there was an increase in August and a further gain is expected in September. Nevertheless, we are convinced from a recent inspection of the mines of the Southwest that the total American production of copper in 1911 will show no material increase over that of 1910; and that the gain in 1912 will be much less than has been generally expected.

"The three more important new mines from which a large output is looked for are Miami, Ray and Chino. Of these Miami is the most advanced and is now producing at a little less than two-thirds of its ultimate capacity. Ray is not making more than three-eighth of its capacity; while Chino will begin working in October at about one-third of the rate which it is expected to reach in the future. Neither Miami nor Ray is making any special effort to hasten the completion of its mill construction. Chino at the best will attain only three-fifths of its projected capacity by the end of the present year.

'So much for 1911. In 1912 none of these companies will reach its expected maximum output. This has been placed at 170,000,000 pounds of coper, but the actual production in 1912 will probably fall far short of that quantity. This will not be because of any disappointment in the results so far obtained at these mines, but simply because mine development work and mill construction are not sufficiently advanced to permit the maximum to be reached before the end of next year. Of the three mines Miami will probably come nearest to attaining its projected maximum in 1912, a point which neither Ray nor Chino can be expected to attain next year.

EXTENSIVE OPERATIONS

Exploratory Work in Lake Superior Iron Region Is Brisk.

Breitung Interests Reducing Forces at Their Negaunee Properties.

Rather remarkable, perhaps, if contrasted with other branches of the iron industry in the Lake Superior country, exploratory work continues brisk. Operations of this nature are in fact steadily expanding. The United States Steel corporation has decided to explore a large tract six miles southeast of Gwinn, in the Swanzy district of the Marquette range, and has awarded a contract for the work to the Duluth Diamond Drill company. Extensive operations of similar kind are being undertaken in the Felch and Sagola fields, Menominee range, by a syndicate of Upper Michigan capitalists. One drill has already been placed in commission, with the William H. Lehmann farm on the Sturgeon river as the scene of the initial work, and others are to be installed. The syndicate has under option a considerable acreage which includes the old Deerhunt property. The Jones & Laughlin interests of Pittsburg having already proved up one important ore deposit in the Iron River district of the Menominee, they have started the exploration of another tract in that locality. The new property adjoins the James and Davidson mines. A diamond drill is now puncturing the ground. The outlook is considered excellent. The Steel corporation has mapped out and already has embarked upon a big program of exploratory work in the territory between Aurora and Mesaba, at the eastern end of the Mesaba range. In the neighborhood of forty drills will be operated in this particular district and will be kept in commission a year or more. Some 150 men will be employed, a large number of whom will be housed in camps being prepared at the idle Stevens mine. These exploratory operations are among the most extensive ever undertaken in the Lake Superior region.

The Minnesota Mining Development company, in which Virginia, Minn., and Superior, Wis., men are largely interested, is exploring in section 34, 58-18, four miles west of Eveleth, Mesaba range. Incidentally a test is being made of the shot drill. This machine has rarely been used in the Lake Superior country and there is considerable interest in the showing it makes. The Minnesota Mining Development company have other properties under option, all of which ultimately will receive attention. That a vein of ore at least twelve feet thick underlies a portion of the village of Grand Rapids at the extreme western end of the Mesaba range, has been demonstrated by drilling conducted at the property of the Itasca Co-operative Creamery association. Started originally to find water, the boring was continued under the auspices of business men who contributed to a fund for that purpose Ore was encountered at a depth of 180 feet and was found to continue to a depth of 192 feet, from which point to the bottom of the well, 360 feet, the formation is slate. The showing is deemed worthy of further investigation, but to date no steps to that end have been taken.

Forces Are Reduced.

After having operated to fullest capacity throughout the season the Breitung interests are scaling down operations at their Negaunee properties, Marquette range. Upwards of 200 men have been released at the Mary Charlott mine. This curtailment has come entirely unexpectedly, as up to very recently the company has constantly been adding to its working forces, these at the Negaunee properties—the Mary Charlotte, Breitung Hematite and Milwaukee-Davis—alone approximating a thousand men. Production and development have been pushed energetically, heavy shipments have been made and some prospecting has been done. The properties will be continued on the active list during the winter, giving employment to good-sized forces, but they will not be operated as vigorously as heretofore, at least until orders are booked for next season's delivery. In addition to its producers at Negaunee, the Breitung company operates the Baron mine at Humboldt, Marquette range. The Baron at present has 200 men on its payroll. It is an old-time mine still in progress of rejuvenation. The ore is a non-bessemer, ranging from 56 to 60 per cent in metallic iron but carrying considerable silica. A diamond drill is being operated a few thousand feet east of the mine to prove the formations in that direction.

The Cambria Steel company's Republic mine, Marquette range, has not been wrought to capacity this season, nevertheless it has been shipping steadily and has much reduced its stock of surplus ore. One stockpile of 50,000 tons has gone forward, in addition to the daily hoist, and as much will be loaded by steam shovel from the store at No. 8 shaft as is possible before the shipping season closes. The Cleveland Cliffs Iron company is preparing additional stockpile ground at its Princeton mine in the Swanzy district. The stockpile at the Princeton is among the largest on the Marquette range, very little ore having been shipped this season. The Cleveland Cliffs company's Salisbury mine at Ishpeming, Marquette range, is being closed temporarily, in order to permit of repairs to the shaft. The property will be out of commission probably a month.

Shaft to Be Concreted.

The big Hamilton shaft at the United States Steel corporation's Chapin mine at Iron Mountain, Menominee range, is to be given a lining of concrete. The work will be undertaken at once. The task is the biggest of its kind yet planned in the Lake Superior region, surpassing even that at the Cleveland Cliffs company's Negaunee and Maas mines, in the Marquette district, and at the Cambria Steel company's Brier Hill property, in the Norway field of the Menominee. The Hamilton is approximately 1,450 feet in depth and is 24 feet, 4 inches by 9 feet 8 inches inside dimensions. While formerly an avenue for the dispatch of ore to the surface, for the past three years it has been used solely as a passageway for men and timber and for pumping purposes. With the shaft lined with concrete from top to bottom, it likely will be put down an additional level and again become a producer of ore. The Chapin, which is the largest mine on the Menominee range, has been operated on a reduced scale practically all the season. Only recently has a steam shovel been put to work in the big stockpiles at the Ludington—the main—shaft, and while to a considerable extent, much ore will to a considerable extnt, much ore will be left, to be carried over the winter. A concern particularly active in the Menominee country, just now is the Wickwire Steel company of Buffalo. Its operations, for the time being at least, are confined to the Iron River district. The company is a newcomer in the field, yet it has exploratory or development work in progress at half a dozen properties. One of these, the Wickwire, is already stocking ore and could be shipping, were railroad facilities available. These facilities are to be provided.

A Good Record.

During the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, last, according to the annual report of the inspecter of mines, fourteen properties producing ore in the Dickinson, (Mich.) county portion of the Menominee range were actively wrought. Five others were out of commission. The total amount of ore mined was 1,753,174 tons, a considerable decrease from the production of the preceding year. There were employed an aggregate of 2,683 men. A notable fact recorded is that there were only three fatalities during the year. Per thousand men employed, this is a ratio of only 1.12, and shows that the Dickinson county mines are among the very safest in the Lake Superior region. With working forces approximating 6,400 men, there were thirty-two fatal accidents in Marquette county, which with a single exception contains all of the Marquette range mines. The death rate in this latter district—five to the 1,000—was however, abnormally high. In the Iron county mines of the Menominee range, including the Iron River and Crystal Falls districts, there were twelve fatalities, out of 3,500 men employed.

While not wholly completed, the new No. 1 ore dock of the Steel corporation's Duluth & Iron Range railroad at Two Harbors has gone into commission. Built of steel and concrete and representing an approximate expenditure of $1,500,000, it is excelled in capacity, among structures of its kind, only by the Great Northern's newest pier at Superior. It replaces the old No. 1 wooden dock, erected in 1883 and the first to be built at the head of the lakes. Its total length is 1,935 feet, its height seventy-four feet and its deck width fifty-one feet, eight inches. It contains 208 pockets, each of a capacity of 350 tons, giving storage room for an aggregate of 72,800 tons. The pier is equipped with the most modern apparatus, among which are electric hoisting devices. Construction work was started Jan. 1, last. It is expected the dock will be entirely completed by the end of December.

SMELTER FOR ARIZONA COPPER

Ricketts' Report Goes to Scotland and Decision Expected Soon.

A report by Dr. Ricketts on the general condition of the Arizona Copper company's mines and reduction plants has been forwarded to Scotland and it is expected that a decision will be soon reached regarding the location of the new smelter.

There has been a considerable difference of opinion as to the site for this plant, some interests being in favor of placing it at Clifton, which would necessitate building it upon a plateau above the town, others favoring a location below the town near the Shannon smelter. The latter location would permit of operations being carried on continuously pending the completion of the new plant.

The Arizona Copper company has long been in need of a modern and more efficient smelter, the present plant having been in operation more than thirteen years, and it is for the purpose of making these changes that the recent inspections of the properties have been made. It is estimated that the necessary construction work will call for from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000.

The September output of the Arizona Copper company was 2,544,000 pounds of copper, a slight decrease as compared with the corresponding month last year, when 2,672,000 pounds was produced.

Total output this year to date has been 22,612,000 pounds, comparing with 22,856,900 pounds in the first nine months last year.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE LYCEUM

For the last week of the special engagement of the Gus A. Forbes Stock company at the Lyceum, a farce comedy made familiar to theatergoers by Willie Collier will be presented.

Those who have seen Mr. Forbes in farce realize that a treat is in store for them and in "The Man From Mexico" in which has been chosen to close the special engagement there should be no end of gaiety. "The Man From Mexico" was one of Willie Collier's greatest successes and those familiar with the plays with which this comedian has delighted America will know that it abounds in funny situations and funny lines. This farce will give every member of the company an opportunity to relax from the emotional plays which have been at the theater during the last two weeks. Not that in playing farce one can relax too far. The only success that can be secured by the actor is to play farce with all the seriousness of tragedy for only conviction can make the situations of farce funny.

"The Man From Mexico" tells the story of one Benjamin Fitzhew, a gay gentleman like unto most who appear in farce. His wife suspects that his life away from her is not all that it might and should be and telling the family she is going out of town she secretly visits the restaurant, a gay and flighty one which she suspects her husband of frequenting. He is not there but while the wife is present the place is raided by the police and every one present is arrested.

The husband has been at the "Cleopatra," the name of the place in question a few minutes before the wife arrives. He is happily intoxicated and is arrested on his own account. He offends the dignity of the judge who sentences him to thirty days in jail without the alternative of a fine. The play opens the following morning. The wife fears her husband will find out about her adventure and thinking him a very perfect gentleman very much wishes to avoid this. The husband also desires that his wife should not know of his adventure. A friend of the family endeavors to adjust matters. The nephew of the district attorney promises to fix things. In the end the gay hero announces that he is going for a month's trip to Mexico and goes to jail.

The second act shows the jail interior arranged according to the ideas of an artistic warden who has fallen in love with a picture of Fitzhew's wife. The complications that arise with the prisoners and visitors carry along the fun of the piece. The last act shows the return of Fitzhew to his home and his efforts to give a coherent account of his trip to Mexico. In the end he makes a clean breast of the matter at least in part. He finds out about his wife's arrest and tells her that he has gone to jail in her stead.

There are few farces with so many laughs to the minute. Mr. Forbes is especially happy in farce and in the role of the much harrassed Fitzhew he will have the best possible opportunity. The first performance of "The Man From Mexico" will be given tomorrow afternoon and the play will be repeated every evening during the week except Friday and Saturday and the only week day matinee will be given Wednesday afternoon.

Tonight the last performance of "Regeneration" will be given at the Lyceum with Mr. Forbes in the role of Owen Conway.

After next week's engagement Mr. Forbes and his company will go on tour for four weeks.

Everyone who follows the current history of the theaters has heard of Winchell Smith's comedy, "The Fortune Hunter," acclaimed the best comedy of the century, and its success in New York and Chicago.

Fred Niblo, a popular comedian, will be seen in the title role of this play, supported by a company of players, including Miss Josephine Cohan, for an engagement at the Lyceum, Oct. 27 and 28, under the direction of Messrs. Cohan and Harris, who have sent this famous play on the road complete in every detail.

"The Fortune Hunter" is one of those productions with a universal appeal; it has never had an unfavorable criticism from professional critics or from the public and the leading clergymen in New York and Chicago have praised it from their pulpits as being their ideal of a play.

As implied by the title, the plot revolves around the matrimonial campaign of a youth who would, with one stroke, gain connubial bliss and sinful wealth. Henry Kellogg, a Wall Street moth, conceives a brilliant campaign for marrying money, but before he has time to put his plan into execution, he is promoted to a partnership in his firm and gains money without what he conceives the drawback of matrimony. Hence the passes the scheme along to his impecunious friend, Nat Duncan (Fred Niblo). His instructions are brief. Go into a town of about two thousand inhabitants; look well, dress well; abjure liquor and tobacco; go to church and take your pick of the village heiresses.

Nat Duncan begins such a campaign and the story relates his success which turns to ashes when he falls in love with a noble-hearted poor girl. He is redeemed by work and love and at the end everything comes out delightfully well. The cast embraces a large gallery of salient American types.

"The Fortune Hunter," it is said, goes deep into the heart of every true American but withal is put together with amazing technique. It is a great play wholly inspired by American ideals and American humor.

The following is a viewpoint taken by James Douglas, noted English critic, of a Tivoli music hall performance Harry Lauder, the great Scottish comedian, who comes to the Lyceum on Tuesday, Nov. 14 for matinee and night.

"The London Tivoli is only an average music hall, but at seasons Harry Lauder comes to town. On any night then about 10:30 o'clock, there is flung into the rank atmosphere of the Tivoli the refreshment of real comedy, the commanding influence of an artist. By that hour the theater is oppressed under its weight of the vulgar insane which makes up so much of music hall humor. A blue haze of smoke floats upon the auditorium. The gallery floats upon the blue haze of smoke. The pit is an invisible darkness. The actual atmosphere of the place is dense, opaque, heavy. It reflects the 10:30 o'clock mental condition of its music hall audience. Not enjoyment, but resigned expectancy of it is the note of the Tivoli at that moment. The stalls and circles are filled and the boxes are filling. The twinkling numbers twinkle once more, "13" has become "14." Instantly a roar of sustained applause fills the theater. The audience is not only wide awake now but it is at the apex of expectation. The applause simmers down to a humming murmur of excitement. The orchestra plays a lilting melody. It is drowned in a thunder of welcome shouted at a little man who has stepped upon the stage clad in Scottish garments and is moving round in a half-skip, half-dance, supported by a huge stick and a cheery smile that is reflected upon hundreds of faces turned towards him. In two minutes the whole array of music hall talent which preceded him is forgotten and the audience is magnetised into a common impulse of Lauderian fascination.

"It is not easy to diagnose the grip of Harry Lauder. But one thing is certain. A new atmosphere has blown in with him, and fills the theater, dissipating miraculously murky dullness. The attitude of the audience has changed from somnolently furtive response to the double entendre of the average comedian, to urgent concentration upon every syllable of Lauder's clean humor, and every note of his simple song, and every word of his doric patter. It is a curious manifestation, this triumph of Lauder. It is an overwhelming tribute to the power of personality. There are cleverer comedians, and there are funnier comedians. But he is the greatest artist of them all, and he is that by reason of his gifts, plus his personality. He has an extremely sympathetic voice for one thing, and more than any other music hall comedian, he sings artistically. His songs are entirely different from the average vaudeville production. They are sweet songs, their humor is light and easy, and sometimes they are of that finest brand of humor which is not far removed from tears."

"Checkers" is the offering at the Lyceum theater Sunday, Oct. 29.

It is difficult to account for the success of "Checkers" by reading it. It is a play to be seen to be appreciated.

With so many eyes connected with the theatrical profession constantly scrutinizing popular fiction—with the hope of discovering something suitable for foot-lighting, it is not surprising that such a dramatic feast as "The Magic Melody" should have been selected by Mr. Whiteside for his present tour. "The Magic Melody" is an intensely interesting story. It is a story of powerful appeal as well as picturesque and wholesome nature. There are strong veins of the melodramatic but there are sufficient light moments to add brilliancy to the ensemble, making a stage romance of strong situations, clean and interesting.

Mr. Whiteside comes to the Lyceum Oct. 30 and 31.

The latest of musical comedies "The Heart Breakers" will be seen at the Lyceum soon. This tuneful comedy is under the management of Mort H. Singer, who will introduce a new star in the person of George Damerel, who was last seen here as the prince in the Merry Widow. The "Heart Breakers" is the effort of Adams and Hough and they have woven a story around a band of young men who agree to try to break all the young womens hearts that they can. The leader of them is known as the "master," and in trying to do this with the girl, Miss Ruth Peebles, he falls in love with her and forswears all his vows and the band has to break up. Manager Singer has surrounded Mr. Damerel with an excellent cast, a large singing and dancing chorus, and a costly production. There are a number of song hits.

After the first shock of the flood at Austin, Pa., had passed, some clear-headed person sent out a meagre report to the newspapers. Soon representatives of the leading publications were on the way to tell the public in greater detail of the story of havoc wrought. But representatives of Lyman H. Howe, were there first. With his customary enterprise, Mr. Howe had dispatched several of his best photographers to the scene within an hour after the first news of the disaster had reached the outer world. Mr. Howe had the story recorded in his films before the majority of the newspaper scribes had reached the spot.

Lyman H. Howe will show the sad spectacle, just as his animated cameras recorded it, in his exhibition at the Lyceum this season, except that the gruesome incidents have been eliminated.

AT THE ORPHEUM

It will be a triple headline bill that the Duluth Orpheum will present next week.

Several times this season the Duluth theater has advertised double headline bills with two headline acts as the featured attractions, but next week a triple headline bill is promised. The headline acts are Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Crane, Charles F. Semon and Genero & Bailey.

Mr. and Mrs. Crane have an act that can best be described as a vaudeville farce. It is called "The Little Sunbeam." The action takes place in a Pullman car at 7 o'clock in the morning, and it is broadly farcical in its nature.

Mrs. Crane has the role of an actress on the picture show circuit. Then there are the conductor, the porter, and two men who have bought a scalper's ticket for a man and his wife. One of these men dresses as a woman in order to ride on the ticket. The other happens to be the husband of "The Little Sunbeam" as the actress is called. There has been an estrangement between them caused by jealousy on the wife's part.

With such a situation the possibilities for a good farce can quite readily be grasped, and the author is said to have taken full advantage of them and made a lively and most illiariously funny comedy sketch. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Crane are well enough known both in the vaudeville and legitimate fields, not to need any introduction. They have a company of six people all told, and the act is said to be a rare comedy treat.

A St. Paul critic describes it as "the laughing hit of the season," and this is but a sample of the favorable comment it has caused all around the circuit.

Charles F. Semon is called "The Narrow Fellow" and he sings and dances, and plays a variety of wind instruments. So do thousands of other performers in vaudeville. The difference between Mr. Semon and the thousands of other performers who do many of the things that he does, has made Mr. Semon a headliner in the Orpheum circuit, a position held but by few "single" acts. Here is what a Minneapolis critic said of him last week: "There is Charles F. Semon who has deftly blended personality with his musical clowning. Charles delights to pick a gun from the floor or a hatrack from the wall, and extract tunes from it. The audience delights to have him do it, and both are happy."

The third headline act will be presented by Dave Genero and Ray Bailey, said to be the "classiest" song and dance team on the circuit. Here is the way a Chicago critic wrote of them: "Although Miss Bailey leads in toggery, Mr. Genero is not far behind with a corduroy auto coat that is surely the fanciest thing in that line that one could imagine, though it is a shame to waste it on a one-minute entrance cue, immediately after which he discards it. Even to those not directly interested in automobile clothes, the effect is startling, and one cannot help but admire it. Again last night this clever duo demonstrated their abilities as entertainers of the first rank and were encored and recalled repeatedly, the audience being reluctant to let them go. Mr. Genero would have liked to give them more, but it could plainly be seen that this was a physical impossibility, his dancing at the finish of the act requiring almost superhuman powers of endurance.

All the songs Genero and Bailey sing are of their own composition, and they feature an original flirtation dance song that has proved a tremendous hit in other cities.

"An Acrobatic Talkfest" is what George W. Cunningham and Herman Marion call their act. They turn summersaults, twisters, and head spins while they keep up a running fire of comedy chatter. During the fifteen minutes that they are on the stage they are never idle for fifteen seconds at a time, and their dialogue is kept moving as rapidly as their acrobatic work.

Patti and Desperado are two equilibrists and comedians, who are expected to prove a popular attraction next week, judging from the reception they received in Minneapolis.

An old favorite will be on next week's bill in the person of Knute Erickson. There are few theater goers in Duluth who have not seen Knute Erickson in one of his famous Swedish character roles, such as "Yon Yonson" and "The Man From Sweden." He has appeared in this city many times at the head of his own company, and as an impersonator of the Swedish immigrant he has few equals in America. Recently he has branched out and has added several other characters to his repertoire. He always had a big following in Duluth, and he will probably be one of the favorites on next week's bill.

"An Artist's Dream of a Story in Sand and Song" is the odd title of the act presented by Keith & Kernan. While Mr. Keith sings, Mr. Kernan produces, by the use of sand, illustrations of the song.

The Kinodrome with the new films showing news happenings of the world, and the overtures by the Orpheum orchestra will complete the bill, which will continue all week with a daily matinee.

The last performance of this week's bill, with The Rays, Grace Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McGreevy, Rousby's Scenic London, Gordon and Marx, Faulinetto and Picque, and Marcus and Bartelle, will be given this evening.

The bill for the week of Oct. 29 includes the following acts; Mack and Orth, Dolan & Lenharr, Dorothy Rogers & Co., Fay Coleys & Fay, Rice Sully & Scott, Clifford Walker and the Wood brothers.

Ada Reeves, described as London's own comedienne, and undoubtedly one of the most popular English serio comics, sailed for New York on Wednesday, Oct. 18 to begin her tour on the Orpheum circuit. Miss Reeve is one of Martin Beck's important artists.

• • •

McIntyre & Heath, who are to be seen this season on the Orpheum circuit, have been playing together since 1874. During this partnership period they have established one of the most enviable reputations known to the theater.

• • •

W. L. Passpart, foreign representative for the Orpheum circuit, sailed Saturday, Oct. 14 for London. Mr. Passpart has been in America for several weeks in conference with Mr. Beck.

• • •

Martin Beck has secured an unusual number of foreign acts for the Orpheum circuit. In fact he has divested the British music halls of their best material. A few of the artists to be seen at the Orpheum theater this season are Cecelia Loftus, Ada Reeve, Esther Troupe, Chrattine & Louisette, The Paxton Troupe, The Takiness and many others.

• • •

James O'Neil is another prominent legitimate actor who has harkened to the voice of Martin Beck and entered vaudeville. Mr. O'Neil will be seen in a condensed version of his famous play "Monte Cristo," a piece which he has made a household word, and in which he has appeared almost constantly for the past twenty years.

AT THE EMPRESS

When one looks carefully over the big list of vaudeville names that will start the usual week's show at the Empress, beginning with the Sunday matinee, he will see the names of some of the biggest feature attractions in vaudeville. It is with considerable pride that the management announces the engagement of the Sarnthaler troupe of Tyrolean Singers as the headline attraction. This troupe which comes to the Sullivan & Considine circuit from their native land, Switzerland, includes six famous Swiss beauties whose attractive appearance has created much comment in the other cities on the circuit. The offering of the Sarnthaler troupe consists of a series of native songs and dances and some selections on the stringed instruments of their native land. The scenic and electrical effects of the act are gorgeous and coupled with the quaint Swiss costumes worn by the artists, the act presents a beautiful spectacle. The members of this troupe know how to put on a singing and dancing number with the most telling effect, always displaying good taste. Two of the members remain seated with their instruments while the remaining five give a series of graceful dancing maneuvers, each describing in pantomine a delicate flirtation. Yodeling has always been popular with music lovers and, as Switzerland is the home of this form of singing, the patrons of the Empress are promised some rare entertainment along this line. The following is a recent notice from the Milwaukee Sentinel. "Garbed in picturesque costumes and presenting their native songs and dances, the Sarnthaler troupe easily deserved the headline position on the very good bill which was presented at the Empress last evening. The offering is delightful both to the eye and ear. Last night's audience couldn't seem to get enough and they were forced to respond to several encores. The dancing of the young ladies in the specialty

THE FORTUNE HUNTER
With FRED NIBLO and a Perfect Company, Including JOSEPHINE COHAN.
FOREWORD
The rarest flower of genius is a great play, such as "THE FORTUNE HUNTER," whose coming is announced in this space, for the coming week will be devoted to telling you all about this wonderful comedy which has held New York and Chicago captive for whole seasons and raised the stage a long way in public esteem. A truly American play which mirrors the basic elements of our national character is no welcome that it is no wonder that clergymen, editors, statesmen and men and women of light and leading proclaim "THE FORTUNE HUNTER," one of those remarkable pieces which everyone must see. Fascinating in its tense dramatic interest and more eloquent in its lesson than the most golden-voiced sermon, and yet ablaze with the sunshine of humor and ginrified with deep-hearted love, seeing it is a liberal education in good AMERICANISM.

charmed the spectators and they were forced to dance until almost exhausted. The Sarnthaler troupe is one of the brightest and best novelties presented at the Empress in some time."

It has always been the aim of the booking managers of the Sullivan & Considine circuit to present each week some attraction on the instructive order and with this bill it falls to Mme. Bartholdi and her wonderfully trained cockatoos to present this part of the entertainment. These birds are among the prettiest species of the bird family ever exhibited at the Empress and are said to possess extraordinary intelligence. Mme. Bartholdi has spent years in the art of bird training and understands their habits and nature. She is one of the most accomplished ornithologists in the world and her success in making these beautifully plumaged birds perform the most amazing feats, is little short of wonderful. This attraction should prove of great interest to the little folks.

Another feature of the bill will be "Erin's Isle," a sweet little bit of Irish romance. This playlet is very spectacular and the cast includes some of the best known artists in vaudeville. Special scenic effects, "Muckenross Abbey," showing the Meeting of the Waters, the Lakes of Killarney, the Old Mill beside O'Sullivan's Cascades where the banshees visit in the darkness and give to the wisher his or her desires, songs that delight and bits of Blarney that whet the appetite for more are part of this gorgeous creation. During the action of the playlet, "Killarney," the beautiful ballad which has won the hearts of all, "Garden of My Heart" and "Come Back to Erin," a song which is dear to the heart of every Irishman, will be rendered. The scene representing the "Lakes of Killarney," is said to present an exact replica of those noted waters, a stage picture seldom equaled. No expense has been spared to make this picture truth in itself and the legend of the Muckenross Abbey, well known to inhabitants of Ireland, is the basis of the story. To relieve the intense moments, Mav Hixon, the noted Irish lyric soprano will sing several selections that will bring memories of long ago to the Irish members of the audience. The witty lines and situations promise to dispel gloom and should make this production a favorite.

Gruet and Gruet, billed as America's foremost delineators of blackface comedy, come to the Empress after an absence of two years. They need no introduction for they bear an enviable reputation which is known from coast to coast by reason of their long connection as stars of Al G. Field's minstrels and numerous other organizations whose fame is known throughout the theatrical world. Their offering consists of original minstrel wit, episodes and Darktown drollery, handled in such a manner as to guarantee entertainment to all. An act of this kind is always a great source of amusement if handled by clever artists and Gruet and Gruet possess this distinction. The following is from the St. Paul Pioneer Press. "Gruet and Gruet, as blackface comedians are really a welcome surprise. They are infinitely better than average blackface performers, and a close examination of the act fails to discern the objectionable. The fun is fast and furious with this act which received more applause than feature acts for weeks."

A real tinge of variety will be injected in the bill in the presentation of the college comedietta, "The Student's Apartments," by Dean and Price. The little comedy has a charming love plot, with a pretty story interwoven with campus pranks and college pastimes. A seminary girl, while reading in the dormitory, accidentally makes the acquaintance of a variety chap. They engage in conversation, bandinage at first, semi-serious in turn and lastly an avowal of love, all previous to a formal introduction. This is begotten properly through the tale and affords a refreshing ending to a beautiful playlet.

The motion pictures will be the newest and best subjects obtainable. The ventilating system at the Empress is now completed and the theater is thoroughly ventilated by filtered air which is changed every two minutes. Matinee daily at 2:45. Evening, 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved one week in advance by either phone. Special bargain matinee every Saturday. Special attention is paid to the comfort and entertainment of ladies and children at all times.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Honest, McIntyre and Heath have a new sketch, which they are using this season. It is called "The Day of the Wedding," and it has been sufficiently successful to make the comedians swear they will not return to their perennial love, "The Georgia Minstrels."

• • •

It is likely that "Mrs. Avery," a play sponsored by Charles J. Ross, will succeed "A Man of Honor" at Weber's theater, in New York, on Oct. 19. Its engagement at Weber's necessarily will be limited, because A. H. Woods has arranged to produce there on Nov. 7 "The Forbidden Kiss," a musical comedy which has Dallas Welford and Harry Fox in its cast.

• • •

Charles J. Ross has assumed Ralph Herz's role in "Mme. Sherry," and is pronounced as eminently fitted for the part.

• • •

The skit, "Hello, Paris," which was one of the features of the now defunct Follies Bergere show, is to be seen in vaudeville.

• • •

Rae Selwyn, sister of Edgar Selwyn, is appearing in her brother's play, "The Arab," assuming the role of Myrza.

• • •

In the general scampering of the staff of the Follies Bergere, Harry Kline, its former business manager, has landed in the F. Ziegfeld, Jr., camp. He has been engaged to act as Anna Held's manager on her tour to the Pacific coast in "Miss Innocence," which begins in Philadelphia.

• • •

Having already a Hudson theater, Henry B. Harris, when in need of a new name for the former Follies Bergere, which is to be a regular theater, opening Oct. 30, with Robert Edeson in "The Cave Man," and desiring to celebrate the occasion, naturally bethought him of the name of "Fulton," and this is to be the cognomen of the new playhouse in West Forty-sixth street henceforth.

• • •

The celebrated actress, Miss Blanche Walsh, will be the star feature of the bill at B. F. Keith's the week of Oct. 22. She and her company will present an Indian playlet entitled, "The Thunder Gods." Miss Walsh appears in the role of a Sioux Indian maiden. This is her first vaudeville engagement.

• • •

Charles Frohman has received word from Leo Fall, the composer, accepting the manager's invitation to visit New York, where Mr. Fall's latest success, "The Siren," has added so greatly to his fame, and where his "The Doll Girl" will soon go into rehearsal. Mr. Fall has never visited this country, although he is well known here as the composer of "The Dollar Princess," "The Girl in the Train" and "The Siren."

• • •

Harrison Grey Fiske and Abe Erlanger have postponed their production of "Kismet," which was announced to open at the New Amsterdam theater Thanksgiving week, until January. No cause is assigned for the postponement, except that more time is necessary for preparation. Otis Skinner has sailed for London, where he will secure his costumes and the scenic designs for "Kismet." For this purpose Mr. Skinner is to remain in London only four days.

• • •

Douglas Fairbanks has passed under the management of Cohan & Harris. Fairbanks' first appearance under the new arrangement will be in a comedy especially written for him by George M. Cohan. In casting about for a star to replace Douglas Fairbanks in "A Gentleman of Leisure," William A. Brady, it is said, is regarding Cyril Scott with favor. Scott recently played a brief engagement in "A Modern Marriage." It was next reported that he would transfer his energies to "Speed" when that little comedy went on tour. Now it seems more likely that he will be the star of "A Gentleman of Leisure."

• • •

There will be a new leading woman in "The Arab" company. In place of Edna Baker, Virginia Hammond will act the role of the missionary's daughter. Miss Hammond has been leading woman in "What the Doctor Ordered" at the Astor theater.

• • •

Maurice Maeterlinck has a $400 wager with Henry Russell that he will come to America in disguise and will not be recognized while in this country, especially by the American newspaper men, whose reputation for persistency has filled him with considerable apprehensiveness.

• • •

Mrs. De Navarro (Mary Anderson), collaborator of Robert Hichens in the dramatized version of the latter's novel, "The Garden of Allah," to be produced at the Century theater, sailed from Liverpool on the Baltic last Thursday to attend the premiere. She is accompanied by her husband.

• • •

Mrs. Fiske will begin her season in Langdon Mitchell's comedy, "The New Marriage," at Syracuse, on Oct. 19. The play is described as a satire upon contemporaneous life in New York, among members of the fashionable set. After the opening engagement in Syracuse, and a week in Pittsburg, Mrs. Fiske will go to Chicago for a season of eight weeks, before presenting the play in New York.

• • •

Klaw & Erlanger are fighting the attempts of some managers to raise the price of admission to the theaters of America. Marc A. Klaw in an interview in Portland, Oregon last week said the scale of prices for dress circle and parquette seats for the very best attractions at $1.50 and $2.00 was high enough but that theater managers should be using their endeavors to get back the gallery and balcony patronage that has been lost to many of them.

• • •

• • •

Baseball is not the only profession that yields its quota of stars to the stage. Tommy Meade, the American jockey, is appearing this season in burlesque.

• • •

The Morati Opera company at Chase's comprises Elizabeth Celli, soprano; Adelaide Ott, mezzo soprano; Grace Morati, contralto; Charles Morati, tenor, and Roman Klekko, baritone.

• • •

Manager Rapley has sent Zach Waisky of the National Theater box office out on the road with the Philadelphia-New York ball games for the world's championship, and Zach is not a bit sorry.

• • •

Viola Allen's "Lady Godiva" play is to be called "The Lady of Coventry."

• • •

Edna Goodrich is to appear in vaudeville with the English comedian, G. P. Huntley.

• • •

"The Convict" has been decided on for the name of Guy Bates Post's new play by Edward Childs Carpenter.

Maeterlinck is writing a historical fairy play for production in London next season.

• • •

Mme. Schumann-Heink has just received a decoration from the Grand Duke of Hesse.

• • •

Children under sixteen are not now permitted to appear on the stage in Kentucky.

• • •

Henry Mortimer has written a play called "His Knightly Honor," in which he will appear himself.

• • •

"The Littlest Rebel," a play of the civil war, is winning high praise from the Chicago critics.

• • •

Bob Fitzsimmons is to appear in vaudeville in a playlet by Jack London called "Her Birth Mark." His leading woman will be Magda Dahl.

• • •

Emma Carus will play the leading feminine comedy role in Lew Field's "The Wife Hunters." Franchon Thompson will be featured with Miss Carus.

• • •

Kate Rorke, who was Charles Wyndham's leading lady twenty-five years ago, is playing in the newest Drury Lane melodrama.

Weedon Grossmith's venture with "Baby Mine" on the other side of the Atlantic has attained to 250 performances and the play is as popular as ever.

• • •

Twenty-five years ago Forbes Robertson was a member of Mary Anderson's company, and in that capacity was making a tour of the United States.

• • •

A big production will be made shortly of James Montgomery's newspaper play, "Jimmie, Jr.," which has been given a successful try-out at Los Angeles.

• • •

Robert Drouet is to have the role of reporter in the new production by Frederic Thompson of William H. Maloney's play, "Graft."

• • •

"Father Jerome," with Orrin Johnson in the title role, under the management of Gustave Frohman, opened last week for a trial in a New Jersey town.

• • •

Wallace Irwin, the humorist, has written the book of a comic opera called "The Dove of Peace." The music is by Walter Damrosch.

• • •

George Bronson Howard, in whose play, "Snobs," Frank McIntyre is starring, has written another play to be produced by David Belasco.

• • •

"A Modern Marriage," in which Cyril Scott started out to star, did not measure up to expectations, so he is to substitute "Speed."

• • •

Frank Keenan, report has it, has left the cast of "A Million," and will be replaced by T. Daniel Frawley. Mr. Keenan will return to vaudeville.

• • •

Stephen Phillips has written a new play called "Pietro of Sienna," the first of his plays to be produced since "Faust." It will be staged by the Drama Society of London.

• • •

"Nancy Hanks," by Frank Tannehill, Jr., which was produced some years ago, with Marie Jansen, Clayton White and Ignacio Martinetti in the cast, is to be revived.

• • •

Edward Peple, author of "Prince Chap" and "The Little Rebel," has finished another play called "The Call of the Cricket," in which Beulah Poynter will star.

• • •

A short play by Maurice Rostand, son of the dramatic poet, is to be produced in Paris. It is called "A Good Little Devil," and the principal role is that of a tomboy.

• • •

Liebler & Co. have engaged for the American supporting company of Mme. Simone in "The Thief" Edwin Arden, Alber Grau, Sydney Herbert, Charles Francis and Grace Halsey. Ben Greet will direct the rehearsals.

• • •

On account of previous bookings, John Mason's run in "As a Man Thinks" will shortly end in New York to begin its tour in other cities. The play has exceeded expectations in its reception by the metropolis.

• • •

The Nelson-Terry revival of "Romeo and Juliet," according to the Pall Mall Gazette, "was largely characterized by that painful unimaginativeness, which of late years has marred so many Shakespearean revivals in London.

• • •

The Folies Bergere in New York has been rechristened by Manager Henry B. Harris into the Fulton theater, and after being remodeled, will reopen the end of this month with Robert Edeson in "The Cave Man."

• • •

Rose Coghlan is to appear in vaudeville in a playlet called "Her Excellency the Governor," in which she will portray a cattle queen of Colorado. Her daughter, Rosalind Coghlin, will be in the cast. The little play is by Viva Glenn Visscher, a young California girl.

• • •

Rehearsals of "Miss Dudelsack" have progressed so satisfactorily that Werba and Leuscher have decided to give the opera its American premiere next Tuesday night in Hartford. Later the attraction will begin a limited engagement at the Boston theater. Lulu Glaser will appear in the title role.

• • •

May Robson appeared in Cleveland last week in a play written by herself and C. P. Dazey, called "The Three Lights." She takes the role of a merry and handsome grandmother, whose daughter is prim and puritanical. The latter's two sons sympathize with their grandmother and make her a partner in their pranks.

• • •

Wallace Eddinger appeared in Philadelphia last week in the title role of a new play, "The Only Son," by Winchell Smith, author of "The Fortune hunter."

• • •

In "Johnny Gamble" Clayton White believes he has found another character by George Randolph Chester which will become as popular as J. Rufus Wallingford. At any rate White, who is now appearing in vaudeville, has acquired the dramatic rights of "$5,000 An Hour, or Johnny Gamble," which is Mr. Chester's successor to the Wallingford stories.

Probably the "most traveled" actress on the American stage today is Helena Salinger, leading woman with "The Girl in the Taxi." Not only has Miss Salinger played in every city of importance in this country and in Europe, but she has appeared in all the principal cities of China, Japan and India, and penetrated the wilds of the interior as far as the Afghanistan frontier.

Bobby North, half owner of the "World of Pleasure" company, when not devoting his talents to the business end of the theatrical game is a gifted comedian who has appeared in several Broadway successes. He was the chief fun maker in "The Gay Hussars," produced by Henry W. Savage, and was one of the conspicuous figures in a cast which supported Charlotte Walker in "Just a Wife."

COMPREHENSIVE SYSTEM OF TRUNK HIGHWAYS FOR NORTHERN PART OF STATE, LAID OUT

PROPOSED TRUNK ROADS.

When the Northern Minnesota Development association holds its next meeting in St. Cloud in December, the good roads committee will report on the greatest constructive work the association has done since it was organized.

In the short time since the Duluth meeting, early in June, the good roads committee has laid out a comprehensive system of trunk highways; has secured the co-operation of the counties of northern Minnesota; has interested the members of the state highway commission, the state engineer and Senator George Elwell, father of the good roads bill, and has given such impetus to the preliminaries that the completion of the trunk roads now seems assured.

The five trunk lines, which have been laid out by the committee, will form the basis for a network of roads covering northern Minnesota, opening hundreds of thousands of acres of wild land to the settler, giving an avenue for the farmer to reach his market, increasing the value of unoccupied land and indicating what intelligent co-operation can do to further the settlement of a country.

The good roads committee has adopted co-operation for its motto. It resolved itself into an advisory committee, made suggestions, avoided any dictorial attitude and is getting results. First determining the objective points between which trunk highways should run in order to furnish a firm basis for a comprehensive road system, the committee called in the counties to confer, lay out the detailed routes and make suggestions. Where the counties could not agree, the committee has acted as meditator, but its services in that respect were little needed. After the committee had taken the initiative in calling the counties together, had taken the necessary steps to obtain a clear interpretation of the Elwell law and had expressed its willingness to assume the role of clearing house and advocate to appear before the state highway commission, the county commissioners and good roads advocates of the different counties turned to with a will and the preliminaries are being disposed of as rapidly as possible.

Action by Counties.

Several of the counties interested have already taken action through their county commissioners approving the roads as planned and the plans and petitions for the part of the work in which they are interested. Other counties have informally given their approval and the boards of county commissioners will take action soon. The state highway commission has ruled that petitions will not be considered until all counties interested have approved them and the members of the good roads committee are hopeful that all will approve, and the petitions will be before the state highway commission before the meeting of the development association in December.

The action of the state highway commission in demanding that all counties approve petitions for a road before it will be designated as a state highway is not entirely necessary, but is in line with the spirit of co-operation in which the work is being carried on. If counties on both sides of another county should approve a road and the county between should fail to get in line, the state has the right to ride right through the county with a state rural highway. That is not the spirit in which the good roads campaign now under way is being carried on. The efforts being made are to bring all counties in together for a concerted movement to improve road conditions in Northern Minnesota and further the settlement of its vast expanses of wild land.

The good roads campaign is founded on the Elwell law, passed at the last session of the legislature and giving counties in the northern part of the state the opportunity they have long awaited to build roads with adequate state aid. Under the law, state rural highways may be designated by the state highway commission, on petition of the counties interested, and may be built under the supervision of the state road engineer.

Distribute Cost.

The state will pay half of the cost, the county one-quarter and the remaining quarter may be assessed against the land benefited, or may be paid by towns, corporations, clubs, individuals, or the counties. The state drainage ditch law will be applied to roads as far as it covers bond issues and the assessment of state lands. As the state owns vast tracts of land which will be affected by the proposed roads, the state will pay by direct assessment a large part of the cost of the roads, in addition to the direct state aid provided for in the Elwell bill.

Under the present valuation of the state and the constitutional limit of ¼ of a mill on the levy for the state road fund, the annual fund now available for state aid is $300,000. The Elwell bill allows anticipation by counties of state aid for ten years, the county's share to be anticipated by the issuing of bonds. Under those conditions, not allowing for increases in valuation or the very probable adoption of the constitutional amendment to be submitted at the next election fixing a limit of 1 mill on the levy that may be made for road purposes, there is now warrant under the law for the expenditure of $6,000,000 for good roads.

As the need for good roads is more pressing in Northern Minnesota than in the lower part of the state, Northern Minnesota is taking steps to obtain as much of the anticipated state aid as it needs for immediate use. Should the constitutional amendment extending the limit on the levy for road purposes be adopted at the next election, which is considered extremely likely, and the legislature should levy the full amount, the state road fund would annually amount to $1,200,000 and, if the counties could furnish their share, they would have $18,000,000 additional available for good roads, by anticipating for ten years.

1,500 Miles of Road.

The plans already made by the good roads committee of the Development association call for the improvement of about 1,500 miles of state rural highway. A small portion of that will be new construction, as established county and town roads have been followed wherever possible in the designation of routes for the proposed trunk highways. Roads have heretofore been built without any comprehensive plan in Northern Minnesota. Very often they have been built to furnish work for ambitious but not too reliable contractors with political influences. Settlers have been allowed to work out their taxes by road-building, which has been a saving to the settlers, but poor economy for the counties. The settler without equipment and very often without the training or experience, is not a wonderful success as a road builder. The result is that many roads have been built that are roads in name only.

The good roads committee intends to change all that. The members of the state highway commission have expressed themselves as opposed to furnishing state aid for the building of trails. That expresses the sentiments of the members of the good roads committee. They have made a comprehensive plan; no road will be started without an objective point, and they include in their plans the letting of contracts to experienced road-builders with equipment, ability to understand and follow specifications, and a sense of responsibility.

Every highway laid out, with the exception of that between Duluth and the Twin Cities, has gaps that will be filled in by new construction. Every mile of every highway will have to be given some attention to bring it up to the standard that will be approved by the state highway commission. Every highway will be an automobile road, not to waste money in expensive construction, but to make it a good road. The farmer is getting away from the idea that the automobile is a menace to him. He is intelligent enough to realize that any road that is suitable for an automobile is a good road for a farm-wagon.

The state highway commission estimates that the average cost of roads in Northern Minnesota will be $2,500. The figure is said by many road enthusiasts to be too high. The cost of building the highways laid out will run from $500 a mile in places needing little attention to $3,000 a mile for new construction. Members of the good roads committee estimate that the average cost for trunk highways now planned will be $1,500, so that the plans now made call for an expenditure of $2,250,000, with value received for every cent expended.

Only a Beginning.

The trunk line highways are only a beginning. With good roads leading to the principal markets, every county in the northern part of the state will be anxious to make the most of them. Lateral roads will be built by all the counties and the real results of the Development association committee's work will not be evident until the trunk highways are completed and put to their best use.

The five roads laid out as trunk highways are:

From Duluth to St. Vincent, via Grand Rapids, Cass Lake, Bemidji and Grand Forks, with a branch to East Grand Forks. A line from St. Vincent to Winnipeg is contemplated and the co-operation of the provincial government of Manitoba is being obtained.

From Moorhead to Duluth, via Brainerd, Aitkin and Carlton, with a branch line running between Brainerd and Moose Lake, connecting at Moose Lake with the Duluth-Twin Cities road.

From International Falls to the Twin Cities, via Bemidji. The road will run to the Itasca state park, and a good road is already in use from the Itasca state park to the Twin Cities.

From International Falls to the Twin Cities, via Grand Rapids, Hill City, Aitkin, More, Cambridge and Anoka, opening up a vast territory that is sadly in need of roads.

From Duluth to the Twin Cities, along the established highways that have not been designated as a state rural highway. The road is now in use, but needs improvement.

The members of the good roads committee of the development association are good roads enthusiasts of long standing. C. M. King of Deer River, who is chairman of the committee, has given freely of his time and efforts since his committee was appointed. J. S. Pardee of Duluth, secretary of the committee, has a task that commands respect by its magnitude. The other members of the committee are also enthusiastic workers and the choice as a whole has brought warm commendation to the association. In addition to Mr. King and Mr. Pardee, the members of the committee are: Chris Burns of Cass Lake, D. P. O'Neill of Thief River Falls and F. A. Green of Hallock.

AT the Vienna exposition in 1873 there occurred one of the most fortunate accidents recorded in the history of the material progress of the world. Several dynamos were being set up there. One of them was already in operation and the workmen on the job had just completed the installation of another. One of the men, by mistake, connected the second dynamo with the one that was in operation. To his intense astonishment the second dynamo began to revolve in the reverse direction. He told his fellow workmen what he had done, and presently they were all marveling at the curious phenomenon. Then the men of science at the exposition heard about it and they came and marveled, also.

That was the beginning of the development of the electric railway, the starting point of the largest of the new industries—electric traction—which in this country today is capitalized at approximately four billion dollars. For the electric railway motor is practically nothing else but a dynamo which reverses when the electric current is passed through it. There had been electric motors of one sort or another for more than fifty years before that accident at the Vienna exposition revealed the fact that a dynamo by reverse action would become a motor, but it was not until that fact was discovered that a motor having the simplicity, compactness, strength and durability to make it adaptable to the severe strain of ordinary railway service could be constructed.

So new is this industry of electric traction, in spite of the enormous proportions it has attained today, that nearly all of the men who are conspicuously identified with its development either on the mechanical or the commercial side, are still active in affairs. Twenty-five years ago there was not a mile of electric track in existence anywhere. In this country there are today 35,000 miles of electric railway track (single) over which are operated 75,000 cars. The electric railway companies have an annual income of approximately four hundred and forty million dollars and have 250,000 employes on their salary lists. They carry ten billion passengers a year. Beginning merely as a substitute for the old horse car, the electric railway is today a competitor of the steam railroad, operating in some parts of the country over lines fifty to one hundred miles in length, running sleeping and dining cars and handling freight and mail.

The Pioneer of the Industry.

The man who is identified with the inauguration of electric traction in street railway service is Frank Julian Sprague, one of the most widely known of electrical engineers and inventors, and one of the men to whom is due the perfection of the electric express elevator which has made the modern skyscraper commercially practicable. In 1887 in Richmond, Va., Mr. Sprague built the first electric railway in this country for commercial use, and public service on the line was inaugurated in the following year. In the decade following the Vienna exposition of 1873, an electric motor suitable to railway uses had been developed. In that development Mr. Sprague himself had a part. But his most notable contribution to the electric railway was the invention of the trolley system. He devised that in 1882 and his device was essentially that almost universally used today, namely, an overhead wire conductor with an upward pressure contact.

The man who is regarded as having given the first great impetus to the adoption of electric traction for street railway service is Henry M. Whitney, brother of the late William C. Whitney, who was secretary of the navy under President Cleveland and was for years prominently identified with electric traction development in New York city. Henry M. Whitney in 1887-8 had become interested in street railway development in Boston. He had consolidated several lines and formed a system known as the West End railroad. His attention was attracted by Sprague's work in Richmond.

"Perhaps that's what we want in Boston," he said.

He took a purely business view of the proposition, and decided in favor of it. The electrification of the West End line in Boston convinced railroad men and financiers of the commercial practicability of the new traction system, and the building of trolley lines all over the country began to be carried on with amazing rapidity.

Man back of Electric Railway Motor.

The development of the electric railway motor of the present day is very largely the work of a man of whom the general public probably has heard very little, although among engineers and electricians his achievements are recognized as entitling him to an eminent rank. This man is Benjamin G. Lamme of Pittsburg. If his name is not as well known as his achievements would warrant, his own retiring disposition and his reticence are probably to blame. His unassuming manner would by many, perhaps, be ascribed to shyness, and anyone who met him without knowing what he had done would probably receive not the slightest suggestion that he is a past master of a great science. To Mr. Lamme belongs the credit of being the engineer who did the first and some of the most important work in the development of the so-called single phase system of utilizing electric power, which is now extensively employed. This fact is understood by those who are most familiar with the subject, but owing to Mr. Lamme's reticence and modesty about his own achievements, it has not received general and formal recognition. The single phase system is one by which an alternating current of high voltage may be conveyed over a wire, and tapped for any amount that may be desired.

Mr. Lamme received his early education at a high school near Springfield, Ohio, and was graduated with the degree of electrical engineer from the Ohio State University in 1888. He very soon thereafter entered the employ of the Westinghouse company in Pittsburg, and devoted his energies chiefly to the designing of electric motors. One of his earliest achievements was the designing of a motor which differed radically in many respects from the motors then in use. An explanation of what these differences were would necessarily be extremely technical, and it will suffice to say that they made for greater compactness and efficiency. That motor is recognized as essentially the standard electric railway motor of today.

The Physician to the Industry.

One of the most successful and prominent of the men who are identified with the development of the electric railway is Bion J. Arnold of Chicago and New York. He has made his mark upon that development as an inventor, a builder and an operator, but it is as an expert whose advice is sought when it becomes necessary to adapt great systems of railways to new, complex and exacting conditions that he has gained the greatest celebrity in recent years. He is the physician of electric railways. They call him in to prescribe whenever a railway system gets of order or needs toning up to enable it to do more work. There are few, if any experts, whose advice has a higher value in hard dollars and cents. New York, Chicago and many other large cities have paid Mr. Arnold large fees for opinions on the solution of their traction problems and have found the money well spent.

Mr. Arnold's career furnishes a good illustration of the way in which natural aptitude will assert itself in spite of an unfavorable environment. There was nothing in his boyhood surroundings to stimulate a mechanical genius, and the impulse that made him a railway engineer came entirely from within. His early years were spent in Nebraska, where his father was a lawyer and a member of the territorial legislature. There was not a mile of railroad in the territory, nor any manufactures or machine shops to arouse the boy's interest in mechanics. If he had yielded to surrounding influences he would have become either a farmer or a lawyer. His bent showed itself when he was only 6 years old. At that age he designed several farm implements. When he was 12 years old he built a steam engine. At 14 he constructed with his own an advertising illustration as a guide, a bicycle that would bear comparison with many that were on the market at that time. When he was 18 he built a steam locomotive engine. These early endeavors were notable in one particular that distinguishes them from many youthful experiments. They were always practically successful. His bicycle was one that he could ride. His little locomotive engine operated on over a considerable stretch of track.

At 19 young Arnold went East to get the technical education of an engineer, and he was graduated from the schools at just the time when the electric railway development was beginning.

He first attracted general attention when as consulting engineer he built the first electric elevated railway in the country at the World's fair in Chicago in 1893. This line embodied several new ideas in electric railway construction which were soon thereafter very generally adopted. One of these was the use of direct connected units in the power station. This is a system developed by Mr. Arnold, by which each dynamo in a set of generators, although directly connected with its own engine, may, if occasion requires, be operated from any other engine in the set. Another important improvement which he inaugurated at this time made it possible to substitute one dynamo for another in the power station without stopping the driving engine and consequently without interruption in the service. To make this substitution practicable, Mr. Arnold invented a magnetic clutch, which has been found applicable to many uses besides that for which it was specifically designed.

Mr. Arnold has been a pioneer in electric railway construction and has developed much of the modern railway practice. He led the way in long distance electric railway development when in 1897 he built the pioneer interurban electric railway between Chicago and Milwaukee. In 1904 he built at Lansing, Mich., the first single phase electric line.

The new era of government regulation of utilities has given occasion to Mr. Arnold to employ his knowledge and talent in a special field. Public service commissions retain him not merely as an expert to suggest ways in which railway service may be improved, but also as a sort of umpire between traction companies and the public. He is regarded as having in an unusual degree the judicial temperament, and the capacity to look at a question fairly on the facts and without any bias or prejudice. He is called on to give opinions on every phase of electric transportation, from problems of engineering or operation to the physical value of properties.

The city of Chicago engaged him in 1902 to renovate its traction system and to devise new systems, and since the 1907 he has been chief engineer at the head of construction work in that city, the aggregate cost of which is estimated at $65,000,000. Three years ago the New York City public service commission retained him to suggest methods of reducing congestion in the subways. His recommendations included side doors for cars, longer station platforms, signals for controlling the speed of trains, and other innovations, which have since been put in practice with the result that the capacity of the New York City underground line has been very largely increased.

More recently Mr. Arnold has made studies of local traction problems for the cities of Pittsburg and Providence, R. I., and this fall he has been engaged in working out a solution for an exceedingly complicated traffic problem in the city of Los Angeles, Cal.

An Operating Expert.

To the development of electric traction on the operating side Frank Hedley, general manager of the Interborough Rapid Transit company in New York city, is regarded by railway men as one of the most noteworthy contributors. The problem that Mr. Hedley has been called upon to handle is one of the most difficult that ever confronted a railroad man. It was, briefly, how to make a railway system—the subway—that was designed to carry 400,000 passengers a day, serve 1,000,000. The solution of the problem has been found very largely in time-saving devices, in the more expeditious loading and unloading of trains, in the reduction of the time required for such operations as switching and coupling and uncoupling cars, in the running of trains at high speeds on short headway with safety. A saving of a few seconds in the time required for any single operation, under the conditions obtaining in the New York subway means a capacity for thousands of passengers more every day. Mr. Hedley has worked out these time-saving devices, partly through the invention or adoption of mechanical appliances and partly through the skillful organization of the operating forces.

Mr. Hedley comes of a family that for four generations has been prominent in railroading. William Hedley of Northumberland county, Eng., built in 1813 the "Puffing Billy," the first successful locomotive in the world that operated on smooth rails. It antedated Stephenson's famous engine, the "Rocket." It was in use continuously until 1872, when it was purchased by the British government and placed in a museum connected with the patent office. Barnabas Hedley, a nephew of William Hedley, opened many of the first railway lines in England. His son, James Hedley, the father of Frank Hedley, took a prominent part in the development of railroads in England. He was superintendent of the York & North Midland railway, and frequently acted as engine-driver for Queen Victoria. Frank Hedley began his career as a machinist in the Jersey City shops of the Erie railroad. After serving as master mechanic with the elevated railways in New York city, he went to Chicago to become superintendent of motive power and transportation of the Lake Street Elevated railway. He resigned that position about ten years ago to become superintendent of the Interborough system in New York.

Interurban Railway Leaders.

One of the most prominent of electric railway men today is Arthur W. Brady, president of the Indiana Union traction company. Mr. Brady is identified with the development of the interurban electric railway, one of the most interesting and important developments in electric traction. The company of which he is the head, owns and operates one of the largest interurban railway systems in the United States.

Mr. Brady is one of the men of whom there are not a few, who entered the electric railway business by way of the law. He is a graduate of Yale university and of the law school of the University of Michigan. He began the practice of the law in Muncie, Ind., of which city he was mayor for four years. His first connection with electric railways was as counsel to the Citizen's Street railway of Muncie, and somewhat later he became counsel to several large traction companies. He was elected president of the Indiana Union Traction company soon after its organization in 1903. Mr. Brady is regarded today as an authority on the problems of interurban railway management. During the past year he has been president of the American Electric Railway association, whose membership comprises the chief officers of the electric railways of the United States and Canada.

Congressman William B. McKinley of Illinois is one of the most conspicuous of the men who have led in the development of interurban electric traction, which has been one of the industrial features of the past decade. He was one of the pioneers in the electrification of horse car lines in this country and he is today the head of the Illinois Traction system, which operates 500 miles of railway, including interurban lines connecting the cities of Springfield, Lincoln, Peoria, Bloomington, Decatur, Champaign, Urbana and Danville, and St. Louis, Mo., together with street railways in many cities. The bridge over the Mississippi river at St. Louis, which was formally opened a year ago, and which enables the Illinois Traction system to run its cars into the heart of that city, was conceived and built by Mr. McKinley.

At the outset of his career Mr. McKinley was associated with his uncle at Champaign in the banking and mortgage loan business, but he very soon turned his attention to the development of public utility enterprises. Financial relations which he had formed with capitalists in the East enabled him to build a system of water works in Champaign in 1884 and soon thereafter an electric lighting plant. His next step was to buy a horse railway running between Champaign and Urbana and electrify it. From that time on he has been almost continuously engaged in the construction and operation of electric railways. In 1900 he bought the car lines in Danville, and those lines became the foundation of the great system of electric lines that extends today over the state of Illinois. He interested Canadian capitalists in his projects and bought franchises for lines in many places which the original promoters had been unable to finance and build. Mr. McKinley built these lines and co-ordinated them into a system.

The business done by the electric lines that Mr. McKinley operates makes them real competitors of the steam railroads. "Express cars" are run on them. These are really freight cars, and they carry almost everything except lumber and grain. Coal is frequently transported by them. These cars stop wherever signalled to take on freight, which makes them very convenient for many shippers of goods. "Limited" cars are also run. These are express cars for passengers. They are designed for through travel and stop at only a few designated points.

Developers of Steel Railway Systems.

A man of national prominence in the electric traction industry is Gen. George H. Harries, who has just severed his connection with the Washington Railway & Electric company, to undertake engineering work in Chicago. The Washington Railway & Electric company controls the street railway system of Washington, D. C., which Gen. Harries has been very largely instrumental in developing. He was born in Wales, but spent his boyhood and youth in the Canadian Northwest and on the plains and in the mining regions of the country. In those early years he became well acquainted with the Indians, and it was because of his special knowledge of the traits of the Indians that President Harrison appointed him in 1901 a member of the Sioux commission. President McKinley commissioned him to command a brigade of the National Guard at Washington and during the war with Spain Gen. Harries commanded a regiment of infantry from the District of Columbia. His first notable connection with the railway industry was in 1896, when he became president of the Metropolitan Railroad company in Washington. Gen. Harries is a prominent member of the American Electric Railway association, in which organization he holds several important offices.

One of the men who has had a considerable influence on street railway development is Duncan McDonald, general manager of the Montreal Street Railway company, Montreal, Canada. He is most generally known among railway men as the inventor of the "pay-as-you-enter" car, but he is also recognized in this country and in Europe as a man of great experience in traction matters. His career began in Montreal in the days of the horse car. He filled several minor positions on a local line there, and then went West and became connected with the street railway of Duluth. He was recalled to Montreal in 1892, to become superintendent of the street railway there when the work of electrifying it was begun. He went to Paris in 1895 to take the management of the Compagnie Generale de Traction, and after putting that property on a paying basis, returned to Montreal, to become general manager of the street car lines there.

Thomas N. McCarter, president of the Public Service corporation of New Jersey, has become identified with the electric railway industry comparatively recently, but his success has been such that he is one of the most notable figures in the field today. Before he became a railway man, he had attained prominence in the law and in politics. He is a son of the late Thomas N. McCarter, who was recognized as one of the leaders of the American bar. Mr. McCarter was appointed judge of the first district court in Newark in 1896 by John W. Griggs, then governor of New Jersey, but after serving three years resigned. He was soon afterwards elected a member of the New Jersey state senate. He managed the campaigns which resulted in the election of Franklin Murphy as governor of New Jersey and of John S. Dryden as United States senator. In 1902 he was appointed attorney-general of New Jersey.

Within a year after his appointment he was chosen to serve with the late J. J. Cassatt, then president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, John D. Crimmins, the wealthy New York contractor, and several others as a committee to devise a plan for reorganizing and developing the street railway properties in New Jersey. The Public Service corporation of New Jersey was the result of the committee's labor, and in 1907 Mr. McCarter retired from the practice of the law to become president of the new company—one of the largest of its kind in existence—and put into effect the rehabilitation and development of the lines which he had helped to plan.

One of the well known figures in the electric traction industry and one of the pioneers is A. E. Lang of Toledo. His experience in street railway matters goes back to the day of the horse car. He retired some years ago, but has recently gone back into harness in Toledo, where there is an interesting traction problem to be solved. On the construction side of the industry, James G. White of New York is one of the best known men in the field. He has built electric railways in almost every part of the world. Charles A. Stone and Edwin S. Webster of Boston also have done notable work in electric railway construction.

The electrification of steam railroads is the latest phase of the development of electric traction. Among the men who have done the most notable work in applying electric traction to heavy railroad work are William Spencer Murray, who had charge of the electrification of a division of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, and George Gibbs, who had charge of similar work on the Pennsylvania railroad in and around New York city.

TOTAL LOSS OF HAIR

is something seldom heard of. But many people at 50 have only about half the hair they possessed at 25 and the remainder is generally "half dead" from lack of proper cultivation.

An occasional shampoo and daily brushing are not enough.

THIS IS NOT HAIR CULTURE

It becomes hair culture, however, when you also include a daily application of Pilakoff Confident of Victory Over Ordemann—The City Football Title—Eyes of West Centered on Chicago-Illinois Game.

(BY BRUCE.)

JUST five more days and then comes one of the biggest athletic shows ever held in this town—that Pilakoff-Ordemann battle.

Whether the men meet on the mat with the toe hold or with the toe hold barred, the match is bound to be one that will live long in the memories of those witnessing it.

Born in the little village of Viro some twenty-seven years ago, Frederick Pilakoff started at the tender age of nine, when most boys are playing tops and marbles, with a circus. He traveled with the show and was recognized as a famous strong man and acrobat, when he was merely a boy in years. The wonderful strength of the boy was natural and his agility was remarkable for so big a man.

At the age of 16 he came to Helsingfors and went to school. He wrestled in Finland and after becoming proficient in the Greco-Roman method of wrestling, traveled through Russia, Sweden, France, Italy and Norway. It was on this trip that he met and defeated Lurich, one of the greatest at the Greco-Roman game.

Pilakoff is the greatest wrestler that the Finnish race has ever developed. He claims no championships, but is ready to show just what he can do. Game, of strength that is wonderful, a giant in physical proportions, and possessing wonderful endurance, Pilakoff is by far the greatest wrestler that has ever made his home here and is a wrestler who will make any man in the world, with the possible exception of Gotch the invincible, go some to beat him.

Weighing more than Ordemann, possessing greater strength and larger physical proportions, Pilakoff will step on the mat next Thursday evening ready to take the offense and go after the great Norsk. Whether he wins or loses Pilakoff believes that he will give the big man from Minneapolis one of the greatest battles of his career.

In a friendly bout in Chicago, when he was training there, Pilakoff tangled one afternoon with Charley Kid Cutler. The giant Finn says he was able abundantly to hold his own with the Nonpariel, and for that reason has confidence in the coming battle with Ordemann.

CITY football will come a step nearer settlement with the games of tomorrow. The Adams and Fairmonts will clash at Athletic park in a game that will settle the city championship on this side of the bay, while the Broadways of Superior and the Jeffersons will play at Hislop park.

As the Adams may play the Broadways the present season, as well as their ancient foemen, the Blaine alumni, the contest between the Duluth East End team and the Broadways, a fast and scrappy aggregation, will be watched with interest.

FIGURATIVELY the eyes of the West will be centered on the contest between Illinois and Chicago, which comes today on Marshall field, Chicago. It is the big game of conference football circles, and were we not somewhat worried over the outcome of the Minnesota-Nebraska game, it is very probable that we would be giving this contest our first eager consideration.

Minnesota meets both of the teams battling today in Chicago, and as the conference championship is supposed to lie between the Gophers, the Maroons and the fleet Illini, the outcome of today's game is of intense interest.

But in the sorrowful case of a defeat for Minnesota this afternoon, the edge would be taken off the coming contests with the strongest of the conference teams.

In the effete section of our country the game between Yale and the Army stands as one of the big games of the day. Yale is supposed to have one of the very strongest teams of the East, and with the cadets always represented by a strong eleven, the game promises to be a corker, and one, too, that will show whether the sons of old Eli have the great team that they have been credited with.

BIG GAMES IN THE WEST

Minnesota Meets Nebraska and Chicago Will Play Illinois.

Elimination of Two Contenders for Western Championship Is Certain.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—The gridiron program today in the "Big Eight" conference may be termed the turning point of season and teams which meet defeat will have to wait another year before making claims to the conference title.

Indiana and Purdue have already been defeated by Chicago and in today's contests at least two more contenders in the conference race will probably be eliminated.

The principal games in the Middle West today are:

Chicago and Illinois, at Marshall field.

Minnesota and Nebraska, at Minneapolis.

Wisconsin and Colorado, at Madison.

Michigan and Ohio State, at Ann Arbor.

Northwestern and Indiana, at Evanston.

Marquette and Walash, at Milwaukee.

Iowa and Cornell College, at Iowa City.

Case and Kenyon, at Cleveland.

Depauw and St. Louis, at St. Louis.

Iowa State and Missouri, at Ames.

Knox and Iowa Wesleyan, at Galesburg.

Lake Forest and Carroll, at Lake Forest.

Oberlin and Denison, at Oberlin.

Olivet and Hillsdale, at Olivet.

Notre Dame and Butler, at Notre Dame.

Beloit and Lawrence, at Appleton.

Drake and Coe, at Des Moines.

Vanderbilt and Kentucky, at Nashville.

Muddy Field at Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Rain made the prospects of a hard fought football game between Chicago university and the University of Illinois today very poor, and much doubt was expressed by those interested in the two teams that the quality of the game, if played in a muddy field, would be anywhere near the capability of the two teams. Illinois prepared for the contest with less hope than it held a week ago, because of the injury to Capt. Roberts, the heavy fullback who sprained his shoulder tackling the dummy. Chicago was buoyed up by the success with Purdue a week ago.

The lineup as tentatively announced was as follows:

Chicago.	Position.	Illinois.
Goettler	re	Hull
Carpenter	rt	Springy
Cunning	rg	P. Belting
Whitney	c	Davis
Sellers	lg	H. Belting
Rademacher	lt	Prince
Scruby	le	Oliver
Paine	qb	Seller
Norgren	rhb	Dillon, Role
Sauer	lhb	Merriman
Pierce	fb	Woolston

Colorado at Madison.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 21.—Colorado college meets Wisconsin here this afternoon in a game which will afford an interesting comparison between the style and strength of the West and Middle West football teams.

Wisconsin is generally credited with an advantage over the Westerners by reason of superior weight and fewer injuries. Colorado has been heavily handicapped of late by a large hospital list. The Badger average weight is 176 9-11 pounds, and that of Colorado 161. Wisconsin's line average is 182 3-7 and Colorado's 165.

Of the thirteen men on the Colorado team, seven were picked for all-state positions last fall. The team is practically the same weight as last fall.

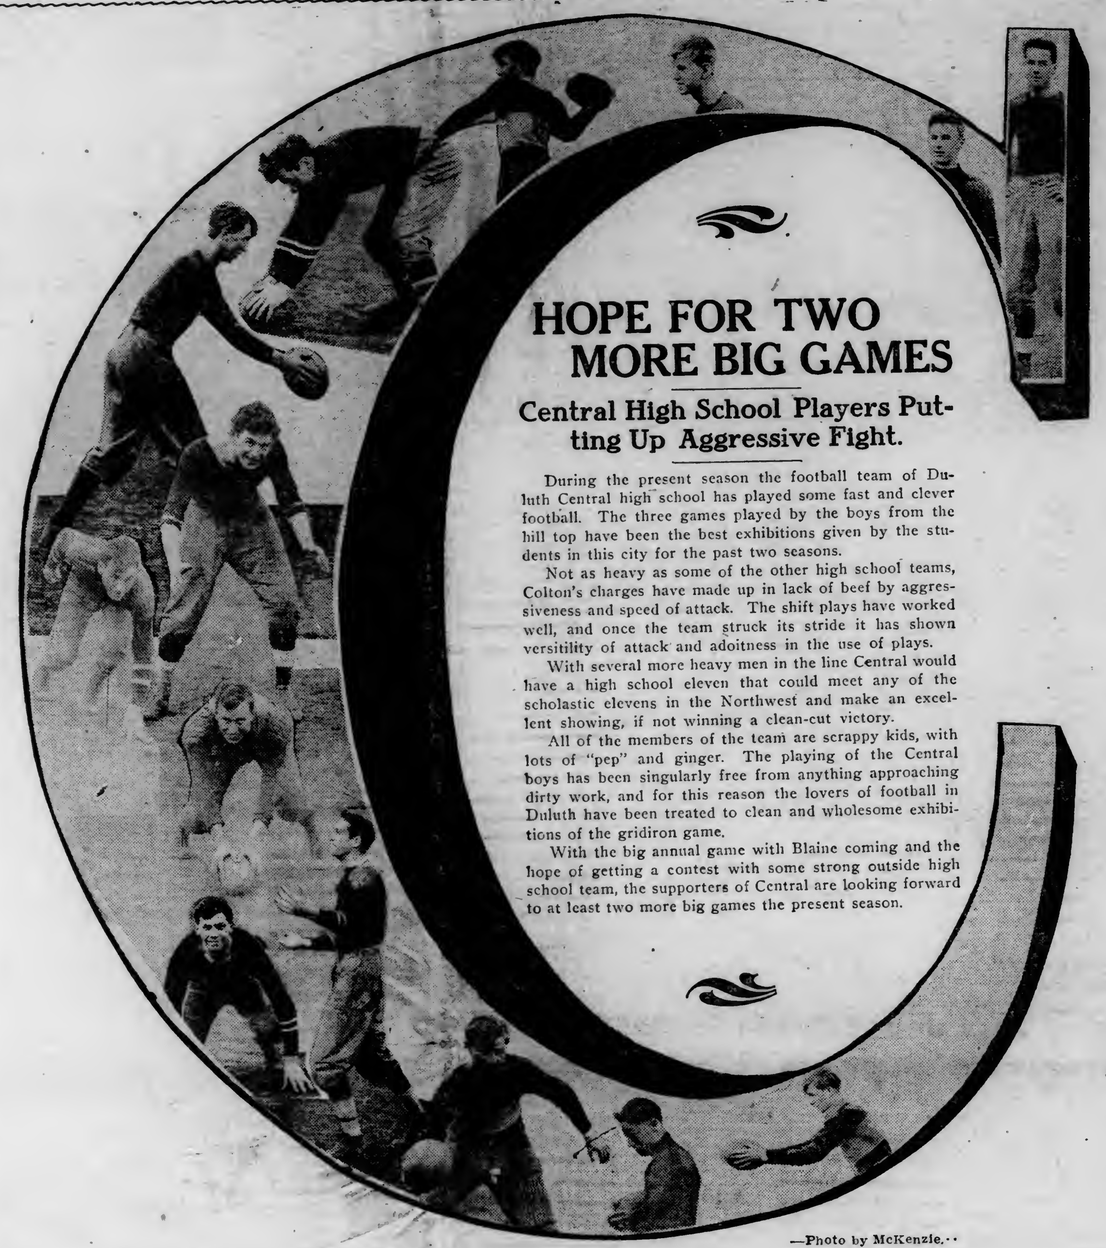

The line-up:

Wisconsin.		Colorado.
Hoeffel	le	Bowers
Roberts	lt	Thompson
Mackmiller	lg	Koch
Branstad	c	Witherow
Neprud	rg	Hedblom

GRIFFITH MAY REMAIN AT HEAD OF REDS.

New York, Oct. 21.—Clark Griffith is likely to continue as manager of the Cincinnati National league baseball team, August Herrman, owner of the club, according to a report today, having about concluded to reconsider his decision to let Griffith out. Herrmann received a letter recently signed by every member of the Cincinnati Reds and protesting against the release of Griffith.

HOPE FOR TWO MORE BIG GAMES

Central High School Players Putting Up Aggressive Fight.

During the present season the football team of Duluth Central high school has played some fast and clever football. The three games played by the boys from the hill top have been the best exhibitions given by the students in this city for the past two seasons.

Not as heavy as some of the other high school teams, Colton's charges have made up in lack of beef by aggressiveness and speed of attack. The shift plays have worked well, and once the team struck its stride it has shown versitility of attack and adoitness in the use of plays.

With several more heavy men in the line Central would have a high school eleven that could meet any of the scholastic elevens in the Northwest and make an excellent showing, if not winning a clean-cut victory.

All of the members of the team are scrappy kids, with lots of "pep" and ginger. The playing of the Central boys has been singularly free from anything approaching dirty work, and for this reason the lovers of football in Duluth have been treated to clean and wholesome exhibitions of the gridiron game.

With the big annual game with Blaine coming and the hope of getting a contest with some strong outside high school team, the supporters of Central are looking forward to at least two more big games the present season.

REAL VALUE OF BASEBALL PLAYERS IS A QUESTION HARD TO DETERMINE

What will a star baseball player be worth twenty-five years from now?

How much money will then be invested in the production of our national game, if the sport develops as rapidly in the next quarter of a century as it has in the last?

Will the "fans" ever reach the limit on paying for their favorite diversion?

Sages of other nations already are beginning to "view with alarm" the figures representing our expenditures for baseball. They believe we are "baseball mad," says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Our love for baseball appears to them to be a kind of addiction not wholly unlike the drink or drug habit. "What will it lead to finally?" they ask.

No one knows. No one ever knows. If we were asked to tell how much money we have invested in baseball we could not give an accurate reply without taking a national census of baseball clubs — major league, minor league, semi-professionals or corner-lot "phenoms." The amount involved in our two major leagues alone would be astounding to one who never had given the matter any thought. It is, in fact, almost beyond computation, when we consider the different value represented.

There are baseball parks worth hundreds of thousands. There are clubhouses and concessions, offices and office forces. Salary rolls up into the millions of dollars. And there are players who could not be bought for any amount of money, and franchises so valuable that no attempt is made to say what they are worth. The hypothetical valuations on which owners are assessed may or may not be correct. The franchises of wrangling clubs are not for sale at anything like a reasonable price.

The remarkable thing about baseball is the rapidity with which properties advance in value as soon as their worth is perceived. Within the memory of living men professional baseball has advanced from nothing to proportions more stupendous than that of any other sport in the world.

Some Increases.

Twenty-five years ago Chris Von Der Ahe, owner of the pennant-winning Browns of that city, had a chance to buy Hans Wagner from the Louisville club for $500. Today Wagner draws a salary of $10,000 a year and could not be bought from the Pirates for any price.

Twenty-five years ago Von Der Ahe bought a whole baseball team from Bay City, Mich., for $10,000. Just a few weeks ago the Pittsburg club of the National league paid St. Paul $22,500 for Marty O'Toole, a pitcher, and also, at O'Toole's request, bought in his catcher for $7,500, according to information supposed to have come from "the inside."

"Wagner was new to the Louisville club, and the owners didn't know much more about him than I did. I watched him play a few games, and when I saw the style of his play I realized I had overlooked something good. Then I very adroitly tried to buy him, but Louisville also had found out something. I was told the price was $5,000."

Wagner's salary by no means tops the list, although it is probably the highest paid to any player who takes no part in the management and training of the team. It is believed that John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, derives not less than $25,000 annually from baseball. This includes his salary and a share of the profits.

Frank Leroy Chance, veteran first baseman and "peerless leader" of the Chicago Cubs, probably gets $20,000 a year. This, of course is an approximation, but it appears that nothing less than such a salary would be an adequate reward for the man who built the team that took four National league pennants to Chicago and twice won the baseball championship of the world. His salary may be even larger than published figures indicate, as the Cubs have the reputation of being the highest salaried club in the league. There is some doubt on this point, however.

Fred Clarke, outfielder and manager of the Pirates, makes $20,000 a year from baseball, if we may believe reports. Roger Bresnahan recently renewed his contract as manager of the Cardinals at a salary estimated at $15,000 a year.

Players' Rewards.

The rewards of playing good baseball, whether one is a manager or not, are greater, perhaps, than those of any other profession except aviation. Following Wagner on the "non-commissioned" salary list is Tyrus Cobb of the Detroit Tigers. For devoting himself he gets $9,000, a salary that does not seem excessive when it is known that Cobb is the greatest baseball player in the world and that he is only 24 years old.

Hal Chase, manager and first baseman for the New York Yankees, gets $8,000 a year. Pittsburg pays $8,000 a year to Tommy Leach, an outfielder. Rhoderick J. Wallace gets $7,500 a year as manager and shortstop for the Browns. Russell Ford, a pitcher for the Yankees, receives $8,000 for a season's work. Cy Young, after playing professional baseball twenty-three years, still gets $4,000 a year. He also owns an Ohio farm and is well fortified otherwise against the unproductive years.

These figures, it should be noted, are not exact in every case. It is almost impossible, except in cases of such men as Cobb and Wagner, to ascertain what salaries are paid in baseball. Logical deduction, however, establishes a conservative average and a well-defined minimum below which the figures cease to be commensurate with service in the major leagues.

Survival of Fittest.

There is little reason for believing salaries in baseball will decline. The Darwinian theory works well in baseball. Only the fit survive; only the fittest reach the heights. The standard of play consequently must go higher as the process of selection goes on, and the higher the standard goes, the better will salaries become.

Overproduction is hardly probable. Development of the nation, increase in population, the building of big cities where there are now only towns, will keep up the demand. The more players we have, the better will the fittest be, and if the history of baseball in America is reliable basis for prophecy, the fittest will be paid in direct ratio to the increase of ability and skill.

Not all purchases, however, are profitable to the big league managers. Because of accidents and the failure of some players to make good in fast company, many of these deals come to be known finally as "lemons." O'Toole pitched only a few games after joining Pittsburg. Then an affliction of his pitching arm retired him from the game for an indefinite period. His loss was a severe blow to the Pirate band.

That such enormous prices can be paid for men, solely on the hope that they will develop into stars, is evidence of the wonderful profits in baseball. The purchase price of great players suggests investments in expensive and delicate machines, which may be wrecked by the slightest accident. Here are a few valuations in trades made in the majors: "Lefty" Russell, $12,000; "Rube" Marquard, $11,000; Mike Kelly, $10,000; Theodore Breitenstein, $10,000; Cy Young, $12,000; "Spike" Shannon, $10,000; Fred Hunter, $7,500; Ward Miller, $15,000 (in money and players); Rolla Zeider, $8,000; Bill Kelly, $7,500, and George McConnell, $7,500.

Yet, in spite of all the heavy losses and expenses that would appal if arrayed collectively, baseball clubs continue to increase in value, and salaries grow bigger year by year. Where will the end be?

YALE COACHES SAVE THE STARS

New Policy Expected to Prevent Injuries to the Best Players.

New Haven, Oct. 21.—The Yale coaches this year have adopted the policy of saving the varsity men for the big contests so far as possible, thus departing from the belief which they apparently held in past years that the best way to make men able to meet the heavy teams of the late fall was to hammer them into shape in the early part of the season, no matter what the cost. Formerly the varsity men were put up against the strongest possible scrub teams in long, hard scrimmages each day, except perhaps the day before a game. Thus it was believed they would be able to withstand attacks in the last four weeks of the fall. In the scrimmages the varsity was made to play all the way through, while the scrubs were constantly changed, and as a result there were many injuries, most of them minor ones, but which kept the men from the field several days at a time.

Different Policy This Year.

This year the coaches have adopted a different policy. This is the fourth week of the practice and as a general rule the experienced varsity men have been in but one scrimmage a week. Those men were Scully, McDevitt and Francis, who have had long experience, if they do go into more than one scrimmage, stay in only a few minutes and are then replaced by men who have had little experience in varsity football and who need position training if they are to take the regular men's places when they are injured. An instance which shows this is that of the right tackle on the varsity team. Paul is the natural choice for the position, but just now is injured and in his career on the varsity squad has been laid up a good part of the time. Just now a pulled tendon in his foot is keeping him out of the game. The coaches have taken Warren and Perry and have tried them both for the position during the last two weeks and if Paul were permanently out of the game it would be a very pretty contest for the place between the two.

Read would be able to go into the game now at center if the coaches wanted him to, but they prefer to let his shoulder entirely heal before he goes back into his important position, and Ketcham is having a good deal of training for the place.

During the last week much has been done at Yale field toward developing the forward pass, which was poorly executed in the games against Wesleyan and Holy Cross.

White Bands on Their Arms.

In order to help in the development of this play the coaches have adopted the custom of having the backs, including the quarterback and the ends, wear white bands on their arms. This makes the position of the men, especially the ends, who are expected to handle the pass, more prominent. The white bands were tried first in the Holy Cross game and were not at all successful there, for the men showed that they could not handle the pass. This was due to bad aim on the part of the backs for the most part, but in a few cases where the aim was good the ball was fumbled and not a gain was made by the use of the pass.

During the past week, however, the scrub team had hard work to intercept the pass. Merritt, who ran the team the days Howe followed with the coaches in order to get a better line on the players, liked to use the pass, and proved very accurate in throwing the pigskin after a short quarterback run. Spalding, whose puting ability makes him a possibility as a first team man this year, also seemed to understand how to handle the pass from either end.

GOOD RECORDS IN TRAP SHOOTING TOURNAMENT.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 21.—J. R. Taylor of Virginia, a professional, at the close yesterday of the post-season tournament of the interstate trapshooters' association at Sunset club became the national champion for the year with a score of 2,086 broken targets out of 2,100 at 200 yards. Other high averages among the professionals were E. G. Bills, Chicago, 2,036; C. G. Spencer, St. Louis, 2,035.

The high amateur singles was J. R. Graham, Ingleside, Ill., 764 out of 800.

NEBRASKA IS HOPEFUL

Cornhuskers Expect to Win From Gophers This Year.

Minnesota Team Has Developed Slowly, But Coach Is Confident.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The game between Minnesota and Nebraska today is regarded as the most important of the season thus far by each team. In the preliminary games Minnesota's showing has been disappointing to her followers. Nebraska, on the other hand, has run up unusually high scores in her preliminary games. Nebraska's backfield is said to be unusually fast and shifty while the line is heavy and strong.

The vacation given the students last Wednesday afforded Coach Williams a splendid opportunity to put the Gopher team through some good practice and as a result a double bill was staged on Northrop field. The morning session consisted of signal drill with only varsity men on the field.

Rosenwald Has Returned.

The rooters are delighted to hear that Rosenwald has once more returned to the team. His injury is not sufficiently well to allow him to take part in scrimmage, but he gets into his old place in signal work. It is not positively known whether or not Williams will use Rosie against the Cornhuskers. He will take no chances, for in two weeks the big Chicago games comes off and Rosie will be worth more to the team at that time than in the game with Nebraska. Rosenwald is in the tentative lineup for today, however.

Since the conference championship is Minnesota's chief aim, the coaches are putting much time on fundamentals so that the team will do more effective work in the big conference games. The slow development of the team this year is nothing unusual when the poor weather and the number of new men are taken into consideration. A team composed of so many new men must necessarily develop slowly.

Game Is Important.

Today's game, as far as the conference championship is concerned, is of little importance. Minnesota is the only conference team that Nebraska plays. But when the western standing of Minnesota is looked at, the Nebraska game is of great importance. Nebraska has taken Minnesota's place on the Michigan schedule, the last game.

Ever since Michigan left the conference Western critics have given the Wolverines the title of "Western Champions." The last two years they earned that right by defeating the Gophers, but since no Big Eight team can play Michigan this year, critics will look for some means for comparing the conference and non-conference elevens. The comparative showing of Nebraska against Minnesota and Michigan will be a big factor in this comparison.

For this reason the Gophers wish to defeat the Cornhuskers as decisively as possible. Of course, Michigan will have reached the height of her power while Minnesota is in the early stage of development, not even having settled down to a permanent line-up.

McGovern Expects Victory.

"Johnny" McGovern said this morning that the Gophers are 100 per cent better than they were in the game against South Dakota. He expects victory, but not by a margin as large as last year. That was a victory of an experienced team against an experienced team. Today, if Minnesota wins, it will be a victory of practically a green team against an experienced team. Nebraska has sixty-two eligible men on the varsity squad, and with this wealth of material is going to have a strong team at the sound of today's whistle.

Back Field Broken.

The back field will again be broken up on account of injuries. Capt. Pickering will again take care of fullback with Stevens in his old place at right half. McAlmond, a small but speedy man, looks best for the other half if Rosenwald does not play. Ralph Capron starts at quarter, but it is very probable that Young Hayward will be put in the game before the third quarter. Hayward is making a wonderful showing for a small man. He has a good head, a lot of nerve and is fast on his feet. McEwen, who was holding down Morrell's place at center will also be given a chance. Hanson, the regular left guard is on the hospital list, but the students think Elder will hold his own with the best of them.

Much apprehension is evident among the students although Williams is wearing a broad smile. The Nebraska coaches are confident and think they are going to return with the Gopher scalp.

The probable lineup follows:

Minnesota.	Position.	Nebraska.
Tobin	le	Chauner
Smith	lt	Shumka
Elder	lg	Elliott
Morrell	c	Hornberger
Powers	rg	Pearson
Frank	rt	Harmon
Wallender	re	Lofgren

Rosenwald	lh	O. Frank

MARTIN JOHNSON WINS FROM BIG FRED HAAS.

Martin Johnson, the wrestling fireman, last night at the Owls' hall threw Fred Haas of Minneapolis in two straight falls, showing greater science and cleverness than his heavier opponent. The first fall came at the end of thirty-nine minutes, a double bar lock doing the business. The second and deciding fall was secured with a toe hold in twenty-one minutes.

Good preliminaries featured the show, which was for the benefit of a

BURNS OFF FOR THE ANTIPODES

Former Champion Seeks to Teach Jack Lester a Business Lesson.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 21.—Tommy Burns has deserted the necktie business at Calgary for the time being and is crossing the Pacific ocean to impress upon "White Hope" Jack Lester that a contract between a manager and a fighter doesn't end the instant the fighter wishes.

There was no brass band on the Vancouver dock playing Tommy away when he sailed for Australia on the steamer Makura a few days ago. Neither did Tommy cable any one in Sydney that he was making the trip. He wants to surprise Lester and at the same time bring confusion to some of the Australian sports under whose advice Lester is acting.

It was Burns who sent Lester to Australia early in the year. He secured a match with Bill Lang for the Cle-elum novice and Lester, who lost the bout, was annoyed because Burns did not adhere to his promise of making the trip to Sydney to coach and train Lester. Lester fought Lang a second time and won. Then he determined to shift for himself. He sent word to Burns that he had cancelled the contract entered into in this country, and Burns lost no time in arranging for the journey across the ocean.

Very few knew that Tommy was going, but at the eleventh hour Tommy evidently decided that it wouldn't do to be too secretive about his mission. After he boarded the steamer he sent a letter ashore to the sporting editor of the Seattle Times, and this, in part, is what he wrote:

"I suppose you have learned that Lester is trying to get away from me. He thinks he will get away with the coin, but I am going to fool him. When he signed the contract with me in Seattle he was only 19 years old. He now thinks the contract is no good, but he does not know that I was made guardian over him by his parents. So you see what a chance he has to break this contract with me.

"I got a cable from my old friend Bill Corbett, the famous sporting writer of Australia, telling me that Lester repudiated his contract with me. Then I cabled my solicitor there to attach everything Lester had.

Will Give Him Lesson.

"I really don't need the money I will get out of Lester, but I just want to give him a lesson in square dealing. Every cent I get out of him I am going to send to his parents in Michigan, as he has never written them a letter or sent them a cent since he left America. They are poor folks, and a little money will come in handy for them around Christmas time. I sent his folks $100 out of my own pocket a week before last.

"When I took hold of Lester in Seattle I had to square up about $500 worth of debts for him around Cle-elum, and it cost me $800 to send him to Australia. Now he is trying to give me the double cross. I did not want to match Lester with McVey, for the negro is too clever for him. I spent about $100 in cablegrams trying to stall off this match, but McIntosh put it over anyway, and the result is that Lester looks worse than ever over there as a fighter."

Unless Tommy's lawyer managed to attach Lester's share of the money accruing from the fight with McVey before Jack got hold of it, the chances are there will be nothing to wrangle over by the time Burns reaches Sydney.

Lester showed himself to be a high roller a very short time after he arrived in Australia. While training for his first contest with Lang he drew so much money daily that Burns' representative in Sydney complained of the drain on the funds at his disposal. On being cabled to in this connection, Burns sent word to limit Lester's allowance, and that was where Jack first began to show symptoms of discontent.

As Lester was thought at that time to be a rising young heavyweight, it wasn't hard for him to locate fellows who were quite willing to make him cash advances and at the same time to tender him a little fatherly advice as to the advisability of cutting loose from Burns.

Now that Mr. Jack has received a thorough drubbing at the hands of Sam McVey, it is likely that Burns will find much money daily that Burns' representative in Sydney complained of the drain on the funds at his disposal. On being cabled to in this connection, Burns sent word to limit Lester's allowance, and that was where Jack first began to show symptoms of discontent.

As Lester was thought at that time to be a rising young heavyweight, it wasn't hard for him to locate fellows who were quite willing to make him cash advances and at the same time to tender him a little fatherly advice as to the advisability of cutting loose from Burns.

Now that Mr. Jack has received a thorough drubbing at the hands of Sam McVey, it is likely that Burns will find the Cle-elum heavyweight a very tractable young man. But Tommy will find very little money, in all probability.

CITY FOOTBALL TEAMS WILL PLAY FOR HANDSOME TROPHY

THE KLEIN CUP.

Max Klein has offered a handsome silver trophy for the team winning the city football championship the present season. To become the permanent property of any team the cup must be won three successive seasons. In addition to that, the team winning the cup must be ready to defend it on penalty of forfeiting it.

The cup is a handsome one and its offering is an incentive to the race in the city football league. Last season a cup, offered by Mr. Klein, was won by the Fairmont team. The cup shown in the cut is a different cup, and as stated before, must be played for and won three seasons in succession before becoming the permanent property of any team.

LITTLE WILLIE KEELER WAS AN IDEAL PLAYER

Manager Fred Tenney of the Boston Nationals, in discussing great right fielders, says this: "A player in the field has the same chances as in the other two outer gardens. He needs to be fleet of foot, a good thrower, sure fly catch and able to handle ground balls. Perhaps he has more opportunities to display his throwing ability, as base runners invariably will try to go from first to third on a hit to right. An ability to size up the batters who are apt to hit into short right field is a great help, as often, if the fielder is playing correctly, he can cut a man off at first base on an apparently safe hit. On many fields the sun bothers the player in the right garden. A man must be selected who has the ability to follow the course of the ball when close to the brilliant orb and not get rattled even if he temporarily loses sight of the fly. Smoked glasses of late years have been of immense advantage in these sun parlors, as the player can see the ball even when it is on the edge of the sun.

"Big Sam" Thompson was for years the right fielder in Philadelphia. There he had a bad sun field, but seldom, if ever, did he drop a fly, having mastered the art of catching the ball while standing sideways to the direction in which it was coming. As his nickname signifies, he was a very large man, not particularly fast on his feet, a good thrower and a tremendous hitter—a man who made many long, hard hits, always standing well up in the averages at a time when such noted hitters as Anson, Brouthers, Delehanty, Burkett and Hamilton were in their prime.

"Silent Mike" Tiernan.

"Tiernan of New York was another great player. While Thompson was quiet, Tiernan was so much more so that he earned the sobriquet of "Silent Mike.' Never speaking unless spoken to, and then replying as briefly as possible, he kept playing ball every minute. A terror with the bat, 'Silent Mike enjoyed a great popularity with the crowds all over the circuit. Starting his career as a pitcher, he gave that up and became one of the game's great outfielders. His reputation and career are still fresh in the minds of the fans of New York. He is the man they always wanted to come to bat in a crisis, as they felt sure he would deliver the necessary hit.

"'Patsy' Donovan started playing with Boston, but was soon released to Pittsburg, where he played for many years and where he made his reputation as a top-notcher. A very fast runner and good fielder, he was one of the pioneers of the short, sharp hitters, with a quick getaway to first bag. This style of hitting showed the possibilities of the bunt and slow infield hit, an idea much developed by managers and players during the next few years. Donovan used this style to such advantage that he always ranked very high.

"The name of Willie Keeler brings to one's mind the diminutive size of this baseball 'giant,' for years probably the best known and best liked of all ball players. Popular everywhere, praised everywhere, lauded by the newspapers and fellow players, yet he remained the same quiet, gentlemanly, unassuming chap. A wonderful fielder, very fast runner, sure catch and strong thrower, coupled with an extraordinary ability with the bat, he was the type of the ideal fielder. Apparently he could hit and place a ball in any part of the field he desired. Woe to the infielder who started to cover the bag when 'Wee Willie' was batting, as he invariably would place the ball just where the fielder had been. This faculty made him a wonderful workman in the hit and run play. He started playing at third base, and his hitting was so strong that both New York and Brooklyn secured him, only to pass him up when it was discovered that he was left-handed. Wise Hanlon took him, immediately placed him where he belonged and developed him into a star of the first magnitude.

Elmer Flick Great.

"Flick made his reputation playing at Philadelphia, where he succeeded Sam Thompson. The team was made up of a lot of hard hitters and Flick more than kept even with the record-breaking batting stunts of his teammates. Placed just behind Delehanty and Lajoie in the batting order, he had to do some slugging to hold that position. It did no good to pass one, as the next was just as dangerous. A very strong, fast runner and good fielder, Flick also became known as one of the hardest hitting left-hand batsmen known to the game. On leaving Philadelphia, Flick joined Cleveland of the American league.

"A young man—Chick Stahl—broke into the game at Boston in 1897, after a short time spent in the minor leagues, and he developed so rapidly during his first year that he was hailed as the coming star of the position. So seldom does a youngster jump forward so quickly that Stahl was considered to be nowhere near his top form, and experts believed he was the man to dethrone Keeler. Stahl did show marked improvement in the years to come, but never quite reached the perfection exhibited by 'Wee Willie.' A remarkable fielder and thrower, ever ready to take a chance, 'Chick' was one of the most dependable of Frank Selee's band of flag chasers. When he joined the American league his good work was kept up for many years. One of the most popular of men, his untimely end was mourned by thousands all over the country.

"Starting with Cleveland as a left-hand pitcher, Donlin soon retired from the rubber to become one of the most noted outfielders. A sprinter during his early days, he made use of his wonderful burst of speed to the greatest possible extent. While not as remarkable a fielder as many others, he more than evened matters with his club. When New York won the pennants of 1904 and 1905 his record at bat was one of the greatest factors in that result. When he retired from the big leagues he played for a couple of years with a city league team in Chicago. In 1908 he returned to New York, and that team again made a great fight for first honors, finally losing out by one game. Mike's bat was very much in evidence during the whole fight. That winter he went into vaudeville and retired from the game for good. While not as valuable a man as Keeler, his ability to deliver the wallop made him a prime favorite with managers and the public. He was big men of much the same would rank about on a par with Stahl, style and characteristics.

About Frank Schulte.

"Again the name of Frank Selee comes forward as the discoverer and developer of a wonderful ball player in the person of Schulte, who has played for Chicago during all its successful struggles for pennants in the last few years. Apparently he is one of the laziest and slowest of men, yet in reality he is very active, but moves so easily that his speed is deceptive. Always looking for an opportunity to break into a play, he is remarkably quick to seize the chance when presented. His 'I don't care' attitude at the plate conceals an ability to drive a ball out of the lot. Then he is a very hard man for a pitcher to fool, for he seldom hits at a bad ball. A very fast runner, remarkable fielder, one of the most accurate throwers in the business, he takes rank right up near the head of the class. Could he be imbued with more enthusiasm he would become just that much more valuable. His phlegmatic disposition is quite a handicap.

"Mitchell of Cincinnati has been making a strong bid for recognition during the last few years. He has been steadily improving, and if he can make his stick work average up with the fielding there will be very few who can outrank him. He is one of the type of long, hard hitters, seldom trying to place or bunt the ball. These men are apt to disregard the science force. Until some man comes along who does develop that scientific part of his hitting, Keeler will stay at the top, for when a man uses his brains and a wallop the man with just the wallop stands no chance of outranking him."

CENTRAL EXPECTS A HARD CONTEST

Central high expects a close and hard fought game today with the alumni of the West Duluth Industrial high school team. It is said that the boys from West Duluth have placed a very strong aggregation in the field and are going to give Central a warm and spirited argument.

The high school boys have been practicing very hard for the contest and the hilltop boys are said to be in the best condition that they have been in the present season.

Several new plays will probably be tried out this afternoon. These formations have been practice for the Blaine game and have been working well in practice against the second team.

INDOOR BASE-BALL

By Albert B. Wegener, Physical Director, Y. M. C. A.

Baseball will ever hold the greatest interest among Americans as cricket does among Britishers. The two games are of similar type, involving a bat, ball, running and eluding. They are the national games of the two greatest game loving people in the world.

Unfortunately in our Northern states, baseball can be played out doors only part of the year. Since the advent of our modern large gymnasiums and armories many outdoor games have been adapted to indoor use. Perhaps the most successful adaptation has been of baseball.

The history of its origin is given upon authority as follows:

"One Thanksgiving day in 1887 at the Farragut Boat club, Chicago, some members were carelessly throwing an old boxing glove around the room. One of the boys took up a broom and batted the glove back to the thrower when George W. Hancock suddenly exclaimed: 'Say boys, let's play ball!' Thereupon a huge wrestling mat was hauled around to act as a diamond and a lively game of 'scrub' took place. It proved such fun that at the conclusion Mr. Hancock gathered the members around him and unfolded a plan which had occurred to him as the players were sliding around the hall. He appointed another day for a game and in the meanwhile had rules formulated and a special bat and ball made. The game was so enjoyable that they christened the new game indoor baseball. It was readily adopted all over the country but Chicago has been the headquarters of this game where ever since its beginning winter leagues have been conducted with great enthusiasm."

It may be played in any hall that is large enough for a diamond (bases 27 feet apart.) About as small a room as can be used is 40 by 60 feet.

The players dress in regular baseball suits except that rubber soled shoes are used.

In adopting the rules to such a small space the picher is not allowed to throw the ball but it must be tossed underhand. The base runner may not leave his base until the pitched ball has passed the batter. There are two shortstops and only two fielders. The shortstops play within ten feet of the plate.

The base running much is made of sliding for bases. The bases are made of sand bags, not attached to the floor. This game is also played by girls with great success.

It can be played outdoors on small lots and as such the game is well adapted to small playgrounds where outdoor ball cannot be used.

Equipment.

An excellent ball has just been put on the market, made of sponges covered with horsehide. It is light and lively. No gloves nor masks are required so the equipment for the game is less expensive than in the outdoor game.

In batting do not swing hard. Occasionally try a bunt and a fake bunt as though you were going to bunt. This will bring the shortstops up closer to the plate and then the ball can be "hit out."

In sliding to bases go ahead first except where the bases are close to the wall. It is not necessary to slide to first base. The base may be overrun as in the outdoor game.

The base runner may start to run for the next base immediately after the ball has left the pitcher's hand, but if the batter does not make a fair hit the base runner must be called back for starting too soon. This play allows "hit and run" team work as in outdoor. A daring base runner often confuses the fielders into throwing wild.

The measurements of a diamond are shown in the accompanying figure.

Where space will permit the base lines are 35 feet apart and from center to plate to back of pitcher's box is 27 feet.

Balls are from 16¾ inches to 17¼ inches circumference and weight from 8 to 9¾ ounces.

Bat must be 2¾ feet long and not larger than 1¾ inches in diameter at largest part.

The pitcher in delivering ball must stand on back line of box with both feet and is allowed only one step in the delivery. The arm must be swung underhand and parallel to the body.

Definitions.

Base line—Direct line between home and first, first and second, second and third, and third and home.

Good ball—One legally delivered by pitcher, over the plate and between the knees and shoulders of the batter.

Bad ball—Not over plate, between knees and shoulders of batter.

Fair ball—Batted ball striking within diamond or on foul line.

Foul ball—Batted ball striking outside foul line.

Foul tip—Foul ball hit by batter not higher than his head.

Illegal ball—Sent to batter by pitcher not entirely in box, or by pitcher not heeling line with both feet prior to delivery, or if pitcher takes more than one step in delivery.

Dead ball—Pitched ball striking batter.

Balk—Motion by pitcher to deliver, or holding to delay.

Block ball—Batted or thrown ball stopped or held by outsider.

Foul strike—Fair hit ball batted when any part of batsman is upon ground outside his box.

Not in play—After a foul strike, foul hit ball not caught, dead ball or base runner struck by a fair hit ball, the ball is not in play until held by the pitcher in his box.

CLASSIFIED RULES.

Strikes.

Shall be called for—

(1) Ball struck at and not hit.

(2) Good ball legally delivered, not struck at.

(3) Foul tip caught.

(4) Batter intentionally interfering with legally delivered good ball.

Outs.

A. Batter is out—

(1) On third strike caught before touching ground or any object.

(2) If hit by ball on third strike.

(3) On third strike, if man on first an less than two outs.

(4) If third strike is made by intentional interference with ball.

(5) If after two strikes, a foul ball hits the batter before touching floor, wall or fixtures.

(6) On foul strike.

(7) If he bats out of turn and makes a fair hit, or reaches first, provided error is discovered before ball is pitched to next batter.

(8) If not in position one minute after he is called to bat by umpire.

(9) On attempt to hinder catcher's fielding or intentionally foul hitting.

B. Base runner is out—

Referring to man who has just batted.

(1) If fielder legally holds ball on first base before runner arrives.

(2) If a fair hit or foul fly is caught before touching ground, wall or fixture.

(3) If in running to first, he is hit by a fair or foul fly, before ball touches wall, floor, fielder or fixture.

II. Referring to all base runners—

(1) If touched by ball when off base, provided fielder holds ball after touching him. (exception: See E-4.)

(2) If he runs out of base line three feet, except in order to avoid fielder who is fielding ball.

(3) If fair or foul hit, that has been caught is held on base of runner, who left such ball was caught; or if, in that case, the runner tagged out before returning to his base. (Exception: See following A8.)

(4) If fair, hit ball touches base runner before striking fielder, wall, fixture, except when he is on a base, he is legally entitled to.

(5) If fielder holds ball on a base not touched by the runner in going round.

(6) If after starting too soon, he is put out in regular fashion.

(7) For intentional interference with batted ball.

(8) For intentional interference or failure to avoid interfering with fielder fielding a batted ball.

(9) For intentional interference with thrown ball.

Rules of Base Running.

(Note—Base runner is to touch each base in regular order. However, when obliged to return, he may do so directly.)

A. Base runner can advance (may be put out)—

(1) On a fair hit.

(2) After a fair or foul fly has been caught.

(3) After a ball not hit has reached or passed the catcher (penalty: called back by umpire, if not put out.)

(4) On a foul tip caught.

(5) On three strikes except according to following (C7 and C9.)

(6) If hit by ball he had just batted, rebounding from fielder, wall, floor, or fixture.

(7) One base on a passed ball, except on third strike or fourth ball, when he is entitled to all he can get.

(8) The instant a foul tip ball bounds off catcher, provided, such ball is caught by a fielder before striking floor, wall or fixture.

B. Base runner can advance without being put out—

(1) One base on an illegal pitch.

(2) One base on a balk (not the batter).

(3) One base if, while he was batter, four balls or an illegal pitch were called.

(4) One base if forced to vacate by succeeding batsman being awarded a base.

(5) One base if pitcher does not give runner reasonable time to return to own base.

(6) One base if fair hit ball strikes person or clothing of umpire on fair ground.

(7) One base, if prevented from making a base by obstruction of adversary.

(8) On a block ball, till ball is returned to pitcher in his box, unless time is called by the umpire.

(9) One base if umpire is struck by ball thrown by catcher to intercept base runner.

C. Base runner cannot advance—

(1) While pitcher is in box with ball.

(2) When pitcher is ready to deliver ball to batter.

(3) Until after a pitched ball reaches or passes catcher.

(4) On dead ball (neither can bat).

(5) If touched by fair hit ball while on his own base unless forced.

(6) If any base runner is hit by fair ball, unless forced.

(7) If batter intentionally interfered with pitched ball.

(8) If batter interferes with catcher's fielding.

(9) If batsman, in going to first, is hit by foul or fair fly before it touches wall, floor, fielder, or fixture.

(10) If a foul tip, bounding off catcher is not caught by a fielder (penalty: being called back, unless tagged out).

(11) After time is called on a "block."

D. Base runner must return to base and can do so without being put out—

(1) On foul hit not caught.

(2) On foul strike.

(3) If called back for starting too soon.

(4) On batter's interference with catcher's fielding.

(5) If batsman is going to first is hit by foul or fair fly.

E Referring to runs and scoring—

(1) One run is to be scored every time a base runner, after having legally touched the first three bases, shall touch home before three men are put out.

(2) No run counted, coming in on a third man "forced out" or put out at first.

(3) Runner may overrun first base, but must turn away from second in so doing. Can return either way.

(4) Runner is safe if touching bag or spot where bag should be. Likewise with home plate.

(5) If he slides with bag and stops, must return with bag in overrunning first, before going on.

(6) Unless forced, no run to be scored if a man on base is hit by a batted ball.

GENERAL RULES.

(1) The umpire shall not make a decision in regard to a premature start until base runner has reached the next base or is put out.

(2) Coaches restricted to coaching base runners only. No coacher allowed when bases are unoccupied; only one when one base and never more than two when more bases are occupied.

(3) Coaches must remain four feet from base lines between home and first and first and home and third and from first and third bases.

CATHEDRALS WIN FROM MERCHANTS

Kenney & Anker Indoor Ball Team Defeated By Students.

The Cathedral high school indoor baseball team last evening won from the Kenney & Anker team by the score of 22 to 10. One of the reasons for the large score was that the game of last evening was the first appearance of the season of the clothiers.

Patt whiffed sixteen merchants and the playing of Patterson, McDermott and Hock featured the C. H. S. game.

The lineup:

K. & A.	Position.	C. H. S.
Baker	rs	Hart
O'Brien	rf	Casey
Anderson	3b	Dougherty
Albaker	2b	McDowell
Quelling	ss	Barrett
Johnson	1b	Patterson
Owens	c	Hock
Talbot	lf	McDermott
Delburn	p	Patt

Summary—Three-base hits, Patterson, Delburn. Two-base hits, Hock. Struck out—by Patt, 16; by Delburn, 8. Base on balls—off Patt, 5; off Delburn, 3. Umpires—Fogarty and Owens. Time of game, 1:45. Attendance 300.

EAST SEES REAL GAMES

Yale, Harvard and Princeton Pitted Against Sturdy Opponents.

New Haven Team Determined to Avenge Last Year's Defeat.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 21.—Today's football schedule in the East follows:

Harvard vs. Amherst at Cambridge.

Yale vs. Army at West Point.

Princeton vs. Navy at Annapolis.

Pennsylvania vs. Brown at Philadelphia.

Cornell vs. Washington and Jefferson at Ithaca.

Dartmouth vs. Williams at Hanover.

Carlisle vs. Pittsburg at Pittsburg.

Syracuse vs. Lafayette at Syracuse.

The first three games stand out as the most important of the season thus far. For all six teams involved, this afternoon's contests mark a sharp departure in the schedule from practice games to the genuine article.

Sideline experts decreed this morning that any one of the three games was likely to go either way, although Harvard had little fear of being hard pressed.

Yale Is Determined.

Yale advanced on West Point for the annual contest with a determination to wipe out the defeat of last year, but the Army coaches declared that the Bulldog would need considerably more offensive power and resource than she had at this time last year to penetrate the Army defense. Both elevens have heretofore shown a defense more than adequate to cope with any opposing attack. On the other hand neither team has its offense matured to any extent as yet, and the indications were that alertness and quickness in benefiting by opponent's mistakes would be points of importance.

The Navy eleven has been progressing with fewer ups and downs than have been experienced at Princeton and the Tigers faced today's battle with apprehension.

Pennsylvania has been through more hard knocks than Brown. The latter team rarely is at its best against Pennsylvania and the Quakers have beaten Brown teams which later improved vastly and thereby caused regret at Brown that the team could not have played the same brand of football against the Quakers.

Great Crowd at West Point.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 21.—A northeast rainstorm this morning turned the football field into a quagmire. The storm had no terrors for the followers of the game, who came from all directions to see the cadets meet Yale in what was generally regarded as the first big pigskin struggle of the season.

West Point and Yale have fought some of the hardest battles of the gridiron and Yale's victories have been fewer here than on any foreign field. In the past eleven years Yale has won but six games from the cadets while these games have been ties, and West Point has trounced the Blue soundly on two occasions, notably last year when the score was 9 to 3.

The accident to Littlejohn, the fast right tackle on the cadet team, in yesterday's practice was regretted as much by Yale as by the soldiers, for it was hoped that the Blue would have her football mettle tested to the fullest extent in order that the weak points might be found before the two championship games next month. Weymouth, a plebe, took Littlejohn's place.

Both teams began today's contest with neither their goal lines nor their goal posts crossed or topped by an opponent's ball.

Experts from Harvard, Princeton and Annapolis are on hand to size up the strength of the teams which their own colleges will meet next month.

The lineup:

West Point—		Yale—
Gillespie	le	Francis
Devore	lt	Scully
Arnold	lg	Childs
Sibert	c	Ketcham
Huston	rg	McDevitt
Weymouth	rt	Perry
Hoge	re	Avery
Hyatt	qb	Howe
Brown	lhb	Reilly
Benedict	rhb	Spalding
Dean	fb	Philbin.

Referee—David L. Fultz of Brown. Umpire—Dr. Carl S. Williams of Pennsylvania.

BOWLING SCORES

CONFESSIONS OF A HALFBACK

Being the More or Less True Life Story of a Gridiron Hero From Barnyard to Campus—Written Conclusively and Exclusively for the Herald By Chassey Bolten—The Shame of the Colleges Revealed—Nothing Concealed.

CONFESH NO. 3.

Here ain't the time nor place to tell of what I saw at the Dewey theater. That little guy and the big fellow with the red shirt and the big yellow letter on it, sat right down there in front; so near, that when one of them girls kicked at the ceiling I just ducked my head the same as when milking at home in fly time.

That big fellow seemed pretty well acquainted, for he winked at one of the girls and she smiled right back at him and said, almost out loud, "You rah rah kid, you." I felt awfully fussed up and kept a stroking that old hat of mine. Then the big fellow kind of noticed me. He nudged me like and whispers in my ear, "Some of them Burly Q gals is all right, they be, Chassey."

After the show they takes me down to a big place to eat in. We three sat at a little table looking right on the street. People hurrying by looked in at us and sized us up. I felt like a green colt first trip to town and got nervous a handling my food. But finally I buckled down and cleaned up everything in sight.

"You've got a hard day ahead of you, Chassey," said the big fellow. "Tomorrow we got to put you through the register's office and get you a place to stretch that six feet of carcass in. Tonight you stick down town in a hotel and don't stir outside in the morning until we come for you."

I slept in a funny little room that night, on a big soft bed, all springy like the hay when it is first piled up in cocks. Them noises kept me awake, and then, too, I was plum strange and excited. I was homesick, too, and I kept thinking about that girl the big fellow winked at. I wondered where he got acquainted with a play actress. I kept a thinking of the crowds, of them lights in that room where we had supper in, of men a smoking segars right at the table, of women with sparkling gems in low cut dresses, and then wondering about ma and pa, back at home, of that big field over at the university, and then I fell asleep and dreamed I was a playing a football game and the crowd was a cheering me, and then I woke up.

I didn't get my second wind that day. Everything was strange to me. I looked at my Waterbury and found it was half past six. I jumped right out of bed and dressed and got down stairs. There was nobody around. I thought it was pretty late, but it seemed to me I waited almost a day before them two fellows showed up, and I was nigh starved to death. I knew something was going to happen but I was too doggone skeered to do anything but just sit in a corner and look down at the floor when anybody looked at me.

It was awful good to see them fellows. They asked me if I had breakfast. That little fellow said he wasn't feeling hungry, and I looked at him sharp to see what was ailing him. "A little cocktail will say how to my appetite," he told us, and he went off through a little swinging door. He came back and we went in a room all done in green with little lamps hung over the tables. They brought us some score cards, but I was so darned hungry that I wasn't careful not to make any breaks.

Modest Breakfast.

"Bring me some flapjacks and some fried potatoes and some meat," I said to that fellow waiting at our table. That little fellow looked at me funny like. "You ought to go into vaudeville with that appetite, Chassey," he said. "If John D. Rockefeller could see you surround that stuff he would gain a vast idea of how the other half lives and does not live. I think he would build a public eating house, just for charity's sake."

It must have been getting nigh on 10 o'clock. We all got on one of them street cars and started for them big buildings where education was curried up for the fall plowing. I kept getting nervous and fidgety, and of thinking of how they would need me back on the ranch. I got shaky and kept a shoving that long hair of mine back from my burning forehead and a wetting my lips with my tongue. I was sure skeered, but I couldn't think of nothing to run from or no place to go. I felt just like the time I was a stealing a pumpkin out of Otto Offendorfer's field, back to home, when old Otto chased me right up into the corner of the barbed wire fence, he having a bulldog and a shotgun and there being a wild bull on the other side. I stood still and closed my eyes, for I was young then, and I think I asked for outside help. Just then one of the kids yelled at me, "Jump, Chassey, that bull was brung up on patent stock food." I jumped and spoiled my store clothes.

They must have seen I was looking glum and cast down. That big fellow swung his hand in the middle of my back and yelled to me to brace up and take education on the run. That thump kind of knocked the lump out of my throat and I marched along with them fellows into a hall where there was a lot of boys and girls a talking gay like with each other and all the time moving along to where a fellow with specs and a cross look stood behind a little window.

Finally we got there. It was like waiting your turn to get into the blind pig at Medina. "Mr. Johnson," said the little fellow to the man behind the window, "this is Mr. Bolton from Medina, N. D., He's going in for law and is going to try for the team. He is one of the strongest of young fellows in North Dakota. While he ain't had much schooling, Mr. Johnson, he is ambitious for education and knowledge, and maybe there is a mission for him to perform."

Some Straight Talk.

That Johnson fellow looks crosser yet. He looked at me over the tops of his glasses, stern and steady, and I got all flushed up and hot. "Young man," says he, "don't think that the University of Minnesota is all play. Blackstone ain't easy and law ain't to be made light of. Many men is hung because of light headed lawyers. This is an age when education is taken in capsule form because the minds of our young men is troubled with indigestion."

But he gave me some piece of paper and we passed on, but I felt real worried about that fellow telling me I was troubled with indigestion.

"Now for some little dove cote for you to bill and coo in when getting your lessons and digesting some of Dr. Billyum's chart talks," said the big fellow, and we hit it right across that green pasture in front of them buildings. We came to a long row of houses and the big fellow runs up on the porch and opens the door without even rapping.

A nice looking old lady comes out and almost throws her arms around that big fellow's neck. "How be you, Auntie Mack," he says, and he puts his arms on her shoulders and looks darned right glad to see her. "How's Floyd and Downing and Roy Alling, that husky little shrimp? Doc Cook says he is going to make Alling break those test machines this year."

That Mrs. Mack looked like a mother a talking to her big son. A lump something like love cum right up in my throat. She was a smiling kind and gentle when she turns her big gray eyes on me, and something that I never knowed or felt before, maybe cause I was never out from home before and all alone, comes over me, and my throat feels kind of husky. Somehow I knowed that I was going to like her.

"Auntie Mack,' said that big fellow, "this is our little college chum, Chassey Bolton. Have you a little corner in your house where he can tuck his little cot? He is a good little boy and won't come in late at nights and stumble over the hall tree and make the stairs creak and groan. Take him into your family, Auntie Mack."

That nice looking old lady holds out her hand to me, a smiling, and while I don't say nothing whatever, my throat being husky and my lips a kind of trembling, I sure did feel mighty grateful, and I felt kind of like the time when I woke up, after the whipple tree bust and the hay press tongue flew back and swiped me side of the head, and found me a crying and holding a wet towel on my head and stroking my wet hair.

How I came to love Mrs. Mack and feel like she was almost my own mother, and how I got acquainted with a girl there, and got so I could come and sit in the front room without being urged by Mrs. Mack, is details not for here. That day was a big one, but the biggest part by a doggone sight was that afternoon when they takes me over to the armory and introduces me to Dr. Billyums, the fellow who told the football boys how to thrash the other fellows and them other places of education.

Not Easy to Rope.

The big fellow took me over. I was nervous, but it wasn't the same kind of fear that I had when I went in that long hall where they was to get me a knowledge certificate. I had thrashed nearly every fellow in our country, and if they was going to be a fight, as Hank Wheatraiser had said, and them city guys was going to jump on me, someone was going down in the general disturbance. No guy ever tied into me without getting mussed considerable.

"Dr. Billyums this is Chassey Bolton," said the big fellow, and he stood off and looked at both of us. Dr. Billyums wore specs and he had a light gray face. He didn't smile outright, but he kind of grinned, then stopped his grin in the middle, then backed it up and forgot about it. He looked me over, from my solid feet to my shoulders, took my hand and then said, without excitement but seeming eager for the answer, "How much do you weigh?"

"I weighed 225 on pa's hog scales," I answers, looking down at the ground.

"Gosh," he said. Then turning to a man with specs and a pleasant smile, he says, "Mike Rubey give this fellow a suit.

There must have been nigh 100 fellows a kicking that ball around. I walks out on the field, a feeling funny, a feeling as if 10,000 people was looking at me. As I was a going out of the door to that armory, a little guy about half as big as me, with a pipe and a hat with hair all over it, says to a little thin fellow with him, "Savvy that big rube; I'll bet a load of hay is his best friend."

That made me mad all over. I was on high gear all day and I felt that something was going to bust. I got red in the face and was just going to roll that young fellow in the mud, when I sees the big fellow come out a holding to a new yellow ball, and he says, "come all of youse fellows and do a little tackling.

Maybe they was just going to try me; maybe they put it up on me. But the big fellow gave me the ball and told me to run at three fellows standing about six rods off, a waiting for me. "Run, tear into 'em Chassey," said the big fellow.

Well sir, I takes that ball and I runs as fast I could travel. I just puts my head down and never looks, running like I seed a bull charge a patent fence out Medina way. Then something hit me, right at the knees. Down I goes and it seems to me as if a house fell on me. All to once I remembered what Hank Wheatraiser said about them fellows handing a stranger something I was mad clean through. I wasn't nervous no more. Up I gets and down goes that first fellow, then I hit out and down goes the second, like a sack of wheat dropped off a wagon on a muddy road. Then I grabs that other fellow, the first one to hit me, and I throw him down and rolls his head in the mud.

Up comes Dr. Billyums and the big fellow. The big fellow was a grinning and chuckling to himself. "King's ex, nix with the John Westover stuff," he says, "we will need them fellows later on."

"Learn to control yourself, young man," says Dr. Billyums. As he turns away I catches his remark, as he says:

"Gosh, that farmer's full of red pepper."

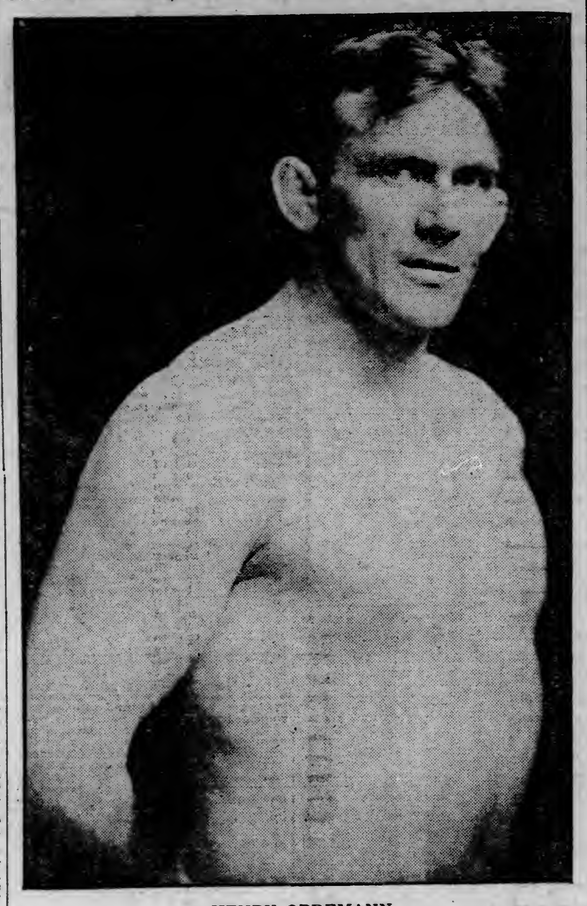

RIGHTS OF "FAN" TO BE DETERMINED.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 21.—Whether a spectator at a baseball game has the right to call a player a "stiff" and "bone-head." will be determined in a $5,000 damage suit filed in district court by Erving R. Erving of Minneapolis against the St. Paul Baseball club.

Erving and his wife were at Lexington park to see the game with Milwaukee July 8. He alleges he was put out of the grounds for criticizing Ralston, who was coaching the St. Paul players.

AMERICAN CHAMPION TO MEET GIANT PILAKOFF

HENRY ORDEMANN.

cestershire sauce that was laid out in the last scrimmage. That will do you until Yost sends in the vinegar bottle to replace the salt, so that a goal can be kicked.'

"Can you beat it that Yost has got 'em eating football?"

The angle of the cigars indicated interest.

"How's the material out there?" came from a voice that used to call signals for Harvard.

"Great!" was the answer. "Best in years, my nephew tells me. They ought to sweep the West like Yost's old teams used to do. The squad will not be particularly strong in players who have won their letters, but it's the new stuff! They're many and they're good.

"Last year Yost used 119 formations During the summer he thought of 55 more. It looks as though this year's eleven would be the ideal one to operate the Yost system of football, with a lot of good kickers, a strong line, some men who can pass the ball far and accurately, and a wealth of speed. While there will be no one man as large as Benbrook the team as a whole probably will average several pounds more to the man than that of last fall.

Men Are of Same Build.

"One thing that probably will impress everybody who sees the Michigan eleven this fall is that the men will appear to be all about the same size. Instead of a guard or two six feet, six inches tall and a quarterback about five feet flat, with a difference in weight of some 100 pounds, there will be eleven men whose height hardly will vary five inches and whose variation from 175 pounds in weight will not be more than about twenty-five pounds. Present indications point to an eleven that will average about 178 or so.

"With all the speed that the team ought to have Yost will be able to use a lot of his own special plays. Teams that he can't outrun he can outwit, and if he finds any that can both travel and think as fast as the Michigan bunch he ought to be able to beat it down by strength. There is bound to be a lot of open football, kicking, forward passing and the like, but at the same time, with the sort of a line that is shaping itself, Michigan by no means will be confined to the fancy stunts. The quick opening play ought to be made to order for such an array of forwards as those now working for jobs."

"You certainly have them down rather pat," commented the other listener, late of Princeton.

"My nephew, you see, explained everything," was the smiling answer as he took leave of them.

"Nephew—rot!" suddenly exclaimed the Harvard man. "I saw that back of his seven years ago racing down Ferry field, Ann Arbor, with three Chicago backs in pursuit. Can't think of his name to save me."

ORDEMANN WILL NOT BAR TOE-HOLD FOR PILAKOFF

(By George A. Barton.)

Minneapolis, Oct. 20.—Wrestling promoters at Duluth are trying to bar the toe-hold in the match between Henry Ordemann of Minneapolis and Fred Pilakoff, the Finnish giant, when these two heavyweights clash on the mat in a finish contest at Duluth next Thursday night, Oct. 26, but the Minneapolis man says there will be nothing doing along this line and the big Norwegian is right in his contention.

The toe-hold is just as fair and no more dangerous than the hammerlock, yet nobody hears any crusade among the sporting writers and wrestlers to bar the deadly arm hold. When a wrestler secures a perfect hammerlock and pushes his opponent's arm up his back, he has the best opportunity in the world to break his rival's arm providing he doesn't give up and roll over on his back. A hammerlock is practically the same thing as a toe-hold applied on the arm.

Any number of arms have been twisted out of their sockets by use of the hammerlock, while the grappling records show that only two men have been seriously injured by the toe-hold. Some years ago Champion Frank Gotch broke Leo Pardello's leg with the trilby twister, while one year ago Henry Ordemann threw Charley Cutler's knee out of joint with the toe-teaser.

If the toe-hold is to be eliminated, why not also bar the hammerlock?

Wrestlers like Champion Gotch and Henry Ordemann do not resort to the toe-hold to win many of their matches. They merely use it to often stir into action some big powerful fellow who persists on lying prone on the mat and refusing to open up and wrestle. When these big muscles know their legs are in danger when tussling with Gotch or Ordemann the wrestling fans can rest assured that they will keep going all the time and give the crowd plenty of action for their money and that's what they pay to see.

Wrestling is not a pastime for weaklings and there isn't a hold in the business that isn't likely to result disastrously for somebody any time it is secured and the full pressure put on. The grapplers themselves, that is the really game fellows, are not complaining about the toe-hold and seeking to have it barred. Those who are making the biggest yip regarding the hold made famous by Champion Gotch, are a few sport writers and some of the lesser lights in the wrestling game who are considerably shy on the nerve asset.

However, be that as it may, Mr. Henry Ordemann, Esq., of Minneapolis, Minn., by cracky, says if the hon. Mr. Frederick Pilakoff of Duluth, Minn., cares to mingle with him on the padded carpet he will have to do so with the toe-hold allowed. Ordemann emphatically declares there will be no argument regarding this point. If Pilakoff insists upon wrestling with the toe-hold barred, he will call off the match. Nice day for ducks, isn't it?

MICHIGAN TEAM TAKES FOOTBALL WITH MEALS

"Ever see Michigan play football?" asked the man who had just come back from the West, according to a New York sport writer. "Well, you ought to see that crowd he's got at Ann Arbor. Just left that place and saw 'em there. Want to hear about 'em?"

Upon being assured by his armchair neighbors of the hotel lobby that they did "want to hear about 'em,' he passed cigars and began.

"I first got on to that feller Yost's methods at dinner. My nephew's on the squad, and I sat next to him. I'd hate to have to feed that crowd. But there was something else that impressed me. I missed the salt and asked my nephew for it.

"Awfully sorry, but you can't have it now," he whispered. "You see, the salt cellar's playing left end for the coach in the formation he's explaining now."

"I looked down the table and there was Yost reaching for every movable thing on the table top, placing and replacing all deftly and swiftly. Toward him heads were craned. My nephew nudged me.

Replaces the Salt Cellar.

"'Watch,' he said 'The salt is about to receive a forward pass from the sugar bowl. However, take the Worcestershire sauce that was laid out in the last scrimmage. That will do you until Yost sends in the vinegar bottle to replace the salt, so that a goal can be kicked.'

"Can you beat it that Yost has got 'em eating football?"

The angle of the cigars indicated interest.

"How's the material out there?" came from a voice that used to call signals for Harvard.

"Great!" was the answer. "Best in years, my nephew tells me. They ought to sweep the West like Yost's old teams used to do. The squad will not be particularly strong in players who have won their letters, but it's the new stuff! They're many and they're good.

"Last year Yost used 119 formations During the summer he thought of 55 more. It looks as though this year's eleven would be the ideal one to operate the Yost system of football, with a lot of good kickers, a strong line, some men who can pass the ball far and accurately, and a wealth of speed. While there will be no one man as large as Benbrook the team as a whole probably will average several pounds more to the man than that of last fall.

Men Are of Same Build.

"One thing that probably will impress everybody who sees the Michigan eleven this fall is that the men will appear to be all about the same size. Instead of a guard or two six feet, six inches tall and a quarterback about five feet flat, with a difference in weight of some 100 pounds, there will be eleven men whose height hardly will vary five inches and whose variation from 175 pounds in weight will not be more than about twenty-five pounds. Present indications point to an eleven that will average about 178 or so.

"With all the speed that the team ought to have Yost will be able to use a lot of his own special plays. Teams that he can't outrun he can outwit, and if he finds any that can both travel and think as fast as the Michigan bunch he ought to be able to beat it down by strength. There is bound to be a lot of open football, kicking, forward passing and the like, but at the same time, with the sort of a line that is shaping itself, Michigan by no means will be confined to the fancy stunts. The quick opening play ought to be made to order for such an array of forwards as those now working for jobs."

"You certainly have them down rather pat," commented the other listener, late of Princeton.

"My nephew, you see, explained everything," was the smiling answer as he took leave of them.

"Nephew—rot!" suddenly exclaimed the Harvard man. "I saw that back of his seven years ago racing down Ferry field, Ann Arbor, with three Chicago backs in pursuit. Can't think of his name to save me."

BROTHER WOLGAST GAVE AD LICKING

(By W. A. Phelon.)

Ad Wolgast is, beyond all doubt, one great and husky little fighter. The man who wore down the Durable Dane can assimilate a beating that would make the average pugilist crawl into a cyclone cellar. He can also hand out the wallops on his own account. Nevertheless, Mr. Wolgast has a master, and the master is right there in the Wolgast family.

There are several Wolgast brothers, the family being one of those prolific German households. All of the younger Wolgasts are strong and sinewy, but Ad is the only one who took to the ring as a profession. Too bad some more of them didn't enter the fighting field—there might have been titles ad libitum among the stocky warriors of the Cadillac farmlands.

One year older than Champion Ad, built on the same pattern, but not even thinking of pugilistic fame, is Louis Wolgast. A typical German farmer is brother Louis, caring only for the welfare of his cattle and his horses, seeking only such currency as can be gathered from the produce of his many acres. Louis would never be selected as a fighter, but he can go some, and up in Cadillac they gleefully tell the tale of how he tended to the champion.

Fresh from the great victory over Battling Nelson, his pockets full of money, his head full of happiness and ambitions, Ad came home. On the second day after his return to Cadillac he rose betimes, strolled out upon the wide acres of the Wolgast farms, and there met brother Louis, guiding a plow for the early springtime planting.

"On the level, Louis," quoth the champion, "you are a bum farmer. You can't even run a straight furrow, and you'll spoil more land than you'll put under seed."

Brother Louis, who is more German by far than brother Ad, looked at the champion in some surprise.

"Eer vy," said he, "should you make the fun off mein plowings? You tend to de fightings, yi will tend to de blantings, ya, alretty."

"Go on, you big Rube," replied the mocking champion.

Brother Louis looked indignant. "Don'd you a big Rubes call me alretty," he growled. "You vos ein verdammter Schweinkopf, ya, und ein dummer Esel."

"See here," cried the champion, "don't you call me any of those Prussian names! I'll knock your block off."

Louis slowly removed his coat and hat. "You vos a fighter, ya," said he, "I vos a farmer. Aber I can lick you."

Ad stepped towards Brother Louis, feinting lightly with the right and aiming for a high swing with the right. Brother Louis, the farmer, sent a straight drive to the nose, and followed with a counter under the guard. The astounded champion grunted and gave ground. Brother Louis followed up the advantage, beat down the champion's arms, and planted a terrific right upon Ad's nose. The champion fell heavily and rolled over in the new-made furrow.

"Cheese it, Louis!" cried he. "It ain't right for brothers to be fighting!"

And Louis, with a triumphant snicker, resumed the plowing.

Ad came downtown the next day with a deep purple eye, and tried to tell the natives it was a souvenir of the Nelson battle. But the natives, well remembering that no such decoration had adorned him when he came back from the victory, gave him the haw-haw—and Ad finally told the story.

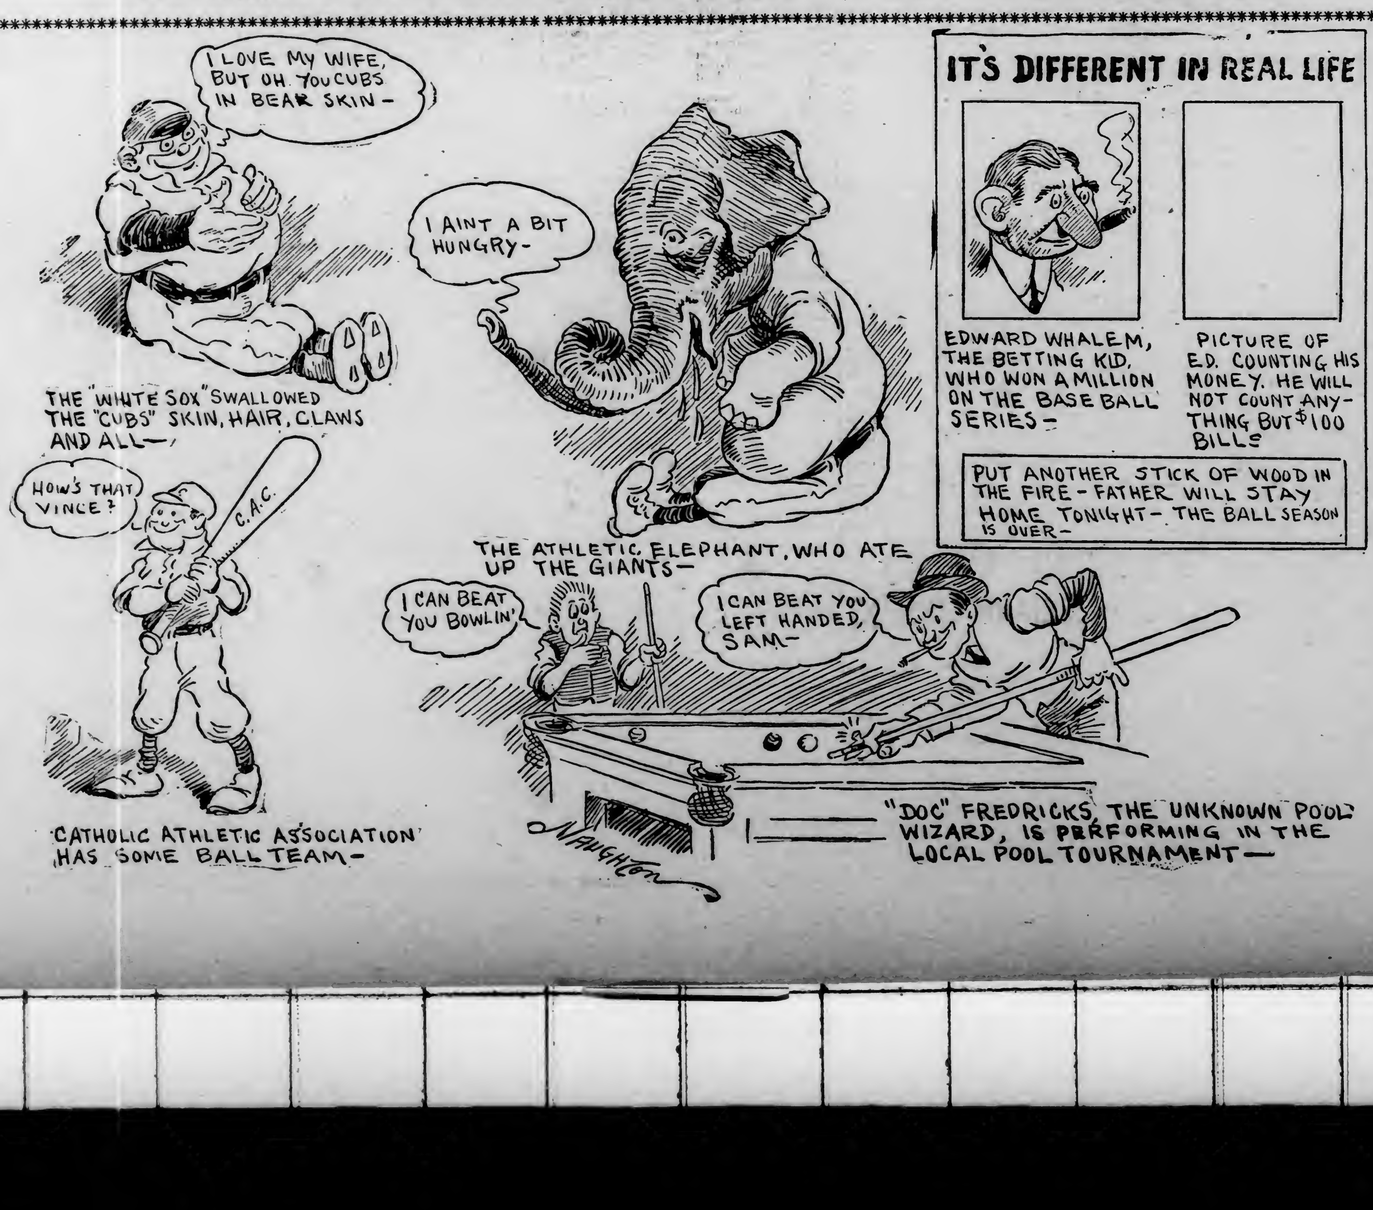

There are two great fighters in the Wolgast family—and the better of the two is not a real professional.

FORWARD PASS HARD TO LEARN

Few Teams Have Shown Proficiency in Mastering This Detail.

Speed in the backfields was very much in evidence in the early season's football games and the play brought out many swinging end runs or attepted runs of that description. Backs are no faster than they used to be, but with the present day game forcing them to get out in the open more, more is seen of their speed, says the Sun. End runs are yielding more ground now than they will for the big teams later on, when the latter stack up against ends and tackles of class who can cope with these plays better than the opposition now being met.

SOME HYDROPHOBICS---BY THE DOG

Forward passing is flourishing extensively so far this season, but there is nothing in the accounts to show that players are becoming any more expert at this hybrid play. Many are tried but few are successful. Accounts call attention to the deftly executed forward passes of Ursinus against Penn, but a majority of them tell of the infrequency with which the passes were successful. This seems to be a play requiring so much manual skill that it is a question whether players do not come and go too fast to get a chance to become proficient at it. Maybe when would-be college candidates begin on it in their school days and practice assiduously they will become really expert when they play on varsity elevens.

There still is much hit and miss to the forward pass, and it remains to be seen whether this season will not be a repetition of last in that the pass will be used a lot in early games only to be little tried in the big games. It is quite probable, however, that the lesser penalty for an incompleted forward pass this year will engender more use of it. As the rule now stands, there is encouragement for trying two forward passes in succession in case the first one doesn't go through. Against Syracuse Yale tried one which didn't work and immediately tried another, the second one going through according to plans.

Walter Camp is still giving much thought to clearing up all the points that may arise in connection with the forward pass. One of these has to do with a pass glancing off a player of the side putting the ball in play, whether, in case the ball has not struck the ground, is still in the air, it should not be anyoody's ball. Rule 19, section 5, covers the points so far as a ball legally passed forward and legally touched before striking the ground by any player of the side not making the pass is concerned. In such event any player of either side has the right to try to secure the ball.

There is good material at Harvard and a good deal of it, but not the tip-top material there was in several places in the line last year. The loss of such competents as McKay and Withington at Harvard and Kilpatrick at Yale is sure to be felt for a season or two.

The squad, not anything out of the ordinary in physique, seems to be one which will have football sense and alertness. The coaching is harmonious this fall, and the mistake last year of neglecting matters of importance until the eleventh hour won't be repeated. Mr Camp is too busy with football to play golf, and that means something.

STRONG TEAMS TO PLAY FOR TITLE

Adams and Fairmonts Will Meet for City Football Championship.

Tomorrow afternoon the Adams and Fairmont football teams will meet in a contest at Athletic park for the championship of the city. Both teams have been practicing for the game for the past two weeks and both managers say their elevens are in the very best condition.

Dave August of Superior, former captain of Northwestern, has been secured to referee the game in order that there will be no disputes and no wrangling over the decisions.

While admitting the strength of the Adams, the Fairmonts, strengthened by the addition of Erickson at full back, one of the fastest and strongest players in the city football circles, believe they will win the city championship again.

Following is he lineup:

CURRENCY HEARING ENDS.

Money Commission Sub-Committee Goes to St. Paul.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—"It would be a crime against the people to continue under our present currency and banking system," said John V. Farwell, merchant, and president of the National Monetary commission, which concluded a two-day public hearing here yesterday.

"Business men are convinced that the present currency and banking laws are inadequate. The sooner the Aldrich plan, or some similar system, is enacted into law, the better it will be for the people. The working man is as much interested in obtaining relief from present conditions as the business man and the banker. We feel certain that the proposed central reserve association bank will prevent money panics in the future and will increase the country's facilities for doing its business."

F. Cortez Wilson expressed the opinion that the proposed central reserve association bank should loan money to individuals on city, county and state bonds in times of emergency.

The sub-committee left for St. Paul last evening, where a public hearing will be held. Hearings will be held in Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Denver, Salt Lake City, Omaha and St. Louis before the sub-committee returns to Washington.

DETECTIVE'S SLAYER IS GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE.

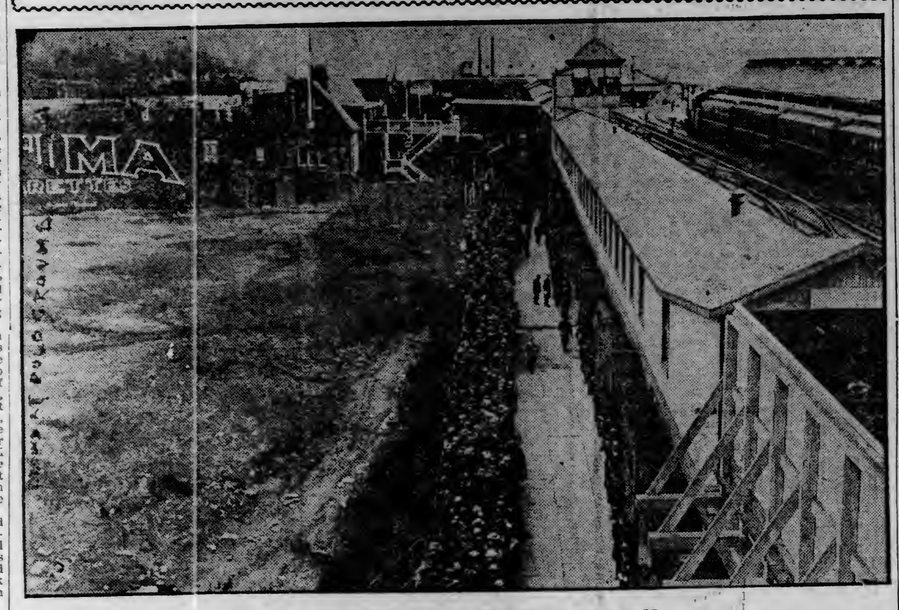

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 21. — Peter Juhl, an escaped Stillwater prisoner, who on Aug. 12 shot Detective Frazer, who died a day or two later, pleaded guilty in the district court yesterday to murder in the second degree and was given a life sentence in the penitentiary from which he had escaped.

After the death of Detective Frazer Juhl was returned to the penitentiary to serve his original sentence.

JUDGE FREDERICK BLOMAN

Bar Paid Respects to Judge of Ford Republic For Boys---Rise of a Dirty, Swearing, Tobacco-Chewing Imp---Impressive Funeral of a Thirteen-Year-Old Boy.

By WINTHROP D. LANE.

(Exclusive Service the Survey Press Bureau.)

The news coming several weeks ago from Detroit, Mich., that Judge Frederick Bloman had died fell upon an ignorant and at first unresponsive public. Who was Judge Frederick Bloman? Three days later thousands knew his life story.

Frederick Bloman, 13 years old, illiterate, red-headed and undersized, a rescued waif and an ex-incorrigible, was judge of the citizens' court of the Ford Republic for boys at Detroit. Four years ago he was consorting with hoboes and begging food for them. He was a dirty, swearing, tobacco-chewing imp, with no recollection of a home, or a mother, and with no respect for any living thing. Yet at his death a judge of Michigan's supreme court traveled 100 miles to attend the funeral, the probate court of Wayne county adjourned over two days in his honor, leaders of bar and bench held a meeting to pronounce his eulogies and men and women of distinction gathered round his bier in the nave of St. Paul's cathedral.

Ford Republic, the superintendent of which is Homer T. Lane, is a home for wayward boys. It is greatly similar in its principles of reformation to the better known George Junior Republic. For a time after Fred Bloman was brought there the habits of his former life made him one of the most unmanageable boys in the republic. He had been taken by the police from a band of gypsies and is said to have been one of the most foul-mouthed youngsters whom the authorities had ever discovered.

To cause self-respect, a proper regard for others, to grow in such a soil seemed a hopeless task. Yet young Bloman's reformation, after he came to the republic, though gradual, was sure. He was slow to show the qualities that were in him. A strong, almost grotesque sense of humor, which strangely enough smacked of none of the vulgarity of his former habits of mind, won him ultimate popularity. After three years' residence the boys elected him judge of their citizens' court for a term of six months. At the end of that period he was re-elected. No one had ever administered justice in the little republic with such firmness, fairness and good will. When Fred's second term was drawing to a close his fellow citizens had no thought but to re-elect him. But Fred lay in the hospital with a fatal illness. Realizing that he could not serve them again, yet unwilling that another should wear his title, the citizens created the position of associate judge and to that office elected one of their number.

On the bench young Bloman displayed ingenuity, tact and ability in handling his fellow citizens. A lad charged with "punching another in the kitchen" defended himself by saying he had punched the other, not in the kitchen, but in the stomach. Instantly the judge retorted that his stomach was his kitchen because he kept his "chuck" there. Later he declared he would put a stop to the "punching in the kitchen" and "kicking in the basement" that had been going on recently. His resourcefulness in the face of dilemmas was marked. A convicted culprit was once sentenced by him to corporal punishment at the hands of Supt. Lane. It was contrary to the superintendent's notion of things to chastise his boys. So he begged off on some pretext. The little judge faced a crisis in his administration. To allow the guilty lad to go unpunished would weaken his influence among the unruly element. Both his size and official dignity barred him from performing the task, and there was no public executioner or whipping post. So Judge Bloman created a new thing — an executive board. Like most executives this board was commissioned to act. Its members united in administering fair punishment, and the court's ruling and dignity were upheld.

While trying an alleged thief, Fred once asked the accused, "Then you're willing to be known as a crook?" The defendant made no objection and Fred ruled: "Well, you are a crook." Later he was brought before the supreme court for applying the word crook to the accused. In defending himself Fred evolved a definition that has since become classic in the republic: "A crook is a fellow who is willing to be called a crook."

Heart disease caused his death. In a eulogy in the probate court one of the attorneys said: "The life of this lad calls again to my mind a sentence by Booker T. Washington: 'It is not the height to which a man attains that measures his greatness, but the distance which he travels in getting there.' Judged by this standard who can estimate the greatness of 13-year-old Fred Bloman? He was one of the most efficient aides this court ever had in its juvenile work."

His fellow-citizens attended his funeral. As the throng which had gathered round his bier moved out into the open air, an awed urchin was heard to whisper: "Gee, a lot of folks came to see Fred buried, didn't they?"

PROTEST DISSOLUTION PLAN OF TOBACCO TRUST.

New York, Oct. 21.—After thoroughly studying the plan of disintegration that has been filed by the American Tobacco company with judges of the United States circuit court, the attorney generals of Virginia, North Carolina and South Caroline, who have been in conference here, reached the conclusion that the scheme proposed will offer no relief to tobacco growers in this country. They further express the belief that should this plan be adopted, the victory of the government resulting from the decision of the supreme court would be a "barren one."

The conferees decided to file a petition in the United States circuit court asking that the Southern states represented at the conference be permitted to file written objections to the plan of dissolution and to be heard at the hearing set for Oct. 30.

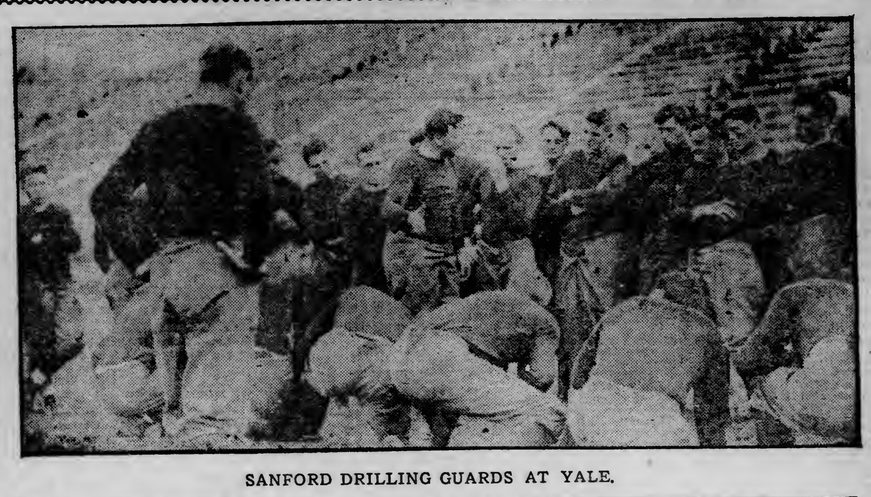

WINNIPEG WOMAN IS HEAD OF THE CONGRESS.

AUTOMOBILES

OWNERS NOT ALL "PLUTES"

Few Could Afford to Ride at 18 Cents a Mile.

Duluth Dealers Say Figures of New York Paper Are Absurd.

Local automobile owners take exception to the recent statement of the New York Evening Post in regard to the cost of running the chug wagons.

The New York paper maintains stoutly that it costs in the neighborhood of 18 cents a mile to own and ride in a gasoline doy cart.

Just what the declaration of the paper is based upon is not known. Local people would like to know. They would like to see the figures.

Upon an old and wornout car which requires constant keeping up, they admit that the cost is large, but on new and modern cars, well cared for and driven carefully—for drivers are careful in spite of the general impression of the public—the cost of operation, maintenance and depreciation does not amount to 18 cents a mile.

The office of The Herald has been swamped with letters from those who own automobiles and who object to the impression that all who own or operate cars are wealthy.

Many of the automobile owners of the United States are not wealthy. If it cost 18 cents a mile, few of them could afford the luxury of an automobile. If it cost 18 cents a mile there would be only hundreds of automobiles in general use throughout the country instead of thousands.

A few years ago the same sort of a hue and cry was set up by those who fight gasoline transportation by stating that people were mortgaging their homes to buy automobiles, claim owners and dealers.

Popular prejudice is influenced by these statements, say dealers and manufacturers who claim that they are absolutely wrong and create wrongful impressions.

Huge factories have been built, great sums invested and thousands of men throughout the country given employment by the sudden rise of the popularity of automobiles.

"Get It In Neck."

"Automobile owners get it in the neck from all sides," said one dealer today. "They are considered bloated 'plutes' by many. In the country they are known as "them rich city fellers" and in the city as the "speed fiends." But ask a friend to ride and his first query is: 'How fast can you go? Sure, let 'er out.'

"A few years ago the opponents of gas wagons startled the country by saying that the whole universe was going to ruck and ruin and the cause of the ruination of this great and glorious country was because people were putting so much money in pleasure—automobiles.

"The country has not gone as yet. The American people have some common sense even though they do love pleasure and when ruination does come it will not be the automobile which brings it.

"The clothiers kick. They say people do not need to be dressed up to ride in automobiles and that since the invention they have suffered.

No Longer an Experiment.

"Automobiles are past the age of experimenting. They are now down to a fine point and while there might have been some sense to the Post article if printed some years ago, the declaration comes about five years late.

"Gasoline is 11 cents a gallon and an ordinary car will make all the way from ten to twenty miles on a gallon. Lubricating oil costs about 60 cents and it is used in many instances over and over again. Tires are more expensive. They cost a good deal of money but tires are now made so that they run as high as 6,000 miles without any trouble whatever. The mechanical department of an automobile gives little or no trouble. So fine is it that people these days never think of their motor going wrong.

"A car well cared for, which means that if the grease cups are kept full, the main lubricating supply working and attention paid to the other working parts which cannot be expected to give service without oil, will be run thees days for a few cents a mile. And another thing the car will give as good satisfaction in five years as it does today.

"The details mentioned are those which can be done by the merest novice and if attended to the cost of riding through the country will fall far below the sum named by the New York Post."

Motorcycle Notes.

The Reading, Pa., Motorcycle club is planning a race meet for Oct. 14, and has received the sanction of the Federation of American Motorcyclists.

* * *

To travel 999 miles on a motorcycle without an accident and then get a puncture within one mile of home is the fate of Walter Norland of Norway, Iowa, who spent two weeks in a successful trip.

The Baltimore, Md., Motorcycle club recently took its second trip in the mountains of that state. The route was eighty-four miles long and because of its attraction last July was repeated this fall.

Dr. J. Bartlett Hills, a prominent dentist of Washington, D. C., is the latest professional man to join with Dan Cupid in a motorcycle ride. The doctor recently asked Miss Edith Ashton of the same city, to take a ride on the motorcycle. After a few trips around the city together they were married and left on a honeymoon trip to New York.

The Federation of American Motorcyclists continues to grow at a rapid rate. During September 557 new members were added to the roll. Ohio led all the states with seventy-one new members and the Lake district led the nine districts of the federation with 131 additions. For the past few months the F. A. M. has grown at the rate of more than 500 members a month.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

SAYRE MAKES ANOTHER GIFT

Former North Dakotan Living at Calgary Remembers Wesley College.

Donates $20,000 More to North Dakota Methodist Episcopal School.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A gift of $20,000 to Wesley college has been made by A. J. Sayre of Calgary, Alberta. This makes the third of a series of big gifts by the Canadian, who formerly was a resident of Harvey, N. D. Sayre hall, the men's dormitory, was his gift.

The $20,000 donation is to be used, so he says, for "such purposes as the board of trustees deems best." Dr. E. P. Robertson made the announcement to the lay conference yesterday.

A new movement in North Dakota Methodism may result from yesterday's law conference, one of the resolutions passed being favorable to the establishment of a conference hospital.

Lay Conference Delegates.

In the election of delegates to the general conference at Minneapolis, the lay conference named C. A. Pollock of Fargo, J. L. Jackson of Bismarck, and A. S. Burrows of Grand Forks, the field candidates being large.

Resolutions adopted by the lay conference indorse the men and religion forward movement; extol the prohibition movement, favor the conference claimant's fund, and urge a movement for local enforcement leagues in the state. The work of Wesley college also was indorsed.

In the Methodist conference proper, the question of the administration of the White claimant fund took on a new turn late yesterday when the previous action, placing such fund under control of the conference, was rescinded.

Tomorrow many of the Methodist ministers who are attending the conference will occupy pulpits of the Grand Forks churches, while Monday the appointments for the coming year will be announced. Last evening Bishop McIntyre delivered an address, "Buttoned Up People" being his subject.

STEWART'S TRIAL SET.

Ex-Immigration Officer Accused of Murder to Be Tried Soon.

Pembina, N. D., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Kneeshaw has set Oct. 31 as the day for calling for trial the case against E. A. Stewart, the former immigration officer at Neche, who is charged with the murder of Phillip Worrall, an insane Canadian who was held at the Neche detention station for a period, two years ago.

Stewart, against whom there was no direct incriminating evidence at the preliminary examination, has been held in the county jail at Pembina for two months and a half, unable to obtain bonds. He was engaged in the real estate business at Winnipeg when placed under arrest.

He has in turn resold these lands at a handsome profit and is back to buy more.

ONE DOSE MAKES INDIGESTION GO

Heartburn, Gas, Sourness and Other Stomach Misery Vanishes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating, and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure Indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your Stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas, which sours your entire meal—interferes with digestion and causes so many sufferers of Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your case is no different—you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapepsin will cost fifty cents at any Pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking a single dose that Fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of Indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by an other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapepsin will regulate any out-of-order Stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort, all of any kind of food you eat.

EX-STATE TREASURER IS GIVEN SENTENCE

G. L. BICKFORD.

Washburn, N. D., Oct. 21.—The motion of the attorneys for G. L. Bickford, former state treasurer, convicted of embezzlement, for a new trial, was denied by Judge Crawford here yesterday and he sentenced Bickford to an indeterminate sentence in the state penitentiary of from one to three years, also to pay a fine and costs of $509.

The attorneys for the defense immediately filed a notice of appeal to the supreme court and bail bonds were fixed in the amount of $10,000, which will be furnished.

Mr. Bickford returned to his home at Bowbells yesterday afternoon. He was tried for embezzling a large sum of money, but was convicted on an item involving comparatively only a few dollars.

BODY IS SAVED FROM DISSECTORS

Parent of Neri Wires in Time to Claim Body of Her Son.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The arrival of a telegram from his mother prevented the body of Charles Neri, who was killed here this week, being turned over to a medical college for dissecting purposes, as local authorities had given up in their effort to find any relatives when the mother's telegram came. She has ordered that the body be held pending further instructions.

In connection with the claiming of the body by the mother comes the information that the identity must be made complete because of insurance policies which he carried, and of which she is the beneficiary.

POISON INSTEAD OF HIS MEDICINE

Spooner Sawmill Employe Drinks From Wrong Bottle and Soon Dies.

Spooner, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Louis Moe, an employe of the Shevlin-Mathieu Mill company, who resides in Baudette but has his home here yesterday by taking carbolic acid in mistake for cough medicine. Moe was employed as barn boss by the company and as he was suffering from a bad cold he kept a bottle of medicine at the barn. He had also been treating one of the horses with carbolic acid and when he went to take his medicine he took a dose of the wrong bottle. He ran to the hospital here but the physician was out. Dr. F. H. Stuart of Baudette was immediately summoned, strong emetics being administered in the meantime. Before the doctor could arrive the man had succumbed. Moe leaves a wife and one small child to mourn his loss. He carried no life insurance.

YOUNG HIGHWAYMEN BOTH PLEAD GUILTY

Youths Who Held Up Man at International Falls Repentant.

International Falls, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Earl Northup, aged 15, and Earl Jenney, aged 17, Monday evening held up a Finn woodsman in the restricted district and relieved him of all he had, 80 cents. They were later arrested and held to the grand jury in $500 bonds.

Thursday they became repentant and decided to plead guilty and were taken to Bemidji by Deputy Sheriff Watt that they might enter their pleas before Judge Stanton and receive sentence.

Relatives of the accused and Attorney Kane went to Bemidji too in the expectation that Judge Stanton after passing sentence would parole the youths.

Woman Thief Fined.

Recently Mrs. Chamberlain missed some articles about her place in Frason's addition which she had reason to believe had been appropriated by a neighbor and as a result a search warrant was sworn out for the premises of M. Arbeck. The search located the missing articles and the arrest of Arbeck and his wife followed on a charge of petty larceny. The hearing was held in municipal court Wednesday afternoon, when Mrs. Arbeck was found guilty and fined $40 and costs and given the option of thirty days in jail. She produced the necessary amount of cash and was released. The husband was discharged on motion of the state.

Carrie Moore, dishwasher, who stole some spoons at Hotel Koochiching and had a bunch of different kinds of silverware taken from her by Landlord Wilson, had her trial Friday morning in municipal court and was fined $40 and costs or given the option of forty-five days in jail. She hasn't been able to raise the price as yet, therefore is still boarding with Sheriff Forrer.

PERSISTS COFFEE CONTAINED POISON

Star Witness in Stannard Murder Trial Withstands Severe Gruelling.

Ontonogan, Mich., Oct. 21.—17-year-old Grace Hammes sat like adamant yesterday while the batteries of the defense were turned against her to break down her story that Mrs. Laura Stannard put a powder in the breakfast coffee of her husband, Charles Stannard, the Sunday last March on which Stannard died in convulsions, giving rise to rumors of strychnine poisoning, and apparently the girl was not flustered or even tired when she was dismissed from the witness stand.

In only one particular was her story at the coroner's inquest seriously shaken. At different sessions of the coroner's court she had made conflicting statements as to the time when Stannard, on the day of his death, had said to the witness that he did not think he would live long. Once she had said it was before he drank the coffee and at another time she had said it was after. She was positive yesterday that the latter was correct.

Trouble in Household.

According to Miss Hammes' testimony, there had been much trouble in the Stannard household and it had been fully a week before Stannard's death, she said, since she had heard husband and wife talking harmoniously.

Samuel Goard, a relative who was with Stannard at the time of his death, denied positively that the word "poison," was heard in the room. He admitted that he heard Mr. Stannard say to Mrs. Stannard, "Laura, you don't love me."

Goard said that when he arrived at the house Mrs. Stannard told him her husband was having "the snakes."

Dr. J. F. Larned of Greenland, who attended Stannard the day of his death, was on the stand when court opened today.

OPEN NEW LINE MONDAY.

Great Northern Will Run Trains From Stanley to Wildrose.

Stanley, N. D., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Monday the new line of the Great Northern from here to Wildrose will be turned over to the operating department, and a regular schedule will be established. Work on this branch has progressed from the time it was definitely decided to go ahead with the work. As little of this year's crop has been moved out yet, the extension should be a paying proposition from the start.

In the several cities along the extension there have been marked building improvements within the last few weeks which augur well for the future of the territory.

BUILDING WAREHOUSE.

Duluth Concern Putting Up Grand Marais Building.

Grand Mara's, Minn., Oct. 21.—Renvig Johnson, with three men, began Tuesday morning to build a warehouse for the Fitger Brewing company of Duluth. It is being built on the three lots next to Paine's hotel. C. A. Rose was in Grand Marais the first of the week to make arrangements to get the men started on the work. The brewing company own a tract of land 75 by 100 feet which they purchased from the Cook County State bank.

Park River, N. D., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. M. Halldorson of this city, a graduate of the Royal university of Copenhagen and a practicing physician of this city over a period of twenty years, died suddenly of apoplexy. He was stricken about ten days ago just after a long drive cross country, and had practically recovered when the second stroke afflicted him.

EX-MINNESOTANS IN OREGON ORGANIZE.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Former residents of Minnesota, now living in Oregon, have organized the Minnesota Society of Oregon, according to a night letter that reached Governor Eberhart this morning; a constitution and by-laws adopted and arrangements made to hold a mass meeting Thursday, Oct. 26. E. P. Hopwood, chairman of the publicity committee, signed the message to the governor, as did George W. Bohn, S. F. Downing, L. W. O'Rourke, Roscoe Fawcett and B. E. Taylor.

RAILROAD NEGLIGENT.

Father of Michigan Man Blames Company for Son's Death.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Oct. 21.—Charles J. L. Forell, Sr., arrived home Wednesday from Hansel, N. D., where he had been investigating the cause of the accident which resulted in the death of his son Frederick. Evidence was obtained indicating that the railroad company was negligent in the premises and it is probable that a suit for damages will be instituted.

TRACY LOSES CASE.

Supreme Court Affirms Judgment Against Minnesota Town.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 21.—The supreme court yesterday affirmed the decision of the district court which awarded Mrs. Hazel Gilbert of Tracy, $3,000 from the town of Tracy, for the death of her husband, killed at the electric light plant and pumping station there, March 11, 1909. Tracy's clothing caught in a gas engine while he was at work and he was dashed to death. The supreme court refused to recognize the plea of contributory negligence because evidence indicated his death resulted from improperly guarded machinery.

BALTIC MINER DIES FROM HIS INJURY.

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Pucci, aged 33 years, died Wednesday evening at the Trimountain hospital, from the effects of injuries received on Monday last at the Baltic mine where Pucci was employed as a miner. A fall of rock occurred, striking Pucci, and inflicting severe wounds in the chest, shoulders and arm. He was married and leaves two children.

ACCUSED'S VOLUNTARY STATEMENT INTRODUCED.

Aberdeen, S. D., Oct. 21.—The most important development in the trial of Mrs. Eva May Krieter, charged with having murdered her husband, was the introduction by the prosecution of a statement said to have been made voluntarily by Mrs. Krieter the day after her husband's death. According to the statement, Krieter, on the night of his death, attacked his wife with a butcher knife during a quarrel. Mrs. Krieter said he tripped and fell back against the door and the knife inflicted the wound in his back which caused his death.

UNIVERSITY ASSOCIATION ENDS MINNEAPOLIS MEET.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 21.—The sixteenth annual meeting of the National Association of Universities ended here yesterday with the election of officers as follows: President William Lowe Bryan, Indiana university; vice president, Thomas Kane, Washington university; secretary-treasurer, Guy Potter Benton, Vermont university.

These officers and Dr. George E. McLean, Idaho university, and President Venable, Ohio university, make up the new executive committee.

Resolutions paying tribute to the memory of Former President M. H. Buckham, University of Vermont, and President O. J. Craig, University of Montana, were adopted.

"KNOW WHAT EBERHART DOES FOR MINNESOTA."

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Indian branch of the National Conservation association has invited Governor Eberhart to speak at a meeting to be held in Minneapolis Oct. 28. A letter from William Holton Dye, president of the organization, to Governor Eberhart says:

"We know what you are doing for Minnesota and you have quite a few friends here. We extend you a cordial invitation to be present on the 28th and address us on any topic you see fit."

Registration Nearly 50,000.

Dallas, S. D. Oct. 21.—The total registration at the close of yesterday's business was 47,176. The registration officers at all points will close up at 12 o'clock tonight and the drawing will commence at Gregory Tuesday forenoon at 10 o'clock.

Aitkin County Land Sale.

Aitkin, Minn., Oct. 21.—Clerk Nelson of the state land department held a sale of land here this week and disposed of 1,400 acres. Sales have taken place every month during the summer. The total yesterday was the smallest of any. The next and last sale of the year will take place Nov. 17.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Ishpeming—Bert Russell and wife of Duluth, who have been visiting H. G. O'Keefe and family for the past few weeks, left Friday morning in his White touring car for Oconto, Wis., where they will spend several days visiting relatives. They will return to Ishpeming, shipping the car to Duluth by train.

Marquette—A freight car broke a wheel and went off the track on L'Anse hill at an early hour Thursday morning, blocking the South Shore track for about four hours. The passenger train from the Copper country that meets No. 8 at Nestoria was run via the Mineral Range and Copper Range to Sidnaw, where connection with No. 8 was made.

Republic—The ore is moving from the stockpiles at the Republic mine at a satisfactory rate, and it is now thought that the property will be operated with the usual force throughout the winter months. There will be ample space for the dumping of all the ore hoisted this winter.

Iron Mountain—Mine Inspector Trestrail, in his report to the board of supervisors, has recommended the establishment of a mine rescue station at some central point in the county. The cost of the equipment for a station would be small and Mr. Trestrail states that he would undertake the work of instructing classes at the several mines in the matter of using the safety apparatuses.

Ishpeming—The Iron County Dental society will hold its quarterly meeting at Dr. Jarvis' camp, near Island lake, southwest of Ishpeming. The dentists will leave Ishpeming Saturday for the camp to be gone till Sunday or Monday.

Marquette—The condition of Frank Van Handle, who was brought here from Cusson, Wis., last week, suffering from severe burns, continues to be satisfactory. He is at present at St. Mary's hospital.

Hancock—Work on the new county tuberculosis sanitarium, being reared now on the brow of the hill fronting Portage lake, west of the county infirmary, is advancing quickly, and electricians have been engaged in wiring the building. Within a short time the heating plant will also be installed.

Calumet—A total of ten births was reported to Township Clerk George Martin Thursday morning, as having occurred in Calumet township during the preceding twenty-four hours.

Hancock—The Finnish Evangelical Lutheran church is again pastorless. Rev. Johan Hannuksela, who some weeks ago was elected to the pulpit, has declined the Hancock charge. Rev. Hannuksela told the trustees of the church, in a letter to them, that he did so on advice of people in Hancock. He did not mention the names of his advisors. Rev. Mr. Hannuksela is in Finland.

Calumet—The Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church has made arrangements for a Halloween social to be given at the church on Tuesday evening, Oct. 31. Refreshments will be served.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Braham—The postal savings department of the Braham postoffice was duly opened to the public last Saturday and $61 was deposited the first day. P. E. Hesselroth was the first depositor.

Elbow Lake—A. F. Chase of Parkers Prairie on his way home from Norcross, where he had been working in the harvest fields, burst a blood vessel on the left side of his neck. He lay out of doors a mile east of Erdahl two days and two nights. One side of his body was paralyzed.

Fergus Falls—John Aldrich, who resides in Carlisle, was in the city Wednesday and engaged Anton Thompson to bring suit against the British Columbia Electric Railway company for $20,000 on account of the death of his son, Vernon Aldrich, at Vancouver.

Onamia—A suit for $200,000 has been filed against the Soo Line by the residents of three townships at Onamia for damages done by fires set by their engines in 1910. The company has settled the claims of a few of the settlers, and the others have joined together in bringing the action.

St. Cloud—The village of Watkins is to open its new municipal building Wednesday evening, when a big ball is to be given in the theatrical hall on the second floor of the block. The new village building is 110 by 50 feet in dimension, two stories high and of solid brick.

Little Falls—Arrangements were being made Thursday by two or three business men to open the Merchants' elevator building as a potato warehouse. Nothing definite had been done at the time of going to press, but the building had been inspected and the refusal of it secured.

St. Paul—With the photograph of his 8-year-old daughter, Geraldine, in his hand, A. D. Johnson, 30 years old, 527 Canada street, took his life. Johnson had separated from his wife and was despondent.

Owatonna—The two 12-year-old desperadoes, Eugene Strauss and Major Williams, Tuesday broke down and confessed to a series of crimes, ranging from the theft of $225 to the destruction of property and the shooting of a cow. They told how they stole from private homes and from the dormitories of Pillsbury academy.

Wahkon—W. H. Ebner, who resided near Wahkon until recently, is building a box factory at Elk River, being proprietor of the firm, known as the Crow River Box factory. The factory will make a specialty of berry crates, apple boxes, egg cases and veneer of all descriptions, and will employ sixteen men.

Grand Marais—Leo F. Gross has returned from Alaska after being away for a year and a half. He and Arthur Olson, formerly of Grand Marais, have been together and Mr. Olson is still there looking after their claims. They and some of their friends have several mining claims staked out and they are looking for the "pay streak."

Moorhead—In district court Thursday afternoon Judge Nye granted the motion of City Attorney Garfield Rustad to dismiss the case of Severina Jar against the City of Moorhead for $5,000 for injury alleged to have been sustained through a defective sidewalk. The motion to dismiss was made on the ground that the notice of suit had not been properly served, and the court so held.

She Stayed In Bed

Ingram, Texas—"Ever since I became a woman," writes Mrs. E. M. Evans, of this place, "I suffered from womanly troubles. Last fall, I got so bad, I had to stay in bed for nearly a week every month. Since I have taken Cardui, I feel better than I have for years." You can rely on Cardui. It acts on the womanly organs and helps the system to regain its normal state of health, in a natural way. Prepared especially for women, it prevents womanly pains by acting on the cause, and builds up womanly strength in a natural way. Purely vegetable. Mild, but certain in action. Try it.

MATRIMONIAL MARKET NEWS OF THE DAY

The demand for fat ladies, young or old, is still very light. The willowy girl, with the animated eye and straight front aspect, is, however, much inquired after.

The ceaseless stream of Gibson and Fisher Girl pictures, advertised by every magazine cover, continues to perpetuate this situation.

There is only one chance for the fattish woman, and that is for her to reduce. If she can quickly grow into the likeness of the front cover fascinator, without the hard labor of exercising, or the purgatory of dieting, it seems she ought to try. This is not impossible—nay, it is a fact, demonstrated by thousands in 1909. Let her take the elegant Marmola Prescription Tablet after meals and at bed time. It will reduce her a pound a day.

This suggestion is made in all seriousness. Why not reduce when it entails no trouble, causes no wrinkles, costs very little cash? One can start today, take off the fat (where most objectionable) from hips, abdomen, chin, etc., and do it uniformly and safely, too, for the tablet named, being made from the famous prescription—½ oz. Marmola, ½ oz. Fl. Ex. Cascara Aromatic, 3½ oz. Peppermint Water—is, of course, noninjurious. Tender your druggist seventy-five cents for a large case or write for same to the Marmola Co., 491 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

Here's Something New

No more ashes to lug. No clumsy pan to spill dust and dirt on the kitchen floor.

The Glenwood Ash Chute

solves the problem. It is located just beneath the grate and connected by a sheet iron pipe straight down through the kitchen floor to ash barrel in cellar. No part is in sight. Not a particle of dust can escape. Just slide the damper once each day and drop the ashes directly into the ash barrel.

The Dust Tight Cover

to barrel is another entirely new Glenwood Idea and is very ingenious. The Ash Chute is sold complete with barrel and all connections, as illustrated, at a moderate price to fit any cabinet style Glenwood. This is only one of the splendid improvements of the Plain Cabinet Glenwood the Range without ornamentation or fancy nickel, "The Mission Style" Glenwood. Every essential refined and improved upon.

Up-To-Date Gas Attachments

This Range can be had with the latest and most improved Elevated or End Gas Range attachments. It has a powerful hot water front or for country use a Large Copper Reservoir on the end opposite fire box. It can be furnished with fire box at either right or left of oven as ordered. When the Ash Chute cannot be used an Improved Ash Pan is provided.

Makes Cooking Easy.

Doctor's Best Formula

Breaks Severest Cold in a Day and Cures Any Curable Cough.

This has been published here for several winters and has proven the quickest and most reliable formula obtainable for coughs and colds. "Get two ounces of Glycerine and half an ounce of Concentrated Pine compound. Then get half a pint of good whiskey and put the other two ingredients into it. Shake it well and take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bed time. Smaller doses to children according to age. Be sure to get only the genuine (Globe) Concentrated Pine. Each half ounce bottle comes in a sealed tin screw-top case. Any druggist has it on hand or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. Any one can mix it. Don't experiment with preparations because of cheapness. It don't pay to fool with a bad cold.

GIVES IT UP IN DISGUST

Gopher's Commander Will Search for "Flying Dutchman" No Longer.

Part of Hold Cargo Found—Vessel Has Probably Sunk.

The finding of a part of the cargo which had been stored in the hold of the derelict lumber steamer A. L. Hopkins, has convinced Guy A. Eaton, commander of the United States training ship Gopher, that the abandoned boat has sunk.

The Gopher returned to Duluth last evening after searching for a second time for the derelict. Wreckage found yesterday, according to Mr. Eaton, goes to show conclusively that the boat is not afloat.

In the hold of the Hopkins, several thousand feet of No. 2 hemlock lumber had been stored. The deck load was of No. 1 hemlock and laths only. The No. 1 hemlock has been run across by the searchers continually, but it was not until yesterday that the cargo from the hold was found afloat.

John Comstock, employed by the Waesmuth Lumber company of Bayfield, which loaded the Hopkins, just before she started out on her ill-fated trip, was aboard the Gopher yesterday, when she ran into the floating hemlock and he identified the timbers as coming from the hold.

This would mean only one thing, said Mr. Eaton this morning, and that is that the deck gave way and released the load in the hold. The lumber in the hold being the only thing that was keeping the vessel afloat, naturally it would sink. Other finds have also substantiated the theory that the Hopkins has gone to the bottom. The spar of the boat was yesterday found ashore at Iron River, twelve miles west of Ontonagon and in the wreckage which the Gopher and Vidette ran across yesterday, there were found large floating objects, which undoubtedly were portions of the deck. Other wreckage such as chairs, tables, deck houses, bulk heads, have been found.

From Washington, D. C., today, Capt. Albert Swenson of the Duluth hydrographic office received word that a report had been made there of the finding by Capt. Thompson of the steamer Zenith City on Oct. 16, a large portion of the deck of the Hopkins. The piece was 50 by 30 feet, according to the message. Two days after this Capt. Bailey of the steamer Corey reported sighting the floating hulk.

Yesterday the Gopher and the Vidette together made a systematic search of the portion of the lake that the vessel was last reported to be seen and found nothing, although they covered an area of 400 square miles and the day was perfect and the water comparatively smooth.

Capt. Eaton says that the Gopher will not go out again to hunt for the derelict, regardless of whether there are any more reports brought in of steamers sighting her or not. "What appears peculiar to me," said Mr. Eaton this morning, "is that some of these vessels which claimed to have passed by the wreck did not pick her up." It is probable that the Vidette will also abandon any further search for the steamer.

FOGS DELAY BOAT.

Vessels Frequently Held Up in Rivers and Owners Losing Money.

All boats are now losing a great deal of time in the rivers. The fall fogs make navigation impossible between Lake Huron and Lake Erie almost every night, and each morning a large fleet is anchored at the Lake Erie and Lake Huron ends of the route waiting for the sun to rise. From three to six and eight hours of time is being lost by every boat which reached either end of the river route during the night.

The loss in time means a large loss in money for each individual vessel owner, and this loss is only partly offset by the higher rates which are now in effect. The wages of the sailors have been increased for the fall months to compensate for the increased amount of work and the greater danger.

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT WILL REMOVE WRECK.

According to word received here the Canadian government will take action within a few days in disposing of the obstruction to navigation caused by the wreck of the steamer Joliet in the St. Clair river, abreast of Port Huron.

Assistant Chief Engineer Frazer of the Canadian department of marine and fisheries, was in Port Huron this week investigating the condition of the wreck, which lies in forty feet of water. He was undecided whether an attempt will be made to raise the wreck or blow it to pieces with dynamite.

Since the Joliet has been on the bottom, following her collision with the steamer Phipps, a lightship has been maintained at the spot marking the wreck. Several serious accidents narrowly have been averted.

CAPTAINS SAY 1,200 BOATS ARE IMPRACTICABLE

Some of the lake captains are scouting the idea of the possibility of 1200-foot boats on the lakes for the present generation at least.

In reference to the prophecy recently made by Supt. Sabin of the Soo canal, Capt. John Tower of the steamer James H. Reed, says: "The 600-footers are too unwieldy. They haven't enough power for their size or to turn in a heavy storm. This was proved in the great storm six years ago, when so many vessels came to grief on the Duluth course. The talk about 1200-footers is foolish."

D. & C. LINE TO BUILD DOCKS COSTING $250,000.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—New steel and concrete docks, costing $250,000 will be erected at the foot of East Ninth street here for the Detroit & Cleveland Navigation company and the Cleveland and Buffalo lines.

In a way, the improvement hangs on a decision of the supreme court, to which litigation over the lake front will be carried this fall. If the higher courts confer with the common plea rulings, the new dock will undoubtedly be built.

TO BUY HOME FOR MOTHER

Two Duluth Girls Go on Vaudeville Stage for This Purpose.

To build a home for their widowed mother, two Duluth girls, Caroline and Mary Keenan, 16 and 17 years old, will go on the stage, making their debut at the Savoy theater next week.

In spite of the fact that they have had many previous offers, for they are both talented young women, they have resisted the fascination of the glare of the footlights until this time, preferring to stay at home and contribute as much help as possible to their widowed mother.

So intent were the girls on securing a home of ther own that they began to look for a profession where the wish could be realized. They saw that they might struggle along for years without having attained their end, and this is the inducement that takes them into vaudeville.

Both of the girls have excellent voices, and Charles Ellison, manager of the Savoy theater, is certain that he can make a good 'sister act" with them. He has already tried them out, and they will appear at the Savoy next week. "I am satisfied that they will make a hit," said Mr. Ellison, "and if they do, I can get them as much 'time' as they want. A good act of this type will earn about $100 a week, or even more, and if the girls make good next week, they will carry out their ambition and should soon save enough to buy a modest little home for their mother."

The mother is reluctant to let the girls go, but finally gave her consent. "They are good, sensible girls, and are capable of taking care of themselves," she said. The girls will call themselves the "Duluth Sisters."

ADVICE FOR ASSESSOR

100 Business Men Will Be Consulted on Property Values.

City Assessor J. A. Scott is preparingn to "interview" about 100 of the best posted business men and property owners in the city to get their opinions as to the value of certain pieces of property in the downtown section.

The assessor is doing this in furtherance of his plan to make a complete revaluation of the real property of the city. He has already secured considerable information relative to the values in the city, but he wants to leave no stone unturned to make the assessment as nearly just as possible. He believes that the business men and property owners, including some of the real estate dealers, will be able to give him much valuable assistance.

He is having lists of the property prepared on which he desires opinions and will mail them to the men whom he has selected because of their knowledge of the situation. The replies will be carefully scrutinized and then indexed and filed away for reference purposes. The assessor already has what he thought to be a good idea of the value of the property, but he wishes to have the figures corroborated, and if discrepancies are discovered they will be carefully checked up.

The "school" is being conducted every Saturday afternoon and the men who are in the field are able to help one another considerably by the exchange of ideas and information.

FILE ANSWER IN BARROWS SUIT

An answer to the complaint of George L. Barrows in the suit against the village of Alice, in which the existence of the village as a municipal corporation is at stake, was filed with the clerk of the United States district court this afternoon.

The defendants, who include S. Barret, village president, and other officers of Alice, deny most of the allegations made by Barrows and assert that they are lawfully exercising the powers of their respective offices, that the village was lawfully incorporated and is existing pursuant to the laws of Minnesota.

V. L. Power of Hibbing is attorney for the village in the action.

CLAIM ADMINISTRATOR WAS WRONGFULLY NAMED.

A petition for a writ of certiorari has been granted the Great Northern Railroad company by Judge Dibell of the district court and as the result, Judge Gilpin of the probate court will have to produce all the files in the case of Andrew Tempeles, who was recently killed while working for the company in North Dakota, and whose heirs are about to sue the company.

The estate consists of nothing more than the right to sue the railroad company.

It was claimed that Tempeles formerly lived at Brookston, Minn., and upon information of this fact furnished by Thorwald Hansen and who wanted to be appointed administrator, Judge Gilpin of the probate court appointed him.

The railroad company claims that this information was erroneously given. The railroad company claims that it has proof that he never was a resident of this county and that the local probate court has no jurisdiction over the case.

The company through its attorneys, Baldwin and Baldwin, claims that it filed affidavits in probate court and asked that the administrator be removed.

Judge Gilpin then commanded Tempeles to show cause why the petition of the railroad should not be granted. He appeared in probate court and moved to dismiss and the motion was granted.

The company now appeals from the decision of the probate court through the petition for the writ of certiorari and as it has been granted by Judge Dibell, the case will probably come on for hearing next week.

STOLE FOR HIS SISTER

Oliver Nelson Wanted to See Her Fashionably Clad.

Oliver Nelson and Anna Nelson, brother and sister, pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the second degree before Judge William A. Cant of the district court this noon and were given indeterminate sentences at Stillwater.

The defendants were arrested at their flat at 2104 West Superior street Tuesday of last week and charged with shop lifting. About $200 worth of merchandise taken from Duluth stores, was found in the room.

At first they denied their guilt and later the woman, hardly more than a girl, being but 19 years old, confessed that she had taken all the things herself and that her brother was entirely innocent.

It developed at the hearing in district court this morning that it was for the love of his sister and his fondness to see her clad fashionably that the man stole property from department stores. The girl said that never had she known of him taking anything for himself.

Attorney T. J. McKeon represented the two when in court this morning. For the man he did not say much but he made an eloquent plea to have the girl released under the parole system.

In sentencing them both to an indefinite term at Stillwater Judge Cant said that fear of consequences keeps as many people from wrong doing as love of what is right does for others. He made the distinction between the two kinds of people and stated that they had to be dealt with accordingly.

Nelson stood before the court this morning in fear and trembling. He did not exhibit half as much nerve as did his sister.

Could Not Talk.
When asked to tell how he began to steal and some thing about himself, he only hung his head, wept, and stated between sobs that he felt so bad that he could not talk.

Both the man and his sister were born in Norway. He is 32 years old. Both parents are living. They came to Duluth recently from Minneapolis. Nelson has held responsible positions and his sister has worked as a domestic in the homes of Minneapolis and Duluth families.

They operated by the aid of a pasteboard box such as tailors use to put up suits. In this was a hole through which they slipped their stolen goods. It is thought that every large store in Duluth gave its toll to the box.

That they were clever as "lifters" is without question but they neglected to take the tags from the goods after they had been taken home. This is how the goods were identified. The tags bearing the names of the several companies were all attached when the officers found them.

At first Nelson was satisfied to allow the sister to take all the blame and stoutly maintained that he knew nothing about it. Later he changed his mind and pleaded guilty.

On one occasion they purchased a dishpan at one of the stores and by punching a hole through the paper wrapping they concealed the trinkets which they lifted on their excursions.

When the officers searched the room they found a great collection of miscellaneous articles. Most of it was finery and much of it was what people, working for small wages have to get along without.

The girl explained that she simply took this method of getting articles that she could not afford to purchase and pay for.

DIRECTORS GO TO BUTTE

Butte & Superior Officials Will Arrange for Concentrating Mill.

Five directors of the Butte & Superior Copper company of Duluth, left the city last evening for Butte, Mont., where they will make an inspection of the company's mining properties, with a view to arranging for the building of a concentrating mill. It is expected that this mill will cost in the neighborhood of $200,000. The money has already been raised by selling the company's bonds to Hayden, Stone & Co., bankers and brokers of Boston. The company has been using an old concentrating mill that was built twenty years ago by F. Augustus Heinze about twenty-five miles northeast of Butte. The lease expires on June 30 next.

When the company was organized five years ago, the intention was to mine and sell copper, for the most part, but the company's properties have turned out to be also rich in zinc, and the mining and sale of zinc is the main issue. Lead, copper, gold and silver are produced as by-products. J. B. Becher, second vice-president and assistant treasurer of the company, declared today that the company was making more money out of its zinc operations than it ever could have made out of copper, as it nets $3.50 to $4 on every ton of ore taken out of the ground.

The party of directors that left last night consisted of: A. B. Wolvin, president of the company; J. F. Killorin, William White, I. Freimuth and Theodore Hollister. Mr. White had just returned from a trip to Toronto.

SUPERIOR

May Lose Claim.

Frank Kaminski of Superior will soon be called upon to explain why he registered twice for land in the South Dakota reservations, according to dispatches received yesterday from Gregory, S. D. The dispatch also says that he not only registered twice, but also drew numbers on each occasion. Unless he can explain satisfactorily why he registered twice, he will not only lose his right to a claim, but is also subject to persecution for making a false oath on his second application for registration.

Leak in Feed Pipe.

At the preliminary meeting held yesterday afternoon by the fire investigating committee appointed to ascertain the causes of the serious bay front fire several weeks ago, the testimony of W. M. Powers, former superintendent of the Northwestern Oil & Grease company, brought out the fact that the intake pipes had been defective since April, 1911. Mr. Powers also thought that the board of directors are unwilling to spend any more money for improvements. The committee came to the conclusion, during the meeting, that the fire was caused by a leak in the gasoline feed pipe.

USED WITS TO GET ROOM

Officers Took Prisoner Out of Crowded Hotel at International Falls.

Leave it to the cops to get a place to sleep when they hit a town where the hotels are full.

Thursday night Detective Terry and Deputy Sheriff O'Dea landed at International Falls, where they went to serve two warrants of arrest. When they applied at the hotel for a room the clerk told them there was "nothing doing," every available room and cot being occupied.

Then it was that they got in their work. The detective glanced over the register until he came to the name of Lewis Fayette Smith, who was down for Room No. 37. At his request the clerk showed him to the room. He placed Smith under arrest, and after having landed him in the lockup, he and O'Dea returned to the hotel and occupied the room which had been so summarily vacated by the former guest, who spent the night in jail.

Wanted for Larceny.
Smith is wanted here for the theft of about $160 worth of jewelry and other articles from Mrs. Anna Carlson at Twenty-fourth avenue east and Second street last August. It is stated that he was employed in the house as a decorator. He says that he follows that trade during the summer and the theatrical line as a crayon artist the rest of the time. It was in connection with the latter that he was in International Falls.

The police state that Smith admits the theft of part of the articles. When arraigned in police court this morning he asked for an examination, which was set for next Wednesday.

Non-Support Charged.
Deputy Sheriff O'Dea arrested Thomas Beaton at International Falls on a charge of non-support, the complaint having been sworn out by his wife, who alleges that he has failed to provide for her the last year. He entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned here this morning and his trial was set for Monday afternoon. Beaton is well known here, having formerly been in the restaurant business in this city. He stated today that he has a home for his wife at International Falls, but that she refuses to live there. He said that the children have been with him for the last year or so.

CROOKSTON IS GIVEN FRIGHT

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A mouse, unassisted, engineered a coup which threw Crookston in total darkness, and panic last night for fifteen minutes, at 10 o'clock, but paid the penalty of electrocution. Every light in the city went out instantly when the mouse crawled between the contact points on the main switchboard carrying 2,300 volts.

When darkness came the engineer rushed to throw the switch off and fell into a 10-foot pit dug for the installation of new turbine connections and was knocked unconscious, but restored by fellow employes.

Children in Near Panic.
A panic was narrowly averted in the Masonic hall, where 250 children were assembled for the annual Eastern Star children's party. The current was switched to another connection and the cause of the trouble discovered this morning.

Every street light was out also.

Because of the Eldred bank robbery many were apprehensive that a similar stunt was being pulled off here.

FESLER TALKS TO LUNCH CLUB

City Attorney Bert Fesler, who is engaged in a campaign in support of the municipal electric light and power plant project, addressed the Saturday Lunch club, at the Commercial club today. There was a good sized gathering.

Mr. Fesler said that his campaign this week was induced by the fact that the precedent established come years ago of giving the voters of Duluth an opportunity to express themselves on grave public questions is threatened in the city council. He said that he is not concerned just now with the way the people may vote, but with the question of giving them an opportunity to vote.

Mr. Fesler followed with a talk on the municipal lighting project, keeping about to the lines he followed in other speeches this week.

MUDDY FIELD FOR TIGER-NAVY GAME

Middies Muster Full Strength for Battle Against Princeton.

Annapolis, Oct. 21.—Rain which fell all night and continued this morning has put the athletic field at the Naval academy into soft and muddy condition for today's football game between the Midshipmen and the Princeton eleven. The bad weather was a keen disappointment to the followers of the game who expected to witness the first game on the new gridiron.

The Middies will be able to muster their full strength. Hamilton, left end, is the only regular who will be out. He was replaced by Overesch, a fourth year classman who has been showing up well and is a little heavier than the veteran he supplants.

The probable lineup:

Navy—		Princeton—
Overesch	le	White
Brown	lt	Phillips
Elmer	lg	Wilson
Weems	c	Bluemental
Howe	rg	Brown
Redman	rt	McLean
Gilchrist	re	Vaughn
Sowell	qb	Rendleton
Dalton	lhb	Baker
McReavey	rhb	Sawyer
Rodes	fb	Towitt

Referee—Pendleton, Bowdoin. Umpires—Torrey, University of Pennsylvania.

MANY KILLED IN MINE IN SICILY.

Palmero, Sicily, Oct. 21.—An explosion has occurred in a mine at Trabonella. It is reported that 100 persons were killed.

Good Ore Samples.

James Cardle, president of the Vermilion Iron Development company, returned today from an inspection of the property at Pine Island. He reports that the best ore that has been encountered since the work was started two years ago, has been found. These ore specimens show from 57 to 60 percent, said Mr. Cardle, and from the present indications the officers of the company believe they will have struck a large body of ore before the work has progressed another thirty days.

"The prospects at the company have never looked so good as they do at the present time," said Mr. Cardle. "We believe that we will be into a big ore body before the work has progressed a month. Every indication points to its existence. We have never taken out as fine specimens as we are getting at the present time, and are greatly encouraged as to future development."

J. J. HILL'S SON DECLINES TO TALK

Walter J. Hill, son of James J. Hill chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern, stated here yesterday that he knew nothing regarding the facts in the cancellation of the lease of the Great Northern ore properties by the United States Steel corporation.

Young Mr. Hill came here and made an inspection of the company's dock at Allouez in company with D. M. Philbin, superintendent of the Lake division of the Great Northern.

He stated that he knew nothing whatever regarding the facts in the case.

ROBINSON MAY NOT FINISH HIS FLIGHT.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 21.—Hugh Robinson, who is flying from Minneapolis to New Orleans in a hydro-aeroplane, sent a telegram from Rock Island, Ill., to the Aero club of St. Louis today, threatening to end the flight at Rock Island unless St. Louis puts up a guarantee of $2,000. H. A. Lambert, president of the Aero club of St. Louis, replied to Robinson's demand by withdrawing the guarantee which was less than $2,000 that had been collected for Robinson's arrival here.

EBERHART INVITED TO HUNT WITH COMISKEY.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Eberhart has received an invitation from Charles A. Comiskey of the Chicago "White Sox" baseball team to attend the twelfth annual hunting and fishing trip given by him in Northern Wisconsin. According to the invitation, the expedition will start for the Jerome Fishing and Hunting club's reserve at Trudo Lake, Oct. 23. The party will remain there till Nov. 3.

REPRESENT STATE AT DAIRY CATTLE CONGRESS.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Eberhart today announced the delegates from Minnesota to the meeting of the American Dairy Cattle congress in Chicago next month. Two were chosen from each congressional district of the state. The list follows:

E. T. Winship, Owatonna; Dr. Christopher Graham, Rochester; Frank Richardson, Lake Crystal; Dr. M. B. Wood, Mankato; S. G. Anderson, Hutchinson; G. N. Knapp, Stanton; G. S. Welshons, Stillwater; M. D. Munn, St. Paul; Henry Forster and John B. Irwin, Minneapolis; Andrew A. Johnson, Grove City; T. A. Erickson, Alexandria; Charles Nelson, Atwater; W. H. Gold, Redwood Falls; George P. Grout, Duluth; A. J. McGuire, Grand Rapids; E. C. Schroeder, Moorhead; Carl Gaumnitz, Butler.

BIDS ON THE STATE SCHOOL ARE TOO HIGH.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bids for new buildings at the state training school for girls at Sauk Center, opened by the board of control yesterday, probably will all be rejected, because they are too high. Only $63,000 is available for the buildings, and to erect them under the bids made would entail an expenditure of between $75,000 and $80,000.

RAILROADS

ANNUAL MEETING.

Directors and Other Officers of Omaha Are All Re-elected.

Hudson, Wis., Oct. 21.—The annual meeting of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad was held here yesterday. The following were elected directors for three years: Marvin Hughitt, Byron L. Smith, Chauncey M. Depew, David P. Kimball and Zenas Crane. The officers were re-elected, as were those of the St. Paul and Sioux City road, a subsidiary line, whose annual meeting was held in St. Paul.

WHEAT DOWN A FRACTION

Duluth Futures Show Slight Decline From Friday's Close.

Big Drop in Flax, Due to Heavy Receipts at Minneapolis.

Duluth Board of Trade, Oct. 21.—Yesterday's advance in wheat, generally speaking, was about maintained today in the markets of North America. Some of these markets showed losses today and others showed gains, but the variations amounted to little, either for the bear or the bull side. The Duluth futures showed losses, both December and May being an eighth of a cent off at the close. Duluth December, which closed yesterday at $1.11¼, closed today at $1.11⅛ bid, and Duluth May, which closed yesterday at $1.14⅝ bid, made a close today at $1.14⅜. But if the Duluth futures showed slight losses, the cash wheat was actually higher in some grades. Duluth No. 1 hard closed at $1.13⅛, a higher figure than it has struck at any time this fall, going away beyond even the sensational close of Sept. 23, when the defeat of reciprocity boosted it to $1.12.

Liverpool early in the day cabled today's close as unchanged to ¼d higher. There were many conflicting factors operating on that market. There were good reports from Argentina, where rain had fallen in abundance through the wheat country. At the same time Australia reported that its wheat farms were badly in need of rain. The low grading at Winnipeg had a great deal to do in the way of bulling the market. On this side of the water the openings were both above and below the closing figures of yesterday. The Duluth openings were weak. There could not be a great deal of sagging, however, in the face of the unfavorable thrashing weather both in the American Northwest and Western Canada. The movements were not sensational, and neither the bears nor the bulls achieved much at any time during the day.

In the flax market, the situation was different. Minneapolis today came to the aid of the Duluth flax bears, who, for several days have had little to say about the flax movements. Today, however, Minneapolis had 105 cars of flax on the track. This led to a great deal of bulling for the holders were anxious to take advantage, as far as possible of prevailing high prices. Duluth being the only option market in the United States, the sales of the options were numerous. The result was that the price of flax fell rapidly. Nor was there any shortage at Duluth to keep it up, for there were 40 cars of flax on the track. All the futures took a sudden slump. Duluth October closed at $2.38, having lost 7 cents; November at $2.34, 5 cents down and December at $2.30 bid, 5½ cents down.

Oats closed ⅛c up, durum 1c off and rye and barley the same as yesterday.

A wire from Chicago says: "J. M. Kaplinsky of St. Petersburg was a visitor on the 'change yesterday, bringing letters of introduction from the New York Produce exchange. He is in this country for the purpose of buying durum wheat for shipment to Russia and stopped here on his way to Duluth. He reported crop conditions in Russia as extremely bad."

Broomhall wired from Liverpool: "There was heavy covering by shorts at the opening in the near months, which were advanced ⅝d, while the distant months continued poor grading at Winnipeg, with some apprehension of heavy marketing in America and the resultant firmness of holders. Following the opening and during the remainder of the session, realizing displaced the early covering, and a price recession occurred, values declining ¼d to ½d. Prominent longs sold freely with free realizing by small traders on the small inquiry for forward shipment, the continued favorable reports from Argentina with the weakness at Buenos Ayres, and the free offers there of new wheat. The May opening was well supported on the unfavorable reports from Australia. At the close the market was irregular and generally easy with October unquoted and otherwise unchanged to ¼d higher than yesterday. Corn opened ¼d higher and first advanced with the undertone further advanced with the undertone strong. The strength in America and the strong spot market with the American grade up a further 1½d, led to a heavy covering. Our agent at Sydney, Australia, cables that the crops will require further rain during the next two weeks to insure a good yield. Spot markets: Wheat steady, unchanged; corn strong; mixed American corn, 1⅝d higher. Since Oct 2 this price has shown an advance of 7½d."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Advances in Spite of Week-End Profit Taking.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Despite week-end profit-taking, wheat today scored an advance. At the outset, many traders were disposed to be cautious in view of the fact that the market had experienced a rise of 5c in less than a fortnight and that a reaction might be expected under normal conditions. However, there were drouth reports from Australia, and more adverse weather in the Dakotas. Besides, with thrashing but half done, the Canadian Northwest estimated that owing to bad weather the yield had been reduced almost 9,000,000 bushels and that a more serious factor was the depreciation of grade. The opening was ⅛@¼c to ⅜c lower. December started at $1.01⅜@1.01⅞, to $1.02, a loss of ⅛ to ⅜c and then rose to $1.02⅜.

Later the sentiment in favor of a reaction gained ground and there was a gradual fall of prices. Covering by shorts in the last half hour, though, led to a sharp rally. The close was strong, with December ⅜c higher at $1.02½@1.02⅝.

Rather free realizing by longs made corn weak. Buying was not aggressive. December opened ⅛c to ⅜c down, at 66⅜c to 66⅝c, but seemed inclined to keep within that range.

Realizing in longs caused a further decline. The close, however, was firm at 66¼ for December, a net loss of ⅛c.

Some local speculative purchases served to give a firm tone to oats. December started unchanged to ⅛c up, at 48¼c to 48¼c and advanced to 48⅜c.

Improved prices for hogs helped the provision market. Initial sales were 5c lower to 12½c higher, with January deliveries $15.87½ for pork, $9.10 to $9.15 for lard and $8.25 to $8.27½ for ribs.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Sells Higher But Profit-Taking Destroys Advance.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 21.—Early today wheat sold up to still further new highs on this crop. December sold up to ⅛c above the high record yesterday. Week end profit-taking during the late session caused moderate recessions and closing prices were unchanged from yesterday. Sentiment among the local trade continued strongly bullish.

Local elevator stocks increased 100,000 bu for one day. Carlot wheat receipts with comparisons follow: Minneapolis, today, 446, week ago, 385, year ago, 310; Duluth, today, 221, week year ago, 310; Duluth, today, 221, week ago, 220, year ago, 132; Winnipeg, today, 652, week ago, 779, year ago, 422.

December opened $1.11@1.11⅛; high, $1.11⅜; low, $1.10⅞@1.11; closed, $1.11⅛; May opened, $1.15⅛@1.15¼; high, $1.15⅝; low, $1.14⅞; closed, $1.15¼; July opened, $1.15⅜; high, $1.15⅞; low, $1.15¾; closed, $1.15¾.

Cash wheat continued strong and the market was quoted steady. Mills and elevators were both active buyers. Choice milling and mixing grades were eagerly sought after. No. 1 northern sold for ⅛@1c above December. Closing cash prices: No. 1 hard, $1.12⅞; No. 1 northern, $1.12@1.12⅜; to arrive, $1.11⅞@1.12⅜; No. 2 northern, $1.09⅜@1.09⅝; to arrive, $1.10⅜; No. 3 wheat $1.05@1.06⅞; No. 1 yellow corn, 73c; No. 3 white oats, 46@46½c; No. 2 rye, 93@93½c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 2,298 tons. The mill feed market was about steady today. Demand continued strong and prices were unchanged. Bran in 100-lb sacks, $21.50@22.00.

Flour—The market was active and steady. Demand continued strong and the mills reported good sales. Prices were unchanged. Shipments, 60,959 bbls. today; this week, 371,361; last week, 398,616; year ago, 391,215. First patents, in wood, f. o. b. Minneapolis, $5.40@5.70; second patents $5.00@5.30; first clears, $3.90@4.25; second clears, $2.80@3.20.

Flax—Receipts, 105 cars; year ago, 78; shipments, 5. Demand was strong for spot flaxseed at 3c above the November contract and to arrive at the even November price. Closing price, $2.37; to arrive, $2.34.

Barley—Receipts, 92 cars; year ago, 61; shipments, 74. The lower range of prices today were quoted 8c higher than yesterday on account of the better grade of offerings. Demand was strong for malting grades at steady prices. Feeding barley which composed a large portion of the offerings was in slow demand. Closing range, 65c@$1.18.

New York Grain.

New York, Oct. 21.—Close: Wheat—Dec. $1.06⅝@1.06¾; May, $1.11⅛.

Liverpool Grain.

Liverpool, Oct. 21.—Closing: Wheat—Spot, nominal; futures, steady; October not quoted; December, 7s 7d; March, 7s 6¼d. Corn—Spot, firm; American mixed, 6s 6d; futures, strong; January, 5s 10⅝d; February, 5s 10⅜d.

Cotton Market.

New York, Oct. 21.—Cotton opened firm at an advance of from 15 to 22 points on heavy covering in response to firmer cables and bad weather conditions in the South. Cold rains were reported in Texas and Oklahoma, while the outlook for over Sunday in these sections was distinctly unfavorable, frost being predicted at several points. There was heavy reselling at the advance, however, and later in the forenoon prices reacted 7 to 8, suggesting that much of the scattered short interest had been covered. Private cables reported that the South was offering cotton less freely.

Futures closed barely steady. Closing bids: October, 9.28; November, 9.51; December, 9.47; January, 9.33; February, 9.39; March, 9.42; April, 9.48; May, 9.58; June, 9.63; July, 9.69; August, 9.64; September, 9.58. Spot closed quiet, 30 points higher. Middling uplands, 9.75; middling gulf, 10; sales, none.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 21.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: The market is quiet with clearance light in all classes of horses. Mules are also quiet, with little call. Movement was limited to retail orders from local retail interests. The market on the whole is weak in tone. Values have a downward tendency.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Close Is Weak at About Low Level of the Session.

Bear Selling of United States Steel on Mills' Closing.

New York, Oct. 21.—Stocks which led in the advance of yesterday's trading were sold heavily at the opening of the market today and lost part of their gains. United States Steel was again the most active issue, and declined ⅝. Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting lost ¾ and Union Pacific ½. Cincinnati & Ohio fell back ¼. Some of the industrials made fair gains, including Allis-Chalmers preferred and American Telephone.

Most of the initial losses were recovered before the bears succeeded in stopping the rally by a fresh attack on United States Steel. That stock yielded a point to 59⅜ and Union Pacific, Southern Pacific Reading and Lehigh Valley gave way nearly as much. Chesapeake & Ohio was hammered as a result of its poor annual report and lost 2.

The market closed weak. Chesapeake & Ohio extended its decline to over 3 points. Other stocks were sluggish, but ruled around the low level. Pittsburg advices that some mills had shut down for lack of orders encouraged bear selling of United States Steel.

REAL ESTATE

WEEKLY SURVEY OF REAL ESTATE DEVELOPMENTS

New Duluth to the Front—School Children as Homecrofters—West End Improvements--Chester Park District Growth.

IT IS gratifying to know that New Duluth, the steel plant suburb, is forging to the front with a number of new buildings and that Commonwealth avenue is assuming the proportions of a busy suburban thoroughfare.

Already a number of new buildings to be used for stores, banks and other business enterprises are under way and as many more are contemplated at the present time.

There is now a scarcity of houses at New Duluth. As fast as they are built, they are snapped up and the house situation has become a rather serious question.

It is more than an idle rumor that the steel company will build a group of perhaps 100 houses for its employes next spring. Coming from unofficial sources, it is understood that a Chicago firm already has been awarded the contract for the job.

There has been no hitch in the construction work of the great steel mills, the industry which is expected to prove of incalculable benefit to Duluth.

* * *

SCHOOL children at West Duluth have caught the homecroft idea, thanks to George H. Maxwell, homecrofter. The lecture given by Mr. Maxwell last week at the Irving school has inspired a number of West Duluth residents to get busy on the "home-acre" idea and the children are planning active work on garden plans.

Principal S. A. Foster of the Irving school, who has long favored an agricultural course in the public schools, claims that school children will not study an agricultural course unless they know more about farming than the average city boy does.

Prof. Foster thinks that a number of school children would choose agriculture as a vocation if they had more of an idea of what it is. He has talked the homecroft idea over with the schoolboys and has set about in earnest to organize a large colony of young homecrofters before seeding time next spring.

* * *

THE Sixth Ward Business club has mapped out a busy fall program and if the members succeed in getting half of what they are going after, they may consider themselves fortunate. These are some of the things that they want; the paving of West Third street; the improvement of Central park; the extension of the street railway lines to Proctor, the building of more sewage and drainage systems and the bettering of the lighting system in the Piedmont avenue district.

* * *

OF interest to Duluth real estate men is the announcement that Prof. George P. Grout, assistant professor of dairy husbandry at the University of Minnesota, will become superintendent of the Jean du Luth farm, succeeding W. C. Sargent, who has resigned to give his attention to his own property south of the Jean du Luth farm. Mr. Sargent has been superintendent for the past two years and leaves with an excellent record. Prof. Grout is conceded to be one of the most prominent dairy experts in the state, and his presence in this part of the country will be of great value to the farmers and dairymen.

HOME building in the vicinity of Chester park has taken an active turn and is now one of the features of the realty and building situation. The hillside between Ninth avenue east and the park is dotted with new homes which have sprung up this summer and real estate firms report a great deal of activity and much new building in prospect.

It is doubtful if the skating rink, which the city permitted to be erected at Fourteenth avenue east and Sixth street will materially detract from the value of surrounding property. The onward trend in building operations has not been checked in the least. The fact remains however, that skating rinks usually do not enhance the value of property in the immediate neighborhood where they are located.

NEW RESIDENCES FOR ZENITH CITY HOME BUILDERS

P. M. Olsen, architect, let the contract during the past week for the construction of a residence for F. J. O'Donnell, to be built at Woodland avenue and Park row at a cost of $6,000. Edward Lowe has the general contract, Stack Bros., the contract for the heating and plumbing and the Duluth Electrical company, the contract for the wiring.

* * *

James Johnson has the contract for the erection of a $5,000 home at Kenilworth park for J. Edling.

* * *

Excavation was started this week for a new flat and rooming house, which will be erected by Bergquist Bros., contractors, for Mrs. Anna Tenblad on Nineteenth avenue west between Superior and First street. The structure will cost about $6,000.

* * *

F. B. Rossam has taken out a permit for the construction of frame building on the southwest corner of Twenty-fourth avenue and Fourth street to cost $6,000.

* * *

Bergquist Brothers, contractors, have just completed the construction of two bungalow cottages at Eighteenth avenue east and Fifth street.

* * *

A new home to cost $2,000 is being built for Fred Bodin at Mygatt avenue and Sussex street.

* * *

During the week, David Adams, a West end homebuilder, took out two building permits, one for the construction of a frame dwelling on the east side of Seventeenth avenue east, between Fifth and Sixth streets to cost $2,000 and the other for the erection of a frame dwelling on the south side of West Fourth street between Forty-second and Forty-third avenues to cost $1,500.

* * *

Matt Johnson has started the erection of a new home to be built on Second avenue east between Fifth and Sixth streets.

* * *

A building permit was issued during the week to Appleby Bros., for the construction of a modern frame house on East Superior street between Thirtieth and Thirty-first avenues to cost $5,000.

* * *

Three more new homes are going up in Coleman's first addition, Woodland, making forty to be erected there since last spring. M. Brown and Robert McDonald are building on Crow Wing street and Herbert Brown on Winona street.

* * *

Alfred Peterson is erecting a frame dwelling house on the north side of West Fifth street between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh avenues west. It will cost $2,500.

* * *

A new residence is being built for Mary E. McComber on the north side of East Fifth street between Fifteenth and Sixteenth avenues. It will cost $3,500.

* * *

J. R. Quigley & Co., have taken out a building permit for the construction of a frame residence on the north side of West Seventh street between Sixth and Seventh avenues. It will cost $2,500.

people in general are not being held down on their expenditures.

"Demand for building iron and steel is not as active as in other years. Dealers are reasonably prompt on such materials. There is in view for the coming season a fair amount of work which must be taken up in the way of railroad improvements which will be carried on, at least in part. This with such new work as may confidently be expected to develop, will give a fair start for the new year.

"The demand for cement has been less active than for August, but August was exceptional so that the average for two months was good. The prospect for fall in cement lines is fairly good, although much will depend upon the character of the weather.

"The brick trade has been depressed through the summer, but should have some reaction, if any line of building material does, for the fall. The numerous agitations against inflammable construction should have a good effect upon the demand for brick as well as other materials of fireproof construction."

NEWS BRIEFS FROM ARCHITECTS' CLUB

The Duluth Architectural club had a special meeting at its club rooms, 210 West First street, Thursday evening, a large number of the members attending. Abraham Holstead, architect, member of the Royal Institute of Architects of England, and chairman of the educational committee of the Architectural club gave a lecture on "Architectural Design." He outlined, from a chart, the various forms and figures that go to make a pleasing and interesting design. This was the first of a series of lectures to be given this fall by Mr. Holstead and various other members of the club.

A short address was given by M. A. Thomson of the firm of Thomson & Stewart, one of the associate members. He outlined a new material of interest to the profession.

* * *

The house committee has been doing the best it can in putting the finishing touches to the club rooms and expects to have work completed by the first of the month. After this time the rooms will be open to the members during the day and an attendant will be in charge.

* * *

The membership committee reports that new members are coming in every day from building material men, lumber companies, decorators, and in fact from almost every one connected with the building trades. All applications for membership should be made to Architect P. M. Olsen, 515 Sellwood building, chairman of the membership committee.

REINFORCED CONCRETE ON HOLLAND HOTEL ADDITION.

The Turner mushroom system of reinforced concrete construction will be used on the four-story addition to the Holland hotel of which Bray & Nystrom are architects and George Lounsberry, general contractor.

It will also be used on the new Motor Mart building at Sioux City, Iowa; the addition to the C. P. railway station at Calgary, Alta.; the warehouse for George Stirrett, Winnipeg, Man.; the addition to the stockhouse for the Hamm Brewing company, St. Paul; and the building for the Industrial Building company, Newark, N. J.

BRISK YEAR PREDICTED

L. A. Larsen Foresees Good Fall Business in Realty Lines.

Despite Calamity Howlers, Bank Deposits Increase and Exports Grow.

Numerous improvements on cheap lots and acreage near the city are predicted for this fall by L. A. Larsen of the L. A. Larsen agency, who reports a brisk business both in city property and farm lands during the past few days.

The buying of lots, according to Mr. Larsen, was not confined to any particular portion of the city. The next ten days, he says, will show a large number of sales and prospects are bright for a good business this fall.

Mr. Larsen says that he is taking an optimistic view of the general business situation, despite the fact that a few calamity howlers around the country are making themselves heard. He calls attention to the annual statement, issued by the comptroller of the currency, regarding deposits in the savings banks of the entire country.

The total resources of the United States savings banks are $3,762,000,000, an increase over the year just past of $109,952,000, including an increase of investments against an increase of a year ago of several hundred millions of dollars in the liabilities to depositors. This is an encouraging sign of the times says Mr. Larsen and shows that the year of so-called reaction among the capitalists has not been equally as severe to the wage earners, who make up the large part of savings bank depositors. Mr. Larsen also commented on the foreign trade for August, which shows exports of manufactured goods to be in excess of last year eight million dollars. Never before in the history of the country did the exports of manufacturers run to a billion dollars for a year, but now they are running at the rate of a billion and a half, he says.

GOOD BUILDING WEEK.

Building activity is on the gain. Thirty-one permits were taken out during the week just passed as compared with twenty-two for the week ending Oct. 14.

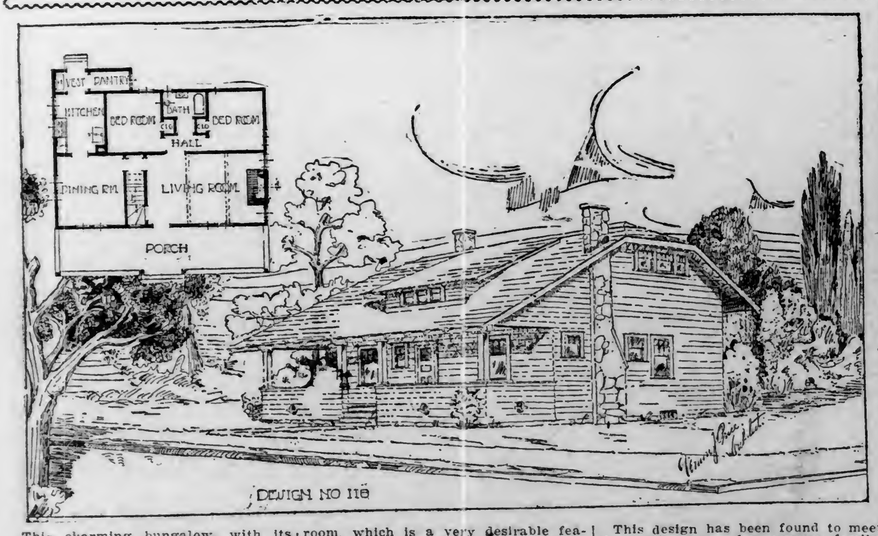

The total cost of the improvements was $76,700 as compared with $40,975 of the previous week. The largest job of the week for which a permit was issued was for the construction of four additional stories to the Holland hotel at a cost of $34,000. George Lounsberry, contractor, took out the permit.

GOOD OUTLOOK IN BUILDING LINES

Construction Keeping Up and Prospects Brighter, Says Improvement Bulletin.

The Improvement Bulletin says: "A wholesome indication that building conditions through the Northwest are in a good condition may be found in the reports which appear in the columns of this journal from week to week. The volume of the reports keeps up. A scrutiny of the character of work outlined shows that it averages up well. In the different classes of work, such as business buildings, hotels and other private buildings, the number keeps up very fairly. This indicates that there is no pronounced falling off in conditions such as to hold down investments in commercial structures. The number of residences being built is running very strong for the season, another good indication that

HERALD'S POPULAR PRICED HOMES

This charming bungalow, with its long sweeping roof and cobblestone chimneys, has proven itself popular in this section of the country.

The generous porch opens upon the living-room, which is splendidly lighted and contains a picturesque fireplace. The dining room, to the front of the ... is secluded from the living-room, which is a very desirable feature.

The kitchen is conveniently arranged, an ice box has been provided for in the rear entry.

In the rear, but secluded from the rest of the house, are two large bedrooms which are provided with roomy closets. A modern bathroom will be found in connection with the bedroom.

This design has been found to meet the requirements of an average family, being very compact and convenient in its arrangement.

This house can be built in Duluth or vicinity for $3,000.

This plan can be reversed or altered to suit the owner's wishes.

This is a good investment as it pays a high rate of interest on the purchase price and requires but a moderate amount of cash to handle it.
It is a particularly good investment for a party looking for a comfortable home in a good neighborhood, as he can rent the other two houses for enough money to pay on the whole investment a higher rate of interest than the ordinary investment pays, besides getting his rent for nothing.
These houses are owned by a non-resident and as it is all the Duluth property he owns, wishes to close it out, which accounts for the cheapness of the price, which is $7,500.00.

GIVING THE LOCAL MAN A CHANCE

Campaign of Duluth Architects to Keep Work at Home Attracts Favorable Attention—Competitions and How They Should Be Conducted—Builders Paying More to Outsiders and Taking Greater Risks.

Much attention has been attracted by the campaign of local architects to keep architectural work in this city instead of passing it out to outsiders. The movement was born with the Duluth Architectural club, which was recently organized.

Duluth architects feel that the public should give them a chance and that even if they were to enter into competition with outside firms, that they would be able to secure the work on their own merits. With the solid patronage of local people it will mean better buildings and far better satisfaction to all concerned. Most of the leading architects in Duluth have had more experience in making plans for buildings than some outside concerns, which, in some instances, the work has been let to.

Sixteen Firms.

There are in Duluth today sixteen architectural firms equipped with every facility necessary to turn out the best and most accurate work. Nine are graduates of such schools as Oxford, Boston Tech., Illinois Tech., Columbus university, Beaux Arts of Paris and many other institutions of this kind. In addition to this training, many have come from offices in the East which handle work that rises into the millions.

They come to Duluth to practice their profession and naturally expect the support of Duluth people.

Dalvert V. Case, architect and member of the firm of Case & Broomhall, says: "Competition for plans for large structures should be encouraged by owners in Duluth the same as in Chicago and all cities of any size. These competitions should be conducted along proper lines so as to give all competitors an equal chance. This has not been done in the past and the result has been that 'pull' got the work and not the most meritorious design."

Abraham Holstead, who has had a good deal of experience in conducting competitions of all kinds, both in this country and also in England, says: "Competitions, when conducted along proper lines enable one to receive, without any expense, ideas of many kinds which will be found invaluable in the actual construction of buildings. If competitions were established in this city for the large building projects, the local architects would feel that they were given an opportunity to secure the work.

"While there are no definite rules laid down by any particular authority as to how to conduct competitions, the following suggestions will enable one to successfully carry through a project of this nature.

"The first step necessary is to select a person connected with the architectural profession, as professional advisor, to the building committee. Then appoint a jury of three men to make selections and award the prizes.

"The professional advisor will draw up a program, embodying the requirements of the building committee, and outline of the intended project, with reference to the site and general conditions. It should also be understood in the program that all drawings should be sent under a nom de plum and the competitor's name should in no way appear on the drawings but should be enclosed in a separate envelope.

"The professional advisor should answer all questions in regard to the competition and to make clear to the competing architects the intentions of the building committee. All inquiries should be made by letter addressed to the advisor, who, in turn, answers the questions in full and sends it to the competitor. Then he should make copies of the competitor's letter and also of his reply. These copies should not contain the name of the competitor making the inquiry. He then should send them to every architect who has announced his intention of entering. It is customary in competitions for all architects to register their intention of entering the contest. There should be two dates set by the professional advisor as follows: First, date after which the professional advisor will refuse to answer any questions in regard to the competition. This date should be set about a month or two weeks before the final decision is made. Second, the day and hour that the competitive designs must be in.

"When all drawings are in, the professional advisor, in company with the building committee, should stamp on every drawing a number and also a corresponding number on the envelope containing the competitor's name. These envelopes should not be opened until after the final selection has been made. The drawings should then be opened and the prizes awarded according to merit. After the selection has been made, the envelopes containing the names should be opened and the names, corresponding to the numbers on the drawings, selected.

"The prizes can be arranged to suit conditions, but in the majority of competitions the first prize is the commission to draw plans, specifications, details and superintendence of the work. The second and third prizes can be money considerations, agreed upon by the committee and set forth in their program.

Public Exhibition.

"After the final awards are made a public exhibition of all the competitors' work should be given and which will be found valuable in assisting others to conduct competitions of this kind. If this is carried out carefully, it will prove a satisfactory method of obtaining preliminary sketches from architects all over the country. In this way the building committee will be able to accumulate a large number of valuable ideas which will be found of great use to them. It will not only help the parties interested in the project itself but it will help towards erecting a building that Duluth can feel proud of and one that will be an everlasting monument to our city."

Edwin P. Shurick, secretary of the Duluth Architectural club, who has been active since the inauguration of the campaign of the local architects says:

"We have received numerous replies to the article in last Saturday's Herald and were glad to receive them, as they go to show that the people of Duluth are interested in our movement. One letter said that it was a good idea to encourage the home talent as it would, no doubt, lead to better architectural monuments for our city than those which have been built in the past. This is true, and one only has to step out on our main thoroughfare of our city to realize this fact. Duluth architecture in general, is of a very varied type and most of our buildings are mere ideas of the 'just as good' and 'will serve the purpose for the least money' type. Lack of system in proper competitions in our first class buildings, under first class supervision, by a competent advisor, is responsible for most of our antiquated conceptions of buildings erected along severe and 'unsuited to the site' lines."

Vernon J. Price, a local architect says, "Duluth architects, as a body, have not been given the best of the city work by any means, but contrary to this motive, owners have prefered to pay more in most cases and take greater chances that they would have to take at home."

RESTRICTED DISTRICTS AND THEIR VALUE TO HOME-OWNERS

Duluth has many examples of a fine restricted home district and Duluthians can appreciate the much mooted question of whether it pays to buy restricted residence property in a large and rapidly growing city.

Generally speaking, about the best kind of insurance that a man can place on his future home is to buy in a restricted district and certainly no one thinks of building a house, nowadays, without having it insured. It might be razed by fire at any time and the savings of a life-time would be wiped out.

Without restrictions placed on certain residence districts, the home-builder who erects an expensive house spending from $5,000 upwards, has absolutely no assurance that somebody will not build a noisy factory or a barn next door or that a fertilizing plant may not be started a short distance away.

There are many kinds of restrictions. They include the distance back from the street line, a house may be placed, however far from the lot line, it may set, the general cost of the new dwelling to be erected and certain other restrictions intended to provide for the building up of a city of high grade homes.

Some people who have not given much thought to the subject grow wrathy when a real estate dealer suggests restrictions.

"I guess not!" they explode. "What, have my land restricted so I can't do what I want with it? Oh, no. When I buy land I want to use it how I ding please and nobody is going to tell me what to build or what not to build. I'll buy land where I can be a free man and use it how I please."

And so they rave. Suspecting that he possesses unusual sagacity a man will buy a "butt" lot on a side street, erect a $3,000 or $4,000 house and proceed to enjoy himself for awhile. Doubtless he has located in some allottment where no restrictions have been placed on home building. He sets the house back twenty feet from the street line and takes unusual pride in building a pretty structure. The lot is just comfortably large enough for the house. The first fly in the custard comes when somebody buys the lot next door and proceeds to erect a house just ten feet back from the street. This cuts off the view down the street in one direction. The buyer of the lot has a perfect right to build ten feet back and no telling him—and a friendly neighborhood row begins, never to be smoothed over.

About a year or two later somebody else decides to buy the corner lot. The man who would not purchase restricted property, has bought a "butt or key" not on a street, which is the first one beyond a corner. He is somewhat perturbed when he finds a large excavation made, right to his lot line. A few days later foundations are put in for a two-story business block and in a month a blank brick wall stares him in the face as he looks out of his dining room window. The wall is only four feet away and obstructs much of the light and all the view. From that time on the man who would not buy a lot in a district restricted to residences finds his outlook cut off up and down the street, his house is set away back in a niche and possesses a forbidding look. He gets disgusted, sells the house for two-thirds of what it cost him, moves in a flat and raves about the foolishness of owning a home when rent is so cheap.

HILLSIDERS ARE ACTIVE

Five New Homes Completed and Six Started Near Chester Park.

Building activity in the vicinity of Chester park is advancing with rapid strides and the hillside from Eighth avenue east to Fourteenth avenue above Fourth street is coming into prominence as a model home district.

The promise of a street car line and street improvements in that neighborhood, has done much to attract attention to this portion of the hillside. The street car lines will be run to Ninth street and east as far as Chester park. This extension which will soon be a reality has been responsible for most of this activity. By the time the line is built and in operation the district will be thickly settled with homes.

This week, Eby & Gridley sold three of a group of five houses built by them at Thirteenth avenue east and Fifth street this fall. The houses ranged in price from $3,500 to $3,650 This firm reports good inquiry for homes of this kind and say that there is more demand for dwellings that cost from $2,500 to $3,000 to erect. In order to meet these demands, Eby & Gridley have started the construction of six more houses to be erected in the vicinity of Ninth street and Ninth avenue east. The contractors have been instructed to rush up the frames, so that the plastering may be done before cold weather sets in.

A petition for the grading of Ninth street has been circulated among the property holders and has been generally signed. Steps have also been taken for the improvement of a number of the avenues in this district above Fifth and Sixth streets, especially along the proposed route of the car line extension.

NEW ARMORY AT EVELETH.

Architect Anthony Puck Preparing Plans for $18,000 Home for M. N. G.

Anthony Puck, a local architect, is preparing plans for an armory building to be erected at Eveleth, Minn. The building will have a frontage of seventy feet and will run 120 feet deep. When completed, the new home of the Eveleth company of the Minnesota National Guard will cost $18,000.

Mr. Puck is also preparing plans for a cold storage plant to be erected at Hibbing for Duluth parties. The building will be 40 by 100.

He also has plans out for a two-story frame residence to be erected for Frank Leach on Seventh street and Twenty-seventh avenue east. Figures are expected to be in by the first of the week.

Mr. Puck has let the contract for the Adriatic school, near Aurora, to the Bow-Burke company for $5,000.

MUCH ACTIVITY AT NEW DULUTH

Inquiries for Lots on Commonwealth Avenue Taken as Hopeful Sign.

An unusual number of inquiries for lots on Commonwealth avenue to be used for business purposes during the past few weeks has led to the general belief among real estate dealers, that New Duluth will be a scene of considerable building activity next year.

Before twelve months pass again, it is predicted that the avenue will be well lined with small business blocks and residences. The recent erection of a furniture house and bank building there and the contemplation of several other structures of a similar type are considered to be good evidence that a mild building boom may be expected.

It is rumored that the Minnesota Steel company has let the contract for the construction of a number of houses, which will be used for their employes. A Chicago firm is said to have secured this contract. The houses will probably be built next spring and will represent three different types of buildings, a four-room cottage for small families and five and seven-room structures. The cost of the dwellings will range from $900 to $1,500.

Work at the steel plant is making wonderful strides and that portion of the city gives every promise of being a busy one this fall and next spring in the building line.

PREPARING PLANS FOR NEW FACTORY

Architect Wangenstein Drawing Sketches for John Wahl Candy Company.

Architect J. J. Wangenstein is preparing sketches for a new candy factory to be erected for the John Wahl Candy company at the corner of Twenty-third avenue west and First street to cost upwards of $50,000. The plans will soon be ready and figures will be taken so that the contract can be let before the real cold weather sets in.

The present location of the candy company is at Seventeenth avenue west and Michigan street. John Wahl, president of the company, some time ago purchased the corner at Twenty-third avevnue west and First streets announcing at that time that the site would be the location of a new factory building.

The building will be a three-story structure arranged to accommodate offices and shipping rooms as well as the factory proper. It will be built of brick and will be modern throughout.

Bridge Nearly Finished.

The finishing touches are now being made on the new Oneota street bridge, which the Canadian Northern railroad has rebuilt for the city at Forty-ninth avenue west. The street cars began running over it on both sides this week.

COAL COMPANY BUYS SITE AND WILL ERECT NEW DOCK

What promises to be one of the most important real estate transactions which has been made in this city for years, is pending. It is understood that a large tract of bay front property at West Duluth is about to change hands and that several hundred thousand dollars will be involved.

This property is controlled by the West Duluth Land company, which has extensive holdings in the western suburb, where there are large tracts of unimproved and valuable dock property. The West Duluth Land company officials say that they are not ready to give out any information as to the exact nature of the transaction.

Coming from an unofficial source, it is understood that the deal will carry with it the transfer of a large parcel of the company's holdings along St. Louis bay. It is also understood that the new purchasers are Eastern coal interests and that the buying of the property will mean the establishment of another coal dock at the Head of the Lakes, involving a heavy expenditure.

No intimation has been given as to the exact location of the tract involved in the deal.

RUMORS OF BIG DEALS

Real Estate Market Sustained by Prospects During Past Week.

Good Volume of Inquiry for City Property and Acreage.

While there were rumors in the air of big deals pending, some involving several hundred thousand dollars, the past week in realty circles was quiet and undisturbed on the surface. There were the usual number of small sales and the inquiry for city property as well as acreage kept up to the usual standard.

Ebert, Walker & McKnight report that much inquiry for farm lands in St. Louis county has come from the range towns. The sale of a parcel of acreage in Lake county to Iowa parties was also closed. There was also some activity in acreage in Douglas county, Wis.

The Lakeside Land company, during the week sold to John Cabell for $4,300, a house and lot at Glenwood street and Fifty-seventh avenue east. Edward McDonald for $350 purchased a lot on the lower side of Colorado street near Fiftieth avenue west from the same firm.

Locker & Donohue have secured the earnest money on a deal for the sale of a 160-acre tract on the Cuyuna range. During the week they sold to F. E. Hoffman ten lots in the vicinity of the new steel plant.

The Burg Acreage & Townsite company during the week sold a number of farms near Lake Nebagamon to Iowa parties.

Prindle & Co. report sustained activity in the Crosley Park and Crescent View Park divisions and also the sale of a few acre tracts at Riverside. Three new residences, the cost totaling $30,000, are now being erected in Crescent View division.

* * *

E. J. Bunker sold to Gertrude Dickey for a consideration of $2,500 a forty-foot lot on the bay side of Minnesota Point between William and St. George streets, near Oatka beach.

* * *

The Howard Investment company sold to Thomas Matlak thirty-five feet on Fourth avenue east near Tenth street for a consideration of $1,000. The lot is 100 feet deep.

* * *

Nels E. Grundy has purchased from George W. Norton for $300, a twenty-five-foot lot on Fifty-eighth avenue west near Elinor street.

REFECTORY TO BE NEATLY BUILT

Furnishing Contract for High School Lunch Rooms Let By Architect.

Every convenience of an up-to-date refectory will be furnished the students of the Duluth Central high school when the new dining rooms at the Washington grade school, less than a block away from the high school, are equipped with the necessary paraphernalia.

Architect F. G. German this week let the contract to the Baxter Sash & Door company for the fixtures of the dining hall and kitchen. When completed, the new lunch rooms will have a seating capacity of 225. The contract calls for the complete equipment including ranges, refrigerators and utensils.

The job will cost $2,000.

NEW BUSINESS BLOCK.

Rumors of Three-Story Structure Costing $15,000 on E. Superior St.

It was rumored this week that a new three-story business block, costing about $15,000 will be erected on East Superior street this fall. It is understood that local architects are now preparing the plans.

The new structure will have a 25-foot frontage on East Superior street and will run 140 feet deep. It will be erected for local men.

ARCHITECT V. J. PRICE PREPARING JAIL PLANS.

Vernon J. Price, a local architect, is busy preparing plans and specifications for alterations at the city police station. As soon as the plans are ready, they will be submitted to the state board of control for their approval.

The suggestions of the city attorney will probably be followed. If so, new cells will be arranged on the Michigan street end of the jail so as to admit light and provide ventilation. The basement will be remodeled so that automobiles can be kept on the Superior street end. The cost will not exceed $10,000.

NEW BRICK BLOCK WILL BE ERECTED AT BARNUM.

Ellerbe, Round & Sullivan, architects, are making sketches for a business block at Barnum, Minn., to be erected for Martin Christianson at a cost of $8,000. The building will be 50 by 90 and will be constructed of brick.

The same architects will take figures Tuesday on the new fire hall which is to be erected at Eveleth. The structure will be constructed of brick and will be 40 by 120 feet in size, costing $15,000.

Brick Business Block.

Louis Ramstad of West Duluth will soon start the construction of a two-story brick building for mercantile purposes at the corner of Fifty-seventh avenue west and Grand. The building will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000 and will have a frontage of seventy-five feet on Grand avenue and will be 125 feet deep to the alley. A two-story frame building which now occupies the site, will be moved.

New Creamery Completed.

Work has been completed on the new $20,000 creamery, which has been built at Owatonna, Minn., by the Farmers' Gilt Edge Creamery association. Plans for the building were drawn by D. V. Case & Broomhall of this city.

Will Let Contract.

At a meeting this afternoon of the Bethel board, the contract for the new Bethel building will be let. The bids were in yesterday afternoon at the office of the architect, F. G. German.

MEDLIN IS SENT TO TWO HARBORS

Man Who Claimed Stolen Grips Will Be Dealt With in Lake County.

Jethro Medlin, who was arrested several days ago at the Endion depot when he appeared to claim two stolen grips, was taken to Two Harbors today. The grips contained some property which had been stolen from the Y. M. C. A. at Two Harbors.

They were watched with the idea that one Fred Beauchamp, wanted for jumping a board bill, would claim them. It is believed that Beauchamp is the man who passed himself off as "Duby" to Chief Troyer and endeavored to have the chief get the grips at the depot for him. If such is the case the police state that he displayed an unusual amount of "nerve." Beauchamp is also wanted at Virginia on a charge of grand larceny.

The grips were being held for a board bill, but when they were searched the stolen property was found in them. Among other things was a letter to Beauchamp from his sister, telling him to stay away from Cloquet as the police at that place were still looking for him. Inquiry at Cloquet elicited the reply that he is not wanted there.

ALDERMAN'S REFUSAL TO PAY NICKEL HELD UP STREET CAR

"Jimmie" Wharton, a resident of Lakeside and alderman from the First ward, believes in a rigid and unyielding adherence to principles, economic, political social and personal When Mr. Wharton's principles are threatened, he rises up in righteous wrath and declares that never, so long as the sun shines, the moon moons and he has breath in his lungs with which to operate his voice and make known his position, will he recede one jot, iota, tittle from the principle involved in there-in involved. Mr. Wharton doesn't believe in the peaceful doctrine of arbitration, nor the diplomatic policy of compromise. When principle is involved, James A. Wharton is paradoxically, coincidentally as adamantine as the point of rocks and as warlike as the only living ex-president.

Because of Mr. Wharton's firm belief in the "stand pat" policy, some fifty or sixty residents of Lakeside were late for their dinner last evening, one street car lost time on its run, Mr. Wharton was threatened with ejection from the car and a conductor with a pronounced strain of obstinacy, or adherence to principle, in his make-up, had to explain why traffic was blocked on the Lakeside line.

When the alderman from the First boarded the car and presented a transfer which the conductor refused to accept, students of physics in their high school days immediately recalled the old principle, "when an irresistible force orrices an immovable body, etc." Mr. Wharton declared the transfer was good; the conductor declared it might have been good once, but like Confederate money, its day of usefulness had passed. Mr. Wharton declared he wouldn't pay a cash fare. The conductor just as vehemently delivered the ultimatum that the nickle representing the price of a ride between the city and Lakeside would be forthcoming or one alderman would walk.

While the car proceeded, the passengers rather enjoyed the bursts of heated oratory from the alderman and the less eloquent but no less pointed remarks of the conductor. The register-ringer collected his fares—except Mr. Wharton's—let people off at their avenues, and devoted every spare minute to informing Mr. Wharton in a variety of statements that he would pay or walk.

But the passengers lost patience when the car did not proceed. At Thirty-second avenue east, the conductor announced that the time had come for action, "No cash, no ride," he declared, paraphrasing the oft-repeated remark of the Chinese laundryman. Mr. Wharton rebelled against being escorted off of the car. He declared that the transfer was as good as any ever issued by the Duluth Street Railway company or any other street railway company in the country; that the Constitution of the United States, the laws of Minnesota, the ordinances of the city of Duluth, his position as a citizen of Duluth and a resident of Lakeside gave him unalienable right to proceed on that car to his destination and his ejection would result in an action for damages against the company. The conductor was for immediate action and started it.

While the controversy went on, and the car did not, the good humor of other passengers departed. Some looked at their watches and frowned. Others thought of the savory dishes awaiting them on the dinner table. Five minutes to a commuter at dinner time are as precious as many hours at another time. They saw a long argument ahead and they were not patient.

A man who was ecpecially hungry finally called off the conductor by the payment of a nickle. That's all the individual in charge of the car wanted and he subsided as soon as it was forthcoming. Mr. Wharton's principles were somewhat damaged but not destroyed, and at least he had not relented. The car proceeded, everybody was satisfied and even the conductor smiled when Mr. Wharton left the car at the avenue which was his original destination.

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS.

LOOK AT THE LOCATION OF COLMAN'S ACRE TRACTS.

The location of these acres is unexcelled for garden or poultry farming. The land lies in the fertile Lester river valley, only 20 to 35 minutes' walk from the street car line, only three blocks from Snively's boulevard and Lester river, and the view it affords of the lake is perfect. The land is now covered only by second growth, as it has formerly been cleared. The terms are very easy, being only $5 down and $5 per month per acre, or $12.50 for three acres; no interest. No acre over $175. Call or write for particulars.

C. FRANCIS COLMAN,
421 Manhattan Bldg., Duluth.

FOR SALE.
20,000 acres in St. Louis county; 30,000 acres in Carlton county; all near railroads. Will sell in tracts of forty acres and up. Price $8 to $12 an acre; very easy terms. Let us show you these lands.
